THE PRICE OF A WIFE.

Fifty Dollars and a Pair of Boots Pays for a Faithful Partner.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 2.—C. S. Harvey, of Hickory county, Mo., an intense-looking white man, 35 years of age, has been visiting St. Louis with his wife, an Alaska Indian.

While at the Alaska diggings he concluded to ascend the Yukon River and get a woman to pull his boat, as a woman would be faithful, while any man he could get would perhaps desert or murder him. Her native husband offered her or his mother-in-law for $20 a month, and Harvey took the wife. Her aid was valuable. While returning home she said to Harvey with tears, "If I wish you would buy me from my husband, I will work the gold out of your claim after regular hours of work. I don't want to go back to him."

Her husband decided that $20 and a pair of boots that Harvey had would be proper consideration, and Harvey accepted the bargain at once. The Indian went on a spree and a few days later was drowned in the Yukon.

Harvey and the woman were married by a minister as soon as they reached the States. She has been to me a faithful wife and I love her devotedly," he said. Her appearance attracts attention on the streets.

London Monday, June 2.

"PLUMP for Moses!" is one of the legends displayed on the billboards of Toronto these days. Some of his friends fear that Moses will be so far down on the list of polling day that they may have to plump for him in more ways than one.

Dr. COLTER, the Third party candidate in West Lambton, caused hilarious laughter at the late nomination when he dubbed Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald, the eleventh-hour Tory nominee "Macdonald's Con." His name is William Weir Fitzgerald, says the Sarnia Observer. After June 5 it will be William Weir.

WHEN Mr. Meredith was driven from Aylmer station to a meeting in that town last week his hack was drawn by two hearse horses. It was the work of a wag, but a correspondent asserts that the Tory leader's friends were indignant because the procession looked as though it had something to do with the Opposition leader's political funeral!

MONTREAL STAR (Conservative): "Ontario has the best common school system in the world, but, to fully appreciate its worth, one should live in Ontario and then in Quebec.
The development of the educational system of the Province has been one of the chief proudest of the Government, and the result is that a man can have his children educated better and cheaper in Ontario at the public schools than anywhere else. It is also a fact that the conduct and morals of the pupils are everywhere excellent. This, too, is the result of a wise system carefully carried out."

"No taxation to England without protection from the French," is the motto of the Newfound-landers, in this sign they may conquer.—(Buffalo Express)

That motto has no point. Newfoundland being a self-governing colony pays no taxation to the motherland, with the exception of the salary of a governor. Nevertheless, it must be conceded that the Imperial Government has been shamefully neglectful of the interests of Newfoundlanders. Canada would be in a nice pickle to-day if Sir John Macdonald's proposition to annex Newfoundland had been carried out while the trouble between the Newfoundlanders and the French remained unsettled.

THE CAMP.

The Dominion Government has ordered that the militia camp for the First District shall be held at Stratford.
This order is a breach of the understanding arrived at when the city purchased the Carling Farm.

The advocates of that deal, to put money into Mr. Carling's pocket, based their arguments chiefly on the great benefits which would be derived by the city from having the annual camp always held here.

Now, for the second time, Mr. Carling permits the camp to be taken to Stratford, and London loses all the advantages accru-ing therefrom.

Not because the militia authorities desire the change, for it is no secret that the D. A. G., the chief medical officer, and the staff generally consider the London grounds by far the best for the purpose.

The trouble is that Mr. Carling has no longer any influence with his fellow ministers. Mr. Henson, the M. P. for North Perth, has influence.

Mr. Carling seems to have given up hope of again carrying London. He has resolved to try his hand in Perth?

MILK FOR CHEESEMAKING.

The question of the quality or composition of milk for cheesemaking has been discussed considerably in our American exchanges, and at various dairy gatherings during the past year. Conversing with Prof. Robertson on the question one day last fall the writer put the question something after this form to him: Suppose he were in a Western Ontario cheese factory, as for years he was, turning out a first-class article of cheese for the English market, how would he desire the milk constituted?
His reply was 3.75 per cent. of fat and 4 per cent. of casein; as to the other elements it was immaterial. By breeding, feeding and general care let every farmer aim to hit the mark at not less than 3.75 per cent. of butter fat, and then send it pure and in the best of condition to the cheese factory.
After that some one else will be to blame if the cheese is not right.

