That Awful Ache of Lumbago Rubbed Away For All Time

Hoora! No More Suffering—Every Ache Goes Quick.
RUB ON NERVILINE

Lumbago is a peculiar sort of rheumatic trouble that affects the muscles about the loins and back. At times its agony is intense. Severe spasms of pain shoot in all directions, and become more severe on stooping.

In treating lumbago or stitch in the back, it is necessary to keep warmly covered to prevent a sudden chill. Attend to this, and then apply Nerviline freely.

Almost instantly you feel its warm soothing action. Right through the cords and muscles the healing power of Nerviline penetrates.

Quick as a wink you feel the stiffness lessening. You realize that a powerful pain-subduing remedy is curing the pain, is easing your distress, is making you well again.

Nerviline quickly cures backache and lumbago because it has the strength, the power and penetrating force possessed by no other known remedy. Its amazing curative action is due to certain extracts and juices of rare herbs and roots, combined by a secret process, and forming a truly magical medical marvel.

Any sort of aches in the muscles and joints Nerviline will cure quickly. It cuts the pain right up—relieves stiffness, restores the muscles to their wonted elasticity and vigor.

It's the quickest thing imaginable for rheumatism, sciatica or neuralgia. As for earache, toothache, sprains, or strains, nothing can excel good old Nerviline.

Get the large 50 cent family size bottle, it's the most economical; trial size, 25 cents. All dealers.

THE HEIR OF Lancewood

CHAPTER XXXVII

Adrian St. Just refused to accept the decision of his beautiful, imperious lady-love. On the receipt of her letter he went without loss of time to Lancewood.

"You refused to marry me before," he said, "because you could not leave your home; that was the sole reason."

"I had no other, Adrian," she replied.

"That reason no longer exists. You know how much I would do to please you. I am perfectly willing to live at King's Rest for six months of the year, and to spend the other six months at Lancewood. I will help you to take care of your home. Its interests and its welfare shall be dear to me—nay, dearer than my own."

"It is not that," she replied. "I know that you would do just as you say; but—believe me, Adrian—I cannot marry you."

"My beautiful, capricious darling," he said, laughing, "I shall believe no such thing. Why should I? I know you love me; and I shall listen to no reason, no excuse, no scruple. I shall never cease praying and pleading until you are my wife. You say 'No' this time; I shall come again. You may say 'No' the next time; I shall come even after that. What is to be done with such a determined lover?"

"I cannot tell," she replied; "but you will find, Adrian, that I mean what I say."

"So do I, my darling; and I would wager my whole fortune that you are Lady St. Just before long. I will not take 'No' for an answer, unless you tell me that you have ceased to love me. Is it so? I know you speak truly when you do speak. Have you ceased to love me?"

"No," she replied; "I have not."

"Will you tell me why you refuse to marry me?" he asked.

"I cannot, but the reason is a grave one," she replied, sadly.

"I shall come again," said Lord St. Just. "You love me, and you will marry me in time—I am sure of it. These recent terrible events have startled and unnerved you. Vivien, my queen, my darling, I will be generous; I will give you a year to reflect over your decision, and after that period has elapsed I shall come again."

He went away and she was left alone to do the best she could with her life. She did the best she could have done. She spent no time in idle lamentation and mourning. An ill deed had been done. She would not undo it; but she would do her best to atone for it.

From that hour she commenced a life that was given up to doing good.

Never had the honor of Lancewood been upheld as it was now. At first she directed every energy to the reforming of abuses. She sent for all the old servants whom Lady Neslie had dismissed—she placed the household on the same footing on which it had been during her father's lifetime. Order, punctuality, neatness, regularity, and method once more reigned within the house. Once more the bell rang morning and evening for the servants to assemble for prayer in the hall—a proceeding at which Miss Neslie had laughed scornfully. Once more Lancewood took its proper position; it became the leading house in the county—the house to which all others looked up. Once more the owner of Lancewood became the great county magnate; carriages stopped before its gates, people looked up to its residents as they had been accustomed to do.

It was a work of time, but Vivien accomplished it at last. It seemed to her that the traces of her ladyship's residence at the Abbey could never be effaced. The pictures had all been removed and changed; the magnificent old oaken furniture, so thoroughly in keeping with the grand old walls, had been exchanged for modern trifles that appeared out of place.

When the old Abbey looked once more like itself, Vivien began her out-of-doors reform. She worked incessantly that she might have no time for thought. She filled her days with good deeds that the hours might not, as they passed, remind her of her sin. She was not happy; every one remarked how changed she was. She had grown thoughtful, sad, reserved. If any one found her alone, there was a strange nervousness in her manner—a half buried fear, as though she expected something unwonted would take place. She was kinder, more patient, more considerate—she forgot herself in attending to others.

A few months passed, and there was no one left uncared for on the estate. The sick, the aged, the poor, were all relieved. People, speaking of Miss Neslie, said that she was especially kind to children. She never passed a child without thinking of little Oswald. A little scene that occurred in the Hydwell Road struck her once like a blow. She was driving along, when she saw two boys fighting. One was much older, much bigger than the other. Vivien could never, without remonstrating, pass anything of that kind. She stopped the carriage, and inquired what was the matter.

"He has taken three pence from me!" sobbed the little boy.

"Is that true?" asked Vivien of the elder.

"Yes, it is true enough," was the reply, "but I am his eldest brother."

"Why have you taken his money from him?" asked Vivien.

"Because he would have spent it all on a cake, and have eaten it. I shall buy something that will last."

The children wondered at the expression that came over the beautiful, sorrowful face. The words struck her like a blow. What could she say?

On a larger scale, this was just what she had done—taken her brother's inheritance because she could put it to a better use. Then she said to herself that her motives were nobler—so noble, indeed, that they justified her almost in what she had done. She drove on quickly, and never stayed to see how the combat ended.

Time passed on, and the beautiful order in which the Lancewood estate was kept was noticed by every one. There seemed to be no poor. The laborers were well paid—they had decent houses to live in. Schools were built for the children, almshouses for the aged. From between the tufted trees one saw the spire of a new and beautiful church. The farmers were not asked to pay a rent that was ruinous. People thought themselves fortunate in being under the rule of Miss Neslie.

She would never marry, it was said; she was devoted to Lancewood. She intended to spend her life there in doing good. Those who saw her, beautiful, rich, the mistress of a large estate, the worshipped head of a large household, said to themselves that she, above all others, was to be envied; they little knew what was hidden under the calm, proud beauty of her face.

A year passed, and Adrian St. Just came again. But this time she refused to receive him; she went away to the sea-side to avoid him, and he had to return without having seen her. She told him frankly why she had done so; it was because seeing him gave her more pain than pleasure—she would have had to say "No" to him again—it was better to avoid the meeting. But his lordship did not give up hope—he said to himself that the task of his life would be winning this beautiful, noble woman, who seemed so resolutely to flee from all love. He wrote to her, telling her that he should return the following year, and every year in fact until she smiled upon him.

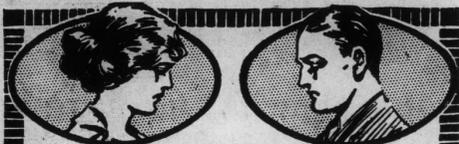

"I shall live unmarried for your dear sake," he said; "and while I live I shall never despair."

She was not happy—perhaps in all the length and breadth of the land no one was more unhappy than she. There were hours when she could not endure the memory of her sin—when her proud, noble nature recoiled from it, and she hated herself with an intensity of hatred—when she could not endure the sight of the sunshine or the song of the birds—when she dreaded the light of day and the darkness of night—when life was a torture, and the memory of her sin a terrible burden that seemed to grow heavier. There were times when, kneeling, with contrite tears, she begged of Heaven to pardon her, and repented with her whole soul; but the day never came in which she was willing to undo what she had done, or restore what she had unjustly taken.

