Mrs. Geo. McKeon, of Dryden, N.Y., with her son Max, is spending a few weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Devlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fraser, of New York, arrived here a few days ago, and will spend the summer vacation with friends in this section.

Lieut. Donald M. Scott, son of A. B. Scott, Smith's Falls, who recently got his commission as lieutenant, has joined the 240th Lanark and Renfrew Battalion and is now at Renfrew.

There is much talk in Pembroke at present in favor of the town separating from Renfrew county for municipal purposes, and a movement in that direction in the near future is not improbable.

There is a rumor in Pembroke at present that Major G. W. White, M.P., who went to England as second officer in command of the Forestry Battalion to return home to organize and take command of another battalion.

The Ladies Aid of the Baptist church will hold an April Sale in the Arcade, corner Bell and Bridge streets on Thursday, July 6th, afternoon and evening. Afternoon tea will be served, also Ice Cream and Strawberries.

After an illness of two weeks from typhoid fever, the death occurred in the Smiths Falls Public Hospital of Albert G. Cousins, at the age of 25 years and five months. The deceased had been a resident of Smiths Falls for about eight months, and was an employee in the C.P.R. shops, coming there from Trenton. He was a fine young man and was held in high esteem by the officials and all others with whom he associated. He is survived by his wife and baby son, who have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Miss Eva Stewart, of Ottawa, spent the holiday at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Clarke, of Quebec, are spending a few days in town.

Mr. George McMullen, of Merrickville, spent the week-end at his home here.

Miss Myrtle Alexander, of Ottawa, visited with friends in town over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Riddell and Miss Mary leave on Friday for a trip to the old country.

The big La Tena's circus is due in Carleton Place on Friday next and will make a street parade.

The receipts from a garden party in aid of the Public Hospital at Smiths Falls amounted to $2,400.

Misses Hazel Merriam and M. Ferguson, of Ottawa, were guests of the Misses McCallum for the holiday.

Misses May Doherty and Miss Jean Craig, of Beckwith, spent a few days last week with friends in Brockville.

Miss May McFadden, who has been teaching school in Medicine Hat, Alta., arrived a few days ago to spend the vacation at her home.

The ladies of St. Andrews church, Appleton and once a Lawn Social for Friday evening next, July 7th, with the usual attractions.

Mr. Arthur Burnie, with a friend, Preston Hawes (a native of Carleton Place), both of Ottawa, spent the week-end with friends in town.

St. Mary's church lawn social, fixed for this evening, has been postponed to Thursday evening on account of the wet condition of the grounds.

Mrs. Matthew Drummond, of Griswold, Man., is visiting her old home at Carleton Place. She arrived too late for the funeral of her brother, the late John McArthur.

Mr. Eric Emerson, who has been some years in the west with headquarters at Calgary, is making a visit to his parents here at present. He is accompanied by his wife.

Harry Menzies, A. McFarlane, L. Devlin, Warner Morphy and Stanley McCullough, of the Queen's Field Ambulance Corps, spent the week-end at their respective homes.

The late Hon. J. R. Stratton, of Peterboro, left an estate valued at $370,641. Of this his widow receives $65,000 and the interest on $50,000. To each of three sisters he left $30,000.

We regret to learn that Mr. James Creighton, who left here in the spring for Swift Current, Sask., has had the misfortune to meet with an accident. Whilst engaged on the construction of an elevator a piece of timber fell and struck him upon the left shoulder. Although suffering considerable pain he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

Fire Last Night.

Shortly before 12 o'clock last night a fire was discovered in the stable of Mr. James Garland, just across the C.P.R. tracks at the foot of Franklin street, and the alarm brought the fire ladders out in double quick time. Two streams were laid from the hydrant near the tracks, and although the building seemed all afire before the firemen got there they reduced the flames in a remarkably short time. How the fire originated is unknown. There was little in the building of value. Part of it was fitted up for a dwelling and had been used as such for a time. The loss is estimated at $500, with some insurance.

Boy Killed by a Horse.

A very sad accident occurred in Goulbourn yesterday, near to Ashton, when Stanley, the eight year old son of Mr. Patrick Brady, was battered to death by a horse. The little fellow had taken the animal—always a quiet one—to the pump for water about noon, and boylike fastened the rein about his body to enable him to hold the better. After drinking the horse reared up and the little fellow fell. This scared the animal and he started for the barn, pulling the boy after him, every jump the animal took bringing its hoofs in contact with the boy's body, and bruising him terribly, so that he succumbed to his injuries. The deepest sympathy is expressed for the family in their sudden bereavement.

