ODDS AND ENDS.

BY "ACADIA."

The editor of the "Stamp World" would have us believe that he is a very independent sort of fellow. He says in an article concerning the coming election of a secretary for the A. P. A., "we never yet supported a man for any office who asked us for our vote, &c." Now isn't Mr. John M. Hubbard somewhat inconsistent when he takes such a stand? Has he never asked support for his little paper with the big name? Does he never solicit patronage for his stock in trade? Has he never canvassed collectors for matter for his Journal? The "genial John" as he very modestly styles himself in his editorial notes would soon find himself and his paper "in the consomme" if he neglected to hustle around as usual for what he wants. Manly independence is always admirable but I fail to see the difference between asking in a straightforward manner for what you want or in getting another party to do it for you. Of the two ways I certainly prefer the former. Mr. Hubbard's mode of working up support for Bradt, savors much more strongly of the "appealing" character than does Mr. Walton's plain, businesslike card. A few more such notes as Mr. Hubbard's in a few more such papers as the "Stamp World" would certainly do much to make Mr. Walton's election secure.

Isn't it about time Mr. J. R. Hooper adopted a new "Nom-de-plume" as he seems to have such an everlasting stock of—will we say "hash"? For that is the only term which I can apply to it as it seems to contain a little of everything and not much of anything. In his advocacy of the Hill side of the question as to whom the honor of inventing adhesive stamps is due, he reminds me very forcibly of a boy who had located a hornets nest and could not resist the temptation to give it a little poke and then lay back while the inmates turned out "looking for blood." He certainly should know when to stop or should at least leave such men as Wolsieffer and Davidson alone unless he is one of those who do not know when they have got enough.

Capt. C. A. Coolidge's article in the November "American Philatelist" while only a page and a half in length offers more material for reflection than many an entire volume. The very pertinent heading of the article is enough to make any intelligent or advanced collector consider "Are stamps increasing in value." He tells us that he began a comparison of Scott's Catalogue with his 1889 or latest issue, and found contrary to his supposition that very many stamps issued previous to the first named date are much cheaper to-day than twenty years ago. At first sight this does seem very strange and can only be accounted for by the increased interest taken in stamp collecting in recent years, which has resulted in the resurrection of millions of old stamps which would otherwise have been almost totally lost. Ten years ago dealers would scarcely pay enough for parcels of old stamps to make it worth the trouble of any one to look them up, while now we find every large dealer and hundreds of would-be dealers offering large prices for the old issues of almost every country except a few of the European nations. As an instance of the results of this system of advertising I might mention the case of a friend of mine who inserted a small advertisement in one of the weeklies of this country for some months. Within a year from the time he commenced advertising he had purchased or handled some thousands of the early provincial issues, far more in fact than he thought were in existence. These stamps were fished out of old trunks and dusty garrets mostly by people who knew nothing of the comparative values of the specimens and were only interested in securing the cash they would bring from the purchaser. There is no doubt but the value of scarce stamps will steadily increase as the years roll on. But of the common use varieties there are enough in sight to keep them at a low figure for many years to come. One feature of the stamp business which Capt. Coolidge has not touched upon and which I am sure will be in future the most powerful factor in determining and regulating the value of stamps are the ever increasing stamp auction sales. Any one who buys stamps at auction will find chances at every sale to buy stamps much below regular catalogue rates, often indeed for 25 to 30 per cent of prices asked by dealers. The effect of all this will be that dealers must in future mark their scarce stamps at or about auction prices or they will not sell freely. Capt. Coolidge's advice to collectors to go easy in purchasing used specimens of recent issues is sound and should be taken to heart by every collector who does not want to feel later on that he has been too hasty.

If the Stamp Journals keep up the discussion, etc. of the iniquitous "Salvador Contract," the Hamilton Engraving Co'y. will have its prospective stock in trade so thoroughly advertised that publishers will not have the chance offered them of exchanging advertising space for the much abused issues. We will watch with some interest the investment of certain dealers and collectors who now express such a wealth of virtuous indignation about this matter.

