Commencing Sunday evening, rain fell almost continuously for twenty-four hours, and it will prove of incalculable benefit to many crops that were suffering for lack of moisture.

The Methodist church and one of the Presbyterian churches at Perth have united for the balance of July, and during August. For three Sundays services will be held in the Methodist church by the pastor, and the other three Sundays in the Presbyterian church by the pastor. It is a very sensible plan for the summer months.

Results of the Entrance examinations are not expected until the latter part of this week. Meantime the departmental officials at Toronto are supposed to be checking up the work of the students and examiners. This feature of the centralizing policy of the government is extremely farcical.

The Bishop of Ontario will pay the parish of Kitley his annual visit with services as follows: Rodan, Saturday, July 22nd, 7.30 p.m.; Easton's Corners, Sunday, July 23rd, at 10.30 a.m. Newbliss, 3 p.m.; Frankville, 7.30 p.m. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

The Canadian Northern R. R. Co. has secured financial backing for the construction of the entire route from the Pacific to the Atlantic. It is announced that within thirty months the railroad will enter Montreal by tunnel and erect a magnificent central station.

At the close of a meeting of hotel-keepers in Ottawa the other day 15 of them went into a bar for a drink when no fewer than 14 took mineral water and the other took lager. What better temperance lesson could be given to the public than the refusal of these men to take strong drink, for they probably know more of its evil effects than the average business man.

Fishing at Charleston Lake this season is reported to be the best in years. Both salmon and bass are biting well. There has been a commendable change in the spirit of anglers from that which prevailed a score of years ago, when many anglers killed all the fish they caught and allowed a large percentage of them to spoil. Now when the angler has the good luck and skill to make a big catch of bass, all not required for immediate use are returned to the water. The pursuing of this policy for a few years should result in a large increase in the game fish of the lake.

A meeting of Athens Women's Institute will be held in the town hall at 2.30 on July 29. A good programme will be presented and seasonable topics discussed. Read will give a paper on "Spices, their use and abuse." The musical part of the programme will be in charge of Mrs Fraser and daughter, Miss Vera of Ottawa, and Miss Jessie Taplin, Mus. Bach. Ladies of Athens and vicinity cordially invited.

BUSY BURGLARS

On Tuesday night two of Athens' business houses were entered with burglarious intent, the doors being opened with skeleton keys. At T. S. Kendrick's store nothing was touched but the money drawers and in these they found only a few coppers.

At H. R. Kincwilton's jewellery store they secured considerable booty. The safe, which was not locked, contained several trays of valuable goods, including gold watches and chains, diamond, opal, and pearl rings, lockets, pins, etc. a tray of customers' watches, and a considerable sum of money. All these valuables were taken. There is no clue to the identity of the burglars.

A CORONATION SCENE

The night spectacular performance at the Ottawa exhibition will be the most magnificent pyrotechnic display ever attempted in the Capital. Arrangements have been made with the Hand Company, of Hamilton, for a reproduction of the grand naval review as seen at the Coronation of King George V. All the splendor of the great function will be portrayed. Following this a fireworks display showing a host of new creations will be made.

GOD SAVE THE KING

London, July 12.—A change has been made in the National Anthem. In these days when the main thought throughout the world is peace, one of the old verses of the anthem is said to strike the King as sounding a somewhat discordant note. It runs:

O Lord our God arise,
Scatter his enemies.

And make them tall;
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks;
On him our hop-a-we fix,
O save us all.

That verse has now been replaced by the following, written by Dean Hole and breathing a more peaceful spirit:

O Lord our God arise,
Scatter his enemies;

Make wars to cease,
Keep us from plague and dearth,
Turn Thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth
Let there be peace.

This alteration has been specially sanctioned by King George, and is therefore of national importance, seeing that it is now likely to be universally followed.

Eganville has just suffered a $450,000 fire and its origin is credited to three boys and their cigarettes.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

What the sages have said of man: Man has been defined by Aristotle as "a reasoning animal"; by Plato as "a political animal"; by Dante as "a ridiculous animal"; by Voltaire as "a creature who is an improvement on the brute"; and by Schopenhauer as "a being who is a mistake on the part of God."

DAYS OF ROMANCE

Richard Le Gallienne Says They Are Far From Over.

Richard Le Gallienne, tiring of the eternal wall of those who decry the present as a dull, prosaic, all-business age and bewail the passing of the "good old days of poetry and romance," has written for the August number of The Smart Set a strong argument against this theory.

GOLD.

Resignation is the courage of Christian sorrow. Faith in the Bible is something more than the historic sense. The book is not a witness of man's historical religion but of God's historical redemption.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. THE GREAT KIDNEY CURE. FOR ALL KINDS OF URINARY AFFECTIONS. PREPARED BY DR. J. C. DODD, CHICAGO, ILL.

'Lost 16 Lbs. in Weight'

Was Kept Down by Bilious Indigestion, and When in Despair Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured.

In the following interesting letter Mrs. H. R. Plunkett, well known in her home town of Hoventonville, tells how she conquered bilious indigestion: "I think it was drinking ice water on a very hot July day two years ago that caused an inflamed condition in my stomach, which gave me such repeated and weakening attacks of biliousness and stomach trouble. So severely did I suffer, that my strength was impaired, and I lost sixteen pounds in weight. My whole body was weakened, both kidneys and bowels failing to keep the system in natural condition. Food fermented, skin was dry and yellow. I had flushes of heat, and pricking sensations in various parts of the body. In the winter I had colds and clammy hands, and not until I commenced to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills did I obtain relief. In short time Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured the bilious dryness, and in a month I gained almost four pounds. The pain over the liver disappeared, the bowels acted regularly, and I kept on improving so rapidly that in three months I was vigorous and well. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every one in poor health."

SCIENCE NOTES.

Spain contains 11,597,048 acres of unproductive land. A semi-automatic telephone system is being tried out in Amsterdam. The pine is believed to be the oldest of trees, some having attained the age of 700 years. The city of Paris owns a machine which can grind out nearly a quarter of a million wooden paving blocks a day.

NERDING CATTLE BY AEROPLANE

The uses of the aeroplane are becoming more numerous every day, but noval indeed is the use to which his Heriot monoplane was put by M. Remie Simon at Houston, Texas, on the 27th ultimo, the opening day of the engagement of the international aviators. M. Simon flew out over the plains, and rounded up a large number of steers by circling about them and swooping down upon them. When he had got the herd together, he succeeded in driving them right up to the fence of the aviation field by employing similar tactics. The cowboys looked on in amazement and upon his alighting they thanked Simon for having so cleverly and expeditiously herded the cattle. The following day, at the Houston meet, M. Roland Garros ascended to a height of 7,000 feet and was loaded for a flight of ten minutes. M. Simon flew over the spectators in the grand stand only five or six feet above them—so close indeed, that the hats of many were blown off.

ALL AGAINST IT.

"The harep skirt, or jupe-colotte, won't go into this country. The arguments against it are insuperable. The speaker was Miss Elsie de Wolfe, the best-dressed woman in New York. The scene was a tea at the Colony Club. Miss De Wolfe returned: "Yes, the arguments against the jupe-colotte are as all-embracing as those against the poor man's credit. A poor man, you know, once asked me to let it. This pudding? He answered: "There are two reasons, my friend, why poor men can't get credit. The first is because they are not known. The second is because they are poor."

