NO TRACE FOUND OF FIVE UNITED STATES' AIRMEN

Pigeons Carried by Big Balloon Return After Long Flight.

DRAG ROPE IN WATER AT TIME

Experts Think Crew Has Landed on Deserted Island off Northern States.

Pensacola, Mar. 25.—Continued search today by the squadrons of airplanes, flying boats, dirigibles and eagle boats failed to find any trace of the missing United States naval balloon in command of Chief Quartermaster G. F. Wilkeson, carrying four students which left the naval air station here Tuesday night and was last reported over the Gulf twenty miles off St. Andrews Bay. Naval officials, however, have not given up hope of rescuing the missing men.

In the Balloon

In the balloon with Wilkeson, whose home is in Houston, Texas, were Russell V. Eland, of Belleville, Ill., Edward L. Kershaw, of Rayne, La., John O. Eider, of Lebanon, N. Y., and William H. Tredroy of Salem, Mass.

The balloon in which the five men left here at five o'clock Tuesday afternoon was a 5,000 cubic foot craft. Besides the men and ballast, two pigeons were carried. One of these returned to the air station at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning with a message which had been started nearly 24 hours before.

Both Pigeons Back

The second pigeon returned at afternoon after it, too, had been 24 hours on the way. The last message gave the position as 20 miles off St. Andrews Bay with the drag rope in the water and all supplies exhausted. At that time the wind was off shore and the balloon was slowly drifting northward. It is on the wording of the last message that naval officials base their belief that the balloon landed somewhere on the deserted coast of the outer island.

Very Stormy Good Friday

Wind Forty Miles An Hour—Rainfall Four-Tenths of An Inch.

The wrecked condition of a number of umbrellas tell the story of the strength of yesterday's wind which during the early part of the afternoon blew at a rate of forty miles an hour. There was a rainfall of four tenths of an inch and between the hours of two and four p.m. it was most disagreeable weather. The wind blew from south east to south west. Questioned as to the idea that Good Friday is usually stormy, D. L. Hutchinson, director of the Meteorological Observatory stated that last year Good Friday April second, was fine and cool and that, in his experience, the day is quite as often clear as stormy.

Work about the harbor front was at a standstill as freight could not be handled owing to the rain.

REBEL SOLDIERS GUARDING PRISONERS

Everything for Army, Even to Steel Hats, Discovered in a Raid.

(Continued from Page 1.) An unfurnished and unoccupied house. As the raiders rushed through the door one man threw a fully loaded revolver into some waste paper.

Found in Hotel

Two of the emigrants had travelled to Dublin Tuesday, and the third joined them the next day. The ensuing evening all were seated in a hotel room when a man entered with a revolver. He cried, "hands up," and demanded their passports. They replied that they had none and were only going to England, saying this because they feared danger from the Sinn Fein if caught emigrating. As a measure of precaution they had given their passports to another inmate of the hotel for concealment. After the hotel had been searched the trio were taken to the empty house in a closed cab, where they were questioned and explained that they wanted to emigrate in order to better support their parents.

Shells Under Floor

The raiders found thirty rounds of rifle ammunition hidden under the floor. The arms, ammunition and equipment taken in the raid on the stables are said to constitute the largest store yet captured. In a ground floor room the raiders found shelves with loaded revolvers, sighted up to

- 1 Pill a Laxative,
 - 2 Pills a Cathartic,
 - 3 Pills a Purgative,
- This is the Way Millburn's Laxa-Liver Pills Work

You will never use any of the old griping nauseating, sickening, purging pills, containing, as they do, calomel and other drastic mineral ingredients, unless you use Millburn's Laxa-Liver, a pill that is purely vegetable. Owing to the great care used in preparing the highest grade of drugs from which they are manufactured, they are as near perfect as it is possible to get a laxative remedy. They work gently and effectively, without a gripe or pain. If you are troubled with constipation, hemorrhoids; driven to distraction with sick headaches, if your tongue is coated, your breath bad, your complexion sallow, your eyes yellow, have floating specks before the eyes, headache, itching, bleeding or protruding piles stir up your sluggish liver with a few doses of Millburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

Mrs. Roy Mackie, Grills, Ont., writes—"I desire to express my thanks for the relief I have had by using Millburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had been suffering for some time from constipation and had headaches. I tried all sorts of cures, which did me no good, until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after taking only a few doses." Price 35c. a visit at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Gin Pills will relieve you of your distress, by promptly assisting the kidneys to healthy action. 1,000 yards, set in rows. Other equipment included bombs of all sorts, from small circular ones up to one about the size of an ostrich egg. In a lot above were other bombs and detonators and also a box containing many sticks of gelignite.

Steel Hats, Also

In another room were a number of rifles, some of which were concealed in rolls of oilcloth, in which it was thought they might be carried through the streets. The raiders found complete sets of soldiers' equipment, including steel hats. In one corner were empty government mail bags and a number of letters addressed to the ministry of pensions and state officials, dated 1920. Five hundred yards away the auxiliaries raided a garage where they found a motor car with a bag containing bombs with detonators affixed on the front seat and a telephone wire-tapping equipment, besides two eighteen-pounder shells, marked bloody and dangerous.

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and tend to increase acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a Bile Bismarated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach-antacid than Bismarated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach, and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the most digestible naturally and healthfully without need of pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bismarated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It comes as a liquid, milk or citrate, and in the bismarated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

Montreal Placed On Big Hotel Circuit

New Mount Royal Hotel Will Constitute Important Link in Chain of 20 Hotels in Eastern United States and Canada.

One of the most important developments of recent years in Montreal, from the standpoint of transportation, will result from the erection of the new Mount Royal Hotel, with a capacity of 1,024 rooms. The new mammoth hotel will be one of a chain of 20 hotels operated under the direction and management of the United Hotels Company of America. These hotels are all situated on automobile highways and constitute the greatest chain of large hotels in operation anywhere in the world.

With the tremendous development that has occurred in automobile touring, there has also developed the opportunity for the circuit plan of hotels. With the largest amount of traffic between the United States and Canada, especially between the city of New York and centres like Montreal and Toronto, it was recognized that it would not be long before the United Hotels Company would have their large hotels in operation in both these principal centres of the Dominion.

American automobile tourists in increasingly large numbers are seeking an opportunity of visiting the historical points of the Dominion and it was the demands the company had at the various hotels that resulted in arrangements being concluded for the erection of the new Mount Royal hotel in the uptown retail district of the Canadian metropolis.

Back of Every Mortgage A Life Insurance Policy

As a matter of good business, every mortgagor should protect his estate in this way. Why leave your wife and family to struggle with an obligation of this kind? Your loss, as breadwinner of the home, is sufficient handicap to your dependents.

Do you know that, by systematically depositing a few dollars with The Manufacturers Life each year, you can create an estate equal to the amount of your mortgage? Moreover, if you live until maturity of the policy, the proceeds become payable to you, and the mortgage can then be retired with the sinking fund so provided. Isn't it worth considering? Better make certain that your property will be clear of encumbrances at your death, thus eliminating the possibility of a forced sale whereby the labor of years is sacrificed. Write us to-day.

Tuxis Boys And Trail Rangers

There is just a report that tells us what is "doing" in Kitchener, Ont. "Basket" in basketball in the Tuxis City is on the increase. Last evening the Tuxis and Trail Rangers put on a number of games that proved of decided interest to those who saw them. Tonight a number of other scheduled matches will be staged. Tonight's senior game should prove especially exciting as the four teams competing are said to be fairly evenly matched and close contests are expected.

In the senior series, St. Saviors last night defeated the Waterloo Presbyterian quintet. The junior games were two choice tilts, both being hard fought at the way. Zion 'A' took a fall out of the United Brothers team by a 12 to 8 score, the play being even throughout, while Trinity defeated St. Andrew's 'B' by the small score of 5 to 11.

In the Trail Rangers League, St. Andrew's downed Zion 8 to 3, while the United Brothers team outplayed the Waterloo Presbyterians, winning 12 to 1.

The hockey leagues also go away on their schedules, three games being played on the Kaufman rink, each resulting in a shut-out. In the Junior Tuxis, the Waterloo Evangelists ran up six goals on St. John's Anglican, the latter not being able to score.

The Trail Rangers, representing King street Baptist, also took the fall out of the St. John's representatives, making it seven to nil. Trinity handed out a six to nothing beating to Waterloo Evangelicals, which rather evened up on the score made by the team from that church in the Junior Tuxis.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

"At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time the Constipation was banished. I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

No Changes In Embargo Bill

President Harding Will Put Through Measure Vetted by Ex-President Wilson.

Washington, March 25.—Deluged with requests for changes in the emergency tariff bill to be put before the special session of congress presently as voted by President Wilson, the House Ways and Means Committee reiterated today that the measure would be submitted without modification.

