Sweet Eva!

CHAPTER XXVIII.

"Forgive me"—afterwards she remembered how strange his voice had sounded, like a voice she had never heard before.

He took up her cloak from the bed and put it round her shoulders.

"You'll take your death of cold—you're cold as ice," he said again hoarsely. He touched her hand, but she drew it away from his shivering.

"Forgive me," he said again. "I was mad—forgive me, for God's sake."

"No."

She supposed she must have spoken the word herself; she knew that it was her intention to speak it, but the voice was not hers.

She kept her eyes averted from him; it was not that she feared she might soften if she looked at him—it was simply that she was indifferent. She was worn out; she was only conscious of a great desire to be alone.

Philip paced the length of the room and back; he was trying desperately to control himself.

"You must forgive me," he said at last. "Don't you see that I can't stand it any longer . . . I'll ask your pardon on my knees—I'll do anything you want . . ." His voice was laboured and exhausted.

"No," she said again.

Something like a sob escaped him.

"I've been a swine, I know—I've no

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights, I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

defence to offer, but I beg of you—Eva . . .

"No . . ."

From where she sat she could see both their reflections in the long glass; she found herself staring at Philip fixedly, and yet she was not conscious of having focussed her attention on him at all.

This man was her husband, and she loved him—she felt that there was a love at her ear reminding her of this, prompting her. She was sure that she tried to listen and to realize the truth of what the voice was saying, but it was too difficult; she could not keep her attention fixed; her lips parted in a long sigh . . .

"No," she said again.

She did not know why she said it; it was no answer now to any words of his.

He broke out again desperately—"You're my wife . . . we took one another for better or worse . . ."

She raised her eyes, dark with bewildered suffering.

"We didn't—I took you because you were a Winterick, and you took me because my father was a rich man—" she began to laugh, empty, foolish laughter.

"Oh—my dear!" said young Winterick, broken-heartedly.

The little caressing words for the first time pierced her apathy; her eyes flashed into a sort of awakening, like the eyes of a sleep-walker who has been roughly aroused; her brows contracted with physical pain.

"Oh, go away—go away . . ."

"Eva . . ." Philip held out his arms to her, but she would not look at him. "Please go away," she said weakly.

And the next moment she was alone in the brilliantly-lit room, staring at her white face in the glass.

CHAPTER XXIX.

Philip did not go to bed at all that night. He sat at the window of his room looking out into the silent street, and watching for the coming of the dawn.

There was a dread in his heart that if he were to go to bed he would wake and find that his wife had left him. His head was splitting. The passionate impulse which had driven him to strike Eva seemed to him the most terrible action of his whole life.

"I must have been mad," he thought over and over again.

If she had been a woman whom he hated it would still have seemed terrible, but he adored her, and he believed that she would never forgive him.

He could only remember her as he had left her, sitting in her torn frock on the couch at the foot of the bed, her eyes staring fixedly before her. He tried to conjure some happier picture of her, but failed. He could no longer even see her as she had been before their marriage—a light-hearted, happy girl. He could only see the white-faced, tragic woman into which marriage had turned her.

He wondered if the fault had been all his. Until the last few months he had not known himself for a passionate man, but now he was afraid of the depths of feeling of which he was capable.

He kept the door of his room open all night. It was right opposite to Eva's across the hall. He knew it would be impossible for her to come out without his knowing it.

She was so silent that a fresh fear struck him. He left his chair and crossed the room softly to hers.

There was no sound within, but the door was still unfastened and the lights were burning as they had been when he left her.

After a moment he pushed the door wider and slipped in.

Eva had slipped sideways on the couch and lay, dressed as she was, her head pillowed on her bare arms.

He bent over her fearfully; but she was asleep—only a troubled sleep, it is true, in which her face still looked drawn and unhappy—but Philip caught his breath in sharp relief.

He took the elderdown from the bed and laid it gently over her. He would have liked to move her into a more comfortable position, but he was afraid of waking her.

She looked so young, such a girl, in spite of the trouble in her sleeping eyes, and a great tenderness stirred in his heart. He bent nearer to her, and she stirred and gave a little pre-emptive murmur, as if even in her sleep she was conscious of his presence and found it distasteful.

Philip went back to his own room and sat down by the window again. Grey dawn-light filled the street now. He opened the window and let the cold morning air fan his aching head.

The effect of Virol on Growth and Development

BABY PIRKS.

"Life Despaired Of."

38, De Burch Street, Cardiff, South Wales. 30/3/20.

To "VIROL," LTD., Gentlemen.

I have much pleasure in forwarding a photo of my son. He was so small at birth and such a weakling that his life was despaired of. He was tried with several of the widely advertised foods but rapidly went almost to a skeleton, limp and hardly any life in him.

In a very few days after trying him with Virol an immediate change for the better was apparent, and he is now a plump, happy, strong child without a blemish, and is always taken to be quite a year old.

He is a splendid example of the truth of the claims you advertise for "Virol." Please make any use you like of this testimonial.

Yours very sincerely,

(Sgd.) Mrs. F. Pirks.

VIROL

Virol, Ltd., 145-146, Old St., London, E.C.1.

A brown, dusty-looking sparrow which had risen early to look for breakfast called a friendly "Cooop" as it flew by.

Philip thought of the Highway House and wondered how the garden was looking. He had seen it so, often just as early in the morning as this—the dew-laden grass and the tall, stately trees slowly appearing through the grey mist. It seemed a lifetime since he left it all. Oh, to be back there again and find all this only a bad dream! He crossed his arms on the chair-back and leaned his head despondently on them.

Eva meant to leave him, he was sure of it. He had instinctively guessed the meaning of those last words to him in the library:—

"This—finishes it!"

He wondered what his mother would say. He was sorry for his mother.

She would hate the scandal and exposure.

He must have done off, because he woke with a start to the sound of the maids moving about the flat.

He started up with wildly-locking heart. Eva! Supposing she had gone while he slept; he went again to her room, but the door was shut now and locked.

He went along to the bathroom and washed and shaved and changed his dress suit for tweeds.

He dreaded meeting his wife: he was even more ashamed now in the light of day of what he had done than he had been overnight.

Lloyd George's Plans.

Lloyd George's speech, which was published in full in the New York Times of Sunday, will be most eagerly scanned for its references to international affairs. In what concerns English domestic politics, he exhibited his usual dexterity in committing himself to nothing before he was ready. He chafed his political opponents. He played with the talk of an early general election, asking innocently who could have started it, and gave the impression that he was ready to lead either of the great parties, or both of them, if his enemies pressed him too hard. All this was little more than Georgian byplay. The questions to which his answers were expected to be really important were (1) what was to be his attitude toward France, in view of the position taken by her new Government, and (2) what would he have to say about the Genoa conference?

