One of the most unpopular clauses in the bill relative to the endowment of religious charitable establishments has been carried after a determined struggle in the Chamber of Representatives by a majority of sixty against forty-one. The excitement was so great that orders were given to clear the house, being the third time during the session that the people have been excluded from the debates. Out of doors numerous groups assembled, and much agitation prevailed. The Papal Nuncio, who happened to make his appearance, was greeted with groans and hisses.

" This Company added about £90,000 to its permanent capital, for the increased protection of its Insurers. This step distinctly shows that the Company has always acted upon the principle enuuciated by one Half Credit Policies granted on terms unusu- of the directors at the last Annual Meeting ally favourable to the assured, the amount of of the proprietors-that the interests of the half premiums for which credit is given being assured have a paramount claim on the directors-a claim superior even to that of the shareholders themselves.

> " From that moment, as might be expected, the Company attained the highest consideration throughout the country, and has retained it ever since. The result is shown in the unexampled fact that its Fire Revenue alone rose in about five year from little more than £30,000 to about £130,000!

> " A further cause of this rapid growth lies somewhat more below the surface, but is yet of importance. From inquiry we learn that no fire office possessing half the above revenue annually deposits its accounts with the Registrar-general.

"The resources and balance-sheet of this great Company are, on the contrary, annually registered, and unmistakeable evidence is thus given periodically of its capacity to meet its engagements."-Morning Herald, December 26, 1855.

"Indeed, the bonus of the 'Royal' may be pronounced to be larger than any ye declared by the mass of the English office Here is an office which yields a fairly earno est and wholesome reversionary bonus of per centum in its Life Branch, and it regard to fire operations, can make this very enviable boast, that it has exceeded the Fire business of all but two of the London Fire offices - viz. : the receipt of nearly £130,000 per year in Fire premi ums alone-some of which ancient office! have been in existence for a century! Equally successful and singular in both departments. Indeed, the Life Depart ment may be said to present results equally as worthy of mention."- Morning Chronicl November 28, 1855.

OLD CHURCH BELLS.

Ring out merrily, Loudly, cheerily. Blith old hells from the steeple tower, Hopefully, fearfully, Joyfully, tearfully Moveth the bride from her maiden bower,

Sunshine flings benison down from on high; Childern sing loud, as the train moves along "Happy the bride that the sun shines on."

> Knell out drearily, Measured out wearily, Sad old bells from the steeple gray. Priests chanting lowly, Solemnly, slowly, Passeth the corpse from the portal to-day.

Drops from the laden clouds heavily fall Drippingly over the plume and the pall; Murmur old folk, as the train moves along, " Happy the dead that the rain raineth on."

> Toll at the hour of prime, Matin, and vesper chime, Loved old bells from the steeple high; Rolling, like holy waves, Over the lowly graves, Floating up, prayer fraught, into the sky.

Solemn the lesson your lightest notes teach

Ringing in life from the bud to the bloom, Ringing the dead to their rest in the tomb.

Peal out evermore-Peal as ye peal'd of yore, Brave old bells, on each Sabbath-day, In sunshine and gladness, Through clouds and through sadness Bridal and burial have both passed away.

Tell us life's pleasures with death are still

Tell us that death ever leadeth to life; Life is our labour, and death is our rest, If happy the living, the dead are the blest. -Dublin University Magazine.

THE NEW SWARM.

To the Speaker. May 1, 1857.

Now the election's din and riot Have died away, and all is quiet; Now they've fairly lodged the swarm In their own hive, secure and warm; And now, Sir, you are chosen to be The head of this community. But ere the bees go forth to work,

Pray, give them, Sir, a little talk; Teach them as kindly as you please, Wherefore they, all of them, are bees; and what they've hived so well, and what They each should aim at, and what not. Say, Sir, " Attend, ye fluttering bees, Declared, par excellence, M.P.'s. Let it, I pray, be understood, All must advance the general good. No private cells are here allowed; The golden honey to be stored, (Honour, pure, beyond refining).

Is ne'er to be for your sole dining; But always that the commonwealth, Come sun, come rain, may live in health. "And further (sileace, order there), Of too much noise you must beware. You're not brought here to spend your days In humming forth your own dear praise; But choosing between weeds and flowers, To labour whilst the hive is yours. "Nor this alone; your heads have wings

And, as you know, your bodies stings; But these no one against another Must point—let each to each be brother. With angry trump and folling drum, imer sale spoil your garden, storm your hive, Then show yourselves, my bees, alive; And for your young, resolved and true, Preserve the sweets Heaven grants to you."