AN EASY CLIMB.

Miss Annie S. Peck, the distinguished scholar and mountain climber, says the Pittsburg Press, described in one of her addresses in Boston on mountaineering the strange effect that some mountain tains have on some men. "In a word," she said, "it is an effect of mendacity. Thus, in a Boston club one mountaineer said to another: "So Smith, fat Smith, actually climbed Mount Blanc?" "Smith? No!" he the other mountaineer replied. "But he said he did." "True; but in September, on his return from Chamonix, he only said he'd been to the foot of Mount Blanc. Since then he's gradually led himself all the way up to the top."

A GOOD SIGN.

Small Boy—If you please, sir, may we have an extra half-holiday this afternoon? His mother—Why? Small Boy—Well sir—we thought you might feel like it, sir—as you were singing in your bath this morning!

THE BEST WAY.

In Which Many Necessary Things Can Be Done.

To make an excellent poultry powder take two and a half pounds of slaggd lime, five pounds of ground oyster shells, one-quarter of a pound of cayenne pepper, one-quarter of a pound of asafoetida, one pound of Venetian red and a quarter of a pound of red pepper. The striped bug that is a menace to cucumbers and melons may be destroyed by shifting charcoal dust over the plants; if repeated three or four times the plants will be entirely free from the annoyance. As a remedy for hiccoughs, a glass of cold water, or an ice cream, may prove efficacious; only don't let the children know this, or the poor little dears may get chronic attacks of this convulsive ailment. The simplest way to cool a room is one adopted by many Eastern nations, which consists in suspending a wet cloth, the larger the better, in the part of the room you wish cooled. Keep the room well ventilated. A slice of common onion rubbed on the face of a wasp, or if in the mouth or throat, chewed slowly and if the piece swallowed will result in certain relief. To remove old putty from broken window sashes dip a small brush in a nitro-muriatic acid or caustic soda (concentrated) and with it scotch or paint over the dry putty and the broken glass and frame of the window. After an hour's time the putty will be soft and easily removable.

SHIFTING THE BLAME.

An Indiana assessor had trouble getting people to list their taxes. "Got a way," he asked. "No," was the reply. "Well, I'll see you one anyway—not my fault, if you ain't got any—plenty of daws."

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in every home where there are babies or young children. At no time of the year is baby in such danger as in summer. At the first sign of illness the Tablets should be given. In short time the summer complaints come on so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand baby may be brought help in a few hours. The Tablets never fail to relieve the sick child, and if occasionally given to the well child will keep him well. Mrs. Deane Martin, St. Denis, Que., writes: "I have a baby who has been sick since he was born with Colic and Constipation. Castor oil was of no help at all, but Baby's Own Tablets speedily cured him, and now I always keep them in the house. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

NEVER FORGET THIS!

When packing for the country cottage don't forget your box of Zam-Buk and your Zam-Buk Soap. Blister, sunburn, scratches, insect stings, etc., if not immediately attended to, are likely to spoil your pleasure. Zam-Buk ensures you against trouble from these causes. Zam-Buk is antiseptic; kills all poison in wounds, whether from barbed wire fence, or insect sting. Soothes aching feet and blistered hands; heals baby's chafed places; cools those sun-burn patches, and prevents freckles. No mother should be without it. Purely herbal in its composition, Zam-Buk is superior to the ordinary ointments, containing animal oils and fats, and mineral coloring matter. All druggists and stores, 50c box. Use also Zam-Buk Soap. Best for baby's bath and for tender skin, 25c tablet.

TAKING NO RISKS.

Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, says, according to the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph, that his party didn't wish to take any risks in the last election. "Apparently," continued the Democratic leader, "they wanted things done up as thoroughly as did one of the two men who were to be hanged for horse stealing. The place selected was the middle of a trestle bridge spanning a river. The rope was not securely tied on a bank; the man fell into the river and immediately swam for the shore. As they were adjusting the rope for the second he remarked: "Say, will ye be sure and tie that good and tight, 'cause I can't swim."

MARVELOUS RELIEF FOR CORNS, BUNIONS, SORE FOOT LUMPS.

Five corns on five toes for five years. Was he lame? You bet. That man was a chump—sure he was. One quarter spent on Putnam's Corn Extractor is sure relief to any old kind of a corn. Putnam's eases 'em in good style—lifts them out quick—without pain, and never fails. This is why Putnam's is superior to the cheap imitations that afford the dealer more profit. Use only "Putnam's."

A PITT-ANCE.

"Mary," said the sick man to his wife, after the doctor had pronounced it a case of smallpox, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that I am at last in a condition to give them something."

ICE IN PERSIA.

The fact that ice is plentiful and cheap makes living in Persia more pleasant than it would otherwise be, and the fact that it can be obtained at all is indicative of the ingenuity of the people of the country. The ground is so porous that water percolates through quickly. There are therefore few rivers or lakes from which ice can be obtained, and it is seldom so cold in any part of Persia that ice of a thickness suitable for packing would form under the direct rays of the sun. The Persian obtains his ice by making a shallow pool and building a high wall which will protect it from the sun. A thin layer of ice will form, which he floods at night with water, and so he goes on adding inch to inch until he has cut block of considerable thickness.—From the Los Angeles Times.

Headaches—nausea—indigestion—muddy complexion—pimples—bad breath—these are some of the effects of constipation. The mild, sensible, reliable remedy is NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES. They contain the latest discovered and best evacuant known, which empties the bowels without the slightest discomfort and without disturbing the rest of the system. Constantly increased doses are not necessary. 25c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them, send 25c. and we will mail them. 25 National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. Montreal.

YOUR HORSE IN HOT WEATHER.

Drive your horses slowly. Cut down the size of the loads. Keep a hat containing a wet sponge on the horse's head. Drive in the shade as much as possible. See that the harness is properly put on. Use pads where the harness may chafe the hide. Have the stable well aired and your animals well bedded. Water more frequently. Give bran mash at least twice a week. Cut down regular allowance of oats by a quart. If your horse drops pour cold water slowly on top of the head, but keep it out of the ears. Carry a bucket in your wagon and get water from nearest point.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

An Irish physician, while enjoying a holiday in this country, says the Belfast Times, took the opportunity along with a friend to go fishing. During operations the physician's sinker came off and was lost. Here was a dilemma—no sinker, no more fishing that day. Happy thought; he had a bottle in his pocket. The bottle was filled with water, carefully corked and sent down on its mission. After a few minutes' interval the doctor had a bite and pulled on his line at racing speed, finding a fine pair of fish, one on each hook. "Ha, doctor," twit this time," exclaimed his companion. "Yes," quoth the physician, "and brought up on the bottle, too."

DICKENS FOREVER!

Still, the creed is a good one to teach. It can never be taught too often. Better than all laws against vice and crime and folly is an impulse toward self-reform. And perhaps such an impulse was never more needed than now, for never was the voice of the crowd more clamorous nor the influence of the crowd more potent. He that can make sure of his own thoughts amid its noise is a philosopher. He that can stand against its power is a hero.—From The New York World.

THE WAR ON THE RAT.

