C. N. R. NOW ASK
FOR $20,000,000
GOVERNMENT AID

Bill To Provide For More Assistance For Road Will Be Introduced.

SECURED $15,000,000
AND NOW WANT MORE

Govt. May Guarantee Mackenzie and Mann Bonds For a Huge Amount.

BRITISH MARKET EASIER

Aid For the Grand Trunk Pacific Will Also Be Forthcoming

[Special To The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Mackenzie & Mann will be granted further substantial aid by Parliament next session.

The bill to provide Canadian Northern assistance will be introduced early in the session.

Last year Mackenzie & Mann applied for thirty-five millions, but obtained only fifteen millions. They are now back for the remainder.

When Finance Minister White and Sir William Mackenzie were in England together recently, the form in which aid should be given this year to the Canadian Northern was carefully considered.

Guarantee Bonds.
As the result of a careful study of the British money market the Government may undertake to guarantee another big issue of Canadian Northern bonds, possibly twenty-five or thirty million dollars.

There is a feeling that the British market, which was recently rather overfed with guaranteed bonds, is again recovering its appetite.

If bonds can be sold the Government would prefer that aid to Mackenzie & Mann should take the form of a guarantee, because cash is becoming a scarce commodity in the Dominion treasury.

Not Yet Decided.
However, the form of aid has not yet been decided upon, and the Government may after all demand of Parliament that millions in cash be voted to the Mackenzie & Mann railroad enterprise.

The Grand Trunk Pacific will also receive aid during the coming year. The amount has not yet been decided, but will be fixed soon after the opening of the House in January.

WASHED FROM BOAT

William Raddigan Made Brave But Vain Fight For Life.

[Canadian Press.]
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—After clinging to the side of a capsized rowboat, two miles from shore in Lake Michigan, for several hours today, William Raddigan, keeper of the Lawrence avenue city water crib, was drowned, when he was washed from the craft.

Patrick Conway, Raddigan's companion, was washed ashore, where later he was found and revived. The men spent the night on shore, and attempted to return to the crib early today.

Machine Guns Guard
8,400 Tons of Gold!

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Oct. 30.—About 8,400 tons of gold in the United States sub-treasury in Wall street, guarded night and day by a small army of watchmen and a battery of machine guns, is being counted by nine men sent over from the treasury department at Washington.

Between 2,500 and 3,000 tons of silver also is being counted, as well as several million dollars in bills, and a few tons of nickels and coppers.

The task was begun Tuesday, and will keep nine skilled men busy for three weeks. At the end of that time they are expected to inform M. Voget, assistant United States treasurer, in charge of the New York sub-treasury that he has $171,103,280.12 of government funds in his keeping. If they should report one dollar more or less than this amount there would be no rest until the cause of the discrepancy was discovered.

Mr. Voget took office on Monday, and became responsible for the money in the vaults. He is under $600,000 bonds, and will be required to give a receipt for the money on hand, for which reason the count is being made.

Only when a new official takes charge is such a count made. The records showed that $171,103,280.12 was in the sub-treasury when Mr. Voget assumed office.

MRS. JENNIE EATON, who was acquitted on a charge of murdering her husband, Admiral Joseph Eaton, hero of Battle of Santiago.

The lower picture shows Rear-Admiral Eaton. The evidence indicated that he had been addicted to the use of drugs for many years.

Owing to Admiral Eaton's prominence, the case attracted international attention. Immediately after his death the Government ordered an investigation.

PIERCED BY HATPIN, CITIZEN
THREATENS TO INVOKE LAW

Jabbed by Skewer in Elevator Full of Women, He Roars His Rage in the Presence of All—Thinks "Bayonets" Should Be Barred.

Roars of rage emanating from the chest of a prominent businessman attracted attention in front of an elevator in a downtown store today. He held his hand to his face and told in torrid language how his cheek had been pierced by a hatpin "as long and sharp as a bayonet," while riding in the elevator with half a dozen women.

An Outcry of Rage.
"I saw it right in front of my eye once," he said, "and I just ducked in time. I was holding off from it when the fool-female tittered and shook her head, and I got it—about four inches or it, right in the cheek. I said some things. I couldn't help it, but I think at that she expected me to apologize for it."

Wants It Prohibited.
"Talk about dangerous weapons!" he exploded, after a pause. "Why, if every man in London carried a dagger and a gun they couldn't do as much harm as these women with their hatpins. Some day someone will lose his eyesight. There ought to be a law against it, and I intend to ask the city council to take steps to adopt one. It'd be a better law than a lot we have now."

All Had Been There.
There was a chorus of sympathy from bystanders. All of them had apparently had their narrow escapes.

PRISONER'S STATEMENT

Jurymen Asked To Meet Her and She Thanked Them Individually.

[Canadian Press.]
Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Jennie Eaton was acquitted of the charge of murder of her husband, Rear-Admiral Joseph Eaton, by the verdict of the jury rendered at 5:10 o'clock this morning.

The jury had retired at 6 o'clock last night. Notwithstanding that there seemed little prospect, as the night wore on, of a verdict before morning, a crowd of nearly two hundred persons sat out the tedious night. Mrs. Eaton awaited the verdict composedly, and smiled when she heard the foreman of the jury pronounce her "not guilty."

Wanted To Meet Her.
After Mrs. Eaton had left the courtroom, the jury, through their foreman, asked that they might be allowed to meet her. The permission was granted, and they formed a semi-circle in the corridor. Mrs. Eaton came out from the jury's lobby and thanked them individually. As she did so she burst into tears for the first time since her trial started.

A Little later Mrs. Eaton gave out the following statement:
"I am so glad; most of all because of my aged mother and my lame child, both of whom need me. It means so much to them. I shall go home probably late today, and I hope that the trials and tribulations which have been mine in the past are ended."

The trial attracted country-wide interest. The admiral took a prominent part in the battle of Santiago. After his retirement he settled down on a little chicken farm at Assinippi, where he died on March 8 last.

As a result of the report made by the physician, who had attended him the day before, the medical examiner held an inquest. Portions of the internal organs of the admiral were sent to Professor Whitney, of the Harvard Medical School, who reported that they contained a large quantity of white arsenic. The grand jury reported an indictment against Mrs. Eaton, charging murder. She was arrested on March 19.

The Government Case.
Her trial commenced Oct. 14. The Government sought to show that Mrs. Eaton poisoned her husband by placing arsenic in his beverages and his medicine. The grand jury reported an indictment against Mrs. Eaton, charging murder. She was arrested on March 19.

It is not often that guests at Carter Castle desire to prolong their stay beyond the time appointed for the evening. "There are many similar cases," said Governor Carter, commenting on the case this morning. "Men go out of here without friends or money, and it's only a short time before they are back again. The City Mission does good work in giving such men a start when they come out, but they can't give enough help. I think it would almost pay the city to get some scheme for helping these men to get on their feet financially after being released from jail."

FRIENDLESS MAN ASKED TO BE KEPT IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Unable To Get Work He Requested That Visit Be Prolonged and County Authorities Granted Request—Many In Same Plight.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 30.—After being engaged for 40 years, Miss Evelyn Smithers, aged 76, of Glasgow, has decided to marry her fiancée, J. E. Campbell, of Winnipeg, aged 82.

Miss Smithers arrived here today on the Allan liner Virginian, en route for Winnipeg, where the ceremony is to take place.

Hitherto, Miss Smithers, who became engaged to Mr. Campbell in Scotland, has been afraid to cross the ocean, and put the marriage off from year to year in the hope that Mr. Campbell, who is a grocer in Winnipeg, would make enough money to justify his retiring to his old home for the rest of his days. As Mr. Campbell has never been able to do this, Miss Smithers at last conquered her fear of the sea.

OFFER WITHDRAWN
BUT WAS PRINTED
WITH THE REPORTS

Lake Erie Coal Co. Recalled Proposal To Electrify on February 22.

WAS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Original Offer Was Printed as Literature for the Electrification Side.

It is significant that the offer of the Lake Erie Coal Company to electrify the London and Port Stanley and pay an annual rental of $20,000 a year was withdrawn on Feb. 22 last, and yet not a word was said until its meeting of the London and Port Stanley board last night. Mayor C. M. R. Graham, who was the only member of the board apprised of the withdrawal of the offer, admitted that he had written the coal company and informed it that the withdrawal would be brought to the attention of the board at its next meeting.

Misled Ratepayers.
In spite of his knowledge that the offer was withdrawn, the mayor had the original application of the company included in the literature that was sent to all ratepayers, presumably with the intention of misleading them. The Port Stanley board meets only on the call of the president after the annual meeting in January.

In the council motion that authorized the publication of the reports of the offer, it was stated that the offer was to be distributed to the ratepayers, no provision was made for the printing of the "offers" made for the road. Mayor Graham saw to it, however, that the "offers" were printed, and in these was included the coal company's offer, which he knew was invalid, as it had been withdrawn.

On the other hand, the C. N. R. offer was not printed, although made to the city council and entered in the minutes.

DR. ROSS IS NOT READY TO ELECT

Former Head of Sanatorium May Be Let Out on Bail.

Dr. Wm. H. Ross, who is facing a charge of bigamy following his marriage to a prominent young Toronto woman in September last, appeared before Judge Macbeth today to elect trial. His counsel was not, however, prepared to elect, and he was remanded for an indefinite period to allow further preparation.

As soon as Dr. Ross elects trial it is probable that bail will be arranged, but this has not yet been done.

Dr. Ross was for a time temporary head of the Byron Sanatorium.

CITY COULD HAVE HAD PROMISED RETURN WITH NOT A CENT'S EXPENSE

The Offer of Canadian Northern Was Equivalent of $37,000 Per Year, Which Is Estimate of Return Brought Down For 99-Year Lease to City.

C. N. R. READY TO PAY FOR STATION

Protestations of the electrificationists to the contrary notwithstanding, the terms of the lease, by which London secures the London and Port Stanley Railway for 99 years, are not as favorable to the city as was the offer of the C. N. R. The C. N. R. offer amounted to practically $37,000, on an average, without the expenditure by the city of a single cent on the road. The offer that was made by the L. & P. S. board, and which will, of course, be taken up by the council, amounts, according to Mayor Graham, to $37,000—but it calls for a 99-year lease instead of an 83-year one, and further it entails the expenditure of $700,000 and more on the road.

The Present Situation.
In plain language the facts are these: The C. N. R. offer was the payment of $37,000 a year on a road, carried in the city books at a valuation of $765,000. The offer of the council is the payment of $37,000 a year on a road that will represent the $765,000 plus the $700,000 to be expended in electrification—or $37,000 for $1,465,000 worth of road.

It has been argued that the $700,000 does not represent a London and Port Stanley railway board expenditure, but a civic expenditure. Granted. If that is the case, then London (as controllers of the L. & P. S.) would have received the equivalent, $37,000, on both offers. In one case, however, the rental would have been secured without any concessions from the city, in the other London will have to procure $700,000 before the $37,000 average annual rental is secured.

Play To the Gallery.
Mayor Graham made a grand stand play last night that the C. N. R. offer should be reduced $3,000 a year because the company demanded the M. C. R. terminals here and the annual rent to the city amounts to $3,000. In reply to Ald. Richter's argument that the C. N. R. had undertaken to look after the M. C. R. part of the bargain itself, the mayor replied that his interpretation of the offer was that this would mean that the C. N. R. would be willing to pay the same ratio on the terminals as the M. C. R.

Offered to Pay For Terminals.
As a matter of fact, Col. Davidson, who appeared for the C. N. R., specifically declared that the company would look after the M. C. R. terminal question. Save to those who have no desire of taking the real meaning out of this statement, it is apparent that the Canadian Northern intended assuming the liability for terminal facilities that is now borne by the Michigan Central.

HOCKIN, FORMER LONDONER, JAILED AS A DYNAMITER, IS NOT ENTERING APPEAL

Man Described as "Iago" of Dynamite Plot Apparently Has No Hope of Release—He Carried Dynamite From City to City.

Interest in the famous dynamiting plot which resulted in the blowing up of the Times building in Los Angeles in 1910, has been revived in an appeal now before the United States court of appeals, in which thirty of the thirty-three labor union officials who were adjudged equally guilty with the McNamara brothers in promoting explosions, ask for a new trial. They were all convicted by Judge Anderson at Indianapolis last December and sentenced to varying terms in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Hockin Not Appealing.
Among those who are not appealing is Herbert S. Hockin, who is now serving six years in Leavenworth for his part in the crime. Hockin was a former resident of this city, and as he was known to a number of Londoners his case created a great deal of interest in local circles. His testimony at the time of the trial of the McNamara brothers created a widespread sensation, involving as it did his confession of dynamiting as a business carried on with the funds of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' Union.

He has been described as the "Iago" of the whole plot. He it was who travelled from city to city, sometimes carrying with him quantities of the deadly explosive, arranging the details of some of the mysterious explosions which baffled the American police until the destruction of the Times building, with great loss of life, brought matters to a head and the whole plot was unearthed.

Passed Through City.
During the time that he was engaged in his nefarious occupation, Hockin was a frequent visitor to Detroit, and no (Continued on Page Eleven.)

WEBSTER MET DEATH AS HE WALKED TRACK

Evidence Is That London Stonemason Was Killed by Train.

RELATIVES IN LONDON

They Say Accident Victim Left This City About Three Weeks Ago.

[Special To The Advertiser.]
Buffalo, Oct. 30.—Don Webster, the London stonemason, who was found unconscious Tuesday night at Niagara Falls in a ditch, and expired suddenly afterwards in the Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital, met his death by force.

Although Coroner Scott, of the Falls, would not declare frankly that he had been struck by a train, it was found by Dr. W. L. Wilson, of Niagara Falls, who conducted the post-mortem into the cause of the former Londoner's death, that five of Webster's ribs had been caved in by some force, and that internal hemorrhage was the result and cause of death.

Found Beside Tracks.
The ditch in which Webster was found is alongside the railroad tracks, and two trainmen, Engineer Turner and Conductor Richards, of a passing freight, summoned the police ambulance after finding Webster in the ditch. Webster's body will be interred this afternoon in Niagara Falls Cemetery.

Miss Davidson, of Oxford street, is a relative of Webster. She stated that her cousin and a bricklayer had left the house three weeks ago and since that time had not been heard from. He had formerly lived in Buffalo, and it was probable that he intended returning to his old home, in that city.

Another relative is Mr. John Graham, of Bluffville street. He also asserts that he has received no communication from the missing man since his departure from the city. Webster was 52 years of age and was a member of the local Bricklayers' Union.

Mrs. David Wolfe Starts Action Against Grand Trunk Railway.

