

FINEST, CLEANEST SHOWS IN COUNTRY FOR WESTERN FAIR

Such Is Promise of Secretary A. M. Hunt.

LACK OF ROOM WORRIES Exhibitors Want Space and There Is None Left For Them.

"I don't think the Ministerial Alliance will have much cause to complain when they see the kind of shows we are going to have on the Midway at the Western Fair this year," said Secretary A. M. Hunt this forenoon, as he sat back in his chair in his office with much the same expression little Jack Horner must have worn on his face when he "put in his thumb, and pulled out a plum."

"Yes," he continued, "I think we can safely say we have landed the finest and cleanest shows that have ever been introduced at a Western Fair. We have at last been successful in negotiating with Johnny J. Jones to bring his shows to London, Ontario, and a drawing card that, isn't it, Johnny J. Jones?" he continued, with a smile that simply wouldn't come off.

"Making Less Money."

"The Johnny J. Jones shows have the reputation of being the biggest and cleanest aggregation on the road, and that is why we have made a contract for them to come to the Western Fair for a lower percentage than we have ever accepted before. That was what we were doing all the time we were supposed not to be carrying the kind of shows we had there, trying to set a line on the most highly recommended that it was possible to secure."

"Johnny J. Jones is doing the west during the big fair out there. The aggregation will be a big feature at the Toronto Exhibition, coming on from Toronto to London."

"Up Against It."

"With regard to criticism against the shows last year, I have this to say, we were right up against it, owing to war conditions, and things didn't pan out at all as we expected. Even with the shows we had there was a hold up at the border because of immigration regulations. If it is to the interests of anyone to put on decent, high-class shows on the Midway at the Western Fair, it is to the interests of the directors and officials."

Then the secretary stopped smiling, because at that point in the conversation his hand touched a paper on his desk which rustled, and the rustle was a sort of ghostly sound, like the ghostly echo of a skeleton rattling its bones.

"What is the matter?"

"I wish someone would tell me where we are going to get more space for the exhibits," said Mr. Hunt, frowning in perplexity, even as he had smiled with satisfaction.

"This paper under my hand is a letter from a firm that wants to rent frontage for an exhibit. Where I am going to get it I can't imagine. Every inch of space has been gone for some time in the Main Building, Transportation and Machinery Buildings, and we have had to put space in the Women's Building for such exhibits as refrigerators, kitchen cabinets and things like that."

"And it is two months to the Western Fair?"

"When are you going to get new grounds and buildings that will fit the big fair better?" was a question asked, and the secretary only shrugged his shoulders, as much as to say, "Search me."

"I had take time from puzzling over that knotty problem to mention to you that there is to be a fine art loan exhibit, sent from the National Gallery in Ottawa, and that one of the paintings is a Paul Peel, 'A Venetian Builder.'"

BULGARIA NEXT

LIEUT.-COL. BROWN'S SETTLEMENT PLANS FOR SOLDIERS GOOD

Printed by C. of C. For Wide Distribution.

SOLDIER'S OWN IDEAS

Written in France and Submitted to Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture.

A comprehensive article of "memorial" written by Lieut.-Col. Walter J. Brown, C. F. A., is being printed in the present issue of the "Land Settlement for Soldiers." The article, published by the London Chamber of Commerce, is for distribution through the chambers of commerce and boards of trade in Western Ontario.

Going into the subject of land settlement some time ago, with a view to arriving at something of a workable solution to success, the land settlement committee of the chamber of commerce, of which J. W. Lightfoot is chairman, learned that Col. Brown had made a close study of the subject and analysis of conditions being upon it in Ontario and other eastern provinces.

The committee was so impressed with Lieut.-Col. Brown's suggested policy for the settlement of the chamber of commerce to have it printed for distribution.

The settlement plan was first written by Col. Brown in 1916, while he was in Flanders, in command of the fourth brigade, C. F. A., and was sent to James, Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture. Early in 1918 the plan was furnished to the Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture, and transmitted to the department concerned.

Ontario at the present time has no land settlement policy, excepting for Northern Ontario.

Settled Lands Required.—The memorial deals with the subject of settlement of the long-cultivated lands of Ontario, not only by purchase, but by rental as well, going into the details of the various farming on small holdings.

The advisability of a national commission on agricultural education is urged, and also the establishment of a provincial commission on land settlement.

While such an article comes at a "psychological moment" in view of the need of some policy of land settlement for Canadian soldiers, it reaches beyond that to a permanent, general land settlement policy.

GARAGE ENTERED IN NIGHT AND SOME AUTO ACCESSORIES STOLEN

County Police Assigned to Trace Mischief in Township.

Thieves broke into the garage of R. Blandford, situated near his home on the 4th concession, London Township, in the vicinity of the Mount Hope Ordnance, Sunday night, and succeeded in making away with an inner tube, tools and other accessories of an auto garage.

The burglar returned to the garage by forcing open a door, some time after 11:30 o'clock last night, as Mr. Blandford returned home at that time and all was well. Evidently the burglars were interrupted in their work, as the theft was discovered this morning. It was noted on the door of the auto in the garage was partially open and left in that manner.

Mr. Blandford reported the robbery this morning to Deputy Sheriff Ben Waterworth, who has assigned the county constable to the case, but they have found no clue leading to the identity of the perpetrators of the crime.

REPORTERS ACT AS COUNSEL; WIN CASE AND PAY FOR CLIENT

Frank Sutherland Not Insane, Says Court.

BEHAVIOR IS EXPLAINED

And, the Complainant Being Absent, Defendant Is Set Free.

Frank Sutherland, who was arrested on the farm of J. Smith, London Township, recently, and who was acting as a hired man, and was acting in a queer manner, appeared before Squire Chittick in the county court this morning, charged with being insane and a vagrant.

Sutherland, who is deaf, stated in court that his employer wished to pay him on a Sunday, but he refused the money, with a result that he was arrested the following day. He stated that an assault ensued, and he was locked in a room, while Smith phoned for the county police.

When County Constable Alex. Shaver arrived, he found the accused had escaped through an open window, and had hidden his clothes in a swamp nearby. He was later apprehended and lodged in the county jail on remand until today.

The prisoner was dismissed on the charge of insanity, and owing to the fact that Smith, the complainant, did not appear in court, the court allowed him his freedom on giving his assurance that he would stay away from the Smith farm, and that he had retrieved his clothes hidden in the swamp.

Sutherland had no counsel to represent him, and, deputed by Squire Chittick, a local newspaper reporter conducted the defence, winning the case, and, in addition, they obtained an order from the court whereby the client will be enabled to collect the money due him for services rendered on the farm.

FORMER LONDONER DROWNED IN LAKE ONTARIO WEDNESDAY

Wilfred E. Rose of Wallaceburg Was War Veteran.

VISITING IN HAMILTON

And Got Out of His Depth While Out Swimming.

Wilfred Edwin Rose, son of W. E. Rose of Wallaceburg, a returned soldier and former Londoner, was drowned in Lake Ontario, Wednesday afternoon. He was visiting Mrs. William Chapin of Hamilton and that afternoon decided to go on a swim with two ladies who had been residing at the same place. He had only been in the water for a short time when he went beyond his depth and was not a good swimmer, and was unable to get to shore again. His body was found floating in the water, and a pair of water wings, but they did not get within his reach and in less than a minute he sank and in less than a minute he was dead. His body was recovered about 35 yards from the shore by minutes afterwards. Coroner Dr. J. C. Somerville is in possession of the body, which was not yet called, who said an inquest was not necessary.

The funeral will be held in Wallaceburg on Saturday, where his parents reside. He is survived by his parents and one sister.

Children Suffering in Usual Hot Weather Way

Not So Many Cases as Were Expected.—Welfare Work Shows Results.

Summer complaint, the dread malady of the hot weather for little children, has claimed a number of patients in the past few weeks in this city. The child welfare nurses, however, report that the number of cases is much smaller than they had expected, and that the children who are suffering are not so many as were expected. Though the weather has been hot, the number of cases is not so many as was expected, and that the children who are suffering are not so many as were expected.

New calls have been coming in at the rate of about one a day. In the majority of cases the doctor in charge traces the trouble to milk or other improper feeding.

"In one of the worst cases this summer," said Miss Smith, "the mother told me the milk she gives to her child was not being delivered at all, and that she was in the hospital. It certainly is not in the hot weather as we have been having."

Some confusion has arisen this week owing to the change of place at which two of the clinics are being held during the holiday months.

On Tuesday at 9 a.m. the sick baby clinic is held at Victoria Hospital, and the well baby clinic at the Talbot street school on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Thursday afternoon clinic at 2 is being held in the Rectory street school, instead of the Chesley avenue school, as formerly, and Friday afternoon's clinic at 3 o'clock is at the annex of the Victoria school, at 14 Askin street (above the South London branch of the public library), instead of the Riverview school.

CHECK ARTIST LOSES $10 TO JEWELER

Police Searching Anxiously For One Whose Name Is Given As Jean Paul Dubay, Who Has Bunch of Imperial Bank "Accepted" Checks.

WORTHY MAN'S SUITS, WHICH HE HAS SOLD, ARE FOUND TO BE COUNTERFEITS

The suit was sent to the rooming-house of Miss Flora Z. Arbutick, 235 Queen's avenue, on the buyer's instructions.

After buying another suit at R. H. Arbutick, 178 Dundas street, for $50, leaving the same instructions and cashing a similarly marked check for $100, the stranger went to the suit-buying mania visitor, Arbutick, who offered a $100 check in payment for a suit which he purchased and had sent to 235 Queen's avenue. The clerk at Grafton's declined to cash the check, but sent the suit to the Queen's avenue house to be paid for on delivery.

"I don't like the room I have rented over at 235 Queen's avenue," he explained to William Patten, furniture dealer, at 247 1/2 Dundas street. He chose from a selection had been returned to a divanette valued at $65 and tendered the usual Imperial Bank marked check for $100, which Mr. Patten declined to cash. He promised to send the divanette to the address at 235 Queen's avenue early in the morning, and advised Dubay to cash the check in the meantime.

Miss Flora Z. Arbutick, landlady at the rooming house on Queen's avenue, was perplexed when on Saturday afternoon boxes of men's clothing arrived addressed to L. Dubay, along with inquiries from other dealers as to the delivery of the goods. She was unable to find until then heard of the man who professed to merchants to have rented a room at her house on Queen's avenue.

The suits of clothes both paid for and unpaid for are now back at the street, from which they were sent, being remarked with price tags.

One merchant who deposited the Saturday receipts of his store along with the $100 check he had cashed for Dubay at the Imperial Bank, was unable to find that he had been victimized until yesterday, when the bank informed him that the check was a counterfeit, and that it was a forgery. This had been noticed by the bank on Tuesday afternoon.

The checks passed or offered in exchange for the suits were all made out on Imperial Bank savings account check forms, and stamped across the top with the words "Accepted," "A to L," and "initialled." The checks which were cashed were indorsed by the man, and the other $100 check, which was a similar check for $100 at the store.

Half just take the $10 and mark it. Mr. Nash told the buyer, who stated that he had many friends in the city, and that they would be glad to help him, promising to return on Monday for the ring.

He had just come back and Mr. Nash still retains the $10 bill.

MAYOR THINKS LONDON HAS SET EXAMPLE TO OTHER CITIES IN ITS TREATMENT OF RAILWAY QUESTION

"We Have Shown Them That We Can Manage Our Own Business Affairs"—No Injunctions Issued and New Fares Are in Force.

What is the next move in the street railway situation? This is a question that is being much discussed at the city hall, but they will not vote on the information as to what will be done next.

Mayor C. R. Somerville is of the opinion that the matter is over until next January, when the electors will be asked to decide whether to continue in force or whether they wish to go back to the old rate of fares. They will not vote on the present bylaw, as that ceases automatically at the expiration of eight months, and they will vote on the bylaw to the effect that the new rate of fares be continued.