Gibson County, with its anti-rat day, which it is trying to extend to all the state, is fully abreast of the times, as is shown by despatches from Europe. In England professional rat catchers are being employed and maintained in office the same as smoke inspectors, mayors and councilmen. At Kincardine the official rat catcher and his family have killed 60,000 rats in one year, and on one occasion killed one a minute for a considerable time. Still Kincardine if a man has prickly heat he is afraid "did not know it had rats." It is claimed by competent authority that in 1910 rats cost Great Britain $75,000,000. Besides the economic loss, it is said rats carry contagion to an alarming extent, and that plague might be prevalent among the vermin for a long time before it became epidemic among human beings. The Gibson County rat authorities estimate the daily cost of a rat at two cents loss.—Indianapolis News.

Hull is the most wicked city in Canada, in proportion to population. It is situated on the Quebec side of the Ottawa river, being directly opposite the city of Ottawa, the capital of Canada. REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A man can be much prouder of his good reputation than pleased with what he gets out of it. Once in a while a man succeeds in keeping a good resolution for a while by forgetting he made it. A poor excuse to a wife improves immensely when backed up by a box of flowers and five pounds of candy. If a man has prickly heat he is afraid it's the smallpox, but if he has alcoholic dementia he's sure it's only indigestion. A girl can get two miles away from home and then go back to run in a different ribbon where nobody could see it anyhow.

Cobalt despatch says: The horrors of Porcupine's great disaster increase hourly. Out of the chaos and confusion of the first day following the fire affairs are becoming adjusted to such an extent that the terrible import of it all can be realized. But never will it be half appreciated as it is by those who went through it. Doctors, nurses and medical supplies arrived during the night, and no time was lost in getting to work. Hunger, the usual follower of such terrible incidents, is the one thing that those not otherwise injured have to fight against, and bread and provisions are being rushed in as fast as possible. With the exception of what remained in the few stores of Golden City, there remained nothing to eat.

At the beginning it was believed that the greatest loss of life occurred at the mines and in the bush, where many prospectors must have perished, but now the towns may give up the greatest number of dead, and 200 as a total is a conservative estimate of those who lost their lives. As far as is known there was no loss of life in Pottsville, and the first thought was that South Porcupine's loss numbered but four, but since their five bodies, whether of men or women is not known, have been found in the rear of where the Empire Theatre stood, making it apparent that they were endeavoring to make their escape to the north of the zone of flames.

LAKE HAS GIVEN UP VICTIMS.
 Porcupine Lake has given up forty-one victims drowned by plunging into the water, or by being swamped when they were on the shore.

Along the Shaw-DeLora line on the north side of the lake, the bodies of unknown number of men and women and two children who made their way from the Dome Camp to the North Dome. Three men are known to be dead at the Philadelphia Mine, in addition to C. E. Adams, the bookkeeper, who died of heart failure.

In connection with this F. P. Ashmore may be put down as one of the heroes of the holocaust. After Adams had died of heart failure in his arms, Mr. Ashmore beat his way back through the flames, and, wetting a blanket, wrapped the body in it, and in this way he was saved from the flames. Mr. Ashmore was badly, but not seriously, burned about the neck and chest in doing this.

On the trail from the Philadelphia to South Porcupine there lie the bodies of ten unknown dead. Six dead bodies have been found in the bush around the Dome Mine. Among the more pathetic incidents was the burning of a woman who was about to become a mother. This woman's hands and feet were burned off in the fire.

WILD EXPERIENCES.
 A. H. Crampton and Joe Healy, manager and superintendent, respectively, of the Imperial Mines, state that the company suffered no loss of life and all of their fifteen employees escaped safely. In connection with this F. P. Ashmore, as the flames were just reaching the building. In the party was Mrs. Harper, of North Cobalt, wife of the cook at the mine. She had to go a mile and a half across country, fleeing from the flames until the right-of-way was struck, then the entire party had to practically run four miles to South Porcupine and Mrs. Harper also walked another two miles around the lake. Mr. Crampton told of a weird sight in South Porcupine, after the fire. He saw the bodies of five persons who were burned, as well as six other bodies that had been taken from Porcupine Lake. One woman, while passing through the burned streets of South Porcupine, reached down and picked up a piece of the skull of one of the unfortunates, and, putting it in her handbag, stated that she would keep it as a souvenir.

Joe Healy at the time of the fire went over to the Matagami River, where, with a gang of sixteen others, he started a back fire, and in this manner, the party managed to check the flames.

FEARS PROSPECTORS PERISHED.
 Bristol Township was burned over again, said Mr. Healy, and he fears that many of the prospectors lost their lives. There were an unusually large number in that section, and there was no means of escape. There are 25 men in Shaw township, who started off from one property and have never been heard of since. They may be safe, but it is altogether likely that in fleeing from this direction to the other direction they perished in the flames.

George Lisk, a prospector near the West Dome, at the outbreak of the fire had a most remarkable escape from death, while his brother and partner burned up before his very eyes. It seems that before they fully realized it the flames were upon them, and no matter what direction they turned, the flames seemed to be reaching them. They ran forward and back, brought them to a small stream, into which they coolly threw themselves and damped the coal water over their burning and bruised bodies. Half-submerged in the water, they waited for the fire to sweep over them, which it presently did, one of the brothers, unable to stand the choking smoke and the intense heat, died on the spot. George, by rolling over and over in the shallow water, managed to survive by a miracle.

A NARROW ESCAPE.
 Charles W. Weston, owner of the Weston Claims, in Ogden, and one of the best known men in South Porcupine, had perhaps as narrow an escape as any who left South Porcupine during the fire without injury. Mr. Weston, while the flames were entering South Porcupine, rushed into Councilor Kennedy's building, to recover some papers, and while there a load of dynamite on the railroad at Lakeview, Porcupine, exploded. The dynamite shattered the building adjoining and Mr. Weston was struck by these timbers, knocked over and covered with glass.

He rushed out and there found Capt. Dunbar, who died on the spot. Capt. Dunbar was pumping water and trying to extinguish the flames. Mr. Weston sold to him to make the escape, but the captain, due to his work, and it was probably but a few minutes later that he perished. Making his way to the dock, Mr. Weston put the papers that he had saved into a canoe and started out. At this time he and Mr. Kennedy saw Mrs. William Ghore and her child standing in the dock, the upper end of which was by the time in flames. They were taken off and placed in the canoe. Horse, nearly swamped the canoe.

Finally, Mr. Weston, who had but one paddle, left the canoe and put the dogs in as a matter of protection for the others. He waded into the water, keeping as close to the canoe as possible. In this manner he was saved from the fire. His description of other details occurring about the South Porcupine dock is too horrible to relate. Attached to the first relief train from the scene of the Porcupine catastrophe was a canoe temporarily fitted up as a travelling hospital car, containing the injured officials of the Dome mines on their way to the hospital at Copper Cliff.

In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Meek. Mrs. Meek's mother, name unknown; Harry Darling, mill foreman; William Campbell, mining engineer; J. Cooper, Mr. West's nephew, a Varsity student, and another man by the name of Selmon. Mrs. Meek's mother-in-law, who was badly burned, was also in the car. Some few more are undoubtedly drowned, but we have been unable to recover the bodies as yet. Many men who were in the bush are reported missing, and are being searched for. Definite news will be published as quickly as possible, and the committee are notifying relatives wherever possible. The injured are well cared for, and everyone in Golden City is provided for. Conservative estimate gives loss of life at one hundred. Please advise all papers.

JAP ALLIANCE.