At one point Lloyd George quietly but firmly took issue with M. Poincare. The new Premier of France had publicly declared that he was against the plan of conferences between the Prime Ministers of the Allies. He wished to go back to the fashion of regular diplomatic exchanges by official notes. But Lloyd George responds that no man is afraid of a conference who is not afraid of realities. To meet face to face and through things out is far better than to trust critical affairs to the slow grinding out of correspondence through the Foreign Offices. This is a direct and pretty sharp challenge to Poincare. But, after all, it relates only to method. As regards the substance of French contentions, Lloyd George shows himself ready to insist that Germany be given to understand that she must pay her reparations bill in full, even if certain delays, and changes in the schedule of payments, be granted to her. The British Prime Minister said nothing about the defensive treaty with France, but doubtless stands willing to proceed with it as planned.

The part of his speech into which Lloyd George put most heart, and apparently most preparation, was that devoted to the general European outlook. He dwells upon the dislocation of trade and the derangement of currencies, upon unemployment and unrest, in a way to make out as powerful an argument as he could in favor of an international conference at Genoa. With him this is evidently now a strong aspiration. As such, more than as a settled plan; he presented it. Doubtless he has been informed, since the invitations were sent out, that the work laid out for Genoa will have to be carefully defined, and the conditions under which other nations will agree to meet Germany and Russia must be stringently guarded, if acceptance is to be general. Certainly both France and the United States will require explicit assurances before promising to go to Genoa.—New York Times.

EXPERIENCE.

I've lived through forty kindly years—I've been a little boy at play. My mother used to dry my tears. And kiss my little hurts away. I've trudged to school against my will, I've wondered why I had to go. I've been through many a childish ill. All boyhood's joys and cares I know.

I've been the dreamy, sorrow youth Who thinks himself so very wise; Once on a time, to tell the truth, I placed much stock in fancy ties. And pointed shoes and yellow spats. For I was only twenty then. But now I've on an egret, and that's the way I needest at older men.

I've been impatient to succeed, I've dreamed my dreams, and some in vain. I've pictured many a splendid deed By which my goal I should attain; I've played the sighing lover, too. I've stood to grief and suffered woe. All that a man must journey through. At some time has been mine to know.

And this I've learned, that one and all Follow the common path of life. We share its game as children small, And later share the days of strife. Now, looking backwards, I can see— That much I rattled against was good. When time had made it plain to me. And what seemed harsh, I understood.

Going! Going! Gone!

Here is a good one from George Robey's "After Dinner Stories."

Smith bought a business through an agent as a going concern. After six months he failed, but took his trouble very lightly.

Meeting the agent some time later he said:

"Do you remember selling me a business as a going concern?"

"Yes, of course I do," replied the agent.

"Well," said Smith, "it's gone."

"SIX MONTHS AGO"

"It's hard to realize that six months ago I couldn't walk across the floor and now I am so well!"

"I have never been very strong but the heat last summer was too much for me. This and the fact that my husband was out of work and I had to work day and night to keep from starving, left me a physical wreck. Luckily my husband was able to get a good job just when I had to go to bed. I tried everything I could think of to get strong, but each day I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker. I was reduced to a skeleton. I couldn't eat or sleep. I had no strength left and finally I was so weak that in trying to cross the floor one day I collapsed. I was so ill and weak that I didn't care whether I lived or died. And then I heard about that marvelous preparation—Carnol. A friend of mine had used it with wonderful results and as it had done so much for her, I decided to try it. The results were nothing less than miraculous. In two weeks I was able to get up and walk about the house. My appetite had returned. I was actually hungry. I could sleep when I went to bed, something I had not been able to do for months. I have already taken six bottles of Carnol and I am still taking it. I weigh more today than I ever weighed before in my life. I sleep like a child. I am never tired and my skin is as clear and my cheeks as rosy as a girl's. I bless the day I heard about Carnol." Mrs. K., Toronto.

Carnol is sold by your druggist and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle and he will refund your money. 3-122

British Affairs Receiving Parliamentary Consideration---Greek Republicans Desire to Overthrow Monarchy---Canada Will Inaugurate Russian Relief Scheme.

A PEACE PROCLAMATION.

ROME, Feb. 6. Pope Pius's first Benediction after election was bestowed from out of the balcony of St. Peter's where was acclaimed by the great throng assembled there while the troops preceded him. Shortly after, Prince Luigi Albrani, Marshal of the Conclave, order of the Secretary of the Conclave, issued the following: "His Holiness Pope Pius XI, while taking reservation in favor of the inalienable rights of the Church and Holy See, which rights he has sworn to defend, has given his first blessing from the exterior balcony overlooking the city of St. Peter's with the special intention that his blessing should be bestowed not only to those present in the square, and not only to those in Italy, but to all nations of all peoples, and should bring to the whole world the wish and the announcement of that universal pacification all so ardently desire."

Mr. Tsolainos said he represented the League of Societies of Liberals in America, a Republican Organization with a normal membership of 100,000 in the United States.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT'S DIFFICULTIES.

LONDON, Feb. 6. Ireland's Provisional Government has difficulties which are somewhat acute, it is declared by Dublin correspondents of newspapers here. The complexity of the situation there, owing to the boundary question, railroad, and postponement of the annunciation of the Gaelic League of Ireland, were discussed this morning. Some correspondents declared the Provisional Government would be able to obtain endorsement by the people through a general election, but it would be able to solve the problem before it. "The country's hope," said the correspondent of the London Times, "is based upon Michael Collins' proposal for a discussion of constitution by parliamentary representatives of all Ireland. He and others, however, evidently think there is little likelihood that this suggestion will bear fruit. Disorder and lawlessness is increasing in Western and Southern Ireland and extremists are being delayed. The newspaper of the country is disappointed with the failure of the provisional administration to make a broad and swift move to adopt vigorous action against the railwaymen, and matters are not likely to mend until the Gov-

Princess's Wedding.

BRIDAL DRESS EMBLEMATIC OF THE EMPIRE. Princess Mary's wedding gown will be emblematic of the whole Empire. Ex-soldiers and sailors of the War Services Legion Guild of Sailor and Soldier Brothers are at present hard at work on the wonderful border of silver embroidery to go round the train, which will be of lustrous ivory satin on one side and woven from silver thread on the other. The daffodil, the national emblem of Wales, will play its part in the embroidered border. Worked in the shimmering silver threads will also be roses for England, the thistle for Scotland, and the shamrock for Ireland, together with little flowers and leaves representing most of the Dominions. A maple leaf will stand for Canada, a spray of mimosa for Australia, a lotus bud for India, and a fern leaf for New Zealand. It has been decided that Princess Mary's white satin dress will be draped with the very lovely English point lace which beautiful Queen Mary's wedding dress, and those of other Royal brides before her. This lace will be arranged in "waterfalls," which will fall to the hem of the ivory satin gown, and there will also be a piece of the lace falling in straight lines from the shoulders.

Our Air Stamps.

STAMP COLLECTORS' COMMENT.

The following speaks for itself. It is taken from "Stamp Collecting" of date January 14, 1922, the official organ of the Philatelic Congress of Great Britain.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND AIR MAIL FIASCO.