Messrs. Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, acting for Mrs. Toby Wolfe, has entered a writ against the Grand Trunk Railway for unstated damages for the death of her son, David Wolfe, who was killed at the William street crossing of the Grand Trunk a week ago Saturday night, when a freight train backed over the express wagon, on which the little fellow was crossing the tracks. The writ alleges negligence on the part of the company and its servants.

FARMERS NOT LIABLE
FOR $75,000 CLAIM

Shares Were Obtained by Misrepresentation.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Oct. 30.—Nine other Halton farmers are delighted by the judgment of Master in Ordinary Alcorn, holding that James Murray and the estate of John Sproat are not liable to the extent of $75,000 on subscriptions for Farmers' Bank shares which it is alleged were obtained by misrepresentation.

These nine farmers entered action for the cancellation of their subscriptions, and are in the same position as the two cases in which the master in ordinary has given judgment. These subscriptions, to which the liquidator of the bank seeks to hold them, are said to total about $75,000, which, under the double liability, would reach $150,000.

Among those affected are George Casta, William A. Dixon, William McLeana, Finlay McMillan, James Hume, George Denoon and John McLeod.

ONTARIO SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSN IS MEETING AT OWEN SOUND

Londoner Gave Fine Address on Bible Class Teaching—Over 400 Delegates Present From All Over Province—Practical Papers Greatly Enjoyed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Owen Sound, Oct. 29.—The four hundred delegates who are attending the B section of the Ontario Sunday School Convention here have spent a busy day. At the morning session Mrs. Stevens, of Alton, Ill., superintendent of the temperance department of the International Sunday School Association, explained the great temperance pledge campaign which has been launched in connection with Sunday school work, and urged active work to secure the signing of the pledges which has been assigned as Ontario's share of the campaign.

Mayor Lemon extended the greetings of the town.

Londoner Spoke.

Mr. Israel Taylor, of London, dealt with the question of adult Bible class teaching in a most interesting manner, while Mrs. Stevens gave a very encouraging address on the topic "What Mean Ye by This Service?"

This afternoon Rev. G. A. Woodside, of Brantford, a former pastor of the convention church, was listened to intently while he dealt with the missionary aspect of child-teaching, which was the corner-stone of missionary work. Miss Hazel A. Lewis, of Cincinnati, in her inimitable manner, addressed the convention on the subject of the children in the church. The addresses were followed by the departmental conferences in the various churches.

ASKED PARDON FOR CONDEMNED CONVICTS

Law Students Paraded to King Alfonso's Palace at Madrid.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 30.—A cable from Madrid says: The Institute of Criminology, one of the foremost scientific associations in Spain, sent a strong recommendation yesterday to the Government for the abolition of capital punishment. Almost simultaneously a large number of students, headed by those of the Madrid Law School, paraded before the palace and asked the King for the pardon of several convicts sentenced to death.

These developments are significant because the records of the Conservative cabinet show that the latter make considerable use of capital punishment in cases of political offences.

Granulation of the Eyelids

Most people know Dr. Chase's Ointment best as a cure for eczema and itching piles. Nor is this to be wondered at when you think of the remarkable record made in this class of cures.

But there are scores of other uses for this ointment, which are only discovered when it is kept constantly at hand.

Mrs. Martin, 13 Carroll street, Toronto, formerly of Bowmanville, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years, and found it invaluable in treating skin irritations and all sorts of burns and wounds. In fact, we would not be without it in the house. It is a most excellent treatment for granulated eyelids, from which I suffered without finding anything to help me."

Wherever there is itching of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal, you can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with full assurance that it will prove entirely satisfactory. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

M. SBARETTI REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Attempt Is Being Made To Bring Pressure Upon the Vatican.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—After much dickerings before the civil courts of this province, it seems that the case of C. S. Edwards vs. the Seminary of Sainte Marie du Monnoir and Monseigneur Bernard is about to enter into an altogether new phase and become a diplomatic affair. At least, such is the purpose of a motion presented this afternoon in the practice court.

The seminary was ordered closed in 1910 by the then apostolic delegate, Monseigneur Sbarretti, who has since returned to Rome. Mr. Edwards asked the courts to prevent that sentence from taking any civil effect, but a claim he had against the seminary would then become impeded. He also contended that the sentence of the ecclesiastical authorities had not been rendered after a fair trial, and asked for a rogatory commission to go to Rome and to interrogate the seminary. The rogatory commission was sent to Rome, but Monseigneur Sbarretti refused to answer, and the courts are powerless to compel him.

In view of these facts Mr. Edwards now asks, in the motion presented today, that the court make a report of the whole case to His Royal Highness the Governor-General, and that he be asked to secure the help of the British ambassador at Rome to bring influence to bear upon the Vatican, in order that Monseigneur Sbarretti's answer may be secured.

AMUSEMENTS

Sparkling Musical Comedy, With Many Song Hits.

"The Newlyweds and Their Baby" will be seen at Grand Opera House tonight, for one night only, with its company of fun experts. Aaron Hoffman and Paul West, who are responsible for the book, have succeeded in putting together a comedy calling for a combination of pretty girls, fresh costumes, catchy songs and clever acting. "The Newlyweds and Their Baby" shows better craftsmanship in construction than most musical comedies, because it has at least a consistent plot which is a rapid fire of pathos and sentiment with the songs and fun. There is a lot of new business, and the expensive settings and costumes are fresh and refreshing. The piece does not admit of a dull moment, and there are people in it who can sing and dance worth while. There are sixteen sparkling musical interpolations.

"Mutt and Jeff in Panama." "Mutt and Jeff in Panama" comes to the Grand tomorrow evening and twice Saturday. It is a combination of farce, melodrama and musical comedy with enough plot and interest to lift it a notch or two above the ordinary play. "Mutt and Jeff" are too well known to need further introduction to local patrons of the theatre. Their exploits and adventures have been the source of considerable amusement for years. The new play, which was written by Owen Davis, "Mutt and Jeff" have plenty to do. They are here, there and everywhere, and what they do is the signal for merry laughter, hilarity and mirth. The company this season is a large and especially competent one, enlisting the services of 50 prices. Seats on sale.

Ernie Marks' Stock Company. Commencing Monday night the theatre-goers of London are to have with them again the Ernie Marks' Stock Company, featuring Miss Kittie Marks, in a repertoire of high-class plays, and singing, dancing, and musical vaudeville acts. Mr. Marks has added to his regular show an all-star list. He also wishes to call attention to the play picked for the opening night at the Grand Opera House, the story of "Ishmael." The company will offer a complete change each evening, and on Tuesday night they will present the rural drama in four acts, "Sweet Clover." Wednesday matinee the farce-comedy, "The Canadian Gentleman," Mr. Ernie Marks playing the part of Dennis O'Brien, and on Wednesday night, closing engagement, they will present "Oliver Twist," a drama in five acts, from Charles Dickens' novel. The company, as usual, are playing here at popular prices. Seat sale opens tomorrow, 9 a.m.

Auditorium Attraction. The Venetian Scenarists, associated with Mile. Bonini, soprano, and Signor Darpe, tenor, will be the attraction in the Auditorium Saturday night in the affiliated society course. This organization is very popular for music lovers. Their fame in Venice is winning much praise with American audiences. The conductor Lacerenza has a wide experience in his native Italy, and is an author of considerable repute.

DISTINCTIVE NEW MILLINERY FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

What Store Serves You?

That stores differ in service-giving and in power of service-giving no one will dispute, and that if there were but one store in the city it would not get all the city's business, and certainly would not be a fosterer of the city's drawing power.

In all lines of our activity the Smallman & Ingram store aims to stand first in service-giving, and we know that for those who would make by saving, Smallman & Ingram serves best.

From the American millinery fashion headquarters comes (right at the height of the season) an entirely new collection of shapes and trimmings, featuring innumerable new ideas in millinery that have developed since the season opened. Hundreds that have not been seen before will be shown today.

Prominent among them are Hats with new mounts and feathers, and Hats with certain new features in shaping that are distinctly of Parisian inspiration.

A wonderful, attractive display of Trimmed Hats, moderately priced, at $6.50, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00 each, and many exclusive creations and Paris reproductions from $12.00 to $25.00.

Girls' Millinery Distinctively Girlish

Time was when a young girl's hat was very like aunt's or elder sister's, and the missie herself was a miniature likeness of the fashionable grown-up. Today each age is specially designed for, and the careful mother recognizes at a glance the hat with youth, grace and simplicity in every line. Our Girls' Hats have style distinction and that jaunty and easy grace that every girl's hat should possess, and prices are moderate. See display this week. . . . $2.50 to $5.00 Second Floor.

CANADA SUFFERING FROM PROSPERITY

London Financier's View After Close Inspection of Conditions.

London, Oct. 30.—"I have just returned from Canada," declared Faithfull Begg, prominent financier, before the London Chambers of Commerce yesterday. "My firm conviction is that the position there is essentially sound. The difficulties under which Canada finds herself arise from her prosperity alone. If depression is used, there is no place where the investors may place capital more safely."

The occasion was a lecture by Hon. J. H. Turner, agent for British Columbia, who denied that the preference on British goods was counteracted by freight rates. He thought there was very little in the alleged sentimental preference in Canada for British goods. Amongst the reasons why British goods had not a bigger sale were that the design and make were frequently unsuitable for Canada. They were often made and packed unnecessarily heavy, and were not sufficiently advertised. Mr. Turner submitted details of the British manufacturers' exhibition train, proposed to tour Canada next year.

KILLED NEAR DURHAM. [Special to The Advertiser.]

Durham, Oct. 30.—Mrs. John Reay, of Bentinck Township, is dead as a result of injuries she sustained when her horse ran away and dashed the buggy into the side of a moving freight train.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured. The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished."

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

TEST POSTPONED.

Rough Weather in the English Channel Stopped Experiments.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 30.—Owing to rough weather in the English Channel yesterday, the firing experiments at Portland, in which the old battleship Empress of India was to be used as a target, were postponed.

At Plymouth, the Swedish warship Flygla, bound for the West Indies and North American ports, was removed to the dockyard in the harbor for safety.

CALL ON POWERS TO PROBE TRUSTS

Debaters Believe Living Increases Through Over-Capitalization.

Asking for Government investigation of the trusts, mergers, and the over-capitalization of companies, a strongly-worded resolution was passed by the Men's League of Dundas Centre Methodist Church last Sunday morning, on the motion of Professor Bowman and Mr. Donald McNaughton. The matter was first brought up the Sunday previous, following an address on "The High Cost of Living" by Mr. Fred W. Daly, B.A.

The resolution reads: "Resolved, That after discussing the present high cost of living, we believe that this problem is one of the most important with which our Government has to deal, and that, in our opinion, one large factor in this increase is the watering of stocks and over-capitalization of companies. Therefore, be it resolved that we call upon our present Governments to take steps to prevent this practice and also to appoint a commission to investigate the various mergers, trusts, etc., now in existence, this commission to also have power to reduce the price of materials to the consumer if the present price is found to be unfair."

LAMBETH. Lambeth, Oct. 30.—A number of the young people attended the concert at Glendale.

Mrs. J. E. Mitchell was the guest of Mr. Mitchell, Glendale, for a few days recently.

Dr. John D. Milne has left for London, Eng., where he will be specializing on surgical work.

Mrs. Will Robinson, who has been ill for the past few days, is improving.

Mrs. David Bogue is able to be out again.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Severe Case of a Philadelphia
Woman—Her Symptoms.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness,
noise in my ears,
timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness."
"I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away
the medicine the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. My medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household
I have visited."—Mrs. MARY JOHNSON, 110 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case.
Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysteric spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to my dishes."
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and I have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W.
HORNBERGER, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

BLAME BLONDS FOR INCREASE IN DIVORCE

Majority of Women Who Appear in Court Are Fair Haired.

New York, Oct. 29.—"The blond woman in the case" is still the answer to
"why married men go wrong."
Anyone in doubt about it is recommended to a morning session in Justice Giegarich's part of the supreme court, where undetected, mostly undefendable, divorce cases supply the gist for justices' mill. Here wives, robbed of their husbands' affections,
troop into court with detectives at their heels, and sometimes with the blond woman in the case close at hand, to go through the 20-minute process of cutting the ties.

Nearly Always.
It is nearly always a blond woman who is named as co-respondent. In the two weeks just past, which mark
the opening of the winter trial term, 245 divorce cases have been heard by Justice Giegarich. Of this number 220 suits were brought by wives, and, as the New York law so prescribes, it was necessary for the wives to prove infidelity on the part of their husbands.

Majority Blonds.
Of these 220 cases there were
blond women named as co-respondents in 210 suits. Ten were either brunette or dark haired. Two hundred and five had blue eyes, one was blind and the remainder had brown, hazel or dark eyes.

The husbands of these 220 cases were, with the exception of 40, all nettes, and over more than five feet nine inches tall. In the case of the forty husbands thirty of these were blonds, five were dark haired, and five were of medium height. Strangely enough, as though to prove the traditional fickleness of the blond men, 28 of these 40, after deserting their wives for an affair, turned around and deserted the affirty.

The dark-haired men seemed to have played loyal to their affections, even in the face of threatened imprisonment.

Give Up Hope.
And the wives in nearly every one of the 220 cases have brown hair or medium dark, and hardly one of the number brought suit for divorce until they found it was impossible for them to regain their husbands' affections.

"Historically, the blond affinity cuts
a big figure as the woman in the case,"
said Justice Giegarich today. "In the great majority of undetected cases that come before me I invariably learn that some blond lady has won a husband's affections, or that some brunette man has stolen a wife's affections."

"Occasionally we get a red-haired husband or wife in court, but their troubles seem to have arisen in the first instance because of incompatibility of temper. After an estrangement has taken place some affinity,
man or woman, comes along and saves the day."

FIRST SKYSCRAPER BEING TORN DOWN

Old Tower Building is No Longer Wonder of New York.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 29.—The first building ever erected around a skeleton of steel, the forerunner of the skyscrapers which are known today in almost every American city, is to be torn down. The structure is known as the Tower Building, but this has become a misnomer. When it was erected in 1889 at 50 Broadway it was the marvel of the city, being eleven stories in height. Today within a stone's throw of the old structure there are buildings from three to four times as high.

The Tower Building is owned by Standard Oil interests, who have found that the structure no longer pays for its operating costs. It has been decided to demolish it to make a saving in taxes.

LEGAL QUERIES

TENANT.—I rent a house by the month, taking possession on the 6th
of the month. After some months,
the landlord gives notice on the 10th of the following month for me to leave on the 10th of the following month. Do I have to leave at that time?

