amongst the business men creating quite a commotion, and there is no knowing where the thing will end. Some have one view, others hold another, but H. K. At the last meeting of the Berlin town council the chief of police was instructed to ring the town bell at nine o'clock evening and arrest all children under fifteen years of age found on the streets after that hour.

Rev Father McGee, of St. Augustine, the popular parish priest of West Wauwasco, was in town on Thursday, the guest of Rev Father West. His clerical ministrations correspond with his admirable physique, the people of his parish are in good hands.

Mr R. B. Scott, formerly of Smith's Hill and well known in Goderich as the old treasurer of the West Riding Agricultural Society, was in town during the week. He is now general agent for the Confederation Life Assurance Company, and is making the business more.

TEMPERANCE.—The Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, April 16th, at 7.30, at the house of Mrs R. Henderson. All the members are requested to be present, as there is important business to come before the meeting.

A POPULAR INSTRUMENT.—A new scale Upright Piano forte recently completed by Messrs Newcombe & Co., Toronto, is affording great satisfaction. It fills the requirements for a reliable instrument by a first class maker at a figure within the reach of all. Write them for particulars.

The members of Huron Lodge No. 62 I. O. O. F., will celebrate the 70th anniversary of the institution of Odd-Fellowship on this continent by attending Divine service in Knox church, on Sabbath forenoon the 21st inst., when the Rev J. A. Anderson will preach an appropriate sermon.

The Beaver Lacrosse Club organized Tuesday evening, when the following officers were elected: Capt. W. Price; Treasurer, H. Black; Secretary, A. McVicar. The members' ages are from 13 to 15, and they are ready for challenges from any junior club in Huron county. Address all communications to the Secretary.

Mr Joseph Reville, who at one time worked in Clinton, but has been living at Alpena, Mich., for several years, has rented the blacksmith shop of Mr. L. Elliott, and takes possession at once. He says a man may get better wages in the States than he can here, but he saves no more money, as living is higher.

Mr D. Young, of Toronto, a practical photographer, has been secured by Mr Geo Stewart to enable him to turn out the business at his studio. Heretofore Mr Stewart had engaged by assistants, but he now intends to have his work handled only by experts. The new order of things will double the capacity for turning out work.

GETTING READY.—The Goderich lake capitalists are making everything ready for the ensuing season. Following is a partial list of captains and boats: A. Bogie, Ontario; D. McLeod, Carter; J. Burns, Jennie McLeod; A. Lawson, Tomlin; T. Patrie, Star; A. McLeod, Goldhunter; Jos. Noble, Pinafore; J. McDonald, Koltage.

FINE TAILORING.—Before purchasing your spring suit drop in and examine MacCormac's new spring trends; you will find a large and varied selection of the very nicest goods. Ask for prices and you will be convinced that you struck the right spot for first-class clothing at very moderate prices. He has always held first place as a fashionable cutter, and his workmen are the very best.

A teacher in a Western town, who asked one of her pupils to procure a grammar, received the following note from the girl's mother: "I do not desire that Mattie shall engage in grammar as I prefer her to engage in more useful studies, and can learn her to speak and write proper myself. I have went through two grammars and can't say as they did me no good—I prefer Mattie to engage in German and drawing and vocal music on the piano."

KNOX CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION.—After the regular weekly prayer meeting, of the "Knox Church Young People's Association," on Tuesday evening last, the matter of a more perfect organization of the Society was discussed. A constitution (prepared chiefly by Mr Fred Blair) was read and adopted, and then the following officers were elected: Honorary President, Rev Dr Ure; Honorary Vice-President, Rev J. A. Anderson, B. A.; President, J. S. Allan; Vice-President, F. Blair; Secretary, Miss Aikenead; Treasurer, Miss Wiggins; Executive Committee—Miss Nairn, Miss McPherson, Miss Thompson, Miss Bissett and Mr Mahaffey. The society progresses favourably and much interest is manifested in its meetings.

Alex. McD Allan, the President of the Fruit Growers' Association, has conducted himself with the Empire Produce Company, recently formed at Toronto, to manage the fruit department, especially sales in Britain, with a chief office for Great Britain in London, England. No better selection could have been made for the position than Mr Allan, whose wide acquaintance with Canadian fruit of all kinds is very generally conceded. The Company will be in full working order by July at the latest.

Rev A. Potter, of Victoria street church, will deliver a lecture on "The American War," in Zion church, Huron Road, Goderich township, on Monday next, April 22d. The rev. gentleman will also deliver the lecture in Victoria street church on the evening of Good Friday. War melodies will be sung by a quartet club under the leadership of Mr. Henning. At the Good Friday lecture Mrs. T. V. Dettlor has kindly consented to recite that most thrilling piece, "After the Battle."

THE QUERY ANSWERED.—Tuesday last Rev. E. Young, of Colborne, met Taz Stival, and informed us that he could name five people in Goderich who were present at the launching of the Minneapolis on April 5th, 1834. When asked for the names, he replied, "There were present to my knowledge, Sheriff Gibbons, Tom Kydd, Henry Horton, Horace Horton, and myself. I was on the boat when she was launched into the water." There may have been others present, but the above is the list that we have heard of to the present.

TAMING A "TOUGH."—The irreproachable John Murray was on another of his drunks on Wednesday last. Shortly before six o'clock in the evening he became obstreperous on the corner of Newgate and Hamilton streets, and constable Knox had to take him in hand and run him into the "cooler." During the time this operation was being performed Murray resisted in every way possible and used the vilest epithets, but the wily little constable hung on to the big, lubberly blackguard, and gave him to the lock up.