Old Cabot would be turning in his watery (or other) grave if only he could hear of the voyage of exploration to which the 35 cents value of his very own commemorative set of stamps is being subjected. It was reported in a "Stop Press" paragraph in our December 10th number that that particular stamp of Newfoundland had been overprinted "Air Mail 1921 to Halifax, 1921." The actual denomination is most kindly revealed by several esteemed correspondents in Halifax, Nova Scotia, one of whom writes (under date December 12, 1921):

To the Editor of "Stamp Collecting." Dear Sir—I don't want to take up too much of your time or too much of your paper's space, but I wanted to write to you on the subject of the Aerial Mail from Newfoundland and to Halifax. I send you a copy of the official advertisement from the St. John's papers, which may be of interest to you, as you see the aeroplanes are expected to leave about Sunday, the 27th, but actually did not leave 'til nearly a fortnight later, viz, about the 10th instant. It was forced to land so this morning's paper says, on account of engine trouble, and, as it was not possible to put it right at once, they are waiting at Badger, where they came down, about 50 miles from Botwood, for mechanics to arrive from Botwood. They will presumably finish the flight if possible, but they have only progressed a very small part of the way yet. If they arrive and everything seems satisfactory it is proposed to make up a return mail from Halifax. For this mail the postage will be 30c. In addition to the ordinary 4c. made up in current stamps, and there will not be any regular overprint, but presumably there will be a rubber stamp surcharge for the cover as was the case with the Pogo Aerial Mail last spring in Newfoundland.

Appended is the official announcement referred to above.

GENERAL POST OFFICE.

Special Mail by Aeroplane to Halifax. Persons wishing to avail (sic) of the opportunity to forward letter mail to Canada, United States, Great Britain or European Countries by aeroplane will be given an opportunity to do so by a mail which will close at the General Post Office on Saturday evening, the 26th of November, at 9 o'clock.

The mail will be sent by express from St. John's to Botwood (on or about Sunday, the 27th and from Botwood to Halifax by aeroplane. The maximum amount of mail for this special service will be 5,000 1 oz. letters. A special stamp costing 35c. will be affixed to each letter on presentation at the General Post Office wicket after 9 a.m. on the 16th instant.

The Department of Posts and Telegraphs will not be responsible in any particular for the non-delivery of this mail.

W. W. HALFYARD, Minister of Posts & Telegraphs. Nov. 15, 1921.

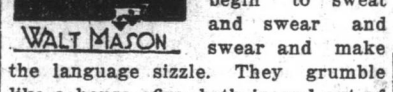

From a correspondent on the staff of the Pacific Cable Board we have the following:—

"The 'Stop Press' notice in No. 426 I append the sequel to the attempted flight and air mail. The plane was to have carried a return mail from Halifax at 35c. per letter but without special overprinted stamps. Sydney, Dec. 18.—That the Newfoundland-Halifax mail flight has been abandoned because Major Cotton broke his arm in attempting to get away from Deer Lake yesterday. The word that reaches the city to-day. According to the report the Major was turning over the propeller preparatory to buzzing off for North Sydney when the machine started with a jerk, throwing the officer several feet in the air breaking his arm and doing other damage. Capt. Bennett will take the machine back to Botwood and the flight will be postponed until next spring.—Halifax Herald, Dec. 19, 1921.

THE HOTHEADS.

We labor at the daily grind, each in his wretched fashion; and some continue mild and kind and some are in a passion. Some workmen cannot fix a chair, or ply a saw or chisel, but they begin to sweat and swear and make the language sizzle. They grumble like a house afire, both in and out of season; they're in a chronic state of ire that has no cause or reason. And one such delegate will spoil the ardor of the many, and kill the pep of those who toil at loom or spinning jenny. The hothead is a total loss, and none admires his capers; we're not astonished when the boss gives him his walking papers. How different the quiet gent! No stormy wrath delays him; he calmly strives to earn the cent that his employer pays him. Side-stepping noise and fuss and strife, he draws his weekly money, and gives a nickel to his wife to make her days more sunny. Whatever the tool that he may ply, a corkscrew or a spanner, he wields it with a beaming eye, in most efficient manner. Then comes the boss, some pleasant day, and says, "I, Ruden Smitker, we add nine kopecks to your pay, for you're a dandy worker. Your influence is mighty fine, you do no useless waiting; you keep the other boys in line, and harmony's prevailing."

WALT MASON

I know that there will always be speculation in stamps, but the above seem to be cases where speculation is encouraged, and even aided, by post office officials, and once this sort of thing becomes a regular practice it is good-bye to stability of value in stamps, and but a short way to that low philatelic morality which at present holds in some countries. Yours truly, ALLAN S. MARTIN.

P.S.—[12]21. We have had quite a blizzard in the night and the snow lies pretty thick. If they have had this in Newfoundland it will not lighten their difficulties.A.S.M.

EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA IN EUROPE!

The most illustrious Personage of the World has just succumbed to its dreadful attacks. This dreadful epidemic is now reported in New York, where it is making daily progress, with the same fatal results as in 1918. Municipal, provincial and federal Health authorities in Canada advise to use the utmost care so as to prevent the eventual infection of our country. Be extremely careful.

There is only one remedy and that is DR. J. O. LAMERT'S SYRUP which was recommended by medical authorities and rendered unequalled service during the appalling epidemic of 1918. A strong dose morning and evening will prevent such attacks. Do not delay, get a bottle immediately. Let every one in the Home use it daily. Prevention is better and cheaper than cure.

An Open Letter to the Housewives of St. John's.

Dear Madam:— Of course all members of your family like Beans, and perhaps you would serve the canned variety more often if you could be absolutely certain they were prepared with the same regard for cleanliness you would observe in your own home.

Let me tell you the story of Libby's Beans as I saw them packed in our mammoth plant at Chatham, Ont., a few weeks ago:—

The Beans used are Canadian grown, unequalled for flavor and appearance, and until ready for processing are stored in light, dry chambers into which no rust nor mildew can penetrate. From this room they are carried through chutes to long endless belts, lined on both sides by girls in white uniforms, who pick out by hand all broken and spotted beans, or foreign substance of any kind. The beans are then thoroughly washed in running water to remove all dust, etc., after which they enter the first cooker and remain there for twenty minutes in live steam, which swells and prepares them for the final cooking.

From this they pass through automatic filling machines which deposit one pound of beans in each can, together with just the proper quantity of Libby's celebrated Tomato Sauce to give them the delightful "tang" you like.

In each can is placed a hand cut cube of choicest pig pork, and the cans are then capped and proceed to large retorts where for two hours the beans are cooked in live steam.

After the beans are properly cooked, the cans are passed through a water bath to test for leaks, then to the labelling machines to receive the well known white and blue label, after which they are cased and are ready for shipment to the six Libby branches served by this factory.

Except for the hand picking operation before washing, Libby's Beans are not touched by human fingers during the entire process, and every machine used is carefully cleaned and sterilized when the day's pack is finished. Libby's Beans are thoroughly cooked, but not crushed in the process, and when you open the can you find nearly every bean in perfect shape.