Bunds Britain to Help Japan in War With the United States.

London, July 17.—The Daily Graphic, in alluding to the proposed modifications in the Anglo-Japanese treaty alliance, thinks it will come as a shock to the average Englishman to learn that Japan in the event of her being involved in war with the United States, it would be profoundly grateful to the English people to find themselves fighting their American kinsmen in the cause of another race.

CHINESE CRUISER.

London, July 17.—The first cruiser for China's navy under the programme adopted by that government last year, was launched at Harrow-in-Furness to-day. It is a small ship of 2,400 tons, and is equipped and turbines providing a speed of twenty knots an hour. Its largest guns are six inch.

FARM CROPS AND LIVE STOCK IN CANADA

Ottawa, July 13.—A bulletin on the crops and live stock of Canada was issued to-day. The condition of the field crops of Canada on June 30, as compiled in the census and statistics office, from the reports of a large staff of correspondents, is on the whole quite satisfactory, although, on account of uneven rainfall, it is not uniform for all the Provinces. Even in parts of the same Province, as in Ontario, there is considerable inequality. For the most part in that Province excellent reports are made, but there are districts in which the grain and hay have been badly affected for want of rain in May and June.

For the whole of Canada the condition of winter wheat is only 75.20 per cent, as compared with 100 for a fall crop. This is 10 per cent less than last year, 2 per cent less than 1909, and nearly 14 per cent less than three years ago. In Ontario it is only 78 per cent of a fall crop, as compared with 94.50 last year, 75 in 1909, and 89 in 1907. In Alberta, the only other Province in which winter wheat is largely grown, the condition this year is 83.25 per cent, compared with 83.00 in 1910, 65.00 in 1909, and 90 in 1908.

Spring wheat in all the Provinces this year is given the high average condition of 94.75 at the end of June, which is better than in 1910 by 12.00 per cent, better than 1909 by 2 per cent, and better than in 1908 by nearly 10 per cent. Ontario and Utah, Colorado and the only Provinces in which the crops are under 90, are in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. It is close to 100.

The average for barley is 88, which is 6 to 10 per cent better than in the preceding three years. It reaches close to 90 in the Northwest Provinces; Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, and over 90 in Nova Scotia and Quebec, a point below 90 in Ontario, and only 84 in British Columbia.

Oats show an average of 94.46 for all the Provinces, which is higher than any year since 1908, and 95 or higher in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Quebec and the Northwest Provinces. In Ontario it is close to 90, and over 90 in British Columbia.

Hay, clover and alfalfa are below last year's condition, and pasture is a point higher. In the three Northwest Provinces the condition of pasture is over 100.

The feature of late cereals is the increase of area in flax, which is nearly 300,000 acres more than last year. The largest increase of flax is in Saskatchewan, where this crop in recent years has grown in favor.

Live stock does not show much change from last year, but their condition at the end of June is very satisfactory. All classes are within 10 per cent of 100, and an excellent uniformity is shown throughout all the Provinces.

U. S. BEEF.

J. Ogden Armour Says the States Can No Longer Export it.

New York, July 17.—American beef packers must go to Argentine for their product, said J. Ogden Armour to-day, if they wish to retain their hold upon the exportation of beef. The Chicago packer was asked what was meant by the American beef man's invasion of South America when he arrived from Europe on the steamer Lusitania.

"The United States can no longer afford to export beef," he continued, "for it is all needed to supply the home demand. This has been the condition for some time and it is more forcibly put to the American packer every day. There is a great demand in Germany and England for pickled meats and Argentine offers the simplest solution.

MAN VANISHED.

Mysterious Disappearance From Train Between Toronto and Guelph.

Guelph Despatch.—A peculiar incident that has a mysterious aspect to it, happened last night on the C. P. R. express which left Toronto at 4.30. On the train was a man, accompanied by his wife and her cousin. When short distance from Toronto the man left his seat and started for the other end of the car, with the apparent intention of going to the lavatory. When he failed to return in a reasonable length of time his wife became anxious about him, and a search of the train revealed the fact that he was not on board at all.

Not being able to locate him, the woman became nearly frantic with anxiety and was advised to get off the train at Guelph, and returned on the next one in search of him.

No one on the train has any idea of what happened to the man, or what became of him. He was apparently in his right mind, and no reason can be assigned for his sudden disappearance.

RAMMOND HOME AGAIN.

New York, July 17.—John Hays Hammond, the special United States Ambassador to the Coronation, returned to-day on the Lusitania. His secretary felt free to say that Mr. Hammond would not be the next Ambassador to Germany.

PTOMAINE POISONING.

Cochrane Despatch.—Mr. James Masvie, Toronto, was called to Port Hope on account of the serious illness of his brother, Mr. Charles Masvie, who, with members of his family, is ill with ptomaine poisoning from eating jellied veal. Over twenty persons, it is stated, have been ill in Port Hope the past few days from the same cause. All the cases reported to be on the road to recovery, although some of them have been very seriously ill.

JULY ROD AND GUN
"Following the Fur Trails," a story of the far north of interest to every Canadian, opens the July number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont. In this story Mr R. J. Fraser, who is engaged on the hydroelectric survey, relates interesting incidents of the eight months stay of the party engaged in survey, work in the neighborhood of Hudson's Bay and tells of an attack upon the camp of polar bears. He gives particulars of a fine trapping in which the party engaged and the excellent results of this portion of their work. The strenuous outward journey from Fort Nelson to Winnipeg supplies excellent reading. There is much variety in the other stories, both fishermen and hunters receiving due attention and stories and experiences from the far east as well as from the far west are included.

A GRIM SPECTRE
Disease is the Dread That Haunts Steamboat Captains.
Captain Mendus of E.M.S. Dominion realized more than anyone the other day that the anxieties of an emigrant liner's commander, do not end with the safe piloting of his ship through uncharted perils across the Western Ocean.
There are three things the commander of a passenger liner has a wholesome dread of - fog, fire and disease. The former can be dealt with by slowing down and a frequent use of the ship's horn, and other precautions to minimize the risk of accident through the demon fog, and on no road of the seas is fog so relentlessly met with as making the Gulf, the Straits of Belle Isle and even in the Gulf itself.
Fire is a devastating terrifying agent, but with a good head of steam pumps and hose in good working order and the well drilled ship's fire brigade made compulsory on all passenger carrying liners nowadays a fire at sea is no so terrible a thing as it reads in cold and sensational print, and has taken place and been so effectively and promptly dealt with that the passengers have been in ignorance of its presence.
There is one thing every commander of a vessel, large or small, hopes and inwardly prays will never be his lot to contend with, and that is the grim spectre disease, and when its presence appears in so malignant and hideous a form as the dreaded smallpox, he and the company whose flag the ship proudly flies, are objects of deep and sincere sympathy.
There are no weapons fashioned to fight this insidious foe, time and isolation only can tell to what extent the ramifications have extended. To be almost within sight of Quebec—only forty miles away—and to be held up for days, possibly weeks—is cruel luck the severity of which is accentuated when it is remembered that it is through smallpox that Captain Mendus, or any relaxation of the company's stringent hygienic rules of health, that the serious and irremediable detention has been caused, detention which however, is vitally necessary for the safeguarding of Canada's health from an epidemic of this dread scourge.