"London has set an example to other cities," declared his worship. "We have shown them that we can manage our own business affairs without calling in the commission board, in Toronto they haven't settled the situation yet."

By the end of the eight months the city may have taken over the street railway, the mayor declared.

Another move besides that of a vote of the people is to secure the sanction of the Ontario Legislature next January, which would give the city the right to raise fares, for Sir Adam Beck, it is said, would not give his support to the national railway commission, as he is London's representative.

No Trouble at All.

No injunctions have been issued to date, and, in fact, not even a rumor of one being issued has come to the ears of the aldermen or the city officials. W. W. Walsley, of 21 Campbell street, who, a few days ago, had been in an injunction, denies that story, saying that he has no idea of taking any such action.

"Street railway employees declare that they are having no trouble at all in regard to their own union, and, in fact, they have raised an objection to getting one less ticket for 25 cents. Many citizens still have to take the old fare, but as a result the sales of the new ones were not very large this morning."

INQUEST BEGUN TO DECIDE CAUSES OF YOUNG MAN'S DEATH

Body of John A. Walsh Viewed by Jurors.

HOW ACCIDENT OCCURRED Stories Heard by Doctors and Told to Relatives Are Quite Different.

Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson and Jurors inspect the scene of the accident at the Grand Trunk roadhouse, at 8 o'clock tonight, when John A. Walsh, 141 Sackville street, was fatally injured yesterday morning.

A preliminary inquest held at the undertaking parlors of E. C. Killingsworth, 389 Burwell street, at noon today, when Fred Hildway was elected foreman of the coroner's jury, was adjourned after viewing the body of the dead boy until this evening, when the inquest will be continued.

Different Stories.

According to information given by the Grand Trunk to the coroner, which was refused to the police, young Walsh was riding in the cab of an engine at the roadhouse shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, with his head thrust out of the window of the cab, and was crushed against a trolley only wide enough to allow the passing of engines on the main line.

Relations of the deceased said they were informed that Walsh was struck by an engine which he did not see approaching while he walked toward the track after alighting from another engine in the roadhouse.

Walsh was severely crushed on the head, and had one ear almost torn off when his head struck the wall, according to those who were present at the Victoria Hospital, where he died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Jurors for the inquest this evening, who hear evidence if the hearing is continued are: Fred Highway, foreman; Frank Siroos, Charles Finchamp, James Gould, Thomas Stettig, William Richmond, Joseph Good.

John A. Walsh was 17 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Walsh, 141 Sackville street. He was employed in the Grand Trunk roadhouse office.

The funeral will be held on Monday, July 14, to St. Mary's Church, where requiem high mass will be sung at 9 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

WOODSTOCK LONDONER DIES AFTER RECEIVING ELECTRIC SHOCK

Sergt. Harry Davison Succumbs While Visiting in Woodstock.

TOUCHED WIRE IN GARRET

Served Overseas Four Years—Wound May Have Left Heart Weakened.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, July 10.—Sergt. Harry Davison of the military headquarters staff, London, died tonight at 7 o'clock from the effects of an electric shock received when he came in contact with a live wire in his brother's residence here. Sergt. Davison was here on a holiday and this afternoon he was making some repairs in the garret of the home of his brother, Ald. George Davison, Post street.

About 5:30 Ald. Davison, on returning home called to him and not getting an answer investigated. He was shocked to find his brother in an unconscious condition from a shock from which Mr. Davison had been immediately summoned, and was also a man from the hydro station with a pulmotor and for two hours everything possible was done to restore life, but without success, and the young man died about two hours after being found.

Sergt. Davison was born in this city about 21 years ago, where he was educated. About four years ago he enlisted and went overseas. He was severely wounded and was invalided home in October, 1917, at the age of 27. He was in France when he received a shock of high voltage. A few months ago he was married to a London girl. He is also survived by his father, a sister and two brothers.

A court of inquiry has been ordered by the military headquarters here to investigate and report upon the circumstances surrounding the death of Sergt. Davison. The funeral, which will be of a military nature, will be held from the home of his wife, formerly Miss Frances Weir, 346 Grosvenor, on Sunday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

JULY BEST MONTH TO DESTROY PESTS OF INSECT WORLD

WASHINGTON, July 9.—July is the best month to kill every insect, says a statement from the American Forestry Association. Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the association, estimates that the annual cost of insect pests to this country is $500,000,000. To check this annual loss the association makes the following suggestions for July: "Spray fruit trees with bordeaux-lead. Spray elms for elm leaf beetles with arsenate of lead, one pound to ten gallons of water. Spray forest tent caterpillars with arsenate of lead (same proportion). Spray tussock moth and other leaf eating insects with arsenate of lead (same proportion)."

MIDDLESEX JUNIOR FARMERS OBSERVE METHODS IN ESSEX

Interesting Visit Made to Several Farms By Party of Fifty.

ESSEX, July 10.—Essex County was recently visited by a delegation of 50 members of the Junior Farmers' Club, Middlesex County, who came to observe the methods of farming in Essex County. The young farmers were accompanied by the district representative for that county, R. A. Finn, and by W. J. Noble, district representative for South Essex, and escorted through the county, the trip being made in autos.

The next stop was at the Erie Co-operative Company's establishment. The young farmers were told that the company owned its own building, and was one of the largest co-operative associations in Ontario, comprising about 300 growers of vegetables, distributed from Leamington to Harrow, and had done this year will probably reach one million dollars.

CHATHAM MERCHANTS AND EMPLOYEES HOLD SUCCESSFUL OUTING

Lengthy Sports Program at Erie Beach Enjoyed by Thousands.

CHATHAM, July 10.—The retail merchants and employees picnic was held at Erie Beach this afternoon, and was a marked success. The city was practically deserted, as every merchant and every employee who could possibly go away took advantage of the event and the city was practically deserted this afternoon, as practically every business man and employee, accompanied by their families were attending the retail merchants' and employees' outdoor picnic at Erie Beach. The idea of holding the event was to give the employees and their families a day's outing and to create more community spirit between the boss and the hired help. If the cost time at the beach is any criterion the object of the event has been attained, as everybody, old and young, the boss and the hired help, from the head clerk down to the errand boy, romped and played to their heart's content. A good program of sports was run off, including races of all kinds, baseball games, croquet and swimming contests. Substantial prizes were offered, including four, silver-canned goods, coffee, etc., donated by the various merchants. The great war veterans' band was in attendance.

MOTHER OF GEN. CURRIE IS AMONG THOSE HONORED BY STRATHROY WOMEN

STRATHROY, July 10.—A large number of ladies met in St. John's Hall recently, when the local chapter of the National Council of Women presented 24 mothers from the town and the Township of Metcalf with badges in honor of sons who had down their lives for their country. The president, Mrs. J. W. Cameron, opened the meeting, and called on Mrs. J. H. English to read the Scripture lesson.

BOLSHEVIK TROOPS COMMENCE ADVANCE AROUND ARCHANGEL

LONDON, July 10.—Bolshevik troops have started an advance in the region of the northern Dvina River, southeast of Archangel, according to a wireless message received today, and have occupied Poshno, after fierce fighting. Two hundred prisoners and eight machine guns were captured. It is added that the Bolsheviks are pursuing the north Russian forces.

Accident

What might have been a serious accident occurred this afternoon on the fifth concession of Minto Township, when an auto driven by Thomas Egan of this city, who was returning from Tilbury, and another car, driven by Frank Lewis, collided at a turn in the road. Both cars were badly smashed up and Egan's car went to the bottom of a five-foot ditch, taking the occupants, who were Mr. and Mrs. Egan and baby. Fortunately all escaped with slight bruises.

A Canadian Economic Fable The Sheep and the Wolf

Once upon a time the sheep complained to Jupiter that they were being unduly harassed and destroyed by the wolf. Now, Jupiter was very busy just then with the case of Tweedledum and Tweedledee. So, having no time himself to inquire as to the justice of the complaint of the sheep, Jupiter turned the matter over to the fox to investigate and pronounce judgment.

During the investigation the wolf boldly declared that he was not chasing sheep for the glory of God, but to get mutton, and that he was entitled to all the mutton he could get, and that any other predatory animal that could not grab a good supply under the present circumstances must be lacking in imagination and activity.

After due deliberation the fox declared that he "took off his hat" to the wolf in appreciation of his prudent, energetic action in having laid by a very large "reserve" of mutton, and that the complaints of the sheep against him were merely a foolish protest against efficiency in business, and finally, that the only way in which the sheep could possibly receive any relief was to get busy at once and "increase production" of mutton.

The Few That Injure All Among Returned Veterans

Supposing a citizen who did not go to the war notices a man from overseas on the street and goes up to the latter, making the preliminary motions of a handshake and uttering the few words of welcome that he likes to express to the boys who were on the big job. And suppose the returned hero meets him with a movement of hands being placed behind his back, a slight lifting of the chin, a failure to make the corners of the mouth turn ever so slightly upward and in a manner that indicates direct contact with one of the icebergs that float in the Atlantic steamer lanes. What is the greeting person to think?

Does he put it down to "swank" or a conscious superiority that must be displayed to all those who did not go over, or who served in the ranks or did nothing conspicuous? He may not fix the reason in his mind, but when he sees another returned man to whom he would like to show some evidence of good nature and appreciation he will go cautiously before making the advances. It is a definite trait in human nature that "once snubbed, twice shy."

It is true that the vast majority of returned men show the heartiest kind of friendliness to those who seek to renew their acquaintance and to give them some kind of personal welcome. They are glad to see their old friends and not anxious to draw lines of military and non-military distinction. They do not parade their service or avoid, with scornful look and word, the world of civilians.

But there is another element, a small element, it is true, which seems to hold the personal impression that upon their service depended the fate of the country and the Empire. They won the war, and they know it, or they did the bravest thing in the war, and they know it. They regard the civilian population as being largely composed of "rotters," and they set themselves apart from almost all other men.

These men make things most uncomfortable for everyone. They will not find an office that will welcome them, and if their air of condescension is kept up long, they will find that their whole future is jeopardized and that self-conscious heroism is about the most sickening thing that has to be borne with. They will find that other returned soldiers will be the first to rebuke them, because the average civilian who did not go to war has not the courage to do so. Worst of all, they will injure the prospects of every man who served overseas. It is a pity that some of these men, and men who performed really fine service, should have to be reminded that a military snobbishness destroys the glory of almost any great sacrifice. How many people reluctantly turned from a certain distinguished aviator when he so much as gave the appearance of being unspornsmannlike? It is with the same reluctance that a lot of people jot down, mentally, a most unfavorable estimate of those of whom they are anxious to hold only golden opinion. Even Napoleon, who should know all about it, had it doped out this way:

The greatest ornament of an illustrious life is modesty and humility, which go a great way in the character even of the most exalted princes.

After Large War Profits

Those who say there is no definite method of regulating profits and controlling speculation in the people's food can find a straight-out suggestion in the resolution passed the other evening by the local branch of the Army and Navy Veterans. These survivors of the war, a great proportion of whom are men who were among the original volunteers, have asked that the Government appropriate all profits over ten per cent made by individuals on war contracts, and all profits over ten per cent derived by manufacturers during the war. This money would be turned to the purpose of paying the war debt, and it is quite within reasonable expectation that almost the entire cost of the war could be secured through such a law, honestly administered. It would be a test of patriotism as to the collection of the money, and resort to every kind of subterfuge to avoid payment might be expected. But the Government had the power to regulate profits and failed to do so to such a degree as would relieve the country and bring some of these good-luck fortunes into the common store.

It is probably too late to talk of extracting profits that have long ago been pocketed. The question as to what profits may be made on foodstuffs and other necessities is one that demands Government attention. The high cost of living report is no doubt gathering dust already, and the country is now looking with anxiety to the future. Are conditions to improve, or is the philosophy of the profiteer to dominate the country? There are methods of permitting the most free enterprise in this country in which men can amass reasonable profits without piling up millions and watering capital. It is the combine and manipulation of prices that cut so deeply into the prices paid for necessities.