Order one can from your grocer and serve for tea to-night, and I think you will agree with me that Libby's Beans are without an equal.

Sincerely yours, E. G. PITMAN.

A Significant Letter.

The News, this morning, published a letter from the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Bond, on the Humber proposition, or "Reid Deal," as it is commonly called.

"I know not what the policy of the Government may be; but if it should approve a measure such as that which has been under review by you and your correspondents, then, I see a situation as grave as the unwisdom of a leader and the strength of a party in the House of Assembly are able to produce; and I would appeal to the Government to pause before they pass a measure which may strike a fatal blow at the independence and autonomy of our country.

Obituary.

JAMES H. MONROE. The passing of Mr. J. H. Monroe at the age of 83, which occurred yesterday afternoon removed from amongst us one of the most prominent men in the industrial life of the community. Mr. Monroe was the pioneer of the rope-making industry in Newfoundland, and through his efforts and determination the Colonial Cordage Company was made one of the most substantial industries in Newfoundland.

Here and There.

OUTERBRIDGE, Sec.-Treasurer. Delighted With Picture. The steady advance of science has made the eye an open book. These revelations have been described by word and pen. But it remained for the moving picture film to tell the story of the eye in its simplest, truest form.

Big Larceny.

MAN CAUGHT WITH GOODS. A broken key left in the lock of the door led to the arrest of Walter Bragg for the larceny of over $500 from the shop of B. W. Butt at Badger Brook. Bragg was arrested to-day at Waterford Bridge by Detective Constable Leo and Constable Russell.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, Feb. 7. Corn Remedies are legion, and for a wonder we have not a new one to offer. But only to remind our readers that in Acme Corn Silk they have a well-nigh perfect corn remedy, one that will take out the corn with the minimum of trouble or worry, and, if used according to directions, do it effectually "root and branch." Price 10 cents a pkg. If you unluckily cut yourself while shaving, have one of our Styptic Pencils at hand. A slight application of the pencil will stop the bleeding instantly. Price 15 cents each.

Hockeyists Complain.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Several complaints have been made to the Hockey League owing to the manner in which the space allotted to the Hockey Clubs at the eastern end of the rink has been occupied by non-players each night a game is on. We would ask these gentlemen in future to kindly discontinue the use of the above section, and oblige. Yours very truly, NPLD. HOCKEY ASSOCIATION. John M. Tobin, Sec.-Treas.

ICE TIMES COMING BACK.
The Indoor Championship Ice Skating Meet under the management of the Prince's Rink takes place on Saturday evening next, the 14th inst. Judging by reports received to date it is predicted to be a large attendance will be present for the year 1922. Taking into consideration that the meet as arranged carries away the Championship honors for the various skating events, the event is all the more interesting. A remarkably large number of aspirants to the Championship are taking part in view of the fact that more than one dark will share in the honors. The Prince's Rink can boast of many skaters. Nightly they can be seen before and after general skating on their blades at a lively pace. Should the wise ones at the rink think they have any of those fellows they are really keen.

Curlers' Memorial Day, February 15th, 1922.
Everyone appears interested and glad to note that at last something is about to be done to reach the objective required by Rev. Fr. Nangle. The Curlers are taking the matter up in real earnest, and not only the Curlers but the City in general. Fr. Nangle and Secretary Salter met a royal reception yesterday all over town and the Padre wishes to thank citizens generally for their kindly co-operation. Continuing the list of donations for the grand auction which takes place on the evening of the 15th, with the C.L.B. Band playing to a tired crowd just before the auction starts. It will be indeed a grand finale and curlers agree to give it their entire support and this counts for everything. The following donations have been received since yesterday, viz:—2 suits of Clothes, 2 Overcoats, 6 Army & Navy Oil Coats, 2 barrels of Flour, 1 box of Cigars, Lynchs Bread in parcels, Station Hat, Riverside Woollen Blankets, 1 Ham, 1 pr. Rubber Boots, 1 Ivory Handle Walking Stick, local made, 3 prs. of Boots, gentlemen and ladies, 3 fresh Salmon, 1 Copper Kettle, 1 Case of Salmon, 1 Tub of Butter, Electrical Device, 3 pipes, 1 barrel of Spare Ribs, 1 pr. of Wool Nap Blankets, 2 qts. of Codfish done up in 1/4 qts. each, Camping Outfit, 5 barrels of Turnips, 1 Dunhill Pipe, 1 Mackinaw Coat and other donations. The Curlers Memorial Committee thank the curlers sincerely for their heart for their kindly expression of sympathy towards this great movement and it gives the Committee new vigor to go further to help Fr. Nangle realize his objective. Only $15,000.00 are wanted in this city to erect that great Memorial to those heroes that have proved themselves "better than the best." What are we going to do about it? The Curlers have taken up the torch with Fr. Nangle and are going to keep it well oiled and full blaze until midnight of the 15th, when the grand result will be made known. Watch the result on the 15th. Still continue to be up, and don't be short.

The Irish Race at Work.
The Irish Race Congress at Paris was called long before the settlement with Great Britain. Its intention was undoubtedly to stir up international feeling in favor of Ireland and to set flowing new streams of anti-English propaganda. Events have since made these purposes appear belated and proceeding just the same. De Valera is already in Paris, and a fine body of irreconcilables will be present. They will represent what must now be called the oratorical Irishmen, as against the working Irishmen. What Ireland to-day needs is not flamboyant rhetoric, but practical advice from her leaders and hard work. Whether in Paris or Dublin or New York, sensible Irishmen must be aware that the final test of their capacity to govern themselves is now upon them. It is of no use to make eloquent speeches about Ireland's historic wrongs or to dilate with emotion upon the great things which the race would do if only freed from British fetters. Freedom has come, and if it is to be made of any avail must be accompanied by good sense and abundant labor. The only Irish Race Congress which the world will honor, or long remember, is not the one in Paris but the one in Dublin. The Irish die-hards and blow-hards in the French capital will be of little consequence compared with the Irish work-hards in the capital of the Irish Free State.—New York Times.

Medley From the South.
A pourtrait of popular plantation songs arranged for male voices. This is one of the numbers that will be given by the St. John's Octette on Thursday night at the Methodist College Hall. The members of the Octette consider this number one of the best items on their programme. People who have been perched far from the sun in the rehearsal are far from unanimous in their opinion. Where there are so many good things it is hard to come to a decision. All music lovers will have an opportunity to judge for themselves on Thursday night. There are a few more reserved seats at Mr. E. V. Chesman's, Water Street.