A.—No; you can stay until the month expires, on the 6th of the following month.
SUBSCRIBER.—Landlord has stated that there was hard water on the place, and after taking possession tenant finds well dry. Can he claim damages for carrying water while there? If so, how much? A.—He can claim damages. The amount of such damages to be determined by suit in division court in case parties cannot agree upon it.

THE REDUCTION MYSTERY STORY OF NEW YORK By WILL IRWIN

CHAPTER X.
A Lone Hand.
Martin McGee waited to keep his latest appointment with Rosalie Le Grange on a bench in Stuyvesant Park, dead centre for the Hebrew population in New York. Before and behind him a regiment of children swarmed over horizontal bars or made loud plays with park swings. On the benches to right and left sat a crowd of squalid loafers, most of whom would have skulked away into the dives and alleys of the East Side had they known that this florid, stalwart gentleman in the plain gray suit was a high policeman.
On the fringes of his vision Jewish housewives bargained with push-cart peddlers.
It was all very lively, very alien, and very odorous. Martin McGee speculated lazily and with some amusement upon the habits of Rosalie Le Grange—so much her own yet so well concealed for her purposes.
For example, this method of holding business conferences on secret affairs—for she always set her appointments in Stuyvesant Park or some other out-of-the-way open space. It was a highly original, highly efficient plan. One could enter without attracting attention; one could watch the approach; a meeting in a public park was a safe thing. That was one of the thousand ways in which her mind thought faster and further than his.
He felt even a shade of jealousy as he awaited her. With that ripple in the pool of his thoughts came another disturbed feeling. How was he to meet her after what had happened three days ago
in the hallway of Mrs. Moore's old house?
The thing had been an explosion of emotion, beyond his control. He had not put it down. It had not put it so. It got away with me! how he expressed it to himself.

Martin McGee was approaching fifty,
the second period of sentiment in man in the lusty summer of his days he had loved and lost. She had chosen the other arm of municipal warfare and married a fireman. Since then woman had not but a shadowy figure in his bachelor life. And here, in the middle age, the face and figure, the form and move of a woman was playing hide-and-seek among his thoughts of police duty and police privilege. He recognized even a certain embarrassment over the coming meeting
like that of a youth who has been slapped
by a perky girl. Only one face gave him satisfaction. Her cold withdrawal from him, her genuine indignation, settled finally to his enchanted mind certain surmises concerning one element in the character of Rosalie Le Grange. This, however, raised up disturbing thoughts.
She had been a professional medium; and a medium was a half-crook wasn't respectable. The perverse yearning of one who has passed his life
among disreputables, Martin McGee loved respectability in woman. And "How do you do?" said a voice beside him, and Rosalie's self settled down on the park bench.

He looked at her without rising, his first thought to read in those eyes of hers which mirrored so many emotions, her attitude toward him. The eyes were laughing.
"How do you do?" he repeated after her. And then, as though he must be out with it:
"Say, I guess there's an apology coming from me."
"If there is," said Rosalie, "there's one coming from about every man I ever knew. It's the way of the animal. It's a kind of a left-handed compliment to the lady, though."

Martin McGee, a little unaccustomed
since his philandering days to the slender arrows of feminine wit, at this queer variation of the common "You're just like all the rest." It stuck full to him, and in a shaft, and in a tender and uninjured spot.
"This was different," said he. But she said: "So they all say," said she. But she

MYSTIC SHRINERS TO VISIT IN HAMILTON

Large Number From London Will Attend Big Convention.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, Oct. 30.—Friday night will see the largest gathering of Mystic Shriners in the history of the city.
The occasion will be the first visit of Ramesis Temple, of Toronto. Special trains will be run from Toronto and London, and it is also expected that there will be a large representation
from Rochester and Buffalo.

George J. Tuckett, an old Hamiltonian, is here from Rochester to help
the local committee in making arrangements for the visitors. The parade will leave the T. H. & B. station at 7:30.
It will be headed by the famous 13th Royal regiment band, which has been engaged by the Knights Templars to head all their parades on the other side. It will be followed by the famous Ninty-First pipers, the Arab patrol, of Toronto, the famous Tom-band, the Arab patrol, of Hamilton, commanded by the famous Gar-waite, and the Nobles, in proper regatta. A large number of candidates from Hamilton and district will be initiated.

service, and the excellence of that road's equipment, has been so greatly appreciated by the travelling public that it has been found necessary to put into service an entirely new Through Standard Express Train between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Commencing Sunday, Oct. 26, the "Gate City Express" will leave Toronto
at 2:30 p.m., and will run daily thereafter, arriving Winnipeg at 8:25 a.m.
second morning. The train will consist of the highest-class modern equipment: Observation Compartment Car, Standard Sleeping Cars, Tourist Sleeping Car, Dining Car, First-Class Coach and Colonist Car. This will be the most convenient and best train between Toronto and Winnipeg on account of the daylight departure from Toronto at an hour when the Union Station is not badly congested, and also on account of the early hour of arrival at Winnipeg.

The present "Vancouver Express"
will continue to leave Toronto at 10:20
p.m. daily and will consist of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express."
This train is the best to take for points
west of Winnipeg, but for Winnipeg and east the "Gate City Express" is the right train to travel by.

LONDON, THURSDAY, OCT. 30.

CANADA'S IGNOBLE ISOLATION.

 New Zealand's change of policy re-forces greatly the argument for the Laurier program. A great defence problem for all three Dominions lies in the Pacific. From the first this was realized by Australia and Canada, and by New Zealand, too. New Zealand's original plan was that a British squadron subsidized by her Government and open to her sailors, whose salaries
 were to be partly paid by New Zealand,
 should be stationed off her coasts.
 The New Zealand Dreadnought was to divide its time between New Zealand and Chinese waters. It was at the request of the Admiralty, then obsessed by the German scare, that she allowed the Dreadnought to remain in Europe.
 This New Zealand has found to be unsatisfactory. The German scare has wholly passed, good-feeling has set in,
 and in the daylight of normal facts
 New Zealand sees, as before, that the true problem lies in the Pacific, and that their British naval interests must be fortified against the coming menace of the Orient.

 This is as true for Canada as for the South Pacific Dominions. Messrs.
 Borden and Foster know it as well as anybody. At the last election no one was more insistent than Sir Richard McBride and the British Columbia Conservatives on this point. They clamored for a fleet on the Pacific coast; it was their election cry. The present support of a contribution policy for a North Sea fleet, by Sir Richard McBride in particular, is one of the most insincere and glaringly inconsistent phases of the change in the Conservative party's whole attitude.
 Our local contemporary, shouting,
 "Janus," picked the very word for its party's policy, for Mr. Borden, Sir Richard McBride, and for its own right-about-turn from a national and imperial front three years ago to its present servility. We have got to guard the Pacific and we have got to do it ourselves. If the Germans sang "Die Wacht am Rhein" in 1870, it is ours to sing today, with Australia and New Zealand, the Watch on the Pacific. It is the way to keep Britannia's rule of the sea, particularly even of the North Sea.

 To bring a British squadron to the British Columbia coast only takes away strength from the home waters, though the whole Borden policy is based upon supposed requirements in the North Sea. He would weaken the mother country at the very point where he says she needs strengthening. The Borden policy, which leaves the Pacific coast bare, or to British keeping, will not do. We have got to come to the Laurier policy if there is to be any naval expenditure at all. Everything conspires to vindicate an command that policy.

 Canada now stands alone among the great British Dominions, in an ignoble isolation. Its premier denies that it can do what the other Dominions are doing. It is all very well to say that the contribution scheme is only temporary, but the Government refuses to say whether it will yet inaugurate
 a patriotic, national policy of defence.
 Mr. Borden has himself emphatically declared against such a policy. Cannot we do, however, what little New Zealand is doing? The Borden policy is worthy only of Malaysians, who have no votes, and are under a satrapy. Let Australians, New Zealanders, Britons, fight for the Empire; we must skulk in the rear under Mr. Borden, and the Montreal Star would commit our defence even to the Americans. This is no splendid isolation, but pusillanimity.
 But New Zealand cannot but shame
 our centralizers into something better. They have lost their battle. We cannot stand with Malaysia, we must stand with white men. Both in trade and in defence time is with the Laurtier policy, and events will move too swiftly for Borden, Rogers & Co.

THE UNANIMOUS PREMIERS.

 The conference of provincial premiers has been held in Ottawa, and has completed its labors. Doubtless, it was a pleasant social reunion, but apart from that feature there does not appear to have been any satisfactory results. An important question of provincial rights was under discussion, arising out of the highways bill,
 but as the Conservative premiers had to sustain the Borden Government's position, it had to be dropped. The claim of the Maritime Provinces for a revision of the terms of representation in the Dominion Parliament cropped up as usual. But the western provinces were opposed, and it fell by the wayside.

 But on one subject there was decided unanimity. They all agreed on a demand for more money from the Dominion. It was proposed that the subsidy should be increased by an additional 10 per cent. of the receipts from customs and excise. This would have meant a grant of some $13,000, 000, based on the present revenue.
 The provincial subsidies would be more than doubled. Another little item out of the Dominion treasury was the request for an increase in the salaries of governors.

 We presume there would be no objection to giving our provincial governors a little more pay. But to the proposal for a doubling of the provincial subsidies there ought to be decided opposition. We can readily understand that those who have the management of provincial affairs would be quite willing to have the provincial revenues increased. The body that spends seldom objects to having more money for spending purposes. But the people who pay may well object to paying more than is necessary.

 The argument that may be used in favor of an addition to the provincial subsidy is a specious one. The Dominion's revenue from customs comes from the people; if the Dominion has any surplus from this source it should go back to the people in the way of grants to the provinces. But the underlying objection goes back to the origin of the revenue; the surplus money should not have been taken out of the people's pockets in the first place. Governments must have a revenue; that revenue must come from the people governed either by a direct or an indirect tax; but a government has no right to tax the people for more money than is needed for the purposes of government. As soon as the receipts show a continuous and increasing surplus the tax should be reduced. If the Dominion Government is able to collect so much surplus money that it could afford to distribute thirteen million among the provinces, the proper course would be to leave that amount in the pockets of the people themselves rather than give it to the provincial governments to spend.

 It is safe to say that the provinces do not need this extra grant. The subsidies distributed among them now aggregate $11,000,000. They each have sources of revenue apart from the subsidy. If they really need any more, there are many ways of taxation to which they can resort. They can expend more energy in developing their natural resources, and make money in that way. They can make speculators contribute by an increased tax. The accumulated and practically unusable wealth of individuals can be drawn on through succession duties. There is scarcely any limit to the taxable resources of the provinces.

 It may be said that the people of the provinces would object to the local authorities drawing upon them for revenue, and would prefer that the money should come from the Dominion. The people, however, do not object to taxes that are necessary
 in the interests of good government;
 but they will object to be taxed for unnecessary expenditures. And it is quite right that they should. But herein lies the evil of indirect taxation. The people almost unconsciously pay indirect taxes to a greater extent than the Government really needs. Then, if the Government has more money than is absolutely necessary it becomes extravagant, and squanders it.

 The tendency towards governmental extravagance has always existed, and it only increases when the revenue advances. The more revenue the more extravagance; and the more extravagance the greater demand for revenue. It is a vicious circle. And the average citizen pays for it in the increased cost of living, even though a tax-gatherer never calls at his door.
 Instead of disposing of its surplus by handing it over to the province to spend, the Dominion Government should leave the surplus money
 in the pockets of the men and women who find it hard enough to live in these days of high prices.

 AS TO DREADNOUGHTS.
 "The London Advertiser" says it advised the building of cruisers, destroyers and torpedo-boats in Canada, with Dreadnoughts later.
 "Our contemporary has not the courage to advise the outlay of $75-000,000 for a Dreadnought plant now.
 It leaves the date conveniently open.
 The present need is for Dreadnoughts, not tin-pots."—London Free Press.

 Where did our contemporary get the notion that a Dreadnought plant would cost $75,000,000? It knows, or ought to know, that this sum, which figures in Mr. Churchill's memorandum, includes plants for the making of guns and rolling of armor plate. A Canadian Dreadnought plant, where the materials would be assembled, not manufactured, would be a much less costly affair.

 The great British firm of Cammell,
 Laird & Co. offered to build shipyards
 at St. John, N. B., and construct there four cruisers and six destroyers for the Canadian navy for $11,000,000. The plant would have cost Canada nothing, and could have been expanded into a Dreadnought plant when the cruisers
 and destroyers were completed.
 Whether the guns and armors for Canadian Dreadnoughts would be made in Canada or imported from Great Britain

 would be merely a matter of detail.
 In Canada they would, of course, be made at the existing steel plants.

 It would not be advisable or perhaps possible to plunge at once into building Dreadnoughts in Canada, before building cruisers, destroyers and the lighter craft. The industry should grow, like any other. If it would lift the naval question out of the ruck of partyism into which the Borden Government has degraded it, the Liberal party would, we believe, assent to the immediate construction of two Dreadnoughts in British yards, on condition that the Government begin at once the construction of other ships in Canada and pledged its adherence to the Canadian navy policy. The Government, however, will not accept this compromise. It is fettered by its alliance with the Nationalists who won twenty seats in Quebec by fighting the Canadian navy idea.

 Australia Can, New Zealand Can, but Canada Can't. How do good Conservatives like this definition of their leader's navy policy?

 The policy of contribution may be good enough for half-naked Malaysians who have no votes. It is not good enough for Canadians.

 No wonder the squires hate Lloyd George. He has the impudence to propose that British soil shall support
 more peasants and fewer pheasants.

 Our local contemporary four years ago was hot for building Dreadnoughts
 in Canada, instead of England, but now anyone who suggests it is a traitor.

 Who says Canadian public men cannot lay aside partisanship? Witness the touching unanimity of Grit and Tory provincial premiers in demanding more money from Ottawa.

 There will be a miniature general election in Britain soon. Vacancies have arisen in Reading, Keighley, Lincolnshire, Wick Burghs, and South Lancashire and North Cork. All were won by Liberals in the general election, except North Cork, which is always Nationalist. If the Liberals can hold their own, just after the Carson campaign in Ulster, the Government will have little to fear at the next election.

 The electrificationists on the council propose that the city shall lease the London and Port Stanley Railway to itself for an average sum of $37,500 for 99 years. The C. N. R. offered to pay this rental for a shorter term and rebuild the road. Why should the city spend $700,000? What will it get that it could not have got from a lease to a steam road? It will get a debt of $700,000—that's all.