Fielding On Divorce Courts

[Journal of Commerce.]

An important judgment has been delivered by the judicial committee of the Privy Council in England, establishing the power of the Supreme Court of Manitoba to grant divorces. It is a curious fact that while, as now declared, the Manitoba court had this power from the beginning of the province; only in very recent months has the power been discovered. "Marriage and divorce" are, by the British North America act, subjects assigned to the Dominion Parliament. The provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia had divorce courts before they entered the Dominion. These tribunals have retained their power, and have exercised it in such a quiet manner as to call for little or no remark. Prince Edward Island had a similar authority in the governor-in-council, which authority remains, though practically it is unused. As respects all the other provinces—Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—it has been believed that divorce could only be granted by the passing of an act of Parliament of Canada. Divorce applications have been presented to the Senate and examined by a Senate committee; divorce bills have been passed by the Senate and sent to the Commons, where they have usually been passed without any pretence of general examination. Under this system hundreds of divorce acts have been passed, affecting persons in Ontario, Quebec, and the three prairie provinces.

Some months ago the public were surprised to learn that a contention had been raised in Manitoba that, under the terms of the provincial constitution, which applied the laws of England to the province in certain cases, the Supreme Court of the province had the power to grant divorces. The court upheld this view, and in one case exercised this power. The case was appealed, and the judicial committee has now confirmed the decision of the Manitoba court. As the language of the Manitoba constitution was repeated later in the constitutions of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the effect of the judgment is to establish that in all three provinces divorces may hereafter be granted by the courts. This ought to be a great relief to the Canadian Parliament, which probably will hereafter not be troubled with applications for divorce from the provinces named.

Meanwhile, on the motion of Mr. Nickle, member for Kingston, the House of Commons has passed a bill to give the courts of all the provinces the power of divorce and thus to take the whole business away from Parliament. Unfortunately, after passing its second reading in the House of Commons, the bill seems to have struck some unseen snag and foundered, the session closing without any further action. Thus one of the most useful measures of the session has been defeated.

The conscientious objections to the principle of divorce which are held by a large part of the community can be understood, and must command sincere respect. If the assertion of these objections had prevented the granting of divorces in Ontario and Quebec, there would be a reason against the passing of Mr. Nickle's bill. But, as everybody knows, this is not the case. Divorces are granted every year. The material question is, Shall they be granted in a decent and orderly way by competent judicial tribunals, or by the present indecent—the word is not too strong—system at Ottawa? On that question there should be no division of opinion.

Returned Man Who Goes to Country Or Small Towns Said To Be "Making Good"

"The boys over here are most friendly beggars. You would scarcely credit the variety of callings and pre-war social distinctions that are jumbled up together in one dug-out, for instance, every good thing man shares up what he has and every man shares up what he has and every man shares up what he has."

Every man whom I have visited up to the present is doing well. Many of them are doing extremely well. Speaking generally I find that the men who have returned are settling down well in the country towns and are being well spoken of by everybody.

Traveling representatives assigned to certain districts and provided with lists of all men who had enlisted from those districts, will call upon local employers to encourage them to provide openings for their own home-town men. The idea will be—"If you are so fortunate as to have your boys return home, will you employ them?"

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) A SIDE-SHOW ROMANCE. By Jane Osborn.

Outside of her improvised tent Mala could hear the voices of the eager young "barker," shrill against the background of jazz music that came from the veranda beyond, and the buzzing of voices of the crowd that she could indistinctly see outlined through the canvas that hid her from the rest of the men and women, girls and boys who had assembled on the Woodmere lawn for the fête that was to raise enough money to tide over one of the local charities through the summer.

"This way to have your fortune told!" "This way to see the wild animals! Greatest menagerie in the world! Largest alligator in captivity. Perceps gear in the world! Eat 'em alive! Hugs 'em to death! This way, this way. Best show on the grounds. And then the incessant, "This way to have your fortune told. Greatest gypsy in the world! Cross her palm with silver and she'll tell you your fortune."

And still Mala sat within her close little tent, to be sure, but she was sitting there, beneath the heavy load of chains and tawdry jewelry that embellished her costume. Moreover, her hair was hanging loosely on her shoulders and the mask across her face was oppressive.

But what of all she was sitting there, beneath the heavy load of chains and tawdry jewelry that embellished her costume. Moreover, her hair was hanging loosely on her shoulders and the mask across her face was oppressive. She wondered what she would tell the people when they did come; it didn't seem exactly easy. Still, it was all right, she was sitting there, beneath the heavy load of chains and tawdry jewelry that embellished her costume. Moreover, her hair was hanging loosely on her shoulders and the mask across her face was oppressive.

still one doesn't encounter even gentle brown bears every day and it was with difficulty that Mala changed a shrill scream of terror into a terrified "Oh, please somebody do something. The bear!"

But somebody and a good many somebodies had done something. Bobby Bruno, dropped his megaphone and had seized the trailing rope.

"Hey, you menagerie people, your bears 're loose," he called to the group of tents across the path, and before the menagerie people had time to react he was the wisest course of action when the meeting, a bear single-handed, managed to get away from the group of five of them, and had dragged off their entirely harmless and spiritless bear, which he had prowled off in an unguarded moment.

But every one in that part of the Woodmere lawn had heard the commotion, and like wildfire spread the information that a ferocious bear had been seen with which her bear had been there had been a narrow escape, that one of the young men from the menagerie tent had performed the rescue and that on the whole the affair had been very thrilling.

That seemed to turn the tide toward the gypsy tent. For now they came eagerly, they stood in line outside, and the eager Bobby was more occupied now in timing the applicants to see that no one stayed more than five minutes than in shouting through his megaphone. And Mala, between those five-minute interviews, noticed that the tambourine in which she put was getting to look very tempting, and some of the "silver" was really paper.

She rather regretted that Alicia Barton would have all the credit, for as yet her mask had not been removed and she had heard more than one remark from outside that Alicia certainly "looked charming in gypsy costume."

The afternoon was almost over, and Mala was beginning to feel the strain of her unaccustomed work, when someone came who caused her heart to beat faster than had the incognito bear.

"Perhaps you had better knock off, Miss Barton," he began. "You must be a fright from that hat. It was Dr. Rodney Hill—Rodney Hill, by whose side Mala had worked during those most trying days when they parted four months ago, had held Mala's hand in his own and had said Mala that she was the pluckiest girl in the world, and had told her that he didn't know how he was going to get along without her. Mala had not heard times when she had had and confessed herself that in her disappointment there was greater cause for the exhaltation she had felt during these months back in America than was the memory of all the work in France."

Mala didn't intend to take off that mask even then, but once she spoke Rodney Hill knew her, and he had been sent to give any professional aid that she might need during those episodes which had been getting more and more interesting as the afternoon passed.

He was holding her hand again and telling her that she was the pluckiest girl in the world, and had told her that he didn't know how he was going to get along without her. Mala had not heard times when she had had and confessed herself that in her disappointment there was greater cause for the exhaltation she had felt during these months back in America than was the memory of all the work in France."

"I don't know you were one of those people—money and society and all that sort of thing," he told her. "And I never dreamed that you were—"

she said. "You never seemed like these Woodmere people or that you knew girls like Alicia Barton." "But I'm not, and I don't," protested Rodney. "You see, when I got back from France I'd rather lost my grip, I had just finished medical college when I was in shape to put up the fight that would be necessary to start in on my own. Then I got in touch with these millionaire Dorkines, who wanted a resident doctor for the summer to look after old Dorkine's gout and Grand-ma Dorkine's bad temper. Well, to tell the truth, it was because of the fat salary that went with it that I accepted it for the summer."

"I wanted to make sure I had enough to keep the pot boiling for a year, and then I was going to look you up and ask you whether you'd help me to start. I wanted to tell you back there in France that night when we left, but I knew we had both been through too much to think of ourselves then. Besides, I wanted to have a home to offer you when I asked you. Mala, dear—"

"Ten minutes is up," called out the cheerful barker outside, and then: "This way to see the greatest gypsy in the world. Learn your past and know your future!"

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WALL PAPER FOR KIDDIES' ROOM SHOULD BE CAREFULLY CHOSEN

Illustrated Nursery Rhymes and Animal Cut-Outs Are Often Used With Effect.

The time was not long since when no special attention was given to the rooms occupied by children. Indeed, a "children's room" was unknown, since children shared the rooms of the grown-ups, or seldom had a "all their own."

And such rooms were generally filled with cast-off furniture of other rooms, and no special decoration attempted from the point of view of the child's interest.

But today the new psychology has greatly influenced the surroundings and fittings of the child. Montessori, and other modern teachers have proved that the child is most susceptible to the influence of its environment, and that it unconsciously is molded by the form and objects which form its background.

So has arisen a great interest in the color and treatment of the child's playroom.

Sense and Reason in Treatment. Many decorators have run to the extreme with this new idea, and as a result we have "pink and blue" rooms of great elaborateness with extravagant hangings to match, which are offered to the child of wealth.

Such papers come in the form of friezes or a border around the room, or which may have the individual figures cut out, and pasted on a one-color background.

By using a roll of paper a pretty effect and variety may be secured.

Again, what is the child's eye level? Why do so many make the mistake of placing such figures away up near the ceiling where the child cannot possibly see them and where the full force of color and outline is lost?

Note Child's Height. A better plan is to place each figure at a height just above the child's head, where it can stand and look intently at them and talk to them as if they were animate.

One pretty room I saw which carried out this idea had a buff paper both below and above this frieze of characters, which was at a height of three feet from the floor, just above the line of window seat, where the child sat and read and played.

It cannot be over-emphasized in using cut-outs to avoid the monotony of repeating the same figure. No matter how much the child likes "Little Boy Blue," his eyes will become tired if he sees rows and rows of the same cut around the room.

Better to have "Mary, Mary," "Little Boy Blue," "Mary, Mary," and "Old Mother Hubbard" and one or two geese, each of which will become a real figure to the child's imagination.

Bird and Animal Cut-Outs. Other interests of the child are, of course, animals and birds. So that naturally a room with these as features is both bright and familiar.

These cut-outs may be obtained from special wall papers. Or another plan is to use plain one-toned paper, as tan, grey, buff, light green, for a background, and show the child himself cut out such pictures as he would like to see.

There are to be found in toy stores or at kindergarten supply houses sets of birds, animals, etc., in colors, about 8 to 12 inches high, which form excellent series for this treatment.

If it is not desired to paste them they may be carefully applied with small thumb tacks, and the child may be especially to the child of ten and over, whose creative taste likes to see their own designs.

Rooms for an Older Boy or Girl. When a child becomes about ten years his sex at once is apparent in his divergent tastes. Previously both boys and girls were satisfied with "child" toys and surroundings, while now the boy becomes a BOY and the girl becomes a GIRL.

If a room is used solely by a boy a different problem arises than if it is a common nursery. If it is also the boy's bedroom, then any simple, neat stripe or small pattern paper in harmony with simple curtains may be used.

If it is a kind of a "den," then a plain paper may be used on which the boy can pin or hang his school flags, his photos, trophies, etc., which become all so important at this age.

If the room is henceforth to be exclusively for a little girl, then it may be decorated with a feminine paper in light tones of pink, blue, lavender, etc. Perhaps the child has small furniture of white enamel or birdseye. Then the paper should be chosen with relation to these pieces.

Policewomen in helmets. New style of helmets worn by the policewomen in London, England.

for the lower walling. Then above select tan or buff or a light warm green. Run a moulding at about four to five feet from the floor. Now use this moulding as a rest from which to display small curios. Even a very narrow "plate-rail" will be useful.

Let Child Make Frieze. Allow the child to paste or tack above this moulding dried leaves, bird's nests, coconuts, quartz, shells, etc. One beautiful frieze in a room of a boy, who was a Boy Scout, was made by drying the sprays of leaves of different native trees, treating them with shellac, and tacking them to the moulding, in a pretty design. This lasted for several months.

