

BECK DECLARES MAYOR NOT FIT FOR POSITION

CHAIRMAN DEFINES TITLE OF 'PINHEAD' APPLIED TO MAYOR

Beck Is Re-elected Chairman of Port Stanley Railway Commission—States Mayor Wenige Totally Incompetent To Preside As Chief Magistrate of City—Fears Publication of Statement Was Unwise.

CITY CLERK REJECTED AS SECRETARY

Sir Adam Beck doesn't consider that Mayor Wenige is "big enough for the position he fills."

At least, he made it quite clear at today's inaugural session of the London & Port Stanley Railway Commission that he did not mean that the mayor's head resembled a "pinhead" physically, but that he probably had in mind that the mayor was totally incompetent to preside as the chief magistrate of this city.

Members of the city council, three of them, who attended this morning's gathering in the role of interested spectators, voiced keen surprise afterwards. They had no idea, they stated, that the feud between the mayor and the member for London had assumed such magnitude.

During the session Sir Adam added that he would never "get accustomed to the mayor" and vouchsafed the further opinion that during his 25 years of public life he had never encountered such "humbug."

Sir Adam was re-elected chairman and Frank Harley vice-chairman.

Today's gathering was merely a repetition of several sessions of 1923. Time after time Mayor Wenige was voted down by Sir Adam Beck and his two supporters, Commissioner Frank Harley and Commissioner Percy Moore. Sir Adam and the mayor practically monopolized the time of the meeting, their opinions conflicting throughout. Both made it quite clear and emphatic to one another and the board in general, that they would air their opinions whenever and however they saw fit.

When the session opened Mayor Wenige asked Sir Adam if he had referred to him as a "pinhead." He did not believe the report, as he thought that Sir Adam was too much of a gentleman for that.

Sir Adam reviewed the circumstances. A representative of the Free Press had called him, and suggested that the mayor's attitude toward the L. & P. S. was similar to that of the city hall and toward the police and fire departments.

Not Referring to Size.

"I said that I didn't know what the pin head might have in view," Sir Adam stated. "I didn't mean to say that your head was the size of a pin in contrast to the rest of the body, but the thought in my mind was perhaps that you weren't big enough for the job you are filling. I feel that what was in my mind and what you thought was being said, is that now that you've been in office for 18 months, you've used some pretty strong language yourself."

Mayor Wenige insisted that Sir Adam's remarks were not justified, and a direct reflection upon the city council and the people who elected the mayor.

As the debate warmed up and rivalled last year's spectacular meetings, Sir Adam warned that there "would be no city council proceedings there." "One of the things I escaped," he stated, "was that I was not a member of the council during your regime."

Later on the member for London stated "it is a free country, and I have a right to my opinion, although in this instance the Free Press was very unwise in publishing it."

Commissioner Harley moved that Sir Adam be chairman for 1924. Mayor Wenige moved in amendment that Frank Harley be chairman. He found no support on either side.

The mayor's proposal that City Clerk Sam Baker be appointed recording secretary was again downed by Sir Adam Beck and his supporters, Donald Wright, the Labor member of the commission, being the mayor's only support. Sir Adam branded the suggestion as "most unusual," and went on to explain that the system would hamper the work of the city clerk who is not familiar with railway phraseology, etc.

Closer Co-operation.

"It will lead to closer co-operation with the city council," ventured the mayor, but Sir Adam brushed this aside with, "All the co-operation we need from the council is their advice. Please See Page 2, Columns 2 and 3."

RUSSIA TO SIGN GUARANTEE PACT

Belgium, Finland and Estonia the Only Other Nations To Come Into Agreement.

Associated Press Despatch.
Geneva, March 24.—Soviet Russia has just notified the secretariat of the League of Nations that she will sign the mutual guarantee pact and disarmament treaty recommended to all the powers by the last assembly of the league. The only other nations that have replied this far are Belgium, Finland, and Estonia, all of which accepted.

PROF. TAMBLYN TELLS OF JOURNEY ABROAD

Y.M.C.A. Fireside Session Hears Fine Address by "U" Official.

Prof. W. F. Tamblin of the department of English, University of Western Ontario, was the speaker at a well-attended fireside meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

Professor Tamblin gave reminiscences of his last summer's trip to England and Scotland, and spoke in detail concerning the various churches in England.

The work of the students' Christian movement in the colleges of the British Isles was also referred to, and in conclusion the work of the Y. M. C. A. in English-speaking countries was touched on.

Mr. William Latchford sang, and following the meeting tea was served.

Only One Week Remains Before Contest Is Ended

$100 Worth New Subscriptions Within Next Week To Count 2,000,000 Votes.

ENERGY REQUIRED
Three Hundred Candidates Start On Final Lap Today.

This morning 300 candidates for the $20,000 in prizes started on the final lap of the great Advertiser contest. All are inspired with the spirit that triumphs, for all understand that what is accomplished this week will decide the leaders in the three groups.

Just eight more days to go and the contest will be over, but each day is vital to every candidate. More than 50 are so close to one another that a single subscription may, in the final count, be all that separates the candidate from the $20,000 grand award. With the situation as tense as it is, the necessity of working triple time and devoting every ounce of energy to subscription-getting need not be emphasized.

Totals in the rural districts average substantially higher than those in the city. This means that any city contestant may start a whirlwind campaign this week and clean up one of the best prizes.

There are still thousands of good prospects in every street and road in Western Ontario who have not yet been approached. Before the close of the campaign, however, it is hoped that all possible subscribers will be canvassed. In justice to themselves candidates cannot afford to overlook subscriptions sent in before the close anyone.

One hundred dollars worth of new subscriptions sent in before the close of the campaign will count 2,000,000 votes.
All free vote coupons and guesses on the $500 cash prize must be sent in by next Thursday night.

HOME BANK DISCUSSION IN COMMONS POSTPONED

Resolution Submitted by T. L. Church of Toronto Is Withdrawn.

Irvine Motion Provides For the Appointment of Special Committee.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, March 24.—The discussion on the Home Bank, which was scheduled for today in the House of Commons, has been postponed, and there appears to be some uncertainty as to when it will come up or what form it will take.

When the subject was broached last Thursday, there were two resolutions on the order paper, both of which dealt directly with the collapse of this bank, but in the meantime one of these has been dropped. The two resolutions stood in the names of William Irvine (Labor, Calgary East) and T. L. Church (Conservative, Toronto North). Mr. Church has now dropped his motion.
The Church resolution, which has been dropped, declared for consideration by the government of "some form of immediate and direct relief" to the Home Bank depositors. That of Mr. Irvine, which still remains, provides for the appointment of a committee to devise methods of preventing similar failures in future and to "make a recommendation as to the possibility of having the Home Bank depositors protected from loss."

FARMER TO FACE CHARGE OF CRUELTY TO HORSE

Stopped at the corner of York and Talbot streets Saturday afternoon by George Tustin, Humane Society Inspector, a farmer will appear in the county court to answer a charge of cruelty to animals. Mr. Tustin found the horse hauling a load of grain, unshod, lame and suffering from an old standing fistula.

Seven calls of a varied nature were received by the inspector over the week-end.

JUGO-SLAV MINISTRY TENDERS RESIGNATION

Associated Press Despatch.
Belgrade, March 24.—The Jugo-Slav cabinet, headed by Premier Pachitch, handed its resignation to the king today. All the ministers belong to the radical party.

AGE LIMIT IN SENATE URGED BY TURRIFF

Movement For Reform in the Upper Chamber Launched by Westerner.

REDUCE MEMBERSHIP

Would Have But Sixty-Four Instead of Present Number.

Special to The Advertiser.
Ottawa, March 24.—The movement for Senate reform has extended to the senate itself. Hon. J. G. Turriff, Senator for Assiniboia, intends to move a resolution in his own House of Parliament which will call for a change in the constitution to this end. The proposal of Senator Turriff is as follows:

1. That in the interest of economy and good government the membership of the Senate should be reduced by one third, from a total of 96 members to a total of 64, by not filling vacancies as they occur until each province has been reduced to its quota of senators as above prescribed.

2. That in all appointments to the Senate, after the change has been effected, it shall be provided that when a senator reaches the age of say 75 years, he shall automatically cease to be a senator.

3.—That provision be made that all senators so retired shall receive a superannuation commensurate to the length of their service in the senate.

4.—That when a new government comes into power the prime minister shall make all appointments to the senate until there is a majority in the senate of his supporters, and afterward the premier shall appoint as vacancies occur from each province, and the leader of the Opposition shall nominate every third member from each province, and the premier shall appoint such nominee.

5.—That it be made compulsory that all private legislation shall be introduced through the senate.

GERMANY HAS REMITTED BIG REPARATIONS SUM

Billions in Gold Marks Have Been Paid Over to Allied Powers.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, March 24.—Germany's reparation payments up to Dec. 31, 1923, as officially announced today, amount to $411,000,000 gold marks. Of this sum 1,993,000,000 gold marks was in cash, the remainder being made up of deliveries in kind or ceded property.

The unpaid costs of the armies of occupation and the commissions of control now amount to 2,614,000,000 gold marks, not including the U. S. army costs of $1,071,000,000.

The reparation commission figures show that Belgium, both in cash and deliveries in kind received the equivalent of 1,445,000,000 gold marks net, after deducting the cost of maintaining her army of occupation and reimbursement for coal advances to Germany. The larger part of the payments to Belgium were in cash, amounting to more than 1,000,000,000 gold marks.

France has received 1,800,000,000 gold marks, mostly in deliveries in kind, but the net balance remaining after the costs of the occupation troops and reimbursement for coal advances to Germany is only 183,000,000 marks.

LOSS OF HORSE BLAMED ON ROADS, $150 ASKED

Sherman Tummonds Blames the County For Accident to Animal.

Sherman Tummonds, R. R. No. 4, Komoka, thinks the County of Middlesex should pay him $150 for the loss of his horse, which broke a leg while being driven along the Hyde Park side road, between concessions five and six, on March 20.

Mr. Tummonds blames the condition of the road for the accident, and states that the horse was shod three days before the accident.

The letter written by T. W. Seddett, local barrister, has been turned over to the accident insurance company for action by County Clerk John Stuart.

They Will Look To You Next Week

IN THE ARMY'S MOTHERING CARE.
These little babies would be alone in the world if it weren't for the Salvation Army Home and the Welfare Fund. As it is, they are given the best of care and will grow into healthy children and useful citizens. The Welfare drive next week will give you your chance to invest in citizenship.

WILL YOU BE CHAMPION AT MARBLES OR JACKS?

First Entries in The Advertiser's Contests Have Been Received—Winners Will Compete For the Championship of Canada—See Rules and Entry Form On Inside Page.

The first entries have already reached The Advertiser for the contests in marbles and jacks.

Have you sent in yours yet? On an inside page you will find the complete rules of play for both marbles and jacks, and entry forms. Clip out the rules and keep them for reference, and send in your entry form right away.

The Advertiser's contests in marbles and jacks are open to all London boys and girls of eligible age. There are no entry fees or expenses, and The Advertiser will give prizes at various stages of both contests.

In seven other Canadian cities similar contests are being conducted—Halifax, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Calgary.

The winners of marbles and jacks in London will be sent to Toronto by The Advertiser to meet the winners of these other seven cities in a grand final tournament to choose the champions of all Canada.

Start practicing today, and send your entry form to The Advertiser as quickly as possible so that details of the schedule may be arranged.

MABER CLAIMS NO NEED FOR WINDING UP ORDER

Former Treasurer of Manitoba Insurance Company Hopes To Save Concern.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, March 24.—The Northwestern Life Assurance Company need not have gone into liquidation according to a statement by F. O. Mabier, its former secretary-treasurer and one of its founders.

Mr. Mabier said that not only could the company have been saved, but that probably it yet would be saved, and he intimated that he was considering action intended to remove it from the jurisdiction of the courts under the winding up order.

Mr. Mabier declared that had he been allowed to speak at the annual meeting last week the result would have been different. He said he would welcome any investigation of his activities, and claimed that it would tend to stem the extravagance which had "crept into the office." He did not agree that the company was bankrupt.

INTERNATIONAL BOARD WILL MEET ON APRIL 3

Canadian Press Despatch.
New Glasgow, N. S., March 24.—According to a statement by H. W. Brown, international representative of the United Mine Workers of America, the international executive board will meet at Indianapolis on April 3, when one of the most important questions to be discussed will be the possible withdrawal of the U. M. A. from Nova Scotia.

TORONTO MAN TO GIVE DONATION TO WESTERN

Sum Will Be Used To Buy Art Reproductions, Says Dean Fox.

Dean W. Sherwood Fox of the University of Western Ontario, stated today that he had just had the pleasure of receiving a promise of a donation to the university from a Toronto friend of the institution.

The amount is not yet known, but it will be used for the purpose of buying reproductions of the works of the old art masters.

Dean Fox stated that such pictures are not only ornamental, but carry a distinct educational value, and stimulate in students a greater appreciation for art.

ALBERTA COAL WORKERS TO AGAIN MEET HEADS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Calgary, Alta., March 24.—Coal operators in Alberta will again meet the officials of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, in an endeavor to come to a settlement for a new contract, and the meeting will probably take place during the present week.

ROBERT POLK SUICIDES.
Associated Press Despatch.
Memphis, Tenn., March 24.—Robert S. Polk, former senior vice-president of the Union and Planters' National Bank and Trust Company, shot and killed himself at his home today.

WILLIAMS' PETITION IS BEING GIVEN SUPPORT

Seven Hundred Names Have Already Been Attached to List.

BRIEFLY WORDED

Two Men Out of Work Take Up Cause of the Prisoner.

The petition asking the minister of justice at Ottawa to grant a reprieve to Henry Jack "Slim" Williams is meeting with a whole-hearted response from the citizens of London, according to J. R. Vincent, 790 Grey street, and A. R. Munnings, 816 Van street, who have the matter in hand.

Although the petition has only been in circulation since Saturday, over 700 people have already signed it.

Mr. Vincent and Mr. Munnings have never even seen Williams or the other condemned men who are sentenced to be hanged on April 10 for murder. Neither attended the trials last month, but felt that some clemency should be shown Williams, who, evidence at the trial showed, made no attempt to use his revolver during the robbery at the Home Bank, Melbourne, on April 11, 1921.

The men responsible for the petition are both out of work at the present time and considered that should their efforts be responsible for granting the young Australian a reprieve, it would be time well spent. Copies of the petition have been placed at the Salvation Army and Rectory street, the Hardy book store on Dundas near the Rectory, and two tobacco shops on Richmond, near Carleton place.

The petition, which is a to the point, is as follows: "We, the undersigned, request that the death penalty be inflicted on H. J. Williams."

ROADS NEED GOOD RAIN, SAYS COUNTY ENGINEER

Highways to North Are Still Almost Impassable to Auto Traffic.

County roads need a good rain before much improvement will be noted in their condition, County Engineer Charles Talbot states. The engineer, who is in constant touch with his road foremen, reports that highways east, south and west of the city are fairly well clear of snow, but that roads to the north still remain for the most part impassable for automobiles.

Early this morning an irate individual who attempted to drive along the second concession of Nissouri Township yesterday, phoned Mr. Talbot stating both steps of his buggy had been torn off in the huge drifts. After passing a few remarks, the man wanted to know what the council was going to do, and if he would be paid for damages done. Although asked to give his name, he refused to do so.

PRESBYTERIANS TO AID IN SASKATCHEWAN CASE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Regina, Sask., March 24.—Special collections were taken in Regina Presbyterian churches yesterday to help defray the expenses, estimated at some $10,000, of the appeal which the Lord's Day Alliance is carrying to the privy council against a judgment by the appeal court of Manitoba.

The appeal arises out of a legal action which had for its aim the discontinuance of the running of Sunday excursions to pleasure resorts near Winnipeg.

FOUR ARE HELD FOLLOWING DEATH OF WINDSOR MAN

POLICE AT BORDER THINK NARCOTICS CAUSE OF DEATH

Case of James Durkins of Windsor Will Be Subject of Searching Probe.