So far as human life could be perfect, her's was perfect, with the exception of one blot. With tears and sighs she owned to herself that above all others it was the sin of her lifetime; yet she would not undo it or wish it undone.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

A year and a half had passed away, and Vivien Neslie was once more firmly established at Lancewood. She had fallen into an even method of life that never varied. To keep up the hospitality of the Abbey, she gave grand entertainments, but they differed greatly from the gay revels held by Lady Neslie. Mothers with young daughters no longer refused invitations to Lancewood; on the contrary, they were eagerly sought after, and an entire there was a passport everywhere.

Miss Neslie was no advocate of women's rights; she had no idea of standing on a platform and delivering rapid lectures; she would have declined the study of medicine, except so far as it was common; she laughed at the notion of lady-barrister. Nevertheless, in spite of all this, she took a keen womanly interest in politics—in all social matters. She could discuss the probability of the return of a new member, the best plan for model cottages, what was really needed as regarded the improvement of the laborer's condition, the most approved school buildings the prospects of the crops, with equal facility.

She was one of the women essentially born to command. She would have been lost in an inferior position. She had grand administrative powers. Old dwellers in the county looked with envy at the fine flourishing estate, at the order, the method, the prosperity. She was a woman of large mind. Any one going to her with a plan, a scheme, an invention of any kind, was sure to be encouraged. She adopted all modern improvements; she spared neither thought, labor, nor expense, and it pleased her to hear on all sides high praise of Lancewood.

Her life was a busy one; yet she would fain have done more to drive away the specter that haunted her, the remorse and regret that never grew less. She went to church, but she did not join in others' prayers—how could she, while her injustice and sin remained? She opened the pages of her Bible, but closed them, for words telling of the reward and the blessing that followed justice were sure to trouble her.

"Do right come what may," were words that continually sounded in her ears. She thought of them until even her clear mind grew confused. Was it right to do as she was doing?—making Lancewood what, even in its palmiest days, it had never been before, or was it right to restore the estate to one who would simply ruin it? Did the means justify the end? Could it be possible that good ever arose from evil—that wrong could ever be right? She pondered these questions long and anxiously, and then she decided that Lancewood was her dearest interest, and that she must attend first of all to that.

There came a day when all these questions were suddenly settled.

It was a clear, cold, frosty day in December, and Vivien had been working very hard. The winter was unusually severe and frosty, the people suffered much from cold. She had been round the estate, giving with the bountiful, royal hand relief where it was needed. The poor and the rich cried, "Heaven bless the good lady of Lancewood!" while she herself cried for mercy because she was a sinner.

On this cold December day she came in from her long drive almost frozen herself. She took off her warm, rich furs, and stood for a few minutes before the cheerful fire. It was the twilight of a December day. A haze lay over the fields and hills; the trees stood like huge bare giants, the air was clear, brisk, and cold, a gray shade was falling over the land, a gray shade that gave a peculiar yellow light. She was standing in the drawing-room, and in that weird, strange light the room seemed to glow with radiance—the firelight cast a ruddy, cheerful blaze that contrasted forcibly with the grayness outside. As she looked round, her heart warmed to her beautiful home; but for the shadow lying over her life, how happy she should be! Then she

What did it mean? The other letters felt unheeded from her hand to the floor. "A gasping sigh parted her lips. What did it mean, that broad black border? What did it portend?"

It seemed to her that an hour had passed between the first moment that she had seen the letter and the moment when it lay open before her.

Then Gerald's words seemed to stand out in letters of fire. (To be Continued.)

DEPARTURE DECIDED ON.

It is understood that the Government of India have decided to intern or deport all German missionaries. The decision will be heartily welcomed, for both in this country and the Dependency there was great misgiving when Mr. Chamberlain stated in the House of Commons on June 23 that at the beginning of April no fewer than 442 enemy alien missionaries consisting for the most part of Germans, were at liberty on parole and subject to general civil supervision; that 70 others were residing in specified areas under civil control; and that only 115 were interned under military control.

The first intimation of a revision of the lenient policy adopted by the Indian authorities was given by Mr. Chamberlain in the House of Commons on July 20.

University Men Respond Nobly.

The universities of Canada are working loyally together to raise company after company to re-enforce as units the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the famous regiment that was almost annihilated in northern France. The first University Company is in England and is said to be one of the best ever sent from Canada, the second sailed recently from Montreal. A third is now being rapidly recruited. The companies are composed of men from the Canadian universities, their friends and men of that type. As a general rule commissions are given to well qualified university men.

In this respect Canada follows the example of the mother country. University men in England were among the first to enlist; in fact, some of the famous old institutions of learning are now almost without faculty on students. The same may be said of the great continental schools. The college men have shown themselves no laggards in loyally offering their services as soldiers in this great war.

Prevented Her from Eating.

It seems to be getting quite the rage for non-military celebrities to pay a visit to the Front. One of the latest is Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., whose visit has been for the purpose of "cheering up the soldiers."

If any man is capable of bringing cheer with him, it is Mr. Crooks, for he possesses a fund of good stories and can tell them with a verve that would make a person suffering with melancholia laugh.

Most of his anecdotes are true, and concern people whom he has really seen and mixed with.

Not long ago, he was present at a dinner given to some poor children to whom a good square meal had been previously unknown.

In the course of the proceedings, he overheard the following conversation between two little girls who were evidently astonished at the good things placed before them:

"I say!" exclaimed one. "Ain't this orl right?"

"Yes," was the reply, given somewhat sadly; "but I'm sorry for one thing—I've 'ad me stays mended!"

TWELVE MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY AT THE FRONT.

A remarkable record of family service at the front was created by the departure from Ashford, Kent, recently with a draft of a Lancashire regiment for active service of Private Patrick Goulding, who belongs to St. Helens, Lancashire. Goulding's father and 10 brothers are already serving in a Lancashire regiment, and on his arrival in France there will be a dozen members of the family on active service. The father is an old service man, and rejoined his regiment from the Reserve on the outbreak of the war.

In order to permit her husband to rejoin the Navy, in which he formerly served as gunner, Mrs. Plant, of Byfleet, Surrey, has taken over his postal duties and is now delivering letters. Mrs. Plant had already 23 relatives serving with the colours.

SLIGHT FIRE.—An alarm of fire was sent in from box 28 at 3.50 yesterday afternoon, bringing the Central and Western Companies to the house of Thomas Anthony. The fire, which was caused by heat from the kitchen stove igniting some wood-work, was put out by the application of a few buckets of water. The services of the firemen were not needed.

1373.—A UNIQUE AND Dainty DRESSING SACK.

Ladies' Dressing or House Sack.

This model is here charmingly developed in blue silk crepe, embroidered with flowers in a darker shade of blue. It has pretty lines and is graceful and becoming. The sleeve is lengthened by a flare cuff, slashed over the arm. The belt may be omitted. The Pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It is good for challis, cashmere, albatross, china silk, poplin, crepe, lawn, dimity, batiste, organdie or crossbar muslin. It will require 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1350—1336. WAIST—1250. SKIRT—1336.

A Charming Summer Dress.

Composed of Ladies' Waist Pattern, 1350, and Ladies' Skirt Pattern, 1336. The waist has new style features. The sleeve in short length is finished in bell style, and trimmed with buttons to correspond with those on the waist front. The skirt is composed of double flounce sections, that may be finished with deep scalloped or straight lower edges. For poplin, linen, organdie, lawn, dimity, voile or crepe, this design is very attractive. The waist is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt in 6 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 7 1/4 yards of 36 inch material with 1 1/4 yard of lining for the foundation skirt, for a medium size. The skirt measures about 3 1/2 yards at lower edge of lower flounce.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns which will be mailed to any address, on receipt of 10c. FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

THE DAILY BATH.

