ANOTHER BLAIR ORGAN. What the Chatham World Thinks of the Proposed New Paper. (Chatham World). When Mr. Blair took charge of the St. John liberal party, he and his personal henchmen, the men who collect the spoils in the shape of fat fees as commissioners and get the rake-offs on contracts and supplies, decided that they must have a personal organ with no soul, no conscience, no principles and no sense of decency or consistency of its own. So they made an offer for the Telegraph. The owners of that paper declined to sell, and argued that they were good liberals and ought to be trusted to make the paper a good party organ. The reply was "sell to us or we will start another paper," and it was soon announced that an option had been secured on a building and an agent was negotiating for a printing plant. The Telegraph owners, knowing well that the new paper would get the lion's share of the government pay, hastened to accept the offer of the hoodie brigade. And thus the life of the Telegraph, as a newspaper, ended, and it was born again as the personal mouthpiece of a political boss. Then the boss decided that he must have an evening organ. The Globe continued to be an independent paper, discussing public matters without asking for instructions from the boss, and the Star was shining brightly every afternoon. So it was decided that the gang must have the Gazette, and that poor Bows must step down

UP IN ARMS. Chicago Colored People Hold an Exciting Meeting. And Are Advised to Buy Guns With Which to Defend Themselves Against Hobs of White Men.

CHICAGO, June 24.—At a meeting of colored people held last night to protest against the lynching of the negro, David T. Wyatt at Belleville, Ill., recently, Rev. C. H. Thomas, one of the speakers, advised his hearers that they should, if the hanging and burning of colored men is not stopped by regular authorities, sell their coats and buy guns with which to defend themselves. Other speakers expressed similar sentiments, and before the meeting adjourned the negroes were worked up to a high pitch of excitement. Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett informed the men that they must organize to fight their own battles, saying that they never could expect the white men to fight for them until they had shown themselves capable of fighting for themselves.

ARRIVED IN BELGRADE. King Peter is Given a Great Reception in Serbia's Capital.

PARIS, June 23.—Although the French minister at Belgrade was not given specific orders to withdraw, the officials here say that the instructions sent him gave full liberty to adopt such a course if the majority of his diplomatic colleagues left the Serbian capital.

BELGRADE, June 23.—King Peter's train passed through Innsbruck, Austria, this afternoon. The king was enthusiastically welcomed there by the Serbian and Croatian students.

VIENNA, June 23.—Mme. Petrovich, Mlle. Wolka Lunevica and Mlle. Georgina Lunevica, sisters of Queen Draga, arrived at Vienna this evening, accompanied by Lieutenant George Petrovich.

They drove directly to the hotel Metterbeche Hof. Mme. Petrovich alone was clad in deep mourning. All three women bore traces of the terrible experience they had passed through. Even in the hotel, where they accorded me a brief interview, their nervous gestures and air of suppressed excitement and the cowed, frightened expression of their dark eyes clearly showed they have not yet recovered from the shock of the eventful night.

Mme. Petrovich declared the report that Queen Draga had left millions in untraced money was untrue. She likewise contradicted the assertion that she had been permitted to see the body of the murdered Queen or attend her funeral.

Referring to the night of the crime with reluctance, she stated that up till half-past eleven she had been in the Kohak. They had then retired to rest in their house in the Dragagasse, where their brothers, Captain Nicholas Lunevich and Captain Nicholas Lunevich, likewise resided, without the slightest suspicion of anything wrong.

Some time after they were awakened by the noise of firing and the march of troops through the streets. Rushing to the windows they witnessed a passer-by who had been shot.

He replied there was fighting, and the Queen's brothers hurried into their clothes, with the intention of proceeding to the Kohak, with difficulty persuading Lieutenant Petrovich, who is recovering from a severe illness, from following them.

The brothers of the Queen never returned. It is to this circumstance that the four survivors owe their lives, for almost immediately after the brothers had left an officer with a company of soldiers arrived and demanded their surrender. The house was searched from top to bottom, the officers ultimately sparing the helpless women and bestriding them on finding the Queen's brothers were absent.

The fate of the brothers was known long ago to the public, but up to last night their deaths were not communicated to their sisters, who only ascertained what had been going on from overhearing the conversation of the soldiers by whom their house had been guarded since the night of the crime.

MAY SEE SERVICE. A Rumor That Part of the Russian Fleet is Held in Readiness.

LONDON, June 24.—It is believed that the fast cruiser section of the Russian fleet which is lying idle at Sebastopol and Odessa, being held in the Black Sea for military contingencies, says the Odessa correspondent of the Times. He adds that it is reported that an intimation was given June 23 to the commanders of these vessels that there is a possibility of their being requisitioned to fly the naval flag before the present year is out.

SPORTING NEWS. JEFFRIES IN 10 ROUNDS. James J. Corbett and Jeffries, who are to battle for the heavyweight championship of the world next August, have finally settled down to real hard work. Not willing to take any chances of over-training neither Corbett nor Jeffries has done any too much work, although both have been keeping at a steady stride so that they would be ready to jump into their regular schedule when the proper time arrived.