PLANE LANDS ON MURRAY'S POND—AEROPLANES AND THE SEAL-FISHERY.
Two sealing agents, Mr. H. R. Brookes of Job Bros., and Mr. A. Donnelly of Baine Johnston & Co., made a flight with Major Cotton in the Martynside machine yesterday afternoon. A landing was made on Murray's Pond.
SEALING AGENTS GO UP.
As the day was a perfect one for flying, Major Cotton decided to go up for a test flight. He invited Messrs. Brookes and Donnelly to go with him as passengers and he also attempted to get in touch with Mr. E. A. Bowring. The last named was, however, staying at Murray's Pond. Major Cotton decided to go to Murray's Pond and pick up Mr. Bowring. During the flight Mr. Brookes wrote a letter to Mr. Bowring. Arriving over the pond, the pilot decided to come down, and made a perfect landing. Upon enquiry, however, it was discovered that Mr. Bowring was not there. There return to town was then made, the plane circling over the city before coming down.

GETTING WESTLAND READY.
During the flight a height of 2,500 feet was attained. The parts of the Westland machine, consisting of carburetors and struts, are now at Bowwood, and the plane is being rapidly repaired and will be ready for use shortly.
AEROPLANES AND THE SEAL-FISHERY.
Mr. H. R. Brookes told the Telegram that there was no doubt about the ability of observers in an aeroplane to discover seals on an ice-floe. In fact, on a day like yesterday, they could easily be seen with glasses from a distance of 15 or 20 miles. He had always been satisfied that with proper organization, aeroplanes could be of incalculable benefit in discovering the whereabouts of the seals. He did not think there was the slightest danger of the sealing industry dying out as there would always be a demand for the products of that industry. He thought that if aeroplanes were used in connection with the seal fishery, the best plan would be to have small planes on each steamer, and a larger machine operating from a base. Mr. Donnelly expressed similar views. He was amazed at the visibility which was excellent. He was sure that aeroplanes would be of great benefit in finding the main patch of seals. The only difficulty experienced would be that the ships might not be able to get to the seals on account of heavy ice.

Useless Work.
Making a litter to have more work cleaning it up, is exemplified in the snow shovelling now being done by a gang of men on Duckworth Street, opposite the Court House. The snow is being removed from a walk that is scarcely ever used and is being piled out on the street. It will take at least three days to get all the snow out, and should provide another six days' work putting it back again.

What She Really Said.
As showing how easy it is to misunderstand an overheard phrase, and consequently how wise were our lawmakers in ruling out hearsay evidence, Superintendent Wensley, the newly appointed Chief Detective for London, tells the following story.
A wife addressing her husband let fall a remark which three people overheard, or rather they imagined they did.
Said the first: "They must have been to the Zoo, because I heard her mention 'a trained deer'."
"No, no!" said the second. "They were talking about going away, and she said to him, 'Find out about the train, dear.'"
Said the third: "I think you are both wrong. It seemed to me they were discussing music, for she said, 'A trained ear very distinctly.'"
A few minutes later the lady herself appeared, and they told her of their disagreement.
"Well," she laughed, "that's certain funny. You are poor guessers, all of you. The fact is, I'd been down in the factory overnight and I was asking my husband if it rained here last evening."

Edgar Guest Poems by Radio.
SURPRISE TO POET.
They are picking Edgar A. Guest's verse out of the air now.
In January the Victor Talking Machine Company released the first of a series of Guest Victor Records, on which was recorded the poet's own voice, reciting three of his most famous poems, "It Couldn't Be Done," "Me and the Auto," and "Wait Till Your Pa Comes Home." The record was an instantaneous success and is selling daily the country over.
Early in January Mr. Guest received a letter from Mr. G. E. Reynolds, Editor of the Stockton Record, in which he said, "I find I cannot rest until I have told you how good it has seemed to us all to hear your voice reproduced from the Victor record. The next best thing to having you with us is to hear you speak to us out of the Victrola. This evening (Jan. 3) we are going to radiate the sound of your voice throughout the West. The Stockton Record has installed one of the most powerful radio outfits on the Pacific Coast. The radio-phonograph is located on the third floor of the Record Building and the aerial is placed on the roof. Every afternoon from 4 to 4.30 o'clock we give a half hour of news service. Every Tuesday and Friday evenings from 8 to 9 o'clock and every Sunday afternoon from 2 to 3 we give a concert, usually from Victor phonograph records but frequently by well known artists.
"Splendid reports come to us from wireless enthusiasts who have been 'listening in' at distant points. They tell us that we are very Q.S.A. (loud and clear) at points as far distant as Vancouver, Los Angeles, San Diego, Denver, Salt Lake, Seattle and Walla Walla, Wash., and Portland, Ore. So you see, you will have an 'extended' audience when your voice goes out through the ether to-night."
On the same day Mr. Guest received a report from Radio 7 Z U, at Polytechnic, Montana which said, "We heard your voice Q. S. A. (loud and clear) here about 10 o'clock to-night (Jan. 3). Copied your poems O.K., but was not sure of call letters. Please verify this and send us your story. Did you use a portable wireless telephone?"
Another operator, Hubert H. Coats, 18 James Street, Santa Cruz, Cal., writes, "Was tuning up for a local concert and accidentally ran onto you about 375 meters at 8.50 p.m. Jan. 3 (San Francisco time). Heard last part of poem but lost you about 9 p.m. You were very Q. S. A., but faded out at 9 p.m.—I was using a single detector tube and honeycombs when I picked you up."
All of this was a complete surprise to "The Poet That All America Reads," and without the knowledge of the Victor people.
"And that's how it happens that they are picking Edgar Guest's poems out of the air."

Spectacular Hockey.

FEILDANS DEFEAT ST. BON'S IN FAST GAME—SPLENDID INDIVIDUAL PLAY—3000 SPECTATORS—GOVERNOR PRESENT.

The Feildans defeated the St. Bon's by 8 goals to 6 in last night's game, which was the fastest and most spectacular for the season. What was probably the largest number of spectators that ever attended a local hockey game, was present, and long before the start, the rink was filled to overflowing. His Excellency the Governor and suite occupied the Director's Box. The game was remarkable more for the excellent individual play exhibited, more than anything else. While team work was more in evidence than in former games, there was room for improvement in this direction. Organized "rooters" for both sides raised a deafening clamor during the game. The boys from Bishop Feild College and St. Bon's College turned out in large numbers to urge on the old boys of their schools to greater efforts.

GREAT GOALTENDING.

The work of both goalkeepers was excellent and both Hunt and Halley well deserved the applause which their great saving called forth. Nix was always in readiness and at one time was prepared to defend his goal with half a stick, but a new one was handed him before he could test the remnants of his old one. Halley had not the experience of the Feildian goalie and was not quite prepared for some of the tricky shots which got past him, but nevertheless there was little fault to be found with his play. He should, however, remain in his goal more than he does.

GOOD STICKHANDLING.