An Editor's Irony
Time and time again editors have taken a fling at the people who seem to think that filling an editorial chair is a mighty simple, easy matter. Probably the best bit of irony on the matter is the following by Bob Lewis, one of the best-known newspapermen in Western Canada:
"Every once in a while some cheerful individual remarks to us, 'Well, now that the paper is out, I suppose you can take it easy for three or four days.' Yes, that is the truth. It is that country editor has nothing to do between press days. Business runs along automatically. When paper bills come due money drops off the press with which to pay them. Subscribers vie with each other to see who can pay the fastest in advance. Advertisers beg for additional space. And the way the news hunts up the editor is also pleasant to contemplate."
There is something strange about the way the paper editor simply goes to his desk and looks back in his easy chair and looks wise and waits for next week's press day. The day before press day the people line up in front of the office door and then they file past the desk and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in fifteen or twenty minutes, takes it back and hangs it on a board. The compositors take the copy and run over the type cases, set the type, and after a few hours the forms are ready for the press. And the editor goes down and sits some more money in his pocket. It is the true story of the life of the editor. The editor could run away with press day his own way.

The Three Rivals.
March building statistics for Winnipeg show a decrease in totals of a million and a half dollars compared with the same month last year, says The Winnipeg Telegram, Vancouver.
On the other hand, reported an increase of more than a million dollars for the same period. The non-taxing of improvements in the British Columbia city is responsible for this magnificent result. No other cause could have enabled Vancouver to outstrip Winnipeg. Even at that the Manitoba city has done exceedingly well. But Calgary—well, her increase during the month of March last was greater than the total reported for the same month last year. An increase of nearly $600,000 is a handsome exhibit for the city which a few years ago was a cow town at the foot of the Canadian hills.

JULY ROD AND GUN

"Following the Fur Trails," a story of the fur trade of interest to every Canadian, opens the July number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont. In this story Mr R. J. Fraser, who is engaged on the hydrographic survey, relates interesting incidents of the eight months stay of the party engaged in survey, work in the neighborhood of Hudson's Bay and tells of an attack upon the camp of polar bears. He gives particulars of a fine trapping in which the party engaged and the excellent results of this portion of their work. The strenuous outward journey from Fort Nelson to Winnipeg supplies excellent reading. There is much variety in the other stories, both fishermen and hunters receiving due attention and stories and experiences from the far east as well as from the far west are included.

A GRIM SPECTRE.

Disease is the Dread That Haunts Steamboat Captains.

Captain Mendus of R.M.S. Dominion realized more than anyone the other day that the anxieties of an emigrant liner's commander, do not end with the safe piloting of his ship through undreamt of perils across the Western Ocean.

There are three things the commander of a passenger liner has a wholesome dread of - fog, fire and disease. The former can be dealt with by slowing down and a frequent use of the ship's horn, and other precautions to minimize the risk of accident through the demon fog, and on no road of the seas is fog so relentlessly met with as making the Gulf, the Straits of Belle Isle and even in the Gulf itself.

Fire is a devastating terrifying agent, but with a good head of steam pumps and hose in good working order and the well drilled ship's fire brigade made compulsory on all passenger carrying liners nowadays a fire at sea is not so terrible a thing as it reads in cold and sensational print, and has taken place and been so effectively and promptly dealt with that the passengers have been in ignorance of its presence.

There is one thing every commander of a vessel, large or small, hopes and inwardly prays will never be his lot to contend with, and that is the grim spectre disease, and when its presence appears in so malignant and hideous a form as the dreaded scallipox, he and the company whose flag the ship proudly flies, are objects of deep and sincere sympathy.

There are no weapons fashioned to fight this insidious foe, time and isolation only can tell to what extent its ramifications have extended. To be almost within sight of Quebec - only forty miles away - and to be held up for days, possibly weeks - is cruel luck the severity of which is accentuated when it is remembered that it is through no fault of Captain Mendus, or any relaxation of the company's stringent hygienic rules of health, that the serious and irksome detention has been caused. Detention, which however, is vitally necessary for the safeguarding of Canada's health from an epidemic of this dread scourge.

AN EDITOR'S IRONY.

Time and time again editors have taken a fling at the people who seem to think that filling an editorial chair is a mighty simple, easy matter. Probably the best bit of irony on the matter is the following by Bob Lowery, one of the best-known newspapermen in Western Canada:

"Every once in a while some cheerful individual remarks to me, 'Well, now that the paper is out, I suppose you can take it easy for three or four days.' Yes, how delightful it is that a country editor has nothing to do between press days. Business runs along automatically. When paper bills come due money drops off the trees with which to pay them. Subscribers vie with each other to see who can pay the farthest in advance. Advertisers beg for additional space. And the very next morning the editor is also pleased to contemplate."

"There is something strange about the way the news items get. When the editor goes to his desk and picks up his easy chair, and looks wise and waits for next week's press day. The day before press day the people line up in front of the office door and push the desk and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in fifteen or twenty minutes, takes it back and hangs it on a hook. The compositor take his copy and shake it over the type cases, say 'A pretty type', and the type flies into galleys and after a few passes, the forms are ready for the press again. And the editor goes down and deposits some more money in the bank. It is the greatest snap in the world. Now if the editor could only get away with press day his job would be complete."

THE THREE RIVALS.

March building statistics for Winnipeg show a decrease in totals of a million and a half dollars compared with the same month last year, says The Winnipeg Telegram. Vancouver, on the other hand, reported an increase of more than a million dollars for the same period. The non-taxing of improvements in the British Columbia city is responsible for this magnificent result. No other cause could have enabled Vancouver to outstrip Winnipeg. Even at that the Manitoba city has done exceedingly well. But Calgary - well, her increase during the month of March last was greater than the total reported for the same month last year. An increase of nearly $600,000 a handsome exhibit for the city which a few years ago was a cow town at the foot of the Canadian hills.

NE TEMERE IN ONTARIO

On Dominion Day Wm Shaw, a young drug clerk at Carp, Ont., was shot and fatally wounded by Farquhar D. McRae, reeve of Lancaster Township. The particulars leading to the shooting are likely to be of Dominion wide interest and they are contained in the following despatch:—

Carp, July 10.—The shooting of William Shaw is the culmination of ill feeling which has existed since the marriage of Dr. Magee of Carp to Miss Mary McRae on October 21st, 1908. Dr. Magee is a Methodist, Miss McRae came of Highland stock, of the Roman Catholic faith.

"We were married on the condition that she should become a Methodist," said Dr. Magee. The marriage took place in Chicago, by the pastor of Ashland Boulevard Methodist church. Mrs Magee was admitted to membership in the Dominion Methodist Church, Ottawa.

"She attended Sunday school at Carp, and read our Bible regularly," said Dr. Magee, "but when she changed she threw the Bible aside and said it was only a concoction of King James."

AT BISHOP'S PALACE

"Her father came for her," said Dr. Magee, "and said that if I wouldn't go and be married by a priest she would go home with him. After she had left she wanted me to settle the matter, and one bitter winter's day I arranged to meet her at the station at Alexandria. I had told her I wanted to see her alone. When I got to the station I found her father on the platform. He took me to the hotel, and said he would look for his daughter. He was away about an hour and finally came back and said: "If you want to see Mary you will have to see her and Father Dan McDonald at the Bishop's palace."