Valuable household furniture, the property of James Robinson, Trafalgar-st, by John Knox, auctioneer, at 1 o'clock p.m. on Wednesday, April 24th. No reserve, as Mr Robinson is giving up housekeeping.

Mrs. McKae (widow) was granted $15, she being in destitute circumstances. Mr. Foster was heard respecting repairs to Holmeville bridge road. He was told to repair the part complained of, but to have regard to economy. Mr Halstead presented a bill for $10 for parties passing through his clearing; he declined to accept the council's offer. The matter was left over. Several other matters were attended to. The following accounts were paid, viz., William Collins, indent, six months' allowance, $37.50; Alfred Goodwin, for gravel from the John Evans estate, $1.02; Township treasurer, postage and stationery one year, $4; James Fitzgerald, indent, for clothes, $5. Council adjourned to meet again on Monday, the 27th May, as a Court of Revision.—JAMES PATTON, Clerk.

POPULAR ROW. From our own correspondent.

Mr Frank Sallows left for London on the four o'clock train, Monday. He intends to follow the trade of furniture upholstery. Frank is a steady, industrious and persevering young man. He is a mechanic who always aims at first-class excellence in whatever he undertakes. With these qualities we hope to see his efforts crowned with success in the great arena of life.

Mrs Jas. McCracken is the happy mother of a young son, Jim, is the proudest man on Poplar Row.

Nerviline. What is it? Nerviline is a combination of the most powerful pain relieving substances known. Nerviline is not a nostrum, but a preparation which has received from members of the medical profession, clergymen, the press, and others most enthusiastic endorsement. It suffers from pain of any kind, external or local, give Nerviline a trial. Nerviline cures toothache, cramps, neuralgia, and almost instantly. Trial bottles 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents, at druggists and dealers everywhere.

Mr Harry Rowlands, who has occupied the position of book-keeper in McCrary's Manufacturing Company, London, for several years, left last week for Montreal, where he assumes a similar position in a large wholesale house. (Harry is an old Clintonian, his father being at one time book-keeper for S. Davis.

BOGUS MONEY.

How the "Green Goods" Men Work the Markets.

A well known resident of the town has placed in our hands a letter received here from a New York gang of "Green Goods" speculators. The country has been flooded with similar documents, and in many instances the speculators have caught "judgements." The letter is accompanied by an extract from a U. S. newspaper in which an account is given of a set of pieces that had been stolen from the Treasury Department, and the impression sought to be conveyed is that the bogus greenbacks are printed from these plates, and cannot be detected from the genuine Government issue. Some time ago in the Canadian Parliament, it was explained how the "green goods" men carried on their nefarious business, and stated that the plan was to take the would-be purchaser to their rendezvous, and show him a quantity of genuine bills, telling him that it was a sample of their work. Then a bargain was struck, and to avoid detection, the sellers would agree to deliver the goods at a named hotel. In due course the parcel would arrive, but when it opened it invariably was found to contain bricks, sawdust, or something of a similar nature, and thus the greenhorn was fleeced. Recently the rascals went so far as to send a circular of the kind described to Hon John Haggart, Postmaster General of Canada, but the Hon John did not fall for the rascal's game. The following is a copy of the circular:

DEAR SIR,—You have been referred to me as a trustworthy person and one who can keep his own counsel, therefore I would be pleased to open a correspondence with you in regard to the business which I propose, and if you will be guided by my advice and experience there is no reason why you should not make a sure and safe fortune, there is absolutely no risk, as the article is good money and is perfect as the enclosed newspaper clipping will prove. The sizes are 1s, 2s, 5s and 10s. My terms are 2,000 cost $250, 3,000 cost $300, 5,000 cost $400, 10,000 cost $650, 20,000 cost $1,000 and so on at an increasing rate, so the more you invest the cheaper you get the goods. 2,000 in the goods costing $250 is the lowest amount I will sell under any circumstances, and if you will take 10,000 costing $650 or 20,000 costing $1,000 I will give you the right of your state and no one else can get the goods in your state. Furthermore, I do not give you the goods at these figures after the first deal, I only give them now as an extra inducement, and to give you a start, after the first deal I charge at the rate of 25c on the dollar. Now, my friend, if you wish to enter this speculation it will be absolutely necessary for you to come here and see me personally as I will only deal face to face with my customers, which is the safest and most satisfactory way for both, as by your coming here you will see what you are buying and I see who I am dealing with, and both feel satisfied. I know it is quite a journey for you to come here, but look at the advantages and again think of the large profits to be made and no risks, and as far as expense is concerned I always make a liberal allowance in the goods to cover all expenses. Make up your mind to come here, you will find me a square deal man in all my dealings, and will never have cause to regret a visit to me. I will meet you in New York City any time you may appoint which I trust will be soon, and I will show you my entire stock from which you can make your own selections, then if my goods are not all I claim them to be, I square it with you, and I will be home. Now, what fairer can you ask! In God's name do not betray me, or mention to a living soul what passes between us as I have never done you any harm and never shall, but will prove a true and lasting friend to you. Make up your mind to come here, and in my next letter I will name the hotel for you to stop at, how you will know me and full instructions. Be sure and send me your name and post office address as I might lose the one I now have. I will always return your letters to you, and as a guarantee of your confidence I also request the return of this letter and newspaper clipping. Trusting you will answer at once and return this letter, I remain yours in confidence.