Amazing Child Authoress

An English publisher has just brought out a new novel, the sole production of a child authoress nine years of age, and the remarkable thing about this book is that the public is reading it with greedy interest.

It is a story of the life of a child, and the remarkable thing about this book is that the public is reading it with greedy interest. It is a story of the life of a child, and the remarkable thing about this book is that the public is reading it with greedy interest.

The courtship of the hero and heroine, as told by the writer, is absolutely delicious, and only vies in interest with the court life of the uncouth gentleman of 42, who pays some very telling scenes (no doubt enormous in the eyes of the juvenile writer) to be instructed in the ways of society by a member of the nobility.

Undoubtedly the large majority of readers will find interest in this book because of the unconscious humor which it affords. In other words, the readers will take delight in laughing at the engaging child author.

Yet deep within its pages is something altogether sacred—the universal outlook of a child upon the grown-up world around it, put down upon paper, by one who had the ability to express it so.

To the child the writing of that novel was a altogether serious in the book, will never find the best that is in it. For there are no absurdities there. It is all real.

Too often in this world made for the grown people do we overlook the fact that the child is living in an altogether different world. His sorrows and tragedies are just as large to him as do ours to us.

When he weeps over the loss of a tin soldier, why should we bodily order him to stop his sorrowing. What's "only a bit of tin" to us is a dear old friend to the child, and his sorrow is just as genuine as our sorrow at the death of a comrade.

Baby gift of a faded bunch of dandelions comes with as much love as any sheaf of American Beauties, and yet how often it is met with a rebuff. "O, take those dirty weeds away and don't stain your dress!"

Perhaps crossly command, little realizing that we are refusing a gift of love and wounding a baby's heart.

Oh, if we could only catch the spirit of that little child's book and learn the art of getting the other fellow's viewpoint before we come down so emphatically with our "don'ts" and "shall nots," this old world would be a much happier place to live in, both for grown-ups and children.—ROSALYNDE.

seen. And yet this young girl is lonely! There are very few young people in the town where she lives, and no young men at all to speak of, except the station agent and the butcher's boy.

She knows young men in town, and several times they have asked her to the theatre or to dinner in restaurants or to little parties and she went and had a lovely time.

Invite Her Friends. She knows young men in town, and several times they have asked her to the theatre or to dinner in restaurants or to little parties and she went and had a lovely time.

Choose a plain wall-paper for this treatment. Above all, do not forget the child's room and its treatment. What that shall be depends on the age and the interests of the child.

Do this just once, and daughter will be the most popular girl at the office. Everybody will be fishing for an invitation.

Give Her a Chance. Trouble? Of course this will be trouble. It will be trouble if your girl runs away with the butcher's boy, too, won't it?

Begin planning for these week-end parties of two or three, daughter's you'll just begin to live when they begin.

HOW TO MAKE RABBIT SOUP

Soak a rabbit in cold salted water for half an hour, then wipe it with a cloth and cut it into joints. Fry two sliced onions in a tablespoonful of dripping.

Advertiser Patterns

A SIMPLE, BUT PRETTY FROCK. This makes a good, comfortable school dress, nice for gingham, seersucker, percale, lawn, repp, poplin, and other summer fabrics.

Bring your own partner. That is how London (England) hostesses are evading the shortage of male dancers. The chaperon is a thing of the past, and today the skilled dance partner takes her place.

There are no "elderly matrons." Young and old have caught the jazz epidemic, and the elderly matron has developed into a bobbed-haired, jaunty devotee of Terpsichore.

Present customs have their disadvantages. No girl can accept an invitation if she has no partner to accompany her.

I know a girl who lives at home and she has a nice home, too. Comfy, and plenty of room in it—just think of that!

There's a mother in the home, too—a good, loving, devoted mother—there are two aunts, and a capable old servant woman who has been in the family for thirty years.

There's a dog in the home where this nice girl lives, and there are two cats, Ebenezer and Melchisedec. And there's an old-fashioned kitchen and an old-fashioned pantry, and good things to eat in the pantry.

Quite a busy life, that's plain to be seen. And yet this young girl is lonely! There are very few young people in the town where she lives, and no young men at all to speak of, except the station agent and the butcher's boy.

TECUMSEHS SLUG WAY TO A PAIR OF VICTORIES

Stewart's Team Makes It Six Straight by Winning Double-Header From Flint—Scores Were 12 to 5 and 9 to 5.

(By Bert B. Perry.) "Dad" Stewart's London Tecumsehs went out and batted two games from Flint at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon. This makes the sixth straight win for the Tecumsehs, and there is a feeling in this section that Stewart has something of a ball club. The scores were 12 to 5 and 9 to 5. They were free-hitting affairs, with the local hands doing most of the clotting, especially when the blows were needed. Flint made desperate efforts in both games to squelch the aspirations of the Londoners, but whenever the visitors came within hailing distance, the locals went right out and zapped up the contest for keeps.

JUDGES DECIDE MARION DALE WINS THE TAVERN STAKE

Third Mile Was a Dead Heat, But Judges Reversed Ruling—Only Three Events.

CLEVELAND, July 10.—Only three of the scheduled six Grand Circuit races were decided at North Randall today because of a heavy rainstorm which delayed the start of the first race nearly four hours. As a result it was announced that the meeting would continue on Saturday. Despite the unfavorable weather, another record crowd was on hand.

Marion Dale, third choice in the betting, won the Tavern stake of $5,000 for 2:14 trotters. The feature of the program, after deciding the third mile of this event a dead heat between Marion Dale and Lockport, the judges reversed their ruling and gave the classic to Marion Dale because he stood first in the summary. Inter-Club League Decides to Split Season's Schedule

Manhattans and Orientals Play Saturday to Decide Winner of First Series.

At a meeting of the Inter-Club League held in the Orient Club rooms it was decided to divide the season into two series, the first series ending with last Saturday's game and the second series beginning with the first two heats of the Orientals and Manhattans tie for first place.

Saturday afternoon's game will be for the championship of the first series between the Orientals and Manhattans, and it promises to be the best yet. The Yankies will likely oppose either Kekoa, the Manhattans' star trotter, or "Goldie" Proctor.

The game will be staged at Springfield Park at 8 p.m. The game will be staged at Springfield Park at 8 p.m. The game will be staged at Springfield Park at 8 p.m.

LOOKING THEM OVER

BY BERT B. PERRY. The Tecumsehs covered up yesterday for the beatings Flint handed out when they were here last. Plus, the Flint needs sacker, got some hard knocks yesterday. But they were not base hits. He was a regular target for hard hit balls and they were hitting him all over the anatomy. He and a doctor had to be called, but Plus the second game, Flint got hit by the ribs with a fast one. Guess he's pretty black and blue now.

Trefry is the pick of the Flint Club. Just why Trefry has him in the lead-off position is hard to understand. Trefry is a clean-up hitter on his showing here.

Wetzel made a great catch of Fernando long fly to right in the second game. There were three on base and drove home good for a couple of bases at least when Wetzel stuck out his glove hand and grabbed it in.

It isn't often "Dad" Stewart drops a fly, but he had an error on one yesterday. The wind got the ball and "Dad" had to run it in. He managed to spear it, but in running he struck his arm with his knee and knocked the ball out of his hand.

Stewart is a great man at bat when there is any hope of a sacrifice. He always comes through with some kind of a hit.

Pittenger hurt his throwing arm yesterday in the second game, when he was hit by a pitched ball. Pitt took a swing at the ball and it hit him. He was called out, as it was on the third strike.

It is pretty near time the London Club owners begin naming a Ladies Day. In past seasons when the old Canadian League was playing here, it was a courtesy of the London Club to set aside a day each week on which ladies would be admitted to the park and the clubs in the league have a Ladies Day, and the local directors should name one here. There are six good supporters of the Tecumsehs.

SUNBURN POINTER WINS BIG STAKE AT SAGINAW MEET

Driver Harry Gray Had a Big Day, Winning Two Out of Three Races.

SAGINAW, July 10.—Driver Harry Gray enjoyed a big day at Saginaw's short-ship meeting today, when he put Sunburn Pointer on a winner in the 2:14 pacing stake for $1,000. It was the fifth straight time Gray has headed the summary in this event in the five weeks racing on the Michigan circuit.

Sunburn Pointer was the first prohibitive favorite of the week to reward his backers. There was nothing to it but Sunburn Pointer in straight heats. David E. winning second money by finishing second in the final heat after a nice drive.

Gray had a second choice, Silcock, in the 2:19 trot, but he trimmed the favorite, Lady Bird, handily in straight heats. The judges unseated Bowly and put Vic Fleming up behind Lady Bird in the third heat. Bowly also finished second, but it made no difference. Abu Taieb, also driven by Gray, was a strong favorite in the 2:15 trot, but he was out of the race after finishing second in the final heat after a nice drive.

Queer Slump of Babe Ruth's Has Sent Boston Red Sox Down

Noted Pitcher and Home-Run Hitter Is Having Poor Season, and Fans Cannot Account For It.

What is the matter with Babe Ruth? They ask it in the ball parks, on the streets and in the homes. Seems funny that walloping sweater, dandy outfielder and corking good pitcher, who started the season by hammering out home runs almost every trip to the plate, should bat only .159 in his first 19 games.

Yet it is a fact. Babe hasn't been doing much. He's losing games when Ed Barrow sends him to the plate, and he keeps him from making long throws from the outfield. And at the plate the opposing pitchers have his number.

Hurts the Red Sox. It looks bad for the Red Sox when Babe is not in shape. In fact, they dropped nearly every game after he began to slip fast.

The home run king, the seventh wonder of hitters, the star pitcher and all-around handy man for Boston is at present in the dub class.

Some say temperament did it—that he couldn't get along with Barrow. Well, Babe admits he and Barrow have quarreled, but he says that isn't the reason.

Injury the Cause. The real reason—and take Babe's word for it—is a peculiar injury to his throwing arm, sustained in a game in which Babe played left and had occasion to make a long throw to the plate.

Now Babe is almost useless as a pitcher and not as a batter. His arm won't permit nine innings of hurling and it won't permit him to hit a high ball.

Babe Likes Low Ones. He can still hit the low ones—he'll knock them out of the park—and it doesn't hurt a bit. But it is mighty painful to strike at "high" balls.

THE PITCHERS KNOW IT AND SMILE. They're dishin' up lots of high balls.

As soon as Babe's arm rounds to he'll be back in a winning stride again and the Sox again will be formidable as American League title contenders. In the meantime the doctors are working on the arm and Ed Barrow is praying.

RESULTS OF CRICKET MATCHES IN LONDON

London, July 11.—Cricket games during the past week have resulted as follows:

Oxford University beat Cambridge by 45 runs, Oxford scoring 387 and 155, Cambridge 230 and 220 (Howell 170 for Oxford, first innings); Yorkshire beat Essex, Waddington taking nine Essex wickets for 65; Somerset drew with Worcestershire, the former making 172 and 240, and the latter 203 and 149 for eight wickets; Hampshire and Surrey drew, Surrey declaring at 379, Duce making 271, Hayes 153, Hampshire score being 315 and 289.

3 CANADIANS WIN AT BISLEY. BISLEY, July 10.—(Canadian Associated Press)—In the sportsmanlike competition, ten shots at 200 yards, Major Ditton of Toronto was second, with 47 points, winning fifteen dollars; Lieut. Vincent, Winnipeg, third, winning ten dollars, and Major Mortimer, Ottawa, twelfth, winning five dollars.

AUSTRIAN PINCHED; WILL BE BROUGHT BACK TO WOODSTOCK

Martin Gordasch Alleged to Have Run Away With a Beachville Woman.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, July 10.—Martin Gordasch, an Austrian, was arrested in Carleton Place yesterday on orders of the local police, and County Constable Fred Hill left for there today to bring the man back.