Dr. Magee's reply was more forcible than polite, but in February, of that year his wife returned. Differences arose over the Ne Temere decree, Dr. Magee read aloud to his wife Christian Guardian editorials upon the subject, but she refused, he says, to discuss the matter with him and saying at times, that she would return to her father.

"Why don't you abide by the contract when you entered into it?" Dr. Magee says he asked her on one of these occasions.

"There's no contract," she is said to have replied. "There is no lawyer in the country that would say that we are legally married."

A lawyer in Ottawa was consulted and he remitted an opinion that they were truly and legally married.

In May, 1910, Mrs Magee again left her husband. Efforts were made to induce Dr. Magee to renounce his faith. "I was offered money and a hospital appointment; every sort of method was tried to move me," said Dr. Magee.

"My wife returned of her own account early in July, and we had a trip all through the western states. Our boy was born in January last. In the May following, I was in the horse show at Ottawa and bought a little collapsible go-cart for the baby. When I got back to Carp, and was going up street with the go-cart, in my hand, a man met me and said my wife had gone. She had bundled her trunks down to the station herself and had taken the boy with her. I haven't seen him since.

Last Saturday Dr. Magee determined to put an end to the worry that was sapping his energies, and with his brother, J. W. Magee, and William Shaw, he started for Lancaster to recover possession of the child. At Ottawa, they secured an auto, driven by Bert Tomkins, and on their way picked up a friend, John Wren. They reached the house of D. C. McRae, father of Mrs Magee, and Dr. Magee's companions kept the attention of Mr. McRae and his hired man.

Dr. Magee searched the house, but did not find either his child or his wife. Just as he had entered the auto and it moved off, one of the party at the house fired as the auto moved away from him.

"If we had not been going, and if our front wheels had not just that moment fallen into a little rut, the shot would have caught me in the back of the head," said Dr. Magee, indicating a point just at the angle of his jaw.

"As soon as the shot was fired, Shaw fell forward as white as a sheet. We stopped, and I changed seats to be with Shaw, and then we started off. I injected morphia. There was an awful wound in his back, into which I could place my two fingers.

Shaw was conveyed to Cornwall hospital where he died a few hours later. McRae is in Cornwall jail awaiting trial.

Colcock - - Brockville

OPPOSITE NORTHERN CROWN BANK

BACK FROM PORCUPINE

Mr and Mrs Fred Earl left Cochrane on their way to Porcupine gold fields a few days ago, arriving in Smith's Falls on Sunday last, and drove from that place to Mr Oliver Hayes, Union Valley. The object of their trip was to see Mr Hayes in his severe illness.

Cochrane, with a population of 2,000 had only three houses left after the awful catastrophe that befell it. Mr Earl lost his comfortable home and other buildings, but on his way here ordered material to rebuild.

In twenty minutes the town was hurled out of sight forever. The forest fire reached it—the next minute, the black wings of a furious tornado hovered over the place. In a few minutes 2,000 people were homeless—their homes had vanished in the roaring thunder clouds above their heads in smoke and ashes.

The shrieks and moans and cries of men, women and children—wrecked, flaming buildings flying through the air—the horrid roar of the whirlwind and booming thunder—the awful vivid red flashes of lightning—the crashing of falling trees—every countenance black with dust, tears and despair—made scenes that defies description, and is a miniature picture that recalls to one's mind the grand and sublime display brought to view in the words of the prophets. One says, "Rivers will burn like oil."

Another prophet says, "The mountains will melt down like wax," and the great tidal waves of fire, flame crested, will beat on exploding rocks. That time of trouble, long foretold, such as never was since there was a nation, will come because of the rejection, mock trial and murder of the Son of God. This must be accounted for because our Father so loved the world (souls of men) that he gave the Son of his love that whosoever believed on the Son might not perish but have everlasting life.

Our world will be invisible, enveloped in the gloom clouds of doom, and will dissolve once more into chaos—all stain of evil expurgated—from which Christ builds a new earth and sky—vast paradise—rubied, jewelled and gemmed in transparent, crystalline, glorious splendor—a present to redeemed millions—Bride of Christ.

DEATH OF MALCOLM BRESEE

Malcolm Peter Bresee died at his home in Brockville on Sunday evening last.

Deceased was born in Bastard township on Dec. 9, 1839, being the eldest son of the late Peter Bresee and Permelia Nichols.

In 1866 he married Bethesda Stevens, eldest daughter of Thos. Stevens of Bastard. By this marriage were born three children, two of whom survive: Miss Rose and Herbert T. of Brockville. Albert M., the eldest son, passed away six years ago.

Mr Bresee was one of the most up to date and progressive farmers of Bastard township. In 1874 he opened a cheese factory on his farm near Delta and later turned it into a butter factory.

NE TEMERE IN ONTARIO

On Dominion Day Wm Shaw, a young drug clerk at Carp, Ont., was shot and fatally wounded by Farquhar D. McRae, reeve of Lancaster Township.

"We were married on the condition that she should become a Methodist," said Dr. Magee. The marriage took place in Chicago, by the pastor of Ashland Boulevard Methodist church.

"She attended Sunday school at Carp, and read our Bible regularly," said Dr. Magee, "but when she changed she threw the Bible aside and said it was only a concoction of King James."

AT BISHOP'S PALACE

"Her father came for her," said Dr. Magee, "and said that if I wouldn't go and be married by a priest she would go home with him. After she had left she wanted me to settle the matter, and one bitter winter's day I arranged to meet her at the station at Alexandria. I had told her I wanted to see her alone.

Dr. Magee's reply was more forcible than polite, but in February, of that year his wife returned. Differences arose over the Ne Temere decree, Dr. Magee read aloud to his wife Christian Guardian editorials upon the subject, but she refused, he says, to discuss the matter with him and saying at times, that she would return to her father.

"Why don't you abide by the contract when you entered into it?" Dr. Magee says he asked her on one of these occasions.

"There's no contract," she is said to have replied. "There is no lawyer in the country that would say that we are legally married."

A lawyer in Ottawa was consulted and he remitted an opinion that they were truly and legally married.

In May, 1910, Mrs Magee again left her husband. Efforts were made to induce Dr. Magee to renounce his faith. "I was offered money and a hospital appointment, every sort of method was tried to move me," said Dr. Magee.

"My wife returned of her own account early in July, and we had a trip all through the western states.

"Our boy was born in January last. In the May following, I was in the house at Ottawa and bought a little collapsible go-cart for the baby. When I got back to Carp, and was going up street with the go-cart, in my hand, a man met me and said my wife had gone. She had bundled her trunks down to the station herself and had taken the boy with her. I haven't seen him since.

Last Saturday Dr. Magee determined to put an end to the woe that was sapping his energies, and with his brother, J. B. Magee, and William Shaw, he started for Lancaster to recover possession of the child. At Ottawa, they secured an auto, driven by Bert Tomkins, and on their way picked up a friend, John Wren. They reached the house of D. G. McRae, father of Mrs Magee, and Dr. Magee's companions kept the attention of Mr. McRae and his hired man.

Dr. Magee searched the house, but did not find either his child or his wife. Just as he had entered the auto and it moved off, one of the party at the house fired as the auto moved away from him.

"If we had not been going, and if our front wheels had not just that moment fallen into a little rut, the shot would have caught me in the back of the head," said Dr. Magee, indicating a point just at the angle of his jaw.