Representative Young, Republican, North Dakota, chairman of the subcommittee which will present the bill, declared demands for changes were coming from many interests. Senators, representative business concerns and farmers' organizations have expressed, he said, for elimination of some items and addition of others without result.

Under an agreement reached by Senate and House committees, said Mr. Young, "the amendments will be considered. It is the opinion of members that legislation would be recommended, or perhaps defeated by such a step. The only modification will be a six months' instead of a ten months' limitation." Mr. Young is writing the report to accompany the bill, and it will be known as the Young bill. Flour millers have asked for a compensatory duty on flour. The Underwood law imposed a duty of ten cents a bushel on wheat, and the compensatory duty on flour was forty-five cents a barrel, being ten cents a bushel on 4 1/2 bushels necessary to make a barrel of flour.

Manufacturers of cloth also expressed dissatisfaction, claiming that if wool was made dutiable, they were entitled to a compensatory duty.

Alexander Reid Dead At St. Stephen

Special to The Standard, St. Stephen, March 25.—Alexander Reid, a respected resident of St. Stephen, died suddenly at his home on Union street, Thursday afternoon of heart trouble. He had been in poor health for some weeks but was about town on Wednesday and as

and farmers' organizations have expressed, he said, for elimination of some items and addition of others without result.

CONQUERING THE FEAR OF DEATH

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

The International Sunday School Lesson for March 27th is "The Living Christ" (Easter Lesson)—Matt. 28:1-10, 16-20.

A wholesale struggle with death is being waged in China as these words are being penned: there 100,000,000 persons are at close grips with starvation. It seems incongruous to write upon the joyous Easter theme when the clamor of the mortally hungry are to be heard in such an enormous volume of woe, with the wailing of women beside the uncounted dead as a minor undertone; when such a decade of suffering and hopelessness are being crowded into a few months. Yet after all, it is when we draw nearer to death, where the dread secret of existence hides, that we see in its full magnitude and symmetry and splendor the glorious hope of immortality.

In the famine field over a careless observer sees that they who are with our God are without hope in the world. Lacking this factor which lies at the basis of all the thought of Christendom, men become as beasts in their efforts to preserve within their breasts the vital spark. Almost every hour of a journey through China in the time of even a minor famine one encounters some new story of the awful price that people are paying in order to preserve their existence. That they fill their stomachs with leaves and roots is not to be wondered at, nor yet that they push and scramble and fight for a dole of their rice gruel at the relief stations. Years ago I saw an American rescue a little girl and an old woman who was being crushed this way; and I saw an old man and woman who had thus been seriously injured by the mob which crowded for food.

It would be easy for me to fill this column with stories of such selfishness on the part of people who have no sustaining faith or exalted Christian principles in this life and who do not feel any hope of life after death. All are positive illustrations of the Easter truth that the glorious hope of a resurrection is one of the potent factors in what we call civilized conduct. Take this out of the consciousness of Christendom and you lower society to the level of Chinese famine.

The Best Life or the Worst?

Some old Paul, who saw straight and thoroughly into the subject, knew this when he said, in proving the nature of the desires of the resurrection, "If the dead are not raised, let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." Without this truth of the spirit's immortality man exchanges the best life for the worst life. If death ends all, then it is not worth while, as Paul, the paragon whose soul is not sustained by the best hope of a life beyond the grave, is "of all men the most pitiable."

Why are thousands of men and women thronging New York's "Great White Way" every night? They are seeking "life." Why is the famous board-walk of Atlantic City crowded today? The promenade is after "life." How explain the full steamers that ply like ferries across the ocean? Travelers are after "life." For what reason are American men driven by the money madness that blights our time? They hope to win "life." How may we explain the crime of many persons to get their names into the newspapers? They think that this spells "life." Look into the theaters, the restaurants, and the hotels of the great cities, and still you see this wild pursuit of "life." Today's quest of all quests is this lust for "life."

Faithfully many are on the wrong trail. They are dazzled by false fires, and in their blindness they affix the label "life" to much that savors of death. The delusion and disappointment of the multitudes who have sacrificed real values for sham is a spectacle that saddens all beholding hearts.

The great mass of people who hold to the Easter expectation may not be blind to the truth that the doctrine of the resurrection is constantly severely attacked. With all respect for the scholars who are troubled upon this point, it must be borne in mind that this attempt to discredit the resurrection of Jesus is not, as they fondly believe, "advanced theology"; it has been one of the favorite endeavors of Satan ever since the wonder-stricken woman beheld the empty tomb in Joseph's garden.

The Big Offer.

The unique character of Christianity is that it really offers life. Other faiths have varying rewards, but Christ's Gospel maintains the stupendous claim that it has life to impart right here and now. True, He offers eternal life, lasting through two worlds, but that life begins in the present. Because of the Easter teaching that old, old enemy of the race, the fear of death, is driven out of the Christian's thought. Against and against Christians have taught the world what it is to die unafraidly; ancient Rome trembled before that spectacle, and China is today witnessing it in the conduct of the missionaries who are going among the famine sufferers, dis-tributing relief. For it is the Christian's privilege to master the fear of death. Because Jesus has risen from the dead, and because he also expects one day to rise, he can cry, "O grave, where is thy victory? O death, where is thy sting?"

Christ comes to the empty, echoing, aching hearts of men and proffers His great gift of life—life rich and sweeter, Christianly stands for a new mind, a new spirit, a new adman, a new genius; essentially, a new life. "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life."

Conquerors and the Conquered

The high point of the present lesson, indeed, of all Christian teaching, is the victory of Christ over death. That was His final victory. But His whole life may be studied as a series of conquests. He has often been compared with the other great conquerors of history: Pharaoh, Xerxes, Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, Tamerlane, Napoleon.

But what a difference! Mr. John Wainwright owns a painting of gigantic size called "The Conquerors." It is of compelling interest and one returns to it again and again. There rides the bannered host of strong-faced men, who have dreamed the dream of world dominion. But they ride through a lane of dead, stark and stiff, two lines of corpses stretch on both sides of them. It was by pain, loss, sorrow and death that they came to their power.

But imagine the Christ-Conqueror's triumphal march. Little children through His feet. He rides, meek and lowly, upon the humblest of animals. The garments of the glad and grateful street His way. The hoans of the healed and the happy rend the air. The lame leap, the blind see; the lepers are cleansed; the dead are back from the tomb. The line is longer than mind can compass, for there now follow in His train a countless multitude of those whom He has redeemed and made to rejoice. And chained to His conquering chariot, a crovon captive, is the race's old master, death.

Some is a city of ruins that remain to remind us of imperial Caesars. What toppled over the unparalleled dominion? The simple news of a crucified savior. One of the characteristic sights of Rome, which is somewhat grotesque from an artistic standpoint, is yet full of symbolism; the pre-Christian obelisks and pillars that have been surmounted by bronze crosses. Paul in the Mamertine prison, a dark and terrible dungeon which the visitors today may see, had more power than Nero in his golden palace; and he is today held in great honor. For he spoke a living message, whereas Nero merely wielded material force.

What all the world needs today above everything else is to know the truth of the Gospel that transforms life into newness and love and power and beauty: which is the resurrection message. Our times do not call for a new religion, but only for a new expression of the old reality that Christ, who rises from the dead, can take these poor, grave-bound lives of ours and give them the very glory of immortality. The resurrection message—"If ye then be risen with Christ, see those things which are above"—can do more for the world than agreements and treaties.

The Trumpet Chorus.

The magazines are fond of telling over and over at Easter time the story of how the little Pennsylvania town of Bethlehem celebrates the advent of Easter. The Moravians had the dawn with a trumpet chorus from the church steeples. Then to the graveyards they go playing triumphant music. Their Easter hymn is sung: it sounds the refrain of victory. In that faith the early Christians so conducted themselves that the onlooking heathen were moved to cry, "Behold how these Christians can die."

The Lord is risen indeed. He is here for your love, for your need. Not in the grave, nor the sky, But here where men live and die; And true the word that was said: "Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

Wherever are tears and sighs, Wherever are children's eyes, Where man calls man his brother, And loves as himself another, Christ lives! The angels said: "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" —Richard Watson Gilder.

THE CANADIAN TABLE SALT

To Free Your Arms of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secret) No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.

A FIXED EASTER.

There is at present a bill before the House of Lords, sponsored by Lord Desborough, which seeks to rectify and remove the alleged inconveniences arising from Easter being a movable feast. In support of his bill, Lord Desborough said that the various Chambers of Commerce had for many years carried resolutions in favor of a fixed Easter, and he showed that the inconvenience of the varying date for the great feast was felt by the schools, the universities, the law terms, and even by the national authorities. He questioned whether any Church was opposed to such reform. He had received letters from the heads of a number of universities and colleges unanimously in favor of a fixed date being established for Easter. There was a very widespread feeling, not only amongst commercial men, but others, that Easter should be fixed in respect of the churches.