For the Feildians, Tait played the best game of his life and showed form reminiscent of the days when he was playing for the school. His stickhandling was a treat to watch, and his defence work contributed largely to the success of his team. Ewing was responsible for some well placed goals and he appeared to be the hardest worker on the Feildian team. Payn was also in good form, and Rendell and Winter did excellent work. Callahan, Muir, Cahill and Phelan were the mainstays of the St. Bon's. Callahan's stick handling was very tricky and pretty to watch. Cahill worked very hard from start to finish and his efforts were often successful in helping his side to score. Muir was another hard worker and several times broke through his opponents defence, although his attempts to score did not come off. Phelan was the star of the St. Bon's. His fast skating and excellent stick handling combined with a powerful shot, resulted in several goals for his team. With a little more weight behind him he would be the best man on the ice this year. Jack Higgins got in some fine stickhandling during the second period. Judged by previous games this season, far too many men had to be penalized, and several more should have been sent to the fence. This tends to spoil the game and it is to be hoped that cleaner play will characterize all future games.

FAST PLAY FROM START.

Sharp at 7.30, Referee Jack Tobin started the game. From the beginning, play was very fast. In fact, so hot was the pace at the opening, that it was apparent it could not be maintained throughout. The puck was brought from goal to goal in quick succession. Following a mix-up, Phelan was sent to the boards for two minutes, but despite his absence, St. Bon's opened the scoring through Cahill, who took the puck down the boards and sent a non-stop in to Nix. Soon afterwards, Winter was sent to cool his heels in the penalty box, and while he was off the ice, Tait secured the puck near the St. Bon's goal and scored. Following the centre, Cahill had a good try but was robbed of the disc near the Feildian goal, and Tait and Payn had a combined try at the St. Bon's net. Winter next stick-handled through but Halley rushed out on him and brought off an excellent save. Jack Higgins then skated through the Feildian defence but Nix was too good for him. The Feildians took the lead soon after, when Ewing beat Halley after getting the disc from a puck-off near the St. Bon's goal. Three minutes from the end of the period, Ewing obtained the puck in the mid ice and brought it through the opposing defence, placing it behind Halley for the Feildian's third goal. Before the end of the period Callahan was penalized for slashing. No further goals resulted. In the play was not quite so fast. Three minutes from the start, Tait made a spectacular dash through and succeeded in finding the net. With a majority of three goals against them the St. Bon's urged themselves to greater efforts and Nix was given a hot few minutes. Following play near the Feildian goal, the disc came off Tait's stick, and entered the net, making the St. Bon's second score. Shortly after this Payn was sent off for two minutes, but celebrated his return by scoring from a fine wing shot after ten minutes play. A few minutes later he was again sent to the fence and was followed there by Rendell. There was no further scoring during the period, although Higgins made several good attempts.

-3-

EXCITING PLAY.

Almost as soon as the puck was centred at the commencement of the third period, Harold Rendell was sent to the box for a minor infringement of the rules. The St. Bon's for a time surrounded the Feildian goal and Phelan finally beat Hunt with a long shot. Soon afterwards, Cahill went right through and scored the St. Bon's fourth goal. At this juncture, Payn and Tait who had been taking a rest, were let loose and soon Payn got through and scored. Just over a minute later he again went through, and this time, put both puck and goaler into the net. Soon after, Ewing was given a two minutes rest, and while he was off, Phelan went down ice, and again beat Nix with a long shot. With the score 7-5 in the Feildians' favour, St. Bon's renewed their efforts but could not penetrate their opponents' defence. Payn went off for two minutes, but despite this, the Feildians added another goal to their score, and two minutes later Higgins closed the scoring for the game with a well placed shot which was too much for Nix. Two more penalties were awarded before the game closed, Rendell and Callahan getting two minutes each. Several good efforts were made by both teams, to no avail, and the final goal, with the Feildians victorious by 8 to 6.

Preparations for Royal Wedding.

LONDON, (Associated Press).—Arrangements for Princess Mary's wedding to Viscount Lascelles at Westminster Abbey the last week in February are beginning to take form. The Lord Chamberlain, the Duke of Atholl, has been commissioned by the King to draw up a sketch of the proposed ceremonial and the State Chamberlain, Sir Douglas Dawson, will prepare the program. The sending out of 2,000 invitations is the task of the Ceremonial Department at St. James' Palace. A fortnight's notice is usually considered sufficient for such occasions. The King and Queen, as a rule invite personally their own relatives from abroad. Not all the guests at Westminster Abbey will be able to see the wedding ceremony. The choir and the transepts will be set apart for the royal family, the diplomatic corps, personal friends of the Viscount and Princess, and the members of the royal households and suites. The others will have to be content with a view of the procession. The wedding will be solemnized by the Archbishop of Canterbury, or in his absence, by the Archbishop of York. A wedding reception will probably be held in the ballroom at Buckingham Palace, at which the famous royal gold plate service will be displayed. The confectionary for all the state functions is made by the confectioners at the Palace and it is presumed they will make the wedding cake.

Annual Meeting

ST. GEORGE'S COAL FIELDS, LTD., OLD BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTED EN BLOC.

There was a very large attendance at the annual meeting of the shareholders in the St. George's Coal Fields, Ltd. held in the Board of Trade Rooms last night. The President, Mr. J. J. St. John, occupied the chair, and called the meeting to order at 8.15. The Secretary-Treasurer read the minutes and submitted the financial statement. The latter showed that expenditures had been made with the utmost economy, being nearly all spent in development work. A short resume of what had been accomplished for the year was then given. Mr. Freeman's visit to England in connection with placing the property on the market showed that he had met with considerable success, and that in the spring of the year a large company will send out engineers to make an examination with a view to operating on an extensive scale. Mr. Freeman's visit to the U.S.A. and Canada had likewise good results. In dealing with the development work the report showed that in June last operations on the Barachois River section were resumed. The Furlong seam, which showed 21 inches of coal at the outcrop, was driven on for 180 ft., showing an average of from 2 to 3

ft. of coal. Several pits were also dug on the surface of the seam and in one place a five foot seam of clean coal was exposed. Up to the present 15 separate coal seams have been opened up, and according to the latest scientific information seven of them gave a total width of 25.10 inches, and are well within the range of workable seams. They are:

|              |       |   |   |
|--------------|-------|---|---|
| Howley       | ..... | 4 | 2 |
| Clearly      | ..... | 2 | 2 |
| Jukes        | ..... | 5 | 6 |
| Furlong      | ..... | 3 | 0 |
| Murray No. 1 | ..... | 3 | 3 |
| Murray No. 2 | ..... | 5 | 4 |
| Tom Diamond  | ..... | 2 | 6 |

The Murray seam has been traced over a distance of 7 miles, and where it has been opened up at the outcroppings the seam showed from 4 feet 5 inches to 7 feet of clean coal. The report was received with applause. Mr. J. T. Meaney in moving its adoption, complimented the executive on their showing. He said he was aware that the difficult times of last year made it almost impossible for the directors to negotiate the sale of the property. This ratifying influence was felt the world over, and could be seen in our own country when one of our largest enterprises failed to carry on owing to the stringency of the money market, and had to seek relief from the Government. As the St. George's Coal Co. depended entirely on the goodwill of the people he regretted that certain statements made semi-officially had been prejudicial. The promises made by the Government to the St. George's Coal Co. (unfulfilled) caused the company to lose a lot of working capital, as the directors assuming that the promises would be carried out withdrew the stock from the market. Mr. Meaney said, however, that he did not believe that there was any deliberate intention on the part of the Government to deceive, but it was rather that the spokesman of the Government was persuaded by certain interests to assist financially in the working of other areas that did not contain coal in commercial quantities. The speaker said he believed that the clouds of depression were passing, and that by putting their shoulders to the wheel this year would see the success of the venture. Mr. Freeman in reply to several questions re cancelling the sale of shares, stated that the Government at that time promised financial assistance, and $500,000 was voted by the Legislature to develop the West Coast coal areas. Mr. Coaker was quoted as saying that the St. George's coal property was too valuable an asset to allow it to fall into the hands of foreign capitalists.