On the 1st of July Gordasch, who was employed at the Beachville quarries, is alleged, left the village accompanied by Mrs. Medvidik, the wife of another employee of the quarries, and her three children. Mavdika also alleged that $200 he had in the house also disappeared. It is alleged, drove to Ingersoll and took the train for London, Gordasch had received permission from the Ingersoll police to go to Windsor.

Evidently he doubled back after getting to London. The Carleton Place chief "got wise" to the runaway's presence in that town Sunday, and on Monday, when it is alleged, they were preparing to set up house, had the man arrested. The husband of the woman was in the city today, and he is anxious to have Gordasch brought to justice.

Courier Bringing All Important Ratification

PARIS, July 10.—The official text of the German national Assembly's ratification of the peace treaty will arrive here shortly by a special courier from Weimar, Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German mission, today announced in a note to Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference.

Baron von Lersner therefore asked that the blockade against Germany be raised, and that prisoners of war be liberated as soon as possible.

With the Trotters and Pacers

Local harness horse enthusiasts will remember the bay racing stallion, Grat-tan Royal, that Nat Ray raced on the ice a few winters back as that horse was regarded the speediest side-wheeler ever seen on sharp shoes. He is the only horse that ever paced a quarter in 30 seconds on real ice over a two-lap track. This he did at Dufferin Park, Toronto, according to a dozen expert clockers. He was a full-knee, but is now looming up as a most successful sire of pacers.

This year, three of his get are already cutting a wide swath in the early half-mile track meetings, the geldings, Roy Grattan, 2:07 1/2, and Freddie Grattan, 2:11 1/2, and the mare, Louie Grattan, 2:08 1/2.

Roy Grattan is owned by Richard Trench, Teeswater, Ont., who formerly owned the lanky pacer, Paddy R., 2:10 1/2 (ice record) that was a very classy side-wheeler before he met with an accident that put him out of commission.

Freddie Grattan is in Nat Ray's stable, and is racing successfully over in Ohio, where he has already connected with the long end of a couple of purses.

Louie Grattan is owned by John Mc-Irvine of Galt, and according to some experts, is the fastest of the trio. Mr. Mc-Irvine paid $3,000 for her as a green three-year-old, two years ago, and although that seemed a big figure at the time, his good judgment has been fully sustained by the filly's subsequent races. She is now a five-year-old, and in the hands of Vic Fleming is making turf history in Michigan. Private advice from over there say that Louie Grattan is right now close to a two-minute pacer on a mile track.

THISTLE CLUB WINS MATCH WITH ELMWOODS

Four rinks of Thistle Club bowlers paid a visit to the Elmwood greens last night and in the games that followed were up 8 shots on the total. Both clubs won two games, but the Thistles made the largest scores. The Thistles:

H. Leckey, Elmwoods, H. Scheiding, A. M. Hunt, R. Tretlowey, F. Forster, C. Smallman, C. E. Spiran, W. N. Allen, sk. 14, H. C. Bulpit, P. Walsh, Geo. Upshall, Cy. Eddy, J. S. Bell, H. J. McCallum 23, A. Gunther, sk. 13, T. Hanson, Ed. J. Grant, R. W. Youngs, J. A. Buchanan, W. V. Scott, F. E. Brown, sk. 23, J. T. Doherty, J. Drummond, V. Robinson, Lorne Spry, C. H. Gordon, G. MINORS SEVER ALL CONNECTIONS WITH THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Big Clubs Won't Be Allowed to Draft Players or Settle Bush League Disputes.

CHICAGO, July 10.—All relations between the major and minor baseball leagues were definitely broken off at a meeting today of a committee representing the National Association of Minor Leagues. The committee adopted resolutions ratifying the action taken at the joint meeting with the major leagues in New York last January, when the national agreement was abandoned. The minor leagues will operate independently of the major leagues, and will attempt to settle all disputes within their own organization instead of appealing to the national commission for final decision or review of any case.

The action of the minor league committee means that the major leagues will not be permitted to draft players this fall. Contracts and territorial rights, however, will be respected.

FULLARTON STARS ON TOP OF SOUTH PERTH LEAGUE

By beating Salem by the score of 9 to 1, Fullarton Stars are in top place in the standing of the South Perth Baseball League. A feature of the game was the splendid work of Woodley in the box for Fullarton, and the good support he received. Berry, the Salem pitcher, was inclined to be wild. The score:

Fullarton 640 023 000—9 11 3 Salem 000 000 001—1 4 3 Batteries: Woodley and Haines; Berry and Berry.

SHORTER HOURS WITH INCREASED PAY FOR GUELPH MOLDERS

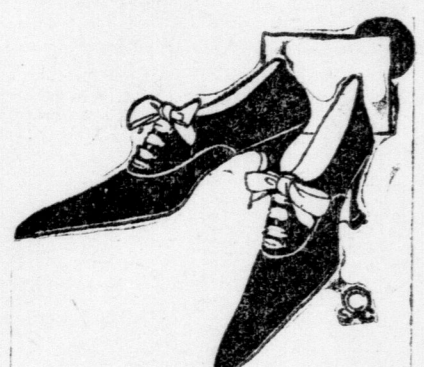

Eight-Hour Day Now Established in Union Shops After Month's Negotiations.

GUELPH, July 10.—After carrying on negotiations for over a month, Guelph International Iron Molders' Union, No. 212, has succeeded in establishing an eight-hour day in two of the large iron shops in the city. With the eight-hour day, which went into effect this morning, comes an increase in wages to $3.75 per day, to date back from July 1. The negotiations throughout were peaceful, and the local union officials were assisted by International Vice-president J. S. Barnett of Cincinnati. The two shops that signed up are Crowe's Iron Works and Griffin's Foundry, and it was stated today that the other union shops in the city were likely to sign up this week.

At a largely attended meeting of the union last night, votes of thanks were tendered Vice-President Barnett, the local committee on negotiations, and the corresponding representative. The announcement was also made that piece-workers' wages were arranged on a basis of $3.50 per day and over. The agreement just signed will run for one year, from July 1, 1919, to July 1, 1920. The $3.75 per day wage is the minimum, and the union binds itself to produce as much work in eight hours as in the former nine-hour day.

ORANGEMEN TO CELEBRATE. RIDGETOWN, July 10.—Everything is now in readiness for the big Orange celebration here on Saturday, July 12, when Essex, Kent, Lambton and Elgin Orangemen will meet in one large body. A procession will be formed at 1 o'clock, and after marching through some of the principal streets, will go to Victoria Park, where a platform has been erected, from which speeches will be delivered. In the forenoon a program of sports, in which both old and young can take part, will be carried out on main street. Two games of ball will be played between teams from St. Thomas and Ridgetown.

PIRATES' HOARD IS FOUND ON ESTATE OF ARTHUR BALFOUR

Silver Plate Buried Centuries Ago by Vikings.

EDINBURGH, July 9.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A hoard of battered silver plate, dating back to the fourth century, has been found on the estate near here of the British foreign minister, A. J. Balfour. It is described as one of the most remarkable archaeological discoveries ever made in Northern Europe. Mr. Balfour had agreed with the excavators that all finds should become the property of the nation, and the silver vessels have been transferred to the Queen street museum in this city. The silver is said to be exceptionally pure.

The site of the discovery is known as Traprain Law. It was once a fortified area, which covers sixty acres and gives evidence of occupation at intervals during the first four centuries of the Christian era. It is believed to have been at one time the site of a Celtic settlement under Roman rule. Its latest inhabitants are thought to have been sixteenth century pirates.

Excavators for the Queen street museum struck a small pit which was filled to the brim with battered silver vessels and a few coins of the Emperors Valens and Gratian. The vessels were crushed and distorted, indicating that they were regarded as booty and intended for the melting pot. They include basins, chalices, platters, bowls and spoons. On them can be deciphered Christian symbols, such as Chi-Rho, Alpha, Omega and Iesou Christy. Scenes portrayed in relief are mainly from Bible history.

church or from a number of different places. Some of the silver is gilded, some enameled, and some inlaid with gold.

USE PRINT WRITING INSTEAD OF SCRIPT URGED IN ENGLAND

Considered Better For Commercial Purposes Than Present System.

LONDON, June 17.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—To abolish script writing and replace it by print writing is the purpose of an influential movement begun in this country. Advocates of the change contend that the present system fails to stand the test of commercial life in England, and causes a great loss of time and labor.

The characters used in the proposed system are the ordinary printed letters, known as Roman block letters, with the exception of the "a" and "c," which are simplified into their script forms. This print characters were employed by monks long before script writing came into fashion, and can still be seen in ancient manuscripts, from which, in fact, they were first copied by the printer.

THE HOUSEKEEPERS' BUYING GUIDE

Our Consumers' League

BY ISABEL C. ARMSTRONG.

"Even a Pig Would Protest"

Such is the Verdict of Two London Farmerettes in Regard to Conditions Which They Experienced When Rendering National Service Last Fall—Their Letter, Published Herewith, Tells How They Think They Were Exploited.

"Two Farmerettes" have asked that their experience of last fall in rendering national service on a fruit farm be published, because they believe that experiences similar to their own are responsible for the fact that there is difficulty this year in getting girls to pick fruit and render other farm services. Accompanying the letter for publication is a personal one to the editor, signed with their own names, in which they state that they have tried to make clear that it was not the amount of the remuneration with which they found fault, but the unbusinesslike handling imposed in the way of living conditions. They add that, while they prefer that their names should not be published, they are quite willing to be interviewed on the subject by letter or telephone by anyone whom the editor considers it wise to trust with their names and addresses.

THE LETTER.

LONDON, July 7, 1919.
Dear Editor Consumers' League: We have read with much interest the interview with Miss Crimmon which appeared in your Consumers' League page last Friday.

We are keenly interested in the experiences of other girls who have rendered patriotic service doing farm work, having enlisted ourselves for the purpose last summer.

We know something of hardships encountered, and have no objections to these, so long as they are legitimate hardships. Our experience, however, has given us an idea why it is reported there is difficulty this year in getting girls to supply the demand for farm help.

When we offered our services last year, it was not with any idea of making money. We were impelled by patriotic motives to do our part at home, even as our brothers were doing their part to win the war overseas. We wanted to be fighting with and for them, and we were willing to work hard and cheerfully.

"NO HIRED MAN WOULD STAND IT."

But we did not anticipate living conditions with which no hired man would put up, conditions against which even a pig would be justified in protesting.

To begin with, when we arrived we found there was no proper head for the camp, which had been running for several weeks. There was neither chaperonage nor protection for the girls in the camp of tents, situated a distance from the house.

On our arrival in the evening we were ushered to a tent where departing farmerettes had left old shoes and discarded garments they didn't consider fit to take away.

We must state that this was POSITIVELY NOT A Y. W. C. A. supervised camp, though we were sent there by a government "agency." Though it was September, and raw and cold, wet weather, there was no floor in our tent, which had been used all summer.

CRIPPLED COTS.

Our sleeping accommodation consisted of five-foot canvas cots, crippled ones at that, the canvas stretching a few inches above the damp ground.

We had taken our own blankets, but had not been warned to take mattresses and pillows. The first night we had to borrow a candle from the cook, as we did not know we were required to bring our own candles.

The tent was located right next to the cook-house, and the side of the cook-house had been soaked with rain and did not get a chance to dry. We were nauseated by the musty odor which we noticed immediately back of the tent was a stagnant ditch, intended to carry off the rain-water from the cook-house.

To add to our joy, we were warned not to lift the damp flap of the tent to dry it, because that was where the snakes came in.

One of the first things that struck me was the smell of the camp, on a small strip of grass. We stepped right off that into deep clay.

A PLAGUE OF FLIES.

After our first meal we could thoroughly sympathize with Pharaoh in his plague of flies. It was necessary to wage warfare with a whole battalion of flies for every bite of food.

If we had gone to the trenches in France we would have expected such conditions. But we knew enough of farm life to thoroughly understand that hired men would never put up with conditions like this.