TELL OF OUTFIT

Windsor, March 24.—Four persons were being held by Windsor police today pending a thorough investigation into circumstances surrounding the death of James Durkins, 33 years old, 1710 London street west, at Grace Hospital, Sunday afternoon as a result of some mysterious ailment. Police believe he was a victim of narcotic poisoning, but are not satisfied to allow the release of the four until a report is received from the provincial analyst at Toronto as to the contents of the dead man's stomach.

According to the police the dead man was in the company of the four men held, at Nevins home early Sunday. Police say that Nevins and his wife claim that Durkins came there unaccompanied, and shortly after he was in the house exhibited a hypodermic outfit, and gave himself and injection in the arm. Mrs. Nevins, police say, told them that Durkins also wanted to give her a "shot in the arm," and that she had considerably difficulty preventing him from doing so.

SIR ADAM BECK DEFINES MAYOR'S 'PINHEAD' TITLE

finances. You're the city council, aren't you?"

Sir Adam thought, it any event, there was something in the railway act to prevent the city clerk from acting. Commissioner Harley thought that it would be best to follow Sir Adam's suggestion and find out definitely.

Mayor Wenige assured them that he had found that there was nothing in the act to prevent the appointment. Sir Adam stated that this made no difference to him, as he had not seen it. He asserted that the mayor's move was a direct reflection upon the work of the L. & P. S. organization. "I don't think so," the mayor replied. "We want co-operation."

"We got you," retorted Sir Adam, adding as someone suggested that they get to business, that he was going to talk as much as he felt inclined.

Mayor Wenige promptly rejoined, "I'm in the same boat. I'll talk as much as I feel inclined."

The Baker proposal was defeated. Commissioners Harley and Moore supporting Sir Adam.

Auditor Asplund's report, showing a deficit of $32,000 and a contested surplus of $21,000 coming over from 1919 to 1923, was deferred until the next session, upon recommendation of Sir Adam, as General Manager Richards is still ill.

Good Auditor.

A long argument followed between Sir Adam and the mayor about auditors, audits, etc., during which the mayor proclaimed that "Auditor Asplund was a good auditor."

Another of the mayor's motions was set aside for "future consideration"—a proposal that they have a regular financial statement of accounts recommended at stated intervals. Sir Adam and Commissioners Harley and Moore wanted more information about it. Mayor Wenige and Donald Wright explained that they desired a report similar to that received by city councillors and public utilities commissioners.

Sir Adam wanted to wait until Mr. Richards returned. Mayor Wenige insisted that it had nothing to do with what Mr. Richards thought about it. It was a question of policy for the approval of the commissioners, not the general manager.

Sir Adam stated: "We've carried on pretty well for the last nine years with the present system."

"With a $32,000 deficit last year and $18,000 deficit this year," added the mayor, "I think I have a perfect right to ask for these reports."

Sir Adam ridiculed the mayor's request. "You are making wonderful recommendations," he chuckled. "Very vital moves. I demand time for Mr. Richards and myself to consider it."

Commissioner Harley stated that when he checks he would like to see before payment was ordered, but he preferred to wait for Mr. Richards to give explanation. Mayor Wenige insisted that no accounts should be paid before passed by the commission.

Commissioner Wright stated: "There are certain checks paid which would object to if they came before the commission."

"Commissioner Harley would leave everything to Mr. Richards," the mayor stated.

A recommendation from City Auditor Asplund that they provide in their estimates for their share of the cost of audit, was left for the city council. Mayor Wenige explained that every city department shouldered its share of this undertaking.

Commissioner Harley thought it was a question for the auditor's employers.

"Asplund has nothing to say about it," Sir Adam declared. "What does he care as long as he gets his salary? Does he want an increase? He is merely drawing attention to this. Let the city council decide."

Mayor Wenige proposed the motion that they ask the city council to arrange, as in former years, with the bank to carry their overdraft.

The request from the city council for quarterly statements and regular monthly meetings provoked another outbreak between the mayor and Sir Adam.

"You want the co-operation of the city council, as I pointed out before," the mayor stated. "You may not think so, but here you will need our O.K. on this request for an arrangement at the banks to carry your overdraft. In return we want quarterly statements, which were supposed to have in 1923, but were not forthcoming."

Sir Adam stated that he was willing that all the affairs of the road be given publicity, providing there was no additional expense. He wanted retrenchment.

The proposal to print the salary list in the year-book, was passed unanimously.

"Unanimously means with Sir Adam's vote also," Commissioner Harley pointed out, when Mayor Wenige wanted a definite vote.

Annual Report.

Sir Adam's annual report follows:

BOY SCOUT CAUSE NOT DENOUNCED IN RESOLUTION

Arthur Mould Points Out Labor Party Opposed to Cadet Movement.

PASSED IN HAMILTON

The resolution passed in Hamilton on Saturday by the Ontario section of the Canadian Labor Party dealing with the cadet movement in the schools did not apply or have any reference to the boy scout movement.

He said, "I realize the difference between the two movements, and it would be impossible to deal with them both in one resolution. My attitude was directed towards the cadet movement in the schools, and the resolution passed by the meeting called for action along the line of preventing this movement by the federal and provincial governments and the churches."

"The Labor Party has long realized that cadet training in the schools was not a move toward international peace. It has for a long time urged a change in the teaching of history in the schools so that children would be taught more of the work of the great scientists and artists and thinkers and less of the glory of war and the biographies of soldiers."

The resolution passed on Saturday after grasping with both hands the fact that the school curriculum was being used to teach history in terms of peace and human achievement instead of in terms of war.

An appeal to the churches asking that ministers take their texts and shape their teachings more by the positive teachings of Christ and less by the negative teachings of the Old Testament. In this connection it was urged that in the Sunday schools the children be taught the same practice and that the children should hear more of the words of Christ and less of the Old Testament wars and kings whose glory was largely in war.

Frank McKay, London's labor aide, holds very similar views. He said "The general opinion of labor in the city, and I believe in Canada, is opposed to the cadet movement in the schools. It is regarded as the thin end of the wedge as far as military training and thinking is concerned."

He said "The general opinion of labor in the city, and I believe in Canada, is opposed to the cadet movement in the schools. It is regarded as the thin end of the wedge as far as military training and thinking is concerned."

John Colbert, president of the London Street Railwaymen's Union, declared he was in sympathy with Mr. Mould's resolution, and that he concurred with it.

He said "We are all united in opinion of the cadet training movement. We do not think it is conducive to international peace, and we are opposed to it on several grounds. There is plenty for a boy to learn in school without this cadet training. It should certainly not be included in the school curriculum and supported by a government's grant."

None of the labor men had any adverse criticism of the boy scout movement to offer.

None of the labor men had any adverse criticism of the boy scout movement to offer.

John Colbert, president of the London Street Railwaymen's Union, declared he was in sympathy with Mr. Mould's resolution, and that he concurred with it.

He said "We are all united in opinion of the cadet training movement. We do not think it is conducive to international peace, and we are opposed to it on several grounds. There is plenty for a boy to learn in school without this cadet training. It should certainly not be included in the school curriculum and supported by a government's grant."

AGED MAN FOUND IN A SHACK DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

John Howell, 61, Taken to Victoria On Friday, Dies On Saturday.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

The cruel hand of fate seems to have crept its way into the death of John Howell, aged 61, of 704 Emery street, Manor Park, who died in Victoria Hospital Saturday afternoon.

Howell, removed to that institution Friday night.

Dr. J. T. Bowman, who was called to attend the man when neighbors became suspicious that all was not well, found Howell almost dead in his bed and rushed him to the hospital in his car. Living alone in a room practically devoid of furniture, and chilled by the absence of fire, he lay huddled up in his overcoat, cup upon his head and handkerchief tied across his face as if in a last futile attempt to keep out the cold that was fast carrying him to his grave.

Mourning grasped with both hands the fact that the school curriculum was being used to teach history in terms of peace and human achievement instead of in terms of war.

An appeal to the churches asking that ministers take their texts and shape their teachings more by the positive teachings of Christ and less by the negative teachings of the Old Testament. In this connection it was urged that in the Sunday schools the children be taught the same practice and that the children should hear more of the words of Christ and less of the Old Testament wars and kings whose glory was largely in war.

Frank McKay, London's labor aide, holds very similar views. He said "The general opinion of labor in the city, and I believe in Canada, is opposed to the cadet movement in the schools. It is regarded as the thin end of the wedge as far as military training and thinking is concerned."

MOST OFFICIALS UNCONCERNED OVER GIRLS BOBBING TRESSES

"Gray Matter" Beneath Is What the City Businessmen Seek.

IS BEAUTIFUL, THOUGH

"Stenographers Can Be Bald-Headed For All I Care," Says Kiwanian.

Although one business concern has asked its female employees to shear their locks in the interests of efficiency, executives generally do not care whether feminine hair is bobbed, shingled, Dutch cut or marcelled, so long as there is a reasonable quantity of gray matter beneath.

Questioned today on the subject, some agreed that abbreviated tresses were an advantage to ambitious girls, but the majority declared it didn't make any difference what kind of hair adorned the heads of their employees.

"My stenographers can be bald-headed for all I care," a prominent Kiwanian opined. "I have one whom I suspect of wearing a wig, and she is the best worker of the bunch. Probably if she did not wear a wig she would love some of her efficiency."

"Bobbied hair is sanitary and looks better, but it's been my experience that those without bobs are better workers," another said. "Usually girls who are the last to bob prove to be more conservative and less given to vanity than the boppers. They do not belong to the flapper type and are consequently of higher mental mold."

All businessmen interviewed were inclined to the belief that bobbed hair would ultimately become the one and only style, however.

In ten years, one stated, the orthodox method of hairdressing would be as passe as hoop skirts.

"Short hair is unquestionably more beautiful than long hair," he declared. "Women are beginning to realize this, just as man realized some years ago that beards, goatees and mustaches were not the most attractive appendages in the world."

Special young men's services were conducted last evening at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church. Four young men, who were in charge, Mr. Angus Munro conducted the service. Mr. Mel Winder led in prayer, the Scripture lesson was read by Mr. Harry Graydon, and an excellent address on boys' work was given by Mr. Gordon Purdy. The congregation was especially large, and the choir, composed of human voices, rendered a splendid musical accompaniment to the service.

Gain by Union Outweighs Losses, Claims Dr. Beattie

Tells First Presbyterian Church Congregation Plan Includes All Essentials.

QUOTES OBJECTIONS

Amalgamation Now Established Fact in Many Places, Says Pastor.

"Why I Believe in Church Union" was the subject treated by Rev. William Beattie yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian Church, a sermon to which all those who were doubtful of the success of church union were invited.

Dr. Beattie said that in church union the gain for the Kingdom of God in Canada would far outweigh and outnumber any losses, real or feared. He asked what fears and what objections were put forward by those who opposed union, and in order to be fair quoted some objections from a booklet issued by those against the union. These objections Dr. Beattie answered not in the ordinary sermon form but rather in the form of a dialogue between himself and those for and against church union.

Dr. Beattie mentioned that in Scotland not one of the great historic churches has remained in its name the word "Presbyterian."

"There is," he said, "the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Scotland with about a dozen congregations, but all that is essential in our Presbyterian Church, both as to faith and form of government, is preserved in the basis of union."

As well as three hundred books on the subject that were placed in the pews that the congregation might read the arguments with him. Dr. Beattie also distributed a number of maps of Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The maps were in two colors. In red were marked those towns in which church union is now actually in operation. In black were marked those places where both Methodists and Presbyterians held services. Dr. Beattie pointed out that in the majority of the towns church union was already an established fact. Church union was and is already a fact, whether the present bill before parliament is passed or not. As proof of this Dr. Beattie referred his congregation to the map of Ontario, where he showed that in 3,000 miles of railway between Orillia and Port Arthur there were less than fifteen points with both Presbyterian and Methodist services, against about a hundred points where church union is now in operation.

The Whole Family Was Laid Up With Severe Colds

On the first appearance of a cough or cold our advice to you is to get rid of it before it has a chance to grow worse; gets settled on the lungs, and causes bronchitis, pneumonia or other serious lung troubles.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will immediately relieve the cold or cough on its inception.

Mrs. David Ayres, Kearney, Ont., writes: "Our whole family was laid up with severe colds, and we didn't seem to be able to get any relief from anything we used, until one day a friend came in and told me we would be sure to get rid of our colds if we used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I decided to take her advice, and in no time our colds were all gone."

"Now, knowing the value of your remedy, we will always keep it on hand, so as to have it in case of emergency."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c a bottle; large family size, 60c. Put up only by Dr. T. M. Wood, Company Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

POISONED BY FOOD

Many Don't Know What Is the Matter Until Nausea, Sick Headache and Bad Digestion Are Traced to Their Cause.

Self-poisoning is the term now used to indicate that terrible run-down, nervous, draggy feeling that so many people have. When the liver is clogged and fails to help with digestion, elimination of waste from the bowels and purifying of the blood, this state of slow poisoning results.

Cleanse and tone your liver! Put your system in condition! Feel your very best again! Try just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's excellent Liver and Blood Syrup after the next few meals and notice the quick improvement in the way you eat, sleep and feel—the return of strength, vigor and energy. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise there will be no cost.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by F. A. Mitchell, 114 Dundas street and Taylor's Drug Store, 350 Richmond street, one half block south of Dundas in London; J. W. Craig in Dresden; E. M. Greenwood and W. A. McIntyre in St. Marys; John E. Warner in Alvinston and by leading druggists in every city and town—Adv.

LAVERGNE SPEAKS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, March 23.—Admiration for the life of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, as a man of great courage and independent thought, frank and outspoken in this country of different nationalities, race and religion, and an appeal for equitable treatment of the French-Canadians and for greater unity throughout Canada, were the outstanding themes of the address of Armand Lavergne, Quebec, Nationalist leader, who spoke here Saturday at the banquet of the Association of the French-Canadians, former secretary of state, and Hon. Andre Fauteux, ex-solicitor-general, by the Liberal-Conservatives of Montreal.

The function was presided over by Mr. Meighen. Liberal-Conservatives present included Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Hon. J. D. Martin and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Hon. J. E. B. Baxter of St. John, Col. James Arthur and W. A. Boys, Conservative whip.

grow and waxed strong in spirit filled with wisdom. The life of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, as a man of great courage and independent thought, frank and outspoken in this country of different nationalities, race and religion, and an appeal for equitable treatment of the French-Canadians and for greater unity throughout Canada, were the outstanding themes of the address of Armand Lavergne, Quebec, Nationalist leader, who spoke here Saturday at the banquet of the Association of the French-Canadians, former secretary of state, and Hon. Andre Fauteux, ex-solicitor-general, by the Liberal-Conservatives of Montreal.

Comparisons were drawn between the boys of London and the Child Christ, and questions were put to the congregation concerning the attitude of present day children and the attitude of the child toward the church, and the speaker sought to show the early tendencies of Christ and pointed out that when his parents missed Him during the trip to Jerusalem they found Him in the temple.

Christ's marked obedience to his parents was also strongly stressed, and it was pointed out that His great love for the temple and His strict adherence to the wishes of his parents did not make Him the least bit unhappy, but on the contrary increased His happiness and advanced Him spiritually.

ASKIN STREET METHODIST.
At Askin Street Methodist Church yesterday morning, Rev. C. J. Moorehouse spoke on the subject, "The Prophet and His Message," taking for his text: "Would God all Lord's people were 'Prophets,'" from the Book of Numbers.

He pointed out the spirit of prophecy was not and should not be limited to those who have gone before, that Moses said that he would like all the Lord's people to exercise their spiritual gifts.

The prophet was the man who sees the conditions of the day, conditions of people morally, physically, economically and politically. The minister said that the need today were present day prophets with a keen spiritual insight for the needs of the hour, and that the church should have the courage and enthusiasm were the requirements of the modern prophet.

CRONYN MEMORIAL.
Taking for his subject "The truth about sin," Rev. Ridley Parsons at Cronyn Memorial Church last evening spoke from the text, "I am come that ye might have life."