BRALEY'S POEM TODAY

 THE OLD DOPE.
 She was a high-brow maiden,
 With culture and brains galore,
 Her mind with much learning laden.
 A spirit that loved to soar;
 There came to her door a lover
 Who wanted the maid to wed,
 But somehow could not discover
 The way to her heart—or head.

 He wooed her with books of knowledge
 He wooed her with problem plays,
 With lore he had learned in college,
 With erudite talk and ways;
 But it didn't seem to win her
 And his hopes seemed gone for fair,
 And he kept on getting thinner
 And moping in deep despair.

 Then he dropped the highbrow fashion
 And turned to the old-time style.
 He told of his love and passion,
 He raved of her lovely smile;
 He praised her face—she listened
 With a blush that was pink and coy,
 He praised her eyes—she glistened
 With interest, pride and joy.

 He praised her "crowning glory,"
 Her feet and her hands and all,
 And she fell for the old, old story
 As women will always fall!

HALLOWEEN FROLIC

[BY ADELE MENDEL.]

Originally Halloween was the great harvest-festival, so nothing can be more appropriate than to emphasize that idea by using the different fruits, vegetables, leaves and flowers which form decorations for a Halloween party.

Of all the festive occasions of the year, none seem to hold the same charm as all Halloween Eve. According to different legends, the custom of lighting bonfires on Oct. 31 is a relic of the Druids. The bobbing for apples is also handed down from a Roman harvest-festival in honor of a Roman goddess, Pomona. Decorate your rooms profusely with corn stalks, chrysanthemums, autumn leaves, wheat, etc. Here and there have ghosts, skeletons, owls, toads, bats, scarecrows, snakes, or anything suggestive of uncleanliness. These can be easily made at home, or purchased for a small price.

The serious rites long ago disappeared from the celebration, and now Halloween is celebrated in the liveliest sort of manner. Halloween games of chance. One must duck for apples, the losing player forfeits a penny. Nothing is so spooky or gruesome to awaken creepy horrors among the guests, who come prepared to enjoy themselves in the very spirit of the witch-night.

Have the invitations written on black paper, decorated with a witch flying on a broom, or anything pertaining to the supernatural or the grotesque. Decorate the rooms with bare boughs covered with gray fringed paper ghosts cut out of paper perched here and there on the branches. If you want a witch to add to the realism of the effect, a fascinating one can easily be constructed. Stuff a union suit with paper. The head made of cotton shaped, covered with paper to match, and a mask is used for the face.

The hair is cut from the slashed gray crepe paper and reaches to the shoulders, a large black hat made of mat board with silver buckles is placed on the head. The witch should wear a black petticoat, a white waist, a red cape, long brown gloves and old shoes.

Partners may be matched for supper by distributing cards to the guests. Apparently there is no name on the paper, but, when one has discovered the name of his or her partner by holding the card to the light, the others will quickly do the same. The names on the cards are written with lemon juice.

Another way is to have the girls covered, each with a sheet. The men choose their partners, the unmasking causes much fun and breaks up any formality. The table illustrated would be an excellent one to copy for a "Ghost Party." The table cover has a border of crepe paper designed in witches, ghosts and black cats. Two ghosts made of white crepe paper with tiny hands are made on sticks eighteen inches high. These ghosts guard the pumpkin made of orange paper and stuffed with cotton. Witches and black cats are pasted on the outside of the pumpkin. The favors are inside the pumpkin and drawn through the paper by means of green ribbons which radiate to each place.

A dim light glimmers through the candle shades, which are made of white crepe paper, with ghosts' faces worked on them and hung with orange ribbons. Cups are covered with black and white crepe paper decorated with little ghosts and imp silhouettes on the handles and fastened around the cup.

The hostesses are covered with ghosts fashioned of white crepe paper and wire. A candle design is cut from a decorative paper napkin and applied to the name card. Rhymes foretelling each girl's future fate are written on each card.

rosy. Doubtless, brown and blue will be becoming, anyway.

You can do nothing to prevent his going out with other girls, as there is no engagement existing between you. That is, unless you feel strong enough to tell him that his visits must cease, and so terminate your friendship. I think the best thing for you to do is to commence accepting the attentions of other young men, and this will probably help settle matters one way or another.

4. How about "Sprucehead," "Evergreen Hollow," "Pine Hill," or "Cedar Grove?"

Would Play Violin.
Dear Miss Grey: I find the Woman's page in the Advertiser very interesting. Would you kindly answer a few questions for me, please:

1. What will take away dark spots off the skin that a burn or sore has left?
2. Do you think I am too old to learn to play the violin? I am over thirty, and have never had a lesson.
3. What is the latest in fancy-work?
4. Could you give me a good recipe for a light cake with not more than two eggs in it?
5. Also a good way to make hot potato balls.
6. Please tell me the faults you find in my writing.

With thanks, FLORA BELLE.
A-1. Have you tried applications of peroxide of hydrogen? I think this would help.
2. If you have musical talent I do not see why you could not learn it now. The main trouble will probably be that your fingers lack suppleness.
3. In embroidery the "chain" stitch is a new wrinkle. But don't ask me how it is done. If you are interested in fancy-work, why not subscribe for "Needlework" or "The Modern Priscilla"?

I think you will like this cake recipe: One half cup of butter (or half lard and half butter may be used), one cup sugar, one cup sweet milk, two eggs, two cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. If desired, one egg may be used, with excellent results, only in that case increase slightly the quantity of flour, and use two teaspoons baking powder. Flavor with vanilla flavoring and bake in greased layer tins. A nice filling for this cake is to cook until soft a cup of finely chopped figs, two-thirds cup hot water, and one-half cup sugar; spread between layers and also on top.

5. To two tea-cups mashed potatoes, two tablespoons melted butter, and a little milk, add an egg well beaten; season with chopped onion, pepper and salt, form in small balls or cakes with the hand, roll in flour, and fry in hot lard or drippings.
6. Your writing is very good. If you always write as neat a letter, I think you might be fairly well satisfied.

Bargain Sale In Paris.

In a new book "Madeleine at Her Mirror," by Madame Marcelle Tinayre, a well-known French novelist, the reader gets intimate glimpses of everyday Parisian life that are very delightful. For instance, her description of a bargain sale in one of the large Parisian shops is amusing in the extreme. Feminine human nature is much the same the world over, and except for local color, the following scene with slight variations has probably taken place in London, Ontario, quite frequently. Here is Madame Tinayre's picture of a scuffle at the Bonheur des Dames:

"The doors were besieged by a feminine crowd over which waved trembling aigrettes and shaking plumes. Every woman, making free use of her elbows, was endeavoring to push her way to the front. A French lady in velvet was being almost crushed to death by a stout concubine with a basket. Invisible children, stifled by their elders' petticoats, revealed their presence by plaintive cries. Carried away by the stream, we were borne inside the shop. There an atmosphere thick with dust deadened the gay medley of stuffs displayed round the central gallery. The purchasers swarmed round the counters like flies on a lump of sugar. They snatched at remnants, threw them down, crumpled ribbons, and muslins, and with pointed elbows, shrill voices, sharp, withering glances seemed as bristling as porcupines. One heard nothing but madame uttered in that angry tone which transforms an into a meddler."

"Sorry, medeme."
"Don't push, medeme."
"I was here first."

"You need not on that account, tread on everyone's toes, medeme."
"Wherever does that creature come from?"

"Medeme, you are hurting my child."
"When one has children to take care of, one should not take them shopping."

And so on.

Afternoon Tea.

And this is how Madame Tinayre portrays for her readers the aftermath of a Parisian afternoon tea: "A mingling of scents suggestive of all the most desirable perfumes fills the heated atmosphere of the drawing-room. It is an odor of white rose and violet, of fur and amber, of violets fading upon the breast, of the vanilla flavoring of cakes and the delicate aroma of tea."

A very quaint description of Miss Christabel Pankhurst is found in the book:

"You, yourself, Miss Christabel, were wearing violet, white and green. You are a pretty, fresh, fat girl, and the suffragette colors become you extremely well. Your quaint little nose pleased me, and so did your intelligent eyes, which, without a trace of fear, look straight at things, persons, and ideas. You asked me whether I should have the courage to walk down the Avenue de l'Opera dressed in violet, white and green, wearing an emerald brooch, and a scarf embroidered with the prophetic words, 'Votes for Women.' Is which I replied that I should prefer never to vote. And Miss Christabel desisted me."

While London has no hostel, it should be remembered that the Y. W. C. A. here do an excellent work by looking after and protecting immigrant girls arriving in the city. Trains are met at all hours by the Travelers' Aid, and girls well taken care of until employment is found, or friends arrive to take charge of them.

Women's Hostels.

A list of hotels in Canada was recently provided by Miss Lefroy, who is secretary of the British Association of Women's Emigration Association, London. The names of places where local ladies maintain hostels for the accommodation of arriving emigrant women are as follows: Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, and Calgary.

The Normal

WORN AT NEWPORT

This charming model of crepe voile was worn at Newport only the other day, just off the steamer from the Paris atelier of the French designer Bonnard. It shows the fall vogue for printed materials, and for transparent effects about the feet. There is a daring mannish suggestion in the vest-like girdle which is delightfully softened by the front and collar of machine embroidery, the sort that is as thin almost as chiffon and greatly in favor with the French instead of hand work.

Y. W. C. T. U. To Hold Rally Tuesday Evening Next

Members Held Annual Meeting This Week—Election of Officers.

In spite of the inclement weather there was a goodly turnout of Y. W. C. T. U. members at their annual meeting held on Tuesday night. Election of officers formed part of the evening's business with the following result: President, P. Y. Miller; 1st vice-president, Miss Mitchell; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. (Rev.) Birmingham; corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel McRoberts; recording secretary, Miss Lillian Bell; treasurer, Miss Lulu Ashplant. Mrs. Gordon Wright and Mrs. H. Ashplant are honorary presidents. Plans were discussed for a rally to be held on Tuesday of next week, at 432 Park avenue, when the "Y" girls cordially invite any girl in the city wishing to join the evening classes to come and enjoy a pleasant time. Classes in millinery, dressmaking, English and music will be organized for girls desirous of receiving instruction along any of these lines, and if necessary, practical cooking will be added. The "Y" members are greatly interested in a distribution by their president of hyacinths, and other flowering bulbs, which are being grown at home and used in the Flower Mission visiting, later on.

It was also decided at Tuesday evening's meeting to hold a sale of work on November 21, when all articles, and fancy ones suitable for Christmas gifts, with home cookery, will be sold. Donations for this sale will be gladly accepted.

Remove Cinder From the Eye

Small substances, like cinders, dust or small chips of stone or metal, can often be removed from the eye by very simple means. Sometimes the flow of tears washes them out. At other times, catching the upper lid by the lashes and pulling it away from the eyeball and down over the lower lid, then letting it go, so that, as it recedes, its undersurface is swept by the edge of the lower lid, will clear it out. If this does not prove successful, a loop made of horsehair or of a long human hair can be passed under the lid and swept from the outer side towards the nose and drawn down. Better than this, however, is the washing of the eye, or flushing with the eye dropper. Have the patient catch hold of the lower and upper lid, drawing them away from the eye, and then fill the dropper, which is like a small syringe, with water, and flush the eye two or three times. This will always remove the cinder at once. Should lime get into the eye, it should be treated in the same manner, first with water and then with vinegar, or lemon juice and water—a teaspoonful of vinegar or lemon juice to a teaspoonful of water—poured over the eyeball. Family Doctor.

TIT-BITS

If there's one thing that makes us gnash our teeth in rage, it's when the printer-man sets up a grammatical error in our copy, and then absolutely refuses to alter it for the next edition.

But if it is possible that you did not notice the glaring one in Tuesday's issue, don't waste valuable time searching for it, because we're going to offer a prize for the person who can locate it first.

Our idea of a friend is not a woman who calmly watches you purchase colored material for a frock, and then tell you to your face that "she's quite certain the colors will run when washed; because her cousin Jennie has one just like it, and hers washed something awful."

The Washington Herald says that it may be that some women wear slit skirts in order to attract attention from their faces. Nasty man! We are perfectly willing to wager our best lapdancer that his wife is cross-eyed, and lantern-jawed, with feet big enough for an elephant.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

SLIPPERS, BOOTS AND SHOES OF THE LATEST FASHION.

The sandals of the Greeks has been revived in a modified form, and goes by the old name of the coturne, says an authority on up-to-date footwear. The Frenchier of these sandals shows the turned up toes of the regulation Greek model, but the modernized version prepared for sale in this country, is fashioned more like the regulation slipper. In fact a quick glance would give the impression that the Louis XV. slipper had been supplied with buckles and laces, and in many instances this glance would reveal the truth. But the more elaborate coturnes are fashioned from brocade, and showing glints of silver and gold thread. Rhinestone buckles are attached to the sides to hold the laces which extend often quite to the knee. The black velvet ribbon laces are charming, but it is more often the French taste to select a colored ribbon to match some dominant color note in the gown, for if the coturnes do not continue the color scheme, the laces must be "dependant" upon to do it. Sometimes the color note is struck in the vamps of colored suede or cloth, for the low shoes as well as the high buttoned boots have the colored upper sections. The boots of today have undergone an even greater change than the slippers, for though colored slippers have been worn for years, black or tan or white in boots have been the only colors offered. This winter the host of the well-dressed woman will match her street costumes, as the slippers do the evening frocks. The more daring women wear the light shades of leather on the streets, but the hostess of a dinner party will wear gray, tan or white uppers. The lower part is of black patent leather, and the effect is comparatively conservative in this era of startling innovations. To accompany a dressy afternoon costume which one wears to teas, etc., boots of corded silk or satin are considered the last word. These boots are very high, as if to mitigate the effect of skirts, slashing, and in some instances are laced with bright colored laces. All of which being carefully considered by the woman of taste, she will proceed to furnish her feet with footwear whose charm and attractiveness will be in their quiet elegance, and in their adherence rather to conservative ideas of inconspicuousness than to glaring color effects that will draw all eyes to her feet.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Going to California.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please tell me how to clean a white beaver at home.

2. When is the nicest time to take a trip to California?

3. Could you give me a recipe for pickling red cabbage.

4. Is mercurized wax injurious to the skin?

A-1. Give a thorough application with flour, or powdered starch, and place the hat away in a drawer for a couple of days; then brush out all the powder and soil that you can, with a soft camel's hair brush. Repeat the treatment if you think necessary.

2. From the 1st of January till the end of March or the middle of April is usually counted the time to see the garden of the United States at its best.

3. Slice the cabbage very fine, and cover with boiling water; drain off the water when cold. Season with red and black pepper in equal parts, salt, cinnamon and cloves, and grated horseradish. Cover with strong vinegar.