CARLOW.

From our own correspondent.

Mr Wm Young has returned from the Military College, London. He is a fine specimen of a young Canadian. The training at the College has improved greatly his symmetry of form and military appearance.

Rev Alexander McMillan preached a sermon to the children on Sunday. He chose his text from 2nd Kings, chap. 5, 3 and 4 verses. The silence which prevailed, and the thoughtful and attentive little faces, told how eagerly they listened to the Divine truths.

A mistake was made last week in reporting the debate which took place here. The debate was, "Resolved, that the present Protective tariff with the United States is more beneficial to Canadians than Free Trade would be." Messrs Richards, Knechtel, Howell, Sallows, and Blair being on the negative, and Messrs Young, Hamilton, Murdoch and Duff the affirmative. The debate was decided in favor of the negative, or Free Trade.

CHAPTER VII.

To the Editor of THE SIGNAL.

It was at least three weeks before I was enabled to leave my bed, the nature of the injuries being far more severe than I at first imagined. I had, however, fully made up my mind to leave, and once this resolution was taken my old friends gave me too well to press its being put in execution. Therefore, as soon as it became generally known that I was bound to go, Lancaster was kind enough to invite my old companions and some other friends to an evening's jollification—a right royal time we had of it, just one of those meetings which leave forever their indelible impression on our minds. As the old Grenwich pensioner fights his battles over again, so we discussed the hundred and one exciting incidents that occurred, while crossing the great and lonely plains, fording the dangerous streams, or climbing the mountain tops. The happy and pleasant evening was finally brought to an end by my old chums gathering round me and earnestly on my long homeward journey, and with many a warm shake of the hand they bid me a hearty good-bye. "Auld Lang Syne" was then enthusiastically sung in which we all joined, being ably assisted by Woodliffe, who as usual furnished the instrumental part. Next morning the boys were present in strong force to give me a good send off, and as their ringing cheers mingled with the retreating steps of my horse's feet, I turned in my saddle to give them one more parting look, and acknowledge, as far as my feelings would permit, their cordial salutes. I arrived in Sacramento in due time, where I took a steamer for San Francisco. Here I stayed for two days seeing the sights of the city, waiting for the steamer to take me to Panama.

(no being at work—blessed work—the best and most effectual remedy for nearly all the social ills that the human race is subject to. So intent were each and all on bettering their condition that no precious time could be spared or wasted in useless broils. So far as my limited knowledge of the world has gone, I am led to the conclusion that the ideal place of a hard-working, industrious community is, as a general rule, a safe and secure home for both life and ad property. This, at least, was the case at the mines, for in walking round at all hours, as I frequently did, I felt as free from danger as if I was in a city. It may prove of interest to those who have followed these pages to learn of the little party, who, full of hope, and eager expectation, accompanied me at the start. This information I can only imperfectly supply, but as far as my knowledge goes I will do so. Smith and Brown, who joined us at Chatham, returned home having, heard, done remarkably well. Montgomery, of the same place, has been registrar of the Assiniboia District, Northwest Territories, and resides at Regina. Watkins came back to Goderich, where he did a number of years since. Woodliffe remained in the country and was there joined by his family; he also died a few years ago, leaving a young Tom to succeed him, who is, I believe, in business as a druggist in Virginia City, Nevada. I trust the mantle of the father, with all his good qualities has descended on his shoulders. The sad fate of poor Lancaster, my warm-hearted friend, and the most successful of our number, I referred to in a previous chapter.

MY STORY IS NOW AT AN END, and as I stated at its commencement, having nothing but an imperfect memory to depend on, I must crave indulgence for that account for all possible mistakes in its recital. If it has afforded either entertainment or instruction to the reader, I shall consider myself abundantly repaid for the pleasing task imposed in imparting to you a partial account of the most interesting chapter of my long and active life. Being away up in the three score years and ten, I will now conclude by bidding you all FAREWELL!

THE END.

PERSONAL.—Samuel Apleby, for some years a resident here, and foreman of Lorneville farm when routed by B. Boon, gave out a very bad week. Sam is still the same jovial fellow of old times and is now enlisted in the ranks of the benedict forces of Hullet township, where he resides.

A SENBATION PROMISED.

Suit for Heavy Damages Against a York County Farmer.

TORONTO, April 8.—One of the most sensational cases which will be heard at the present sittings of the Civil Assize Court is the action of Robinson v. Duncan. Some of the facts were gleaned from a few of the articles day by day by a reporter, but the startling disclosures which will be revealed on either side have been hushed up by the different counsel, who desire to obtain their full effect in court.

The plaintiff, Henry Joseph Robinson, is a Toronto blacksmith, and the plaintiff Sarah Robinson, is his wife. William Duncan, the defendant, is a farmer who lives somewhere in the county of York. Sarah Robinson claims that on the night of Oct. 11, 1888, at her residence, No. 84 Portland street, the defendant indecently assaulted and abused her. She said her husband says for $2000 damages with costs.

William Duncan alleges that the first time he ever saw Mrs. Robinson was on Sept. 1st, when he called at her house to see his brother, who was dying of consumption, and who passed away that same day. The deceased and his wife had rented rooms from the Robinsons. Duncan went home after the funeral, and called again on Sept. 8 to see his sister-in-law, but Mrs. Robinson said she had "moved," leaving an address home until after dark. He then called, and she insisted on giving tea. While he stood there two children came in, and then he went away and alleges that he never saw Mrs. Robinson again.