POST-MORTEM PRAISE.

One of the humors of the present campaign is the persistence with which the Tory orators denounce the Liberal leaders of to-day and laud Hon. George Brown.
Let it not be forgotten that Hon. George Brown was the worst abused man on the Liberal side while he lived. If he were not dead to-day, the tune of the professional stamp orators would not be changed. Why, Mr. Meredith, himself denounced the late Hon. T. B. Pardee as the most corrupt administrator of public affairs, and called him a villain.

at the famous Mount Brydges meeting, that he would drive him from public life.
Mr. Pardee lived and died, but from that day to this the Opposition leader has not made good his threat. Instead of that, for the purpose of getting a slap at Hon. A. S.
Hardy, the successor of the late Hon. A. S.
Hardy for West Lambton in the administration of the Crown Lands Department, the cry now is that the Mowat Government lost its only pure man when Mr. Pardee died. As Hon. Mr. Brown was wont to remark, is such criticism not "enough to sicken a horse?"

THE GOOD NAME OF GRACCHUS

A correspondent of the Toronto Mail has been writing to that journal a series of long, intriguing and virulent letters over the good name of Gracchus. If Gracchus could make his sentiments known out of the pen-world the person who steals his name for use in the Mail might find it hard to sleep at night for the reproaches of an injured immortal, assuming that the eminent Roman could be influenced by any other consideration than contempt for one who assails his virtues. No one need be surprised that the writer should wish to hide his personality, seeing how sparing he is of the truth and how reckless of the character of men whose sense of honor would not permit them to exchange the time of day with him on the street. For it is understood that the so-called Gracchus of the Mail is none other than Dr. John Herbert Sangster, once head teacher in the Toronto Normal School and deposed for conduct the thought of which would bring the blush to the cheek of the most demure transgressor against propriety in the land. Dr. Sangster may go on holding Mr. Mowat in contempt, as he says he does, but he should know that his ill opinion of any man is the highest compliment which it is in his power to bestow. It becomes the miserable Sangster to be quiet for the rest of his spoiled life.

JOHN A. ON THE SEPARATE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The ADVERTISER has shown that there is no truth in the statement made by gentlemen of the Equal Rights Association that the separate school system was foisted upon the people of Upper Canada by the French-Canadian representatives of Lower Canada in the Parliament of the old Union; so that Rev. Dr. Caven was strictly accurate when he said "that all attempts to make party capital out of the separate school question are either ignorant and dishonest, and will be discontinued by every fair-minded man who knows a little of Canadian history." The Protestant representatives of Upper Canada, and representatives of the French Canadian the same share in the passage of the Separate School Acts of 1841 and 1850 as the Roman Catholic representatives of Lower Canada, and even the act of 1863 was supported by nearly one-half of the representatives of this Province in the Legislature at that time. It is therefore unfair and dishonest to seek, as Mr. McCarthy and some others are now doing, to arouse a prejudice against the French Canadian representatives by charging them with having imposed the separate school system upon our Province. And the tactics of those gentlemen are not the less disgraceful because it happens that almost all of the Upper Canadian members who voted for the act of 1863 were members of the Tory party—the same party to which Mr. McCarthy still professes to belong. The Reformers had opposed the extension of the separate school system very earnestly, although in vain, and one of the chief reasons which influenced them in ratifying the act of 1863 by the terms of Confederation was the provision of finality on this subject. They accepted Confederation in good faith, and all who have a regard for honorable dealing in public affairs are content to leave the school question as it was settled by the Confederation Act.