"As soon as the shot was fired, Shaw fell forward as white as a sheet. We stopped, and I changed seats to be with Shaw, and then we started off. I injected morphia. There was an awful wound in his back, into which I could place my two fingers.

Shaw was conveyed to Cornwall hospital where he died a few hours later. McRae is in Cornwall jail awaiting trial.

OPPOSITE NORTHERN CROWN BANK

BACK FROM PORCUPINE

Mr and Mrs Fred Earl left Cochrane township in the Porcupine gold fields a few days ago, arriving in Stith's Falls on Sunday last, and drove from that place to Mr Oliver Hayes, Union Valley. The object of their trip was to see Mr Hayes in his severe illness.

Cochrane, with a population of 2,000 had only three houses left after the awful catastrophe that befell it. Mr Earl lost his comfortable home and other buildings, but on his way here ordered material to rebuild.

In twenty minutes the town was hurled out of sight forever. The forest fire reached it—the next minute, the black wings of a furious tornado hovered over the place. In a few minutes 2,000 people were homeless—their homes had vanished in the roaring thunder clouds above their heads in smoke and ashes.

The shrieks and moans and cries of men, women and children—wrecked, flaming buildings flying through the air—the horrid roar of the whirlwind and booming thunder—the vivid red flashes of lightning—the crashing of falling trees—every countenance black with dust, tears and despair—made a scene that defies description, and is a miniature picture that recalls to one's mind the grand and sublime display brought to view in the words of the prophets. One says, "Rivers will burn like oil." Another prophet says, "The mountains will melt down like wax," and the great tidal waves of fire, flame crested, will beat on exploding rocks. That time of trouble, long foretold, such as never was since there was a nation, will come because of the rejection, mock trial and murder of the Son of God. This must be accounted for because our Father so loved the world (souls of men) that he gave the Son of his love that whosoever believed on the Son might not perish but have everlasting life.

Our world will be invisible, enveloped in the gloom clouds of doom, and will dissolve once more into chaos—all stain of evil expurgated—from which Christ builds a new earth and sky—vast paradise—rubied, jewelled and gemmed in transparent, crystalline, glorious splendor—a present to redeemed millions—Bride of Christ.

LESSON IV.—JULY 23, 1914.

Josiah's Devotion to God.—2 Chron. 34: 1-13.

Commentary.—1. Josiah's moral excellence (vs. 1, 2). 1. Josiah—He was the son of Amon and Jedidah. His name means, "Jehovah supports," and from his having received the name it has been inferred that his mother was faithful to the God of Israel. Eight years old—During the early years of his reign he must have been under the guidance of others, and these, no doubt, were loyal to Jehovah. We may reasonably suppose that his mother exerted a beneficial influence over him. 2. Did, right—He left the brightest name for piety and religious zeal among all the successors of David. He shares with Hezekiah the praise of walking perfectly in the way of his father David. His reign marks the last glory of the earthly kingdom of David.—Smith. "He did that which was right," not because the tendency of the nation was in that direction, for it was not, but in spite of the prevailing idolatry. In the sight of the Lord—His goodness was not simply external; it passed the scrutiny of Him who searches motives as well as acts. Josiah was right at heart. In the ways of David—David was looked upon as the model king of Israel. His reign was the standard of excellence as regards religious devotion and zeal. "A high tribute is here paid to the character and work of Josiah. His father—His ancestor.

II. Destroying idolatry (vs. 3-7). 3. Eighth year—When he was sixteen years old. Yet young—He was still young, although youths matured at an earlier age in the East than in the western world. Began to seek after the God—Beginning early he could devote an unwanted life and unimpaird powers to the service of God. This date marks his entrance upon the divine life. "A life that was to be abundantly fruitful for the moral reformation of the nation. In the twelfth year—Another of the important dates in Josiah's reign. Began to purge Judah—His own righteous heart and life would not admit of his stopping short of the greatest need. "Which were in a bad condition, as we see from the bitter complaints and denunciations of Zephaniah and Jeremiah. Idolatry of the worst description was openly tolerated."

4. Burnt the bones of the priests—The burning of human bones upon the altars would forever render them polluted. Idolatry was so widespread and deep-seated that it must be violently torn from the life of the people. The prophecy of which this is the fulfillment is found in I. Kings 13, 1, 2. G. Manasseh and Ephraim, etc.—The northern kingdom had been taken into captivity by the Assyrians nearly a century before this, yet there were a few of the people of Israel in the land. Josiah probably purposed to carry his reforms to these tribes, as far as to Naphtali on the north and to Simeon on the south, to rid them of idolatry and to incorporate them in his kingdom. Assyria was in conflict with the king, and was tottering to her fall, and hence, was tooting attention to conditions in Israel. With their mottoes—"In their ruins."—R. V. 7. He returned to Jerusalem—Josiah had undertaken that he would be thoroughly accomplished, and he had the restoration of the worship of Jehovah demanded his attention. To this task he gave himself energetically.

III. Repairing the Temple (vs. 8-13). 8. In the eighteenth year—At twenty-three years of age Josiah had sought the Lord, and had been long engaged in the task of enjoying idolatry, which he had finished. had purged... the house—The years of idolatry had left the temple neglected and polluted. Josiah followed the illustrious example of Hezekiah in cleansing the house of the Lord. It was not enough to destroy idolatry; the service and worship of the true God must be restored. Shaphan—He was the scribe, an officer of high rank, to repair to the house of the Lord.—The three men to whom was entrusted this work were among the principal men of the city and nation. It may be readily seen that the temple would need repairs, as it had been about two hundred years since it was repaired under Josiah, who also was a boy king. 9. Hilkiah.—The son of Shallum, and grandson of Zadok (I Chron. 6: 12, 13), delivered the money—Josiah followed the example of Josiah in collecting money to repair the temple. The money had come not only from Judah, but also from the remnants of the other tribes of Israel. Levites.—The descendants of Levi performed duties pertaining to the temple, they returned to Jerusalem, the inhabitants of Jerusalem.—R. V. 10. workmen—Two classes of workmen are mentioned. There were the overseers who had charge of the repairs, and the workmen who did the work with carpenters and masons. 11. timber for couplings—It may be seen how greatly the temple was in need of repairs from the fact that timber for the framework must be bought from the stone and other material. It had been three hundred and fifty years since the building was erected. To floor—To make beams for.—R. V. houses—These were either the chambers which were built about the temple or the buildings connected with it. 12. did the work faithfully.—The men had their hearts in the work, as was the case when the temple was repaired during the reign of Josiah. Where there is genuine love for God's some and its services earnest efforts will be made to keep it in good repair. could skill of instruments of music.—"Were skilful with instrument of music."—R. V. 13. scribes and officers and porters.—The scribes were clerks, copyists and translators, the officers were magistrates and the porters were those who kept the temple doors. These were from the tribe of Levi. Questions.—What did Manasseh do after he was restored to his kingdom? Who was Amon? What was his character and the length of his reign? How did he die? How old was Josiah when he began to reign? What was the character of his reign? When was he converted? What did he do in the twelfth year of his reign? How was it possible for Josiah to carry his reforms into the land of Israel? How did the king raise money to repair the temple? What can you say of the faithfulness of the workmen?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.—Independence of Christian character.