I note "Rattler's" letter anent N. S. and N. B. Shilling and trust he will pardon me for saying that the name he has selected to write over is in this instance strikingly appropriate, for he is certainly "rattled" on this question as I will attempt to prove. In the first place "Acadia" pleads "not guilty" to the charge of "bulling" N. S. Shillings. He has never endeavored to force the price up, but has been perfectly satisfied to leave the collectors of America to decide at auction sales what they are worth. Probably the best reason why they cannot be bought in Halifax except for high figures is that it is very seldom one is offered for sale. I say right here that there is no concerted action among Halifax collectors with the view to advance the price. I honestly and firmly believe that what I said in my former note in reply to Mr. Stone is true in the strictest sense. The reason why the Nova Scotia collectors value their Shillings so highly is that they are the ones who can best decide upon their rarity, as they have all experienced the difficulties, and disappointments in searching for them. I collected stamps for more than ten years before I found one. There are in Halifax to-day probably more than fifty collectors and I will wager any amount that not ten of them have the Shilling N. S., and bear in mind that the city of Halifax has offered much greater facilities in the past for securing those specimens than all the rest of the province. Outside of Halifax "Rattler" could not buy three N. S. Shillings for $100, if he was willing to pay so much, for the reason that they are not to be found (I refer to the province of Nova Scotia.) Surely that is fair evidence of their rarity. For some years the few Shillings which have been sold down here have been disposed of by collectors who were breaking up their collections and thus the only specimens they had were sold and in no case were they duplicates. When I named the amount of $25 as having been paid by a Halifax collector last year I did not say the stamp was worth it. I did it to show the estimation in which it was held down here, the home and birthplace of it. There is little doubt but $20 will buy a good specimen and personally I think it is enough. But as they have sold at auction for more than that amount there is no good reason why a collector who has one to sell should not get quite as much as a similar one has realized at auction. "Rattler" now knows my idea of the value of the stamp, and as he is certain that I could be called upon to make good my pledge, then I have only to say that I heartily congratulate the collectors in Canada who have the "other twelve" specimens. I cheerfully agree with "Rattler" that the cut 6d. of N. S. and N. B., particularly the latter are quite as rare as the Shilling, but from the fact that few catalogues mention them and fewer still name any price for them it is difficult for the holder of such a specimen to secure anything like its real value. And now to conclude this note which is much longer than at first intended. As Acadia remarked, when taking exception to Mr. Stone's article, he does not accuse him of malice aforethought in his attempt to cheapen the Shilling stamps and had Mr Stone been aware of the fact that the Halifax collectors hunted up every available Shilling in order to make an interesting exhibit almost solely in honor of our distinguished American visiting members, probably his article would not have been written. Certainly the treatment he received at the hands of the Halifax members, was deserving of a more fitting return.

COSTA RICA SURCHARGES.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 15, 1889.

F. J. Grenny,

DEAR SIR.—Permit me to call your attention to a number of Costa Rica surcharges, which I have noticed recently in circulation on the C. P. A. exchange sheets. I refer to the first issue with the word oficial surcharged in black. The following letter will perhaps shed some light upon the subject. The $\frac{1}{2}$, 2 and 4 r. stamps surcharged 5, 10 and 20 cts., without U. P. U. are from the same source. The James J. Ross mentioned in the letter was the purchaser of part, if not all, of the remainders of the old issue. These humbugs were exposed at the time, and I am surprised to find prominent C. P. A. officers who offer them for sale on the exchange sheets.

Yours truly,

W. C. STONE,
C. P. A. 123.

General Post Office
of the Republic of Costa Rica,
San Jose, Aug. 7, 1883.

Cecil Sharpe,

I have the honor to reply to your esteemed favor of to-day as follows :

The postage stamps issued by Costa Rica before joining the Universal Postal Union, were 1 peso yellow, 4 reals green, 2 reals red, $\frac{1}{2}$ real blue; 1c. and 2c. blue surcharged. When the Republic entered the Universal Postal Union there were provisionally surcharged the green stamps with the inscription 20c. U. P. U., the red with 10c. U. P. U. and the blue with 5c. U. P. U.

With the word oficial there have been only those of the new issue which are still surcharged and also certain ones which I am informed have been sent by James J. Ross to be surcharged by permission of the Minister of Finance but which stamps I assure you have never been in use in the country.

Yours, etc.

A. M. G. ESCALANTE.

It will be noticed that the oficial surcharge on the 1883 issue is in three styles of type. The first measures $6\frac{1}{2}$ min. in length and only the O is a capital; the second measures the same but is in thin capitals; the third measures 8 min. and is in heavy capitals. The Ross surcharge is in plain Roman capitals and measures 9 min. The genuine 1c. and 2c. on $\frac{1}{2}$ r. have heavy figures 4 min. in length; those on the 5, 10 and 20c. are smaller and bear also the letters U. P. U., which are missing entirely in the bogus issues. The type of the bogus surcharges is also much smaller.

C. P. A. PHOTOGRAPH.

All members of C. P. A. who have not sent in their Photos as yet are earnestly requested to do so at once. You are not obliged to take a Photograph when completed, if you do not desire it, but would request you to send me your Photo until I can get a copy taken from it, and it will be returned in good condition.

VICTOR H. YOUNG,
C. P. A. 189,
P. O. Box 2143,
Montreal.

Mr. Fred. Burnett, of Brantford, has sent for our inspection the 20c Hill, 3rd issue, Canada, on laid paper; we consider it a great rarity.

Millard F. Walton has been elected Secretary of the A. P. A. We believe he will make a good officer.