He claims the whole story is a fabrication, and that he was not at Robinson's house since the date mentioned. He declares that Oct. 11 he was at Rowntree's mills, above Thistleton, with a grist, and did not get home until after dark.

George Rowntree, of Rowntree's mills, it is said will prove that Duncan was at his mill on that day. The case is exciting much interest in West York, where the defendant is widely known as a man who has always borne a good character and a high standing in the community.

WILL FIGHT ANOTHER DAY.

Abandonment of the Projected Rail on Kentucky's Hillside Distillers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 8.—The raid of federal deputy marshals and revenue agents against distillers near Hindman, Ky., who recently ambushed and killed Deputy Marshall Russell Wiseman has for the present been abandoned. Deputy Agent Brown and Commissioner Coddington, found when they assembled their men at Prestonburg that only about twenty men would come from a band of distillers and their even were deputy marshals who had just arrived from Winchester rifles and had reported strongly entrenched in their distilleries, nine miles from Hindman, and to the number of thirty-five men, well armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers. They were said to have sworn to stand together to death to resist arrest, for they regard arrest as only a sure road to execution in revenge for Wiseman's murder.

With such odds against the federal deputy marshals, determined it would be unwise to attempt to capture the outlaws. The mountaineers are under the leadership of Sam Adams, Randall Adams, James Adams, and George Madden, whose brother, Arch Madden, was slain in the fight with Wiseman and his posse.

Nursing Cases of Typhoid. First of all, after the wise physician, we would say procure a well trained nurse. Some of our physicians will not take a case of this fever without one.

But if one cannot be employed, then put in practice the best rules of good nursing by keeping the patient quiet, entirely free from company, excitement, noise and disturbing influences of all kinds, and exempt also from all exertion, even to lifting the head or turning the body alone.

Give no food except a glass of milk every two or three hours, and lower the temperature as it rises by sponge baths under the blanket, consisting generally of alcohol and water.

There must be no wearing nor flagging in the enforcement of these rules until the patient has been normal all day for a week, and even then great caution must be used lest too great bodily exertion bring on fatal results.

When it is better and more generally understood that typhoid fever is principally and primarily a condition of ulceration of the chain of the intestines, and that any but the softest foods or the gentlest movement of the body may produce perforation, which is sure death, or how easily other dangerous results, such as hemiplegia or peritonitis, may be induced, physicians will find their patients and those in charge of them more strictly obedient to their injunctions; and in our homes as in the hospitals, it will be the rare exception where the sufferer does not recover.

The council of San Remo, Italy, intend erecting two marble pillars to commemorate the late Emperor Frederick.

Cultivate Cheerfulness.

Life is essentially what we make it. A few are born invalids, or, by reason of sickness, are rendered incapable of coping with the world. But to every ninety-nine out of a hundred individuals is given the prerogative of determining their relative position in the scale of existence. They are allowed to decide whether they will control circumstances or permit circumstances to control them. Upon the result of their resolution hinges their weal or woe. To be happy one must be on happy terms with others, and the difference between liked and disliked represents the difference between the cheerful, good-humored, and the ill-tempered, acrimonious disposition. The individual who unforgivably carries a smiling countenance, keeps his troubles if he has any, to himself, is welcome wherever he goes. He makes hosts of friends, and impresses upon others a belief that he must be doing well to be so cheerful, inspires confidence, draws comfort, and makes headway in the world, where one with a heavy brain but less buoyance fails.

Some are truly declared that "cheerfulness and diligence are nine-tenths of wisdom." An old writer used to say that "a habit of looking at the best side of every event is far better than a thousand pounds a year." Charles Lamb expressed the same idea in different language when he wrote: "A laugh is worth a hundred groats in any state of the market." "Cheerfulness," observes Samuel Smith, "gives elasticity to the spirit; spectres fly before it; difficulties cause no despair, for they are encountered with hope, and the mind requires the happy disposition to improve opportunities, which rarely fall by success." Hume was wont to say, that "he would rather possess a cheerful disposition—inclined always to look at the bright side of things; than with a gloomy mind to be the master of an estate of ten thousand a year." We often hear the remark made, "Such and such an individual is a good fellow." "He must go with the party," or "We can't spare him." Study the character of the individual alluded to, and you will find that he is cheerful, full of animal life and spirits, and always ready to join in a hearty laugh. If his face is ever wet, come it is because it is full of sunshine and good nature.

Dangerous Counterfeits.

The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take imitation dealers may urge upon you. HURON SIGNAL

FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1889.

THERE IS NOW NO doubt that the Scott Act, as a temperance measure, is as dead as a door nail.

THE seasons keep changing, but the attitude of the Government in the matter of the Goderich postmasterhip continues to be one of masterly inactivity.

THE election for the division of Birmingham, made vacant by the death of John Bright, is now the subject of discussion amongst the politicians.

CHARLES RYKERT M.P. for Lincoln, had a lively time in St. Catharines the other night trying to ride the Protestant horse going one way, and the Catholic horse going the other.

WITH this issue, the interesting narrative of Mr. Thos. Dark comes to a close. For a number of weeks past it has proved a topic of interest to our readers.

THE Scott Act has "gone up Salt Creek." It served its day, and has now passed its rest.

THE EDITOR'S TABLE

A Word or two about New Publications that have come to the Editor's Table.

The following new publications have been received: "Le Docteur Rameau, or the Broken Life," by Georges Ohnet, author of the "Iron Master."