Easter is a festival of the church, its greatest festival in fact, and there does not seem to be any valid reason why the secular world, which has made Easter into a general holiday, should be allowed to make so far reaching a change in an essentially ecclesiastical matter. Undoubtedly the question of any change in the date for celebrating Easter is primarily for the Christian Churches to consider. There is no evidence at present that the Christian Churches support the proposed change as strongly as representative commercial opinion does. The views of the Churches should be ascertained more definitely, if their views prove to be the same as those of the chambers of commerce. The Government will still have to ascertain how the majority of the communities of the British Empire would regard the suggested change. In any case there would be difficulty in making that change at the present time. In the present condition of Europe, particularly of Eastern Europe, it is questionable whether any really representative conference would arrive at unanimous conclusions.

The matter has at various times been the subject of considerable discussion. At a meeting of the International Chambers of Commerce held in Paris some time ago, a resolution in favor of steps being taken to secure a fixed date for Easter was again unanimously passed, reaffirming the resolutions which have been for many years carried at Congresses of Chambers of Commerce—national imperial and international.

Easter is, as we have remarked, the most important festival of the Christian year. The movable feasts and Holy-days both before and after Easter depend upon Easter Day. School terms, university terms, law terms, the Easter and Whitenside holidays, comparative statistics, trade and commerce are all affected by a varying Easter. The inconvenience of this has been so much felt that there is a strong probability of the ecclesiastical Easter being ignored and the Easter and Whitenside holidays being fixed. There cannot be the slightest objection to secular institutions arranging their plans in any way most convenient to themselves, but that gives them no right to demand that the Church should change her custom to suit theirs. After a date had been fixed for the celebration of Christmas, it may seem to some to be only natural and reasonable to have a fixed date for the celebration of Easter, and a reference to Ecclesiastical history discloses the fact that the matter was considered at the Council of Nicea in 325, summoned by Constantine the Great, and also when the calendar was reformed under Pope Gregory XIII in 1582, though not adopted in Great Britain till the year 1752. No steps however were taken to provide for a fixed Easter, and it is possible for the festival to vary as much as 35 days. This result, we learn, has followed the determination then arrived at to make Easter coincide with Jewish and pagan festivals commemorating the advent of spring (the very name Easter is derived from Eostre, the Pagan Goddess of Spring), and the method of fixing Easter is an attempt to reconcile three periods which have no common measure—namely, the week, the lunar month, and the solar year. In the Gregorian calendar the Metonic cycle, as perfected by Callippus, is adopted for the purpose of determining the full moon, which fixes the date of Easter; but it should be remembered that this moon is not the actual moon of the heavens, nor even the moon of astronomy, but an altogether imaginary moon—and much progress has been made in the science of astronomy since the time of Meton, who flourished in 432 B. C.

The proposal is to make the second Sunday in April Easter Day. The matter is, as we said before, primarily one for the Christian Churches themselves to decide; and although there does not appear to be any general utility in the churches to the establishment of a fixed date for the celebration of Easter, yet there must be, we would imagine, a certain amount of repugnance on the part of churchmen to purely secular considerations being allowed to interfere with such a vitally church matter as fixing its festivals, and particularly such a one as Easter, the greatest of all. Yet there are many prominent members, both ecclesiastical and lay, of the Church of England and the Church of Rome, who see no reason why Easter should not be permanently fixed. No doubt if these two churches agreed as a fixed date, the Greek church would also concur.

DINING WITHOUT FOOD

While H. G. Wells is jangling himself to the past of man, the future of the race is not altogether neglected. In the March Forum Richard L. Garner, in an essay on "Man as He Will Be," declares that the progress of the human race will follow the lines of refinement so far that eventually we shall cease altogether to eat food; to drink liquids.

"This prophet points out that a few thousand years ago a man starting on a five day journey could scarcely carry enough food to last him. Today a full day's ration of concentrated food can be carried, in tablet form, in one waistcoat pocket. So in future, Mr. Garner reasons, man will progress so far in the process of alimination that he will cease to eat as the other animals do:

"In the distant future, instead of the barbarous custom of assembling guests around an altar of immolation, called a table, to witness the carving or dissecting of a cadaver, whose form may yet be recognized, the host of that day will assemble his guests about a table adorned with exotic flowers from which will be exhaled invisible fumes of ambrosial proteins, with exquisite odors that will fill the air with vital essence and stimulate the olfactory and palatal nerves to the verge of intoxication, and by some yet to be discovered means absorb the necessary food."

We are sure the imagined programme would appeal to ladies who are trying to reduce. In fact, Mr. Garner assures us that in the perfected future "the human figure will become a thing of beauty, the very ideal of which we are not now able to conceive." The programme is magnificent but sad. No broiled chicken, no baked beans, no lemon meringue pie. Nothing but ambrosial aroma and conversation at dinner? Ah, not even conversation, as we know it now. Mr. Garner peers into the future of talk as well as of turkey. Man of the pleases age will talk by telepathy.

The season of shad, rhubarb and asparagus is upon us. Fat and merry; a million years from tomorrow our descendants will sit down to three courses of perfume and some silent repast.

THE FORDNEY BILL

The Republicans at Washington have decided on re-enacting the Fordney Bill, or a measure that will as effectively bar out agricultural products. When President Wilson vetoed the bill, the Republicans contemplated letting the matter drop, but agricultural interests in the United States have been pressing at Washington for more protection, and this time real action seems assured. We are already buying nearly a million dollars worth more per day from the United States than we are selling to it. By shutting off about one-half of what we sell, as in wheat, dairy products, cattle, minerals, etc., the United States would limit further our capacity to buy from it. Exchange would immediately begin to move against us still further until imports from the United States would be prohibitively priced. The Dominion Government has no disposition to go on hands and knees to Washington, especially after the mandate of 1911, and so if the Fordney Bill, or a substitute passes, we shall have to develop other markets. Canada was never in as prosperous a condition as in 1911, before our wheat, cattle, etc., had free access to the United States. Moreover, foodstuffs are, at present, higher in Canada than in the United States, and sales are relatively small.

Consolidation For the Soldiers?
 In the English building trades there is at present a shortage of skilled labor. Lord George told the Commons a few days ago that plans had been made and contracts let which would give employment to 50,000 more men. The Government had proposed to the builders to take on that number of ex-soldiers now out of work. But the trades unions would not permit it. They would not have their monopoly diluted. The only right the ex-soldier man had was to be idle.—New York Times.

Lots Not Worrying.
 It may be quite true that the country is badly governed by its parliament, legislature, city council, school boards, etc., etc., but the fact that it's difficult to get more than 50 per cent of the voters to go to the polls at an election indicates that a lot of people are not worrying about it.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A BIT OF VERSE

EASTER, 1921.

(A clergyman's response to "Learning Life's Lesson"—Veritas, edium part.) Mail and Empire, Feb. 12th.)
 "Why preach a dying Christ?" man cry, "He came on earth to show The Light of Holy Living and the way that men should go. He spoke the word of comfort, He performed the work of love, To show us thus as brothers how to please our God above. Purgive and be forgiven, give as you would receive, Lead us, we pray, to weaker ones, bring joy to those who grieve, Let self be aye forgotten, In the service of your kind, In the blessed Master's footsteps the way of living find. The awful Cross and Passion, last scene of human strife, Proclaimed supreme devotion in the yielding of the life. And yet that awful Passion, that hour of deepest gloom,— The grave—was the goal of Christ? The end of life, the tomb? Those few brief years in human flesh, closed on the "cursed tree," Were they the "light of every man?" made they the "blind man" see? Did that brief span in every age the sinless soul revive? Did Jesus live to guide our life or die that we might live? The cross, His "hour of glory," upon it looked the Jew As on a stumbling block, and we—"Preach not such folly as the cross," so cried the scornful Greek; And shall we echo, "Folly, there the daily death of man, the last great sacrifice, 'Tis true that these to higher things should heart of man entice; Yet, glory shining from the gloom, first Easter's dawned hour, Proclaim the dawn of truer life, triumphant, birth of Power! All things in Christ because He died, all things in that He rose, And victory won for helpless man o'er man's dark spirit foes. He lived! He died upon the cross; Man, through Christ's dying lives. He lives! Much more, in higher power, the Christ to mortals gives, Yea, should we live as Jesus lived, pursue the way He trod; Yet,—life deriving through the Cross—through Death, the Power of God."

THE LAUGH LINE

Keeping His Wind.
 Dugald McFawish, the all-round athlete and sportsman, visited the village, entered his name for all events in the recent local Highland games. The first event on the programme was the half-mile, and of eight runners, Dugald finished eighth. "Dugald, Dugald," said a fellow Scot, "why do you not run faster?" "Run faster!" he said, scornfully, "and 'me reservin' most for the bag-pipe competition."

Economy Hint.
 "You waste too much paper," said the editor.
 "But how can I economize?"
 "By writing on both sides."
 "But you won't accept stories written on both sides of the sheet."
 "I know, but you'd save paper just the same."