When it came to pay, we found that our employer, like a number of the profiteers exposed in the recent investigations, was within his rights. However, now this does not say, however, that he was not taking advantage of the war situation. The profiteers of our kind are girls eager to defeat the Kaiser by saving the fruit crop.

Profiteers in the war weren't the heads of packing, milling and cold storage companies. Possibly the profiteers of our kind were exceptional. We concede that probably the trouble in large measure was due to the fact that the camp lacked proper supervision. But we certainly wouldn't consider it fair to expect the girls to do the work of a hired man, for the pay we received, in normal times, unless the conditions were vastly different from those imposed upon us.

As we stated before, we were willing to render good, hard service, and do so with all our heart and might, but even in war time we didn't enjoy being exploited.

Fine Holidays For Thin Purses

"I'm going traveling," smilingly announced Miss Dorothy the other day as she appeared on the scene with a bundle of festive-looking summer trip and summer resort guide books, pamphlets and folders under her arm.

"Where are you going?" chimed a chorus of curious voices.

"I don't know," was the reply. "That is the interesting part of it. There are so many places to choose. I have literature here (patting her bundle) to tell me about practically every kind of a place to go to and stay at from the Maritime Provinces to Vancouver Island, down the St. Lawrence, up the Saguenay, mountain resorts in Quebec, camping grounds in the Highlands of Ontario, alluring places to stop at, Muskoka, water resorts along the Great Lakes, boat trips, motor trips, trips that would take me three times as long as I can afford."

THOSE SUITABLE CLOTHES!

"One folder here is perfectly fascinating. Tells all about the most wonderful camping grounds in the Highlands of Ontario, alluring places to stop at, Muskoka, water resorts along the Great Lakes, boat trips, motor trips, trips that would take me three times as long as I can afford."

"Where in the world are you getting the money and how can you possibly go on these trips?" again chorused the feminine voices, this time tinged with envy.

"It hasn't cost me any money yet," laughed Miss Dorothy, "and my journeys haven't a single drawback to mar them. You see, I really haven't made up my mind to go to a single one of these places yet, but I'm having a very amusing time reading about them and imagining I am there."

"In imagination, I have the ideal clothes for each occasion and, just being dream clothes, of course, nothing spoils them. Then, I feel so intelligent, so well up on geography and history after reading all these folders."

"Of course, it is possible and even probable I will go to one of these places I am reading about, or take in one of the trips. I'm in a position to give all kinds of advice to people planning summer outings, and that always makes one feel sort of exalted and superior. In any case, I'm following that early-in-the-war injunction to "be prepared."

"My holidays do not begin for another month, and I have been studying guide books for nearly three weeks." "Above the most interesting summer I ever remember," upspoke a member of the feminine chorus, "was the one I was convalescing after an operation for appendicitis. It took me a long time to get strong, and I used to spend hours reading the summer outing advertisements in newspapers and magazines. The ones that appealed to me especially were the advertisements that had pictures of observation cars running through wonderful scenery, used always to imagine myself sitting on the back of those cars, speeding along, drinking in the beauty. I suppose that notion appealed to me because I was obliged to keep so still."

"Sometimes I sat on the deck of a steamer looking out on island-dotted blue waters. There was never roughness nor rain. After a while, I was able to lie outdoors in a hammock and get all the fresh air I wanted. It was more realistic than ever, reading the advertisements there and looking at the pictures. Of course, I read lots of other things, too, read the things I'd been wanting to read about all my life before and never got a chance."

FRESH AIR WHILE YOU SLEEP.

"I can't get away this year at all, but I'm trying to get the best I can out of the summer," said a second member of the chorus.

"When the weather got so hot in June that I just ached for fresh breezes and bathing in a lake, I suddenly remembered an old stretcher in the attic. 'We have an upstairs back porch that in the past we have only used for airing bedding and shaking rugs. This proved to be a little longer than the stretcher, so I fitted up a bed there and took out a screen to place where it would shut off the view from the only neighboring window that overlooked the porch."

"It was the close of one of the hottest June days when I decided to make my first experiment in sleeping in the open. It wasn't very long until I was obliged to pull a coverlet over me, and you can't imagine how deliciously sweet and cool the air felt or how soothing it was to hear the murmur of the leaves and occasional chirp of a bird or cricket."

THOUGHT IT WAS THE SUN.

"After while I wakened up with a start. I thought it was daylight. In a minute I realized that the moon had risen and was flooding the porch and backyard with light. That made things more interesting than ever. The first morning it wakened me, so I slipped into the house and finished my sleep in my own room, which was quite cool by that time. You can't begin to imagine how much more refreshed you feel when you awaken in the morning after sleeping all night outdoors. After the second or third night the sun didn't trouble me in the morning at all. But I found I could get up an hour earlier than I had been accustomed to and feel wide awake and alert. I like it so much that I am threatening to have a sleeping bag made when the weather gets cold and still continue to get the fresh air and a night's rest at the same time."

COUNT HOHENZOLLERN IS GREATLY DEJECTED BY ALLIES' DEMAND

None Could Approach Him For Several Hours.

AGITATED FOR WHOLE DAY

Then Throws Himself Into His Wood-Sawing With Fearful Energy.

Amerongen, June 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The former German Emperor displayed marked irritation after reading the clause of the peace treaty in which the Allies announced their intention of putting him on trial on charges of violation of international morality and of the sanctity of treaties. For several hours after he had read the clause no one at the castle of Amerongen had the courage to approach him. He sat in a chair before the main entrance to the castle entirely alone and apparently in deep thought while the former empress, Auguste Victoria, and the members of his suite walked in the rear, occasionally glancing in his direction.

State of Agitation.
Next day he seemed to be in a state of nervous agitation, and he frequently ceased his sawing and walked away, leaving those who assist him to continue the work alone. Later, however, he resumed with increased energy, so much so that one of his assistants was forced to take to his heels in order to avoid being struck by the saw. Subsequently the dull life at the castle resumed its ordinary dullness, and since the first display of annoyance, Count Hohenzollern has shown few signs of being much affected by the conditions of the peace treaty.

The former emperor has seen his 4,000th log, and it is asserted by some of his retainers that he intends to bring the number up to 10,000. The logs which now form a large heap are placed in piles to dry in preparation for use as fuel in the castle next winter.

MILITARY RULE IS OBSTACLE TO PEACE AMONG THE KOREANS

Establishment of Civil Government Necessary.

HOW MASSACRE OCCURRED

Gendarmerie Inflamed Young Troops With Exaggerated Story.

Tokio, June 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—That all aspects of military rule should be completely banished from Korea is the opinion of representative Japanese. This only, they say, can Japan hope to re-establish peace and order among the Korean people.

It is generally admitted here that the disaffection is not removed, but merely quiescent, ready to burst forth anew once the existing military pressure is removed.

Installation of a civilian Government and removal of the present gendarmerie police system are believed here to be necessary. The gendarmes are held responsible for cases of brutality and mistreatment, the soldiers being only responsible, it is declared, for the killing of Koreans in the Christian Church at Cheam-ni.

Massacre of People.
In this case, says the Herald of Asia, a Japanese policeman had been murdered and his body mutilated. The exaggerated story says the newspaper, and the young troops joined the gendarmes in a massacre of the people.

Once the gendarmerie method of policing the peninsula is removed, and the people given more local autonomy, such as the villages of Japan enjoy, the newspaper thinks the Koreans may see that their best interests lie in the peaceful acceptance of things as they are.

Responsible organs of opinion here favor making Korea a local autonomy, an integral part of the Japanese Empire, but already is territorially, Korea, they say, with a civil government and a province of Japan, and the Japanese Diet.

But before this is possible, the newspaper thinks, the Koreans must show through the necessary education and enlightenment themselves prepared for self-government.

NEW CLOTHING PLANT STARTS AT HENSALL

HENSALL, July 10.—The annual Sunday school picnic of St. Paul's Church was held at Bayfield on Tuesday. There was a good attendance and a pleasant time.

The Jackson Clothing Company opened up their factory here this week and have a number of hands busy engaged operating their machines, run by hydro, and expect to have many more hands in the near future. This is one of Hensall's new industries.

The farmers in this section are well thought of by having and the crop is a good one, and a number have already cut their fall wheat, which is also good.

Andrew Wood, a former township of Usborne boy, but now a prosperous farmer and rancher at High River, Alberta, is visiting John and Watson Wood, his cousins.

Church services will be held in Carleton Place on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Tough is to supply for a month. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. McConnell, is now improving nicely. He was better some weeks ago, but in attempting to attend to some pastoral duties overcame his strength and suffered a relapse.

THE EAST AND WEST BROUGHT CLOSER TOGETHER.
Western Canada and the Pacific Coast have now been brought together quicker than ever before by the Trans-Canada Railway, the new popular all-seeing car train operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Toronto and Montreal to Vancouver. It makes the fastest time between terminals of any transcontinental train in America. Leaving Toronto at 7:15 p.m. daily, it reaches Montreal in 26 hours, Winnipeg in 28, Regina in 50, Calgary in 64, and Vancouver in 90. By this means a business day is saved—great convenience to the large number of businessmen who travel between Eastern and Western Canada. Leaving Toronto on the evening of Monday, for instance, it is possible to spend a full business day in Winnipeg, and be back in Toronto by Friday afternoon. Tourists to the famous resorts of the Canadian Pacific at Banff, Lake Louise, Glacier, Vancouver and Victoria will also find this train particularly convenient. It consists of standard sleeping cars, dining car, and observation car, and sleeping car passengers only are carried. Further particulars from Canadian Pacific ticket agents or W. B. Howard, district passenger agent, Toronto.

TACOMA WOMAN GAINS 25 POUNDS

Mrs. Perry Will Praise Tanlac for the Remainder of Her Life, She Says.

"I will certainly praise Tanlac the remainder of my life," said Mrs. George Perry, residing at 1920 North Stevens street, Tacoma, Wash., recently, "for the medicine has really and truly made me feel like a new woman, and in just about two months' time after I began taking it, my weight had increased 25 pounds."

"Seven or eight years ago," she continued, "my stomach began to act in a very peculiar manner. Things I had always been eating failed to agree with me, and I had no relish for my food any more. Then my appetite left me entirely, and what I ate seemed to do me harm instead of good, as I would bloat up so with sour gas that I was miserable all the time. My whole body, even to my face, would bloat terribly, and this gas would press on my heart, causing it to jump and palpitate fearfully. I suffered so with shortness of breath that I could not walk a block without having to stop several times to get my breath, and was completely exhausted by the time I had walked that far. I felt absolutely worn out all the time, and I did very little work, being physically unable to do much, and was so nervous and restless that I would lay awake night after night. My eyes just seemed to be propped open—and there was no sleep for me. I often had raging headaches, my kidneys were in bad shape, too, and there was such awful cutting pains in my back that I could hardly bend over to put my shoes on. My limbs and feet got so they would often swell until I could not get my shoes on, and sometimes I could not walk at all."

"I was paying out money all the time for treatment and medicine, but only got worse, and at last reached the point where life did not seem worth living. My mother finally persuaded me to take Tanlac, and the results are I am a well and happy woman. My appetite is splendid, and I eat just anything I want at any time without suffering the least bit afterwards. Since the gas has stopped forming on my stomach, I can walk any distance; in fact, I am walking nearly all the time every day, and never suffer any more from palpitation or shortness of breath. I have also gotten entirely rid of the headaches, as well as the pain in my back, and my kidneys are in fine shape. I sleep like a child every night, and I never have that tired feeling any more, although I am going all the time. To put it all in a few words, I was never in better health than I am right now, and words cannot express the gratitude I really feel for what Tanlac has done for me. It has been a God-send to me."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for women's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. Sara Shaw, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years' experience is at your service.

BRITAIN HAS ARMY OF 420,000 MEN ON LATE "WEST FRONT"

There Are Also Over 11,000 British Troops in Italy and a Battalion at Fiume.