To Aid Soldiers Suffering from Gas Poisoning.

A lawn social will be held on the grounds of Mr. Wm. Findlay on Wednesday, July 5th, from four to eight p.m. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of a hut for the proper treatment of soldiers suffering from gas poisoning. In case of rain the social will be postponed to Thursday. At 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6 and 6.30 p.m. an auto will call at Baird & Riddell's to carry anyone who may wish to be taken to the social for a five cent fare. An auto will call at any residence and carry passengers to the grounds for ten cents if Mrs. Wm. Findlay is notified. Everyone welcome. Come and help rejoice over the Allies' Victorious Drive. Silver collection.

Nesbitt—Nesbitt

On Wednesday evening last, at St. Paul's Kirk Manse, Franktown, there was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Lowry, the marriage of Miss Eva Gertrude Nesbitt and Mr. John Nesbitt, both of the ninth line of Beckwith. The bride was handsomely dressed in beautiful white silk with veil to match, and the groom was neatly attired in a black suit. After the ceremony, the happy couple drove to their new home adjacent to Black's Corners, where they will pursue farming. Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt are both well and favorably known in Beckwith, and they have the most cordial good wishes and congratulations of a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Geo. B. McGregor, of Pembroke, spent the 1st with his brothers here.

Mr. O. Menary, of Ramsay, announces a big sale for Tuesday next, the 11th instant.

Mrs. W. B. Williamson and children, of Ottawa, have pitched their tents at Sandy Beach for the summer.

The Orangemen will attend service in Zion church in a body next Sunday evening, and will be addressed by Rev. J. J. Monds.

Street Commissioner Wilson is also the owner of a new car—a Chevrolet. The horseless carriage is losing none of its popularity.

Stearns—Cameron

On Wednesday evening, June 21st, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Cameron, at Franktown, was the scene of a quiet wedding ceremony, when their daughter, Miss Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. John Stearns, of Tenby, N.Y. J. W. S. Lowry being the officiating minister. The bride, who was very handsomely attired in a dress of white silk was given away by her brother, Mr. John Cameron, while Mrs. W. D. Cameron played an appropriate wedding march. Only the relatives of the bride and groom were present on the occasion. After the usual greeting and congratulations, the guests sat down to a beautiful wedding supper, at the end of which Rev. Mr. Lowry made a humorous speech heartily congratulating the bridal pair and wishing them long life and blessing and health and happiness, and for which the groom expressed thanks. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns will reside on the groom's parental home farm, situated on the town line between Beckwith and Drummond, where their many friends will follow them with their best wishes for a long and joyful married life.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Kells was the scene of a pretty, quiet wedding last Thursday morning, when their daughter Nellie was united in the holy bonds to Mr. Charles F. Burgess. The ceremony took place in the drawing-room, which was tastefully decorated with flowers, at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. A. A. Scott, M.A., officiating. The bride looked charming in a pretty gown of blue chiffon taffeta silk, with peach silk crepe de chene blouse, white hat and ostrich boa, and carrying a bouquet of roses and fern. After the usual congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Burgess left for a motor tour, and will visit the parental home of the groom at Baltimore, Toronto and Niagara Falls and other places before returning, when they will make their home on Beckwith street. The bride was the recipient of numerous handsome gifts, testifying to her popularity. Our hearty good wishes follow them.

Myriam—Steele-Macdonough.

The Church of the Messiah, Avenue Road, Toronto, was the scene of a marriage on June 28th, in which the social circle of Carleton Place was very much interested. It was the nuptials of Milo Harris Steele, D.D.S., one of the town's most popular young men. The bride was Miss Lauretta Isabel Macdonough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Macdonough of Annapolis, who was given away by her father, the officiating clergyman being Rev. H. A. Ball, M.A. The bride, who was unattended, wore a travelling gown of dove blue taffeta silk with blouse of Tuscan colored georgette crepe and large picture hat of leghorn faced with dove blue georgette crepe and trimmed with roses in pastel shades, with corsage bouquet of pale pink June roses and lily of the valley, her only ornament a gold necklace with pendant of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her going away hat was of black wendish with facing of Tuscan georgette crepe and tailored trimming of blue and tuskant. After the ceremony the happy pair left for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, and purpose returning by lake and river route. THE HERALD unites with the many friends of the groom in extending congratulations and good wishes and a hearty welcome to Carleton Place to the bride.

Sudden Death of William E. Whyte.