"Guideroy," by Ouida, is a society novel. The author is well-known in literary circles, and Guideroy is written in her own peculiar style.

"Silken Threads" is a novel by the author of "Lafar Lastratus," and has also reached us from the publisher, J. Theo. Robinson, Montreal.

"Mr. Naydian's Family Circle," by the author of "Lafar Lastratus," has also reached us from the publisher, J. Theo. Robinson, Montreal.

The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending March 23d and 30th contain Lord Godolphin, and Gambling, Quarterly; A Post's Corner, National; Tennyson as Prophet, Nineteenth Century; Minicy; the Island of Women, Blackwood; Some Quaker Biographies, Macmillan; A Practical Test, All the Year Round; The Finding of "Cruise," The Man Who Swallowed the East Wind, My Pet, and A Borrowed Name, Chambers; Brussels, June 1815, Argosy; The Frozen South, Good Words; Genius and Physical Infirmitis, Open Court; The New Japanese Constitution, Times; The European Position in Africa, Spectator; The School of Forestry at Dehra Doona, India, and The Giant Earthworm of Gippsland, Nature; with instalments of "A Chronology of Two Months," "Jack's Niece," and poetry.

The Gibba-Channing Portrait of Washington, by Gilbert Stuart, has been engraved as the frontispiece for this year's centennial issue of Harper's Magazine.

McMaster opens this April number with a paper on "Washington's Imagery," a charming compound of history and biography, and Monseur D. Conway, in the course of exploring an old usap and many MSS., discovers some reminiscences which will add to our knowledge of the "real" Washington.

Bjornstjerne Bjornson contributes his kind and last paper on "Norway and its People." He enables us to read the political mind of Norway, tells why Norway, as a land for tourists, is recognized as the grandest in Europe, and closes with details in regard to the "excellent illustrations" which T. de Thulstrup and H. W. Ronger have drawn to accompany his articles.

John R. Coryell, upon birds that are noted for "Flying under Water," and Theodore Child, upon "Characteristic Parisian Cafes," illustrated with a characteristic Parisian drawings. Two short stories, the first instalment of a new novel—"A Little Journey in the World"—by Charles Dudley Warner, and the continuation of Constance Fenimore Woolcott's "Lupinus Light," form the fiction of the Number. Among the six poems is the translation of a Roumanian Ballad, "Childe Mihai," and a sonnet by William Wordsworth, with drawings by Alfred Parsons. "Gambions of Abbotford," a hitherto unpublished fragment by Sir Walter Scott, describes his home and its curiosities. George W. Curtis speaks of Washington's Moderation, William Dean Howells encourages several poets, and Charles Dudley Warner dispels a misapprehension about woman's dress.

An interesting portrait of John Burroughs at twenty opens the April Wide Awake, as frontispiece, this engraving accompanies Mr. Burroughs' own story of his boyhood, "The Boy John Burroughs, a Gance Backward," telling how he learned to struggle for his "schooling." Another excellent piece of biographical and historical work is by an English writer—Mrs Blathway, entitled "Raleigh and the Potato," this gives by courtesy of the National Gallery, Dublin, Ireland, a portrait of Lady Raleigh, Sir Walter's wife, also engravings from photographs made especially for Wide Awake, of Hayes-Barton farmhouse (Sir Walter's birthplace), of the Raleigh place of worship, the church at Budleigh Salterton, also Sir Walter's residence at Youghal, Ireland, a most picturesque spot, and the garden where the first potatoes were planted in Ireland, and many other interesting illustrations. "A Dash for a Flag" by R. M. Backus, is a spirited story of the Civil War. "The Little Girl of the Okoboko," by Mrs Clara Doty Bates, is the tale of a great river-freshet. "The Ascension Dance," beautifully illustrated by Garnett, gives instructions for a joyous Easter game for children. Mrs Clafin's behavior that ought to interest parents of all school-girls. The Public School Cookery article has helpful diagrams for "marketing." The romantic story of the famous Brazzanza diamond is told by Mrs Goddard O'Brien. "Men and Things," the new department is full to overflowing with bright, original anecdotes, accounts and "short talks." The poems of the number are particularly good. The serials, "Five Little Peppers My way," by Margaret Sidney, and "David Van and David Crane," by Trowbridge, are jolly readers.

At Clinton, the death of Mr John Stephenson's second eldest daughter, on Monday, was a particularly sad event, occurring during the protracted illness of Mr Stephenson, and Mr S. being so in poor health, from fatigue and anxiety. Much sympathy is expressed for the afflicted family.

THE TOWN COUNCIL

Report of the Minutes of Last Regular Meeting.

The council met last Friday evening, the 5th inst. All the members present except councillors Holt and Thompson. A letter was read from the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries offering to put in a fog horn at Goderich. On motion this offer was accepted.

A communication from Spence & Sons, Montreal, in regard to a coat of arms for the town, was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

The Old's Organ Factory Co. offered to locate in this town, and to employ from 20 to 25 hands, on condition that the town give them a building site of at least three town lots, free use of water, exemption from taxation for ten years, and a loan of $4,000 without interest, to be repaid at the rate of $500 per year over the three years, the town to furnish the property as security. Referred to the special committee to be reported upon at next meeting.

The following accounts were presented: Thos Hall, packing boxes for kindling wood, $1.60; W. J. Dundas, carbon case, $2; Henry Spence, relief orders, $2.80; A. B. Cornell, for general expenses of late Fred C. Wilson, $10; John Robertson, relief orders, $10.75; John Hillier, relief orders, $7.50; Geo Elliott, relief orders, $2.76; Star, $12.78; Doherty Manufacturing Co., Sarnia, tools, $24.30.