Infant Diet.
 The doctor consulted his thermometer and looked startled. Then he hurriedly tested the patient's pulse.
 "Good gracious, man!" he gasped.
 "What have you been doing? Your temperature is up to danger point, and your pulse is terrific. Have you been limiting yourself to infant diet, as I told you?"
 The patient nodded feebly.
 "Yes, doctor, I have," he whispered.
 "During the last twenty-four hours I have eaten three apple cores, over a dozen match stalks and various buttons; but I find considerable difficulty in chewing the coal."

Consolation.
 Whenever else may happen.
 When our country has gone dry,
 The sailor still will have his port,
 The farmer have his rye;
 The cotton still will have its gin
 The seaman have his bar,
 And each of us will have a bar,
 No matter where we are.

"We Saw Your Letter In the Newspaper"

"YES." "And is that correct what is said about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Yes, it is absolutely true."

"But why do you recommend it?"

"For two very good reasons. First, because it fully restored my health and strength when I was weak, worn out and very greatly discouraged, and, second, because I believe it is a duty as well as a pleasure to let other women know about so superior a treatment."

"I never used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but I got interested in that Woman's Advertising Contest they had, and nearly every woman I met seemed to be talking about it. Then I saw your letter, and knew you would tell me about it."

"Well, you know how weak and miserable I was for years in spite of all the doctors could do for me. I was nervous, irritable, restless and sleepless. Thought sometimes I would go out of my mind from worry and depressed spirits. I need not tell you how well I am now. You can see for yourself. There is the whole story, and all the credit is due to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"I get your viewpoint now. It would be a sin and a shame if you did not tell others."

Spring Weather Hard On Baby

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright; the next raw and blustery is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is so often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, prevent or banish colds, simple fevers, colic or any others of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 36 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Evidence Given That Defendant Was Driven to Fairville Station.

The case of Johnston Lodge, L. O. B. A. vs. Mrs. George O. Akerley, Worldly Grand Mistress of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association for British North America, was continued before Chief Justice McKeeva, Thursday.

Mr. Morrell, chauffeur, stated that Mrs. Akerley came to his garage one afternoon in the latter part of November and hired him to drive her to Fairville where she stated she wished to meet a lady friend. She first directed him to take her to Wall street and after passing her own home, had him stop at a shop where she secured two suit cases. He then drove her to Fairville and left her at the depot.

The same evening he drove Mrs. Houston, another member of the lodge, and some lady friends to Riverview. After the ladies got out of the car he noticed a letter on the floor. It was addressed to a Mrs. Gordon, Toronto, and "Return to Mrs. G. O. Akerley, Grand Worldly Mistress of the L. O. B. A. St. John." was also written on the envelope. He had Mrs. Houston open the letter in his presence. There was nothing but some papers in it, so the letter was sealed and mailed.

Mrs. Houston testified that the date was the 22nd of November.

Money Given Defendant.

Mrs. Ellingwood, secretary of Johnston Lodge in 1919, told of money raised by the lodge by socials, concerts, etc. Nearly $300 was turned into Mrs. Akerley, she said. Mrs. Francis Kerr, who held this position in 1920, told of money raised by the tea rooms at the exhibition, and by other means, which was to have been devoted to the Provincial Memorial Home Fund. Over $100 was turned over to Mrs. Akerley, she said.

Mrs. Fred Emery said she worked in the tea rooms during the exhibition week. She took the money one night, at Mrs. Akerley's request, but turned it over to Mrs. Akerley at the close of the evening. All the money taken in was handled by Mrs. Akerley and her husband. She asked Mrs. Akerley how she counted it, and Mrs. Akerley replied that she had a couple of the Orange Ladies take it to the bank each morning and counted it

C.P.O.S. Pretorian From Glasgow

Steamer Arrived Thursday With 176 Cabin, 163 Steerage Passengers.

The C. P. O. S. Pretorian arrived in port from Glasgow on Thursday and docked at Nos. 2 and 3 berths, dock inside the steamer Mollie.

The Pretorian brought 176 cabin and 163 steerage passengers and about 1,200 tons of general cargo, but no mail. She encountered rough weather all the way across, but no violent storms. She ran into some fog off Newfoundland and also sighted a large iceberg and some drift ice in the same vicinity. Just off the coast she ran into fine weather, and had smooth sailing for the last twenty-four hours before making land. J. K. Paisley, of Beaverbrook, was the only cabin passenger for the Maritime Provinces.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhoea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhoea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhoea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhoea—it guards against other ills.

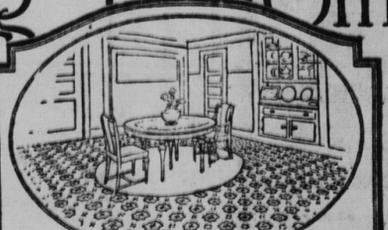

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

In addition, these floor coverings are sanitary and readily cleaned by using mop or damp cloth. They make housework easier and many attractive patterns are available. Ask your dealer to show you the extensive range of Linoleum and Floor Oilcloth rugs. You will be surprised at their low cost.

Insist upon getting Linoleum, Floor Oilcloth and Feltol which is made in Canada by Canadian workmen to withstand Canadian climatic conditions. It will pay you.

"Strike-Breakers Wanted!"

"One Hundred Million Strike-Breakers are Required at Once to Break the Buyer's Strike!"

In this picturesque phrase one of the country's thousands of trade journals advertises the outstanding need of the business world. The problem that confronts business today is to make the millions of striking buyers comprising the general public, both willing and able to buy in such volume that business can go ahead. In order to assist as much as possible in this consummation, THE LITERARY DIGEST has gathered hundreds of opinions from the trade journals of the country. The editors of these publications were asked to send in "editorials or articles, giving advice or hints to manufacturers or business men that will help stimulate business, start the wheels turning, and move the goods, or telling of methods that have actually been tried and have proved successful." Responses came in by the hundred and in THE DIGEST this week, March 26th, the leading article consists of a presentation and digest of these answers. They range from a clever little ad., "guaranteed to sell more paint," to a philosophical consideration of the whole American area of depression, connecting it with similar world-wide phenomena, and indicating that in business, as in war, the world must be considered as a unit.

Trap Shooting In Rain Storm

Members of St. John Gun Club Were at Glen Falls Traps Yesterday.

Bad weather did not stop that of the gun enthusiasts from getting out to Glen Falls yesterday afternoon. Conditions were everything else but good for trap shooting, but nevertheless those that did go out had one of the best shoots that has ever been held on the club grounds.

Instead of using the big automatic trap and standard out in the rain, a regular expert trap was used from the veranda of the club house, and no one was required to go out in the wet. It was surely a day for the small bore gun. Dr. Sancton was breaking them all with his 16 gauge gun, and A. A. Dwight gave a good account of himself with a 20 gauge repeater.

Not being satisfied with using up about 500 rounds of shot shells, the shooters went at the 22 rifle shooting range. Capt. Fraser did some splendid shooting with his target rifle, W. Andrews a close second.

Jim Prokos Wants A Return Match

With Toe Hold Barred Old Time Favorite Thinks He Can Defeat Vadelis.

James Prokos, a favorite with the St. John public here about five years ago, when he wrestled ten matches and won them all, but who was defeated by Ernesto Vadelis, of Halifax, in a hot hold in the Queens Theatre last Tuesday night, wants to meet the Italian again. The only conditions he imposes is that the toe hold be barred. The Greek maintains that, while Vadelis is a stronger and younger man, he is not possessed of his science or of his experience on the mat, and is confident that he can defeat him.

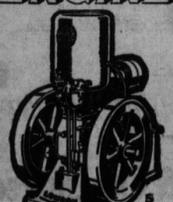

Tuesday night the two grapplers went for fifty-two minutes before Vadelis secured the first fall with the toe hold and won the match.

Started Early. Prokos claims to be the first Greek athlete in America. He came to the States early in his youth, and while working in a factory in Lowell, Mass., at the age of 19 years, defeated all the high school boys of that city in track meet. He was the winner of the broad jump in 21 feet, 6 inches and of the standing jump in 10 feet, 6 inches. Then he took up the lifting sport and teamed with a circus as a strong man. Later he turned his activities to slack rope walking and trick bicycling, and finally the wrestling game.

Prokos claims he was awarded the middleweight title for the New England States and has the belt to prove it.

DEBS OUT ALONE. Atlanta, Ga., March 25.—Eugene V. Debs, returned to the Atlanta federal penitentiary today to resume the routine of prison life after his trip to Washington, where he discussed his case with Attorney-General Justice. "I appreciated the confidence shown in me by letting me go alone and on my honor to Washington," said Mr. Debs, "and I enjoyed the trip."

New Locality For Big Fight

Delegation from Cumberland, Md., Conferred With Rickard and Game Yesterday.

New York, March 25.—A new locality for the possible holding of the Dempsey-Copeland heavyweight championship bout was proposed today when a delegation of citizens from Cumberland, Md., conferred with Promoter Tex Rickard.