Mr. Freeman also mentioned the visit to the coal fields made by several eminent geologists, neither of whom could understand why they were not being worked.

Messrs O'Reilly, Robinson, James

Hamlin, Barter and Moore also took part in the debate. Mr. Meaney's motion for adoption of the report was seconded by Mr. C. T. James. The election of officers then took place, the old directors, with the exception of Hon. D. A. Ryan, being re-elected on motion of Mr. J. Dee, seconded by Mr. C. T. James. Mr. Ryan, who is absent from the country, resigned his position on the Board, and his place was filled by Mr. J. J. Duff, on motion of Mr. J. T. Meaney seconded by Mr. P. J. Shea. The election of officers was conducted by Mr. J. Robinson and P. Berrigan. The officers for 1922 are as follows:—

President—J. J. St. John.
Sec.-Treas.—T. J. Freeman.
Directors—F. Hamlin, Wm. Campbell, J. A. Hiscock, J. J. Duff, Capt. E. English, sr.

After the usual votes of thanks were passed President J. J. St. John addressing the meeting expressed his confidence in the successful outcome of the undertaking. There was, he said, no question at all about the quantity of coal present, and the rumors that the seams petered out or ended abruptly were without foundation. In fact, he said, that the further the development went the more valuable the property became, and instead of the seams narrowing they increased as they were uncovered. Regarding the depth of which the coal measures descended that no man could tell. So far as the trial shafts had gone the indications were satisfactory. As yet there had been no drill on the property. Mr. St. John, a description of which had been on a visit to the mine, was given by Mr. Berrigan. He said that though he had no personal knowledge, yet as an ordinary individual, with eyes to see, he was convinced that the St. George's property contained an enormous quantity of coal. From his personal investigation and means of figuring he calculated that one seam of coal contained not less than 9 million tons. He said, however, he said, to satisfy himself that all he could spare in the time. The meeting closed at 11 p.m., after which a large number of shares were disposed of. The intention of the directors was an additional sum of $10,000 sale of shares for further development work.

Unemployed Men

EXECUTIVE WILL NOT DISMISS 900 MEN ENGAGED ON WORK.

Although the unemployment situation has been somewhat improved, it was decided by an unanimous vote at last night's meeting of the Executive Board, that the Executive should stand by the men who were engaged on the work. It was announced that 100 more would be employed when the quarrying up next week. Full authority was given to those who were not employed, who were granted in the committee who will give this matter attention to-day.

Mercantile Hockey

The excellent coal-tending Sacrey of the Hardware was the Groceries and Hardware department. Messrs. Bowring Bros. played at the Prince's Rink. The Hardware team won by 8 to 0. Of the goals obtained by the team, Gordon Moore scored two, and the other three were scored by the goalkeeper, who was in form. There is some promise for the League would be well kept an eye on them.

Loss of the Barque

CREW LANDED AT BIRD'S BAY.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs Baird Ltd., owners of the Barque, received the following message from Capt. R. Wakeham:—The Ship abandoned, expect to find the crew on the beach. The message received by Messrs Baird Ltd. was received by Messrs. Bowring Bros. Lloyd's Agents at last. In the message the vessel's name was spelled incorrectly, which left some doubt about the ship's identity.

Road de Luxe

Yesterday afternoon a further improvement was made in the Road de Luxe was held before Judge Magistrates Court, Mr. J. L. the Municipal Council took and was examined by Mr. ter. The cross examination was by Higgins, K.C., on Court up to 5.30 when adjournment was taken until the afternoon.

SUCCESS OF TANLAC DUE TO MERIT ALONE

Personal Recommendation of Celebrated Medicine by Persons It Has Restored to Health Is the Chief Reason for Its Tremendous Sale.

It is a day passes but what thousands of people ask the question: "Why do we hear so much of Tanlac?" The answer to these questions is not difficult. Nature's medicine, is a wonderful Reconstructive Tonic and Purifier. It is purely vegetable and made from the most beneficial herbs and barks known to medicine. The medicinal properties are taken up by the system, stimulating and assisting the stomach in converting the food into nourishing elements that build up tissue strength. There is probably a large portion of the body that is benefited by the helpful action of this remarkable medicine. Besides being purified and strengthened by Tanlac, is toned up. It quickly overcomes indigestion, non-assimilation of food, nervousness, headache, general debility and many complaints that are so common to thousands of half sick, depressed and worn.

The system designed primarily for the liver and bowels. At the same time, as stated above, it is a Reconstructive Medicine, for it restores to health any medicine that is not properly assimilated. Food and the thorough elimination of waste products must, therefore, be a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system. Eight per cent. of all diseases originate in the digestive system, or what is more commonly known as indigestion, is not only one of the most prevalent, but is one of the most difficult to treat of all present-day diseases, and has for years baffled the skill of leading specialists. It is almost always followed by a complication of diseases. One of the first is torpid liver with biliousness, followed by headaches, coated tongue, dismy spells, pain in the back, palpitation of the heart, and other distressing symptoms. Soon other organs of the body become involved and various diseases develop and become chronic if not checked in time. The first symptoms of stomach disorders, such as gas, sourness, constipation, foul breath, fullness after eating, pains in the stomach, headache, tired-out feeling, lack of energy, should be the signal for prompt and decisive action.

Tens of thousands of men and women, of all ages and in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach and liver disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have been fully restored to the enjoyment of perfect health by taking Tanlac. Tens of thousands have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by Tanlac after other remedies had failed, but many of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight along with their return to normal health and strength.

That is the reason Tanlac continues, year after year, to have the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Getting Ready for Fishery.

Southwest Coast Bankers Make Preparation for Fishery which opens early in April.

The Banking masters of Grand Bank, Burn and Fortune are now making preparations to resume this fishery, and will sail early in April with their first baiting. The outlook is regarded as very hopeful, especially in view of the fact that the Newfoundland stocks of dry fish will be all cleared out by that time, with perhaps the exception of a few hundred quintals of West India fish.

The price in the Oporto market is expected to rule high by that time, as although there is a large quantity of fish there now, and more going forward, the late Lenten demand is expected to clean up all the stocks in that market. The reduced cost of fishery outfit this season will make conditions more attractive, and well made fish (now) is expected to have a local value of at least seven dollars a quintal next June.