REPORT OF WATERWORKS COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council. The waterworks committee advertised for tenders for the boring of a 6 inch hole for the supply of water for fire purposes, and we received two tenders, neither of which, however, were satisfactory. Mr McEwan has offered to take the contract at $2 per foot, if given the middle of May for doing the work, and we would recommend his offer be accepted. We would also recommend the putting in of a water heater for fire purposes. In putting in water services some are asking for two connections with the mains, one for house service and one for lawn, and we would ask advice of this council as to what we should do in these cases. We would recommend that a tank be built at the pumping station for holding water for fire purposes, 70 x 10 feet and 10 feet high, with concrete bottom. We also recommend that a 2 inch pipe be used for carrying the water in Court House Square for supplying Court House fountains.

A DYNAMITE PLOT.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP BOYCOTTED NEW YORK BREWERY.

How the Conspiracy Came to Light—Members of a K. of L. Executive Committee Arrested and Under Arrest.

New York, April 7.—An explanation, presumably of a dynamite bomb, was made in the area of David Stevenson's brewery in Tenth Avenue made a terrific noise, tore away a large piece of wall and shattered windows in the vicinity. It is alleged the explosion was the work of labor union members and that they are now in custody. They are A. Fitzgerald, formerly a delegate of the Ale and Porter Brewery Employees' Protective Association; John O'Connell, President of Local Assembly No. 2200 K. of L.; Patrick P. Close and Thomas Reardon, members of the Executive Committee of the Local Assembly. Fitzgerald has made a confession which implicates the three other men. Stevenson had discharged all union men and refused to employ any but those who severed their connection with the union. The prominent unionist the Executive Committee at the time. According to Fitzgerald's story the committee tried to prevent some scheme whereby Stevenson would be made to re-employ the union and discharge such workmen.

The first plan approved by the committee was to send union men to the brewery to apply for work and state that they were attached to the union. The men who made this scheme employment were to be given work in the beer and ale sale and delivery by the brewer. Several applicants had advised them to the brewers but were refused employment.

Subsequently the Executive Committee determined to purchase $200 worth of dynamite for the purpose of blowing up the brewery. The money was raised from the sale of the shares of the first scheme. The plan to blow up the brewery. Reardon and Close were delegated to see a person, whose name is withheld, for instructions as to the dynamite. The plan was to use the dynamite in a room in which it should be exploded. The explosive, it is claimed, should be set off in the engine room. The operation was to be carried out at midnight. The conspirators and they became involved in a quarrel among themselves which delayed the use of the explosive.

In carrying out the attempt against the brewery Fitzgerald was charged with machinery and was arrested with suspicion from the possession of a dynamite. He was fined $250 per week. He was ordered to be suspended but refused. The explosion followed. Detective Reardon, who was in the vicinity, had to be rescued by Reardon as president of the union, stated at a meeting that it was his duty to blow up a brewery and another to blow up a factory. Reardon took Fitzgerald before the grand jury on Friday, where he presented his confession. Upon the evidence presented the jury indicted O'Connell, Reardon and Close for felony and they were arrested.

SENTENCED TO HANG.

An Indiana Murderer Falls to Convince a Jury that He is Innocent.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 6.—This afternoon Mr. Benson was convicted of the murder of Jacob K. Taylor, near New Albany, Ind., and sentenced to hang. Benson was Mottweil's farm hand. Mottweil had no neighbors within a mile, and only his wife and a servant girl were on the farm with him and Benson. A quarrel arose about the girl, and one Sunday last summer Benson shot Mottweil dead and then tried to kill Mrs. Mottweil with an axe. She was left apparently dead, but finally recovered. The girl fled and reported the tragedy. Benson made no attempt to escape. When tried he at first denied his guilt but then confessed. His attorney tried to show insanity, and on the stand Benson denied every matter, made a confession and made other singular statements. The jury was only out half an hour. An appeal will be taken. The case was tried at Jeffersonville on a charge of venue from New Albany and the execution will take place there.

RISEN FROM THE GRAVE.

Strange Story Told by a Long Missing Water-Bearer.

EASTPORT, Me., April 6.—H. F. Waller, proprietor of The Eastport Messenger, disappeared last November. His last seen small boat, in which he had gone to Lubec, were found a short time afterward, the latter bottom up, and he was given up by his wife and friends as lost. Within three days his wife had received a letter from him at Pawtucket, R.I. He says the last thing he remembers is standing on the beach at Lubec. After that his mind was a blank until he found himself in the woods near Pawtucket, aged and poor. At the time of his disappearance he was worn out by overwork and sickness in his family. These cares, with the loss of sleep, probably unseated his mind.

Russell's Defence of the Land League.

LONDON, April 6.—Sir Charles Russell continued his argument before the Russell Commission on Wednesday and Thursday, and then asked for an adjournment till Tuesday next, which the Court granted. He has devoted much time to an historical narrative of the condition of things in Ireland, which, in his view, made agitation and illegal organizations, and even some degree of crime, inevitable. His defence of the Land League is probably the best and most elaborate that has yet been addressed to the public. The League diminished, he urges, instead of increasing crime, and, therefore, blessing, rather than cursing. He defended boycotting on the same ground. Without boycotting, if you believe Sir Charles, other crime, or what he calls "serious crime," would have been more frequent. His speech has been a masterly performance, obviously impressive to the Court and impressive even to the general public, which seldom reads forensic discourses, but has read summaries of this and the more exciting episodes. Of these there have been many, including a fresh attack on the unhappy Attorney-General, for making stately grave charges in opening the case which he did not afterward attempt to support by evidence. The story that one passage moved Mr. Russell to tears requires confirmation. It is difficult to imagine Mr. Russell in tears.

