two or three hours, while the moon, then very near to the earth, must have whirled around the large globe in a period equal to the earth's day. Mr. Darwin traces the tidal evolution to this primeval condition of things. Farther back is uncertainty, but he conjectures that in a very remote period a mass of matter must have been violently thrown off from the earth, forming the noon. In the early days of the latter, its effect on the earth's surface must have been tremendous, producing tides a thousand or two thousand feet high.

Sir Leonard Tilley entered at an opportune time and was, of course, cheered. Then Sir. John came in and he was cheered "awfully"! "Niagara" Plumb then read a series of resolutions, which had been prepared over night by those who were not enjoying the city's hospitalities. These approved of the National Policy, endorsed the bargain with the Syndicate, expressed admira.

tion for the Ministry and the most unfeigned adoration of Sir John. Then Sir Leonard delivered a speech in which he boasted of having made the people pay $4,000,000 more in the way of taxation than was required to carry on the affairs of the country. Sir John also made a speech, having, as the

The "convention" was a great disappointment to the rank and file of the fory party, who expected they would be let into party secrets through its agency. As it turned out, however, it was simply made use of by Sir John and Sir Leonard for their own glorification, Sir John being left "to digest everything."

A Puff from a long Distance. We occasionally see some amusing things from Hon. Mr. Mitchell's pen, notwithstanding his almost entire withdrawal from editorial connection with the Advocate. That paper is not, now, made to take the editorial responsibility of the hon. gentleman's autobiographical sketches to the extent of former times, but it is permitted (as in the copy from other prints. The Montreal Shareholder and Insurance Gazette is the name of the last source of inspiration for the Advocate. That publicationof which our people generally have never before heard—is known in newspaper circles as one which publishes what it is paid for, and we presume an advertisement calling for tenders for the galvanizing of an Egyptian immy, or a puff of an assurance organization for the resurrection of a defunct politician would be equally welcome to its columns and find admission on the same cash basis. Well, this paper, through the columns of the Advocate, is made to tell the people of Northumberland that they feel very strongly for Hon. Peter Mitchell again, and that there never was such an energetic person at the head of a department. It says that through him and him alone, "The St. Lawrence from the gulf inwards, was lit up like the Broadway of a city. The result is that collisions are rarely known, and the travelling public feel an amount of protection that

When his attorney proceeded to relate how Guiteau had acted in a suit, which, while illustrating his vanity, also showed him to be cranky, the prisoner exclaimed, "Go on, Mr. Scoville. That's an interesting story in detail." This, like nearly every utterance of Guiteau, elicited general laughter, but the prisoner neither partook of the merriment nor enjoyed the sport which had reference to his stupidity or the mention of his silly habits and absurd acts. In all of this Guiteau exhibited the fact of his inordinate egotism, noticeably destitute of anything rational in method or moral in sentiment.

BY GRACE THORNTON.

"No, my dear," said Aunt Jemima, an old lady, whose logic was far superior to her Syntax; "don't you never ask no advice of nobody, but just find out your own opinion and what it's founded on. If it ain't got no foundato it. Don't let nobody do your thinking for you. We've got to give in our own accounts when the last reckoning comes, and straight or crooked, right or wrong, we have to meet the judgment. Nobody can shirk or shift that. and the sooner we learn to be responsible-to kind of depend on ourselves, and sort of bear our own weight-the better for us here and hereafter."

"Oh, Aunt Jemima, how solemn your tone is, and how you shake your head at me, when all I asked was your advice about the picnic to-morrow! and just by the same post comes a note from Kate Hunter-I do like Kate; she's so pleasant—and she begs me to go with her and her brother Harry."

"Jest so-jest so!" exclaimed the old lady. "That's jest what I'm talking about. You've got what I call a double invite, and you come to me to up with. Chatham, Aug. 26, 1881. MECHANICAL ORGUINETTE

An Automatic Reed Organ.

"THE ORGUINETTE may now be called a celebrated instrument. In tone it is akin to the Cabinet Organ, but the organ must be manipulated by an artist in order to produce music; the Organizer is on the other hand entirely mechanical in its action, and at triffing expense it can be made to furnish an unlimited supply of all kinds of music."—Toronto Globe.

"THE ORGUINETTE is indeed a musical wonder. It is a miniature reed organ, with as strong and melodious a tone as the Cabinet Size. It surpasses the Cabinet Organ, for the reason that the ignoramus in music can play it as well as the most accomplished professor. The GROUNETTE is strong and accurate in its mechanism, and consequently not liable to get out of order."—Montreal Gazette. PRICES, $10 TO $16 Send for Illustrated W. F. ABBOT & Co.,