Cumberland was an earnest bidder for the Willard-Dempsey bout two years ago, and it was thought at one time that the Maryland city had secured the pugilistic attraction. Later the Cumberland committee of that period endeavored to secure a promise from Rickard that his next bout would be staged there, but no definite assurance was given.

PROTECTIONIST IS DUE FOR A JOLT

The number of men seeking shelter at the Central Police Station, which had grown to such an extent at one time during the winter, that it began to assume the appearance of a problem, has been steadily dwindling away until scarcely any of the "prots." are left.

One young man, twenty-one years of age, and a native of the U. S. A., has never neglected a night, however, and has found the free sleeping quarters offered by the city to be exactly to his tastes. There is such a thing as too much of a good thing, however, and anything over a month in the protection line is viewed as a task and will be asked to seek some other soft spot. Possibly he will be deported, which would not be a half bad idea. Uncle Sam's welcome to all such gentlemen of leisure.

Fight To Retain A Franchise

Akron, Mar. 25.—The fight to retain the International League franchise in this city was abandoned by officials of the Akron Exhibition Company, which held the franchise last year, it was announced here tonight.

Following the announcement, the few players who remained in the city to await the final decision departed for the Newark training camp. The franchise was sold to that city under vote of the league several weeks ago. Jimmy Welsh is slated to lead the Newark Club under the direction of Roy Mack, son of Count Mack, but Ralph Lattimer, who has signed to manage the Akron Club announced he would report for service.

IRISH PEACE NEGOTIATIONS MAY SUCCEED

Terms Under Which a Conference May be Arranged.

ALL PARTIES ARE HOPING FOR PEACE

Carl Ackerman Gives Result of a Two Weeks' Investigation in Ireland and Britain.

(Copyright 1921 by Public Ledger.)

By CARL R. ACKERMAN.
Dublin, March 25.—After a two week's investigation in London and Dublin, I am in a position to cable certain specific terms of a possible Irish settlement which now are being considered by persons in authority to speak for the British Government, the Irish republic and Ulster. They are:

First. Premier Lloyd George is willing to enter into negotiations with Sinn Fein, De Valera personally or the British authorities are prepared to discuss with De Valera or other responsible leaders of the Sinn Fein all problems involved in an Irish settlement.

Second. The British Government is understood to be willing to proffer a truce to the Sinn Fein without insisting on what has previously been primary conditions that the Sinn Fein government put up their arms.

Third. The British are understood to be willing to grant Ireland home rule autonomy under a Dominion home rule bill.

Fourth. Ulster leaders are understood to be willing to confer with De Valera or other responsible officials, and I have reason to believe that De Valera now is considering the question of whether he should meet Sir James Craig privately for a discussion of the unity of South Ireland and Ulster and of a fiscal policy for a united Ireland.

Fifth. The problem of an amnesty for Irish republicans who have directed the guerrilla warfare against the Crown forces, which has wrecked previous peace movements, will not prevent an Irish settlement now if Sinn Fein Ireland wishes to consider peace.

All Are Willing.

Great Britain's Prime Minister and the Ulster representatives are conspicuously willing to discuss peace terms, but in any Irish settlement the consent of two additional parties are essential, the Sinn Fein republicans, or De Valera, and the Irish in America, why by their constant inspiration, encouragement and financial assistance exert a powerful influence upon Sinn Fein policies today. Of course, none of the parties concerned has given official sanction to the proposals put forward by the three alleged negotiators. Sinn Fein has been silent since the peace move of Arthur Vincent has long since disappeared into smoke because it was learned that, despite his contention, he did not represent or speak for Sinn Fein Ireland, but the movement which he unquestionably instituted has been growing and waxing stronger until the present moment, when every thing depends upon the reply of the Sinn Fein leaders themselves and the attitude of the Irish in the United States.

Irish Want Peace.

One does not have to stay in Ireland long to be convinced that fully 95 per cent of the population and the British officials want peace and it wishes could come in any form. It is not until noon tomorrow. One meets any number of persons who remark that if it were not for the Sinn Fein "rumormongers" there would be peace, but on the other hand the Irish people universally retort that if the British withdrew their army the war would end. Previously the "gunmen" and the "black and tans" have been the excuse for defeating all peace moves, but as an evidence of the fact that those who are responsible for the present peace feelings are in a minority, it may be stated that it is now recognized that if peace is made or can be negotiated under the present conditions there must be recognition of the position of both the fighting forces. In other words, I am quite convinced from my conversations here and in London, that there will be no demand by Great Britain for disarmament of the "rebel forces," and if the Sinn Fein army leaders are willing to give up their demand that the British troops withdraw as a preliminary to peace negotiations, there appears to be no reason why disposition of political and economic terms cannot begin.

Every Effort Nearer to Success.

During the last year I have visited Ireland many times and have had knowledge of all attempts to make peace. I have watched each peace succeeding one has come nearer to succeeding than the previous one, and the task undertaken by Archbishop Clune, of Australia, last December, supported as it was by the Vatican, came so near to succeeding that Archbishop Clune's terms still form the basis of intimate discussion between outstanding parties.

While in Rome recently I obtained from a very high official of the Vatican an inside account of these negotiations and the reasons assigned for their failure. The Vatican contended that Archbishop Clune's efforts came to naught because Lord Curzon and Winston Churchill opposed any Irish settlement before the Sinn Fein rebellion was crushed. It was explained that, although Premier Lloyd George wished to negotiate, he was opposed by these two cabinet ministers and the political forces in England which they represented. When I

Britain Will Not Seize German Money

Gov't Says It Does Not Intend to Change Decision Arrived at Last Fall.

Special to The Standard.

London, March 25.—The British Government in an informal statement today gave official sanction to forecasts that it would not alter its decision renouncing its rights under the Versailles treaty to confiscate German balances in English banks and German goods in English bottoms if Germany failed to carry out her treaty agreements. The statement was issued to counteract unofficial German protests that by renunciation of these rights Germany placed herself in a position of not having the legal right to inflict the fifty per cent reparations penalty agreed upon at the London conference.

The Government says today concerning the reparations bill before parliament "that no question arises of seizing goods and there is in particular nothing in the proposals now before parliament which affects the freedom of the German nationals to operate their balances lying in English banks."

The Government renounced these rights last autumn under pressure from bankers and traders in England and it is understood there was fear in these quarters that the Government might change its mind and exercise the powers it has under the treaty in view of events since last autumn.

JAPS BIDDING FOR SERVICES OF HUN FLYERS

Negotiations Conducted With Discretion on Both Sides.

FEW AIRPLANES SHIPPED AS YET

Much of the Technical Information on German Planes Acquired by Japanese.

(Copyright 1921, By Public Ledger.)

By S. B. CONGER.

Berlin, March 25.—Japanese activities in the German aeronautical world about which the correspondence cabled some time ago, are by no means confined to negotiations with the Zepplin Company and relations with air plan manufacturers. The peace move of Arthur Vincent has long since disappeared into smoke because it was learned that, despite his contention, he did not represent or speak for Sinn Fein Ireland, but the movement which he unquestionably instituted has been growing and waxing stronger until the present moment, when every thing depends upon the reply of the Sinn Fein leaders themselves and the attitude of the Irish in the United States.

No Signs of Shipment.

On the other hand there are no indications of any shipment of German airplanes—in any considerable quantity—at least—to Japan. Competent aeronautical experts point out that while theoretically it would be possible to assemble a few airplanes in the manufacture of flying machines—particularly high-powered engines suitable for military purposes—could only be carried out in factories whose existence is catalogued and whose production is under surveillance. None of these has, so far as is known to the aeronautical designers here made any shipments in this direction.

What has been exported in large amounts to Japan is technical information on German airplanes developed and collected by the Inter-Allied Aeronautical Commission under the disarmament provisions of the peace treaty which is available to Japan owing to her membership in the commission, but from which Americans are strictly barred as outsiders.

DISREGARD OF LIFE FEATURE OF THE ATTACK

Trotsky Sacrificed His Troops in Taking City of Kronstadt.

SOVIETS DRIVEN OUT THREE TIMES

Only Six Thousand Men in Garrison — Warships Did Good Work.

Special to The Standard.

London, March 25.—Leon Trotsky, the Russian Bolshevik war minister, leading the attack which resulted in the terrific sacrifices which the assault obtained, according to advice received here by Stockholm. He attacked with overwhelming forces, including Chinese and women, regardless of the heavy loss of life which his followers were suffering.

Kronstadt was engaged from two directions, the main attack coming from Oranienbaum, the big guns of the assault could not be used, but the machine guns of the fortress mowed down the Bolsheviks, still piled up the sea.

French columns incessantly appeared out of the dense fog, and the Bolsheviks eventually succeeded in penetrating the Peterburgski gate, only to be ejected.

Final Assault.