In this connection it is a matter of interest to see how the question of separate schools was regarded by the leader of the Conservative party twenty years after the measure had been introduced, and before the measure "accepted as a settlement of the question by the authorities of the Roman Catholic Church" was introduced in Parliament by Mr. Scott. Speaking in this city in 1861, John A. Macdonald said:

"As far as my own opinions are concerned, I am decidedly in favor of the continuance of the separate school clause, and I will tell you the reason. As a Protestant I should not like, if I lived in Lower Canada, to be obliged to send my child to a school of which the teacher was a Roman Catholic, and perhaps a Roman Catholic clergyman.
It is the duty of a religious teacher, if he believes anything to be true, to try to enforce it on the belief of his pupils. It is the duty of a sincere Protestant clergyman to try to proselytize every Roman Catholic.
It is the duty of every sincere Roman Catholic to try to proselytize every Protestant.
What he believes to be true, and what he wishes to see true, he will try to make true.
Before we had a separate school, when Protestant and Catholic gentlemen assembled to get school trustees elected, the Catholics tried to get in as many as they could, and the Protestants to do the same. They were not, and they were not objects of suspicion to each other. But now they elect their trustees separately, the Catholics elect Catholics, and the Protestants elect Protestants. The result is that the Catholic feels that he can raise his own money to send his child to the school he likes, whether the separate or the common school. The measures of the Government on this subject have been sanctioned by the majority of the people, and whose authority is conclusive, and who will be remembered with gratitude long after he is dead, and the present party objections raised to him have been forgotten, as the founder and apostle of education in Canada—I mean Dr. Ryerson." country of Haldimand, the same year, the Conservative leader said:

"If it be asked why we did not repeal it (the 19th clause of the Common School Act), which authorized the establishment of Roman Catholic, Protestant and colored schools in this Province, I answer IN THE FIRST PLACE THAT IT IS ONE THING TO GIVE A RIGHT TO A FRANCHISE AND ANOTHER THING TO DE-PRIVE PEOPLE OF IT; and in the second place we have the indisputable evidence of a created witness, a man who cannot be suspected of any leaning toward Pavery —I mean Rev. Dr. Ryerson, a Protestant clergyman himself, at the head of the common school system—a person whose whole energies have been expended in the cause of education—who states deliberately to the people of Canada that the separate school clause does not retard the progress or the increase of common schools, but that on the contrary it "widens the basis of the common school system." If I thought it inequitable to give a right to a franchise and then to take it away, I would vote against it. You must remember, also, that Lower Canada is a decidedly Roman Catholic country, that the Protestant population of Lower Canada is a small minority, and if Protestant schools were not allowed there our Protestant brethren in Lower Canada would be obliged to send their children to schools conducted by Roman Catholic teachers. Now, I don't know how many Protestants or how many Roman Catholics I may be at this moment addressing, but I say that as a Protestant I should not like to send my son to a Roman Catholic school, while I think a Roman Catholic should not be compelled to send his child to a Protestant school. In Lower Canada the teachers are generally the Roman Catholic clergy, and, of course, it is their duty to teach what they consider truth, and to guard their pupils against error. But the system in vogue there is more liberal than ours, in that it not only permits the establishment of Protestant schools for Protestant children, but allows the whole municipal machinery to be employed to collect the rates to maintain them."

And once again in the same year, speaking at St. Catharines, John A. Macdonald (Sir John) spoke these words:

"Well, sir, the last and greatest charge brought against us at the last general election was that we would not repeal the 19th clause of the Common School Act, and the English separate schools. I repeat we had not passed that law; we found it in existence, enacted by the Baldwin Administration, which, you will admit, was not opposed to common schools, and we had to carry it out. "Why did you not repeal the 19th clause?" asked some. I will tell you why. IT IS ONE THING TO GIVE A NEW RIGHT—QUITE ANOTHER THING TO DEPRIVE A MAN OF AN ESTABLISHED ONE. ESPE-CIALLY IF IT IS NOT PROVED THAT HE HAS ABUSED IT. If the separate schools had been proved hurtful to our common school system, then we might have asked Parliament to do away with them; but the able and energetic superintendent of common schools in this Province, the Hon. Mr. Ryerson, has shown that the separate schools have strengthened the basis of that system, and we could therefore do no such thing.
I have never hesitated to express my own opinion. I have always been against the repeal of that clause, and the consequent destruction of separate schools, and for these reasons: In the first place, you know the history of the Roman Catholic population in Lower Canada, and I wish the Catholics in Upper Canada to be in the same position as the Protestants are in Lower Canada. The Roman Catholics now enjoy here. And as a fair man, I could not, sir, administer one kind of justice to my Roman Catholic friends in Upper Canada and deprive the Protestants of a privilege they enjoyed, while at the same time my Protestant brethren in Lower Canada were enjoying the same rights to a greater extent. Again, the schools in LOWER CANADA ARE MOSTLY IN THE HANDS OF THE ROMAN CATHO-LIC CLERGY, AND AS I WOULD NOT WILLING-LY, IF I COULD AVOID IT, SEND MY CHILD TO A ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOL, SO I WOULD NOT WISH TO SEND MY CHILDREN TO SUCH SCHOOLS TO PROTESTANT INSTITUTIONS; FOR, IF A TEACHER BELIEVES A GIVEN THING TO BE TRUE, IT WOULD BE HIS DUTY TO IMPRESS UPON HIS PUPILS, AND AS I WOULD NOT LIKE TO SUBMIT MY SON TO THE PROSELYTIZING INFLUENCES OF A ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST, SO I WOULD NOT FORCE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHILDREN TO RECEIVE INSTRUCTION FROM PROTESTANT SCHOOL MASTERS."

Such were the views which influenced the leader of the Conservative party 30 years ago in supporting a continuance of the separate school system in this Province.
If they were of force then as against repeal of the system, how much more are they now when the system has been in continued and undisturbed operation for a period of 21 years under the terms of Confederation, introduced and carried as the terms of a solemn treaty between the Provinces.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Century Magazine for June, which is splendidly illustrated, has an attractive essay by Mr. Edward Atkinson on Con-

Barnard, clever English romance writer, but not so great as the men we are wont to see occupying that place of honor. The Century is always full of variety and into the rule.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleaning the lungs and alleviating irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

Sick Headache

[Is a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."
—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Railway Co., Burnet, Texas.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a dis-ordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured." —Philip Lockwood, Topsham, Mass.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used regularly, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H.

BASEBALL.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 31.—The Buffalo International League Club just at present is putting up a pretty fair article of ball.They won a game from London today after everybody thought the game was lost. They won it on a fluke, it is true, but they played a good uphill game all the way through, and deserve credit for the victory. Andrus led off in the first inning with a clean single off Jones, and got second on Rocks' sacrifice. Andrus looked very sheepish when Parks touched him out at second. Parks hit the ball under his sleeve and caught Andrus napping.London got two runs in the first inning on errors by Quinn, Petree and Coughlin on a wild pitch. Buffalo tied the score in the second on Connor's single and Quinn's hit over the fence. London got two more in the same inning on Rocks' single, Petree's error, a passed ball, Hills' double and Coughlin's fumble. In the fourth Rocks made a homer, hitting a base ball. Hills got around home on Smith's wild throw to catch him at second.After the sixth inning London got only two hits off Schellerman. Buffalo caught up in the sixth. By whom Rocks, Petree, Connor and Quinn made singles.
Two runs resulting. The score was six to four, in London's favor, when the ninth opened by Quinn and Smith getting bases on balls. Schellerman flied to Leighton. Andrus made a cracking hit to right field, and Quinn scored. Smith hit to Leighton and was out. A groan went forth as Coughlin popped up a little fly. It was Reidy's ball, but Parks went to it and muffed it ignominiously, and Smith and Andrus scooted home with the winning runs. London tried hard to square itself in the last half, and tried led off with a baser to right. Schellerman flied to next three batters, striking Reidy out, and was justly cheered. It was a great day for Schellerman and for Buffalo. Umpire Curry flied Catcher Roach $10 for talking back, and twice threatened to put Manager Fessenden off the bench. The score:

Finance Notes.

On the London Stock Exchange during the week the business was slow, the holiday and the settlement regarding dealings. Still, prices were firm. American securities had a small amount of activity on Wednesday, in response to a report from New York, but since then the American department has been active, with everything rising. At Berlin prices were firm and business active.