Some women think they are doing an especially good thing for their beauty and health by taking a warm bath every day, and if they find time, even twice. The result of their indiscretion is a constant catching cold, for they treat their skin very much like they would the butcher's beef. Others will adhere to the opposite habit; that is to use cold water principally either in the shape of cold plunges, sprays or sponge baths. If both were used the result would be perfect.

There is nothing more stimulating to the circulation of the blood, nothing that will harden the skin so much against the changes of temperature than the use of cold water. Only, and that is the secret of it, the cold spray should come after the warm bath if you insist on taking one every day. Skin will be skin, whether the inner organs are dainty or coarse, whether red or "blue" blood circulates through it.

The one rule stands good for all with the exception of the bath's age, her physical condition and the action of her heart. The latter should also decide the temperature of the warm bath, which, as a rule, ought to be only mildly warm, not boiling except in the case of a heavy cold, just in its first stage. There are only a few people who can stand the strain on the heart of an extremely hot bath without feeling too exhausted or too excited after it.

At any rate a rest is required after any hot bath to get the good out of it, which is to animate and regulate the circulation of the blood and the opening of the pores to freer circulation and greater action.

Your Boys and Girls.

Train your little ones to be helpful. Teach them to have consideration for the comfort, pleasure and convenience of others, especially of their elders. In this way you will be developing the better side of their nature, and will be fitting them for present as well as for future usefulness.

Every child in the household, old enough to help, should be given a small share in the daily work. In a family where there is but one maid of all work, or perhaps none at all, there are many duties which the children can well perform. Little people, as a rule, like to be busy, and will really enjoy helping mother. At the same time their duties should be light and should be varied occasionally.

It is not well to give them the same thing to do every day. Such a course will afford but little scope for the exercise of their many faculties. When, however, work is varied they soon learn to do a number of things readily and well.

SATURDAY, Aug. 28th, 1915.

The Heart's Content Time Table.

The Daily News this morning offers some adverse criticism to the new time table of the Heart's Content railway which is to come into force on Monday next. Two schedules were offered to the Government for them to choose one. The Government tried one and will now try the other. The one which has been tried was adopted for trial on the ground that it was most suitable for new railway bed. It entailed however the arrival of the train in the city at night, and as the train left the city in the morning it meant that passengers for the South Side of Trinity Bay who wished to transact business in the city had to spend two nights here. Strong objection was taken by them to this delay. The new schedule, however, will mean that those who live at points beyond Heart's Content must get up very early to make connections with the train and they will arrive late at night and have to face a long night drive in carriages. The further away such passengers reside from Heart's Content the worse it will be for them. The difficulty about long carriage drives at unreasonable hours has arisen from the change in the original project for serving the South Side of Trinity Bay with a railway service. Under the contract of 1909, provision was made for this branch line to run from Broad Cove on the Newfoundland Railway to Grate's Cove. Under the modified contract of 1913, this branch was cut off at Heart's Content, and the Carbonear branch was extended along the north side of Conception Bay through Bay de Verde to Grate's Cove, and the people of the South Side of Trinity Bay who reside at New Perlican, Turk's Cove, Winterton, Hant's Harbour, Lance Cove and other places, were left to make connection by carriage road with the Heart's Content terminus or the stations along the Bay de Verde branch as suited them best. Up to the present, however, the Bay de Verde Branch has not been opened, and as this connection is not available, they are forced to connect with Heart's Content, and this intensifies the inconveniences of the new time-table. The inconvenience to the people who live in Hant's Harbour and neighbourhood will be somewhat lessened when the Bay de Verde branch is opened. There is, however, another course which could be adopted, and that is to double the service, and use both schedules, running a morning and evening train from both termini. If this is not feasible, then the two schedules could still be used, a morning train for half the week and an evening train for the other half. This was a course discussed at our interview with the Colonial Secretary, though it formed no part of the correspondence. To the evening service alone strong objections are raised, and other strong objections are made to a sole morning service. The objections are mutually irreconcilable. The only way to remove them entirely is to double the service, and the only way to lessen them is to cut them in two.

Generous Contribution.

The Hon. R. K. Bishop has forwarded a donation of $100 to the Permanent Marine Disaster Fund and has promised a similar sum of $100 for four years, making a total donation of $500. This is a handsome donation, and will prompt others to contribute to a most deserving fund to aid the dependents of our fishermen and sailors lost at sea.

Man Found Dead.

Magistrate Thompson of Briggs sent a message to the Deputy Minister of Justice this morning intimating that an unknown man, about fifty years old, was found dead last night south of the railway track, near Clark's Beach. The body was conveyed to the Court House. There were no marks of violence on the body. Apparently he was a fisherman going to or from his home. An enquiry is being held.

BRITISH THEATRE.

Another splendid entertainment was given at the above House yesterday which was greatly enjoyed by the many patrons who attended this popular place of amusement. The feature on the varied programme was, of course, the magnificent singing of Madame Olive Timmons who was in splendid voice, electrifying her audiences with her beautiful interpretations of the two favourite ballads: "My love is like a red, red rose" and "The last rose of summer" thereby evoking thunderous applause from her many admirers. Her accompaniments were beautifully and sympathetically rendered in the fitting and artistic manner; and the "hall mark" in ability of an artist of Mr. McCarthy's calibre. The pictures also call for an especial mention each one being a gem in its own particular theme. As previously announced a further musical treat is in store for prospective patrons when commencing at 7.30 to-night Mr. A. H. Allen will preside at the piano and will play all of the incidental photo-play music. Madame Timmons will appear at 8.30, 8.30 and 10 o'clock.

"JIM'S VINDICATION" — AT THE CRESCENT.

It's a great picture programme the Crescent is showing to-day. "Jim's Vindication," a strong Selig drama. "The Legend of the Amulet," an Indian romance portrayed by genuine Indians. "Fanny's Melodrama," a Vitagraph production, featuring Lillian Walker. "The New Reporter," a political drama. A big fire takes place in the hall during a political meeting, a most realistic scene; and a great Swedish comedy: "The Landress," five feature pictures with appropriate and classy music. Mr. Harvey Collins sings good numbers. Don't miss the Crescent to-day. On Monday a picturization of John Strange Winthrop's celebrated novel: "Footloose Baby" will be shown in two reels.

WEEK-END NICKEL IS A GRAND SHOW.

The week-end bill at the Nickel Theatre yesterday was a most interesting one, the pictures being of the finest quality and affording the greatest pleasure to all. The melodrama "Graft vs. Love" and the social drama "By the Governor's Orders" were exceptionally good. Forbes Law Duguid sang his farewell number. This evening the pictures will be repeated and no doubt many who were unable to attend yesterday will go. Monday there is a big 3-part social drama featuring Nelson Gardner.

Inter-Town Football.

By to-morrow evening's express the B. I. S. football team will leave for Grand Falls, where they will try conclusions with a picked team from the paper town, the series to consist of three games. A large number of supporters of the Irish team are going along with them and the games promise to be most interesting. We have been asked to say that the Reid Nfld. Co. will issue tickets for Grand Falls to all supporters of the city team at one way first class fare and good to return up to Monday, Sept. 6th.

Capt. White Died of Bright's Disease.

The barq. Lake Simcoe reached port this morning, after a 27 days' passage from Barbados. The vessel left here over two months ago and was a great success. On the way south Capt. Thomas White, who was then in charge, complained of being ill and could not be on deck. When the Simcoe reached her destination Captain White was put in hospital where an examination proved that he was suffering from Bright's Disease. He expired nine days after. The mate brought the vessel to Barbados and back here. She has a cargo of molasses for Harvey & Co.

Convicted of Theft.