We understand that three or four business men of the South-West Coast have been obliged to go out of the supply business, owing to reverses in fish transactions the past two years. Mr. S. Harris and the Margistown Trading Co., however, we understand, will carry on as usual, and this means the supplying of a large number of crews. Now that restrictions have been taken off fish shipments, the South-West Coast has a good chance of regaining its old time status of prosperity next season, in the event of a good fishery.—Trade Review.

Dock Riots at Liverpool, Placentia Welcomes An Honored Son.

The dock labourers of Liverpool, who had struck work, being reinforced by a large body of sailors and a considerable number of roughs, marched on February 7, 1879, to the Waterloo Dock, and maltreated the non-strike hands. They then rushed to the ship "Edwimense" and threatened to throw the labourers into the dock if they resumed work, and afterwards attacked the steamer "Victoria," on board of which were some Bristol men, who prudently retired below and secured themselves from violence. Eventually the mob was driven into the roadway by the police, and the dock gates were closed. Demonstrations of an equally formidable nature were made during the day at the other docks, and there was some danger of a night attack, which was fortunately averted by the excellent arrangement of the police, who could be massed to the number of five or six hundred at any one point on very short notice. On the 8th the military were called out; a detachment of the 5th Dragoon Guards patrolled the roads outside the docks, while a company of the 11th Regiment were stationed at the Collingwood Docks. Additional troops arrived in the course of the afternoon, until Liverpool assumed the appearance of a city occupied by an invading force. These prompt measures had the effect of checking disorders; in fact, at the various mass meetings held by the men their leaders urged them to refrain from violence and to behave as became good citizens. On the Monday there was no renewal of the disturbances, but the total number of men who were idle was estimated at from fifty to sixty thousand, including clock-makers, sailors, firemen, coalheavers, boiler-makers and engineers. Gradually the air cleared; the steamship owners whose vessels were unable to leave the port, offered arbitration, which was first refused and then referred to delegates, who recommended to the men the acceptance of the owners' ultimatum, which offered a conscientious examination of the whole question of labour and time, and by the end of the month the strike was over.

Storms Kill Fishes.

Fish are very susceptible to changes of temperature. A hot summer has often been known for instance, to drive herrings to find cooler waters farther afield.

Some years ago, a fearful storm raged along the coast of North-east America. After it had subsided, the sea was strewn with millions of fish, a fish like the cod, but attaining a weight of 50 pounds or more.

A vessel was sent out to discover the cause of the strange phenomenon. It ploughed straight ahead for 150 miles, and estimated that an area of 5,000 square miles was covered with dead fishes. It was discovered that the storm had brought icebergs in its train, and the consequent great cold had proved too much for the fish, accustomed as they were to warmer waters.

The cod has an objection to sudden changes of climate, and if in colder water than that to which it is accustomed, will be numbed.

Experiments have been tried to acclimatise English salmon in Tasmania, but the difference in temperatures has caused those experiments to fail.

Congers and pilchards have died from cold off the Cornish coast, and the once plentiful herring has never been seen in the shallow waters of Cornwall since a violent easterly gale blew in 1879.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE LORDS OF THE HIGHWAY.

Once upon a time every small boy of my acquaintance, and I presume of yours, wanted to be either a fireman, or a policeman, or a president, or something commensurate with that. To-day I have been convinced that three-fourths of the population under ten have as their ideal that there is on-going position that could satisfy their ambition. The position of the gentleman stands at the head of the parade, the absolute monarch of all he surveys, who controls haughty limousines and fancy fivers and overbrackets, all with a single wave of his gilded hand—in plain language, the traffic cop.

The Traffic Cop.

You ever see a small boy who passes up a good chance to stand crossroad and solemnly beckon passing machines? Nor are boys the only ones. It is my impression that I have sometimes seen men boys take a hand at the game.

Has he lived in our day how bold he has enjoyed descending his throne to don the uniform of that who bids the waves of traffic still and is obeyed! His encounter with other that are not so obedient might seem a little if he had not given his authority out of his system in

A Slight Seldom Seen.

And, speaking of obedience, reminds me of one boon that the traffic cop confers upon womankind other than making the road safe for pedestrians. I mean the boon of seeing their husbands in a meek and apologetic mood. I heard two women discussing this experience the other day.

"I could hardly believe it was John," said one of them, "when I heard him say, 'Yes, Officer, my mistake. I'll be more careful.' It was the first time I had heard him admit making a mistake since we were married."

"You should have heard Peter," said the other. "I really thought the officer beckoned him on, but when Peter started the officer jumped on him. I thought Peter would sass him back but he just said, 'I'm sorry, Officer, as meek as Moses.'"

Speaking of Moses, I wonder if it will seem awfully irreverent if I say that whenever I see an especially fine looking, commanding traffic cop holding up his hand to stay the sea of traffic while the pedestrians get safe to the other side, and then majestically beckoning it on, I think of Moses and the Red Sea.

Does Someone Bess Him Around?

Sometimes I wonder what the traffic cop is like at home. Does he say "Do this," and she doeth it, to his wife? Does he motion his little boy out of the room with one wave of his hand? Or does the lady of the house commend him as absolutely perfect for his work? It would be fun to peep in on them and see, wouldn't it?

And now, lest I seem to be speaking

The Robin.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the robin seen by a correspondent of the Daily News, Feb. 1st, this is an additional proof that these birds do not migrate in winter. I saw them in February last winter in Whitlow's trees, Monkstown Road, and Mr. R. B. Job wrote me at the same time saying that he had seen them in his grounds at Rostellan—quite a flock—several times in January and February. Mr. P. J. O'Reilly of Ashlea Place, near Smithville, informed me to-day, when he read the item of "Citizen" in the Daily News, that it was no stranger to him, as he had seen robins in small flocks in his trees on several of the fine days in January. He believes that they retire to the distant thick woods in the extremely cold and stormy weather. Mr. T. Harris believes that the birds that remain here in winter are a distinct class from the robins that migrate.

Temporary Only.

Three days work per week at Bell Island is not looked upon very favorably by some of our unemployed. They claim that the returns from this work will not be sufficient to keep a man's family and pay the cost of his residence on the Island. There are scores of men in the other places of the district who will accept the offer, and there is very little doubt but that the number of men required will readily avail of the chance to take the work over. Evidently this is the best that can be done in the nature of employment, and it must not be forgotten that this work is only for relief and is not expected to be on as large a scale as it would be if the company were opening up in its ordinary course.—Harbor Grace Standard.

Bring Us Your Upholstering NOW!

Don't wait until Spring opens, because then you may have to wait for some considerable time before we can fill your order. Now—in the dull season we can give special and prompt attention to your needs, whether for some comfortable "tub" chairs, a really delightful Chesterfield, or some old favorites you would like renovated.

We have beautiful Upholstering fabrics that will charm you, we have workmen who are cunning masters of their craft, and we guarantee you promptness, efficiency and reasonable prices.