About 7 o'clock on Thursday evening, the troops, who that morning had subdued the island batteries, started another attack, and from the west a fierce final assault was launched. For the third time the Bolsheviks held the city. There was furious street fighting until 3 o'clock in the morning, when the followers of Trotsky became masters of the situation.

Then the revolutionary leaders ordered the garrison to withdraw to Terki, on the Russo-Finnish frontier, the way to which had been kept open. The Bolsheviks arrived in Terki, and held the sailors stood at the guns until the end and declared that they would not leave the city.

It is now stated the Petrovskoi and Sebastopol were not blown up by the revolutionaries, as had been reported, but that the gun locks were thrown into the sea.

The fate of the warships' crews is unknown.

Leader at Terki.

The man who is described as the real leader of the revolution, M. Petrichenko, now at Terki, enjoying popular confidence. Gen. Kozlovski, another of the revolutionary leaders, has applied to the Finnish commander for protection for the refugees.

He today described how Kronstadt fired the first shot in the evening of March 7, and great enthusiasm. It had been hoped to hold out until April 1st, but circumstances were overwhelmingly against the revolutionaries. He added that the garrison, contrary to previous reports, was made up of only six thousand men, whereas the Soviets were able to draw fresh reinforcements and the holders of Kronstadt began to wear out under the enormous strain.

Soviet Is Done.

This, Gen. Kozlovski explained, was due in part to the fact that the Petrovskoi received a full hit on the deck, five men being killed and seven wounded.

The general is convinced that despite the Kronstadt episode "has knocked a hole in the Soviet system."

No Mission From England To U. S.

Gov't Denies Washington Report That International Affairs to be Discussed.

Special to The Standard.

London, March 25.—The British Government has no intention now of sending a mission to the United States to discuss international questions with President Harding, officials said today in denying Washington reports to that effect. It is explained that the cabinet is not particularly adverse to such action but has no plans at this time.

It seems likely that Lord Chalmers will go to Washington to discuss the debt question as arranged some time ago. He was selected for the post before Sir Auckland Geddes came to London and it was intended that he should go to the United States before Ambassador Geddes returned. Then the trip was postponed so that he could accompany Ambassador Geddes to Washington and finally it was decided to indefinitely defer his departure. It was stated then that it was advisable that he go with President Harding rather than the Wilson administration, but undoubtedly the numerous reports published here that the feeling in the United States was against cancellation of debts had something to do with the final postponement.

EXPULSION OF GERMAN AGENTS.

Paris, March 25.—Expulsion of nearly 100 undesirable Germans residing in Strasbourg has been decided upon by the authorities there, it is declared in a despatch from that city to the Petit Parisien.

Chinese Expect To Trade With Russia

Merchants of China Hope for Speedy Resumption of Commercial Relations.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Shanghai, March 25.—Chinese merchants are enthusiastic over the resumption of trade relations between Great Britain and Russia. They anticipate an early similar action by the Chinese Government and the Chinese representatives now at Peking and Shanghai are making preparations for trading.

Chinese markets are stagnant and the belief is general that Russia and Central Europe is capable of absorbing large supplies of raw materials that now are dragging the markets.

Many American business men in Shanghai hoped to trade with Russia through China, despite the blockade. But Yuria, the China representative refused to consider any project until legalized by the American Government.

Machinery, piece goods and motion picture salesmen here were turned down because of uncertain deliveries. One man decides to sell a large supply of army surplus goods.

American traders spent under the impression that it is necessary to barter. Siberians are not anxious to barter, but just to send raw materials into European Russia, while the need is great for manufactured goods, especially machinery.

Should China resume trade relations, Americans will trade with Russia through Chinese firms. The only danger is the Japanese control of the South Manchuria railroad and the port at Vladivostok while the Russian merchants associated with Japanese hold it.

Objection Raised By Americans in China

Proposition to Make Dr. Ferguson Chinese Minister Strongly Opposed.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Peking, March 25.—A despatch from Washington indicating the possibility of the appointment of Doctor John O. Ferguson as next American Minister to China, aroused strong opposition in the American community in Peking, which while recognizing the advantages of Dr. Ferguson's long experience of China, feels his numerical non-Chinese and business affiliations in China and his position as advisor to President Egan render the appointment inadvisable.

The Chinese press generally hopes for Dr. Ferguson's appointment, but Chinese officials are divided, some favoring him due to personal liking or owing to the belief that Dr. Ferguson's Chinese experience would be valuable to both countries, others opposing because his past in connection with the Chinese government might embarrass China if he were minister.

Given Tip To Stay Where They Were

American Reparations Commissioners Told Not to Hurry Home.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Paris, March 25.—There is a rumor from a most reliable source in France-American circles that State Department has "vaguely hinted" to members of retiring unofficial American delegations to the reparations commission "that they stick around for a while and not be in a hurry about coming home until they hear further."

This is supported by curious adverse rumors published in French papers to the effect that the United States is "considering the possibilities and advantages of ratification of the Versailles treaty with important reservations touching the League and the political clauses of the treaty."

At any rate, the American reparations delegation is still hard at work with the Allied delegations.

LOST HER MONEY THEN SUICIDED AT MONTE CARLO

Well Known English Woman Took Her Own Life in Gambling Casino.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS TO HUSH AFFAIR UP

Left Seventeen Year Old Daughter—Said to be Well Connected.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

By WYTHE WILLIAMS.
Paris, March 25.—News of the latest in the scandal of Monte Carlo after more than usual efforts to envelope it in secrecy on the part of the authorities of the principality of Monaco.

Saturday night Mrs. Gattiner, formerly a wealthy English woman, who had lived at the hotel Ruhl in Nice for some months, committed suicide by blowing out her brains, choosing it the scene of her demise the famous Salle Schmidt of the gambling casino at a moment when all the roulette tables were in full swing.

The deceased is believed to have been related by a former marriage to a well known English family and leaves a 17-year-old daughter known as Miss Guesse, the mother of whom directly implied that her former husband was related to the Hon. Freddie Guesse, chief Under-Secretary of the House of Commons, and brother of Lord Wimborne. Her second husband whom she was declared in the process of divorcing, is said to be a major in the British Army.

Were Heavy Losers.

Both mother and daughter were well known figures on the Riviera through out the season and are known to have been heavily in the casino rooms at Nice as well as the mother's own casino. A few weeks ago the mother left the hotel for bungalow lodgings and was then seriously ill, it is believed, from an overdose of drugs. The daughter remained at the Ruhl several weeks after the mother, and often went out wearing several costumes and robes in order to get away every thing valuable before her baggage was seized. The mother appealed to friends several times for money with which to send the daughter home, but this also was added to the gambling losses.

Details of the woman's burial are not available, the authorities declaring that the end of the affair is over to be published.

It is reported that another well known English woman has been arrested on the grounds of picking the pockets of guests at the Casino.

Fled Into Woods To Escape Plane

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, Mar. 23.—"There are even yet, in remote parts of the world, people who never even heard of an airplane. Some of these people live in the little Nicaraguan village of Gigante, where the naval plane NC-6 was forced down by a hurricane while on its flight from San Diego, Cal., to Panama along with about a dozen other planes in January.

They thought the NC-6 was a huge bird, and albatross, which had come in search of some unfortunate mariner who had offended it, and they hid in the woods for several hours.

Near the little cove where the NC-6 came down are two ranches. After the Associated Press correspondent had found the missing NC-6 he visited one of these ranches and asked the women if they had seen the plane arrive. One of them replied:

"Mio Dios, I should think so. At the sight of the horrible thing, I ran over to the white cap, without flapping its wings, and spitting fire from both sides of its body and roaring like 20,000 bulls we all took to the timber were we remained for about four hours. We only came out when we saw a foreign gentleman passing near where we were hiding."

The women said that before the great war, when sailing ships used to visit the Nicaraguan coast to load mahogany and cedar, the captain had told them of a wonderful bird called the albatross that was an inhabitant of the Southern seas and they supposed this bird had come after some of fending sailor.

Lords' Reform Bill Is Coming Soon

Special to The Standard.

London, March 25.—In the House of Lords today, Earl Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs and leader in the House, replying to an enquiry as to the progress of the House of Lords reform proposal, said that the government would bring in a bill at the earliest possible moment, but this would not be done until the next session of the House.

The House passed the criminal law act amendment bill and the third reading of the German reparations bill, providing for a 50 per cent levy on German exports effective after March 31. The Commons passed the second reading of the bill for winding up the ministries of shipping and munitions.

German Soldiers Must Wear Uniform

Reichstag Refuses to Pass Bill Allowing Them to Wear Civies When off Duty.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Berlin, March 25.—"The franchise will object; it cannot be done," was Minister of Defense Gessler's answer in the Reichstag yesterday to Social Democrat proposals that the German soldiers be permitted to wear civies when off duty. Another suggested changed army bill which was up for second reading, that members be permitted to belong to economic and political organizations and to discard their arms when not on duty, also was defeated by the combined opposition of the monarchist parties. Although all their efforts to insert clauses in the bill to narrow the gulf between soldiers and civilians failed, the Liberals succeeded in weathering the renewed opposition of the nationalists against the wording which pledges soldiers to protection of the German republic instead of the German Reich, as formerly. The socialists heartily approve the abolition of compulsory military service, they declared, but would rather it had been done of their own free will than of the command of the Allies.