COLONEL QUARITCH, V.C.

By H. RIDDER HAGGARD.

[Copyrighted by Rose Publishing Co., Toronto, Ont., and printed by special arrangement, through the American Press Association.]

Just then Mr. Quest and Edward Cossey [put] out into the garden, talking.

"Here are the snips, Mr. Quest," he said. "I have had rather good luck. I killed four couple and missed two more, but then I had a new gun, and one can never shoot so well with a new gun."

"Oh, thank you," he said, "do pull out the 'snips' for me. I like to put them in my riving hat, and I never can find them myself."

"Very well," he answered, "but I must go into the garden to do it. There is not light enough here. It gets dark so soon now."

Accordingly he stepped out through the window, and began to hunt for the pretty little feathers which are to be found at the angle of a snipe's wing.

"Is that the new gun, Col. Quaritch?" said Mrs. Quest presently; "what a beautiful one."

"Be careful," he said, "I haven't taken the cartridges out."

If he had been looking at her, which at that moment he was not, Harold would have seen her stammer and catch at the wall for support. Then he would have seen an awful and momentary light of sudden determination pass across her face.

"All right," she said. "I know all about guns. My father used to shoot, and I always cleaned his gun," and she took the weapon up and began to examine the engraving on the locks.

"What's this," she said, pointing to a little slide above the locks, on which the word "safe" was engraved in gold letters.

"Oh, that's the safety bolt," he said. "When you see the word 'safe' the locks are barred and the gun won't go off. You have to push the bolt forward before you can fire."

"So," she said, carefully, and suiting the action to the word, "and suiting the action to the word."

"Yes, so," she said, and she answered, "Well, it is a very pretty gun and so light that I believe I could shoot with it myself."

Meanwhile Edward Cossey and Mr. Quest, who were walking toward them, had separated. Mr. Quest going to the right across the lawn to pick up a glove which had dropped upon the grass, while Edward Cossey slowly sauntered toward them.

When he was about nine paces off he too halted, and, stopping a little, looked abstractedly at a Japanese chrysanthemum which was still in bloom. Mr. Quest turned, as the Colonel thought, to put the gun back against the wall. He would have offered to take it from her, but as the moment both his hand were occupied in extracting one of the "snips" from a snipe.

The next thing that he was aware of was a loud explosion, followed by an exclamation or rather a cry from Mrs. Quest. He dropped the snips and looked up, just in time to see the gun, which had leaped from her hands with the recoil, strike against the wall of the house and fall to the ground. Instantly, whether by instinct or by chance he never knew, he dashed toward the place where Edward Cossey was standing, and saw that his face was streaming with blood and that his right arm hung helpless by his side. Even as he looked, he saw him put his uninjured hand to his head, and without a word or sound sink down on the gravel path.

For a second there was silence, and the blue smoke from the gun hung heavily upon the damp open air. In the midst of it stood Belle Quest like one transfixed, her blue eyes opened wide, and the stamp of terror—or was it guilt?—upon her pallid face.

All this she saw in a flash, and then ran to the bleeding heap upon the gravel.

He reached it almost simultaneously with Mr. Quest, and they together turned the body over. But Belle stood there enveloped in the heavy smoke.

Presently, however, the smoke left her, and she ran up, flung herself upon her knees and head down wept a mass of blood.

"He is dead, he is dead!" she wailed, "and I have killed him. Oh, Edward! Edward!"

Mr. Quest turned on her savagely, so savagely that one might almost have thought that he feared lest in her agony she should say something further.

"Stop that," he said, seizing her arm. "and go for the doctor; for if he is not dead he will soon bleed to death."

With an effort she rose, put her hand to her forehead, and then ran like the wind down the garden and through the little door.

CHAPTER XXIX.

HAROLD TAKES THE SNIPS.