Three lads, aged 10, 10 and 16 respectively, who were on remand for a week, were arraigned before Mr. Hutchings, K.C., to-day, charged with breaking into the house of Mr. David Baird on Circular Road, and stealing therefrom eight gold rings and a quantity of groceries, all to the value of about $420. The lads were convicted. The eldest was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, another was let go on suspended sentence, owing to his tender years and the third is being held by the authorities to be put into an institution.

Earl of Devon Back.

The S.S. Earl of Devon, Capt. Carter, arrived in port from the White Bay service at 5 p.m. yesterday, having been as far north as Cook's Harbour. Fine weather was met all the way, and the ship made all ports of call, going and returning. The ship brings encouraging news of the fishery, and the ship sails again for the Northward at 6 o'clock this evening.

lee, Whopping Harbor, Kennedy's Head, Conche, and other places on that shore are doing well. Herring and squid are plentiful, but the former is the principal bait used as the squid won't jig. The Earl of Devon brought a considerable freight and the following passengers in saloon: Magistrate James, Coonst. Bussey, Mrs. Boyles, and Mr. Samson. The ship sails again for the Northward at 6 o'clock this evening.

is too late to accomplish this purpose. The Russians, apparently evacuated both Brest-Litovsk and Olita before the Germans arrived. The latter make no claim to the capture of guns or booty.

An Austrian official report states that the Archduke Joseph Ferdinand found the town of Sannitz-Litovsk in flames when he arrived. There are indications, therefore, that the Russians are still carrying to sea everything movable, that might prove of use to the invaders, and burning what they are unable to take with them.

The intimation that the Russians have fortified another front, pending the opportunity of a renewed offensive, has received, some confirmation. It is stated that the new line is being strengthened by all the latest methods known to military engineers. The Russian armies are still intact with virtually all their guns, and the prospects of a more plentiful supply of ammunition. For this reason, military writers here are of the opinion that Grand Duke Nicholas should be able to make a stand. The Austro-German losses must have been very heavy, especially during the three weeks of the offensive. It is stated that the intervention between the fall of Warsaw.

The capture of several German trenches in the Vosges is reported in Paris this evening, and that is considered more significant is the continued activity of the air squadron, which has been bombarding German positions in France, as well as munition factories across the German border.

There has been no further news from the Dardanelles and Balkans, but it now is certain that Serbia is prepared to make the necessary sacrifices to satisfy Bulgaria, and gain her co-operation in behalf of the Allies. It may be several days, however, before the various reports and representations of the Entente Powers will be received.

The note of the Serbian Parliament was only upon the principle involved in the negotiations now proceeding between Serbia, Greece and Romania regarding the exact nature of the concessions to be made to Bulgaria. Wales is threatened with another coal strike, as the result of dissatisfaction among the miners, and a fact in which the settlement, recently arranged by Lloyd George, has been interpreted by the miners. Some 10,000 men are already out, contrary to the advice of their leaders.

GERMAN WAR LOAN. LONDON, Aug. 27. A Renter's despatch from Amsterdam states that a telegram from Berlin states that the German war loan which will bear five per cent interest, will be issued at 99, and will not be redeemable until Oct. 1st, 1924.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE. PARIS, Aug. 27. A joint telegram, expressing entire confidence in ending the war, was sent to Grand Duke Nicholas by President Poincaré, Minister of War Millerand and General Joffre, the French Commander-in-Chief.

REICHSTAG ADJOURNED. LONDON, Aug. 27. According to a telegram from Berlin, says Renter's Amsterdam correspondent, the Reichstag has adjourned until Nov. 30th.

RUSSIANS MAY MAKE STAND. LONDON, Aug. 27. The Germans are in full possession of the entire Brest-Litovsk provinces, pressing the Russians both in the districts southeast of Mita and east of Kovno, in the effort to reach the main line of railway which passes through Vilna and Dvinsk to Petrograd. This may, in time, prove the most important of the German operations, although at present they are using more troops in pursuit of the Russians, who are retiring from the Brest-Litovsk line on either side of the fortress. It is expected, however, with the fall of Brest-Litovsk, which has been followed by that of Olita, south of Kovno, the armies of Field Marshal von Hindenburg will be reinforced and make another attempt to cut off the retreat of the Russians. It is believed here, however, that it now

AVIATION ACTIVITIES. PARIS, Aug. 27. French aviators continue their activities against certain positions in possession of the Germans with the eastern portions of the French line according to an announcement made to-day by the French War Office. German aviators also are taking offensive measures in this territory. French aviators have bombed two railway stations in the Argonne, in German possession, and German aviators have thrown down explosives on Clermont in the Argonne. A French aviator is high in command at Doranche, a plant where the Germans manufactured asphyxiating gases, and this morning a French squadron of airplanes bombed the railway station at Muelheim, in the Grand Duchy of Baden. All the French fliers returned unharmed.

GRODNO NOW THREATENED. LONDON, Aug. 27. The Russians, apparently, have decided to evacuate Grodno, one of the important strongholds in their principal line defences, which they still retain. A message from Petrograd to Renter's Telegram Co., quotes the Rusk Invalid as stating that Grodno will be given up when the retreat of its defenders has been covered. This message indicates that the fall of Brest-Litovsk, announced at Berlin yesterday, was not known publicly at Petrograd at one o'clock this afternoon. At the time of filing the messages the Rusk Invalid said that preparations were under way for the evacuation of Brest-Litovsk, adding that five German and Austrian armies were striving to surround it, and cut it off from the Kovel district.

PETROGRAD NOT ALARMED. PETROGRAD, Aug. 27. Weighing the likelihood of a German advance on Petrograd, the Retch points out that the Russian retreatment covers the approaches to the capital, and that it is extremely doubtful whether the Germans, without undisputed possession of the Baltic Sea, particularly the Gulf of Riga, could undertake the risks attaching to operations against Petrograd this autumn. Moreover, on the whole front from the Drvina to the Upper Bohr it is noted the Germans have only two armies, that of General von Busow in Courland, and that of General von Eichorn on the Niemen.

U. S. CRUISER CARRIES REFUGEES. WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. The scout cruiser Chester has left Beirut, Syria, with 450 refugees from the Holy Land, according to a report to-day by the navy department. No details are given. The Chester has previously carried refugees to points of safety.

NEW ZEALAND TARIFF. WELLINGTON, N.Z., Aug. 27. A super-tax of fifty per cent, on all importations from countries hostile to Britain, was announced to-day by Minister of Finance, Sir Joseph Ward, when introducing the Budget. A number of tariff schedules are in the draft. Automobiles and chassis bodies are to pay 10 per cent. ad val.; kerosene and petrol, 8 cents per gallon.

JAPAN'S WELCOME AID. TOKYO, Aug. 27. The decision of the Government to utilize as available for the purpose of increasing the production of war munitions for the Allies, particularly Russia, has aroused the greatest enthusiasm in the Japanese mind. The rank and file are arranging details with manufacturers, preparatory to enlarging the arsenal and factories. It is understood France and England have guaranteed payment for these supplies.

FULL SATISFACTION WILL BE GIVEN. WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. Count von Bernstorff, acting on instructions from Berlin, has notified Secretary of State Lansing that the United States will be glad to make the Arabic. The Ambassador expressed full satisfaction in the work done by the Arabic was sunk without warning.

FRENCH OFFICIAL. PARIS, Aug. 27. The French War Office this afternoon gave out a statement as follows: In the sector to the north of Arras the French firing last night was less violent, but it was very spirited in the vicinity of Roye and on the plateau between the Oise and the Aisne.

Kidney Trouble?

The waste material which the kidneys are intended to remove from the blood, if allowed to accumulate in the system, poison the blood and thus produce deleterious effects.

If from over-work, exposure to cold, or some local injury, the kidneys become congested or inflamed and cannot perform their functions, the system becomes filled with uric poisons.