4. It is a patented article. I know little about it, but that little is not Very flattering, unfortunately.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you kindly answer the following questions:

1. I seem to have a very tender skin, and after being in the wind it becomes very red and sore. What would be good for it?

2. I have brown hair and gray eyes; what colors can I wear?

3. A young man has been calling on me for some time, but he still goes with other girls. I dislike it very much. What should I do?

4. I live on a farm, and we have a lot of evergreen trees around the house. What would be a nice name for the place?

Hoping I have not troubled you too much, I remain, BRIDIE.

A-1. You had better purchase a small box of facial cream and apply just a little at night, before retiring. In the morning dash plenty of cold water over the face to harden the skin, and when you go out in the wind, wear a chiffon veil. This will be a great protection.

2. It depends largely on your complexion, whether pale or sallow or

LAKE ERIE COAL CO. WITHDREW OFFER TO ELECTRIFY ON FEB. 22

This Fact Revealed For First Time at the Meeting
Wednesday—Decision To Lease Road to City
For 99 Years Is Reached.

DID THE P. M. RECEIVER SEND OFFER?

The London and Port Stanley road will be leased to the city of London for 99 years, if the recommendation of the board of directors of the line, made Wednesday night, is ratified by the shareholders. The rental fixed for the road is on a sliding scale and is as follows: First 10 years, $20,000; next 20, $20,000; 20 years at $35,000; 20 years at $40,000, and 29 years at $50,000.

Offer Was Withdrawn.
The feature of the meeting, which was a joint session of the finance committee and the board, was the announcement of Mayor Graham, that the offer of the Lake Erie Coal Company to lease the road had been withdrawn on Feb. 22.

Another development was the fact that the PERE MARQUETTE, ACCORDING TO ITS RECEIVER, HAD SUBMITTED AN OFFER FOR THE RENEWAL OF ITS LEASE, AND THAT THIS OFFER WAS NEVER RECEIVED AT THIS END, ACCORDING TO MAYOR GRAHAM.

Important Questions Unsolved.

The questions of freight rates, passenger rates, 30-cent fares, running rights for other roads, crossing of steam lines and other details, will be worked out by Mayor Graham and Ald. J. P. Moore, chairman of the finance committee. The meeting was a religious one and was presided over by the mayor. Ald. Richter, who presided over the system in vogue by the Graham-electricity clique.

Legislation that prevented the city

entering into agreements, such as the electrification agreement desired, were pointed out by the "finance minister" and his information surprised and alarmed the majority of the electrificationists, who believed that little had to be done to secure the lease of the line.

Withdraw Offer on Feb. 22.

The first business brought before the board was the communication from President Fleming of the Lake Erie Coal Company, who withdrew, officially, the offer made by the corporation some time ago for the rental of the London and Port Stanley Road through J. E. Leslie, manager.

"What was the date of that letter?"

asked Ald. J. G. Richter. "Feb. 22," replied Secretary Baker. "The letter was received some time ago, and I am sorry to acknowledge its receipt to Mr. Fleming," said Mayor Graham. "I informed him that I would bring the matter to the attention of the next meeting of the board."

"There has been no meeting since then," asked Ald. Richter.

"No."

Purpose of the Meeting.

Ald. J. P. Moore, as chairman of the finance committee, was then called on for a statement as to why the meeting had been called. He was called together to make some arrangement for the handling of the London and Port Stanley," said the chairman. "No. 1 committee was authorized some time ago by the council to enter into negotiations for the lease of the London and Port Stanley. We are here for that purpose."

Upon request of Ald. Richter, Ald. Moore

quoted from the 1913 city of London bill, the provisions contained therein for the lease of the road by the city from the railway company.

Ald. S. P. Glass—Will the rental to the city be for a longer term than the debentures exist?

Mayor Graham—I think so.

Ald. Richter—What action has been taken to ascertain what would be a fair and reasonable rental for the road?

Mayor Graham—Well, we have the propositions that have been submitted to us—the offer of the coal company that has been withdrawn, and the verbal offer of the C. N. R.

For Running Rights.

Ald. Richter—You have had the offer for running rights have you not?

The Mayor—Yes, but they could hardly be termed offers for the road as it now exists—they were for running rights.

the line is to develop as we are told it will.

The Outlook for Revenue.
"Taking the question of revenue and operating expenses. If we take Mr. Warfield's figures the operating expenses will be 47.6 per cent. of the gross revenue. Add to this the $15,000 per year for car rentals, which Mr. Warfield has not included in his estimates, and it will bring it up to 54 per cent. of the revenues. If we add $5,000, as Mr. Eastman has done, for contingencies when it brings it up to 59 per cent. If we assume that the revenue given by Warfield is too high, and take an average of the three reports—Marshall's, Warfield's and Eastman's—we find that the Warfield operating charges, plus the $15,000 will be 58 per cent. plus the amount for contingencies ($5,000), 63.8 per cent. The average of electric roads in Canada, shown by the blue book records, is 60 per cent. of gross revenue for operating expenses."

Tries To Head It Off.

"How is this apropos of the question?" interrupted Mayor Graham. "We are dealing with the question of fixing a fair rental for a rehabilitated steam road, not on the basis of an electric one."

"If you will allow me to show what I mean, I will show you how it is apropos of the question," retorted Ald. Richter, as he proceeded. "The average of 40 American electric railways, as shown in the Electrical Journal, which just came to hand today, is 59.09 per cent. So that if you take 60 per cent. as the average rate, it will leave you 40 per cent. for capital charges."

"The present investment in the road amounts to $765,000 in debentures—that is the amount at which we are carrying the road. The amount of the investment to be made is $700,000. This sum does not provide for terminals, and it might not be out of the way to assume that the present cost will be equal to what has already been expended. Therefore, a division of the 40 per cent. of the revenue, available for capital charges would be 20 per cent. to each road. This means that if the revenue of the road is practically what it is now we would have $17,000 or $18,000 every year to meet everything else, and if the total revenue went up to $233,000 as has been estimated, we would have $47,000 a year. You would share very fairly on a proposition such as this."

Question of Liability.
Mayor Graham—You can hardly expect a new concern to assume the responsibility and share and share alike on an old proposition.

Ald. Richter—The old liability is the same as the new.

Mayor Graham—It is only a question of financing the city's profits. It doesn't make any difference where we get the money—either in rental or in surplus.

Another verbal duel between Mayor

Graham and Ald. Richter occurred when Ald. Richter declared that the proper methods had not been used to secure fair and reasonable offers for the road.

"We advertised for offers," said the mayor.

Suggests a Valuation.

"Under conditions that were imposed that would not be conducive to the best offers from the railways," retorted the alderman. He suggested that if it were impossible to agree on any reasonable offer, arbitration be called in. There was no means of knowing, under existing conditions, whether the road was worth more or less than the amount at which it is being carried in the city books, and he suggested a valuation.

"We cannot look at this situation in the light of aldermen," declared Ald. Richter. "We must look at it in the light of trustees of the road, solely. In so far as we act honestly and legally we will be exonerated from any blame. If, however, we act outside our authority and illegally, then we, as trustees, will be personally liable. We don't want to get the very last dollar we can get out of the road. We want to secure a fair and reasonable rental. As members of No. 1 committee, it is our duty not to get the road for nothing, but for a fair and reasonable term also. Should we fail to come to any agreement, I would suggest that the Dominion Railway Commission be called in, that we might avail ourselves of its officers in determining the value of the road."

Ald. Spittal—We have the mandate of the people. The only thing we can do is to go ahead.

Mayor Graham—Of course, Ald. Richter knows that he has the right side of the argument to raise technicalities, but I have provided for all contingencies in the schedule that I have prepared."

Not Owners of Road.

Ald. Richter—I take exception to the statement that I am raising technicalities. I am simply pointing out what we have to do, and what we are up against. The very fact that we are here indicates that there is a question of the London and Port Stanley. We have to consider the other interests of the road. There is over $400,000 in outstanding stock, and this stock is every bit as legal as the bonds on which the city votes. We control the London and Port Stanley, but we do not own it. It is a mistake to say that we own it. It's not technicalities, but legalities, that I am referring to, and we have got to meet these legalities or we will not be held blameless."

Mayor Graham—It is a mere formality. As president and directors of the London and Port Stanley, we have the power to lease the road, provided that the lease is afterwards ratified by the city council and by the shareholders."

Two-thirds Necessary.

Ald. Richter—Look at the act of 1905. You will see that any lease would have to be approved by two-thirds of the shareholders. As bondholders, we are, of course, entitled to rank as shareholders, but we have to have the two-thirds' majority.

Mayor Graham—The city solicitor didn't tell me so.

Ald. Richter—Well, if he didn't, he will if you ask him.

Ald. Spittal—We have the power to lease it now.

Secretary Baker—The shareholders' meeting will have to be advertised for thirty days.

Mayor Graham—The city solicitor didn't explain that to me. However, all the line is to develop as we are told it will.

The Outlook for Revenue.

"Taking the question of revenue and operating expenses. If we take Mr. Warfield's figures the operating expenses will be 47.6 per cent. of the gross revenue. Add to this the $15,000 per year for car rentals, which Mr. Warfield has not included in his estimates, and it will bring it up to 54 per cent. of the revenues. If we add $5,000, as Mr. Eastman has done, for contingencies when it brings it up to 59 per cent. If we assume that the revenue given by Warfield is too high, and take an average of the three reports—Marshall's, Warfield's and Eastman's—we find that the Warfield operating charges, plus the $15,000 will be 58 per cent. plus the amount for contingencies ($5,000), 63.8 per cent. The average of electric roads in Canada, shown by the blue book records, is 60 per cent. of gross revenue for operating expenses."

Tries To Head It Off.

"How is this apropos of the question?" interrupted Mayor Graham. "We are dealing with the question of fixing a fair rental for a rehabilitated steam road, not on the basis of an electric one."

"If you will allow me to show what I mean, I will show you how it is apropos of the question," retorted Ald. Richter, as he proceeded. "The average of 40 American electric railways, as shown in the Electrical Journal, which just came to hand today, is 59.09 per cent. So that if you take 60 per cent. as the average rate, it will leave you 40 per cent. for capital charges."

A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON MANY SPORTSLONDON WILL BATTLE FOR TWO TITLES IN SARNIA ON SATURDAY

The Local O. R. F. U. Team Will Play Sarnia in Scheduled Game, While London and Sarnia Collegiates Will Contest the Western Ontario Collegiate Championship—A Rugby Double-header.

London will fight for two football championships in Sarnia on Saturday. The local Junior O. R. F. U. team will play its scheduled game with the Tunnel town squad, but in addition, the local Collegiate team will do battle with the Sarnia Collegiate for the collegiate championship of Western Ontario. Both games will be played Saturday afternoon in Bayview Park, the first rugby double-header that has ever been staged in Sarnia.

London Needs This Game.
By winning from the Sarnia team the local O. R. F. U. team will have a chance for the district honors. Sarnia and Petrolia are still the each having won two and lost one game. If London can win from Sarnia Saturday and can beat Petrolia here the following Saturday the group will be tied all round.

Sarnia and Petrolia May Play Off.
The Sarnia team needs Saturday's game in order to keep in the running with Petrolia. If they beat London, and London loses to Petrolia here, the Tunnel town and Oil Town will be tied. This will likely mean a play-off in London. On the form shown so far this season, Petrolia looks like the one best bet for the district title, but the Oil Town must play all its remaining games away from home, and you never can tell what will happen.

High School Game Will Be Hummer.
The game between the London Collegiate and the Sarnia C. I. will be a good one. The border city institution has been working hard in preparation for this game, and has two or three victories to its credit this season already. Last year London C. I. won the title from Sarnia, defeating the Tunnelers at Tecumseh Park by the score of 20 to 1. The memory of that triumph has rankled the victors ever since, and they are out for revenge.

Much Interest in Sarnia.
Both games are attracting a great deal of interest in the Tunnel town, and one of the biggest crowds of the season will turn out. The Sarnia O. R. F. U. team fully realizes that it needs Saturday's game in the worst way, and as London is also out to do or die, the contest will be a hot one. A large number of local fans will accompany the teams to the border on Saturday.

CANTILEVER WON
ENGLISH HANDICAP

33 to 1 Shot Colt That Was Indisposed Day Before Won Unexpectedly.

QUEEN MARY PRESENT

King George Accompanied Her, and Both Took a Keen Interest in the Racing.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Oct. 30.—A London cable says: Cambridge Day at Newmarket will be memorable in the history of the turf as being the first occasion on which Queen Mary has attended its headquarters. The Queen accompanied the King, and the royal couple took a keen interest in the sport.

The big handicap was won by Lord Harewood's Cantilever, at 33 to 1, from Cheerful, at the same price, with Sauter, at 100 to 9, third.

Had any other horse than Cantilever won, nobody would have been much surprised, as the event was so open that 9 to 1 was offered against the field. But the victory of Cantilever was totally unexpected, as the colt was indisposed only yesterday and reported to be coughing. However, he came out with practically an unknown jockey named Southey on his back to make all the running and win the race.

FULTZ DOES NOT WANT TO GO BEFORE COMMISSION

President of Players' Fraternity Hopes National Commission Will Grant Demands Without That Necessity.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Oct. 30.—David T. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, hopes that the national commission will grant the demands of the fraternity for revision of the terms of the "baseball players' contracts" without the necessity of a hearing, and, therefore, that there will be no reason that they should have to go before the commission in person to urge the cause of the players. He said on last night in replying to a statement made yesterday by August Hermann, chairman of the national commission, who declared that the commission would not deal with Fultz because he was an outsider.

"It would be particularly gratifying to me if the commission granted the fraternity's requests without making a hearing necessary," said Fultz. "I have no desire to go before the commission unless I am compelled to take that stand."

CAPTAIN YOUNG, of the

Armando

The Crack of Whose Base Hits Is Heard Clear From Cuba.

Armando Marsans is giving Garry Herrmann, Joe Tinker and Dr. Hines, of the Cincinnati Reds, the loud howl-haw. On the advice of the club physician Marsans was told that he must cut out winter baseball—that his custom of playing in Cuba all winter was rapidly using him up, and that he wouldn't be able to keep up a high-class standard if he didn't quit.

Tinker made the order a peremptory one, and Armando, grumbling a little, said, "Oh, very well." Now, according to the scores in the Cuban papers, he is playing every day, covering the bases for the famous Almendares team, and going at his usual speed. Wonder what Joe and Garry will do about it?

GOLF TO KEEP IN TRAINING

Has Purchased a Set of Left-Handed Golf Clubs and Has Left for Excelsior Springs.