On Thursday last Mr. William E. Whyte worked all day, on his coal delivery, and on reaching home was very tired. During the evening he called for his physician and later on a second doctor was called, the result being a decision to send the patient to Ottawa for specialist treatment. Mr. Whyte had been in poor health for some time, suffering from pains in his head, succeeding an attack of measles. He was taken to the hospital at Ottawa on Friday morning, where during the day he was operated upon for an abscess on the brain, but on Saturday morning the life-spark departed. Deceased was almost 35 years of age. Born at Ashton, being a son of Mr. Robert Whyte, he was well and favorably known throughout this section. For some years he was engaged on the railway as a fireman or engineer, and on leaving that company invested in a dray and had been in business since in that capacity. He is survived by his wife, formerly a Miss McIlrae, daughter of Mr. Malcolm McIlrae of Beckwith, and four children, all of whom have the deep sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. Mr. Whyte was a member of the Independent Foresters, and an Orangemen, a Presbyterian in religion and a member of St. Andrews congregation. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at Pine Grove cemetery, and was very largely attended. Numerous floral tributes adorned the casket.

NATTY FOR SPRING.

The Kind of Suit That Gives Service and Style.

The material for this costume is mustard colored poplin cut with fullness over the hips, both skirt and coat. The braided trimming and a cutaway front are good points. Four buttons close the coat, which takes a snug waist line. Poplin is one of the popular textiles.

INTERESTING MENUS.

If You Must Be Economical, Read This Food Schedule.

Sunday.—Cream of pea soup, fricassee chicken, sweet potatoes, cauliflower, apple nut mayonnaise salad and fruit soufflé.

Monday.—Bouillon, ham en cassé, rôlé, white potatoes, spinach, beef relish, tapoca pudding.

Tuesday.—Tomato soup, chicken pot pie (left from Sunday), peas, rice, egg-sardine salad, pastry.

Wednesday.—Cream of potato soup, beef loaf, macaroni or white potatoes, carrots, lettuce-tomato salad, corn-starch pudding.

Thursday.—Consomme, roast pork, white potatoes, parsnips, squash, onions, apple-celery salad, acid gelatin dessert.

Friday.—Cream of onion soup, broiled fish, white potatoes, tomatoes, beets, lettuce, cheese salad, light steamed pudding.

Saturday.—Vermicelli soup, baked beans, tomatoes, coldsaw, stewed fruits.

On Monday the ham should be just enough for one meal.

Tuesday the pot pie is made from leftover chicken from Sunday dinner.

Wednesday there can be enough of the loaf left for a lunch on Thursday.

Thursday buy a small roast of pork, some may be left, or two chops could be reserved and broiled for Friday's lunch.

Fish on Friday. As we seldom care for leftover fish, enough should be purchased for one meal. If boiled fish is preferred extra may be purchased so as to have a leftover which may be creamed for lunch Saturday.

Saturday there will be baked beans, and of course enough for one or two breakfasts or a lunch. These are considered perfectly balanced meals and are merely samples of what may be done if the woman will plan ahead and devote time and thought to her menus.

Skirt Hangers.

Nothing can be said against the ordinary skirt hangers of wood; but, as every woman likes useful things to be as ornamental as possible, there is a great deal to be said in favor of the strips of ribbon or linen that can be embroidered to form skirt hangers. Each strip has a brass ring attached to one end and a brass clasp at the other. The ring is intended to be slipped over the nail or hook from which the skirt suspends. In the teeth of the clasp the skirt is held securely. The hangers can be made for oneself or they can be made as a shower gift.

Many Ribbons.

Ribbons are used generously as trimmings for afternoon and dance frocks these days. They are made into panels, loop upon loop, and are sewed around wide skirts in graduated widths. Very broad ribbons of soft brocade patterns are draped over the bodice under a veiling of tulle, and very narrow ribbons are plaited and used as an edge trimming. Gay little bowknots and rosettes of ribbon flutter from dance frocks captivately.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries dedicated to tired Mothers as they join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

THE QUALITY OF FRIENDSHIP

Ralph Waldo Emerson was a good soul, else he would not have said: "The only way to have a friend is to be one." It doubtless would distress the sage of Concord beyond measure were he capable of realizing that there is a well founded suspicion that the art of friendship is dying out among us.

The friendship of the ancients was very exacting. In modern times we should look a long while for such mutual regard as that of Damon and Pythias.

Friendship in our crowded days covers a wider area, but as in the case of all extensive development it has lost its intensity. Instead of friendship we have visiting lists. Not those whom we love, but those whom we would propitiate, we invite to dinner. Those who would propitiate us invite us in turn and permit us to eat their food and air our views.

We live, alas, in the suburbs of each other's hearts.