Whenever a dull, heavy pain is felt over the region of the kidneys for any length of time, accompanied by a swollen complexion, loss of appetite, decrease of weight, and a puffy condition under the eyes and in the ankles, a chronic inflammation of the kidneys must be suspected, and if not relieved promptly chronic Bright's Disease will certainly develop.

Abley's Effervescent Salt, sold everywhere at 25c and 60c which is a Diuretic as well as an Aperient, will carry out of the system the poisonous material which the kidneys cannot get rid of, and will relieve the congestion of the kidneys.

Sold everywhere.

389th Day of the War TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.30 A.M.

A WAITING ATTITUDE. WASHINGTON, To-Day. The offer of full satisfaction to the United States for the sinking of the liner Lusitania, and the loss of two American lives was communicated formally to the State Department yesterday by Count von Bernstorff, German Ambassador, on instructions from the Berlin Foreign Office. The Ambassador read Secretary Lansing a memorandum, outlining the position of his Government, and promised if it was found that the Arabic was attacked without warning, the Imperial Government not only would promptly disavow the act, but would give the United States full satisfaction. This is well known would have included reparations for American loss and assurances that such tragedies would not be repeated. No further developments of the situation are expected now until the submarine commander who sank the Arabic has reported to Berlin. Meantime, President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, though visibly encouraged and relieved by von Bernstorff's assurances and by reports from Ambassador Gerard at his conference with Foreign Minister Von Jagow, are in a waiting attitude. Before the American Government can speak the terms must be forthrightly German disavowal and explanation of what all the evidence received seemed to prove was an "unfriendly act."

It became known to-night that the State Department had been informed that Germany was ready to renew discussion of the Lusitania incident and reparations for American lives lost when that vessel was sent to the bottom without warning by a German submarine. There has been no response to the last American note on this subject. It is known that the United States would not listen to reparations proposals with the situation created by the sinking of the Arabic still pending and without the attack on the Arabic disavowed and guarantees given against repetitions. The German communication explaining the Lusitania was torpedoed as a reprisal against Britain under a misapprehension that she was armed and that the killing of Americans was warranted and not intended, and offering reparations, probably would pave the way for an amicable closing of the incident.

THE FINANCIAL MISSION. LONDON, To-Day. In view of the discussion which has been going on in the London press as regard the financial mission to America, the Press Bureau to-night issued the following statement: All statements which recently have appeared in reference to the composition of the financial mission to the United States are premature. The matter is still under the consideration of the Government and the names will be announced in due course.

DESPERATE FIGHTING ON GALLI-POLI PENINSULA GALLANT CHARGE OF IRISH DIVISION. LONDON, To-Day. A despatch to the Renter's Telegram Company from the Dardanelles, dated August 24, says: For the moment our fighting has come to a stop along the front of our new positions after the week of battles which followed the landing at Suvla Bay. The most important advantage secured has been a large extension of territory held by us on the northern shore of the Peninsula, resting upon Suvla Bay, and in its left occupying a long ridge which follows the coast inland for several miles. Our army holds the plain southward where the heights of Anzac look down upon it, so that we are in virtual possession from the cliffs overlooking the Gulf of Saros almost to Gabaube. Describing the charge of the Irish Division on the Turkish hill to the left of the Suvla Bay position, the correspondent says: The Turks came out to meet them and a most exciting bayonet fight followed on the saddle between the two crests. Bayonets were flashing and stabbing for several minutes before the Turkish line gave way. Then they left the crest and ran down over the ridge, the Irishmen standing up and firing and the enemy was removed in time and resistance was maintained on the left bank of the Dug solely to enable the army operating in this region to retire Gabaube. When this retirement was completed, the fortifications and bridges were destroyed, and the garrison rejoined the army in the field.

RUSSIA FULL OF FIGHT. LONDON, To-Day. The Petrograd correspondent of the Times quotes the Russian Minister of War as follows: "We are confident of our ability to safeguard Petrograd; our armies can stand another winter without any inconvenience. Every thing is ready for that purpose. A force of two million men will be trained far behind the fighting line and will be ready to take the field in the spring. General Russky is the Commander-in-Chief of the Petrograd front with several armies at his immediate disposal. It is my settled purpose to do everything in my power to work in harmony with the Duma and public opinion." General Fokanov, says the correspondent, characterized the suggestion that the Allies were not helping Russia to the utmost of their power, as "senseless gossip."

THE WAY MADE EASY. LONDON, To-Day. The Daily News in an editorial, hazards the suggestion that the submarine which sunk the steamer Arabic has itself since been sunk; that therefore Germany's disavowal of the submarine commander becomes comparatively easy.

A MONARCHICAL MOVEMENT. LISBON, To-Day. The Minister of Interior announces that a Monarchical movement has broken out in Northern Portugal. Barracks of regiment of infantry at Guimaraes have been attacked and many persons wounded.

An Unusual Vacation.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Not long ago I wrote of a wife who went away for her vacation alone, leaving her husband at home to look after their three children. You will remember that it was his suggestion, made because he realized how tired and worn she was. Now she is back. Not only rested and reinvigorated, but with a fresh viewpoint. She declares that she had become "stale" both as a wife and a mother, although she never realized it before she got away by herself.

Little Things Bothered Her. Little things her children did bothered her beyond all reason. This was not because she was a poor mother, but because she was such a good one. She was with her children or thinking about them continually. She was literally too close to her subject. She needed to get away to get fresh perspective.

Of course she returned to them hungry for them. She had not gone a day before she wanted to come home to them. But she did not give in, although they were never far from her mind. She thought of little tricks the children had, some cunning, and others not so cunning. She missed even the latter, thinking of them lovingly and sympathetically, much more so than usual.

In other words, she has had opportunity to stand aside and, while renewing her own reservoirs of vitality, get a fresh, untroubled view of her children and her relations with them. Even more than all this is the empathy and understanding that her husband now has had all the care of the children. He took their mother's place during that time and assumed, as best he could, her relationship to them. He knows from experience just what her daily routine is and how much she has to bear with.

Nevertheless he enjoyed his vacation. Like a great many other fathers, his intimacy with the children has been confined to the time he could spare them on Sundays and holidays. He never had had a chance to become really and truly intimate with them, in the way a mother always is. Being With His Children A Novel Vacation.

The two weeks spent in trips to the beach, walks in the woods, car rides and picnics comprised one of the most enjoyable vacations he ever spent. It was a change for him to be with the children, just as it was a change for the mother to be away from them. It was, of course, an unusual way to spend a vacation. And not the least unusual phase of it was the benefit that all concerned derived from it!

Turning Bells into Shells.

The Austrians must indeed be running desperately short of metal for munitions if, as is reported from Geneva, the Government have decided to melt down the great bell in St. Stephen's, Vienna. This bell is rather more than two centuries old, it having been cast in 1711 from cannon captured. It is interesting at this juncture to note, from the Turkish army, which all but captured Vienna in 1683. Should it be melted down, it will provide the Austrians with 17 tons 14 cent. of bronze, and when that is exhausted the bell in Olmutz Cathedral will, similarly treated, supply almost exactly the same amount of metal. If church bells are to be the deciding factor of the war, Russia will stand a good chance of proving victorious, as there are four bells in Moscow alone which contain between 322 tons and 300 tons of bronze, the biggest weighing 200 tons, or, roughly, six times the combined weight of the two Austrian bells.

Temperance.

I am a surgeon. My success depends upon my brain being clear, my muscles firm and nerves steady. No one can take alcoholic liquor without blunting these physical powers which I must keep on edge. As a surgeon, I must not drink.—Dr. Lorenz, famous Austrian Surgeon.

All alcohol and all things of an alcoholic nature injure the nerve tissues.—Sir William Gull, Physician to Queen Victoria.