Speaking of the ideal spiritual world of reality, he said there is an ideal system that the highest ethical ideal is the normal, reasonable, consistent life based on the eternal principles of this ideal world.

What he termed the moral pessimism found pervading the Old Testament classics was taken up.

"The melancholy phrases still live on, zealously propagated by those who have taken up the doctrine of original sin," he declared.

The speaker added that Jesus' faith in human nature was made clear throughout all His life. He left about faith to the least promising representatives. He sought out and saved the most notorious outcasts and even called upon them to be His associates. Christ had faith in them and they began to realize the goodness He saw in them.

POINCARÉ SUPPORTED IN ECONOMY MOVE
Senate and Deputies Pass Taxation and Fiscal Reform Bill.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, March 23.—Premier Poincaré yesterday scored another victory in his movement to stabilize the nation's finances and restore economic equilibrium in France, when both the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies passed the government's taxation and fiscal reform bill. The vote in the Senate was 146 to 12.

The fiscal bill is expected to bring to the treasury an additional $233,000,000 francs through increased taxation yearly and effect one billion in economies. The bill was presented to the Senate for final vote by Premier Poincaré and Minister of Finance De Lasteyrie.

It is understood on good authority that the government's next fiscal move in its efforts to improve France's financial situation will be to present a plan for the consolidation of the national debt, which amounts to eighty billions—before Parliament's dissolution for the general elections.

SINKS SUDDENLY.
Liverpool, March 23.—For some reason as yet unexplained the tug Canning, belonging to the Alexander Towing Company, suddenly sank in Huxford dock, Liverpool. At two o'clock yesterday it suddenly disappeared in the water. No one was aboard. On a previous occasion the boat overturned and killed two employees.

Big Increase Shown in Two Days in Detroit Epidemic.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, March 23.—There was a sharp upturn in the number of smallpox cases here today, and Health Officer Dr. Henry F. Vaughan has issued an urgent vaccination order. Thirty-eight cases for yesterday and today are reported as against a daily average of not more than seven cases daily during the past week. More than a score of persons have been exposed to smallpox in a barber shop where the victim, a barber student, was taken ill while shaving a customer. Examination showed symptoms of smallpox.

CIVILIANS HUNT IRISH ASSASSINS

Reward of $50,000 Offered by Government Sends Hundreds On Trail.

Associated Press Despatch.
Queenstown, Ireland, March 23.—Spurred by the government's offer of a reward of $50,000, hundreds of civilians today joined the Free State troops and police in search for the persons who shot down British soldiers and local civilians as they were returning from Spike Island on Friday.

Thus far no arrests have been made and the only details which have been learned concerning the circumstances leading to the crime is that some miles outside of Queenstown Friday night two motor cars were observed, which it is thought, carried a covering party to the assassins. The British torpedo boat destroyer Sea Wolf arrived in Queenstown this morning with the purpose of removing the body of Pte. Aspinwall, one of the victims of the shooting, to England. Free State troops are patrolling Queenstown and the surrounding district.

HEAR SMALL CASE INSIDE OF MONTH
Mrs. Theresa Small's Lawyer Does Not Want Adjournment of Trial.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—"We don't want any adjournment of the trial," said Frank J. Hughes for Mrs. Theresa Small, before the master at Osgoode Hall today when Charles Garrow, K.C., settled the terms of an order to amend the statement of defence of Mary Florence Maude Small and Gertrude Mercedes Small, sisters of the late Ambrose J. Small, the Toronto millionaire theatre owner.

According to Mr. Hughes, Mrs. Small's action to prove the will of September 6, 1903, as the last will of Mr. Small, will be tried within a month. This will make Mrs. Small sole executrix and beneficiary.

W. G. F. Grant, for the Misses Small, submitted a certain addition to the original statement of defence and part was accepted, to this effect: "On September 25, 1917, A. J. Small made a will, leaving $20,000 to his father, Daniel Small; $20,000 to an aunt, Mrs. Theresa Small; $20,000 to the House of Providence, and $20,000 to the Consumptive Hospital at Gravenhurst. The residue was to be divided between the two sisters, Mary Florence Maude Small, J. H. Moss, K.C., was named as sole executor. Mr. Moss died later.

Sunday Times Says People Should Stop Trying To Play Grandmother.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, March 23.—Exhortations addressed to Premier Ramsay MacDonald to endeavor to influence the Prince of Wales in a way of being less venturesome on horseback are derided by two prominent Sunday papers.

The Sunday Times says it is time people ceased trying to play grandmother to the prince, "although he has too much humor to be disturbed by obligations that are half-lecture and half-cackle."

The Sunday Express declares that if Premier MacDonald interferes he ought to devise a method whereby the prince could take a more active part in public life. "We ought to provide him with opportunities for public service more interesting than laying foundation stones and after-dinner speeches."

Askin Street Brotherhood has the distinction of being the oldest organization of its kind in the city, having its inception fifteen years ago. It now has a membership of more than 100-strong, with prospects of growth. To date the Brotherhood has fostered twelve other such societies in the district, and in the last year spent over $200 in relief work.

BOY SCOUT, CADET CAUSE OPPOSED

Labor Party At Hamilton Declares It Develops War Spirit.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, March 23.—Over a score of resolutions dealing with questions in which labor is interested, presented by affiliated bodies, were dealt with Saturday at the annual meeting of the Ontario section of the Canadian Labor Party, held in the Labor Temple. Over 100 delegates attended.

The convention went on record as opposing the boy scout movement and cadet organization, claiming that these developed the war spirit in the young.

The workmen's compensation act should be amended. It was agreed, and in this connection the charge was made that H. G. Fester, Hamilton, and Miss Stevens, Toronto, secretary, failed to be true to the cause of labor, and the convention passed a resolution, requesting them to resign. The motion was introduced by Mrs. McFarrah of Toronto, and meeting took its stand on the side of the postal employees who are fighting to retain their bonuses.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—Chas. Snyder, who has been characterized as "the mystery man" behind the Provincial Securities Company, has been identified.

Snyder was a mere messenger for the company which Provincial Treasurer Price called the blind bond house, that he is well connected in Toronto, and he is now engaged as an architectural draftsman in the erection of ready-made summer cottages. The brains behind the favored company was George R. Harris of Hamilton, who will tell his story tomorrow before the public accounts company, it says.

Mr. Harris is a leading member of the firm of Browning, Harris, Denman & Co., investment brokers, of Hamilton.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, March 23.—Pride in the record of the Canadian Pacific Railway because "the good repute of the C.P.R. is one of the best assets of Canada," was the tribute paid by justice, on the occasion of a dinner given here last night at the fifth annual convention of officers of the railway.

The minister of justice said: "I have come here with a feeling of security knowing that I will not be asked to attempt to repeat the miracle of the loaves and the fishes, or that of the water and the wine."

"We are all proud of the great record of the C.P.R. because that property is a national asset," said Mr. Laporte. "Your house flag waving in many seas tells the story of enterprise and ambition. The builders had faith in Canada and were among the makers of the country. They built a highway from Europe to Asia."

Murders Husband, Attempts Suicide

Sandwich Woman Kills Spouse in Detroit Theatre.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, March 23.—Sigmund D. Rosen, 21 years old, organist at a movie theatre, was shot to death as he sat at his instrument last night. Mrs. Rachel Rosen, 27, his wife, who fired the three shots into her husband's body, then swallowed poison, but will live, doctors at receiving hospital say.

The woman has been living on Partington avenue, Sandwich. The theatre was crowded at the time and a panic was narrowly averted. Officials of the theatre say Rosen and his wife had not been living together for some time.

Odds & Ends

CLAIM MISREPRESENTATION.
Brantford, March 23.—Irish immigrants who have arrived here within the past week complain that things were misrepresented in the old land. They were informed that they could make at least $40 a month and they find that the remuneration on farms here is far less than that.

COLD WATER METHOD.
Swansea, March 23.—Sprayed by firemen with ice cold water for twenty minutes in an attempt to persuade him to get down off a tree, a maniac with a huge knife, who had been hounded by the perpetual shower that he surrendered to the police. The madman was apprehended following his request of a householder for a razor.

The householder declined to give him one and informed the police. The latter found him perched on the top branches of a tree singing and brandishing a double-bladed knife.

LOVER STEALS FURNITURE.
Winchester, Eng., March 23.—When love, in the person of F. C. Brown, a painter, came into the life of Mrs. Jane Janet Taylor, age 72, it departed with the major portion of the lady's furniture. In court today it was revealed that Brown, who is 31, proposed to Mrs. Taylor, a widow, and was accepted. Just before the wedding he made off with her furniture and jilted his ancient bride. He was sentenced to eight months' hard labor.

TRIP PROVES PROFITABLE.
Halifax, N.S., March 23.—After spending 15 months in Germany and Belgium, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Schneider of Sydney, N.S., have just returned. Despite the fact that neither of the couple in any way worked during their trip, they arrived back not one cent shorter than when they left. Investment in the mark, and in German goods, and later exchanging them at an enormous profit, were the chief reasons why the couple had such an inexpensive trip. When they boarded it cost them $2 a week for board and room.

"DAD" HEARS 700 MILES.
Vancouver, B.C., March 23.—Hearing their nine-year-old daughter play the piano 700 miles away was the singular experience of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Parsons of Fort McMurray, Alta., who wrote to the province their appreciation for making the feat possible. Some weeks ago Mr. Parsons asked the radio department if it were possible to have his daughter, Margaret, who lives with her grandmother, play some night for the residents of the northern trading post. Arrangements were made and the parents were notified to "tune in" on the date selected.

RESTORE OLD CASTLE.
Berlin, Germany, March 23.—One of the famous old castles of Germany, that of the Saxe-Coburg and Gotha family, has been restored and put out to the design which prevailed in 1836, and the owners believe that they have measurably added to the value and picturesque quality of the building.

Holds Senate No Advantage

D. D. Dennis Will Make Motion in House To This Effect.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, March 23.—D. D. Dennis intends to move in the House that the Senate is not of the greatest advantage to Canada.

Last year Mr. Dennis made a motion calling for an elective senate to give rise to several hours' discussion, but further debate was eventually adjourned and the motion was not reached again before parliament prorogued.

FIGHT THREATENED OVER BONUS CUT

Postal Federation Representatives Try To See Premier Over Week-End.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, March 23.—Failing an acceptance of their request for restoration of the bonus and immediate upward salary revision from April 1, "there will be trouble," a prominent official of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees told a local newspaper tonight.

Representatives of the federation remained in the capital over the week-end in a last effort to see Premier King and to endeavor to impress on the government the seriousness of the situation if the policy of bonus reduction and proposed salary revision continues.

500,000 PEOPLE PAID FROM TAXES

Ottawa Newspaperman Says Federal Parliament Costs More Than Necessary.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—"It is a conservative estimate that something like half a million people of this country are living on the taxes of the rest of us," declared Gratton O'Leary, Ottawa newspaperman, before the Canadian Creditmen's Association here yesterday afternoon.

"Compare our position in this respect to that of the United States. That country has a population of 110,000,000 people, important possessions, a big navy and army, and has but eight cabinet ministers, who draw in salaries $108,000 a year.

"Canada has a population of 9,000,000, has no outside possessions and no army or navy worth mentioning, yet she has 18 cabinet ministers. The Dominion pays one at $15,000 a year and 17 at $10,000 a year, plus seasonal indemnities of $4,000, or a total of $229,000.

"Canada paid for nine lieutenant-governors salaries ranging from $7,000 to $9,000 a year, pays 235 M.P.'s $4,000 a year and 96 Senators the same. The annual total paid by the people is $1,644,000.

"Britain, with a population of 40,000,000 at home and a powerful army and navy, legislates for an empire that governs the globe and has a combined population of 250,000,000. She did all this with a House of Commons of 415 members, whose indemnities total $1,230,000.

"Canada, with 9,000,000 people has 908 legislators and 97 cabinet ministers whose salaries are $3,000,000."

TWO BOYS DROWNED IN FALL THROUGH ICE

Two Other Boys Witness Accident, But Fail To Give Warning.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 23.—Falling through the ice of Grenadier Pond in High Park, Toronto, at noon today, Roy McGowan, aged 8 years, and Elmo Gillespie, aged 9, were drowned.

One of the boys was reaching into a hole in the ice for a tin can they had been playing with when the ice gave way. The other boy tried to rescue his school chum, and also fell in. Two other boys who were with the McGowan and Gillespie lads made their way back to shore, and fled without giving any warning of the double drowning.

Three girls, however, had witnessed the accident from a distance, and they gave the alarm which brought the life-saving crew to the scene. The bodies were recovered in fourteen feet of water.

HAMILTON M. P. ILL.
Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, March 23.—Word was received by Mayor Jutten this morning that T. J. Stewart, M. P. for West Hamilton, is ill in St. Luke's Hospital, Ottawa. He is suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis, but is recovering.

Three Standard Bank Employees Remanded to Jail—Caught in Windsor.

ALL YOUNG MEN

Detroit Gambling Den Blamed in Case—$2,300 Is Recovered.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, March 23.—Rather than face a searching investigation into alleged falsification of books of the local branch of the Standard Bank, three clerks attempted to flee the country. Smart work on the part of Chatham and Border Cities' police resulted in their arrest at Riverside about 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

Brought to Chatham Saturday morning each faced a charge of stealing about $2,300 from the Standard when arrested before Magistrate Arnold in city police court. The accused are Richard Heddie, aged 26, savings teller; Wilbert Holden, age 28, ledger keeper; and William Echin, aged 29, assistant accountant. They were remanded to jail for one week. Crown Attorney H. D. Smith, K.C., stating to the court that he would insist upon the accused making pleas to the respective charges.

EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH OF INFANT

Child Dies From Burns Received in Home Near Aylmer.

Special to The Advertiser.

Aylmer, March 23.—Doris, 13-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Perry, is suffering from severe burns sustained when coal oil took fire and a can exploded as the mother was endeavoring to freshen up a fire in the kitchen stove.

On Saturday morning Mr. Perry lit the fire and went to the barn at his home on Talbot road, about 3½ miles from town. Mrs. Perry dressed the babe and placed her in a chair close to the stove. The fire was burning slowly, and Mrs. Perry poured coal oil on it. An explosion followed, which threw burning oil over both mother and babe. Unable to reach the door, the mother, with the infant in her arms, jumped through a window.

Attracted by the screams of the suffering pair, Mr. Perry rushed from the barn and extinguished the flames with his coat. The neighbors assisted in extinguishing the flames in the house, the fire being confined to the kitchen section.

The father of the child was held to Aylmer Cemetery this afternoon.

LANCASTRIA BRINGING THOUSAND TO CANADA

Includes Irish Farm Laborers and Party of Home Boys.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, March 23.—Including 200 Irish farm laborers, who joined the liner "Lancastria" at Liverpool yesterday, carried 1,000 passengers, a majority of whom are travelling under the Canadian bonus scheme.

The vessel also has several large conducted parties aboard, including one of Scandinavian farm laborers and another comprising boys drawn from various orphan homes in Britain, their ages ranging up to 17 years. A number of men proceeding to Canada under a scheme of assured farm work are also aboard.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INSPECTION URGED WHILE IN TORONTO

Important Phases of Local Situation Have Yet To Be Dealt With.

NEEDS CONSIDERATION

Chairman Douglass of the city council finance committee hopes that the members who go to Toronto tomorrow to support the city of London bill will have an opportunity to inspect the Toronto fire department as a part thereof.

Important phases of the local situation have yet to be finally dealt with by Ald. Douglass and his colleagues before the tax rate can be struck and afterwards as well, when the British report is introduced for consideration.

Chief among these is the request from Chief John Aitken for additional men and while provision has been made in the tentative estimates for men, the chairman is not prepared to state that this appropriation will be passed without further comment. The question will have to be thoroughly considered first, he insists, and while he stresses that the committee must be fair to the chief in his demands, care must be taken that the general public is treated fairly through the tax rate. While the chairman seems to support certain additions to the staff he is not ready to say that the number shall be as many as ten.

Provision was also made in the estimates, a matter of $16,000, for a new alarm system, the chief following his procedure of many years and the procedure of those chiefs who preceded him, by incorporating this item in his appropriation.

Mayor Wenigke would promptly eliminate both sums, submitting that the time is not opportune for the installation of the alarm board and the need not sufficient for the additional strength to the personnel of the department. He reasons that there should be no demand for more men this year after the motorization of the department was consummated last fall.

LONDON DEPUTATION WILL LEAVE TONIGHT

Will Support London Bill at Hearing in Toronto Tomorrow.

Mayor George Wenigke, several members of the city council and city officials go to Toronto tonight to support the city of London bill before the private bills committee of the Ontario legislature tomorrow morning.

Among the city officials authorized to accompany the deputation, in this and other connections, are City Clerk Sam Baker, City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, City Treasurer James Bell and Fire Chief John Aitken. The last two officials will appear with the members of the finance committee before the Finance Underwriting Association to protest the last rate increase in this city.

City Engineer Near will seek from the provincial department of health approval for sketches for the Wellington-High street sewer disposal plant.

MOUNTED POLICE SAIL FOR EMPIRE EXHIBITION

Ten Members of R. C. M. P. Will Appear at Wembley in Full Uniform.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, March 23.—The picked detachment of mounted police, who are to mount guard over the Canadian buildings at the British Empire Exposition at Wembley, has passed through Montreal on its way to England. The detachment consists of ten men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who will appear at Wembley in the full glory of their smart scarlet tunics, black breeches with the yellow cavalry stripe, immaculately polished brown top-boots, and broad-brimmed Stetson hats. Of the ten, six are Canadian-born, two are Englishmen, one an Australian and the other a Belgian. Four of the detachment are from Alberta divisions, two from Vancouver and the others from various Ontario stations.

SAYS SHE WAS HELD PRISONER 14 MONTHS

Young Italian Woman Causes Arrest of Four Countrymen On Criminal Charge.

Canadian Press Despatch. Timmins, March 23.—Evidence that she had been detained a virtual prisoner in the Queen's Restaurant here for fourteen months, during which time she had been forced into immoral living, was given by a young Italian woman at the preliminary hearing of four of her fellow-countrymen, who were charged in police court here before Magistrate Atkinson with procuring.

The accused, Angelo Dame, Mike Maceri, John Maltese and Maria Calafiori, were committed for trial at the sittings in Cochrane next month. A fifth man, Gerolamo Palomora, accused of intimidating witnesses in the case, is also held for the supreme court sittings. It is alleged that he threatened to assault the men called to testify on behalf of the crown.

PROPER ESTIMATE OF CHURCH VALUE URGED BY PASTOR

Rev. J. Bruce Hunter Makes a Plea For Support of the Welfare Fund.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS

With his sermon yesterday morning, Rev. J. Bruce Hunter, pastor of the First Methodist Church, combined an eloquent plea for the United Welfare Fund campaign, reminding his congregation that Christ healed the body as well as the soul and that so, too, must the Christian Church see to the environment and physical conditions in order that the gospel might find fruit.

Congregations at both services in the First Methodist Church yesterday were the largest since the commencement of Mr. Hunter's pastorate. In the morning he spoke of "The Wonder-Working Church" and in the evening continued the series on "Deacon Lights of Sacred History." Following the service, a reception and special meeting was held in Wesley Hall, and the large attendance indicates the continuation of these after-service meetings.

Mr. Hunter commenced his morning sermon with the striking quotation from Thomas Carlyle, as he looked out over the Strand, "There are four million people in this city, mostly food." "If," said Mr. Hunter, "the old sage meant that the people had not a proper estimate of values regarding life, that they were placing greater emphasis on the things of the hour than on the things that are eternal, then his generalization was not very far amiss. Looking out over the world today, as Carlyle looked out over the Strand, we find that the same conditions prevail, that men and women burdened with care are seeking wealth, laughing at fate, and pursuing a heedless way, regardless of the experiences of the past."

Spirit of Indifference. Men were showing, Mr. Hunter declared, a marked spirit of indifference toward the church, and he asked the leading question, "Why has not the church been successful?"

"The people are to blame," he said, "because here in our own land men and women have sufficient light to lead them into a new life if they would only accept it. The preachers, too, are to blame, for many a sermon has dealt with subjects which have no bearing on the immediate problems of the soul. The members of the church are to blame because their program has not been drawn up in a manner to meet the needs of the people. The church should be sympathetic to the most varied experience of man, and the environment and conditions under which men live must be given attention before the gospel will take root."

"We have given so much time," Mr. Hunter continued, "to consideration of scientific problems that men are in danger of overlooking the almighty power of the gospel. The success of a church founded on the gospel is assured by three great miracles, the first of these is the re-birth of the soul. The second miracle is the power of the church to reach the world, and the third miracle is Christendom, because every advance in civilization has been made as the result of Christianity, and thus Christianity the world will continue to advance until the songs of the angels shall be fulfilled and there will be 'peace on earth and good-will toward men.'"

DRUNK KEEPS SECRET HIS BOOTLEGGER'S NAME

A. Kennedy Stopped Off Here On Way to Kingston—Fined $10.

Despite queries from the magistrate as to where Arthur Kennedy, a drunk, obtained his liquor, the prisoner refused to divulge the name of his bootlegger in police court this morning. He was fined $10 and costs.

Kennedy lives in Goderich, and has been working in Detroit. He was going to Kingston to work on a boat, but stopped off here. He claimed he did not know the man who gave him the alcohol.

PLANS FOR PICNIC ARE BEGINNING

Utilities Receives Request For Reservation at Springbank.

This spring weather has had its effect on the would-be merry-makers in the open spaces, for the public utilities commission, which looks after the picnic grounds at Springbank, received the first request of the season for a reservation for a picnic date Friday.

The baseball diamond and the grounds were asked for. Hope springs eternal in the human breast.

DETROIT CALEDONIANS DEFEAT SARNIA ELEVEN

Tunnel City Team Eliminated From Michigan State Cup Competition.

Special to The Advertiser. Detroit, March 23.—Caledonia had little difficulty in eliminating Sarnia F. C. from all further interest in the Michigan State Cup competition here this afternoon, a one-sided game ending in favor of the district leaguers, 5 to 1.

With the playing field a veritable sea of mud, Sarnia defence had a gruelling time in the first period, and although Caledonia forwards were disinclined to take too many risks of indulging in a mud bath, the game for the most part centered around the visitors' quarters.

O'Neill and Mitchell worked hard to keep the lively attacking line of the locals in check, while T. Weston was always in the thick of the fray.

The line-ups: Caledonia: Sarnia: Seay.....Goal.....McMillan D. Sutherland.....R.B.....O'Neill Cowan.....L.B.....Mitchell Fraser.....C.H.....T. Weston Higgins.....L.H.....Campbell F. ## HORSE DESTROYED. SPECIAL TO THE ADVERTISER.

Mount Brydges, March 23.—Clarence Wernham, Komoka, had his horse struck by a car driven by Roy Short. The force of the impact loaded the horse over the front fender onto the radiator, breaking its leg. Dr. J. H. Thompson was called and the horse was destroyed.

Wrecked motor car under a freight train on the level crossing at John street, Toronto, a few minutes after two men, who were riding in the automobile, were killed Friday night. This is the position in which the car was when the train came to a stop.

CHICAGO MAY LOSE WATERWAYS CASE

Says Mayor Hiltz of Toronto, Questioned After Return From Washington.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, March 23.—"My impression is that Chicago will lose its case," said Mayor Hiltz of Toronto, tonight shortly after his return from Washington, where he was questioned as to the probable result of Chicago's effort to have legalized the diversion of 10,000 foot seconds of water from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi Valley.

The mayor spent several days last week listening to arguments made by the Chicago representatives before the rivers and harbors committee of Congress. The hearing adjourned Thursday and will be resumed April 15.

Chief Gorman Has Clue To Number of Recent Galt Robberies.

Galt, March 23.—From a Toronto pawnshop Chief James Gorman recovered a diamond ring, valued at several hundred dollars, stolen from the home of Campbell Taylor, along with $25 on Dec. 2 last, and he hopes to clear up the epidemic of house robberies of the past winter.

The chief has a quantity of jewelry, which, he says, was stolen from neighboring towns and cities, taking in an area as far as London.

Horse Was Killed. On Saturday a hind horse owned by Harvey Hallman, a farmer from near Ayr, ran away from the local market and plunged into the big plate glass window of the office of George H. Thomas & Sons, smashing it up in a terrific manner. The animal had to be shot by a policeman.

DROWNED BOY'S BODY THOUGHT DISCOVERED

Investigation, However, Shows Cause of Report But Barrel in River.

Hopes to recover what was first thought to be the body of little Jack Edward Challis, 11-year-old boy who lost his life in the Thames River in February, and for whose body divers made unsuccessful attempts to locate, were entertained yesterday morning when Tom Hodgkinson, an employee of Labat's Brewery, noticed an object caught fast on Hunt's dam.

The fire department was notified, and Lieutenant Bolton was despatched to the scene of the report. So certain were the searchers that the body was that of young Challis that Pat Taft, a nearby resident, volunteered to try to reach the dam in a boat held by a rope from the shore. Lieut. Bolton could make out what he thought was a huddled form frozen to the surface of the ice.

While the party were making ready to reach the dam in the boat the object worked itself loose, and as the current carried it near the shore it turned out to be an old barrel filled with boxes and khaki clothing.

Kingsville Pioneer Succumbs To Stroke. Mrs. (Dr.) Andrew Wigle Was Born in Elgin—In Kingsville a Half Century.

Special to The Advertiser. Kingsville, March 23.—After an illness of two months, following a stroke, Mrs. (Dr.) Andrew Wigle, aged 80, died at the family residence tonight. She had been a resident of the town for over 50 years.

The late Mrs. Wigle, whose maiden name was Jane Bissell, was born near Elgin in Elgin County, and was a U. E. Loyalist descendant. During her life in Kingsville she was one of the most active workers in the Methodist Church, and in organizations which mean the betterment of conditions in the community.

Surviving relatives include her husband, now in his 86th year, and two sisters, Mrs. Cunningham of Detroit, and Mrs. Gray of Winnipeg. Mrs. Cunningham had been at the bedside for some days, as has Mrs. (Dr.) John Johnston of Essex, a foster-daughter. Dr. and Mrs. Wigle have no direct descendants.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

VICTIM OF EXPLOSION BURIED AT DRESDEN

Wallaceburg, March 22.—The funeral of John Tassie, who was burned to death Wednesday in St. Clair, Michigan, when coal oil, which he poured on a furnace fire, exploded, was held Friday from the home of his sister, Mrs. E. Fraser, Lot 26, Concession 2, the Gore, Chatham. Interment took place in the Dresden Cemetery.

Mr. Tassie was staying with his son-in-law, Frank Shepherd, proprietor of the St. Clair Hotel at St. Clair, when the accident happened. He was born and raised near Wallaceburg, where he has lived for a number of years. At Wallaceburg he conducted a grocery business.

Besides his wife he is survived by four sons, one daughter, two brothers, Charles of Detroit, Robert in British Columbia; and three sisters, Mrs. Wellington Hamilton, Sarnia; Mrs. E. Fraser of Chatham Gore; and Miss Tassie of Wallaceburg.

JAMES DENT, WOODSTOCK, DROPPED DEAD FRIDAY

Woodstock, March 23.—James Dent, an old and highly-respected resident of Woodstock, dropped dead while passing the First Baptist Church late Friday night.

He was born in Embro 69 years ago, and came to Woodstock when quite young. For many years he had been a commission merchant, dealing in produce and vegetables.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon from the residence of his brother, Thomas Dent, Dundas street east.

MR. AND MRS. W. GRAHAM HOLD SILVER WEDDING

Cayuga, March 22.—Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, who were married in South Cayuga 25 years ago, celebrated their silver wedding at their home on Kerr street, Cayuga, Friday.

Mrs. Graham, wearing a handsome navy canton crepe gown, received her guests, assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary Graham.

The guests were chiefly from out-of-town, among them being George Ferguson, who acted as groomsman at the wedding in 1899.

FRENCH PREMIER SEEKS PROTECTION OF HIS COUNTRY

Plan For Safety Guarantee Will Be Discussed in Paris Today.

WORK WITH BRITAIN

Paris, March 23.—With the visit here tomorrow of Count de St. Aulaire, French ambassador to London, France will assist the initiative in diplomatic negotiations with the British government concerning the problem of security for France. The ambassador's return home is for the purpose of taking part in a joint examination of the principles under which the security of France and the general peace of Europe can be assured.

Count de St. Aulaire and Premier Poincare will discuss—in their broad outlines at least—questions of a pact of guarantees, the problem of the Rhine frontier and the role which the League of Nations will be called upon to play in the new system of a European balance of power. Tomorrow's conference may be regarded as the normal development of the policy inaugurated by the French government by its recent publication of its yellow book.

The French government considers, although no official announcement has been made to this effect, that while the experts' committee were engaged in their work of finding a solution for the reparations problem it was an opportune moment to begin negotiations on the question of French security, which always has been regarded here as one of the fundamental bases to a general agreement.

An exchange of views regarding security has been in progress between Paris and London for some weeks through diplomatic channels. The matter received fresh impetus following the second letter of Ramsay MacDonald, the British prime minister, to Premier Poincare, and since then security, rather than reparations, has formed the bulk of the usual communications between the chancelleries.

Old-Time Hebrew Wedding Performed In Synagogue

Miss Sophy Brand Becomes the Bride of Mr. Philip Beaver of Toronto With Interesting Ceremonial.

The Horton Street Synagogue was the scene of an interesting event on Sunday night when, with all the ceremonial of a Hebrew wedding, Miss Sophy Brand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Brand, Clarence street, became the bride of Mr. Philip Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beaver of Toronto. The ceremony, which took place at 7 o'clock, was performed by Rabbi Phillips, assisted by Assistant Rabbi Karakowsky of Toronto.

Following the old-fashioned Jewish custom, the rabbi met the bride and her maidens at the entrance to the synagogue, where they had been escorted by their attendants. The bride, wearing a nuptial robe of white georgette, beaded, and a Grecian veil, carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was escorted to the church by her bridesmaids, Miss Sarah Apple of this city and Miss Betty Perle of Detroit, both in gowns of pink georgette and carrying pink roses. A little flower girl, Molly Goldstein of Toronto, niece of the bride, was also in pale pink with the veil to match that of the bride, while Master Willie Goldstein, in a miniature dress suit, was the ring-bearer. The mother of the bride, who gave her in marriage, and other women friends, also accompanied the bride to the synagogue, having met at her home before the ceremony, according to Jewish custom.

The groom, too, had his body of escorts, among them his best man, Mr. Morris Brand of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldstein of Toronto, who gave him in marriage. The bride and groom did not meet during the day, until they met at the synagogue.

In the synagogue the bride and groom stood beneath a canopy of crimson velvet embroidered in Hebrew emblems and upheld by four men attendants. A Jewish orchestra from Toronto supplied the music for the ritual.

Following the ceremony, a wedding feast was held at the home of the bride, about one hundred guests being entertained. The orchestra band in attendance here also added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Among the many gifts was a wrist watch set with diamonds, the gift of the groom to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Beaver left this morning to spend their honeymoon in New York, and on their return will reside in Toronto. The bride travelled in a henna gown, small black hat and modish wrap.

WEDDINGS

TAYLOR—GILLAM.

All Saints' Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at 4:30, when Martina Gillam, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Gillam, King street, and the late John Gillam, was married to William Taylor of Duchess avenue. Rev. A. A. Rice performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a train, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Miss Lenore Foster was her sister's bridesmaid, and wore a coming gown of electric green tulle, with a hat to match, and carried pink sweet peas. Mr. Edred Drew, brother of the bride, acted as best man. During the signing of the register Miss Annie Goddard sang "All Joy Be Thine," and Mr. Vaughan played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, on Adelaide street. Among the out-of-town guests were:

TISDALE—DREW.

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Church of the Redeemer, when Dora Jane Adair Drew, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Foster and the late Edred Drew, of this city, was married to William Charles Tisdale, Rev. A. S. H. Cree performed the ceremony. The bride wore a pretty gown of white brocade silk, with a tulle veil arranged with pearls and orange blossoms, and carried a shower of roses and carnations. Miss Lenore Foster was her sister's bridesmaid, and wore a coming gown of electric green tulle, with a hat to match, and carried pink sweet peas. Mr. Edred Drew, brother of the bride, acted as best man. During the signing of the register Miss Annie Goddard sang "All Joy Be Thine," and Mr. Vaughan played the wedding music. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, on Adelaide street. Among the out-of-town guests were:

ALL FAT PEOPLE

SHOULD KNOW THIS

Fat people owe a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and are still more indebted for the reduction of this harmless, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores of the world over at the reasonable price of one dollar for a box, or you can secure them direct on receipt of price from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal.—Adv.

Miss Florence Little of Brigid, Mrs. Jack Parker of Lansing, Mich., a sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale will reside on Oxford street.

BOURNE—ATWELL.

An interesting wedding took place at the Knox Presbyterian manse on Saturday night, when Miss Lagretta Atwell, daughter of Mr. Levi Atwell, Stanley street, became the bride of Clarence Bournes Bourne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Septimus Bourne, Cathcart street. The bride was attended by Miss Lillian Atwell, while Mr. Stanley D. Sharp supported the groom.

ALL FOODS SHOULD BE SEALED

The medical profession very generally advocates that all food products should be sold in sealed packages. All cities rigorously inspect butcher shops to prevent meat from being infected. Many prohibit milk from being sold in bulk and gradually this will come with everything. "SALADA" was the first to introduce the package idea as regards tea, over 22 years ago, and "SALADA" is still a little purer and a little better than other teas. It has by far the largest sale.—Adv.

TILLSONBURG CHURCH OPPOSES CHURCH UNION

Vote Shows Same Results in Smaller Congregations of District.

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, March 23.—A canvass now being conducted in the Avondale Presbyterian Church congregation shows fully 80 per cent of the congregation decidedly opposed to proposed church union. The vote taken in 1915 was tie, but circumstances and changes in the bill since that date have caused the big turnover, and the same results are showing in all the smaller Presbyterian congregations in the district.

GIRLS INTERESTED IN COMPETITION

Rules Announced For Silver Cup Contest Directed by the Girls' Work Board.

The city-wide competition which is being conducted by the Girls' Work Board, is attracting the interest of the girls' groups of the city, both intermediate and senior. Four silver cups are being offered, two for the best essays on "What C. G. I. T. and Girl Guiding would mean to Elizabeth from Northern Ontario," and two for the best pageants illustrating a day on mission field. All pageants must be judged and all essays be in by May 1.

The rules which govern the competitions follow:

Contest Rules:

1. There shall be an intermediate and a senior competition. Intermediate groups shall be considered to be those the majority of whose members are from twelve to fourteen years of age; and senior groups shall be considered to be those the majority of whose members are from fifteen to seventeen years of age.
2. The essay shall be on C. G. I. T. or Girl Guide work and shall be not less than two pages of foolscap (300 words), nor more than three pages (450 words) in length.
3. The girls may receive help from any source whatever, but the writing and arranging of the material must be their own work.
4. Essays are to be marked as follows: 75 per cent for matter, 15 per cent for form of expression, and 10 per cent for originality.
5. The essays shall be read by each group leader, and those judged to be worth 60 per cent are to be handed in to the convenor of the judging committee for further reading before May 1.

The Pageant Contest.

There shall be an intermediate and a senior competition, the terms intermediate and senior being interpreted as above.

The pageant shall consist of an original representation of their own denominational missionary work in one mission field, or of the work shown by their mission study during the year.

3. The time for presentation shall be not more than 45 minutes.

4. The presentation shall be judged according to the following points:

- (a) Accuracy of information.
- (b) Correctness of local color.
- (c) The prominence given to the missionary appeal.
- (d) The dramatic ability of the group.
- (e) The percentage of the group taking part.

5. All pageants shall be presented before the first of May. When groups have their pageants prepared the group leader shall notify the convenor of the judging committee, who shall arrange for the judges to attend the presentation.

City Divided.

For these contests the city shall be divided into three sections, as follows:

South—Christ Church, St. James' Anglican, Wellington Street, Askin Street, Ridout Street, Knox and Chalmers.

East—Cromyn Memorial, St. Matthews, St. Marks, Centennial, Dundas Center, Hale Street, King Street, Hyatt Avenue, Hamilton, All Saints, Chelsea Green.

Central and north—St. Paul's Cathedral, St. John's, Church of the Redeemer, St. George's, Talbot Street, First Methodist, Colborne Street, Robinson Memorial, First Presbyterian, St. Andrews, New St. James, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Empress Avenue.

Winners in the contests shall first be chosen from each section. Later, as provided for by the Girls' Work Board, the winners in the sections shall have their essays and pageants judged so that it may be decided what group shall be declared the winner of the cup.

Paris, March 21.—A pretty turban shown here, which is sure to look well on most women, is of a dark colored corded silk. The turban, designed by Lucie Hamar, is rather plain except for a softening row of corded all round the crown, in graduated shades of sand ribbon.

BLACK SILK PAJAMAS.

London, March 24.—Pajamas of black crepe de chine have come into vogue today. Not content with the sober black—so flattering to many complexions—the designers have ornamented these pajamas with the most vivid embroidery in fantastic cubist designs.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

New York, March 24.—Late spring and early summer gowns will in many instances be the soul of simplicity. One frock of black silk worn here today is as plain and straight as a costume slip, except that it has short sleeves and a loose girde of black piquet chiffon.

MOVES TO BLENHEN.

Special to The Advertiser.

West Lorne, March 22.—Much regret is felt locally over the removal of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Thompson to Blenheim.

For four years Mr. Thompson has been manager of the Merchants Bank and the Bank of Montreal. He has been a prominent member of McCol Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and has always taken an active interest in baseball, being president of the Elgin-Kent League two years ago.

During her few months' residence here Mrs. Thompson has made many friends.

Mr. Thompson is engaging in the grain business at Blenheim.

SAVE CHILDREN FUND MOUNTS TO $372.81

The Latest Cable From Greece Reports 17,000 Infants in Need of Milk.

London donations toward Save the Children Fund are fast creeping up toward the $500 objective. E. Manning, manager of the Dominion Bank, who is acting treasurer of the fund, reporting $372.81 now on hand.

The need is still great in Greece. The latest cable from Leonard Leese, chief organizer of the fund, states that he has received 60 tons of Canadian flour bought by the Toronto committee, and sends thanks for the gift. The Canadian money is expended on Canadian food, which is shipped to Greece, where 2,000 refugee children are suffering for want of food. Twenty-five cents will feed a child for a whole week, $1 for a month, and $12 for a year.

The cable follows: "We took delivery yesterday of 60 tons of Canadian flour bought by the Toronto committee. We are extremely grateful for this exceptionally appropriate gift."

"H. W. Sams, the New Zealand administrator of our work in Macedonia, reports that he has just made a tour on horseback of the outlying mountain villages which are still under deep snow. He found the refugees suffering keenly for lack of food, clothing and blankets. They told him that our milk distribution had saved many lives and they pleaded for an increased issue. This we are making to the sick."

"It is impossible for the refugees to become self-supporting before the next harvest. Charitable measures are absolutely essential to supplement the schemes of the League of Nations commission and the Greek government for the settlement of the refugees upon the land. In Salonika alone, at least 17,000 infants are in need of extra milk allowances to remedy the effects of malnutrition. In most areas famine is required to fight the ravages of malaria."

PRESENT PAGEANT.

Special to The Advertiser.

Mount Brydges, March 23.—The M. K. K. Mission Circle girls, Wednesday, presented their pageant, "They All With One Consent." They were assisted by outside talent for the first part of the program. Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Monish, Mrs. Conkey of Strathroy and Miss Nettie Jones of London assisted the local talent in rendering an excellent program. The proceeds of the evening were to support a Chinese child under the care of the Mission Circle.

Alkali In Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Multisilf coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisilf is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh-looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisilf. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.—Adv.

MARRIAGE NOT BED OF ROSES
CAUTIONS MRS. LYDIG HOYT

But Denies That the Average Disillusionment Which Follows the Wedding Ceremonial Is Any Greater For the Man Than For the Woman.

MODERN WOMAN THINKS OF MORE THAN DRESS

By JULIA HOYT.

I have always sworn that I would not write an article on the subject of marriage, but here I am doing it. The reason? I happened to read an article on marriage the other day, written by a man, which I think needs an answer.

The gentleman's point of view about women and their lives dates back not to ten years ago, but to fifty years ago. I will quote some of his observations:

"A woman's idea of a good time is to get herself a lot of pretty new and expensive clothes, go to a smart hotel at an expensive resort, ride along the boardwalk, daintily coiffured and manicured, seeing what the other women are wearing, or else looking into the shop windows to see what they will be wearing next week."

Shades of the past! Does he really believe that today that is what the average woman is thinking about and doing? I admit there are still probably many of whom this is true, but I deny that it is true of the majority.

The Wife's Idea.

He says further:

"The wife's dominant idea is to have dinner served at a regular hour, so that everything will be piping hot and the cook in a good humor. To the husband it is vastly more important, or at least more interesting, to finish his game of cards

The Housewife's Column

This is a story of a bride, only three months wed, and oh, so unhappy—because her biscuits fell, and her potatoes burned, and the gravy just wouldn't, that's all—though she tried so hard and worked so hard.

And, dear me, the expenses! What with throwing out this and wasting that she could never keep within her budget. Oh, yes, they had a budget. It's strange way, don't you think?

They had to save—somehow. He suggested getting everything from the Dominion Store near them, buying only the simple things that are so easy to prepare. So it was decided upon.

And she triumphantly writes me—(that first meal had been bacon and eggs (your Mayfield Bacon and Braised Eggs) and some lovely Mountain Crest canned corn, Red Package tea, and a can of your Bayside Peaches with some of your lovely cakes. It was so easy and you should have seen HIM eat!)

Indeed he would eat! Not only was it good food prepared for him by his own wife but it meant the start of a new era—happy meals and savings on all food purchases.

Perhaps the bride will write me again to let me know if her biscuits turned as light as her heart must be. Will she?

WOMEN and THE HOME

Patience Is By No Means a Virtue.

Dorothy Dix

Points Out Cases Where
It Is a Vice

The Too Patient Wife or Mother Is Merely a Doormat—Only Impatient People Improve Conditions—Get Up in the World and Raise Worthy Sons and Daughters.

Not long ago I made a long journey. On the train was a woman with a great big, strong, husky child who fretted and cried and whined every step of the way until there wasn't another passenger on the car who didn't feel like getting up and heading a subscription to build a monument to the late lamented Herod.

All except the mother. She exhausted herself trying to amuse the child. She bought it everything that the train butcher brought along. She played games with it. She told it stories until her tongue hung out. Still the fretting and the whining, and the crying went on, hour after hour, yet never a cross word nor a black look did she give the little demon.

"Isn't the patience of mothers the most wonderful thing in the world?" said a man to me.

"It is," I replied, "and it is also the most idiotic thing in the world, and the greatest crime on earth."

The man looked surprised, and I went on: "You have been admiring that woman for her patience with that bad child," I said. "Has it occurred to you that if she had been an impatient woman, with a good strong right hand, she could have turned that little imp across her knees and with one spank have saved herself and all the balance of us from the annoyance that has made this journey a nightmare to us? Indeed, if she had been an impatient mother she would not have had to publicly correct the child, for she would have brought it up to behave itself and consider the comforts and rights of other people."

We are always lauding patient mothers who make doormats of themselves for their children, and who let their children kick them about and treat them any old way but these are not the mothers who raise up fine sons and daughters. The men and women who amount to something in the world have not had meek, patient mothers. They have had mothers with backbone and grit who set certain ideals before them and held them to it. They haven't had mothers who overlooked every fault and condoned every weakness. They have had mothers who would not stand for any foolishness. Mothers who pointed out the road of duty and righteousness to them and drove them along it when they didn't go along it of their own accord.

Whenever you hear a child talking impudently to its parents, whenever you see a girl flout her mother's opinions, and a boy treat his father with contempt; whenever you see hulking, lazy young people who let their old parents toil to support them, you behold the work of a patient mother. Before they were three months old they knew that Patient Mother would walk them till she dropped if they howled loud enough. By the time they were in kindergarten they knew that they were the ones who must be obeyed, and that Patient Mother was nothing but their humble slave. By the time they were twenty they were convinced that it was a waste of politeness to treat Patient Mother decently, and that she really enjoyed going shabby that they might have finery, and working her fingers to the bone so they might live in idleness.

Believe me, the good mothers are not the patient mothers. They are the impatient mothers who dreamed respect and obedience, and who put the fear of God in their children. And these patient wives! They get just the same sort of reward that the patient mother gets. Did you ever know a patient wife who had a husband who really loved her or treated her decently? You never did.

We all know patient wives who wait year after year for unfaithful husbands to come back to them. We know women who have patiently tried for half a lifetime to reform drunken husbands. We know patient, worn women who have worked themselves nearly to death supporting shiftless ne'er-do-well husbands, hoping against hope that their good-for-nothing men will at last get ashamed of themselves and go to work.

But the patient wife never reforms a bad husband. It is the impatient woman with a heavy hand and a rough tongue who makes the slacker go to work, because he knows that she will bodily throw him out of the house if he doesn't.

It is the impatient women who won't stand for drunkenness, and who would drag a philanderer into the divorce court, who brace up their spines into behaving themselves, because they are afraid of the strong woman at home. It is the impatient woman who demands her share of the family income, who gets it, and her husband's respect into the bargain.

So it goes through life. It is the impatient people who will not endure tyranny who make themselves free. It is impatient people who will not stand for bad conditions who improve things. It is the impatient people who do not like poverty and an humble position who fight their way up to power and places, and riches. It is the patient people who never get anywhere, who never have anything, who never achieve anything.

Wherefore I say that patience is not a virtue; that it is a vice!

Mrs. Quack Says Men Draining Land
Nearly Starved Her People

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"Peter, did you ever go hungry?" inquired Mrs. Quack.

"Of course," replied Peter promptly. "Do you know of any one who has never gone hungry?"

"I mean, have you ever gone hungry for a long time?" explained Mrs. Quack.

"I should say I have," replied Peter. "Why in the middle of winter there have been days at a time when I had to run my legs off to find enough food to keep me alive."

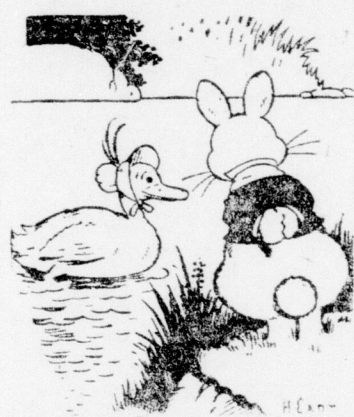

"Then you know something about what we suffered down there in the Sunny South this last winter," said Mrs. Quack. "But you can't have any idea how bad it was. No, sir, you can't have the least idea how bad it was. You may have been nearly starved for a few days at a time, but it was that way with us all winter long, and kept getting worse, instead of better."

"You see, all the Ducks and all the other water-loving birds who used to live in that place where we had had our winter home for so long had to go to other places where there was water and food. Now, those other places had always had plenty of food for those who had been in the habit of living there. But there wasn't food enough for these and for all the extra ones who came crowding in. So it was that nobody had enough to eat. It was everyone for himself. We did nothing but hunt for food. The stronger ones crowded away the weaker ones. When I think of it it seems as if we had to fight for every mouthful. We flew from pond to pond, looking for a place which was not overcrowded."

"Mr. Quack and I managed to keep together, but our children were soon separated from us, and we haven't the least idea what became of them. We didn't have any winter home. We just kept moving, trying to find a place where we could get food enough. Other Ducks were doing the same thing. We all grew thin. The weakest ones continued to grow weaker still. The weaker they grew, the less food they could get, because the stronger always crowded them away. So many, very many, starved to death. Others became sick. This was because they were so weak that they couldn't throw off sickness. Because there were so many Ducks crowded together everywhere the sickness spread. It was dreadful. You have no idea how dreadful it was. And all because of those dreadful two-legged creatures called men."

"But still I don't understand!" cried Peter. "What did men have to do with it?"

"They had everything to do with it," replied Mrs. Quack bitterly. "They were the cause of it all. We didn't find it out for a long time, but at last we did find it out. They dug those big ditches, which I told you had taken the places of the winding streams that used to be all through that great marshy land. Those ditches had carried away the water from the ponds and lakes. Taking away the water from the land that way is called draining. While the water had

Now you'll like Bran!

Introduced a Year Ago
Now Enjoyed Daily by Millions

It took four years of experiment and research for the most skilled scientists to produce Post's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat. But it just took one year for millions of people to find out that Post's Bran Flakes was sufficiently laxative and good to eat. Such is the wonderful reward accorded a food which has a definite function to perform in giving better health—and is abundantly capable of doing it.

Post's Bran Flakes is laxative! It has all the laxative effect of bran. It is appetizing! It has most of the food value of wheat—the thin crisp tasty toasted flakes are wonderfully flavored and delicious.

Try this food with cream or milk. Your grocer has it for you. But in order to be sure of having the genuine insist on seeing the name "Post's Bran Flakes" on each package.

The Case of Williams.

Several letters have appeared in The Advertiser regarding the case of Harry ("Slim") Williams, who was sentenced to be hanged on April 10.

The burden of these letters is that Williams should not be hanged, because he did not commit murder, but was rather shown to have been an unwilling accomplice in the carrying out of the robbery of the Home Bank at Melbourne.

The evidence went to show that Williams did not fire a shot from his revolver; that he acted as a man who had got into a scrape and was extremely anxious to find the easiest way out. This evidence was appreciated by the jurors, shown by the fact that they attached a rider to their verdict of guilty recommending that mercy be shown in the case of Williams.

The writers of the letters about the case of Williams have probably overlooked the fact that before any action can be taken by the department of justice it is necessary to have all the evidence in the case forwarded to Ottawa. This has been a very long-drawn-out task, as the trial lasted several days, and all the shorthand notes have had to be transcribed and put in shape for presentation to the department of justice. This has been done only in the last week, so that it was previously impossible for consideration to be given to the case.

Some action is to be expected at a reasonably early date, and it is not beyond the bounds of expectation to anticipate that judicial leniency will be extended to the extent of imprisonment instead of the death sentence.

Salaries at Ottawa.

The policy has been followed in the Dominion Parliament in the rearrangement of bonuses for civil servants of making a different rate for married men and for single men. Married men or those who have dependents will continue to receive the bonus, while single men with no family responsibilities will lose the bonus. Those who receive $1,200 to $1,500 per year will receive two-thirds of the bonus, between $1,500 and $1,800, one-third of the bonus, while those over that amount get no bonus at all.

The question has been raised, and with good reason, that the government, while making reductions to men who are not receiving a large salary, should not have overlooked the indignity of the members of the Commons and of the Senate. These stand at $4,000 per year, and the amount was placed there on account of the high cost of living, the very same reason for which the war-time bonuses were first given to the civil servants. The amount used to be $2,500 per annum.

No hardship would have been worked by making a start at scaling down on the $4,000. Even if it had been placed at $3,500 as a starter it would have been in keeping with the cuts that were being made in the salaries of the civil servants. The majority of the members of parliament have other businesses in which they are engaged, and it would have been a fitting thing to have them participate in the general reduction that has been made.

Henry Ford's Idea.

Henry Ford, in an interview in Collier's, declares that the president of United States has no partisan duties. His view comes in this paragraph:

"The president of United States has no partisan duties. His oath is registered in heaven to serve the nation—not to serve a party."

Should not the same thing be true in a great extent of any president or any premier? It is high ground to take, but it is a good, wholesome footing.

The obstacles in the way are very apparent. The premier of a province in Canada, or the premier of the Dominion, is elected to office because he heads the largest political party.

From the standpoint of practical politics his chances of re-election are tied up with those of his party. If, during his term of office, he does try to bring within the scope of his activities the good of the whole people, he is not going to win votes from other political parties at the next election. He is going to find that the contest will be fought out on straight political lines, and that he has to depend for support largely on the votes of his own political party.

The number of independent voters in Canada is not large; men may profess a certain amount of political independence, especially between elections, but when it comes to the point of casting ballots they can be counted on to show a preference for their own political party.

That plan tends to destroy independent political action on the part of a premier; in Canada the chances are that a political opposition would oppose the speech from the throne, even if the wording of their opposition were weak and inane. They seem to take it for granted that they are there as an opposition party, and as such their duty is to oppose.

Henry Ford's idea is wholesome, but practical politics is the stone in the road, and we have not yet attained enough political action to shove it from the path.

They Proved It.

Evidence of what persistent advertising will do was given at a gathering of first year collegiate pupils who had met to spend a social evening at the home of one of the students.

A guessing contest had been arranged, and slogans and pictures had been taken from various advertisements. The participants were requested to write down the name of the product represented in each case.

There were thirty in all, and the winner of the prize had a perfect score, having named each one correctly. There were many others who were within two or three of having a perfect score, and even the poorest showing made it clear that at least 70 per cent of the advertisers were known.

It goes to show that girls and boys from 14 to 16 have had their attention drawn to these advertising displays; that they have read them, and that they have remembered what they have read.

The advertiser has made his appeal to all classes, and the young people of today, who in a few years will be the buyers of all classes of goods, have been reading and observing, and a lasting impression has been made on their minds.

The case furnishes very good proof that persistent and judicious advertising reaches out for the buyers of the future as well as holding the trade of the present.

Our Turn Is Coming.

Labor conditions are not nearly so bright in the industrial centers of United States as they have been for some months past. Detroit, the place where it used to be said a man could get a position in an hour after he got there, has more men than it can employ.

In Chicago things are worse than in Detroit. The Los Angeles Times, referring to the situation in Chicago, says: "There are nearly two men for every job in Chicago, and already there is some suffering in white collar circles. If there is a slump in the building trades a lot of folks will be out of work in the east."

On the other hand, employment conditions in Canada are making a better showing; we have faced our period of depression, and cut the sails accordingly. The budgets from the Dominion Parliament and from nearly every municipal body in the country show that the pruning knife has been used on expenditure. It may be that we will have to get down on all fours in some quarters to make progress, but we are on the right path.

In this country we have nothing savoring of a prosperity that could not be accounted for on economic grounds. In the republic to the south it has been a puzzle to say what has kept the thing going. Conditions in the great agricultural and live stock belts have been worse than we have them in Canada; there have been more farm failures per capita, and there has been more political juggling to make the farmers believe they were all right than was ever resorted to in the Dominion.

Canada is on the way up. Hard work and wholesome thrift will put us over the top of the hill. We shall soon hear nothing about the exodus to United States; on the other hand we will have our own people coming back to the best land under the sun.

Note and Comment.

Rag rugs are once more fashionable, but, alas, not the habit of making them at home.

They are running out of names for sleeping cars, but we can't recollect having seen one named "Sonora."

A move is on now to standardize dental practice. Which may mean that they're all going to pull to gether.

One of the most unfortunate things for the oil grafters in United States is that so many things rhyme with oil, such as spoil, boil, soil, etc.

Some towns are having a clean-up and paint-up week. For the benefit of the young ladies it should be stated that the campaign refers to yards and buildings.

Tavish Mactavish

PEACE!

NOTHING shows how the world, or certain parts of it, have aged in the last ten years more than the manner in which St. Patrick's Day was spent in Dublin this year. It was as much a funeral as a feast day. Quiet, was the order of the day and restraint was the most obvious symptom. In other words, the youth of Ireland is for the time being a dead letter. The spirit of fun has passed away from the islands, and the careless happy-go-lucky air of older times is lost.

A few private dinners, a few gatherings of friends in a house, and a few stories told amongst friends—this was St. Patrick's Day in 1924. To the older people it must seem that something vital in Irish life has been taken away. To the onlooker it seems a page in history full of portent and prophetic of a great change.

To a people as brooding and temperamental as the Irish, that is the southern people of Celtic stock, these joyous feast days were as necessary as the sun and the fresh air and social intercourse. Fear and exhaustion overshadowed the land. What tale will tomorrow tell in the life of Ireland?

THE CELTIC FRINGE.

NOTHING could demonstrate the Celtic character of the men and women in the Western Isles off the coast of Scotland better and prove their remoteness from the world more surely than the statement of Sir Percival Phillips, an English journalist of note, that though suffering extreme privations, they are too proud to accept the government unemployment dole. He adds:

"The problem of the Western Isles is as perplexing as it is distressing. Their inhabitants are a proud, aloof people, who live in the past and merely exist in the present; clinging passionately to their poor homes amid the rocky hills, speaking their own tongue, and 'having no English'; resisting devoutly any suggestion that they should migrate to more productive land and regarding with profound suspicion the efforts—even of their brother Scots across the water—to help them."

The people in Skye, and the Hebrides belong to a race that is doomed to vanish if only by their refusal to cope with modern conditions by modern qualities. They have the gift of all the arts in a superlative degree backed by the most sensitive imagination in the world.

They are natural Tories in sentiment, and radicals in fact. If they could be imported into North America and subsidized by the government to act as a brake on the material development of this age and place it would, in the long run, be a profitable investment and save a great deal of expensive undoing that some day will have to undertake some day.

PIT TO PALACE.

NOT so many years ago James Brown wore a little peaked cap in the front of which was stuck the small miner's lamp. He walked down to the pit head every day and put in his regular shift in the workings below (for ten or twelve dollars a week). When he was only twelve he knew more about a coal seam in his native Ayrshire than of politics or history or learning in general. To day Mr. Brown is lord high commissioner to the general assembly of the Church of Scotland and gets $10,000 a year for his work. He is a direct representative of the King, and is addressed formally as "Your Grace."

All his predecessors have been Scottish earls and dukes. As you will have guessed he is one of the Labor members in Ramsay MacDonald's party, and his appointment is another of the changes which have been made in the British society in the last few weeks. He has always been a great churchman and a greedy reader, which probably accounts for his selection for the post. But think of the change for the one time miner, and his good wife.

The proof of the labor pudding is in the way in which these posts are held and maintained. Mr. Brown says: "Just because I am a Socialist living in a house with a yearly rental of $50, don't think it means that any of the old dignities will be departed from. I am a strong believer in maintaining the ancient dignities of the office." Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in Holyrood Palace, the old royal palace of Scotland, and the nobility on state occasions will pay them the homage due the King's representative. Perhaps the English Socialists are not as black as they are painted, but the ghosts of the older nobility will probably haunt the poor Browns for a time in their new abode.

About Fleas

A SCIENTIST in Germany has gone and written a great big book, folks are amazed at what he's done, at all the trouble he has took.

For in that volume he sets forth not facts about the two-horned bees, but page and chapter, pictures, too, about the habits of the fleas.

And he goes on to make his point that they see well when in the dark, and know when we're all tucked in bed just where to honk their horn and park.

He seems to think they're awful smart, those fleas he writes a book about; he names them all and goes to tell how some are fair or dark and stout.

There's just one thing that I can't see in writin' on that flea life score, and that is why he wrote about a thing we all knew well before. How often have we strayed from home into some tavern cold and damp, and shivers smote us as we went to douse the smokin' coal oil lamp. And when we scrambled into bed, the fleas was lookin' through the gloom, and chucklin' at the fun they'd have with him what camped within the room.

So I can't see why any man should go and kick up such a fuss, when we found out long years ago that fleas they knew more things than us—ARK.

Dr. Frank Crane Blessed Blind

WHAT the mother of children needs is a deal of artful ignorance, by which I mean skill in ignoring. There are doubtless children spoiled by parental neglect, but there are a lot spoiled worse by parental attention. If I were a baby and had the privilege of choosing one or two bad mothers I certainly would select the one that would neglect me in preference to the one that would nag me. And I speak from the vantage of over fifty years.

There's many a time in the household when parents should be blessedly blind, shrewdly deaf and eloquently dumb. Learn to ignore. Practice the use of that most baffling of all weapons, more dreaded by naughty children than any switch, more efficacious in educational power than any lecture, more overawing than any frowns or threats—silence! A child becomes uncannily clever; he gets to know you like the printed page; he can play with you as a cat with a mouse; he sees through your scoldings; he discounts your tempers; he learns just how far he can stretch your patience. You can't fool him, except in one way. There is just one thing that is too much for him, just one thing that makes him feel your superiority, that makes him sense your mastery. And that is your self-restraint, your silence, your not doing the thing he expects you to do, and your not saying the thing he expects you to say.

You may well reason that the way to become an expert Greek scholar, or botanist, or throat specialist, is along the path of renunciation, not doing a million things and concentrating on one thing, the way to successful motherhood lies along a similar narrow mountain path.

TWENTY BIBLE QUESTIONS

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir—I was interested in a report that was made by C. F. Griffey, principal of the Adrian High School, on a number of questions he had submitted to Rotarians, businessmen and scholars in his charge. The questions were based on Bible facts.

It is surprising when some of the answers are considered that there was not a more complete knowledge on the part of those answering the questions. Christ, not Noah, commanded the ark, saving the human race from extinction when God became so displeased with the world's wickedness and sent the flood.

Christ, also, not Cain, was the one who wanted to know: "Am I my brother's keeper?"

It was not Paul but Christ who first carried the teachings of Christianity to the Gentiles, and He not Paul wrote most of the books of the New Testament.

Pharaoh was Jacob's father-in-law, and the judge responsible for the death of Christ.

Peter was the apostle who killed himself after receiving money for betraying Christ. Peter also was "the beloved apostle."

At a dinner of Adrian, Rotarians not one of them was able to answer all of Mr. Griffey's 20 questions correctly.

In fact, very few of the group were able to answer more than two or three of the questions correctly. Two or three answered as many as a dozen, but the average percentage was 34.5.

Questions and Answers.

HERE are the 20 questions asked by C. F. Griffey, superintendent of the Adrian High School, of about 500 Adrian Rotarians and high school teachers and students. Can you answer them? Try it and compare your answers with those given below.

1. Who was the first, chosen by God, to be the father of the chosen people?

2. Name the leader who led these people from captivity.

3. Who was the man that endured many trials and hardships and has been regarded as a man of great endurance?

4. Who was the first king of the Israelites?

5. When God became so displeased with the wickedness of the people that he would destroy them, who saved them from entire extinction?

A Curious Fact.

Showing That the Moon Has Quite a Lot To Do With Our Goings and Comings.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—The moon was full on March 20, at 11:30 p.m. If the full of the moon was 35 minutes later, it would bring it on March 21, in which case Easter Sunday would have been on March 23.

Or again, if this had not been leap year, we would have been one day further along on the calendar, and in that case Easter Sunday would have been on March 22. Funny what a half hour difference in the time of the full moon will do to the calendar! OBSERVER.

Municipal Matters.

Fair Play Discusses Ward vs. General Vote, and also the Early Closing Bylaw.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I saw an item in The Advertiser of March 19 as to taking a vote on voting at large in place of by wards. I understand that the voting system was unsatisfactory because many localities were unrepresented and others over-represented.

Why couldn't the nominations be by wards, so many to be elected in each ward, but by a general vote, so that every member of the council should be responsible to the whole electorate and not as now to his ward supporters only? I would like to see some such plan discussed.

I believe it would reduce the local prejudices and log-rolling tactics noticeable in the past, though I believe our present council is more free from this disease than any for many years past.

Now as to grocers closing early. The big fellows, centrally located, want to force the smaller outlying stores to refrain from doing business except when it suits the big fellows. Why? Simply because the big fellows, with more volume of business, can do sufficient business throughout the day, but the smaller grocer, in outlying districts, does a good deal of business in the evenings, and if he was compelled to close at a time to suit the bigger stores, he would soon be closed permanently.

It is simply another instance of too much legislation, by which the small business is hampered and finally crippled and extinguished. Yours, FAIR PLAY.

A Human Life.

Ingersoll Resident Thinks Justice Can Be Served Without the Execution of Williams.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Re the protest of mercy in The Advertiser.

I wish to state that I heartily agree with "Mercy." It is a very pleasing thing to see so many people rush headlong to save the birds and squirrels from destruction; but how much better it would be if people would take a little more interest when a human life is about to be destroyed. It seems strange that when the lives of three human beings are about to be destroyed for the sole purpose of carrying out the details of a very inhumane law there are only two people so far as I know in all Ontario who raise their voice against it. If the law is carried out, I fail to see where it is going to benefit anyone. It is only inflicting irreparable wounds on the memory of those left, and will fail to repair those already inflicted, because no one who is humane can rejoice in revenge.

It is also strange that the one man has been positively proven to have had no part in any act of violence, yet he is held responsible for the act, and people fail to protest. It seems to me that we have had enough of that kind of thing, and that it is time to call a halt.

A little more brotherly love and a better understanding of the Golden Rule would work wonders in this old world. Sincerely yours, CANADIAN.

Western Loses First Senior Title Tilt: Canadiens Defeat Calgary

TORONTO WEST-END QUINTET GAINS EDGE IN FINAL SERIES

Western "U" Last Period Spurt Fails To Overtake Lead.

SHAMROCKS WIN 20-15

Saturday night about 2,000 fans crowded the Armories to see the best cage bill dished up here this season, in which the Western "U" quintet, interscholastic intermediate champions, were to meet the Shamrocks, who avenged their former defeat at the hands of the Smith-MacDonald Aces by emerging victors over the Youngs-town lasses, 20 to 15, in a decidedly closely-contested mix, and the London garrison defeated the Kent Regiment 10 to 8.

The O. A. B. A. contest was a heart-breaking affair for the locals. Their fighting spirit received a jolt in the first few minutes of play, when Reeves, Toronto forward, broke away for two counters in a row before they could get properly started. The London then on it was an uphill fight all the way for Western. They were out-scored in the first half 24 to 9, but in the final frame the old spirit that gave Western the interscholastic championship came out, and the Collegians outlasted the Torontonians 17 to 15 only to fall short on the total. Howell got Western's first point on a foul shot, and followed it up with their initial counter on a pass from Hungerford, putting Western within a point of West End. Reeves put Toronto in the lead again. Joins notched a point on a foul. Fraser tallied again for West End on a long one from center. Reeves broke away again, getting two baskets in about as many seconds. Fraser scored a rebound off Reeves' try, who immediately added four more points to his credit list on a basket and two foul shots. Joins counted out fouls. Western began to have the best of the play, their combination working down under the cage, but their shots going wild. Howard and Tyler combined for a basket and a foul. Reeves tallied for Toronto's total. Reeves worked in again for another West End tally. McLennan got a point on a free shot, and Howell followed with the last basket of the period: West End 24, Western 9.

Girls' Game Even.
Hutchinson broke into Toronto's score column on a pass from Walker. Howell got two baskets, the first on a rush and the other on a pass from Sifton. McLennan and Howell tallied alternately shots from under the cage. Reeves added a counter, and a foul to Toronto's total. Howell tallied five points in quick succession on baskets and a foul. Tait counted for West End. Howell scored again. Reeves ran in two in the next few passes. Howell slipped in again, and Reeves tallied two counters to end the game. Howell was the big scoring ace for the locals, getting 21 points, while Reeves was the star for Toronto, tallying 18.

The Shamrock-Youngstown mix was even all the way through, first the Aces leading and then the Collegians, with either team the winner up to the final whistle. Minnie Bohn, the much-touted forward of the Aces, showed her stuff by running in the first basket on a long pass from center. Pearl Blackwell knotted the score again getting through on a pass from Marion Hayden. Half-time score, 7-7.

Aces again took the lead, Marg. Gee pushing in a rebound from a foul shot. Pearl Blackwell tallied a point on a foul. Marg. Gee broke away again on a long pass from Minnie Bohn. Lottie Garrett fooled her check completely for two near counters from inside. L. Barker tallied on a long one from center.

Garrison Wins.
Isabel Duncan went on for Marion Hayden, breaking into the score column immediately on a pass from Lottie Garrett. Lottie Garrett counted, getting the ball on a long pass from Mary Lindsay. Minnie Bohn pulled off another one of her long shots from center. Pearl Blackwell stole the ball from a throw-in for another basket. Mary Lindsay tallied the final score of the game on a rebound off Isabel Duncan's try.

In the preliminary London Garrison managed to pull a win 10 to 8 over Kent Regiment, of Chatham, in a very close contest. Atkins showed up the best for the Chatham five while Barbour and Logan did the bulk of the work for the locals.

DE LA SALLE STAGES FIRST ICE CARNIVAL

Grade Eight Wins Hockey Game, Feature of Sport
At Arena.

The first annual winter sports carnival of the pupils of the De la Salle School was held Saturday at the Arena, when over 70 boys competed in the various skating events. The feature event was a hockey game between grades seven and eight, and which was won by the latter, 4 to 1. Under the careful coaching of the Christian Brothers, a number of the all-around athletes are being developed, and although young in years, several of the players given promise of future hockey material for London teams.

In the first race, which was two rounds of the rink for boys 12 and under, Bonner A.ust flashed across the ice, leading the runners, and was up well bunched together. Jack Kelleher was second. Norval Fitzgerald led a large entry in the class for boys 14 and under in a three-round event, while Jack Tillman finished second.

John McGrenere, who learned to skate about the same time he took to walking, had things all his own way for boys 16 and under. Kenneth Boyd won the distance race, calling for four complete rounds of the rink. In the six-round class, open to all boys, Gerald Dignan came first.

MAKING A GOLF CHAMPION

Hagen Tells of Freak Shots That Banished Difficulties

Made Birdie Three After Driving Through Six-Foot Opening in Tree.

PLAYED UPSIDE DOWN

Ball Safely Extricated From Underbrush by Using Club Left-Handed.

CHAPTER 15.
Before I relate my adventures in the British Open of 1921, I want to take the opportunity of answering a question which has often been put to me: "What was the best shot you ever played?"
If I had received this query prior to the spring of 1921, I would have been forced to deliberate at some length on the matter. In the North and South championship of that year, I made a shot, on the last hole of the first round, which I think was one of my best by long odds.
I had hooked my drive badly, and the ball found a terrible spot in which to hide. After looking at the position, I made a shot, on the last hole of the first round, which I think was one of my best by long odds.
I had hooked my drive badly, and the ball found a terrible spot in which to hide. After looking at the position, I made a shot, on the last hole of the first round, which I think was one of my best by long odds.

Daring Saves Score.
I took careful aim, let fly at the ball, and much to my amazement saw it fly out as sweetly, and as neatly as if I had played one of my best mashie shots from a grassy lie through the fairway. Straight as an arrow, it traveled a hundred and fifty yards, heading for the sand green. There was a trifle too much cut on the ball evidently and it dropped 30 yards short of the pin, but it was from this position I was enabled to chip to the hole and gather in my much-needed par four. Instead of a bogey, I had made par, and my score from rack and ruin.
A few days later at Columbia, in the American Open, luck was with me again on a shot that I thought even more remarkable, although this time I was able to execute it with my regular right-hand stance and without having to resort to turning my club topsy-turvy.
While playing the fifteenth hole in the fourth round of this, even I hooked my ball badly and landed close to the sixteenth green, and big trees completely blocked my path to the pin at the fifteenth. There is a small brook running in front of the hole, and I had a good chance of finishing in the water which meant an additional penalty stroke.
There was a chance of clearing of most of this young forest, but the first tree was so tall I could not lift the ball over it and get the desired distance. I decided to play a good way out and this was to play the ball back on the fairway from which I had strayed, thereby losing only one shot.

Through a Six-Foot Hole.
Now I was fighting hard to overtake Long Jim Barnes and get a bigger slice of the prize money, and, if possible, didn't want to lose any more shots than I had already. There was one thing that I could do, providing I could play my mashie-niblick accurately enough, and this was to put the ball through a little opening in the first tree.
This opening was hardly more than six feet square, yet it looked tempting. The shot came off a perfect, knowing full well that if the ball went astray I was done for and my score on the hole would be at least six. # RULES FOR MARBLES AND JACKS

Here Are the Official Rules In The Advertiser's Marbles Contest For Boys and Jacks Contest For Girls—Entry Forms Are Given Below—Keep the Rules For Future Reference and Send In Your Entry Today

Rules For Game of "Marbles" in Canadian Championship, 1924

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.

1. This game of marbles is played on hard level ground free from grass, by five, six, seven, eight, nine or ten boys playing in a group. A hole is made in the ground four inches in diameter and three inches deep, shaped like an inverted cone. Ten feet from the edge of the hole a line three feet long is drawn, called a rolling line.

A player when rolling may stand or kneel, but his feet when standing and his knees when kneeling must be behind the line and on that side of the line farthest away from the hole between the ends of the three feet line, and he must not touch in any way the ground between the rolling line and the hole.

When a player is rolling the other players stand behind the line on the same side of it as the boy who is rolling. They will provide the boy playing with a clear freedom in action, and a clear ground to roll on, with the exception of marbles which are in play. Only one hand can be used in rolling and only one roll is allowed each turn.

Three Games to a Round. II. Each competitor has three ordinary clay marbles from half an inch to three quarters of an inch in diameter with which to play a round. A round is composed of three games. A game is completed when a number of points (see sec. V) is scored equal to the number of boys playing in a group.

When ten boys are playing in a group, then ten points are scored before a game is completed, and thirty points are scored to complete a round of three games. Should five boys play in a group, then five points will be scored before a game is completed and fifteen points scored to complete a round of three games, and so on for any number of boys playing in a group from five to ten.

How Winner is Determined Even in a Tie. III. The winner of the round is the boy in a group who has scored the greatest number of points in the three games (see sec. VI). Should a round result in a tie the one or more boys making the tie will play another game, and the boy making the greatest number of points in this game will be declared the winner.

Should a tie occur, each of the boys making the tie will roll a marble to the hole to determine the order in which they play. Then the first boy to play will roll, altogether a number of marbles equal to the number of boys in the group, and the game will proceed similarly to the other games played.

HOW TO PLAY A ROUND. Rolling for Position. IV. (a) A round is played in the following manner: Lots are drawn to find out the order in which the boys are to play. When this is determined the first boy in order takes his turn to roll. He rolls one marble and tries to get it into the hole. Each of the boys in turn rolls a marble and tries to get it into the hole. Each marble rolled is left where it comes to rest, either in the hole or on the ground outside of the hole. The marbles are now on the ground at various distances from the hole or in the hole.

(b) Should there be no marbles in the hole, then the order of the players is decided by the nearness of the marbles to the edge of the hole. The player who rolled the nearest marble goes first in the next play and the players who rolled the marble which is farthest away from the edge of the hole play last.

(c) Should there be one marble in the hole out of the total rolled, the player who rolled it plays first in the next play and the other boys in order according to the nearness of their marbles to the edge of the hole; the nearest to the edge of the hole playing second and so on with the farthest away playing last.

(d) Should there be two marbles in the hole, then the players who rolled these two roll again to decide who shall play first and second. The others boys will be placed according to the nearest of their marbles to the edge of the hole. With two marbles in the hole and the remainder on the ground outside, after the hole has been determined, the boys pick up their marbles and leave the ground clear for the two boys to roll again for first and second place.

(e) Should three marbles be in the hole the same procedure is adopted as in the case of two marbles. The three boys roll for first, second and third place, and so on in the case of four or more marbles in the hole.

Completing a Round. V. The order of the players being determined, the first boy to play takes one marble from each boy and rolls them all together towards the hole. Then, stepping over the rolling line the player tries to get the marbles not in the hole into it, by giving each marble, while it is resting on the ground where it stopped, a forward flick with one finger. (No scraping allowed.)

At the first miss he loses his turn and picks up the marbles in the hole. The scorer or referee marks one point for the player for each marble in the hole. The player retains the marbles he picked up from the hole, which will tally with the score.

The next boy to play picks up the remaining marbles from the ground and rolls them from the rolling line to the hole and proceeds similarly to the first boy. Each boy takes his turn until all of the marbles are disposed of. Should the first player or any portion of the group take up all the marbles between the games is completed and a second game is commenced.

The next boy in turn commences the second game by taking a marble from each boy and, from the rolling line, rolling them all together to the hole. The second game proceeds in a similar manner to the first.

After all the marbles are scored and taken up in the second game, the next boy in turn commences a third game by taking a marble from each boy and, from the rolling line, rolling them all together to the hole. The third game continues similarly to the other two games, and when all the marbles are taken up the round is completed, which also completes a round.

Should all the players in a group roll and not succeed between them in taking up all the marbles, the first player in order, and the others in turn, roll again until all the marbles are taken up and scored, and the game is completed.

THE WINNER. VI. The winner of the round is the boy who, at the end of the round, has the greatest number of marbles by the group of boys with whom he has been playing, and whose points, representing the number of marbles as marked by the score, is the largest total at the end of the round.

At the conclusion of the round all the marbles are returned to their original owners.

Penalties. VII. The penalty for the violation of any of the rules is that the player loses his turn and no score or advantage can be credited to him for the turn in which he broke a rule. The player who loses his turn through not complying with the rules plays again when his next turn arrives.

Referee's Decision. VIII. Any competitor who refuses to accept the decision of the referee eliminates himself from the competition. The referee's decision governs all disagreements and is final.

Rules For Game of "Jacks" in Canadian Championship, 1924

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.

I. The game of jacks is played with ten jacks on a flat surface and there are ten parts to each game. It is played by six girls composing a group. A round is three games played by the girls in a group in a contest. To begin a round, lots are drawn to determine the order in which the girls are to play. The only jack to be used is what is known as the ordinary jack with six prongs, measuring approximately one inch from tip to tip.

II. The player standing or sitting, as the case may be, takes ten jacks in one hand and drops, rolls or throws them on to the flat surface. This action is known as scrambling the jacks. The player is not allowed to set or place the jacks on to the surface, and only one scramble is allowed in each time play is commenced in any part of the game. In playing the jacks, which are not caught, may be placed or grouped on the surface instead of scrambled. A jack dropped to the ground during a scramble may be placed in play on the surface, two inches from the edge.

III. After the jacks are scrambled, play in the first of the ten parts commences as follows: The player takes one of the ten jacks in her hand and tosses it in the air. While the jack is in the air, she picks up one of the jacks from the flat surface with the same hand, and catches the tossed jack with the same hand before the tossed jack reaches the flat surface. The hand used to pick up the jack is then used to transfer the picked-up jack to the other hand, and she may place the picked-up jack on the surface, out of play, or one side. The play describes above for the first part of the game, the method of play used for the first eight parts of the game with this difference, that the number of jacks varies from one to eight at a time. The game and its ten parts are explained in the next section.

IV. Then ten parts are as follows: 1. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks one at a time during each toss. 2. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks two at a time during each toss. 3. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks three at a time during each toss. 4. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks four at a time during each toss. 5. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks five at a time during each toss. 6. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks six at a time during each toss. 7. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks seven at a time during each toss. 8. Scramble ten jacks, pick one up and toss it, pick up the balance of the jacks eight at a time during each toss. 9. The player takes nine jacks in her hand, tosses the tenth with the same hand, and the tenth is in the air places the nine jacks on the surface and catches the tossed jack in her hand before it reaches the surface. The tenth jack is tossed again and while it is in the air the player picks up the nine jacks with the same hand from the surface and catches the tossed jack before it reaches the surface.

10. The player takes the ten jacks in her hand and tosses them all and catches at least two or more jacks on the back of her hand before they reach the flat surface. The two or more jacks resting on the back of the hand are tossed again and at least two must be caught in the palm of the hand before they reach the surface below. Then the two or more jacks caught in the palm of the hand are tossed again and while they are in the air the remaining jacks are picked up from the flat surface and the two or more tossed jacks caught with the same hand before they reach the surface below.

While playing tens if the player, after tossing the ten jacks, catches the ten jacks on the back of her hand and succeeds in tossing them from the back of her hand and catches them all in the palm of her hand before they reach the surface it counts a "ringer" for the player. A "ringer" entitles the player to skip a game or count a game. Should a player at the end of the first game make a "ringer," she counts two games completed and commences to play the third game. Should a player make a "ringer" at the end of the second game she by this play completes her round of three games.

V. The winner is the first player amongst a group of girls playing in the first round, providing that each contestant has an equal number of turns. Should a tie occur between two or more girls a second round will be played by the contestants making the tie. Should a tie occur at the end of the second round the players making the tie will continue to play and the girl who succeeds in playing through the greater number of parts, even if it means playing games which are not making a foul, will be declared the winner of the group.

VI. A "foul" puts the player out of the game until her turn arrives again. When her turn arrives she commences at the beginning of the game, which will illustrate: A group of following will illustrate: A group of girls are to play. Lots are drawn for the first to sixth position. The first girl plays correctly to the fourth part or "four" then fouls. She steps to one side and all the other girls play in turn, until the one who has fouled comes into turn again. She tries again, commencing at the fourth part or "four".

VI. Foul for which a player is out are: 1. "Touching," if any jack is touched other than those required to be picked up and in play. 2. "Mis-grab," if a player picks up more or less than the required number of jacks. 3. "Jump-jack," if a jack which has been tossed bounces from the hand and is being caught. 4. "Kings," if in a scramble or in nine one jack remains on top of another. 5. "Bridges," if in a scramble or in nine one jack forms a bridge between two others. 6. The violation of any rule including the general rules which are: a. A player must remain on the same side of the flat surface from which the scramble has been made to play the game. b. All jacks must be scrambled from one hand. c. Only one scramble allowed to each player in each part played. d. Jacks must be caught in one hand. No assistance allowed from the other hand, body or object. e. Jacks may be passed from the hand in which the jacks are picked up to the other hand or placed out of play on the flat surface. f. Hanging on the surface to separate the jacks is not allowed. VII. The referee's decision shall govern in all cases of disagreement and shall be final.

DECLARES CHRIST WILL END CHAOS

Speaker Minimizes Importance of League of Nations and Conferences.

"Christ or Chaos" was the subject of a lecture at Hyman Hall yesterday by D. Copeland, of the International Bible Students. Reference was made to the peace movement being inaugurated in London. Although sympathy with the motive was expressed, the speaker suggested that the constructive efforts were not being directed upon the proper foundation.

"The building is being attempted with material that has passed through the fire," he said. "It needs to be cleaned up and sorted out. Before we in Canada can bring about peace in Europe, we need to clean up our own backyard."

"The western farmer of the stupendous resources, the wonderful prosperity of Canada, and he will laugh at you. He will point you to the 8,000 bushels of wheat he gathered from his 200 acres in last year's crop, which he expected to bring him say $10,000 at least; but it lays on the ground to rot, because it will not pay for the labor to ship it, and the while thousands are starving. Such things create a condition of heart that makes for bolshevism instead of peace. What use to bring in 75,000 new immigrants when 40,000 Canadians after twenty years of effort, are so disheartened they leave the country. A peculiar thing about the Bible Students is that they actually believe the Bible, and that it holds the key to the present situation. Your peace conference will without doubt bring to your attention the League of Nations as the means of attaining universal peace. You will not find the term 'league of nations' in the Bible any oftener than you will find the word 'trinity,' but the league is referred to there just the same, spoken of in a prophetic way in Isaiah viii. Israel was then rejoicing in the prospect of war, as did Canada in 1914. We shouted, hurrahed and waved flags to show it. Now, says Jehovah, 'Associate yourselves, and ye shall be broken.' The peace conference is a waste of words and time, or God has his own time and way to bring that about. The association in the league has not been for the purpose of attaining universal peace. It has not even been considered. Even limitation of armaments was only considered on the basis that the strongest nation should maintain its supremacy. The 'Big Four' dominates the league.

"Jesus did not teach us to pray for a league of nations or a political expression of anything. His kingdom will do what the league can never do. It will not only bring universal peace, but will raise the dead, banish sickness and sorrow, and millions now living in harmony with his righteous government will continue to live in peace of mind and heart."

AGED PARISIAN HERO RECEIVES GOLD MEDAL

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, March 24.—Louis Descoines, octogenarian hero, who recently effected his sixteenth rescue by saving a woman from the Seine, has been presented with a gold medal by the Federation of Life Saving Societies of France, and it is understood he will receive some mark of distinction from the government. During the siege of Paris, Descoines repeatedly dived into the Seine under German fire to repair the cable and maintain communication between Fort Valerien and Rouen.

REV. FR. POWELL GIVES SERMON ON MORTAL SIN

Lenten Service At St. Mary's Church Last Night Is Intensely Interesting.

MALICE NECESSARY

Mortal sin, its inception, its effect on the soul and mind of man, its consequences, and what constitutes this most grievous offence against the majesty of Almighty God, was the subject of an intensely interesting Lenten sermon by Rev. Fr. Francis Powell at St. Mary's Church last night.

Before entering his sermon proper,
Fr. Powell pointed out that, granting God was the Creator of man, His absolute right over man must be ac-knowledgeed, and furthermore, on account of this fact, He has absolute right to place whatever restrictions
He pleases on man's actions.

"If man, through any deliberate act, destroys that sovereignty over himself, or denies it, he commits a serious crime against the majesty of the mighty God," the speaker said. "He holds himself aloof from God."

"But malice is necessary before the sin is mortal. It is this malice which accuses man to throw off the yoke of God and constitutes, primarily, the essence of mortal sin. Without malice the sin cannot be grave."

Gives Illustration.

Illustrating his point, Fr. Powell said that if one spoke against one's neighbor impudently, and with no idea of doing his neighbor any harm, the offence is not grievous, but if malice is involved and that person deliberately attempts to harm his neighbor's reputation, then the offence is a very serious one in the eyes of God. So it is with mortal sin.

The offender must have deliberate knowledge of the seriousness of the transgression, must have malice, before the offence is mortal.
Explaining how circumstances alter cases, the priest took as an example the stealing of a needle. Something is taken deliberately from its rightful owner, and though the owner does not materially suffer from the theft, but all the same constitutes a mortal sin, but under the circumstances the act is only a venial offence. But, on the other hand, if the needle is stolen from a poor seamstress, and it was her only means of earning a living, the case takes on a different aspect, and is a grave offence against charity and justice.

An act in itself may not be mortal, but through existing circumstances

Circumstances May Alter.

"Circumstances determine whether an offence is mortal or not," Father Powell continued, "except in such cases when the transgression is against one of the commandments of God. There are what are called seven deadly sins, pride, envy, sloth, avarice, gluttony and impurity. Ordinarily, we offend God in one of these seven ways."
Mortal sin destroys entirely within ourselves sanctifying grace, which is to our soul what the providence of God is to all things outside the soul. Our bodies, if He withdrew His aid from them, would shrink into nothingness, from whence they came.
"Not only does mortal sin kill the soul, but all the good works we have previously done, and which have probably gained for us a place in Heaven, are wiped out by one mortal sin. Mortal sin weakens the will,
the spiritual faculties and the oftener we sin, the more difficult it is for us to resist temptation."

In concluding, Father Powell admonished his congregation to pray for the grace to resist mortal sin, and to pray for the intercession of the Blessed Mother that she may grant additional grace to aid in overcoming temptation.

Abolition of War Urged In Resolution Adopted At Mass Meeting in City

United Brotherhoods, Churches, Clubs, Labor Council and City Back Action.

PROF. DORLAND SPEAKS

Copies Will Be Sent To Provincial, Federal and British Governments.

Following a passionate appeal for world peace by Professor A. G. Dorland of the University of Western Ontario, who was supported by leading men from all denominations and parties in London, the following resolution denouncing war and urging international peace was passed unanimously yesterday by a large gathering, representing the various church brotherhoods, social clubs, the city council, the Jews of the city, the Trades and Labor Council and the fraternal societies.

The Resolution.

The resolution reads:
"Believing that the golden rule grants no exceptions to nations and is as binding on groups of peoples as on individuals, and that the continued recognition of war as a legal method of settling disputes between nations is a survival of barbarism, a travesty of justice, a negation of morality and religion, and a menace to the very existence of our Christian civilization; be it resolved by the United Brotherhoods of this city and other religious, civic, fraternal and industrial organizations of London, including the combined Christian churches, the city council, the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs, the Jewish people and the Trades and Labor Council here represented:

"That we pledge to the government of our country our unfailing support in all efforts to limit the creation of new means and materials for war beyond the actual needs of a police force.

"That all agencies of education should contribute to improving international understanding, and should teach history in terms of human achievement rather than in terms of war.

"That the time has come for all organizations, either religious or civil, existing in the interest of human welfare, to proclaim the outlawry of war as a method of settling international disputes."

Auditorium Crowded.

The auditorium in Central Collegiate, in which the meeting was held, was filled, and the applause which at frequent intervals interrupted the speaker showed clearly the interest taken in the addresses and the opinion of the audience on certain points of the world peace question. There were many ministers in the hall, yet there was a murmur of applause in the course of his address Professor Dorland said "War is a colossal sin. It is a more blattant denial of Christ than any theory held by the most pronounced atheist.
We have never got far in our desire for world peace until the church proclaims war a sin." There was a further moment of applause when the speaker declared, "In 1914 the church was asleep. It had been supporting a military system all through the peace years, and when the war came it could not change its attitude.
During the war years it preached just as much Christianity as the state would allow. We must build a peace system in time of peace, and I pray to God the church will never find

Professor Dorland Speaks.

Professor A. G. Dorland was introduced by David Ross, who presided. In an address listened to with the keenest attention he outlined the history of world history leading to the introduction of war as a means of settling international arguments and concluded with a strenuous denial of the justice or finality of decisions reached by war and an eloquent appeal for support of the League of Nations as the sole international tribunal capable of preventing war.

Professor Dorland said: "Today after the Great War is over Europe is an armed camp. There are 3,000-000 men under arms and 8,000,000 men in the first line reserve ready for eventualities. There is what amounts to an economic war in industry and litigation and dissension in religion. Never were the people so much in need of a change that we would have."

"The Christian Church was never so severely criticised, and the eastern peoples who were not Christians for centuries, but who are now being waged by Christians. Their attitude at the present time is 'Christianity is synonymous with gas bombs, submarines and war in general, and we want none of it.'"

Religion Inconsistent.

"There is a glaring inconsistency between what our church preaches and what we practice. Some people say that the supreme question in the church today is the argument between the Modernists and the Fundamentalists, but to me the real and only problem facing the church is the conflict between churches who believe in the teachings of Christ but hold them impossible of practice in everyday life and those who believe that Christ's laws of life can actually be put into use in daily life and reality."

"Our present attitude to Christ is that we do not give Him credit for enough wisdom to induce us to try out His philosophy in this world.
We do not give Him the respect which we hold for many other religious teachers. The church has been too much occupied with building a New Jerusalem in the skies. It is time she came back to earth and made 'peace on earth' her object."

Professor Dorland referred to the work of the primitive church, which was in absolute obedience to the teachings of its founder. He said:
"The members of the primitive church held Christ's teachings. They refused military service on the ground that they were ordered not to kill, and were persecuted for it. Later on in medieval times the of Commons that it would be disastrous to reject the proposal to con-base. Premier MacDonald, however, has definitely announced that the project will be abandoned.

international church, as it was at that time, instituted the Truce of God, and set aside certain days when no fighting was allowed.

Patriotism Develops.

"This was a time when the church was supreme and when the state was second in the allegiance of the average man. In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries this condition began to alter. Nationalism grew. Patriotism as we now know it was developing, and the international church was split up into several state churches owing allegiance to the civic head in each country.

"Religious persecution became the factor in which the participation of its members absolute obedience from every angle. God was regarded once more as a tribal God in the old Jewish manner. He was a God always on the side of the state worshipping Him and He was invariably asked to destroy the opposing armies, and serve the justice of the claims of the armies of the particular state.

"Today the state knows no higher law," he declared, "than its own security, and the theories made popular or rather well known by the German thinker Treitschke are the embodiment of the law of the modern state. So Caesar is put above the Christ, and the state above humanity. Domination and self assertion is the ideal of the state and also the fundamental opposite of Christ's teachings."

Was Greatest Sin.

"The result of all this changing power from an international church in the dark ages of Europe to the present situation, where the church is purely a national affair and subject to the authority in all matters to the political head of the state, is war, and all its attendant brutalities and horrors. The speaker stated that there was nothing romantic in modern war. "It is just a scientific annihilation," he said. "It is the most colossal sin in all history. This war thing, a more blatant denial of Christ than any theory of an atheist."

"The supreme test of the church in the world today is the abolition of war. There are people who say that if we want to get rid of war that we must change human nature. I believe that God can change human nature, and I know that we can change human institutions. In the medieval ages in Europe it was the church that substituted the tribunal of justice for the trial by combat, and it is the church today which must substitute an international court of justice for the trial by combat which we call war.

"It is an appalling and terrible evidence of the moral and spiritual bankruptcy of our politicians and statesmen that they were unable to prevent a war when Lloyd George has told us that if all these statesmen could have met around a table
the war could have been averted."

Forced To Support.

"During the war the church preached just as much Christianity as the state would allow. She found that having supported a military form in peace time she could not effect a change in the sudden stress of war conditions. pray to God she will never find herself in such a position again."

"World peace is not to be accomplished without sacrifice. We must make just as great sacrifices for peace as we have made for war. If the League of Nations has not accomplished as much as its exponents hoped for, it is because there is not a sufficiently determined expression of public opinion that the world is practice. The politicians are not wholly to blame, for they will never move ahead of what they believe is public opinion." The professor ended with an urgent appeal in favor of the resolution as the first move in a national campaign to bring world peace, and give the movement impetus.

Among those who spoke on behalf of the resolution were: Dean Sherwood Fox, representing the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs; Ven.
Archdeacon Doherty, representing the Bishop of Huron, who was unable to be present; Rev. Fr. F. E. Powell, C.S.B., of St. Mary's Church, London East; Isidore Goldstick, representing the Jews of London; Rev. A. E. M.
Thomson, president of London Ministerial Association; Mayor Wenige, for the city council; Adj. T. Leach of the Salvation Army, and William Tite of the Trades and Labor Council.

Nothing Accomplished.

Archdeacon Doherty said: "I thought in my simplicity that after the war there would be an international tribunal to bring the guilty for the war to justice. But you see what has happened. Nothing has been done. There is no greater criticism of our present system of doing things than that the war is said to be the result of the deliberations of not more than 50 men, and that we were in the turmoil of a war before, we knew what it was all about."

Dean Fox declared that "It is only appropriate that the service clubs be given an opportunity to take part in

To-day I saw

Spring has so many ways of heralding her arrival! Out of doors she "says it with flowers," with robins and marbles, with showers and lilac fragrance, with Easter bonnets and new leaves.
Don't wait to put springtime into your home. You can do it now with harmonious new wallpaper, crisp curtains to flutter in the spring breezes, and colorful draperies.

Today I saw a beautiful collection of wallpaper in distinctive designs. Our Wallpaper Department on the third floor has a very complete assortment of bedroom papers in varied patterns.

I liked the brocaded designs in mauve and mauve. They dull finish and soft colors are set off by the narrow bandings—in black and blended floral patterns.

The plaster papers in neutral tones of putty and ivory are "cleaved by the daring color combinations and bold designs, borrowed from the Belgian papers. Of course the chateaux papers are perennially popular for they are dainty, harmonious and inexpensive.

The floral patterns are a reminder that your wallpapers have come from the woods to your walls. For paper has its origin in the forest and many of the patterns have their inspiration in the foliage of nature.