LONDON, July 10.—(Reuter dispatch).—Reuter learns, in regard to British forces overseas, that the army on the Rhine numbers 266,000, and the army in France and Flanders 214,000, the latter mainly for salvage work, and also to supply the line of communication for the Rhine army, of which it is to act as reserve in the event of further hostilities.

HUNGARIAN "REDS" MOVING ON VIENNA

Basle, July 10.—Detachments of Hungarian Bolsheviks are penetrating lower Austria, according to advices from Vienna. Nearly five thousand Bolsheviks are concentrated in the region of Altenburg and Neustadt, supposedly with the intention of moving against Vienna and Neustadt.

UKRAINIAN BUREAU FROM VIENNA REPORTS BATTLES IN PROGRESS

VIENNA, July 10.—A great battle is reported to have been in progress for several days in eastern Galicia, between Ukrainians under General Grekow and two Polish armies, according to the Ukrainian press bureau. The Ukrainians, after beating off Polish attacks along the Silesia, Lupa and Narewka Rivers, are reported now to be forcing the Polish forces from Brody, Tarnopol and Stanislaw. The Polish forces are said to contain large contingents withdrawn from the Bolshevik front. Polish and Rumanian divisions under General Zelinski, advancing from Kołomea and Czernowiz, are reported to attacking in the direction of Stanislaw.

Eyes Sore?

If your eyes or lids are sore; if they itch, burn or feel dry; if your vision is blurred, your eyesight dim; if you are obliged to wear glasses, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Dissolve one in a fourth of a glass of water and bathe the eyes from two to four times a day. Sound, comfortable eyes and improved eyesight will make the world look brighter. Note: Doctors say Bon-Opto strengthens eyesight 80% in a week's time in many instances. Standard Drug Stores. Strong's Drug Store.

WINTER FEED GIVES CAUSE FOR WORRY ON PRAIRIE LANDS

Cattle Not Suffering Any Immediate Shortage, Is Assurance.

CALGARY, July 10.—According to Professor Carville, manager of George Lane's field operations, while there will be dire need for immediate action on the part of the Federal and Provincial authorities with regard to the shortage of feed in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the report from Winnipeg this morning that half a million head of cattle were facing starvation is entirely erroneous and misleading. Every stockman in the country realizes the seriousness of the situation, but reports such as these, they feel, will do immeasurable harm. They are circulated through the East and the South, and the general impression goes abroad that stock is dying for want of food, whereas they are for the most part, in a very thrifty condition. What worries the stockmen at the moment is the matter of supplies of hay and green feed for winter use. All seem agreed that there is sufficient pasture in prospect for the remainder of the summer and fall.

ELGINFIELD BARN-RAISING. LUCAN, July 10.—A very large crowd attended the barn-raising on John J. McIlhenny's farm near Elginfield, recently. The framework of the whole barn went together without a single hitch. It was estimated that 500 were present. In the evening a large number enjoyed themselves "stripping the light fantastic" and all enjoyed themselves.

CANADIANS SERVING IN IMPERIAL NAVAL FORCE TO GET BADGE

OTTAWA, July 10.—Canadians who served in the imperial naval service during the war will receive a war badge, provided they fulfill the conditions for the award of this badge to members of the Canadian naval service.

In a statement issued today the department of naval services announces that new regulations have been issued authorizing the issue of class AA naval war badge to ex-members of the Imperial navy who were residents of Canada prior to August 4, 1914. The conditions are that officers and men must have served at sea in any part of the world or any battle front or on shore in the British Isles during the war, and for reasons other than old age, wounds or physical infirmities, have been honorably retired or discharged. They must not be entitled to receive a war badge from the Imperial Government. The new badge is of white metal and bears the words "Canada" and "Services Rendered." It is issued through the secretary of the naval department at Ottawa, and will be ready for issue shortly.

GRAIN EXCHANGE IS KEEN FOR REOPENING OF WHEAT TRADING

WINNIPEG, July 10.—On Monday last the Hon. A. K. MacLean, acting minister of trade and commerce, issued a statement to the press in effect that at the present time it is not the intention of the government to prohibit or control trading in wheat in the year 1919-20, and that in the meantime it is the opinion of the Government that open markets should prevail.

WINNIPEG BUSINESSMEN COMING TO ATTEND THE FUNERAL OF MR. ROBINSON

[Special to The Advertiser.] WINNIPEG, July 10.—Mr. Jerry Robinson of the Robinson, Little Company, received the news of the death of his brother, George Robinson in London, Ont., while on his farm, near here, suffering from injuries received by a kick in the face from a colt. The late George Robinson was a frequent visitor to Winnipeg and was well-known in business circles here. He was a generous supporter of the Methodist Church in the west. Owing to this indisposition, Mr. Jerry Robinson is unable to go out to attend the funeral, but he will be represented by his son-in-law, J. Y. Reid, who left for London Wednesday. W. H. Little, manager of the Winnipeg branch of Robinson-Little and Company, and son, Col. Little also, left to attend the funeral.

J. Gordon McIntosh, manager of the Winnipeg branch, announced today that the firm was a limited liability company and the loss of its late head would necessitate no radical changes.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

What Some Handy Home Helps May Do As Remedies

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

When you cut your hand or finger or burn yourself you are frequently at a loss to know just what to do. Sometimes much pain is needlessly suffered and serious damage may result because you wait for assistance instead of applying a "first aid" device yourself.

Acids and Ointments. Carbolic acid used in extreme dilution is healing because it is antiseptic. By keeping an injured spot of flesh healthy permits it to heal more rapidly.

Spirits of camphor is a very good lotion to keep on your dressing table in case of any emergency connected with burns or cuts.

Camphor has many of the same properties as spirits of camphor, and for fever blisters it can be used as a substitute for camphor. It does not, however, have any good effect on "cold" or "rhinitis."

Raw Beef and Compresses. Raw beef applied after a corse has been effective in scattering the blackness resulting from conflagration. Hot water compresses are no longer to be applied to bumps. Ice cold water is now recommended by physicians, because it prevents the blood from setting in a bruise, a condition that hot water encourages.

Answers to Health Questions. K. G. P.: Q.—What can I put in milk to take the taste away? A.—Mix a little flavoring with the milk. Vanilla, for instance.

D. D. C.: Q.—What do you advise or frown upon? A.—A little of the following may be tried on alternate nights by rubbing into the scalp with a stiff bristle brush: Fluid extract pilocarpine... 1 dram

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

By GRACE THORNTON.

She Chats About the "Cool Charm" of Pongee. "Yes, I am charmed with this model, but I want something lighter in color and weight for summer wear."

"To be sure it is," replied Madame. "So a pongee with combined with rose of green or black. This fabric lends itself perfectly to the wool embroidery in the trimmings of wide black silk braids. This is a straight line model designed for the slender, youthful figure."

"Of course, Madame," she continued. "I know there is nothing so smart as this black silk braided. I've always liked this combination above all others for the street frock for spring and fall. For street frock for spring and fall, I think it is the most delightful style, but I am in New York and I wish a light fabric model."

"As pongee," Madame said, finishing the sentence. "I am reproducing this model in pongee with the braids in self. This silk braiding is very striking in the natural pongee shade. Nothing could be cooler looking than pongee's soft tan, which returns to favor each year with renewed popularity."

"I am especially fond of pongee, Madame. I always have a suit or so of this silk, and generally a frock made of it. I had, however, expected to have a pongee gown embroidered in shades of self blue. The combination of tan and blue is especially good," Mrs. Lord remarked.

"I can readily see what a striking costume this model would make in pongee," said Mrs. Lord. "It will be tailored enough for morning wear and sufficiently distinguished for afternoon occasions. You will find many affairs for which this pongee will be just the thing."

"I am sure of that, Madame, and I wish you to permit me to order this model in a medium weight pongee as soon as possible. Please bring the pongee samples for Mrs. Lord to see," Madame smiled at me.

As Mrs. Lord was looking over these samples and examining their texture, Madame said: "This gown developed in monotone will be a delightful background for brilliantly-colored hats. A vivid rose hat will be charming with it. So will one of beige, blue or emerald green. A black hat will also look well."

"I like the turban of old blue grass your model is wearing. I'd like to try it, too," Mrs. Lord replied.

Lillian consulted her wrist watch and made a mental calculation. "We have plenty of time," she said, turning to me with an apologetic air.

"I forgot you don't know all that we have done," Mrs. Lord said, turning to a man in tow who was an associate of our clerical acquaintance in one of her father's shops. He had come to her which the authorities of a certain city would particularly like to see her. He thought it really a good idea to have him handy tonight in case the lady needed proof that we have all the goods we want on hand."

"I shivered involuntarily at the vision Lillian's words called up. The very atmosphere in which we were blacked was charged with crime and disaster. As I looked up I saw Allen Drake watching me so intently that he seemed to have eyes abruptly toward Lillian.

"You know," he said hesitatingly, "that I really don't know you. I have never met you before. I am sure you are a good looking girl, but I mustn't think of anything but my business."

"You mustn't think of anything but my business," he said, looking at me. "I have a great deal to do. I must go now. Good night."

R. J. YOUNG & CO.

To-morrow HOROSCOPE. Be Generous Kemble SATURDAY, JULY 12. The indications are for a quiet and unimportant day, judging by the weak planetary configurations. There are but two lunar transits, and as these are adverse and related to the major males, there is an admonition against making important changes or journeys and an injunction to pay particular attention to the physical condition. Likewise, the astrological aids say "attend to thy business," quietly and carefully, and be not discouraged by petty annoyances and disappointments. Under a mutual aspect of Mars and Neptune, both generally classed as Neptune, there is a sunstar influence which calls for discretion and sober conduct in order to combat it. Those whose birthday it is should give particular attention to their health. A child born on this day will have a tendency to be erratic or eccentric and not to be depended on.

To Ward Off Summer Complexion Itis. To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all summer, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercurized wax. Discolors or freckled skin, so common at this season, is gently, gradually absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, which is applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Greasy creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear more conspicuous than usual these days of excessive perspiration. Just get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug store and use it like cold cream. This will help any skin at once and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably clear, young and healthy.—Advt.

Baby Loves It. It's hard to bring up a baby without Mennen's Talcum Powder. It relieves and cools his tender skin. It makes him "comfy" and happy. Be sure it's MENNEN'S—then you know it's pure, sanitary and safe. For 40 years MENNEN'S has been the baby's best friend.

The 23rd Corset

Hot, weary, patience worn to a frazzle, she climbed the stairs to the Collene Corset Shop at 176 Dundas Street, over Dowler's store, the other day.

In the cool, restful surroundings she was fitted by an expert corsetiere with a model 173 Collene corset.

The tired lines vanished from her face as her figure acquired added grace and style from the perfect fitting corset.

"SIMPLY WONDERFUL!" "Why, these corsets are simply wonderful," she exclaimed with delight. "So light and flexible! They hold my figure beautifully, yet there isn't the slightest pressure anywhere. I never dreamed such corsets were made. And you say the bones will positively neither slip nor rust? Why DIDN'T I come here before!"

"Lucky NUMBER. Do you know this is the TWENTY-THIRD corset of all kinds and makes I have tried on in order to get a pair to fit me? I had almost given up in despair when I heard about the Collene corset. Now I'll always believe that twenty-three is my lucky number."

Twenty or more styles of these perfect-fitting, ideal summer-time corsets can be found to improve every type of figure at

The Sun Was Very Warm, and Little Peter Was Very Happy.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

JIMMY COON WORKS WITH SAMMY MUSKRAT. Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum didn't have a minute to themselves. They had to get more fresh eggs for Mr. Red Fox, and they had to work two whole days for Sammy Muskrat because he had brought little Peter in a raft from the sand bar.

"Goodness me!" said Jimmy Coon, "how hard we have to work for Mr. Red Fox and Sammy Muskrat! I never have a minute to myself."

"I don't have a minute either," said Teddy Possum. "Little Peter Rabbit sat watching them build the dock. Peter was very happy, because everyone thought he was a great swimmer and, of course, he was. And how that reputation was made, he had nothing to do but enjoy it."