Corbett himself is confident of victory, and if he fails to carry off the championship it will not be his fault. No fighter ever trained more conscientiously for a contest than Corbett. For the last twelve months he has been passing on which he has not passed an hour or two in the gymnasium. Surely this work must have done the Californian considerable good, and his ability to set a pace proves that his system is not such a wreck as many would believe.

Fitzsimmons has already summed up the battle and judging from what the Cornishman says it would appear that heavy indoor work is what will put Corbett himself in a hard contest. How long do I think the bout will go? Well, I will give Corbett about ten rounds. Jeffries needs lots of grueling work. Heavy indoor work is what will put him in shape for the contest. This will keep his weight down. Then he will quicken up his footwork. Jeffries has become much speedier than he was when he last appeared in the east. He is really quick on his feet, and, although Corbett may be fast, he will find Jeffries a much improved man over the one he met at Coney Island.

Although Fitzsimmons would do much to get Jeffries in shape for his fight, it is said that the Cornishman will have little to say regarding the champion's methods. Jeffries has his own ideas about training. It will be remembered that he and his manager, Delaney, had a falling out a couple of years ago over the same matter, and the champion finally carried his point by training himself.

WHAT KNOCKOUT BLOW DOES. Inasmuch as all boxing contests which terminate speedily are, as a rule, ended by this character of coup de grace, the physiology of it is of great interest.

A man struck with any degree of force upon the mental area of the jaw, although he may be in perfect physical condition instantly collapses and falls to the ground.

The attitude assumed in recovery, which may be instantaneous or delayed some minutes is most characteristic. He squirms about, raises his head and rolls his eyes in an attempt to locate himself. His tries to rise on his hands and knees.

He regains his feet he staggers like a drunken man, and should he proceed to re-open his eyes he usually promptly "put out" by his adversary.

The blow is practically never fatal, the heart's action is never unduly abnormal, the pupils are normal, there is no headache, no sweats, no cold extremities, no pallor—none of the ordinary signs of shock or concussion.

James G. Duncanson (British Medical Journal, April, 1903) believes the condition to be due entirely to shaking up of the endolymph in the semi-circular canals. When the blow administered there is a violent over-twisting of the head, which is held in its anteroposterior position by muscles which, compared with those inflicting the blow, are small and puny.

The result is that the head flies around with a jerk and the fluid in the canal is subjected to a greater disturbance than by any other trauma. There is little reason to doubt that this is the interesting pathology of the well known but little understood coup de grace.—Medical News.

KINDNESS APPRECIATED. To the Editor of the Star: Dear Sir,—Would you, in your valuable paper, give a paragraph of commendation and thanks to the car conductors for their great thoughtfulness and care of the inmates of the Home for incurables. By request of LADIES' COMMITTEE.

SUDDEN DEATH. A Well Known Resident of Brussels Street, Died Very Suddenly at His Home this Morning—Death Due to Rheumatism.

George W. Mabey, a well known resident of Brussels Street, died very suddenly this morning at his home. Mr. Mabey, who was a teamster by occupation, was in perfect health until a few minutes before his death. He was at work yesterday and got up this morning as usual, with the intention of going out. He lighted the fire in his kitchen, and was engaged in reading one of the morning papers when he felt a sudden, sharp pain in his left arm, which was not unusual to members of his family, and the usual remedies, liniment and rubbing, were resorted to. In a few minutes the pain crept along to his shoulder and breast, and, as the other did not seem to have any effect, Dr. G. O. Baxter was hurriedly sent for. Rev. T. J. Deinstadt was also notified, but before either of these gentlemen could reach the home, Mr. Mabey had died. Coroner Berryman was notified and after a brief examination decided that no inquest was necessary, as Mr. Mabey had undoubtedly died of rheumatism of the heart. The deceased, although in his sixty-eighth year, was quite strong and vigorous from about eight years of age.

He leaves, besides his wife, ten children, George W., living in Providence, R. I., Mrs. James Mattiaall and eight others, unmarried, living at home, 207 Brussels Street. Mr. Mabey was an adherent of Exmouth Street Methodist church.

His funeral will be held at half-past ten o'clock on Friday.