[Canadian Press.]
Chicago, Oct. 30.—John Evers, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is going to keep in training this winter by playing golf. He will leave tonight for Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he expects to take his initial lessons in the game.

The Cub manager says he does not know a thing about golf, but he believes that the outdoor exercise is just what he needs during the winter. Evers always has batted left-handed, and yesterday he purchased a set of left-handed golf clubs.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 29.—Scott, pitching for the Chicago White Sox, held the New York Giants to six scattered hits and struck out twelve batters today, Chicago winning 7 to 1. Five of Chicago's runs came in the third inning. Hearne then relieved Fromme. Lober's home run in the first inning was the Giants' only tally. The score: R. H. E.

English Paper Thinks
World Series Was Polo
Instead of Baseball

[Canadian Press.]
New York, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Some amusement is caused here by one of the illustrated London papers showing a picture of the crowds besieging the gates of the Polo Grounds in New York on the day of the first game of the world's baseball championship, under the caption, "Polo is popular in New York." Beneath the photograph there is further explanation which reads as follows:
The Polo Grounds in New York was rushed by an excited crowd when the gates opened for the first game of the world's series.
The police were bowled over like ninepins and people did not pay for admission.

GUELPH IS AFTER A GOOD MANAGER

President Mahoney Laughs at Article That Guelph and Berlin Will Be Replaced.

COMPANY BEING FORMED

Franchise Will Stay in Guelph Just as Long as Residents of That Place Want It.

Guelph, Oct. 29.—Relative to the story to the effect that at the Canadian League meeting on Friday, Guelph and Berlin would be voted out, President Mahoney, of the Guelph Maple Leafs, laughed at it. He stated most emphatically today that the Guelph franchise would remain here just as long as Guelph people wanted it, and that no vote of the league could take it away. He expressed the opinion that some soreheads at Ottawa and London, where the clubs were many hundreds of dollars over the salary limit in an endeavor to put a winning team in the field, are the ones who are trying to cause all the trouble, but that their efforts would fail. A strong company of local gentlemen are getting behind the team here. A manager for 1914 has all but been signed up, and a good one, too, and the fans here can rest assured that they will be given better baseball than ever next year.

The fact that J. J. McCarthy, of Toronto, has become a part owner of the Hamilton franchise meets with much approval in this city, as, with three strong teams at Hamilton, London and Ottawa, the league will be better than ever. There is not the slightest chance of Niagara Falls, N. Y., or Erie, Pa., being included in the Canadian League in 1914, and Guelph and Berlin will have teams that will make them all get out and hustle.

PRODUCE PROOFS

"Rube" Has Hurt His Case by Writing Letters, Is Fans' Opinion.

SHOULD GO TO "COMMISSH"

His Failure To Produce Copy of Letter, He Says He Has in His Possession Has Turned Opinion Against Him.

[BY JINX.]
Although local baseball fans at first had a tendency to lean toward the Deneau side of the controversy between Rube and the London directors, the change of opinion now is that the London manager, to use a diamond expression, pulled a "bonehead play." Despite Deneau's declarations that he had ample proof to back his claims, he has up to the present time not produced it. He has written a bunch of letters in an effort to show the fans just how badly he has been treated, but his communications have only served to hurt his cause.

It is now up to Rube to produce the proof which he so positively says he has, or "forever after hold his peace." Calling the directors names has certainly not helped to help him any, and the fact that Matty Matteson, a supposedly close friend of his, has applied for the manager position has been another thorn in the side of his claims.

Fans Have Got Both Sides of It.
The Advertiser has taken an impartial stand in the matter so far. It published every letter sent to the Sporting Editor concerning the matter, and has published the letters received from Rube previous to his signing up as manager of the team. Deneau claims the letter he refers to is not among them. He says he has a copy of this missing letter, but has so far failed to produce it. It is about time that Rube took his claims to the National Commission, the high tribunal of baseball. It is certain he will be dealt with fairly there if he has the proofs to offer. As far as the Advertiser is concerned, the matter will be dropped from its columns. London fans are well acquainted with both sides of the argument now, and there is nothing to be gained by either side publishing a lot of senseless letters.

Rube Treated Pretty Good.
"The directors of the London club appear to me to be acting fairly in the matter, and the failure of Deneau to produce the copy of the letter which he says he has, further bears this out. The London baseball club has helped to put London on the map, and the directors, I am sure, have catered to the fans in every respect."

Winnipeg Curlers
Invited To London

Thistle Curling Club Will Send Special Invitation To Skips Braden and Rochon To Pay Visit To This City When They Come in January.

President R. D. McDonald, of the Thistle Curling Club, will extend an invitation to London to the two rinks of Winnipeg curlers who will make a brief tour of the east in January. The members of the Thistle Curling Club are anxious to have the Winnipeg fellows come here, and when the visitors arrive, they will be royally entertained. The visiting rinks will be in charge of Skip Braden, champion of last year's Winnipeg bonspiel, and Skip E. J. Rochon, president of the Manitoba Curling Association. Both these men are known all over the Dominion as two of the best skips in the game, and their trip east will be watched with interest.

A Tribute to J. D. Flavell.
Their original purpose in making the tour is to attend the big bonspiel Lindsay is planning. It is a tribute to J. D. Flavell, the western Lindsay skip, who has not missed a Winnipeg bonspiel for eighteen years. Dr. Coghlan, a former Lindsay boy, now residing in Winnipeg, is the prime mover in the plan, and he will likely accompany the western curlers. Games will be played in several towns and cities that have sent representatives to the Winnipeg bonspiel, while a couple of games will be played with curlers in other places along the route. Although London has not been represented at the big

THE MODERN CARPET OF BAGDAD

THERE are few people who do not know the story of the wonderful carpet on which the owner had but to sit, wish to be at some place and, lo! immediately he found himself there.

Some agents of this nature would be appreciated by many a manufacturer in jumping the demand for his product into a thousand places, a thousand miles away from his factory. Apparently to such a man there is no means of "getting there" and placing his name and his goods right into that territory, except by slow, laborious bit-by-bit acquaintance—ship—and mouth-to-mouth testimonials.

But he has overlooked the modern Carpet of Bagdad.

It is Newspaper Advertising.

Did you ever hear of Edwards' Soups? Well, the genial old cook who forms the trade mark just jumped right from Ireland to a thousand places in Canada in a week—on the Carpet of Newspaper Advertising.

Ever hear of Tillson's Oats? The "braw Scot" who stands for this product stepped over night, as it were, from a small town in Ontario to practically every town and village in Canada.

Wrigley's Gum—Sunshine Furnaces—Comfort Soap—all have taken advantage of this Modern Carpet of Bagdad—Newspaper Advertising.

TO THE MANUFACTURERS OF CANADA:

If you have a name and a product that you wish placed in demand throughout Canada, take advantage at once of the modern carpet of Bagdad—Newspaper Advertising.

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency.

A list of capable advertising agents will be sent you on request, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

Katie—Well, youse a sight. I tought you said you could lick Mickey standin' on yer head an' wif' bote yer hands tied behind yer back. Patsy—So I could—but de slob wouldn't fight dat way.—Puck.

ONTARIO

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board

In the matter of the application of the Corporation of the City of London, under 2 George V., Chap. 42, Sec. 5, S.S.C., for approval of its by-law No. 1, to provide for granting to Greene-Swifts, Limited, the right to lay and maintain across Carling street, pipes for conducting steam to supply heat to the inhabitants of the municipality.

Appointment for Hearing

The board hereby appoints Tuesday, the 4th day of November, A. D. 1913, at the hour of half-past 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, at its chambers in the Legislative Buildings in the City of Toronto, for the hearing herein.

Dated at Toronto, this 23rd day of October, A. D. 1913.

(Signed) H. C. SMALL, Secretary.

EXPERT DECLARES BEILIS DID NOT COMMIT MURDER

Hair Found On the Dead Boy's Clothes Not Similar to Prisoner's.

SAYS TWO DID KILLING

Lively Tilts in Court Between Leading Physicians Over Technical Points.

Kieff, Oct. 29.—The expert testimony of physicians occupied most of the day at the trial of Mendel Beilis, charged with having killed the boy Yushinsky. The experts agreed that at least two persons were implicated in the actual killing of the boy, but were divided on the question as to whether the prime object of the murder was to obtain as much blood as possible and the infliction of torture or not.

Little to Work On. The imperial court surgeon, Dr. Pavloff, combated the theory of blood-getting, but admitted that the experts had little on which to base their theories, because of the incompetent manner in which the two post-mortem examinations had been made, and the incomplete reports submitted relative to these.

Dr. Tutankoff, of Kieff University, testified that at least two-thirds of the boy's blood had been drawn off. There were several lively tilts between Dr. Pavloff and M. Zamislovsky, counsel for the Black Hundred. The latter intimated on one occasion that the court surgeon had been superannuated, but was crushed by the reply that the court surgeon now performs 400 operations annually.

Greatly Divided. Answering the 23 questions given to them yesterday by the president of the court, the experts were divided on all points except as to the number of assassins engaged in the crime, which they fixed at not less than two, and the theory that the murderers had no knowledge of anatomy.

Prof. Kosorotoff, who supported the blood-getting and torture theory, was of the opinion that all the wounds except the stab through the heart were inflicted before death supervened. He had no reason to believe, he said, that Yushinsky had lost consciousness during the fifteen minutes which probably elapsed between the infliction of the first wound and the completion of the crime. He must have suffered agonies and lost more than half his blood, Kosorotoff declared. He added that the wounds did not correspond with the blunt condition of the four awls found at the brick works where Beilis was employed.

Caused Sensation. The murder, Prof. Kosorotoff testified, was not committed in a house or the cave where the body was found, but at a place where there was clay, with which the clothes were covered. There was a sensation in court when it was announced that the clay near Vera Tcheberak's house had not been compared with that on the clothes.

Prof. Kosorotoff concluded with the statement that the hairs found on the dead boy's clothes came from a long curly beard, and could not belong to Beilis, whose beard was short, stiff and straight.

During the course of his testimony Dr. Pavloff said that the character of the wounds was altogether opposed to the blood-getting and torture theory.

UNIONISTS WOULD FIGHT FOR ULSTER SAYS BONAR LAW

General Election Is Best Way, Though, To Settle the Question.

GET PEOPLE'S MANDATE

Sir Edward Carson Declares All Overtures Will Be Considered.

Newcastle, England, Oct. 30.—Speaking from the same platform as Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, Andrew Bonar Law, the Opposition leader in the House of Commons, last night pledged the support of the Unionist party to Ulster even to the extent of forcible resistance to home rule.

But his eagerly-awaited reply to Premier Asquith's offer of a compromise on Oct. 25 consisted merely of a statement that the Unionists would carefully consider any proposals the Prime Minister cared to make relative to a solution of the home rule problem, if a solution were possible.

Secure a Mandate. Mr. Law expressed the opinion that the only logical way the Government could avoid the responsibility of plunging the country into civil war was to secure a mandate from the people by a general election, which, if it favored home rule, would be acquiesced in by the Unionists.

He said he could not speak for Ulster, but believed that such a result might eventually settle the question there.

The Unionist leader compared the situation in Ulster to conditions in America preceding the civil war. He said he had urged Sir Edward Carson to attend the meeting so that the pledge which he (Law) had made at the Balmoral Palace in July, 1912, to support Ulster in her resistance to home rule might be made perfectly clear.

Confusing Issue. The speaker maintained that the Government had brought forward its land proposals in order to confuse the issue. If the Government refused to go to the country the Unionist leaders would not decline the invitation to a conference, and would probably consider any proposals made to them and answer them with a real desire to find a solution.

Sir Edward Carson, who followed Mr. Law, said: "I will consider all the overtures when they are put into plain language. I will submit them with the best advice I can to those who trust me. But I tell the Government that, so far as I am concerned, an offer will be of no use unless it is consistent with the solemn covenant which the Government has given Ulster into."

Present Status. Municipalities under prohibition, 502. Municipalities under license, 333. Total liquor licenses granted in 1913, 1,835.

The Onward March. The number of "wet" and "dry" municipalities in each of the last seven years has been as follows:

Year. Wet. Dry. Year. Wet. Dry. 1907.....552.....242.....1911.....380.....440 1908.....508.....286.....1912.....355.....483 1909.....492.....312.....1913.....333.....502

The foregoing figures do not show what has been the extent of the fighting, inasmuch as there have been many contests in which the temperance party have not been victorious. All the changes from "wet" to "dry" indicated in the foregoing table were won by the polling of a 50 per cent. majority in favor of prohibition in each municipality.

Goes Steadily On. And still the cause moves steadily onward. It cannot be long before the liquor traffic is wiped out of the province of Ontario altogether. Campaigns initiated by the temperance party are now going on in 51 more "wet" municipalities, which will vote on Jan. 5 next.

BLAME CITIES FOR DECREASE IN ONTARIO'S BIRTH RATE

Last Year There Were 28,845 Marriages in the Provinces—Between 20 and 30 Is Popular Age Now For Wedding—The Death Rate Is Decreasing

Toronto, Oct. 30.—The little scantily-clad gentleman known as Cupid spent a busy twelve months in 1912, his efforts in Ontario bringing an increase of 3,088 marriages, or at the rate of 0.9 per thousand population; but in spite of this fact the provincial birth rate continues on the down grade. The report of the registrar-general, which will shortly be issued, shows a birth rate of only 22.4, the lowest since 1903, and two points below 1911.

The responsibility for Ontario's declining birth rate apparently rests with the cities and towns. The cities with a record of 22,923 marriages were able to report only 317 births, while the rural municipalities of the province, with but 10,910 marriages, had 32,028 births, or a considerably better percentage.

28,845 Marriages. The total number of births in Ontario was 50,870, with 28,845 marriages.

The province is still making progress in the reduction of its death rate, and now has a rate lower than most of the leading countries of the world. During 1912 there were 32,150 deaths, a ratio of 12.4 per thousand, or 2 lower than in 1911.

The saddening part of the report, that dealing with illegitimate births, shows an increase of 168, bringing the rate up to 21.3 per thousand births. The cities of the province contributed 72 per cent of the illegitimacy.

The records show less marrying between Protestants and Roman Catholics, 320 men and 1,096 women of the Catholic Church marrying outside their faith. Almost two-thirds of the marriages are contracted between the ages of 20 and 30. A number of unusual marriages were recorded, one man of 25 marrying a woman over 70. Three women under 20 years of age married men over 70.