HUNS' APPEAL RECEIVED BY THE LEAGUE

Make Vigorous Protest Against Penalty Imposed.

COPY SENT TO THE LEAGUE MEMBERS

Austria May Possibly Bring Matter Officially up at Next Meeting of Body.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)

Geneva, March 25.—Germany's protest to the League of Nations against the Allied penalties is a lengthy document, very vigorous and matter-of-fact in tone and well calculated to cause the League considerable embarrassment. After demanding the Allied action as a "violation of the Versailles treaty," the German government sets forth that Germany, though not a member of the League, requests the League council "to do its duty and take immediate steps to introduce the procedure of conciliation as foreseen by the covenant in such a case and bring about immediate abolition of the measure of violence taken by the Allies."

"Germany declares her readiness to assume all the obligations incurred by a member of the League and predicts that the procedure will show 'she is animated by a sincere desire of fulfilling to the best of her ability the terms of the peace treaty and has given no cause for this perturbation of peace.'"

At a League meeting this afternoon under Sir Eric Drummond, it was decided to forward copies of the German note to all members of the League. Council can take action on the note only if it is brought to its notice as a matter affecting world peace by some member of the League. It is thought probable that Austria, being a member of the League, may render this to her old ally. In this case the League would be forced to take the matter up in a council meeting. Though the protest probably will remain without practical results, Germany has certainly succeeded in placing the League in a very embarrassing position and is making excellent propaganda for herself.

Jail For Americans Who Caught Bergdoll

Mosbach, Baden, March 25.—Carl Neuf and Franz Zimmer, United States detectives, have been sentenced to terms in prison in criminal court here for illegal assumption of power.

In attempting to arrest and abduct Grover C. Bergdoll, millionaire draft evader, in Eberbach last January, Neuf, against whom a charge of "inflicting bodily injuries" has been preferred, was sentenced to jail for 15 months, while Zimmer's term in prison was fixed at six months.

The additional charge against Neuf arose from a bullet wound suffered by a young woman when a revolver was fired during the attempted abduction.

AMUSEMENTS

Glad He Tried The Tonic Treatment

Through Its Use Strength and Vigor Were Restored.

To be tired after exertion is natural. Rest and food restore the body to normal. But when the body is so tired all the time it is a symptom of an anemic condition that will not be corrected until the blood is built up. Such an anemic condition is no accident in its approach and generally is the result of some disease that it is better to prevent than to cure. It is better to prevent than to cure. It is better to prevent than to cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. "I was a badly run down condition. My nerves seemed always on edge, and I found myself so weak that I could hardly do any work. I suffered from headaches and from pains in the back and under the shoulders, and was often so sleepless at night that when morning came I felt as if I had never slept. I was taking medicine all the time, but it was doing me no good. Then I read the testimonial of a man whose condition had been similar to mine, and who strongly recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to give this medicine a fair trial, and when I had taken six boxes I felt much better. I continued taking the pills until I had taken six more boxes, and I can only say I am glad I did so, as I am now enjoying the best of health, and I advise all men who feel run down to give these pills a good trial."

Unknown Steamer Is In Distress

New York, March 25.—An unknown vessel in distress, of which no trace could be found after a general search, was reported here today by radio from the steamship West Chalisa en route from Bremen to Baltimore. According to the radio message, early yesterday morning, three rockets fired at short intervals were observed from the bridge of the West Chalisa when it was approximately 250 miles southwest of Halifax. The steamer put about and for a number of hours made a careful search of the ocean for the origin of the signal, but without results. Words of distress from the rockets were flashed by wireless to all other ships in that vicinity.

Easter Eggs

Dear Kiddies:— "Happy Easter to everybody" only do not say too many eggs. We all like to see a bright sunny day for Easter, but if the day is dull so much more do we need to let our own happiness and joyfulness shine so that all may see bright within. You probably all have remembered from former years that big and little folks try to wear some things new on Easter day. They think carrying out the custom brings them luck and perhaps it may anyway. I hope you will all have some new garments to wear next if it be just a "handker" or a boot.

Nellie was visiting her grandmother in the city during the spring holiday and one day as a special treat Grandma took the little country girl down town to look at his shop window. There were many things in the pretty Easter displays that interested Nellie, but the things which appealed to her most were the confections that decorated his candy shop windows. "Just look at all the Easter eggs," she exclaimed, her eyes opening wide. "Why do they have so many different sizes, Grandma?"

It always seemed to me a pity that Easter did not come at the season of the year when the outdoor flowers can show some bloom or even the trees—but then they are rather late with their pink and white dresses. However, we do not have to wait for some warmer climates there are many outdoor blooms at this time of the year, and in those places it is quite easy to plan ahead and have the Easter puzzle accompanied by their answers in our page on the same day. How does that strike you for a new plan? It has often occurred to me that the puzzle accompanied by their answers in our page on the same day. How does that strike you for a new plan? It has often occurred to me that the puzzle accompanied by their answers in our page on the same day. How does that strike you for a new plan?

"An Easter egg does not have to be one size, my dear," said Grandma, as they walked on down the street. "It is the custom for friends to exchange eggs at this season, and the year and people with big pocketbooks want to send big eggs to show their big regard for their friends. Though it is by no means a matter of poor regard to send a small egg, after all it is not the egg that counts, but the thought that prompted the sending."

Of course little friends, this does not mean that you must seek for answers until after you have solved the puzzle. Oh! no, that would spoil all the fun. Do just the same as if the answers were a week away. Work at them and think hard, get some sort of a solution worked out, then glance at the answers and see how near right you are. Tell me in your letters what you think of this new Easter suggestion and if it is not a real success we can easily revert to our old custom again.

"But I can't take it out and hold it in!" said Nellie. "No, but you can look at it," said Alice. "It's very fine to put in a fish-goldfish." "And very fashionable, too," put in her brother with a wink. "Well, if they said so it must be true, but Nathalie thought she would rather have a different kind of a pet. She looked so sad that Alice said, 'We're going after pussy willows this afternoon and we'll take you along.' So it was a very happy little girl that got off the trolley car near the creek where the pussy willows grow.

THE EASTER CHRIST (By Frank Yeigh.) Who is the Easter Christ on whom is focused the thought and worship of many millions? Who is the maker of men who, through all the ages, has attracted the sons of men? Why are hundreds of thousands gathering at the Easter time, waiting in the shadow of Moscow's Kremlin, waiting with bated breath for the ringing of the great bell that tells of the Easter dawn, when they kneel in devout worship?

AN EASTER PARTY FOR CHILDREN No party is a real Easter affair without the time-honored egg hunt, and the eggs may be genuine ones colored or the pretty candy ones that come in all sizes. Provide little baskets or bags for the kids and see it added by laying prizes for certain eggs, say one of gold, one of silver and one royal purple. The rewards for the pretty boxes filled with bonbons or a big fat "Benjamin Bunny" candy box. Large sized egg-shaped boxes come ready to be filled with bonbons or any little favors the hostess may wish to bestow.

Why do other thousands through the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, struggling for a place in the historic pile, and near what is, to them, the sacred tomb? Why do the peoples of most of the world's races and tongues, from king to peasant, forsake today, moved by common impulse, to bow the knee before the King of Kings? Wherever there is a cross or spire, wherever there is a believer in His name, there this Easter day will the magnetism of the Easter Master be felt.

THE EASTER LILY. (By Edith Virginia Brandt.) Crown of snow and heart of gold— Sweetest tale was never told Than the story that I sing Of the lily's blossoming. When the stone was rolled away At the breaking of the day, And the earth was opened With the light of Evenside, In the garden still and sweet, Where the Master's feet Fell upon the yielding earth, There the lily had its birth.

Who is this Easter Christ? A King, no less; but more, a King of all kings, a Lord of all lords. He hath on His vesture a name written; King of kings and Lord of lords. A King conscious of His power, "All power is given unto me, in both heaven and earth." "Ye call me Master and Lord, and so I am." "All things are delivered of my Father." "Who is this Easter Christ? Not one who has lived His life, but one who ever liveth; one before whom every knee must bow; and yet one who seeks the allegiance of men in personal loyalty, and one who with all-mightiness, asks the help of men in bringing in His kingdom. He is the Easter Christ.