He who drinks is deliberately disqualifying himself for advancement. Personally I refuse to take such a risk. I do not drink.—William H. Taft.

Russia is showing commendable wisdom in taking into account the social instinct which, with the removal of the saloon, begins to look about not so much for the drink as for a place of friendly congregation. As a substitute for vodka shops, which have been abolished, there have been erected in the government of Portava alone three hundred such places which have been opened or projected. They contain reading rooms and halls in which concerts, exhibitions and other entertainments can be given. Temperance reformers in our own country would do well to take a leaf out of Russia's experience. In closing the saloon and prohibiting drink, the provision of a cheerful room for social purposes, supplied with reading matter, games, etc., would be found to be a great aid in enforcing the law.

On fiendish Drink's unallowed shrine?
Each mother's heart goes up in prayer;
"Not mine, O God. Not mine! Not mine!"
No, not the boy whose bonnie head
So oft I've to my bosom pressed,
Whom I love, soft lullabies alone
That soothed the tired child to rest!

"Oh, can it be that he should fall
A prey to aught so vile as this?
Oh, can it be the tempter's wiles
Shall rob my life of all this bliss?
Shall his dear feet be led astray
By this accursed, licensed sin?
This fair young boy, whom Jesus loves,
Be lost, that others gold might win?"

Some mother's boy must fill the ranks,
Some freside treasure feed the flame,
Whose fiery tongue insatiable burns
And leaves deep scars of sin and shame.
Poor tortured bodies, mangled, bruised,
Wounded too deep for love's sweet balm;
Souls tossed by discord fierce and wild,
That heavenly music cannot calm.

Oh, why should this unholy hand
Write daily horrors on life's page
And sear, as with the breath of hell,
The heart of childhood, youth and age?
Alas! a nation yields the right
And kneels in blood at Mammon's shrine.
Whose boy will next be sacrificed?
It may be yours it may be mine.—Selected.

Socialists In The Trenches.

The following remarkable article, contributed by Mr. James O'Grady, M.P., the Labor leader whose scathing rebuke of Mr. Philip Snowden, M.P., in the House of Commons, caused an enormous sensation in the industrial world, shows how necessary it is that the people of this country should be told the truth—the complete and undisguised truth.

The effect of this war upon the working classes of Great Britain has mainly been to disillusionise them as to German aims and ambitions. Hitherto, with a free-and-easy characteristic of the Britisher, they had persuaded themselves that there was no real danger to their liberties in the frustration of those aims and ambitions.

But the British working man knows to-day, if he did not know before, that German aims and ambitions imply world-dominance, and the British working man is gradually realising the real meaning of the German philosophy of blood and iron. He has been led to think, in the last ten years in particular, that Germany meant no harm to this country, and, having no suspicions to the contrary, was quite prepared to endorse any compact made with Germany to bring about an entente similar to that which prevails between Great Britain and France.

The disillusionment has come with the revelation of the truth of German aims and German lust for the world-dominance, as disclosed in the facts laid before the country by the British and French Governments, and now the British working man does realise the great danger to his own liberties and the institutions he loves that would come from a German victory in the present war.

Breaking Down the Barriers. This being the case, the British working man is prepared, like the rest of the community, to put aside all his professional notions and opinions, and to apply every effort in his power to stem what has become to him, as to all of us, a terrible menace. We see, as a consequence, a much closer relationship between all classes of the community. The working man is a brother-in-arms with the aristocrat upon the bloodstained fields of France and Flanders, and the aristocrat—now, perhaps, for the first time—has the decision of the Kaiser and the War Lords.

While the German working men were holding out the hand of friendship to the British working men, with those same treacherous hands they were helping to forge deadly weapons to destroy the British working men and their country.

It is clear, in the present mood and temper of the British working men, that there can be no peace until Prussian militarism, that has been a nightmare in the chancelleries of Europe for the last forty years, and the greatest obstacle to social reform amongst the peoples of Europe, has been finally and completely crushed. Let there be no mistake. The British working man will not listen to or consider any suggestion of terms of peace that fall short of this accomplishment.

Pay France and Belgium First. Perhaps the best indication of that temper and spirit is to be found in the large number of pacifists and socialists in the trenches—men who have had as great a detestation of war as even the Quakers, but who are in the trenches because their one desire is to free this country from the danger of Prussian militarism and all that this menace means.

If these men feel that, and risk death in the expression of that feeling, how can any section that is left behind at home talk about forcing the Government to listen to any peace terms short of those that will ensure for this country and for Europe a peace that will last for at least a hundred years?

Take the workers' attitude upon the question of the war indemnity to be paid by Germany when, happily, we shall have won this great victory for civilization. This war is going to cost this country two thousand millions, and yet the British working men do not think of their country being reimbursed first, but insist that the claims of France and Belgium must be satisfied first; the ruined houses of Northern France and Belgium must be rebuilt, and because the British working men feel this way towards Belgium, is it not another manifestation of their stern and fixed resolve that the right of the smaller nationalities to live their own separate and independent existences shall be respected?

Trust Him. But not only are the British working men giving their measure in their part of the contribution to those two thousand millions, but they are also giving their lives to stem the Prussian menace—giving them freely, and willingly to secure the safety of our homes in this little island; nor are they dismayed at the prospect of the lean years, the years of industrial depression, which, we are told, must follow the wastage of all this capital.

As a last word, let me say this: Trust the British working man. Don't nag at him, or lecture him; don't keep him in ignorance of the facts; have no fear of telling him the truth, however unpalatable, but tell it him bluntly; let him know the danger in which the country stands, and he will rise fittingly to the occasion, because he is a Briton and has the British way.

There are men in the war factories to-day working from eight to ninety hours a week, and seven days a week. The working men are willing temporarily to forget those safeguards and securities for which they have striven since "Waterloo" in order to quicken victory. From this and other things that come before us, we must gauge the true spirit of the British working man in this, the greatest conflict in the world's history.—Answers.

'Twas Prince Who Issued the Order.

LOUIS OF BATTENBURG MOBILIZED THE BRITISH FLEET—CHURCHILL GOT THE CREDIT.

Interesting Correspondence in London Now Proves that Former First Sea Lord Stayed the Order for the Demobilization and Stood Ready for Opening of War.

(From a London Paper.) Much interest has been aroused by the confirmation from Prince Louis of Battenburg that it was he and not Winston Spencer Churchill who issued the famous order to mobilize the fleet at the beginning of the war. From the outset Mr. Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty, has received the highest praise for his foresight in having the British fleet mobilized at the critical moment. Some time ago, however, F. T. Jane, a well-known naval expert, publicly announced that Prince Louis of Battenburg deserved this credit. It will be recalled that shortly after the war began Prince Louis of Battenburg resigned as First Sea Lord because of bitter criticism, based chiefly on the fact of his German descent. And now comes the article by the Prince himself in the Standard, finally clearing the matter up and making it plain that it was he and not Mr. Churchill, who ordered the mobilization of the fleet.

"When the war came," said Mr.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1642 Juniata Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Woman's Case. Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABRAHAM LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Danger Signals to Women are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

Jane, "the British fleet was ready and waiting. This fact is generally put down to Mr. Churchill's credit. We have all read it in the press and we have all believed it, but it was the First Sea Lord of those days, Prince Louis of Battenburg, who kept the fleet together. He it was who saved us the horrors of Belgium."

The confirmation by the Prince of Mr. Jane's assertion as it appears in the Standard is: "It is quite true that it was my humble servant, and not Mr. Churchill, who was spending the week-end at Cromer with his wife. It was I who ordered all ships to stand fast instead of demobilizing as ordered."