Slowly Decreasing. The fight against the "white plague" is making steady headway, although the reduction in the death rate from this disease was less in 1912 than in several years previous. The death list was 2,450, a decrease of 103, and a reduction in ratio of .05 per cent. At the present time about seven per cent of the deaths in Ontario are due to tuberculosis, and the heaviest toll is taken among young people of between 20 and 30.

It will astonish some people to know that one out of every 10 children born in Ontario dies before reaching five years of age. In 1912 8,230 children under the age of five years died, 6,494 of them before completing the twelfth month, a rate of 110.3 per thousand births. There were 200 less deaths from diphtheria than in 1911, the rate from this dangerous infant trouble being the lowest in six years, due largely to the greater interest taken in child welfare and in educating young mothers to take more intelligent care of their children.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS ARE WINNING FIGHT AGAINST BARS

The present position of the movement for the suppression of the liquor traffic in the Province of Ontario may to some extent be learned from the following tables.

A municipality is an independent, self-governing community. It may be either a town, an incorporated village, or a township. There are a total of 837 municipalities in the Province, each of which has its own municipal council and manages to some extent its own local affairs.

Present Status. Municipalities under prohibition, 502. Municipalities under license, 333. Total liquor licenses granted in 1913, 1,835.

The Onward March. The number of "wet" and "dry" municipalities in each of the last seven years has been as follows:

MASS FOR DONATORS TO NEW SEMINARY

Bishop's Mark of Gratitude to Benefactors of St. Peter's.

Rev. Father O'Connor, assisted by Rev. Father Labelle and Rev. Father Harding, conducted solemn high mass in the presence of the bishop in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, at 9 o'clock, for the benefactors of St. Peter's seminary.

On Saturday morning, Bishop Fallon will sing pontifical mass for the Feast of St. Peter.

On Sunday afternoon the congregation and clergy of the cathedral will make the stations of the cross in St. Peter's Cemetery.

GENERAL ELECTION IS ON IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Sir Robert Bond Is Assailing the Government For Being Too Extravagant.

[Canadian Press.]

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 30.—The question of Government expenditures formed the chief issue in the general election held in Newfoundland today. The party of the premier, Sir Edward Morris, urged the election of his supporters to the 36 seats in the House of Assembly on the plea that he had done much to develop the colony by his policy of government aid to the construction of many branch lines of railway.

Sir Robert Bond, heading the Opposition, has assailed this policy, declaring it has been too expensive, and has placed a needless tax on the island's revenues.

Because of the remoteness of many districts it is likely to be several days before the result of the election is known. The Government provided special polling places in this city for fishermen now here disposing of their summer's catch, and unable to return to their homes in times for the election.

DID NOT KNOW HIS OWN WIFE

Volturno Survivor Was Terribly Changed by Hardships She Underwent.

SAW HER HUSBAND FIRST

Toronto, Oct. 30. Carrying in her arms a 9-months-old baby, so ill that its recovery is in doubt, and so changed in appearance herself that her husband failed to recognize her, Mrs. Joseph Ernst, a survivor of the Volturno disaster, stepped off the train from Halifax, when it steamed into the Union station today.

At the station to greet her was Joseph Ernst, her husband's assistant, chef in the Grand Central Hotel who, has waited exactly one month and four days for her to arrive from Budapest, Hungary.

Ernst, kept in suspense since Sept. 25, when his wife and three children left for Toronto, waited all last evening for her to arrive. Early this morning he returned to meet another train. Mrs. Ernst walked along the platform. Ernst, searching through the crowd of passengers, saw her, but failed to recognize her. She walked past him, turned around, and rushed into his arms. Then Ernst knew.

"My God, it is my wife," he said. "She knew me, but I didn't know her." Mrs. Ernst had gone through trials that few women could have lived through. In addition she had brought her baby, and two boys, aged eight and nine, with her. Ernst simply went frantic with joy.

"I lost everything," she said. "People wanted to go down for valuables, but the officers pulled out revolvers and held them back. Everything was in order. Women and children were first, with men after. Men volunteered to go down into the hold for food, but were not allowed."

Keen Demand For Cattle in Oxford

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Oct. 30.—There has been a very keen demand for several months in the recognized dairying districts of Oxford County. Many buyers have been going through the townships regularly, picking up large numbers for shipment to western points.

Recently, however, the demand has been intensified, with the result that prices appear to have been materially increased.

From a number of sources come reports of big prices that have been paid for choice dairy cows. According to the information, a number of cows and some 2-year-old heifers have averaged over $80 each. Oxford districts, with their large dairy herds, Holsteins predominating, have been invaded by many buyers, and while many choice animals have been taken out, fine young stock is maturing. Many of the cattle purchased will be placed on large western ranches.

ALFRED L. TURNER IS MUCH MARRIED MAN

Two of His Wives Will Live Together While Police Investigate.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Alfred L. Turner was today arrested on a charge of vagrancy. Two women, who claimed to be his wives, appeared in court. One said Turner married her in England 10 years ago, and the other claimed she was married in Ottawa in 1910. The local police are holding Turner to verify the stories of the women.

Pending the settlement of the case, the two women will live together in Montreal.

It appears from the stories of the wives that Turner kept two homes, one in Montreal and another in Ottawa. Wife number two says Turner showed her a death certificate of a Mrs. Turner who, the police think, may have been a yet earlier partner.

Turner has a son resident in Toronto, and a married daughter in Preston.

Entire Apple Crop Going To Winnipeg

Wyoming Fruit Growers' Association Is Getting as Good Price For Poor Apples as For the Finest Quality Sold Haphazard Last Season—Expert Growers Puzzled by Orchard Conditions.

[Canadian Press.]

Wyoming, Oct. 30.—Not in many years has the apple crop in this locality been so irregular in quantity as this year's results show.

One orchard being heavily loaded with perhaps an adjoining one bearing few if any, while a general lack in quality prevails throughout.

Not alone in the neglected orchards are inferior samples found, but the fruit men who for years have made a careful study of the crop, spraying, tending and otherwise following out the best methods, also suffer in this respect this year.

Of the orchards under the Fruit Growers' Association, only a few small lots of No. 1 apples are found, while in the majority of cases it was deemed advisable to allow the few of better grade to be marketed lower in order to help raise the standard of the whole.

In many cases it was found that the fruit would not even reach the requirements of No. 2, consequently the farmer was left with a problem upon his hands. However, a No. 3 grade was introduced to cope with the difficulty, which simplifies matters in many cases.

Nevertheless, under the disappointments of poor class, the orchardmen, even with third-grade apples, are far in advance of former years, when the best going was $1 per barrel, so that quite as much is netted him as last year's abundant crop, and a feeling exists that though unmet efforts only can anything like a satisfactory state of affairs be finally reached.

Laird Bros., Winnipeg, are receiving the entire output of the association here, and the last shipment of barrels is expected to be cleared out this week.

CITY MINISTERS PUT THROUGH PACES BY AN OCTOGENARIAN

Physical Culture Class Remove Coats and Vests and Renew Vigor Under Guidance of 80-Year-Old "Youth" Who Is Teaching "Better Living."

A number of city ministers are availing themselves of the course of physical culture taught by Professor C. L. Wells, octogenarian, of Detroit, Mich., and on Wednesday afternoon a large class assembled in the Y. M. C. A. parlor for their daily "work-out."

Working on the hypothesis that strenuous efforts are more beneficial to mankind than a lengthy discourse, Professor Wells assembled his audience on the floor, coatless and sometimes vestless. They are put through various exercises, guided and to make the blood race through the clogged arteries, veins and capillaries as never before.

This co-operative work is intended to give the members of the class a quicker and more accurate grasp of the several movements. It is essential that they be performed in a precise manner, otherwise the beneficial results are denied.

Included with each exercise is an exhaustive description of its use and the organs which it affects and has a tendency to strengthen. With this working plan, the participants can go through the movements intelligently, with a definite knowledge of the reason for the "stunts."

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—That the next step in the Mexican policy of the Administration has not been finally worked out, and may not be announced for another week, was indicated today at the White House.

"It has been necessary," said Chairman Bacon, of the Senate foreign relations committee, "that the European nations should recognize the right of the United States to deal with the situation. Now that we have that recognition, it will take a little time for the President to work out the problem."

The possibility that within the next few days a definite announcement will be made by the Huerta Government of the result of the election last Sunday is having the effect of postponing action by the United States.

While the election has been repudiated here, the actual formalities of proclaiming the result may have some bearing on the situation, for, while the United States Government has already refused to countenance the result, foreign governments have not taken any position, and it is felt in many quarters that the United States should await formal action by the authorities in Mexico City before putting on record its rejection.

President Wilson is carefully considering suggestions from his advisers, and it was said today that the plan might not be ready until next week's cabinet meeting.

LOSS IS $100,000 IN KNOXVILLE FIRE

Fire Started When Reservoir Was Being Cleaned Out.

[Canadian Press.] Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 30.—Fire destroyed thirteen business places and ten residences here today, inflicting a loss estimated at greater than $100,000. The fire started from an unknown cause in a clothing store of Max Feldman, and burned over two solid blocks on both sides of May street before it was checked. The postoffice, telephone and telegraph exchanges, were destroyed, and the town is without wire communication. The reservoir was emptied yesterday to clean it, and the firemen were compelled to pump water from the Cowanesque River.

BURNED TO DEATH

Newspapermen Were Caught in a Boarding-House Fire.

[Canadian Press.]

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 30.—Clarence Altes and Charles Johnson, advertising man and linotype operator respectively on a Mattoon newspaper, were burned to death early today, when fire destroyed a boarding-house in which they were asleep. They evidently were overcome by smoke before the fire reached their room.

EIGHT DROWNED

Three Vessels Driven Ashore in Big Storm on Moroccan Coast.

[Canadian Press.]

Casablanca, Morocco, Oct. 30.—During a violent storm last night three vessels were driven ashore and wrecked on the Moroccan coast near this port, but their crews were saved with the exception of eight men drowned by the capsizing of a lifeboat. The vessels were the Greek Missolonghi, the German Martini and the Spanish Lyria.

Another ship, the French transatlantic company's Caravelle, had a narrow escape. She suffered considerable damage, but was able to proceed on her voyage to Nantes.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Hennessy Has a Dictaphone Copy of Stilwell's Confession in Prison.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 30.—The mysterious little black book supposed to contain the "confession" made by ex-State Senator Joseph J. Stilwell in Sing Sing prison, and embracing charges against Tammany leaders here and in the State Legislature, was expected to reach the hands of District Attorney Whitman today through John A. Hennessy, erstwhile graft investigator for William Sulzer, who now functions as a lawyer in the city.

It was Hennessy who visited the convict in prison. Their conversation, which was recorded by a dictaphone secretly installed, and it is a record of this, as contained in the black book, which the district attorney will use as the basis for an investigation.

Hennessy has quoted vague excerpts from the book in campaign speeches, withholding certain matter, he said, in view of his promise to Stilwell. By virtue of a subpoena, however, the district attorney will have full access to it.

PAID $110,000,000 FOR TWO OIL COMPANIES

British Syndicate Headed By Andrew Weir Bought California Property.

[Canadian Press.]

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—The purchase of two independent oil companies in California, the United Oil Company and the General Petroleum Company, involving an annual income of $1,100,000, has been consummated in London by Eugene de Saba, it became known here today.

De Saba, a Canadian, who is head of a British syndicate, headed by Andrew Weir, will take over his companies. The deal involves more than $125,000,000 in stock and $35,000,000 in cash.

The deal means that the United Oil Company, with its oil fields, its subsidiary oil pipe line companies and its fleet of oil-carrying steamers, barges and sailing ships, becomes merged in a British concern.

The United Oil Company deal will be made on a cash basis, while the General Petroleum Company will change hands through an exchange of stocks.

The control of the United Oil Company by the Lyman Stewart family was obtained by a syndicate including De Saba at approximately $130 a share. Recently the stock has been selling around $60 a share.

Andrew Weir is at the head of Andrew Weir & Co., shipowners of the United Kingdom.

Adolphus Busch Left an Estate Valued at Over Fifty Millions.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 30.—Each of the heirs of the estate of Adolphus Busch, who, according to the will, filed here late yesterday, are to have shares of the trust into which the estate is to be formed, will have an annual income of $275,000 a share, or more than $1,000 a day.

The son, August A. Busch, who succeeds his father in the management of the vast properties, is to have two shares of the trust, and his income consequently will be $550,000 a year, minus the provision he is required to make for his invalid brother, Carl.

The figures were made known today by a high officer of the Busch corporations. According to this officer, the income of the estate is estimated at $3,000,000, which is a 6 per cent return on a valuation of $50,000,000. The heirs are the widow and the seven children.

SALE OF ALCOHOL BY CHEMIST HELD AS ILLEGAL ACT

The Magistrate Fines Mr. T. A. Loughrey $100 Without Chance of Appeal.

A FINE POINT OF LAW

Druggist Held He Could Dispose of Drug For Arts and Manufactures.

Mr. T. A. Loughrey, proprietor of the Manhattan Pharmacy, was fined $100 and costs, by Police Magistrate Judd this morning, on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

The charge arose out of the sale on Sunday, Oct. 5, of four ounces of pure alcohol to Jas. Navin. Mr. Loughrey's defence was a novel one, and the first of its kind ever offered in this Province, according to Magistrate Judd, who gave a lengthy judgment on the case.

The defendant's contention, that alcohol was not a liquor, that it was not drinkable, that Navin might have wanted it for "arts or manufactures," and that he as a chemist had the right to sell any amount of alcohol, not exceeding six ounces, without a physician's prescription.

In order to go fully into the question the magistrate reserved decision for two weeks and consulted the dictionary, the encyclopedia, the liquor license act and the pharmacist act.

He held that the dictionary meaning of "liquor" is "a liquid," or "strong drink," and that the dictionary meaning of alcohol is a liquid which will intoxicate. In the liquor license act, in sub-section 1 of section 2, liquor or liquors include all spirituous and malt liquors, and all combinations of liquors and drinks and drinkable liquids which will intoxicate.

Admits Intoxication. The encyclopedia defines alcohol as absolute or ethyl. The former contains about 98 per cent. proof spirits, and the latter 50, and that both are highly intoxicating. This fact was admitted by Mr. Loughrey when he gave his evidence.

In his judgment the magistrate held that sub-section 1 of section 2 of the liquor license act placed the whole question of guilt beyond a doubt, and that the act respecting the sale of patent or other medicines and of alcohol for the purpose of arts and manufactures clearly indicated that either ethyl or absolute alcohol comes within the meaning of intoxicating liquor as defined by the liquor license act.

Prescription Necessary. In conclusion the court pointed out that if the defendant sells alcohol under the patent medicine act for use in the arts or manufactures, he must make reasonable inquiries to ascertain that it is required for such purpose before he makes a sale, unless he is selling under section 52 of the liquor license act, which requires the bona fide prescription of a medical man.