I. The outgrowth of personal conviction.

II. The basis of successful religious reform.

I. The outgrowth of personal conviction. It can not be said of Josiah that he was controlled either by heredity or environment. His history proves rather that God dealt directly with every soul and "lighteth every man that cometh into the world." He acted upon his power of choice. Good and evil were before him. God's law had been kept by some of his ancestors and the result was good both to them and to the nation. Others had profaned God's law and instituted false worship, and evil was the result both to ruler and people. Four hundred years had passed since David's time, but his manner was not too old-fashioned for Josiah. God's design was more clearly discernible in his time, and certainly national affairs were conducted more fully according to God's law. His wise choice was "to seek the God of David." Every individual is responsible to God, regardless of whether others may live. Josiah's early devotion is a bright example to follow. He began to seek God in a time of almost universal godlessness and corruption. He is a notable example showing the possibility of rising above and resisting evil environment. He is also an example showing the possibility of becoming truly pious regardless of the laws of heredity. He became a "righteous branch from a wicked root." Josiah is a most remarkable example of goodness springing up and attaining high standards under the most extraordinary, unfavorable circumstances. It is scarcely possible to contemplate the depth of degradation into which Judah had fallen. Two wicked kings in succession had undone all the reforms of good King Hezekiah. Though Manasseh had done his best in advanced life to bring back the people from the depths of sin to which he had led them, their reform proved to be only external. Through the pious endeavors of Josiah God gave Judah another call to repentance, another opportunity to reform. There are seasons even in degenerate times when the old type of piety is restored and lived over again, and triumphant faith is possessed and the holiness of those who have gone comes back like a new inspiration to live and makes them shine out clear in the surrounding darkness. If it appears marvellous that righteous Hezekiah succeeded the wicked Manasseh and Amon, and that, during his reign, he turned "neither to the right hand, nor to the left," and became known as the best of all Judah's kings.

II. The basis of successful religious reform. Josiah and his country repented great good as a result of his early devotion to God. "Whoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." His life encouraged others to live right. An extraordinary and commendable example of piety, which he put "first things first." He made personal piety his first duty for himself. For his people he began first to promote their religious condition. Earnest religion invariably brings forth its appropriate fruit in zeal for the honor of God, the purification of his worship and the putting away of evil practices. Josiah had a determined and conscientious purpose in his life-work. He advanced step by step in carrying out his religious duties under the light of his own convictions. Being set against all evil he "brake down," "cut down," "raze in pieces," and "burnt the bones," in a bold, radical and sweeping reform. Yet all his activity was inspired by true religious fervor. He was a king of rare value. The fact that he extended his work into Samaria shows that he had attained power and authority there. He wisely improved the opportunity, while other nations were engaged in their perplexing affairs, to find the remaining Israelites and seek to bring them into fellowship with God.

THOUSAND OUT.

Firemen, Stewards and Oilers of Ward Steamers Strike.

New York, July 17.—About 1,000 firemen, stewards and oilers of the Ward Line steamers were called out again today, following the rejection of terms offered by a telephone company to its striking employees. Assistant General Manager Macey said, however, that negotiations were still in progress and that the company had not abandoned hope of a settlement. He expected that the company's offer, Mr. Macey would be able to sail today as scheduled, despite the efforts of the men to tie up the line.

MCMANARA'S CASE.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 17.—Superior Judge Bondwell has denied the motion to dismiss the indictments against John and James McManara, charged with nineteen murders in connection with the destruction of a newspaper plant here, Oct. 1, 1910.

The accused men at once entered pleas of not guilty to all the indictments.

PRINCE OF WALES' INSIGNIA OF OFFICE

King and Queen Take Part in Quaint Ceremony in Wales.

Carnarvon Castle the Scene of the Prince's Investiture.

Carnarvon, Wales cable.—In the old and well preserved castle of Carnarvon, the young Prince of Wales was invested today with the insignia of his high office. The quaint town, in festal attire, made a holiday, and drew within its borders thousands of Welshmen from the surrounding country. The weather was unclouded, and two hours before the arrival of Their Majesties, with the Prince, great crowds had gathered along the route, from Griffith's Crossing, where the Royal party alighted, to the Castle gate. The buildings along the streets were lavishly decorated. Troops, bluejackets and marines kept open the way through which the procession passed. In the vicinity of the Castle a thousand London police and firemen held an open space.

The scene within the Castle was picturesque, the vast enclosure within the towers and battlemented walls, forming an ideal setting for the ceremony. The outer and inner balconies were lined with stands, enabling several thousand persons to obtain an excellent view. Their Majesties and the Prince received an enthusiastic reception. King George and Queen Mary with the Prince, came on the Royal yacht Victoria and Albert from Ireland to Holyhead. This morning a special train brought them from Holyhead to Griffith's Crossing, a small station two and a half miles north of Carnarvon. Royal carriages and an escort of cavalry were awaiting the party upon the arrival of whom the procession was formed. Carnarvon was entered by the north road, and the party proceeded through the town into the castle. On Thursday afternoon Miss Belle Wiltse entertained her large Sunday School class of little girls to a lawn party. This is an annual event and is always anticipated with pleasure by the little folk. The event on Thursday fully met the expectations of all, as the children had a most delightful time. Miss Wiltse is most devoted to the interest of her young pupils, and her affectionate regard is fully appreciated by the children and their parents. The swings that had been erected were very much enjoyed and into the various games and amusements the children entered with hearty zest. A very interesting feature of the day's programme was the pieces produced by the gramophone so pleasantly operated by Mrs R. Cornell. Twenty-six little ones sat down at the table and all partook heartily of the good things provided and it was late in the evening before the last of the merry gathering dispersed.

Will there be an election this fall? Various opinions are expressed in this connection. The Montreal Gazette says the government intends to "spring the parliamentary elections on the country" and the Brockville Times says the chances are that Mr Borden will compel Sir Wilfrid to go to the country. The parliamentary Opposition at Ottawa unquestionably have the power to force an election, and should they exercise this power, it is difficult to see just where the Gazette's "spring" will apply.

An interesting case was heard in Smit's Falls not long ago. It seems a man who was on the Indian list asked a friend to get him a bottle, which he did. When on his oath, this friend swore that he got no liquor for him and the case was dismissed. A few days afterwards his conscience troubled him and he owned up to the inspector that he had got the liquor and given it to the man. Now it is a case of perjury, and it was doubtful if the man could be discharged with a fine. However it was settled by him being fined $100 and one day in jail.

War against weeds was decided upon at a special session of the village council on Thursday evening. In harmony with the decision, special help was engaged by the road commissioners and all streets within the corporation limits are receiving attention. The war is not to end with the cleaning up of the streets, but is to be pushed into the yards and gardens of citizens. The wise man will see that his premises are at once cleared of noxious weeds; failing this, notice will be served, and if the weeds are not destroyed within ten days thereafter, an employee of the corporation will do the work and the cost of the whole proceedings will be charged against the property and be collected with other taxes.

FOOD - FOR THOUGHT

Who pays the enormous expense of those show-rooms in our towns and cities? Is it not the people who buy pianos there? Why buy from them when you can get just as good, and in many cases better, from me, delivered Free from the factory to your door? This is one of the reasons I can sell you a piano for less money than you pay at any show-room.

All kinds of instruments taken in exchange. We defy competition for the money in all grades. Get my prices before purchasing, for they are certainly very low for strictly high grade pianos.

Also agent for Raymond, New Williams, and New Home Sewing Machines.