It is recalled that Mr. Churchill himself admitted this fact when he wrote Prince Louis after his retirement. "The first step which secured the timely concentration of the fleet was taken by you," said Mr. Churchill at that time. Sir G. Robertson, M.P., explains why Prince Louis did not let the world know before the great service he had performed for the country by keeping the fleet mobilized. He says that Prince Louis seemed to think that if the facts were published some sort of injury to the national interests might result.

It is generally agreed that the action of Prince Louis saved England from invasion at the outbreak of the war by an enormous number of picked German troops. Mr. Jane says that 100,000 German troops were actually embarked and were on their way to the east coast when the unexpected preparedness of the British fleet made them turn back.

An effort to find Mr. Churchill, that he might confirm the claim of Prince Louis, has developed the fact that he is busy painting in a little farm house which he has taken in Lancashire. His duties as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster evidently leave him plenty of spare time.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, Macnamara, Bradshaw, Mullaly, McGrath, Morris, Anderson and Withers were present at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission. A letter from J. M. Kent re the finalizing of the agreement with the Commercial Cable Co. was read and referred to the Solicitor. The Gas Co. wrote asking for a reconsideration of the heavy tax on coal. Last year the Company imported 5,585 tons of coal on which they paid $3,975.50, or one-tenth of the coal tax. It was also pointed out that no other industrial concern contributes anything like that amount to the city. It was represented that in 1885 the capital of the Company was $48,000.00 and the tax was 30 cents per ton. The present capital is $165,000.00 and the tax is 70 cents. Through labor and supplies have increased, the price of gas has been reduced. The matter will receive every consideration at another meeting of the Board. A petition was read from the residents of Leslie Street on the condition that thoroughfare. The Engineer will report. Permits were granted to John J. Savage to repair house; to J. Calver to lay concrete sidewalk; to George McGuire to erect a coach house; to J. F. Davey to build an annex to house on Allan's Square; to M. Walsh to build concrete house, Duckworth St., all subject to the approval of the City Engineer.

Address to Capt. Parsons.

When the Sagona was nearing this port yesterday afternoon the passengers assembled in the saloon and presented to Capt. Parsons the following address, which was read by Rev. Father Kirwan:

S. S. Sagona, Cape St. Francis, Aug. 27th, 1915. Capt. W. Parsons, S. S. Sagona.

Dear Capt. Parsons— We, the undersigned passengers, on the S. S. Sagona from Labrador, desire on reaching our destination to express our appreciation of the careful and seamanlike manner in which you have handled your ship throughout the voyage along a very dangerous and difficult coast. We also wish to express the personal pleasure which your company has given us, and to thank you for your kind and courteous treatment on every occasion. Wishing you all good fortune in the future and many happy years. We are Yours very sincerely, Rev. J. F. Kirwan, Whitehouse; Edith S. Watson, Connecticut; Victoria Hayward, Bermuda; H. K. Blake, New Jersey; P. J. O'Neill, St. John's; A. H. Salter, St. John's; N. H. Demarest, New York; McPherson Holt, Chicago; Rudolph D. Byron, Connecticut; Donald S. Mann, Buffalo; Michael J. Foreign Fish Market.

This is the latest advice the Board of Trade here have received from Messrs. Lind and Conto, of Oporto:—"The situation continues satisfactory for British fish. Norwegian shippers persist in limiting their shipments to this market; and in the absence of the Norwegian article, the demand for British fish has been kept up. Stocks of the latter are not excessive. If arrivals of new cure do not reach here simultaneously we think that prices will be maintained." The following was received from the International Mercantile Co., Ltd., and dated the 7th inst.:

Mrs. Penman presided over an enthusiastic meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the Grenfell Hall, on Thursday evening last. A report of the prison work was presented. On Sunday, the 15th inst., service was conducted by Mr. I. C. Morris, who also gave a most instructive address. Two young men signed the pledge. A committee was then selected to visit the Hospital next week in the interests of outport people. Encouraging reports were received from various outports in relation to the temperance cause. Mrs. Houland, the lady lecturer, is due to arrive here about Sept. 10th and a good reception awaits her at Casborne, Heart's Content, Bell Island, Bay Roberts and other centres. An emergency meeting will be held next week to finalize plans in regard to Mrs. Houland's work.

The Diphtheria Outbreak.

At last night's meeting of the Civic Commission a lengthy report from Dr. Brehm, the Medical Health Officer, on the cause of the recent diphtheria outbreak was read. In the opinion of the Health Officer the outbreak was mainly due to the number of cases that were not reported. Most of the cases were mild, and many persons thought them to be merely sore throats or slight tonsillitis not requiring the services of a doctor. Many of these sore throats, he said, are diphtheric in nature and are the chief means by which the disease is spread. An inspection of the milk supply revealed that the milk was not the cause of the outbreak. Bad sanitary conditions such as defective drainage are not a direct cause of diphtheria but they probably act to some extent as predisposing causes by undermining the general health and lessening the power of resistance. He further added that flies may be the means of carrying the infection. During the past week there has been no new case of diphtheria except in houses where the disease had been previously reported.

PARALYZED—By the s.s. Sagona Dr. Rutherford arrived and was conveyed to the General Hospital in his ambulance. He is suffering from paralysis of the legs.

Australia Will Double Her Army TO AID EMPIRE.

Melbourne, Australia, July 17.—Correspondence of the Canadian Limited—The recent appeal for more British War Office for more soldiers has been met with such an immediate response that the Australian Government will be able to double its army in October and November reinforcements, making them 10,263 of those months, instead of 5,200 usual monthly quota. It will be possible to send to the front a complete brigade of infantry, and this offer has been accepted by the Imperial authorities. When the troops now ready to front have embarked, Australia has despatched 80,000 men to the front line, and has to her 20,000 more men who have to for Imperial service—a total of 100,000 men. The movement of the larger of troops this fall will require increased transportation facilities, a problem to which the newly appointed Minister for the Navy, James Scobie, is devoting his attention. Australia has been taken out of the Government until there are 85 steamers under control of the transport department. Mr. Scobie claims that the Australian marine, including troopships, third largest in the world. A bill providing for a war to determine the wealth of Australia both in fighting men and financial now under consideration by the general Parliament. Under the bill, practically every man in Australia will have to answer questions as to the possibility of employment, and women as well as men report on their income or profession. The duty of procuring the questionnaires and answering the questions thereon will devolve on the agents of the Commonwealth, but to perform this duty may be shiable.

Australia Will Double Her Army

TO AID EMPIRE.

Melbourne, Australia, July 19.—Correspondence of the Canadian Press, Limited.—The recent appeal from the British War Office for more soldiers has been met with such an increase in recruiting that the Australian Government will be able to double the October and November reinforcements, making them 10,263 for each of those months, instead of 5,263, the usual monthly quota. It will also be possible to send to the front in November a complete brigade of infantry, and this offer has been accepted by the Imperial authorities.

When the troops now ready for the front have embarked, Australia will have despatched 80,000 men to the fighting line, and have to her credit 20,000 more men who have enlisted for Imperial service—a total of 100,000 men.

The movement of the larger quotas of troops this fall will require greatly increased transportation facilities, a problem to which the newly created Minister for the Navy, James A. Jensen, is devoting his attention. Some of the largest and finest vessels, of Australia have been taken over by the Government until there are now 85 steamers under control of the naval transport department. Mr. Jensen claims that the Australian mercantile marine, including troopships, is the third largest in the world.

A bill providing for a war census, to determine the wealth of Australia, both in fighting men and finance, is now under consideration by the Federal Parliament. Under the terms of the bill, practically every male adult in Australia will have to answer questions as to the possibility of enlistment, and women as well as men will report on their income or property. The duty of procuring the proper forms and answering the questions asked thereon will devolve on the citizens of the Commonwealth, but failure to perform this duty may be punishable.

Attorney General William Hughes denied that this census was conscription in the accepted sense of that term, but he said that the object was to make the sacrifices, which the continuance of the war had made inevitable—the sacrifices of life and of wealth—fall upon all in fair proportion.