Represents the English Tin Syndicate.

New York, April 6.—Prof. M. C. Vincent of the Royal Geographical Society of London, arrived on the Adriatic to-day. He comes here in the interests of the great English tin syndicate that has recently raised millions of dollars to control the tin production of the world. He will proceed immediately to Dakota, where the tin mines in which the syndicate are interested are located.

Many Kinds of Weather in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—A heavy snow, wind and rain storm has prevailed here since early this morning. The rain, which began falling some time before daylight, at about 9 o'clock changed to snow and from that hour until after dark to-night, the air was dense with great flakes driven before a strong north wind, but the weather being mild it melted as it fell. Several times during the day heavy peals of thunder were heard and stray sparks of lightning frequently darted across the switchboards in the telegraph offices. The telephone and fire alarm wires throughout the city are more or less demoralized, and telegraphic communication with the south and west is wholly out.

THE FASHIONS.

A Variety of Jottings that Will Interest the Fair Sex.

Felix, one of the supreme dictators of the fashion world, has given forth his latest. He has had the deliciously soft, ruffling material, will be retained as one of the prevailing stuffs. The old shades will be most favored. With these are to be worn pretty foulards of flowery design or fine stripes; but the great novelty of the spring and summer will be the wide-headed pointed surahs in all colorings. These Scotch plaids are quite new in their present material, although entirely another in the Irish poplins and in other good goods.

M. Felix thus combines one of the latest fashions: The back of the jupa is made of yellow and black plaid surah, forming two long loops; the front is of yellow satin, finely patterned and covered with large brocade lace, thus combining the freshness and spring tone to the softness and delicacy of the Scotch plaid. It outlines the slim waist, leaving above the puffing lace reaching down also to the feet, and in case by jet brackets the simple simplicity of the idea must be remarked—long lines and no drape.

Another costume, intended for state occasions, was of pale beige bengaline, with fine platings let in on the skirt. The fashion of absolute-green surah, organ neck and long sleeves with large and good ornamentation. It included a large XV pole blouse—known as the Persian tail—known as the Persian tail. On the surah was a select yoke of rather dark green framed in with a wide pashamoon of multi-colored bands.

A very youthful costume was made of striped white and blue foulard, the skirt falling in places and the waist corresponding with a broad wash of blue, gathered behind like a child's.

A more pretentious toilet was that of a made of pale blue bengaline, opening on the side and in front over a pair of shimmering gauze. A belt of the same material was on one side and a regal Medusa collar was formed all of gold embroidery. It was apparently the revival of some old Watteau picture. A reception Louis XV gown was cut out of velvet and embroidered in the flowers and shades of the rainbow. The long train was of old. It was a long pole mauve satin, sliding out to rose gold.

A charming novelty was of silver-gray velvet, delicately embroidered, opening over a salmon rose satin, entirely covered with white lace. And then came the majesty of a full dress elaboration of white and blue pique woven in gold wheat harvest. All the trim was made of the same material. The front was of stripes, and the skirt was of material and color could not be imagined.

A glance now at the millinery and lingerie department, as it must not be forgotten that M. Felix excels in one and survives his rivals in the other. It is a foregone conclusion at present that this covering must be very large or very small. You must choose between the two extremes. The capotes are small and they return decidedly to the former Felix fashion of floral and leaf crepe, and they are, in fact, more like collars that bonnets, and are usually made of foliage or flowers veiled in tulle.

The toques are still small, even more so in comparison than the hats. They are made of tulle, black or white, retained by gold bands or gelons, as in the Grecian costume, and two or three dragon flies poised on top seem ready in their graceful lightness to waft their quivering wings in instant flight.

In large hats Felix advocates the shirred tulle, crowned with flowers, or the broad straw and flat crowns, covered with tulle clouds and dotted with bees.

A new outstart is the pure white straw brim covered with black straw; the effect is startling, original and particularly becoming to blondes, while piquant to brunettes with happy complexions. A coronet of ivy surrounds the crown, with a flock of bees and dragon flies scattering here and there.

In underclothing there are the most bewitching sous-vestis of surah, all worked out in lace, with cloudy softness and wonderful draping possibilities. Small home jackets, taken in style from old engravings of the Marie-Therese period, in the faded tints are enveloped with old Almonon print, knotted with ribbon bows or tied with gold and silver loops. There are luxurious dreams a la Ouida, suggestive of beauty, repose, and the intimate every-day refinement of home and coquetry.

There is a novelty in skirt fashions. They are made longer, either with plaited or the waistband in thick gathers. The waist has a short basque, is perfectly plain, fastening in front with a single row of buttons. The chic head-gear is always the small classical top hat, but the smooth, soft derby is used, with a very low, flat, round crown, or the toque, with long hair, split down in the middle on the top. The veils are invariably made of thin gauze, in white, silver gray, light blue, or green.