Mr. Quest and Harold bore the bleeding woman, who, as we have seen, was dead, to the house and laid him on the sofa. Then having dispatched a servant to seek a second doctor in case the one already gone for was out, they set to work to cut the clothes from his neck and arm, and do what they could, and that was little enough, toward stanching the bleeding. It soon, however, became evident that Cossey had only got the outside portion of charge No. 7—that is to say, that he had been struck by about 100 pellets out of the 300 or so which would go to the ordinary ounce and a eighth. Had he received the whole charge he must, at that distance, have been instantly killed. As it was the point of the shoulder was riddled, and so, to a somewhat smaller extent, was the back of his neck and the region of his right ear. One or two outside pellets had also struck the head higher up, and the skin and muscles along the back was torn by the passage of the shot.

"By Jove," said Mr. Quest; "I think he is done for."

The Colonel nodded. He had had some experience of shot wounds, and the present one was not of a nature to encourage hope of the patient's survival.

"How did it happen?" asked Mr. Quest presently, as he mopped up the streaming blood with a sponge.

"It was an accident," groaned the Colonel. "Your wife was looking at my new gun. I told her that it was loaded, and that she must be careful, and I thought she had put it down. The next thing that I heard was the report. It is all my cursed fault for leaving the cartridges in."

"Ah," said Mr. Quest, "she always thought that she understood guns. It is a shocking accident."

Just then one of the doctors came running up the lawn carrying a box of instruments, and followed by Belle Quest; and in another minute was at work. He was a quick and skilful surgeon, and, having announced that his patient was not dead, at once set to work to tie one of the smaller arteries in the throat, which had been pierced, and through which Edward Cossey was rapidly bleeding to death. By the time this was done the other doctor, an older man, put in an appearance, and together they made a rapid examination of the injuries.

Belle stood by holding a basin of water. She did not speak, and on her face was that same fixed look of horror which Harold had observed after the discharge of the gun.

"Hair Margie"

A man's wife should always be the same specially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person" at least, so they say, and their husbands say so, too.

The noblest productions of a people are its best men. They are its pride and its prosperity. Every one takes pride in them, and in some sort partakes of their gifts.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must be taken four times a day with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

As the old farmer stood gazing at the elevator as it went up, he exclaimed, "Well by gosh! I've seen one or two balloons at the fair, but I never saw one work that way before."

As a simple, natural laxative, stomachic, blood, brain and nerve tonic, when taken as directed, the value of Burdock Blood Bitters cannot be over-estimated, while as a cure of constipation, indigestion, liver diseases, impure blood, sleeplessness, nervous and sick headache, it is the best that money can buy.

SPRING.

"The Green Leaf of the New Comedy Spring."—Shakespeare.

From the time "whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary," poets have sought to establish the beauties of this season. Thomson in his "Seasons" and Shakespeare in many of his works have no peers in these particulars, and yet "eternal spring" is freighted with disease. The accumulations of refuse matter go to decay and their exhalations poison the air, or the system is weighed down by the poisonous humors caused by indoor life of the winter months.

You begin to lose appetite, have a headache, a pain in your chest, back and shoulders; to toss about at night in restless dreams, wake in the morning with a foul mouth and furred tongue; you are disinclined to go about your work, tired and listless, and perhaps in mind you have a fit of the blues and suffer all the terrible ills of nervousness; have a pasty, sallow face, dull eyes and a blotched skin. One or all of these common complaints will certainly be evidence that your nerves are disordered, weakened, or perhaps shattered.

What you need now is a thorough course of Paine's Celery Compound. Immediate relief will be experienced from the use of this valuable remedy. The nerves will become strong, and the patient will be relieved of all pain, unpleasantness, and listlessness. This is the only discovery of modern medical science that really renews nerve tissue, checks its decay and actually adds new life. It will speedily and surely overcome all forms of nervousness which are so common at this season of the year. Sleep will become sounder, and the user will get up in the morning with a clear head, and feel more vigorous and active than he has for months before. The skin will rapidly be cleared of all imperfections, headaches will be banished, and vitality and vigor will come to every organ when Paine's Celery Compound is used. There is nothing equals it as an invigorator and restorative in the spring. It has vitalizing powers possessed by no other medicine, and has cured the worst forms of nerve and blood disorders.