"Don't Worry."

Don't worry about things that you can't help. Worry kills success, some people are worrying all the time about some things that have happened or might happen. Drive out of your mind completely your past troubles and misfortunes, they cannot be helped now. Usually the coming events that you worry so much about are not really so bad when they actually happen, and many times the thing most dreaded and worried about never happens. You will get a lot of undesirable things passed out to you in your life which you can't help, and all the worrying you do over them is simply a waste of energy, which might be better employed in the solution of problems of real help to your present and future.

A better preparation is not to be found for helping you to get over all your unnecessary worries than:—Stafford's Prescription "A." It gives you Nerve, Will Power and Strength to fight against all your troubles. Try a bottle. Price: Trial Size—25 cts.; postage, 5 cts. extra. Price: Large Size—50 cts.; postage, 10 cts. extra. Prepared only by DR. F. RECORD BROKEN. Mr. Hawker, an English aviator, has just broken a record by flying to a height of 20,000 feet. The average English bird does not, as a rule, go above 3,000 feet, and even when migrating he sticks nearer 1,000 than 2,000. A flight of wild geese sometimes reaches 2,000 feet, but not invariably. But no aviator has yet outdistanced the highest birds, for the great condor of the Andes is able to attain a height of 27,000 feet.

American Judgment on Germany.

(New York Evening Post.)

To pass judgment upon individual Germans—to assume that we in their place would individually be better—might truly be presumptuous; but it is not presumptuous to declare that somehow or other a spirit evil and intolerance has gained such possession of those who control the destinies of Germany as to make her national conduct—in the large, and terribly often in detail—an abomination in the sight of all the nations. If the inflexible backing up of Austria in a demand so arrogant and an attitude so unyielding as to make the desolation of this war a certainty be a crime; if the violation of Belgium in cynical disregard of treaty obligations be a crime; if the punishment of the Belgian people for resisting this aggression, executed with calculated ruthlessness of the most appalling kind, be a crime; if the slaughter of non-combatants on the Lusitania, in defiance of the clearest mandates of international law, be a crime—what attitude is it possible for us to take towards the country guilty of these offences except that of indignant condemnation?

The Reasons of War.

(From the London Daily News and Leader.)

War seen close at hand, not as a distant academic study, has revealed certain details not fully allowed for in the distant view of the theorist. It has shown that fortresses without a field army in being cannot stand against modern artillery. It has shown that a fight between modern battle cruisers is not a contest of "two eggshells hammering at each other with steam hammers," but may, and normally does, last quite a long time. It has shown that the credit system is far more elastic and modern labor far more adaptable than was at all supposed; that so long as confidence is maintained the most colossal expenditure does not of itself dry up the enormous resources of a rich civilized nation. There may be, and indeed must be, an ultimate exhaustion point; but it is further back than was imagined.

SOLEMN THOUGHTS.

Soon, now, the long vacation will dwindle to its close, the time of recreation, a time of fun and goods like those, and in the knowledge palace the wheels once more will turn, and Henry, James and Alice will buckle down to learn. Before the kindly teachers they'll learn to parse and spell, while thinking of the bleachers they patronized so well. They'll try their hands at rhyming, attack the rule of three, while wishing they were climbing up some one's apple tree. Why are the children sulking, as sulky they do, it seems, since school is largely bulking in all their future schemes? Why should they hate the cheery, far-sounding school-house gong? They surely must be weary of games they've played so long. Why should they dread returning from scenes of idle play, to yonder seat of learning, where wisdom holds its sway? The ancient man and woman would pause for a reply; well, girls and boys are human, and that's the reason why.

Mapleton's Peanut Butter is made in England. When you buy it you will know its value. When the children get it on their bread they know its quality. Cheap nourishment these strenuous times. The proof of the pudding is the eating of it.

The Sagona's Fishery Report.

(New York Evening Post.)

The S. S. Sagona, Capt. Parsons, arrived in port from Labrador at 5 o'clock last evening. On the way north much fog was experienced and there was a prevalence of north east winds, but coming south conditions were much more favourable. Captain Parsons brings the following report of the codfishery to date:—
Turnavik West—Bartlett's crew, 300 quintals.
Turnavik East—No fish.
Macovic—Dunn's crew, 170 qts.
Iron Bound Islands—Fourteen schooners here with from 300 to 600 quintals.
Cape Harrison—Not much doing; two schooners with 500 and 600 qts. respectively; others 150 to 200 qts.
Sloop Cove—Kennedy's crew, 300 quintals; several schooners well fished.
Holton—Doing fair; Hiscock's crew 500 quintals.
Horse Hr.—Doing fair.
Emily Hr.—Doing fair; hook and line crews, 100 to 120 quintals; nine schooners with from 400 to 500 quintals.
Indian Hr.—Doing fair.
White Bears—Traps poor; crews jigging 3 to 5 quintals daily.
Five Islands—One schooner here loaded.
Indian Hr.—Six small schooners here loaded.
George's Island—One schooner here with 300 quintals.
Indian Island—Doing poorly.
Pack's Hr.—Doing poorly.
Long Islands—Doing poorly.
Black Islands to Grady—Doing nothing.
Indian Tickle to Batteau—Some crews doing well; others poorly; hook and line men jigging good fares daily.
Sandy Islands to Comfort Bight—No improvement since last report.
Styles to Hawke's Hr.—Doing well.
Triangle—Doing well, since last report.
Snug Hr.—Doing well since last report.
Snug Hr.—Doing well since last report.
Snug Hr. to Battle Hr.—Not much doing.
The S. S. Hump which operates on the northern Labrador, was met at Turnavik by Capt. Parsons reports the fishery very poor from Turnavik north. The Hump was not able to get farther north than Eclipse Bay because of ice. Most of the "floaters" are north of Nain and all are poorly fished.

Whaling News Encouraging.

The whaler Cachelot, operating at Hawke's Hr., had thirty-eight whales captured up to a week ago, according to a late report from Captain Amundsen, and it is likely has augmented her catch since. The fish are of a very large size. The catch is ahead of what it was this time last year. The prospects for a successful voyage this year are good. The Cachelot will operate for two months longer.

Lachute, Que., 25th Sept., 1908. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen,—Ever since coming home from the Boer War I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. Two bottles completely cured me and I have worked every working day since. Yours gratefully, JOHN WALSH.

London Society Women

Added to the Employees of Vickers' Factory Making Munitions of War, Earning from $4 to $5 a Week, Working 9 Hours a Day.
London, Aug. 18.—A squad of forty-five women munition workers who have just been added to the staff of the employees at the Vickers factory at Firth includes several women of social prominence.

Lady Scott, widow of Captain Scott, the explorer, has joined the electrical department, where her deftness acquired in her art as sculptor makes her invaluable for certain work requiring great delicacy of touch.

Lady Colebrook and Lady Gertrude Crawford are employed as master turners in charge of lathes, while Mrs. England, sister of Lord Loreburn, Lady Gatacre and Mrs. W. H. Cowan, wife of a prominent member of the House of Commons, are employed in the lathe room in other capacities. Other employees include Mrs. Grieg, wife of Col. Grieg, of the London Scottish, and Mrs. Moir, wife of the chief of the new inventions branch of the Ministry of Munitions. Miss Vickers, daughter of the head of the great munitions firm, has joined the next squad of workers and will be assigned a work bench in the course of the next fortnight.

The rates of pay for the women workers are the same as for ordinary workmen. Messrs. Vickers declined to take voluntary workers. The women mentioned above are earning from four to five dollars per week of six shifts of fifty-four hours. They wear overalls of blucher blue, caps to match, leather gloves and strong boots. They live together in a house leased for the purpose close to the factory.