The man without friends, or at the least without one dependable friend, can accomplish very little in this world. Depending on his own strength alone, his mightiest endeavors are as nothing. At harvest time he gathers nothing but leaves.

But the man with friends—strong friends, true friends and loyal friends—who have confidence in his integrity and ability to do things, has great power. When he leaves they will follow him, and all working together unitedly bring victory. This is the reason why some men achieve great success with moderate abilities, while their more brilliant competitors fall short. This is true in every business and profession. It does not matter so much whether a man has enemies or not as that he has true friends who will never desert him.

To have loyal friends is worth all else. To have friends who can be depended on is to gain success in life. But there is one thing to be borne in mind. To have true friends you must be one. The quality of loyalty you get depends on the quality you give.

The world need never shed a tear for its sainted dead. They are safe as the harvest is when the farmer has bound it into sheaves and stored it away or as the roses are when the gardener has wrapped their roots in straw and housed them from the storm. They are safe as the larks that fly singing from the green earth, out of reach of the huntsman's snare and the aim of the cruel sportsman's. They are safe as warriors who march beneath worn battle flags no more, but sit down with conquerors to festivals of song and wine. They are safe as young lambs are when shepherds fold them from the blast and carry them over rough places in tender arms. Weep for the living all you choose; let your tears be unstayed above the dying bed where your darlings lie like wreaths of fading snow beneath the glance of death; but if you believe in God and hold any faith in heaven, shed not your tears for the blessed and happy dead. Christianity gives the lie to its belief when it garbs itself in sables and mourns without comfort for those who have exchanged the inn for the palace, the wilderness for the land of peace and plenty.

The real business of life is the making of a happy home. When you come to sift the whole chaff of existence, everything goes to the wind but the happiness we have had at home.

All about us are beautiful homes which are mere pauper houses, so far as happiness is concerned, because of some one member of the family who is a petty tyrant, a nagger, a peace destroyer.

In hours of exuberance and exultation or joyous merriment; in reflective moments when the soul is swept with memories, pleasing or plaintive; or in the silence of religious meditations; or in our little recesses from the homely duties and commonplace labors of the day, or week, they befriend us with their delightful solace, these thoughts of home and a happy family circle.

There are six secular nights in each week. Out of the six some men spend one at home and five at lodge, while others spend five at home and one at lodge. In which class shall we register your name?

We are coming to understand that all the prayers and baptisms and communions which the churches can bestow upon us will not make us Christians, so long as we think mean, uncharitable thoughts of one another and permit our minds to be filled with malice, envy, jealousy, gloom and despondency.

Work is a moral and physical uplifter, it is a panacea for sorrow; idleness brings moral decay and furnishes an incentive to crime. The avalanche of crime that is sweeping over our beautiful land is largely due to the fact that too many would rather steal than work. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure, is the end of life which makes the great men and women. The best prize that life offers is the chance to work at work worth doing.

PRUNING OF TREES.

Always use a pole saw and pole shears on the tips of long branches, and use the pole hook in removing dead branches of the althaus and other brittle trees where it would be too dangerous to reach them otherwise.

Do not "head back" or cut off the top of a tree except where the tree is old and failing, and then under special instructions.

Be as sparing and as judicious in pruning as possible, and do not raise the branches so high as to make the tree look like a telegraph pole.

Commence pruning the tree from the top and finish at the bottom.

Make every cut as close and parallel to the trunk as possible.

To make the cut perfectly smooth the saw must be well set and sharp.

Leave no stubs, dead and dying wood, or fungus-covered branches behind you.

Do not fail to cover every wound with coal tar, not allowing it needlessly to run down the trunk.

Do not remove several large branches on one tree at a time. They must be removed gradually, the work extending over several seasons.

Prevent tearing the bark off by first making an "undercut."

Make the cuts on a slant. Some trees, like the elm, sycamore, linden and willow will stand the process of heading back more than others, and is a tree that must be cut back every few years to keep its crown from becoming too tall and unsafe.

When shortening a branch, leave a few twigs at the end to draw the sap to the freshly cut wound and thus enable the growing layer under the bark to heal it over.

In trimming small branches or shoots, the cut must be made just above a bud.

When several branches come out from the trunk in a whorl, they should not all be cut away at the same time lest the tree be girdled. This arrangement of branches occurs most frequently in the coniferous trees.—American Forestry.

It was Alive.

The young lady had been educated at college and was giving an order to the grocer, says London Answers:

"I require some cheese," she said.

"Yes, miss," replied the grocer, smiling amiably. "I have some lovely cheese."

"You should not say 'lovely cheese,'" said the girl, severely. "'Lovely' should be used only to qualify something that is alive."