LOSS OF CITY OF BOSTON RECALLED. The Halifax Recorder yesterday published the following interesting communication to the Halifax Recorder: Sir,—It is now many years since the good ship City of Boston steamed from the harbor of Halifax and disappeared from human sight forever, and the many passengers likewise. It was rumored that a life boat was found with City of Boston marked on it, anchored and bottom up, in fifty fathoms of water on the outer bank of Sable Island, and is still intact. In answer to the first theory: at the season of her sailing, January, there were no icebergs, as it was too early for them, but Sable Island's treacherous bars were there as now. A few weeks since Gloucester fishermen reported a sunken wreck on the N. W. bar of the Island, probably ten miles from the shore; they could touch the deck with their paddles, say about eight feet below the surface; they moored a dory at either end of the wreck and endeavored to get her length; but not being supplied with diving gear, or means of finding out what was on her, left for home, but reported the matter to the resident governor of the island, but he is in the same position as the Gloucestermen, he can merely row over the spot and report as they have reported. Would it be a good idea, if the two former were government to take the matter in hand and point out all that can be found out about this reported wreck; it seems almost impossible that she could be there all these years, intact, but it is the unexpected that happens very often, and it would be a good thing to have the matter investigated. MULLAH'S CAPTIVES TORTURED. Wounded British Officers Murdered. Their Heads Cut Off and Paraded on Poles. LONDON, June 23.—With reference to the report that there are in the Mullah's camp some British officers, survivors of the disaster to Colonel Plunkett's column, the Daily Mail's Aden correspondent telegraphed that a Somali all who had been with the Mullah's force affirmed that two Europeans and ten Yaos were captives with the Mullah, and that, according to the Somali's information, the two former were probably volunteers from the Boer contingent.

A later telegram from our correspondent says that the members of the balloon section, which has just returned to Aden, state that they brought them the information that among the Mullah's captives was one Boer, who was being fearfully tortured. They had received the information that many officers who were with Colonel Plunkett's force when it met with disaster were only wounded, and that when they fell into the hands of the Mullah's men their heads were cut off and paraded through the principal villages, being finally placed round the Mullah's serais.

A strong feeling is current in Aden that had a force been sent to the relief of Colonel Plunkett many of the wounded officers and men would have been saved.

MAY STAY FOR A WHILE. LONDON, June 24.—The Times' correspondent at Shanghai telegraphs that Wu Ting Fang, the former Chinese minister at Washington, who was recently ordered to proceed to Peking in connection with the negotiations concerning the revision of treaties and the indemnity, has been permitted to remain in Shanghai until the American treaty is completed.

BURIED TODAY. The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien was held at half-past two o'clock this afternoon from her residence, 61 St. Patrick Street, to the Cathedral. Rev. Fr. Cormier conducted service and interment was in the Old Catholic burying ground.

SIR TOM COMING. NEW YORK, June 24.—The White Star liner Oceanic from Liverpool was reported off Nantuxet early today. Aboard the ship are Sir Thomas Lipton and J. Pierpont Morgan. The vessel is expected at her pier this afternoon.

R. W. W. Frink, who has been confined to his home through illness during the past few weeks drove down town this morning and was heartily welcomed by his numerous friends.

The Hotel Savoy in New York plumes itself upon the possession of the largest mirror in the world. Only two steamships of the ocean—one of them the Friesland, in which it came—have room in their holds to stow away such a large package. It is a little more than 13 feet square and is nearly half an inch thick. To get this perfect plate five different glasses had to be cast. It was made at the St. Galian glass works in Paris.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY. Ruins of an Ancient City Have Been Discovered in Mexico.

CHICAGO, June 24.—A despatch to the Tribune from Mexico City, says: The recent discovery of an ancient city of pyramids in a dense forest in a remote part of the state of Puebla, has been found to be of the greatest archaeological importance. The federal government has commissioned the sub-director of the national museum, Gen. F. Rodriguez to visit the ruins. Nicholas Leon, an archaeologist and ethnologist accompanied the sub-director to the ruins. Dr. Leon reports that the ruins are such as never before have been known to the world, of science, and most primitive ever discovered in Mexico, in fact so ancient as to require a great deal of time and study to learn in what epoch they were built as well as by what people.

SEEKING QUIET VENGEANCE. PEORIA, Ill., June 23.—Detective W. E. Murphy was killed by Billy McRae, a negro desperado, whom he was attempting to arrest tonight. Murphy, armed with a warrant for McRae, on the charge of burglary, approached the negro, who was standing on a street corner and informed him that he was under arrest. Without a moment's warning McRae shot the officer in the breast. He then attempted to make his escape but was caught by Detective Chadwick. Murphy was then taken to the hospital where he died within twenty minutes of the time he received the wound. McRae was hurried to the city jail and in less than an hour a mob, numbering at least one thousand men and boys, had assembled and made a demand on the chief of police for the prisoner. The chief refused to surrender him. With the hope of attracting the attention of the mob the fire department was called out and made a run past the jail. The ruse partially succeeded, many of the mob following the department. In the meantime the chief had ordered all the electric lights in the city put out and in the darkness McRae was taken hurriedly to the county jail. It was a short time the mob discovered that it had been deceived and formed in front of the county jail. The entire police force of the city was called out to guard the jail.

PREORIA, Ill., June 24.—Shortly before one o'clock this morning the mob surrounding the county jail began to disperse, awed by the determined attitude of Sheriff Potter, who stationed a dozen deputies and police in front of the jail armed with revolvers and Winchester rifles. They were instructed to fire on the mob if any attempt to enter the jail was made. Inside the jail the police were stationed. It is evident that the mob lacks nerve, and the authorities are confident that they will be able to cope with the situation.