Publishers who favor us with copies of their catalogues or books will have the same reviewed impartially by the editor of this paper.

 Librarian,

CASHIERED THE QUEEN'S HEAD.

I see that our affectionate kinsmen in New South Wales have cashiered the Queen's head in their latest issue of postage stamps, in commemoration of their centenary. The place formerly occupied by the conventional effigy of royalty is now filled, in the case of the penny stamp, by a landscape—colonial, I presume—and not particularly interesting in character, at least to the home-bred eye. In the case of the two-penny stamp, Her Majesty's features are superseded by a full-length portrait of what I take to be an emu, and a much better likeness, I dare say, as well as more suggestive to the colonial mind, than the picture which it replaces. On the whole, I think that both in sentiment and artistic merit this New South Wales issue compares favorably with some of our Jubilee efforts; but I do not know that the exuberant colonial loyalty of which we hear so much comes out strong in it.—Labouchere.

SOME REMARKS ON THE CANADA TWELVE PENCE, AND CONCERNING THAT ISSUE.

BY DONALD A. KING.

The amount of stamps sold in this year,
 was as follows:

	3d.	6d.	10d.	12d.	£	s	d
On hand March 31, 1855...	24,200	47,000	83,880	49,490	7,467	0	0

	2d	6d	10d	12d	Total
On hand March 31, 1854	129,200	24,600	101	12d	£4,692 15 0

Issued for sale during year	355,000	25,800	16,200	265	5,770 15 0
Balance on hand March 31, 1855	24,200	47,800	83,880	49,490	£ 7,647 0 0

This shows another issue of the 12-pence to the number of 265, making a total issue of 1,510 stamps, nearly double Mr. Harte's number, but very few in comparison with the number of collectors who want them.

This year finished their issue to the public, and the following year they are only taken stock of, as see report for that year, ending March 31st, 1856:

This is the last public appearance of the 12-pence—what became of the balance of 49,490 stamps is unknown, but they were, no doubt, burned; the reports give not the slightest idea of their fate.

Mr. Harte says they are printed on thin laid paper, but at least one used specimen is known on thick wove, as in the Philatelic Record for July, 1888, in the proceedings of the Philatelic Society of London, a Mr. Ransom showed an undoubted post-marked specimen of the 12 pence on stout wove paper.

In this article the bulk of the stamp accounts are given and, at the risk of wearying the reader, we will give them all and thus get an idea of the total number of Canada pence issued.

The next report is for the half year ending Sept. 30, 1856, and the year ending Sept. 30, 1857, and the issue is as follows:

	3d.	6d.	10d.	12d.	£	s	d

We now come to the closing chapter in the pence issue of Canada. The last statement brings us up to June 30, 1859, and is as follows:

	½d.	3d.	6d.	7½.	10d.
Balance to October 1, 1858	377,760	264,500	41,578	62,130	841,867 05
Received from manufacturers to June 30, 1859	850,100	449,900	70,000	36,379 16
Total	1,227,860	714,400	111,578	62,130	877,946 21
Issue for sale during the above nine months	1,167,200	692,700	94,000	44,160	67,189 16
Balance on hand June 30, 1859 ..	60,660	21,700	17,578	17,970	810,757 05

The large remainders that were left no doubt shared the fate of the 12 pence, as unused copies are very scarce.

The total number of each value issued for sale were:

1 penny	3,389,960
3 pence	3,528,700
6 "	402,900
7½ "	82,110
10 "	151,500
12 "	1,510

From these the perforated varieties should be deducted. They were issued for sale about the end of 1857 and, as will be seen by the figures, a large amount must have been sold.

Again, from these should, perhaps, be taken the quantity which would be returned in by the various post offices to exchange for the decimal issue. Still it is possible that this last account may have been made up after those stamps came in.

Even with these deductions it is not very easy to understand why the pence issues should be so scarce, although in some values this may, to a certain extent, be accounted for, as the ½ penny which was used for newspaper postage and thus had little chance of being preserved. The 7½ and 10d. being sent out of the country would account for their scarcity, although they ought not to be very scarce in England, where the bulk of them were sent.

SUBINAM.—Mr. Kerbs has shown us the 1g. with red brown frame and gray head.

SWEDEN.—The 12 and 24 ore have been surcharged in blue, with a circle containing three crowns over the central figure of value, "10" in each of the upper corners and "Tio ore" below. There were issued respectively 1,957,000 and 204,000. Similarly the 12 and 24 ore officials have been surcharged with crowns at the sides over the ovals containing the values. Suspended from these is a band inscribed "Tio-10-ore" and at the top below "Sverige" is "Tjenstefrimarke," of these there were issued 201,000 and 144,000. The 12 ore envelope has also become 10 ore by surcharge of "10" over the crowns, a rectangular label below containing "Kongl Postverket" and below this "Tio ore," 88,000 of them were made.