The decision of the magistrate is final and allows of no appeal.

RY. BLASTING KILLED SALMON

A Big Shortage of Fish May Be Expected in Next Few Years.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Oct. 30.—Railroad blasting operations on a tributary of the Fraser River, in Washington, having killed more than one million salmon, and prevented the spawning of between two and three billion sockeye salmon eggs, the Department of Commerce announced today that the fish-loving American public might expect a decided shortage in its favorite food.

The department pronounces the slaughter of the fish to be a "catastrophe."

"The effects of this catastrophe," it is declared, "will be seen three to five years hence, when the 1913 progeny comes back to the river to spawn. How serious the outcome will be can only be surmised."

The livelihood of thousands of persons in the State of Washington and in British Columbia, adds the statement, depends on the annual "run" of these fish, which return year by year to the same spawning grounds. This, it is suggested, makes the matter one of even greater economic importance.

Rocks dislodged by the blasting blocked the stream and caused the death of the ascending fish.

TWO FIREMEN HURT BY FALLING BRICKS

Girls Had Close Call in Montreal Factory Fire.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Two firemen were severely hurt and 33 more overcome by smoke at a fire in the premises of the Factory Waste Company on Colborne street this afternoon.

The flames spread so quickly that a number of girls employed on the premises only escaped by a narrow margin. The smoke from the waste in the building was very dense, and the firemen had the greatest difficulty in getting near the seat of the fire. It was while carrying a line of hose past a tottering wall that two firemen were hurt by falling bricks, while the others were over-coming the flames.

GOV. GLYNN SCORES PENURIOUS ATTITUDE

Wants More Money Spent On Waterways of New York.

[Canadian Press.]

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Criticism of the United States Government's so-called penurious attitude toward New York in the matter of waterways appropriations marked the address of Governor Glynn before the New York Waterways Association here today.

He pointed out that the Kanawha River of West Virginia had drawn as great appropriations as the Hudson, and that if as much had been spent proportionately on the Hudson as was expended on the Red River of Arkansas the total outlay for the former stream in the last hundred years would have been $7,000,000,000 instead of $5,000,000,000.

CLAIMS CONDITIONS ARE INTOLERABLE

Labor Member For British Columbia Made Investigation at Nanaimo.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—"I have no hesitation in saying that the miners in Nanaimo, B. C., are subject to conditions which boys, let alone men, working in an English mine would not tolerate for 24 hours," declared Tom Richardson, Labor member of Parliament in the British Parliament for White Haven, and a member of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, who is in Ottawa today, the guest of J. C. Walters, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress.

Mr. Richardson has just returned from a four-weeks' visit to the Canadian West, principally British Columbia. While in Nanaimo he made a little private investigation in the dispute between the miners and their employers.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

PRICES ARE HIGHER
ON LOCAL MARKET

There has been a noticeable change in the local market since Wednesday, with trading more active and the attendance somewhat better. Prices as the result of the inclemency of the weather have soared in many lines. Particularly in hay and potatoes the change is marked. Other lines are firm and high.

The maximum price of some time was obtained for hay Wednesday when three loads sold for $17.50. However, the average prices were from $13 to $17, with a small offering and an average demand. Straw is also a small offering at $3 for choice wheat straw, and $2 for inferior straw.

Since the advance of yesterday potatoes are firm. The wholesale price per bag is 85 cents, while the retail price per bushel is approximately 70 cents. The demand for the commodity is rather slow as the vegetable is not sufficiently ripe for storing in bins for winter consumption.

Dairy produce has sustained no appreciable change since Tuesday when an advance of 1 cent on all lines of butter was experienced. The prices are as listed.

Apparently the prices on live stock will remain steady for some time. While there has been a slight increase in the buyer's price, the local butchers have as yet made no difference in their price to consumers. Select hogs are selling for $8.50 since Monday.

About the only fruits offered are apples, pears and grapes. Apples are firm, and an average offering at 50 to 80 cents per bushel; pears are steady at 75 cents to $1; and grapes are selling for 20 and 25 cents per basket.

Since the brisk Thanksgiving selling in poultry, the market for this commodity has been a slow one. All prices are firm, though high, and will probably continue so for some time.

No wheat was offered yesterday, and only a few loads of oats, which found ready sale. Oats were firm at 95 cents to $1.00, and it is not likely that the price will go higher today. Honey is selling at $1.25 for 10-lb. pails, strained.

Hides, wool, etc., are firm, and as quoted on the list:

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup
of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, peevish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't sleep or act naturally, listless, stom-achache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child
again. Children love this harmless
"fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides"
clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has recitations for babies, children of all ages
and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeit sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig sy.

This Home-made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply
at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly, and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes 16 ounces—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc.
There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualcol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the pinex has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

Welsh Miner Will Speak.—The men's meeting Sunday afternoon in the Auditorium will be addressed by Garnet Thomas, the miner from Cardiff, South Wales. Mr. A. Simpson, late leader of the Theosophical Orchestra, Scotland, will give violin solos.

Ex-Pugilist To Speak.—William
Matheson, ex-lumberman, prizefighter
and saloonkeeper, is to be the speaker at the City Mission tonight. His career has been a most varied and interesting one, and his address is likely to prove quite out of the ordinary.

Bank Clearings.—Bank clearings for last week show an increase of $396,- 157 over the corresponding week in 1912. Last week's returns, as reported by the Bank of Montreal, were $1,759,404. A year ago they were $1,- 343,247.

In Aid of Hospital.—Beginning Dec.
8 and continuing to the 15th, a fair and drawing of prizes will be held in St.
Peter's Parish Hall in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital. During the week there will be a sale of a wide variety of articles in the bazaar, and on the evening of Dec. 15, valuable prizes will be drawn for.

Thompson-Rourke.—The wedding was quietly solemnized Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the Talbot Street Baptist Church of Miss Emma Rourke and Mr. John William Thompson, both of this city. Rev. H. H.
Bingham was the officiating clergyman.
The couple were unattended, and will take up their residence at 197 Mill street.

Amusement Committee to Meet.—A meeting of the amusement committee of the Men's Federation of London has been called for Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock
in their rooms, London Life building.

Death of a Child.—The death occurred
on Wednesday of Louis Christ Scholl, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich Scholl, of 76 Askin street, South London.
Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday.
Rev. Mr. Nairn will conduct the services.

Challoner-Meston.—The parsonage
of the Talbot Street Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon,
when Miss Ellen Meston, daughter of Mr. J. H. Meston, of Argyle street,
West London, became the bride of Mr.
Neville Butler Challoner, son of Mr.
and Mrs. James Challoner, of Lobo Township. The pastor, Rev. H. H.
Bingham officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Ellen Challoner, sister of the groom, and the groom was supported by Mr. James Meston, jun., brother of the bride. At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple left on the

COMFORT STATION
SOON TO BE OPEN

Committee Will Make Inspection Before Auspicious Ceremony.

At last the comfort station on the market is to be opened! Just when no one seems to know, but the fire and light committee, which has charge of the building, will arrange an opening date this week. The question of toilet accessories—towels, combs, etc., will be held over until after this personal inspection.

The announcement of the meeting was made at the session of the committee on Wednesday night.

An interesting document, anent the station was presented from a legal firm that asked for damages on behalf of a client who was injured at the structure. As the building is not yet opened, the committee took the attitude that the injured man had been transgressing, and ordered the city solicitor to defend the suit.

TRUANCY OFFICER SPEAKS TO MOTHERS

Urges Regularity of Attendance—Officers Are Elected.

Dr. Weir, truancy officer, was the speaker at the opening meeting of the Hecory Street Mothers' Club on Tuesday afternoon, his subject being "Truancy:
Its Cause and Remedy." There was a large attendance, and much interest was manifested in the work for the coming year.

Dr. Weir in his remarks made an appeal to the parents to send their children to school regularly and on time. This,
he said, would do much to prevent the growth of truancy.

After an interesting discussion on the subject, refreshments were served by the retiring members of the executive committee.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mrs.
Malone; vice-president, Mrs. Hutchison;
secretary, Miss Matthews; treasurer,
Mrs. Morrow; press representative, Mrs.
Marsh.

CHIEF INSISTS THAT CARS MUST STOP

Some Motormen Ignore Bells and Signals and Invite Disaster.

Fire Chief John Aitken made a vigorous protest against the careless handling of street cars at King and Richmond streets and at Clarence and Dundas streets during the course of the meeting of the fire and light committee Wednesday night. Referring to the narrow escape from an accident at King and Richmond street on Monday night when a street car ignored the danger signals
and nearly crashed into the motor truck
from fire headquarters, he claimed that the motormen of the company paid little or no attention to the lights and bells placed at the corners to warn them of the approach of the fire apparatus.
He suggested that all cars be made to stop on the near side of the street at the two crossings in question before crossing the intersecting thoroughfare.
The city engineer was therefore instructed to notify the street railway of the change, and was ordered to see that the company lived up to it.

DEFINITION OF A CRAB

St. Thomas Journal Finds "Yarn Stretchers" Is One of Them.

The St. Thomas Journal says:
"Pursuing a little further the 'jellyfish' simile adopted by the London Free Press in its strictures on the Journal's observations regarding the uncertain advantages London is likely to gain in the matter of lower freight rates as a result of the decision to electrify its railroad to the lakeside, we may fairly question the wisdom of the Free Press assuming the character of a 'crab' in its discussion of the question. It may take its choice of any of the accepted dictionary uses of the term,
though the one that seems to fit
most neatly is the mechanical one,
'a machine used in ropewalks to stretch the yarn.' If this application stretches beyond the point, it may choose Chaucer's use of the word in
'crabbed eloquence' or the 'crab-spider, so called because it ran run either forward or sideways like a
'crab.'"
"The first seems to fit the Free Press so appropriately that we dislike the thought of it being discordant for where in all Canadian newspaperdom is there a party organ that 'stretches' the yarn like our neighbor? If the first is unacceptable the last cannot be questioned, for the Free Press' facility for running forward, backward or sideways on any question, not even accepting the one under discussion, has become quite famous."

"But to get back to the question of London's advantage in freight rates,
when the new line is completed, 'We have to admit our total ignorance of the ramifications of the electrification scheme. The thought that 'London will, if necessary, have boats of its own on the Great Lakes, as well as a railway line of her own to a lake
port,' as stated by the Free Press,
was clearly outside the possibilities of the scheme when we ventured the opinion that the great steam roads usually made it their business to own or control lines where their own traffic made the road's profits."

"The whole problem appears in a different light entirely now that our neighbor has come out of its shell, and made known the lengths to which it is prepared to encourage London to go in order to save a few hundreds of dollars to its shippers. The addition of a Great Lakes boat service will help immensely, to be sure, and should not be taken as the solution of the problem of a transatlantic line (an allred one, of course), to bring freight
to the boats of its Great Lakes service,
to help pay the interest on its investment in the electrified road, would almost certainly do it."

"Then, of course, it might readily arrange to take over the Pennsylvania coal mines."

"The thing is so absurdly simple we wonder now that its possibilities escaped us."

TORONTO LODGE WILL

Reception and Banquet Will Be Tendered By St. John's, No. 20.

Another important Masonic Function has been scheduled for this evening, consisting of the visit of the Riverdale Lodge, of Toronto, to St. John's, No. 20. A large attendance is expected, and in all probability there will be about 150 guests present from the Queen City.

The delegation will arrive on the 7:50 C. P. R. express from Toronto, and will proceed immediately to the temple, where the reception and banquet will be held.

THE ARTISTIC CANADIAN GIRL

Innately Appreciative of Esthetic Decoration.

It is generally conceded by everyone who visits our country that there is no possible doubt as to the high artistic temperament of our Canadian women.
They furnish abundant evidence of their correct conceptions of the beautiful in their homes, their dress and their unanimous ambition for refined accomplishments. As a needlewoman in fancy work of all kinds the Canadian girl has no superiors in any part of the world, and, furthermore, she never allows herself to lag in the roar of the procession, but insists on keeping up-to-date and up-to-the-minute
in all ideas and qualifications that go to adorn her person or her home. This fact has been singularly exemplified since The Advertiser began its grand distribution of Imperial Patterns for beautiful embroidery. Thousands of ladies, thousands of mothers, thousands of housewives, thousands of girls, have practically manifested their interest in the proposition by personal application and by mail, all determined to take advantage of the unprecedented offer of our $10 worth of designs for 68 cents, and six coupons. This universal demand on the part of women readers of The Advertiser for the most stylish embroidery patterns abundantly proves that cultivated taste
and artistic nature of the genuine Canadian woman.

FOREIGN WEDDINGS TROUBLE HAMILTON

Excessive Consumption of Liquor at Functions Becomes Problem.

It is some time now since Inspector Galpin has had trouble owing to the consumption of too much liquid refreshment at foreign "weddings," and other functions. "The last case," he severely dealt with by Magistrate Judd, a fine of $100 being imposed, and since then conditions have improved considerably. Perhaps the reason lies in the fact that Cupid has not been so busy of late, and there are no weddings forthcoming.

Such has not been the case in Hamilton, and Inspector Galpin, of that city, has had so much trouble of late that he is taking up with the Provincial Government the question of prohibiting altogether the consumption of liquor at such functions.

To The Advertiser: Mr. Galpin explained the working of the present
liquor license act in that respect.

"The law cannot limit the quantity of liquor to be served at these gatherings,
as it depends entirely upon the number who are there and the conditions. It is left to the magistrate's discretion to see whether there was excess or not," he said. "Of course, to bring the offenders
under the operation of the law you have got to prove that the liquor was either being sold or had been bought with money subscribed in a pool by a number of the guests," he continued. "We sometimes find a man, earning between $12
and $15 a week, who frequently gives part of which perhaps $20 worth of liquor is served. Well, of course, the inference is that he must be selling it, or he couldn't afford to do it. Or, if not that, he is acting as the agent for others who are 'pooling' their money to buy liquor.
Either practice is illegal."

No stronger tribute has ever been paid
that great German remedy for Diabetes,
which is known as SANOL'S ANTIDIA-

M.D., who has used it extensively in his practice.

Dr. Maguy writes in part as follows:
"One of my patients has been under treatment for two years without receiving any benefit, while after a few weeks of your treatment I can pronounce her cured.
Another was a case of four years' standing. A pronounced gangrene had set in.
I recommended your medicine, and the regulations therewith were strictly carried out. The gangrene, as well as the sugar, has entirely disappeared, and she is in the very best of health at the present time."