The walking costume de neuf heures is made now—this week—of pale blue cloth, the soldier blue, with more of the same shade. The radingote form makes the fullness of the jupa; it is opened on each side and has two full plaits behind. The reverse Director's cross in front over a tight-fitting moire vest. The pearl buttons are large and of the same shade as the dress. The wool sleeves come only to the elbow, terminating in an upturned cuff of the same, called abat, and from this start the lower part of the sleeve, made of moire. Another costume is made of silver-gray cashmere, with a draped front, something in shawl fashion. A grey velvet band ornaments the bottom of the jupa, and upon this is a flat presentment of several toiler darker than the gown itself. Around the throat is the same passementerie, and over the skirt of the same comes the plaited cashmere to finish. The sleeves are wide, but, and retained above the elbow, and at the wrist, in laid plaits by bracelets of the cimp.

The Letter that Came. From Mr. J. H. Lloyd, 129 Chatham St., Montreal, says—"I was troubled for years with biliousness and liver complaint, and I never found any medicine to relieve me like Bardeol Blood Bitters. In fact one bottle made a complete cure."

A Question of Conscience. DEAR Mrs. L.—I believe there is only one God whom we serve to. Excuse me to write and ask you a following question for her.

In the Japanese customs, person left this world is supposed and served as a god. Her old grandmother slept a long sleep yesterday, and her parents by the custom pose she has become a god, and bow her K—knows no other god besides the Holy Father in Heaven, and she hesitates how to do. Her mother persuades her to bow the grandpas, but she cannot do. May she bow her as only her grandmother, not as a god? Will you please answer me and set K—right on both sides of Christianity and of filial piety. I remain, yours truly.

The above letter is by a Japanese girl and was written to Mrs. Large of the girls' school at Tokyo, Japan. It gives a good idea of the perplexities that come in the way of young converts from heathenism and as a composition very much reminds one of the letter of Miss Yoshida published in a recent number of the Almanach.

The curse of God is in their gardens, their walls, their groves; a fire that burns to the uttermost hell! Blood, blood is there; the Foundation, the floors, the walls, the roof, are stained with blood! And canst thou hope, O thou man of blood, though thou art "clothed in scarlet and fine linen, and farest sumptuously every day"—canst thou hope to deliver down thy fields of blood to the third generation? Know ye not, thy name shall soon be rooted out. Like as those whom thou hast destroyed, body and soul, "thy memorial shall perish with thee!"

Consumption Surely Cured. TO THE EDITOR.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. Norwegian Weddings. It sometimes requires fully a week to complete a wedding in a Norwegian village. Beer, spirits, plenty to eat, music and dancing are the chief features of these festivities. The guests begin to assemble the day before the wedding, and are welcomed by the bridegroom, with a plentiful supply of liquid refreshments. The village schoolmaster is always master of the ceremonies, and it is he who invites the guests to the reception meal. He says grace. A psalm is then sung to the accompaniment of two violins. The repast is simple and served on a bare table. No plates are used, but large flat cakes of moist bread. The night is spent in revelling. The next morning at 8 o'clock the wedding procession starts for church.

The bride always wears silver ornaments. In some parts of the kingdom she is clad in a purple robe, richly embroidered with gold, frequently the heirloom of centuries. Sometimes the way to church is by boat and sometimes on horseback. Music leads the way. The march to church is never halted, but when the party returns after the church ceremony a lighted candle and escort the bride and groom to their apartment. The next day the wedding gifts are presented. They are not displayed, but each giver shouts out what he or she gives and shakes hands with the married couple. The revelling and rejoicing are kept up until the following Sunday, when they are brought to a close, and the young couple are considered fully married.

Not a Book A Cent. Mr. Goode, druggist, is not a book agent, but has the agency in Goderich for Johnston's Tonic Bitters, which he can heartily recommend for any complaint to which a tonic medicine is applicable. This valuable medicine has been with most astonishing good results in cases of general debility, weakness, irregularities peculiar to females, extreme paleness, impoverished blood, blood, stomach and liver troubles, loss of appetite, and for that general worn out feeling that nearly every one is troubled with at some part of the year. Don't forget the name Johnston's Tonic Bitters 50c. and $1 per bottle at Goode's drug store, Alton block, Goderich, sole agent.

The death is announced of Mrs. McEwen, widow of the late Duncan McEwen, of Exeter, aged 87. She had been a resident of Exeter and Exeter for thirty-two years.

Be on Your Guard. Don't allow a cold in the head to slowly and surely run into a catarrh, when you can be cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. A few applications cure incipient catarrh; 1 to 2 boxes cures ordinary catarrh; 2 to 5 boxes is guaranteed to cure chronic catarrh. Try it. Only 25c and sure cure. Sold by all druggists.

The Kennedy farm on the 3rd concession of Tuckersmith, near Egmondville, was sold by auction on Tuesday last to Mr. Thomas Devereaux, a neighbor, for the sum of $6,140. The farm contains 100 acres. There is a good bank barn but only a small house. It was well sold as farms are now going.

Partly Gave Up. "In the years 1885 I coughed for six months, and having unsuccessfully tried many remedies, I partly gave up, thinking I had consumption. At last I tried Hayward's Pectoral Balsam, less than one bottle of which cured me, leaving me as well as ever I was." Henry W. Carna, Wabash, Ont.

In Brief, and to the Point. Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness at the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy five cents. Bewly.

No "Hardly Ever" About It. No "hardly ever" about it. He had an attack of what people call "biliousness," and to smile was impossible. Yet a man may "smile and smile, and be a villain still, still he was no villain, but a villain, blunt, honest man, that needed a remedy such as Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which never fail to cure biliousness and diseased or torpid liver, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. Of druggists.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point.