That some grown-ups find it hard to understand a healthy child's need for constant physical activity is shown by a story that comes from New England. In the midst of the "long prayer" at Sunday service, a lad of seven or eight leaned over to his mother and whispered: "Mother, do you think they would care if I went through my setting-up exercises while the minister prays? I am awful tired of sitting still."—Star's Magazine.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

DAFFODIL

A Peep into Uncle Dick's Mail

Dear Uncle Dick:— "Happy Easter!" she called, and then ran over to look at her pet. There he sat on the hall mat, washing his face. "Why, how did you get out here?" asked Nathalie. "You were shut up in the kitchen." "It was easy enough to answer that question, Daffodil had merely pushed open the swinging door between the kitchen and dining room. He was just having a green ribbon tied around his neck when down came Alice and Jim. "Oh, look at my Easter kitty!" cried the proud Nathalie. "Hi!" grunted Jim. "Cats aren't Easter pets, but rabbits are." And he went to find Pink, his rabbit. "Children are honest even after Easter," said Alice. "I mean I have eggs when my chick grows up." And she went.

When Easter Day came for the second time in Fluff's life he seemed so much excited about it as a fuzzy yellow toy chicken can be. He remembered last Easter Day, when he had stood at Dick's place on the breakfast table. Would there be another chicken this time, he wondered. He dreamed the coming of a new pet— a fluffy one of his own species and spanned all his thoughts. He had known what was coming, he would have stopped right off the nursery mantelpiece to the floor. But he did not stop, and he stood in his place and waited for Dicky to take him down for their morning game together.

Presently, while Fluff waited on the mantelpiece and Dicky sat on the floor and gazed at his Easter cards, Uncle Richard came striding in with a box under his arm. Uncle Richard had not been long home from overseas, and he still wore his uniform. Yet in spite of his butternut and his straps he sat down, "clickety-click," on the floor beside Dicky. He held out a box. "There, old man," he said. "That's your Easter gift, all the way from Switzerland!" Dicky grasped the box and tore off the wrappings while Fluff stared at his perch on the mantelpiece. The boy pulled out the lid. "Why, it's a peacock!" he cried. They set the toy peacock on his feet. He was a gorgeous bird, with a long neck and a beautiful tail. Uncle Richard turned something in the side of the top, and then—step—step—step—away the peacock marched straight across the floor! Presently he stood still and spread his splendid tail wide and wider, until it looked like a beautiful fan.

"Oh, Oh!" Dicky gasped. "Make him walk like my Uncle Richard! Make him walk again!" And again the peacock walked. Fluff's little black eyes almost popped out of his head. He saw that his day was over, but he was not in the least jealous. Was not this glorious peacock more worthy of Dicky's love than a shabby yellow chicken? He could not hold feeling sad and a little lonely. Just then Uncle Richard glanced at the clock. "Goin' to walk to church with me?" he asked. Dicky jumped up and put his new pet carefully on one end of the mantelpiece. "I'll look at you again when I come back from Aunt Mary's this afternoon," he said.

AN EASTER SECRET. I'll tell you a secret if you won't tell I looked an Easter egg and when I was looking I went to the barn. And slipped it under our old hen. An Easter egg is laid by a rabbit— And won't it be just lots of fun. When our hens' eggs hatch out and one will turn out into a cute little bun!

A Sunset. Life seems so sweet! I don't know why. Perhaps it's just because the sky Put on tonight to make me glad, A dress I didn't know she had. —Mary Carolyn Davies.

JOHN B. (LARRY) McLEAN SHOT TO DEATH IN BOSTON SALOON

Baseball Player Well Known in St. John Was Victim in Saloon—John J. Connor Arrested for Murder—John McCarthy, McLean's Chum, Dying from Wounds.

Boston, Mar. 24.—John B. (Larry) McLean, former major league catcher, and a native of Fredericton, N. B., was shot to death in a South End saloon today. His companion, John F. McCarthy, of the Roxbury district, is on the dangerous list at the City Hospital with a bullet in his stomach and John J. Connor, saloon manager, who fired the shot is held without bail charged with murder.

Self Defence—Connor declared he fired in self defence when McLean started to climb the bar and attack the counter when Connor reached for a pistol and fired.

Connor told the police McLean and McCarthy had quarrelled recently with another bar tender, and had made some threats against the saloon and its bar force.

Transfusion of Blood—Boston, Mar. 25.—John F. McCarthy, who was shot in the chest and brother after he had been seriously wounded in the bar room brawl in which John "Larry" McLean, native of Fredericton, N. B., and former baseball player, was killed yesterday, was at the point of death today. Physicians at the City Hospital held out little hope for his recovery.

Continuance of Case—When James J. Connor, the bar tender who held the man who fired the shot, was arraigned in the police court it was said that McCarthy probably would die before the day was over, and a continuance of the case was asked by the police and granted. Connor is charged with McLean's murder and with assault with intent to kill McCarthy.

Well Known Here—The death of "Big Jack McLean" will be read with great interest by the older baseball fans in St. John, for it was in Fredericton and this city that he was first known as a wonderful player. In 1901 he was a valuable

George Drew Found Guilty of Assault

Charged With Criminally Assaulting Six Year Old Girl—Crime of Shocking Nature.

A verdict of guilty was returned against George Drew in the circuit court Thursday afternoon, on the charge of criminally assaulting six-year-old Evelyn Northrup.

The evidence was concluded in the morning by the calling of the Sergeant-Detective Powers and George A. Hooper, police court clerk, for the crown.

Witnesses for Defence—The witnesses who testified for the defence were: Drew's father and mother who made statements to the effect that the accused was in the house from time to time during the afternoon in question. John Hayes, Leo Hayes, Robert Shortt and Edward O'Brien said the accused was in Knox's pool room in Brunswick street all the afternoon. Mrs. Mary Halliday also gave evidence and the accused went on the stand and denied all the evidence the crown had produced against him. He said he was not in City Road and that he never met any witnesses who testified to seeing him. The rest of the morning session was taken up with an address to the jury by Geo. H. V. Belyea, K. C., counsel for the defence.

Jury Out An Hour—When the court opened, after the noon recess, Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., delivered the address for the prosecution, and Judge Crockett charged the jury in an exhaustive summing up, in which he reviewed all the evidence produced. The jury retired at a little after four o'clock and after an hour's deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty on the first count in the indictment, that of criminally assaulting Evelyn Northrup.

The Nearing Case—Court then adjourned until Tuesday at 10.30 when the case of William Nearing, charged with a similar offence on the persons of Janis Morris, aged eight and Beatrice Morris, aged ten, will be taken up. Scott E. Morrell will conduct the defence in the Nearing trial.

It is thought that sentence will not be imposed on Drew until the conclusion of the Nearing trial.

A Shocking Case—The crime which Drew is found guilty of is one of the most shocking that has ever taken place in the City of St. John. This two little Northrup girls were playing with a framer in front of their home when a hand came along, spoke to the children, was next seen hauling them through the street on their framer, and as one man who witnessed the occurrence said: "I thought it was some kind of father who was giving his children a sleigh ride." The head was next seen hauling the children over the railway tracks towards a passenger car. It was not until the little girls arrived home that their mother learned they had been frightfully outraged. A doctor was called and on examination ordered their immediate removal to the hospital. The six-year-old child was in one time in a critical state, and as the dreadful news spread about the city, fathers of children and in fact every right-thinking man used strong language, and it was believed when an arrest was made that the prisoner might be taken from the officers and dealt with as an excited mob thought best.

A Jury of reputable men have found George Drew guilty of a terrible crime and all citizens will now anxiously await to see if the sentence will fit the crime.

Investigation Into Wreck of Steamer

Dominion Wreck Commissioner L. A. Demers Here—Captain and Crew Arrive.

Captain L. A. Demers, Dominion Wreck Commissioner, has arrived in the city to begin the investigation into the stranding and subsequent loss of the stranded "City of Colombo" which drove ashore on the Nova Scotia Bay of Fundy coast. When the hearing will start has not yet been decided yet but it will probably start on Monday or Tuesday. The delay is caused by the fact that the underwriters have not yet accepted the wrecked ship although the vessel has been abandoned by her owners. As soon as word of her acceptance is received from the insurance people the inquiry will be begun.

Captain Arrives—When the C. P. R. steamer Empress arrived from Digby yesterday afternoon at 6.30 o'clock she brought among other passengers Captain Robertson of the wrecked steamer along with a few officers and East Indian members of the crew. The Captain was met at the dock by a representative of the ship's local agents, J. T. Knight & Co., and also other friends. He will remain in the city along with his officers until the investigation is finished.

Captain Robertson is a young commander who was making his first voyage in charge of the ship. He is a popular young man with those who had the pleasure of making his acquaintance and the outcome of the investigation will be looked forward to by many. The crew will be sent to different places where they signed the ship's articles.

Latest Reports—The latest reports are to the effect that the City of Colombo is a total wreck. The mere fact that the Captain and remainder of his crew has abandoned the ship and are now in Digby, St. John is evidence enough to show that any chance of saving the steamer is gone. The tug Murray Stewart along with government steamers have also left the scene of the wreck. All that is now left awaits fishermen and wreckers.