"I have always wondered how I can swim and now I won't ever have to do it again. Ugh! How I hate the lot of water!" he said as damp and Peter splashed all over.

"What are you going to do?" he asked. "I'll tell you. I'll get a fine plan, Teddy Possum, and you can help, and then Peter won't look so happy and comfortable."

But that's another story. Tomorrow—What Happened to Peter.

STRIKE RIOTING IN OTTAWA HAS AN EVIL ASPECT

Elderly Man Seriously Injured and Five Autos Smashed.

STREET CARS "JAMMED" Trolleys Are Pulled by Mob and Live Wires Fall—Power Shut Off.

OTTAWA, July 10.—The greatest excitement since the street railway strike began prevailed today, and at certain moments it looked as if serious trouble would break out.

Trouble at one of the main intersections of the city, during which people pulled trolleys from wires, resulted in the shutting off of electric power and the stopping of street cars shortly after 2 p.m. A number of wires fell.

One casualty has so far been reported. An elderly man named Jarvis sustained serious injuries when knocked down by a runaway street car in charge of a strike-breaker.

Five motor cars were badly smashed at the time Jarvis was seriously injured, when a street car backed into a line of motor cars on Rideau street at 1:50 o'clock this afternoon.

The motorman intended to put on the brakes, but instead of doing this threw in the reverse with the result that the waiting motor cars were jammed. Occupants of the several cars received minor injuries while Jarvis had several ribs fractured.

One Arrest Made. One arrest was made as a result of demonstrations on Bank street, between Albert and Queen.

The man taken into custody is Nicholas Phuchuk, said to be a Ukrainian, who will be charged with assaulting a new car conductor.

Addressing street railway employees, barbers, break drivers and boiler-makers this morning, Aid. Heaps of Winnipeg received an enthusiastic reception. He gave a resume of the recent strike in that city, and spoke scathingly of the action of the Government in imprisoning five of the supposed strike agitators, who were to be deported without a jury trial, to which he said, every British subject was justly entitled.

He intimated that the employees were endeavoring by every means in their power to destroy the trades union movement, but declared that no government nor body ever constituted was powerful enough to do so. The electric railway company here has ended all relations with striking employees and will fill their places, was announced today. Full service is expected within a few days.

Bakery drivers today threatened to strike. Ninety-four men would be affected in eleven firms.

S. BRUCE LIBERALS MEET AT FORMOSA TO PICK CANDIDATE

Hartley Dewart, the Liberal Leader, Will Be Speaker Tuesday, July 15.

(Special to The Advertiser.) FORMOSA, July 10.—Liberal delegates will gather at the Stone house here on Tuesday, July 15, when the South Bruce Provincial Liberal Association members meet to choose a candidate for the Legislature. Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P.E., provincial Liberal leader, will be the speaker. In addition officers will be elected for the year and other general business of the association will be transacted. Each polling subdivision in the riding is entitled to four delegates. The fact that Mr. Dewart will be present is considered alone sufficient to draw a full attendance of delegates. His address will be on the political issues of the day. The convention will open at 2 o'clock sharp. A special invitation is issued to the ladies.

No Money Grant To Be Made To Currie or His Commanders

Authoritative Denial Is Given To Report Made in Vancouver.

OTTAWA, July 10.—Statements made at the Vancouver meeting of the Comrades of the Great War, that the Government has decided to make a grant of $500,000 to Sir Arthur Currie, and a grant of $40,000 and $20,000 each to the divisional and brigade commanders respectively are authoritatively stated here to be without foundation. When the estimates were before parliament no such provision was made. Parliament unanimously passed a vote of thanks to the Canadian military and naval forces for their work in the war, but, although some suggestion of it was made in the House, there was no vote of a monetary grant.

Vancouver Mass Meeting Wants Govt. To Resign

Failure To Conscript Wealth and Prosecute Profiteers Condemned.

VANCOUVER, July 10.—Calling upon the Federal Government to resign, a mass meeting of citizens held Wednesday evening unanimously passed a resolution after hearing addresses on the high cost of living. The resolution, reference was made to the failure of the Government to conscript wealth; failure to punish the members of firms and corporations, who have shown excess profits or watered stocks, ignoring by the Government of the abuse of the gold storage facilities and failure of the federal authorities to bring about a remedy to reduce the high cost of living. The resolution also declares that the commission appointed by the Government did not say whether the price of grain as fixed by the Government was fair or unfair.

MARINE STRIKE TIES UP U. S. FISHING ON WHOLE EAST COAST

Marine Firemen, Oilers and Water Tenders Have Walked Out.

NEW YORK, July 10.—A strike of marine firemen, oilers and water tenders was called today along the entire North Atlantic and Mexican Gulf coasts from Galveston, Texas, to Portland, Maine. The strike leaders assert that the entire fishing industry and all privately-owned vessels will be tied up by the walkout. The strikers demand an increase of fifteen dollars a month in wages and closed shop.

Leonard Macklin, 20 Years Old, Succumbs When Canoe Upsets.

GODERICH, July 10.—The first drowning accident of the season occurred here this evening, when Leonard Macklin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Macklin, succumbed. He was out canoeing and at the mouth of the river the canoe in some way upset, throwing him into the water. He could swim, but it is thought he took cramps. He was the eldest son and was about 20 years of age.

HORSE BIT PLACED IN CONVICT'S MOUTH AND YANKED FIERCELY

This Among Several Charges Laid Against Stoney Mountain Penitentiary.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
WINNIPEG, July 10.—Formal demand for an investigation of conditions at Stoney Mountain penitentiary is made in a letter sent to the Canadian department of Justice today by Ward Holland, a leading lawyer here.

This letter alleges, among other charges, that a convict was forced to put a horse bit in his mouth, and the bit was pulled from behind until the convict's mouth was torn; that bits were served with entrails and scales unremoved; that one of the convicts bears wounds from the teeth of a dog owned by the warden, and that convicts were punished until the prison doctor ordered punishment abated.

Austria Will Have Place in League As Soon As She's Fit

Supreme Council Makes an Encouraging Reply to Delegation.

PARIS, July 10.—Austria will be admitted to membership in the league of nations as soon as she is fit, the supreme council of the league today announced.

The Austrian peace delegation has been so informed in a letter by the supreme council of the league of nations, which is a body of the peace conference to an Austrian plea for admission to the league.

INGERSOLL WANTS TO GET WAR RELOS

INGERSOLL, July 10.—Gunner Fred Wilford, son of John Wilford, King street east, has returned home after long service overseas. He was with the Canadians in Germany after the war.

An effort is being made to obtain war relief for the local parks. Mayor Buchanan has taken the matter up with the strength of information received from him, has communicated with General Cruikshank, chairman of the distribution committee.

HONOR FIGHTERS.

Arrangements have been made by the congregation of St. Paul's Church to give a reception and supper to all returned Presbyterian soldiers, sailors and airmen, together with their wives and children, on D. G. Cuthbertson's lawn, on Wednesday evening, July 16.

WEDDING BELLS

A very interesting ceremony took place on Thursday morning at 303 King street, the residence of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles C. Couzens, when their eldest daughter, Edith Livingston, was united in marriage to Percy McLeod Wood, manager of the Home Bank of Winnipeg, and formerly of London.

The bride was given away by her father, and looked charming, gowned in a suit of French blue tulle, embroidered in champagne with hat and shoes to match, and wore a corsage of Ophelia roses and sweet peas.

The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum dinner ring, set with emerald and diamonds, to the soloist an onyx and pearl ring, to the pianist a gold bar-pin, set with pearls.

A dainty wedding breakfast was served, after which the happy couple left for an extended boat trip down the St. Lawrence to Montreal and Quebec and the Saguenay River, and also to Buffalo and Cleveland.

They were the recipients of numerous handsome and valuable presents, including several substantial checks.

SPECIAL MORNING ORANGE MATINEE AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE HERE SATURDAY

Orangemen Invited—First Forty Children With Orange Lily Admitted Free.

The Majestic Theatre is giving a special matinee tomorrow (Saturday) when an orange lily in full bloom and 1 cent for war tax will be admitted free. This means that the first 40 lucky ones who can find an orange lily and line up at the Majestic entrance at 10:30 a.m., which is the starting time for the special morning performance, will be allowed to enter free of any further charge.

The children of any age may come alone, arrangements having been made whereby during the holidays it will not be necessary for children under age to be accompanied by their parents. The Majestic staff will look after the children during the performance.

For the benefit of Orangemen and their friends who will be visiting the city on Saturday during the celebration, by special arrangement with the management, the Majestic Theatre will be the headquarters of amusement for the day. A special morning matinee will be given at 10:30 o'clock, in addition to the usual afternoon and evening performances. Those who cannot come themselves are invited to send the children, and they will be taken care of by the staff at the Majestic, unaccompanied by an adult.

IRON FOR STRENGTH

You need iron in the blood! Every healthy man or woman should have about as much iron in his or her body as there is in an ordinary railroad spike. To gain this iron, the best way is to take Tonal-iron Capsules, a combination of iron in its most soluble form, recently discovered, and now having a marvellous sale. Tonal-iron Capsules are a form of iron readily taken up by the blood. The blood cells get round, rich red in color, the cheeks are pink, the appetite improves, and one feels full of "snap" and "pep" and vigor—just as if tired before the day is half done. The eyes take on a lustre and the body feels that tingling which one gets from a cold bath.

For sale and guaranteed by all good druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. Tonal-iron Laboratories, Box 134, London, Ont.

"MAN WHO TURNED WHITE" SHOWING AT THE PATRICIA TODAY

Comedy Film and Vaudeville Act on Program.

H. B. Warner, the famous English actor, in "The Man Who Turned White," his initial Superstar Pictures release, distributed by Exhibitors Mutual, and appearing at the Patricia Theatre today and Saturday, plays the role of an Arabian desert raider, "All Zennan," known as the scourge of the Sahara.

There are some magnificent desert scenes in the production, with wild, opulent Bedouins, Whirling Dervishes, camels, caravans and a thrilling fight between the desert bandits and British soldiers, ending in the rescue of the girl and "The Man Who Turned White" and fought against his own hand of cut-throats.

Oriental dancing girls in striking costumes of necklace and breast-shields, give some graphic illustrations of how the "All Baba Shimmy-Shiver" is done in a genuine Mohammedan cafe. These scenes are notable for their lavish settings and gorgeous—though scant—costuming.

Beautiful Barbara Castleton plays opposite Mr. Warner, and makes an splendid foil for that great actor. Others in an excellent cast are Wedgewood Nowell, Eugenie Ford, Carmen Phillips, Jay Dwiggins, Manuel Ojeda and Walter Perry.

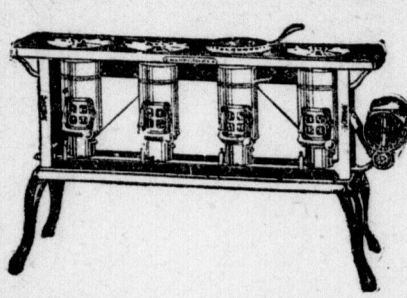

The program includes a L-Ko special comedy, film, Mutt and Jeff cartoon, and vaudeville, Hill and Hale, in comic singing and dancing.

MOUNTAIN MONARCHS OF CANADA

MOUNT ROBSON, THE HIGHEST PEAK IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

Where are Canada's highest mountain peaks? This question, of national interest, has been decided by the "Dictionary of Altitudes," prepared by Mr. James White, of the Commission of Conservation, Ottawa, showing their superior altitude. These include the monarch of the Canadian Rockies, Mount Robson (13,068 feet). There are no fewer than fifty peaks along the Grand Trunk Pacific line with altitudes of eight thousand feet or over. These mountains not only excel in the matter of height, but are seen in their full contour and majesty by reason of their sheer rise from the valley floor. Some of these great peaks are:
