WHAT THEY DIDN'T SAY AT THE RALLY

It wasn't so much what they said as what they didn't say, at the Conservative rally in the Princess rink Saturday night, which provided discerning people with food for thought.

The whole meeting, three hours long, was a series of failures to explain. Far from opening things up and showing folks the works, the Billy Gray spellbinders, one and all, had to sit on the lid. They were taking their cue from Mr. Borden, whose idea from the start has been to get round this delicate school question by protesting that it means something which it doesn't.

Even the yellow dog that strayed on the platform, and got mixed up with the speakers' legs, was weighed down by the general spirit of repression. Although he had his ears pulled, and was kicked around from pillar to post, there wasn't a bark out of him. He felt with Mr. Borden, that if he ever opened his mouth he might put his foot in it. The only man who got rid of any straight-from-the-shoulder opinions was the chairman, Mr. Edmund Meredith, who has reached an age when political dislikes are dearer to him than mincing language.

Billy Gray was in fine form. He occupied the post of honor next to Mr. Borden. He sat on the sofa, with his leader, and had the air of holding down a throne. As the immortal Samuel Weller said, he "swelled wisely." People noticed that there was an organized effort among the speakers to give Billy a status by calling him William. He must have got it a dozen times in the course of the evening. The party workers realize that Billy himself is such a volatile entity that something must be done to lend him substance. The good fellow is to be sunk in the prospective statesman, and Billy is to be William from now till June 13, after which names don't count.

Billy doesn't need it, of course. He has King Edward for a running mate, which is a sufficient pledge that he is to be taken as a serious candidate. But doubts will creep in, and somehow or other everybody that speaks for Billy alludes to William as if they had a mission to paint the lily and gild refined gold. Although a rose by any name would smell as sweet, it is not good policy to refer to a sweet William as Billy. There is levity in the sound of it, and the Conservative party in London has a right to a solid and commanding personality to represent its views. Although a big man physically Billy doesn't quite come up to the specifications. His appearance of slumbrous jollity is apt to be misconstrued. Do what he may in the line of strike-breaking, hunch up as close as he can to King Edward, it is hard to persuade oneself that Billy is as big as he looks, or as great as he feels.

It must be admitted that Billy is no great shakes as an orator. But that doesn't matter. Neither was that other great personage in history, William the Silent. The difference between William the Silent and William Gray is that the monarch knew a thing or two, and that Billy is far from being close-mouthed. Billy is a rough-and-tumble speaker. Continuity of ideas cuts no figure with him, but he has a great deal of unsystematic indignation against the Liberal party which he is willing to set free on any occasion.

The people at the Princess Rink were disappointed in Billy Gray. It was confusing to have him wander over the whole lot and end nowhere. What they gathered was that he was a broken and empty vessel waiting to be filled, that he was an instrument in the hands of Providence, not to put Laurier out, but to put Billy Gray in, that there was a Government at Toronto now that would help him to get even, and that while he was sore on The Advertiser, he considered it was all good advertising.

Billy Gray was the first man that failed to explain what people had come to hear. He failed to show that he knew much more about the autonomy bill than its name. In fact the candidate steered clear of details on the school question with all the cleverness of a tramp dodging a bath. More than that, he neglected to explain his position as a strike-breaker in 1899. In spite of his royal affiliations with King Edward, Billy seems to think that it's bad play to be at odds with the workmen. He did something then that is bound to have consequences, and he would like to wipe it off the slate. Retribution is looming up. Labor has a long memory for wrongs. Billy's lips are sealed, chiefly because he has nothing to say on the matter—that is nothing that would carry conviction on the face of it.

Dr. Fred Guest, St. Thomas, was the friend in need. The doctor was president of the London Old Boys' Association in 1899, and is a Conservative stalwart. With every desire to help Billy out of the hole, the doctor landed him just a little deeper in it. When the doctor had finished, it was plain as the nose on your face that Billy had done something that might hurt him, and that he had called in a doctor to pull him through. As an explainer, Dr. Guest can make you see as far through a millstone as the next man. The doctor is not selfish. He has not robbed the star actor of the center of the stage. It still lies with Billy Gray to tell why he knifed union labor in 1899, using his own voice to do it, relying on his own innocence, meeting the issue face to face, and not hiding behind anybody's coat-tail. No ducking, Billy. It's up to you.

Dr. Sproule, fresh from blushing honors in Owen Sound—where he crowned him Grand Sovereign up there—made a few non-committal remarks. Since Billy Gray associated himself with King Edward, he takes a Grand Sovereign as a matter of course. But Dr. Sproule was also among the failures to explain. He did not show himself in his true colors, mostly because Mr. Borden was on the platform, and he didn't want to interfere with his leader's plan of sitting tight and playing both ends against the middle. Dr. Sproule, though a diligent, is not an unruly member of Parliament. He bridled his tongue, smothered any indiscreet candor he might have about him, and promised to come back next week and speak the honest truth, when the restraint of his leader's presence was removed.

Barred from discussing the school question, Dr. Sproule was bound to create a diversion. He sniffed at a cabinet minister for London, and called that sort of thing a mess of pottage. Close observers noticed that Dr. Sproule had shaved off his side whiskers. 'Tis said he has a vow not to let them grow again until Billy Gray is elected. However that may be, the fact remains that Dr. Sproule didn't come out in the open. He failed to explain why he says there is a separate school question, and Mr. Borden says just as positively that there isn't.

The hunt for the responsibility to explain rested on Mr. Borden, but Mr. Borden is not in the explanation business. Mr. Borden has no opinion on the school clauses, except that it is a delicate question, and he would rather anybody else would tackle it than he. While he may admire the courage of the Government in facing the issue, no bold strokes for him. He passes it on.

Mr. Borden became leader of the Conservative party in 1901, having been four years in Parliament. He became leader because he had no past, because he had never expressed awkward opinions, because the newspapers couldn't work the deadly parallel on him. His success in obtaining the prize that many a politician spends a lifetime in seeking, convinced him that opinions were unnecessary. He may have sworn an oath that he would never have them afterwards. At any rate, Mr. Borden's railway policy was a makeshift, and his position on the school clauses of the autonomy bill is an evasion.

He is not with the crow-eaters like Mr. Foster, who are now busy trying to square their logic with Manitoba and 1896. Mr. Borden never put his head into a bag like for the simple reason that he wants to keep it outside and look two ways for Sunday. Some people have said that Mr. Borden is the doctrine of negation applied to practical politics, a sort of Omar Khayyam reduced to parliamentary language.

Mr. Borden has a theory that several cabinet ministers did not re-sign on account of the autonomy bill, because Sir Wilfrid Laurier threatened to do all the resigning himself, he has another theory that the school clauses have not been amended at all; but on the school question per se has no theory, save that while he may not be on the rock of the constitution, he would like to keep near enough to it to have the benefit of its shade and protection.

Mr. Borden, among other things, failed to explain, how much further forward—or backward—the new provinces would be if his amendment were carried. He failed to explain that his amendment is a humbug, that all it means is provincial rights, subject to the limitations of the British North America act, and that all the advantage it promises to Alberta and Saskatchewan is a five-years' crop of lawsuits, while the case is being argued through to the Privy Council. He failed to explain why the division on the second reading of the autonomy bill showed a division in the Conservative party in the House of Commons, why thirteen of his supporters bolted, why

LABOR LEADER REPEATS HIS CHARGE AGAINST WILLIAM GRAY*Tried to Knife Union Men of London in 1899.*Dr. Guest's Explanation Fails to Satisfy.

At the Conservative meeting in the Princess Rink on Saturday night, Dr. Guest, a St. Thomas Conservative and party worker, attempted to rescue William Gray, the Conservative candidate, from the predicament in which he finds himself as the result of the action he took against the street railway strikers of this city in 1899. Dr. Guest's attempt at an explanation only goes to prove the truth of the charge, which has been made in the Industrial Banner, the mouthpiece of organized labor in this city, that Mr. Gray knifed the union men of London during the strike. Dr. Guest admitted that Mr. Gray did speak against the strikers. He declares that Mr. Gray said he was in favor of "legitimate" unions, the inference being that the street railway men's union was not a legitimate union. And further, Dr. Guest threw a slur on the accredited agent of organized labor by making the assertion that Mr. Marks, who is the editor of the Industrial Banner, tried to keep the Old Boys away from London. Mr. Marks did not such thing. But he did try to keep the St. Thomas Old Boys from riding on the cars to Springfield during the strike. Here is the charge against Mr. Gray, which appeared in the Industrial Banner after the Dominion election in November last:

"There (in St. Thomas), Mr. Gray used every effort to have the St. Thomas Old Boys go to Springfield, and he showed by his action that he was the very opposite to being the champion of the workers, as dubbed by the Free Press, a man of the people, and the foe of the combines."

Mr. Joseph T. Marks, the editor of the Banner, and the man whom Mr. Gray attempted to discredit in St. Thomas, because he was there to fight for the cause of the union men, was seen this morning by an Advertiser reporter.

"Every word that appeared in the Banner is the truth and nothing but the truth, despite anything Dr. Guest or any other man may say," he said. "I can prove that Mr. Gray did all in his power to knife the strikers and to discredit me in the eyes of the people of St. Thomas."

"Are you and your witnesses prepared to make affidavits as to the truth of the charge?"

"We are, if necessary. I am not making charges in the Banner which I cannot prove. Every word which appeared in the Banner concerning Mr. Gray is the absolute truth."

The union men of London may judge for themselves whether the charge is true. Mr. Gray dare not deny it. Let the union men canvass ask him to publicly deny the charge on nomination day.

Does he not owe an explanation to the workmen?

DELCASSE AND MOROCCOFrench Minister May Resign If His Plans Are Halted.

Paris, June 5. — Strong tension is developing in the cabinet as the result of the rejection by the Sultan of Morocco of the French reform proposals. The situation is similar to when Foreign Minister Delcasse suddenly presented his resignation. He has not given any indication of his purpose, but reports circulate in well-informed quarters that he may retire if his Moroccan policy does not secure the united support of the ministers. It is expected that the Sultan's action in proposing to refer the question to an international conference will be submitted to the council of ministers tomorrow. The question of its acceptance or rejection is likely to involve also the cabinet situation.

GARRISON ANNIHILATEDGerman Fort in Southwest Africa Falls Before Natives.

London, June 5. — A dispatch to a news agency from Cape Town says native reports have been received in official quarters to the effect that the German headquarters in Southwest Africa, has fallen and that the garrison has perished. No news is obtainable except from native sources.

Religion Made Him Mad.

Montreal, June 5. — Max Lassonde is in a padded cell at police headquarters, a raving maniac, as a result of attacking the meetings of a religious sect named Mage. Last night Lassonde tried to kill his wife, and he destroyed all the things in his house, saying he had no further use for worldly light, heat or food. He made an effort to kill himself before being locked up.

TONIGHTS LIBERAL
MEETING AT RINK*Issues of the Day To Be Discussed by Fielding, Paterson and Hyman.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. William Patterson, Minister of Customs, arrived in this city this morning and are guests of Mr. George C. Gibbons.

Tonight they will speak at the big Liberal mass meeting in the Princess Rink.

Hon. C. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, will also address the speakers.

Every issue before the people will be discussed fully.

The speakers' platform in the rink has been placed in the center on the west side, so that all who attend the meeting will be able to hear the addresses.

Every voter, Liberal, Conservative and Independent, is invited to be present.

Every man who desires to vote intelligently in this contest owes it to himself to be on hand and hear the addresses of three cabinet ministers, one of whom comes from London.

There will be seats for everybody, and special arrangements have been made for the ladies, to whom a hearty invitation to be present is extended.

A brass band will also be in attendance.

Mr. Smith, M.P., Coming.

Ottawa, Ont., June 5. — Ralph Smith, M.P., left here at noon today for London. Mr. Fielding and Wm. Patterson left last night. W. B. McInnes, commissioner of the Yukon, left for the west today. He will stay a couple of days in Winnipeg and about ten days at Victoria, afterwards proceeding to Dawson.

Jim Coolidge Resigns.

Boston, June 5. — T. Jefferson Coolidge, of this city, today announces that he had resigned as a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, and also as a member of the committee of seven appointed at the directors' meeting in New York last week.

Suit of Timber Limit.

Toronto, June 5. — Peter Ryan, the registrar and well-known timber auctioneer, is being sued by George J. Cook and John Cook, for $5,000, which the plaintiffs allege is due them for the sale of a timber limit in Kootenay. The sale was effected to E. R. C. Clarkson for $20,000, and the two Cooks claim they were to have received 25 per cent.

EDWARD RECEIVES REIDThe New United States Ambassador to Britain Presents Credentials.

London, June 5. — Whitelaw Reid, the new United States ambassador, had an audience of King Edward at Buckingham Palace at noon today and presented his credentials.

Three royal carriages were sent to Dorchester House to convey the ambassador and the members of the embassy to the palace. At the palace Mr. Reid was received by the officers of state.

Foreign Secretary Lansdowne drove up to the palace at about the same time as the ambassador whom he introduced to the King. The latter wore a field marshal's uniform, and was surrounded by his suite.

His majesty's reception of the ambassador was most cordial.

While the ambassador was presented to the King with his credentials, Queen Alexandra was receiving Mrs. Reid and Miss Reid.

WHY HE WILL VOTE FOR HYMAN*A Conservative Contractor Who Is Loyal to the City of London.

A prominent Conservative contractor of this city has announced his intention of voting for Mr. Hyman on the 13th inst.

"I voted for Gray the last time, and in a general election I will vote for him again, if he runs. But now that the Liberal Government is in for the next four years I fail to see why I should vote against Hyman, who is a London man, and who by his ability has brought great honor to his native city."

"The situation appears like this to me: In November last he was elected to a position by the people for four years. Since that time his leaders, appreciating his ability, have advanced him to one of great importance. And am I going to say that a London man shall not have advancement? Am I going to say that I would rather see some other city in Canada have the honor which Hyman's ability has brought to London? Not much! The Government's in for four years, anyway, and I'm going to vote for a cabinet minister for London. I'm loyal to London every time."

THE H. M. S. CAESAR
RUNS DOWN BARK*Twenty-Three Thought to Have Perished by Collision
During Fog.

London, June 5. — During a fog off Dungeness, early on Saturday, the British battleship Caesar collided with the British bark Afghanistan. The Afghanistan sank two minutes after the collision. It is feared that 23 men on board the bark were drowned, as only 11 of her crew of 34 were picked up. The Afghanistan was bound from Hamburg for San Diego and Portland, Ore.

At the time of the accident, the channel fleet, steaming in two columns with the Caesar leading the second column, suddenly entered a fog bank and was unable to give the signal to slow down.

Another disaster was narrowly averted, as the battleship Hannibal, shortly afterward, fouled another vessel and carried away her headgear.

DELIBERATELY CUT THROAT

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 5. — President Warren, of Toronto, of the Lake Superior Corporation, thinks no trouble will be experienced in raising money for completing the work on the power house at the Michigan Soo. He says that within 30 days the committee will report and be ready to go ahead. He also says that New York capitalists are considering the advisability of erecting a big smelter there. He expects big mining developments in the Algoma district.

Jap Poachers Caught.

Harbin, Manchuria, June 5. — The crews of five Japanese sealing schooners, numbering 60 men and including six Americans, have arrived here. They were captured by Russian torpedo boats while poaching near Odessa Island.

Soo's New Power House.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 5. — President Warren, of Toronto, of the Lake Superior Corporation, thinks no trouble will be experienced in raising money for completing the work on the power house at the Michigan Soo. He says that within 30 days the committee will report and be ready to go ahead. He also says that New York capitalists are considering the advisability of erecting a big smelter there. He expects big mining developments in the Algoma district.

DYMENT-BAKER'S MILL WILL NOT BE MOVED TO TORONTO*The Firm Decides to Rebuild Here and Enlarge the Business—Old Site May Be Abandoned.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 5. — "We have virtually decided to have the mill remain in London, instead of removing it to Toronto," said Mr. Albert E. Dymont, M. P., to The Advertiser today.

"We intend to extend the business, and the matter has been left in Mr. Baker's hands to secure larger premises, either by making an addition to the present site or by securing a new location."

"I can give you no idea as to the cost of the new mill we propose to erect."

"I do not think the number of our hands will be greatly increased."

This afternoon it was announced definitely that the company will locate in London and it has decided to purchase the big factory site at present occupied by the London Machine Tool Company.

WHO WILL GET STEEL PLANT?*Trust to Build in Ontario, But No Decision Yet as to Site.

Detroit, Mich., June 5. — A New York dispatch says in reference to the report that the United States Steel Company has decided to erect its $10,000,000 Canadian plant near Sandwich, Ont., that E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors, states that decision as to the location has not yet been reached, and may not be for some time yet. A director of the corporation who asked that his name be withheld, says that a site in Ontario on which to build a plant is under consideration, but as several other places are being investigated it would be indiscreet at this time to make any definite statement in the matter.

ALEXIEFF FACES
TRIP TO SIBERIA*The Admiral May Be Banished
by Russ Government for Embezzlement.

Berlin, June 5.—There are rumors that the hitherto all-powerful favorite of the Czar, Admiral Alexieff, is in danger of being banished to Siberia for life for alleged misappropriations of Government funds. Some weeks ago it was rumored that the Czar was quietly investigating what had been appropriated for guns and ammunition for Port Arthur some time before the outbreak of the war. Official Japanese reports of the number of guns found in the surrendered fortress showed the Czar that this money was never spent as intended and investigation strengthened the belief that it had found its way into Alexieff's pockets. It is not thought that the former viceroy will be able to explain.

HABEAS CORPUS
FOR THE ALIENS*Case To Be Argued On Merits
Before Judge Anglin
Friday.

Toronto, June 5. — A writ of habeas corpus was granted by Mr. Justice Anglin this morning in the cases of Everett E. Cain and James R. Gillula, the Pere Marquette officials whom the Canadian Government are endeavoring to deport. The judge ordered that Col. Percy Sherwood, who arrested the two officials, produce these before him on Friday next, when the question will be argued on its merits.

Mr. James E. Mackenzie, representing the Pere Marquette railway made the statement this morning that if the treaty of 1794 between Great Britain and the United States is still in force, both the latter country and Canada are, under it, prevented from passing alien legislation.

LAST OF FLEET
TO BE INTERNED*The Escaped Russ Cruisers at Manila Compelled to Remain There.

Washington, June 5.—After a conference with President Roosevelt today, Secretary of Navy Morton announced that the Russian cruisers Aurora, Oleg and Jemchug, which arrived at Manila last week, will be interned at Manila. Secretary Morton said that orders for the internment of the vessel would go forward to Admiral Train at once.

Confirmed at 60.

Windsor, June 5. — A singular and interesting event occurred at St. Alphonse Catholic Church yesterday, when one of a class of 114, a full-blooded Wyandotte Indian woman, Mrs. Mary Mayville, 82 years of age, was confirmed by Bishop McEvay, of London. Mrs. Mayville cannot speak English or French. Her daughter had to translate the Wyandotte tongue into English and vice versa during the service.

First Story of Sinking
Of the Russian Flagship*Cyclone of Shells Swept Across Admiral Rojestvensky's Decks—Togo's Masterly Strategy.

Sasebo, June 5. — The first detailed stories of the sinking of the Russian flagship and the capture of Admiral Rojestvensky were obtained here today from Japanese officers. The captain of the torpedo boat destroyer Murasame, which attacked the flagship, said:

"At daybreak of May 27 we received a wireless message warning that the enemy's fleet was approaching and had arrived near Quelpart Island. The carrying out of our preconcerted plan then began. Our duty was to guard a certain roadstead. The main strength of the third squadron and a destroyer flotilla to which we were attached entered the enemy to the waters of Iki and then checked him north toward Genkainada."

"Our fleet, headed by the Matsushima, opened fire from a certain concealed place which the Russian guns could not possibly reach. We merely threatened them, and they, without suspecting, promptly returned the fire. At this juncture the Japanese main fleet pressed the enemy from the north and the great battle began."

"My destroyer was in a position outside the battle circle, watching the movements of the Russians, whose fire was lamentable. Many of their shells passing over the Japanese fleet, and dropping in the water beyond. One of these, having missed its real object, hit us astern."

"At the same time the order came to us to attack the enemy's flagship, the Kuiaz Souvaroff. We dashed through the heavy sea toward the enemy's ship to within a distance of 100 meters, when we fired our first torpedo, a fish-shaped 18-inch Whitehead. We saw it strike the Kuiaz Souvaroff astern and soon realized that it had smashed her steering gear."

Flagship Scene of Terror.

"From this moment the whole of the shell fire of the Japanese fleet was concentrated upon Rojestvensky's flagship. Her funnels were shot into the air."

Her masts, with one exception, collapsed with a terrible noise. The officers and sailors crowded around the one remaining mast, as if they were demented. It was really an awful sight, even for men who in war have witnessed many incidents of a terrible nature."

"Then we fired our second torpedo. It struck the engine compartment, and the flagship immediately listed nearly to the water's edge."

"Meanwhile the cannonading of the whole of the Japanese fleet, as if controlled by one automatic switch, was concentrated upon the crowd of officers and men standing beneath the solitary mast, and within a few seconds they were scattered into fragments in the air like dry leaves before the wind."

"Almost simultaneously the flagship reared up as perpendicular as a pole imbedded in the ground and plunged to the bottom of the sea."

Rojestvensky Forced to Flee.

The circumstances under which Admiral Rojestvensky was captured are related as follows:

The Russian commander was at first on board his flagship, the Kuiaz Souvaroff. From the beginning of the battle on May 27 he fought with magnificent courage, but on May 28 his flagship became separated from the remainder of the fleet. It was isolated, but kept on firing all its guns, one battleship against such overwhelming odds."

For a time she was the solitary target of the Japanese fleet. Shells swept her decks like a cyclone and it was soon evident she must speedily sink. Therefore the admiral, with eight of his staff officers, was removed to the destroyer Bludovoy."

All the while the Japanese continued to pour in their storm of shells. Rojestvensky, having fled from his flagship, was now the target of the combined fleet."

The destroyer, now the admiral's

LONDON MONDAY, JUNE 5.

Certainly the West Cares.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, of the Northwest Territories, came all the way from Calgary to tell London that the Northwest "cares" about the autonomy bills. London knew it before he came. The people of the Northwest for many years past have shown their complete ability to recognize their own wants and to express that recognition in very plain and forcible terms. When the Territories were under a dual school system—with clerical control of the separate schools—the people protested through their Legislature. Strong memorials were sent to Ottawa voicing the protest, and Parliament was urged to eliminate the separate school clause from the N. W. T. Act of 1875. Hon. Frank Oliver, Senator James H. Ross and Mr. J. G. Turriff, M. P. for East Assiniboia, together with Mr. Haultain, were the authors of these protests in 1888, 1889 and 1890. Parliament paid no heed. Then the Legislature resolutely determined to try to get rid of the inefficient separate schools without any change in the N. W. T. Act. They passed new ordinances in 1892, which took the separate school entirely out of church control and brought it under exactly the same management as prevailed in the public school. Since then, the Northwest has had a purely national system of schools, with one set of regulations, one set of inspectors, one set of text books, and the same permission as regards religious instruction prevailing in every school in the Territories. And since 1892 there has not been a single memorial or protest or complaint of any kind made by the Northwest Legislature on the subject of education.

The Northwest people protested when their school conditions were unsatisfactory, and if they were not satisfied today with the autonomy bills Mr. Bennett would not be required to come all the way from Calgary to make London acquainted with the fact. Against the original educational clause in the bills Northwest members did complain; they thought they saw in it danger of the revival of the clerical school. When the west has a complaint to make it is not meekly-mouthed. It did not depend upon Mr. Borden or Mr. Foster or Mr. Bennett. These men were then dumb. The bills had been introduced on Feb. 21, and until the 1st of March what had they said? Not one word. On the 1st of March the position of Mr. Sifton and the western Liberals was announced, and the fact that the Northwest was not satisfied with the bills was left in no kind of doubt. A new education clause was framed to this effect:

"In and for each province the Legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to education, subject and according to the provision that nothing in any such law shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with respect to separate schools, which any class of persons have (at present) under chapters 29 and 30 of the N. W. T. ordinances."

With this new clause, which beyond any peradventure or question merely perpetuates the right to 30 minutes religious instruction at the will of the school board at the end of the school day, and does not in the remotest way endanger the exclusive and absolute control of all schools and all educational matters by the province itself through its Legislature, as practiced since 1892 by the Territorial Legislature—with this new clause the west has emphatically expressed satisfaction. If there are any public men in Canada who have shown strong preference for the principle of national control, as against clerical control in education, these men are Mr. Sifton, Mr. Greenway and Mr. Oliver. When these men find ample protection in the present bills for the principle of national control, London may very well take it for granted that the principle is safeguarded. And when their position in the matter is approved and endorsed by such men as Dr. Bryce, Dr. Baird and scores of other men who are well known in the west not as politicians, but as earnest educators, London may well think twice before assenting to the appeals of Messrs. Borden, Foster and Bennett. The strong weight of evidence from the Northwest goes to show that as regards education the bills now provide just what the western people want, and it is singular, to say the least, to see men who in 1896 were trying to coerce Manitoba into restoring the clerical school today protesting against permitting Alberta and Saskatchewan to obtain satisfactory charters which safeguard the principle of national control of all schools.

Certainly the west cares. London did not require Mr. Bennett to impart this information. It is because of London's belief that the west knows its own wants, and because of London's knowledge that the Autonomy Bills provide exactly what the west wants and has asked for, that London is going to accept the honor conferred by Mr. Hyman's selection for one of the most important portfolios in the gift of the Canadian Government.

If the west cared in the way in which Mr. Bennett would have London believe, there are ways of establishing the fact. Why are these ways not made use of? Why does Mr. Bennett not get his friend Mr. Haultain to call a meeting of the Northwest Legislature, and have that body express an opinion upon the bills? There are seven local seats in the Northwest vacant, and these seats are well scattered over the area of the two new provinces. Why do not Mr. Haultain and Mr. Bennett bring on bye-elections in these vacant seats? An expression of Northwest opinion could thus be obtained. In March last this same Mr. Bennett announced his intention to hold indignation meetings throughout the Northwest, but contrary to his expectations, a too speedy opportunity was afforded him in Edmonton, and his first indignation meeting is held in London, 2,500 miles distant from the places where he wants London to believe that the indignation exists. Why does Mr. Bennett come all the way to London to make his appeal, instead of making it in the Northwest? Is it not fair to assume that he thinks to humbug people who are not well acquainted with the Northwest school system, and because he knows that the Northwest people who understand and appreciate the excellent system they possess cannot be humbugged? He will fail in his attempt here, partly because he has failed to make the attempt in the Northwest. London is too intelligent to be humbugged. London is getting its eyes opened with regard to the misstatements which have been advanced in this autonomy question. People are now coming to wonder what all the clamor in this Province has been about, while the Northwest itself has refused to become agitated. Men who have been told that the Government was trying to force a system of separate schools upon unwilling people, now learn that all that is proposed to meet the request of the Northwest Legislature, as embodied in the Draft Bill (which, by the way, Mr. Bennett voted against in 1892), namely, to leave in force a purely nationally-controlled system of schools, which since the year 1892 has been operated with perfect harmony and efficiency. Men who are now learning the true facts are placing a proper estimate upon the unworthy elements which for three months past have striven to excite discord and strife, without just reason or cause.

London knows that the west cares, and recognizes that it is the Northwest which has the first right to care, and to obtain what it wants in the way of provincial constitution, within the scope of the Confederation Act.

Then and Now.

It is amusing to see men who voted for Tupper and the coercion of Manitoba in 1896, now shedding bitter tears over what they describe as Laurier's fall from grace. The fact is that the first principles of toleration or consideration for the rights of others have never found lodgment in their minds. They could not in 1896 understand the great Liberal leader's taking his political life in his hands and defying the ultramontanes in order to promote peace, harmony and good will amongst fellow-citizens. They did not understand when the people, recognizing their greatness and magnanimity, placed in power the man who had gained their confidence. No more do they now understand when the same man, with that same generous toleration and the same fastidious regard for peace and goodwill, chooses to fix in the constitution of the new provinces that school law which the west made for itself and of which it is justly proud.

These Tories (we are not speaking of moderate Conservatives, who deprecate this unseemly campaign against peace) cannot understand why Laurier should bring in, as he has brought in, the very bill which the Territories through their Legislature and their Premier Haultain have asked for, or why he has stated his proposed law in plain terms. But they can understand Mr. Borden's amendment. Isn't that strange when Mr. Borden himself professes not to know what it means? They understand, not what this amendment might be held by the courts to mean—they care nothing for that—but they know it was meant to be obscure so that it might be explained one way to Ontario and another way to Quebec. This is the class of politics which appeals to these people, and this is the basis on which they are trying to catch honest Liberals with the hollow and insincere cry of provincial rights.

Toleration and Education.

Did you hear Sheridan's immortal play "The Rivals" given last winter by the students of the Western University? Many of us are like Sir Anthony Absolute in this charming drama. You know I am compliance itself," says Sir Anthony—"when I'm not thwarted; no one more easily led—when I have my own way." We are very tolerant of other people's opinions—when they agree with ours; no one more ready to allow perfect freedom to others—to do what we wish to have done.

That is not the spirit of true Liberalism. English Puritans were at home denied religious freedom and they emigrated to America in search of it. In New England they were the dominant party and in turn persecuted the Quakers. They were in an age which knew not toleration. Sixty years ago the Liberals were in a seemingly hopeless minority in this Province. They were willing to compromise differences with the arrogant party in power, but were not permitted. In that school of the minority they learned the lesson of toleration too thoroughly to forget it when in the majority. They learned, and no true Liberal will ever forget it, that all government, even all social intercourse, is based on some yielding of each man's rights as he believes them, and of the law of his opinions as he holds them, to what others' rights demand and to what others' opinions call for.

Now, in this country, most of us profess one or the other of two religions. Many Protestants prefer that there should be no separate schools, but that all should be non-sectarian schools, where the youth of all creeds shall grow up together in mutual esteem because of mutual acquaintance. That is a matter of political expediency, as this section of the community views it. Other Protestants believe that religion should be taught in the schools. The use of the Bible as a school text book was contended for very bitterly a few years ago in a campaign against Oliver Mowat's Administration. Such use is one of the Protestant ways of teaching Protestant religion. Scarce a synod passes but some clergyman deplors the irreligion of the country's young and lays the blame on what he calls, unjustly we think, "godless schools."

Most Catholics believe that religion should be taught in the schools. To them the regular instruction of the young in the principles of their religion is a matter of conscience. And if they choose, without neglecting the secular education which we are all desirous they should have, to have their religion also taught on a week day instead of on in addition to Sundays, who should protest against it? If they choose to use a public school building after hours for that purpose, surely it would be only good neighborhood to let them do so. Everyone knows that in many of the country public schools in this Province Protestant preaching services or Protestant Sunday schools are held week after week and year after year. In many of these cases there are Catholic ratepayers who have helped build the school houses. In not a few cases even the fuel is taken without payment, and by common consent from the school woodpile. Every man who has lived in a country district knows this, and we all think it very right. And who has ever heard one of those Catholic ratepayers protest?

In the Northwest Territories a school system has been evolved which meets one objection which is sometimes raised against denominational schools, namely, that educational efficiency is subordinated to the inculcation of religious dogma. In the Northwest the children in many schools receive the same tuition as the children of the public schools. Their teachers receive the same training as the public school teachers; the same course of studies is prescribed for both classes of schools; and the children have the same examinations. After 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the pupils may be given religious instruction if their parents so desire, but not between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. A Protestant child may attend a Catholic separate school, and if any religious doctrine is taught in prohibited hours the parents of the child may register a complaint, and the department of education will investigate the matter. Similarly a Catholic child may attend a Protestant separate school and is protected by law against any proselytizing influences. From 1875 to 1892 the Catholic minority schools were controlled by the clergy, but in 1892 the Legislature placed all schools under its own control, and there they will remain.

Mr. Borden is Haultain between two opinions on the school question.

Mr. Gray's careworn appearance is said to be due to sitting up nights with the B. N. A. Act.

Mr. Borden entered Parliament in 1896 as a supporter of Sir Charles Tupper and the coercion of Manitoba.

Says the Toronto Globe: "The anti-Government papers are stating with great care the number of circumstances that favor Mr. Hyman's return. They are preparing a soft place to fall on."

"Toronto seems to want to do the voting in the London election," says the Montreal Herald. Toronto is certainly making most of the racket.

The Free Press today still speaks of "the reduction in London's militia" when there is no reduction, and the Free Press knows it. What are we to say of such tactics?

Mr. Bennett essayed no reply to any one of the series of questions put to him in Saturday's Advertiser. Why? Because they stated facts which he cannot dispute.

Mr. Fielding will make his first appearance in London tonight. Nova Scotia has given the Dominion some great men, and Mr. Fielding is among them. He is the successor of Howe in the affections of the people of that province.

Mr. Bennett makes the statement that not a separate school has been established in the Northwest since 1901. This is probably true. There is not much inducement under the present school laws in the Territories for minorities to separate from public schools. The Roman Catholic clergy are far from satisfied with the system provided for in the autonomy bills.

The Sailing of Rojstevsky.

[Sam Kiser.]
We polished our guns and we scrubbed our decks.
And we sailed;
We climbed the masts and we craned our necks,
Oh, we heaved a sigh and we shied,
At the fishermen there, when they failed to flee,
And we sailed.

We fooled a while on the shores of Spain,
And we sailed;
The Japs were far over the main,
And we sailed;
We hovered long by the black man's coast,
And we sailed;
We clinked our glasses in many a toast
When the sun was busy enough to roast,
And we sailed.

We loitered 'round in the Frenchman's bays,
And we sailed;
We thought of home and of happier days,
And we sailed;
We kept the vodka a-bowling free
As we rounded up in the Yellow Sea,
A wonderin' where the Japs could be,
And we sailed.

We cleared the decks and our prayers were said,
And we sailed;
A little old strut lay straight ahead,
And we sailed;
Oh, we met the Japs where they lay in wait,
And they hammered some, and we found, too late,
No way to sail but to sail down straight,
And we sailed.

"So Long."

[New York Sun.]
"You may have wondered, perhaps, how the slang expression 'So Long' came to be so generally used," said a Columbia College lecturer the other day. "It is usually used in closing a conversation, and is simply a form of goodbye. The Norwegians brought it to this country. In that land of the midnight sun, 'saa laeng' is a common form of farewell. It means the same as the 'auf wiedersehen' of the German or the 'au revoir' of the French. Among the early settlers in America were many Norwegians and the phrase was picked up from them. They pronounced it with the 'r' softened and accompanying it by a wave of the hand."

Thought It Could Be Borrowed.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"Mother," said the daughter of the House of Nurich, "you shouldn't have tried to give a dinner party to those English swells. Just look at the arrangement of this table. It's all out of vogue."

"Is it dear?" cried the distressed mother. "I wish you'd let me know about it sooner. But never mind. We can send right over next door and borrow some. They're awful nice about lending things."

A Remarkable Baby.

[Harper's Weekly.]
A schoolteacher who was giving a lesson on "Food" was interrupted by one of his pupils.
"Please, sir," he said, "Jimmy says he knew a baby that was brought up on elephant's milk, and it gained 10 pounds in weight every day."
"James ought not to tell you such rubbish," the teacher said. "James, whose baby was it that was brought up on elephant's milk?"
"Please, sir," answered Jimmy, "it was the elephant's."

His Idea of It.

[Philadelphia Press.]
"You ought to know something about horticulture," remarked a Chinaman. "Tell me what a 'forget-me-not' is."
"Why," replied Sublubs, "it's a piece of string your wife ties around your neck when you go in town on an errand."

To Prevent Meningitis.

[Chicago News.]
A mixture of fresh aid and sunshine taken any time before or after meals is the best preventative against the meningitis germ.

A Man of Experience.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
"And this is your first offense, my poor man?"
"Yes, sir."
"And if you got out of jail you'd take good care to keep out of it, wouldn't you?"
"I'd take precious good care to keep out of it here one. It's the worst I ever wuz in!"

Requirements.

[Puck.]
Pausing uncertainly before a desk in the big insurance office, the Hibernian visitor said to the clerk: "O! want to take out a policy?"
"Life, fire or marine?" drawled the dapper clerk, with infinite sarcasm.
"All three, O!m thinkin'," retorted the applicant. "O!m goin' fer a stoker in th' navy."

To Duty.

[Thomas Wentworth Higginson.]
Light at dim mornings, shield from heat and cold.
Balm for all ailments; substitute for Comrade of those who plod in lonely ways.
(Ways that grow lonelier as the years wax old.)
Tonic for fears; check to the over-bold; Nurture for those who hand his strong restriction lays.
Kind but resistless, on our wayward ways,
Mart, where high wisdom at vast price is sold.
Gardener, whose touch bids the rose-petals fall;
The thorn's endure; surgeon, who human Searchest with probes, though the Spell that knits friends, and yearning lovers parts;
Tyrant relentless o'er our blisses all—Oh, can it be, thing other name is Heaven?

Not Excused.

G. T. P. TO BEGIN ON A BRANCH

Will Start Near Kakabeka Station and Run to Port Arthur and Lakes.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, June 5.—The first construction work on the Grand Trunk Pacific will begin at Kakabeka station, on a branch which will connect the National Transcontinental line with Port Arthur, Port William, and the Great Lakes.

Kakabeka is nineteen miles west of Port William. The Canadian Pacific will run alongside the G. T. P. at this point, and in this way supplies can be secured easily for the new road.

The location plan was approved by the railway commissioners, and it gives the authority to build three or four miles east and west of Kakabeka. The railway commission has also approved of a route map showing the general direction of the whole branch from Port William northward, over 200 miles, to a point where it will connect with the main line, some 50 miles north of the village of Wabagouan.

Lowther at Fez.
Fez, Morocco, Wednesday, May 31.—General Sir Lowther, the British minister to Morocco, arrived here today at the head of a special British mission and was accorded an imposing reception, troops lining the route for a mile outside the city gates. The Sultan will receive Mr. Lowther in audience on June 5.

By Almost Perfect Work, Packing Co's Team Won

Almost Whitewashed Somerville Nine—Slugging in the Other Wholesale Game.

The Wholesale League ball games at Springbank on Saturday afternoon brought out the usual large attendance. The first game, between the Somerville and Canadian Packing Co. teams, was won by the latter by a score of 8 to 1. The Canadian Packing Company is a very strong aggregation of players and its work on Saturday was almost perfect, only one error being charged up to it. The Somerville nine started out well, but through bases on balls in the fourth inning and timely hits, the Packers were enabled to score six runs and win the game.

DYMENT WILL MAKE BID FOR BUFFALO DERBY

The Buffalo Derby is to be run on Saturday. For Canada, N. Dymont believes he will take the Derby this year, as he did last, with Fort Hunter, and it looks as if he might have the horse to do it, too, says the Buffalo Express. The horse is Tongador. This horse has been the champion of the Toronto racing circuit, having won yesterday, winning every one of his four starts from good company in easy style. His last race was the King Edward Hotel cup, last Wednesday, at 1½ miles, the Buffalo Derby distance. In this race he defeated Inferno, Claude and Elliott and broke the record by making the distance in 2:09 on the slow Woodbine course. The Canadians say he is a far better horse than Fort Hunter and have the greatest confidence in his ability to pick up our Derby. Still, it must be remembered that Kenilworth Defeated by the London C. I. Football Team by a Score of 3 to 2.

The football team of St. Mary's Collegiate Institute came to London Saturday to play a return match with the Collegiate Institute team of this city. A week previous the locals defeated St. Mary's on their own grounds, and on Saturday they defeated the visitors for a second time on Carling's Heights.

The Collegiate experienced some difficulty in securing grounds on account of the athletic parks all being in possession of the baseball clubs on that day, and they were very grateful to the military authorities of the city, who

During the second half the game became one-sided, for the halfbacks of the visitors could not stop the rushes of the London forwards, who, of course, were much assisted by the wind; but, while the home team could get within shooting range of goal, they were quite weak in shooting. It took them from ten to fifteen minutes to get a goal, and the score was 1-0 in favor of the visitors.

ST. MARYS' LOST A SECOND GAME
The game was an enjoyable one, both teams being free from rough play or wrangling, and both teams hope to meet again at an early date.

THE TURF.
SATURDAY'S WINNERS.
At Latonia—Rusk, 5 to 2; Ponsudra, 3 to 2; The Foreman, 8 to 1; Maplehurst, 9 to 5; Copperfield, 3 to 1.
At Gravesend—King Popper, 5 to 1; Hyles, 3 to 5; Burgomaster, 12 to 1; Oxford, 6 to 1; Clinchona, 15 to 1; Chimney Sweep, 3 to 2.

FOOTBALL.
SHUT-OUT FOR GUELPH.
Ayr, Ont., June 3.—In a W. F. A. immediate football match here this afternoon between Guelph and Ayr, the locals scored 3 to 0.

NICE LEAD FOR BERLIN.
Berlin, Ont., June 3.—In a nicely contested game played here tonight between the Galt football team and the locals, the home team defeated the visitors by a score of 3 to 1. This gives Berlin a nice lead in the district. (For other sporting news see page 8.)

Dropped Dead.
Montreal, June 3.—C. A. Kinloch, a third year McGill student, aged 29 years, dropped dead last night while with a party in the district. He belonged to Marlborough, Ont.

The officials of the German State railways are henceforth to wear helmets instead of the present peaked caps. They have been jealous of the military looking headgear of the policemen.

ZELDA CAMERON

BY MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

[Copyrighted by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.]

"In the part of the country I came from, Mr. Balcomb," Pollock continued in an easy conversational tone, "we do very unpolite things to bright and captivating people of your stripe—he took another step forward, and Balcomb, a little white in the face, retreated again—but in this instance, Pollock lifted his left hand to his shadow-mustache and gave it a twist; he took another step and Balcomb yielded before him—"I shall let you off with unwarranted leniency."

Balcomb, forced another step downward, had grown red with fury, and again struck at Pollock, but with the result that Balcomb stumbled and retreated two steps instead of one, reaching a landing. With more secure footing he gained courage.

"You little cur, you little—" he blustered, drawing his face down so that he could glare into Pollock's eyes. "Yes," said Pollock, calmly, "I have been called little before; so that your statement lacks novelty. As I was saying,"—and he leaned against the stair-rail with the tip of his fingers on his gloved hand thrust into his trousers pocket, and holding the other glove in his right hand—"I haven't time now to go into the matter further, but I am always at your service. It will give me great pleasure to make your excuses to Miss Merriam, or to any other friends who may be leaving behind you—owing to an illness that made it necessary for you to leave—suddenly. Now you will oblige me by continuing on down to the music room—unattended. There are probably some gentlemen below there that I should very much dislike having to explain matters to."

Balcomb leaped lightly forward, as though to make a rush for the door of the assembly-room.

"You damned little—" said Pollock, seizing him by the collar, and throwing him back, "and I'll drop you over the banister."

"You have said that before, Mr. Balcomb, without the dam; but the addition isn't important. Run along now, like a good boy, and I advise you to turn around and go down in a becoming manner—that's the idea!"

Some men had entered the lower hall from the smoking-room, and Balcomb greeted them cheerily as he turned and went below as though to join them. Pollock stood waiting for Balcomb to reappear, and as he waited he resumed his tobacco, and burped it with care.

The wait was nearly over, but he stood there leaning against the stair-rail and beating time to the music with his foot, until he saw Balcomb come out of the coat room clad for the street. When Balcomb looked up, Pollock waved his hand in a friendly, gracious, and turned and went back into the hall.

"Miss Merriam," he said, bowing before Oliver, "I very much regret to present Mr. Balcomb's compliments, and to say that he has been unexpectedly called away—pressing business—and he asked me to do myself the honor to see that you don't get lost. This is our dance."

CHAPTER XVI.
In Oliver's Kitchen.

Oliver went from the kitchen to the front door and stood there for a moment, gazing out from a rapid walk through the cold crisp November air.

"It's the wrong time, of course," said Zelda. "I'm always coming at the wrong time."

"It's always the right time," declared Oliver. "But you'll have to excuse me for a few minutes. This is Thanksgiving Day and my headquarters are in the kitchen. There's a new magazine or two—help yourself."

"I'm not using your house as a free reading-room, I doctored church, so I could come and see you. Let me come and talk. I like your clothes,"—and she put aside her wrappings, surveying Oliver admiringly.

"Come on then, I'm making bread,"—and Oliver led the way to the kitchen. "She's making bread, after all the glory of her debut! It's just like the interviews with great artists that we read in the newspapers. They're always planning garden-seed or canning fruit, when the reporter calls."

"If I were you, I shouldn't refer to last night, after the trick you played on me. You carried it all off with such a rush! I don't know yet how I came to let you do it."

"You shouldn't talk that way to your sick cousin. My throat is still very painful,"—and Zelda put up her hand and coughed desperately.

"That will do, thank you! You can't stay in the kitchen unless you'll be good."

Oliver's kitchen was, as she said herself, the best room in the house. Her own paint brush had made it white, and table, range, chairs, she held, up to date. It was a model kitchen, according to Oliver's own ideas, which were so attractive that shortly after her return from college she had written ten them down in a series of articles for a paper devoted to the interests of women. Pretty things do not cost any more than ugly ones, she held, and there was no reason why the piano should not be kept in the kitchen, if its owner could use it there to the best advantage.

"I hate to give up a single thing," Oliver had declared to Zelda, "except backing the stove. I'd like to draw the line there."

"I wish Polly knew how to make a kitchen look like this—or that I did! May I sit here? Go on now and talk. Aren't you afraid of musing your apron?"

Oliver was rolling up her sleeves, which she had pulled down before answering the bell. She wore the costume of her teaching office—a blue and white cotton dress. She tied on a white apron, at which Zelda exclaimed mockingly:—"I shall let you off with unwarranted leniency."

"You look mighty useful, Olive Merriam, considering how frivolous you were last night. I have a new gown now—I'm Olive Merriam's cousin, I expected to find a line of carriages at the door when I came, but I suppose they're afraid to come on a holiday. What are you doing to those pans? Butter? I didn't know you had to do that. I wonder if Polly knows! Hers always burn on the bottom, but I let her go because it's better burnt than underdone. As I was saying, you certainly made Papa Schmidt's opera go tremendously."

"I oughtn't really to speak to you. I forgot in my joy at seeing you that I had resolved to give you up forever. If I hadn't had baking to do, I should have gone to bed and stayed in bed all day. You have put me in a nice box, haven't you? I might have had some friends if you hadn't played that trick on me."

She turned, balancing a symmetrical ball of dough in one hand, and leaned against the kitchen table.

"You look perfectly charming in that make-up," remarked Zelda, composedly. "And with that strange object in your hand you might pose as Liberty Bell, or something of the kind. What were you saying? Oh, yes! You are going to cast me off and have done with me." And then, as though speaking with a great effort, and clasping her hands at her throat to ease its pain: "My throat isn't really strong yet. The little I did last night must have strained it. So don't harass me!"

LAST DAY'S RACING AT THE WOODBINE

Toronto Meeting Brought to a Close—Wire In Won Handicap.

Toronto, June 5.—The windup of the Toronto meeting was in keeping with all that has gone before it. The weather was perfect, the track fast and the attendance almost as good as on opening day, which surpassed all local records.

The programme offered the Tyro stakes, which was for 2-year-olds; the Waterloo handicap and the Street Railway steeplechase. All of these are rich stakes and were hotly contested by the best material at the track.

The Tyro stake was won by M. J. Daly's Saint Joseph, a son of Riley and Clara White, that was the favorite in the betting. T. S. Martin, from the Maupin stable, was the pacesetter in the running, but at the end Saint Joseph caught him in distress and won easily.

The Waterloo handicap at a mile and a furlong went to the Kirkfield stable, which had Wire In as its representative. The Daly entry, Claude and Elliott, were coupled as the favorites, but Wire In was much the better and won by 2½ lengths, with Claude second and Elle third. The latter was an outsider and ran a very creditable race.

The steeplechase over the 2½-mile course was taken by Rising Sun, the favorite all the way, in easy style, after racing the others into submission. Ohnet ran out at the first jump, Gilmore the ninth and Gearholm lost his rider at the seventeenth jump.

Two new track records were established. Monte Carlo going 5½ furlongs in 1:07½ and Wire In covering 1-8 miles in 1:35.

First race, Norway purse, for 3-year-olds and up, 5½ furlongs—Monte Carlo, 108 (O'Connell), 4 to 5, first by three lengths; Pat Butler, 105 (Miles), 20 to 1, second; Derry, 101 (Creamer), 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:07½. Mrs. Frank Foster, El Donoso, Hyperion, Albert and Nugget also ran.

Second race, Tyro stakes, selling, for 2-year-olds, five furlongs—Saint Joseph, 105 (O'Connell), 4 to 5, first by three lengths; T. S. Martin, 110 (E. Walsh), 9 to 5, second; Judge White, 90 (J. Henderson), 9 to 5, third. Time, 1:07½. Little Mike, J. K. and Zelinda also ran.

Third race, Dominion handicap, purse, $800 added, for 3-year-olds and up, one mile—Moonraker, 109 (J. Walsh), 13 to 1, first by two lengths; Will King, 106 (E. Walsh), 5 to 1, second; War Whoop, 116 (H. Phillips), 7 to 1, third. Time 1:42. Crestfallen, Lounpina and Chateleine also ran.

Fifth race, Waterloo handicap, purse, $1,200 added, for 3-year-olds and up, one mile and a furlong—Wire In, 110 (Romanelli), 2 to 1, won by 2½ lengths; Pat Butler, 105 (Miles), 20 to 1, second; Elle, 106 (J. Jones), 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:35. Elliott and Ben Crockett also ran.

Sixth race, Street Railway handicap, purse, $1,000 added, for 4-year-olds and up, 2½ miles—Rising Sun, 153 (Gee), 3 to 1, first by four lengths; Amur, 154 (Gibson), 5 to 1, second; Thornberry, 148 (G. Smith), 6 to 1, third. Time, 6:00. Conover, Mahon, Gearholm, Gilmore and Ohnet also ran.

Seventh race, consolation purse, for 2-year-olds and up, one mile—War Paint, 115 (J. Walsh), 8 to 5, first by a head; Yama Christy, 112 (J. O'Brien), 6 to 1, second; Monadnock, 115 (H. Phillips), 12 to 5, third. Time, 1:43½. Hagamans, Maxey Moore and Prince of Elm also ran.