The grocer's smile broadened as he glanced at the Gorgonzola. "Well, then, miss," he said, "I'll stick to 'lovely.'"

CANADIANS HONORED.

Military Cross and D.S.O.'s Awarded for Gallantry.

LONDON, June 26.—A number of additional Canadians have been singled out for honors. Lieut. Henry Hobbs has been given the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry on many occasions, notably, when after working half an hour under heavy shell fire, he rescued a man from a blown-in dugout. He has since been wounded. Others who secured the Military Cross were: Capt. John Arthur Callum, of the Medicals, attached to the 28th Battalion; Captain Albert, Peter Miller, of the 21st Battalion; Lieut. James Auld, of the 16th Artillery; Lieut. Peter Brown, of the 22nd Battalion; Lieut. John Arnold Hackson, of the 29th Battalion; Robert Powell, of the 4th Engineers, and Lieut. George Speer, of the 21st Battalion.

The Distinguished Service Order has been awarded to the following: Lieut.-Col. Griesbach, 49th Battalion, for conspicuous gallantry and skill in handling his battalion during a heavy bombardment, and subsequent attack by the enemy; on another occasion by prompt action and his fine example he was largely responsible for the rescue of several men buried by shell fire.

Captain Evelyn William Uniacke, King Edward's Horse, when a party of the enemy penetrated an unoccupied portion of our trench the captain organized bombing parties, one of which he led himself, though twice severely wounded, he continued fighting till the enemy was driven out.

H. A. Craig, of the Patricias, picked up an enemy bomb which had fallen in the middle of four bombers and threw it over the parapet, where it immediately exploded. He thereby saved many casualties.

Company Sergeant-Major Miles, 49th Battalion, during a heavy bombardment by the enemy, moved from place to place over the open under heavy fire, directing and encouraging the men and rescuing buried men. He has frequently been brought to notice for his bravery.

ANOTHER U-BOAT JOURNEY.

German Submarine on Way to New York, Says Spanish Despatch.

LONDON, June 26.—The mysterious visit of the German submarine U-35 to the Spanish port of Cartagena last week is described by the Madrid correspondent to Lloyd's Weekly News as having as its object the delivery of an autograph letter from the Kaiser to King Alfonso, conveying proposals for peace.

The correspondent also sends an unconfirmed report that another U-boat is on the way to New York with "a peace letter" for President Wilson.

"Spanish papers," the despatch says, "publish a telegram from Cadix saying an important personage states that another boat is on its way to New York bearing an autograph letter from the Kaiser to President Wilson, and that it is expected there on Monday."

Jealousy.

Jealousy is a consumption bred within the structured house of love when all its windows are sealed. When we are jealous we try to shut ourselves up in a shadowed privacy or timid misanthropy. We want some one all to ourselves. We fear that if we open the doors and let in the current of others' affection or the winds of impersonal interest our own share of love may be swept away. A woman may be jealous not only of her husband's friends, but of his work and even of his religion. This means she has kept her windows closed and shuttered, so that she looks always at the walls of her house of love, never through and beyond them.—Dr. R. C. Cabot.

AUTOINTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

The Dangerous Condition Which Produces Many Well Known Diseases.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THIS TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" — The Wonderful Fruit Medicine — will Protect You

Autointoxication means self-poisoning, caused by continuous or partial constipation, or insufficient action of the bowels.

Instead of the refuse matter passing daily from the body, it is absorbed by the blood. As a result, the Kidneys and Skin are overworked, in their efforts to rid the blood of this poisoning.

Poisoning of the blood in this way often causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Disturbed Stomach. It may produce Headaches and Sleeplessness. It may irritate the Kidneys and bring on Pain in the Back, Rheumatism, Gout, and Rheumatic Pains. It is the chief cause of Eczema—and keeps the whole system unhealthy by the constant absorption into the blood of this refuse matter.

"Fruit-a-lives" will always cure Auto-intoxication or self-poisoning—as "Fruit-a-lives" acts gently on bowels, kidneys and skin, strengthens the bowels and tones up the nervous system.

CANADIAN INDUSTRY, COMMERCE AND FINANCE.

Canadian business men, and those in other countries doing business, or prepared to do business in Canada, have felt the need of a concise and accurate source of information concerning Canadian industry, commerce and finance. Such a volume has just been prepared, and published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Limited, 45 St. Alexander Street, Montreal.

The opening chapters of the book are devoted to a discussion of modern business methods as applied to Canada, in which the author deals with the three divisions—industry, commerce and finance—in a lucid and authoritative manner. The aim is to present the information in such a way as to make it easily comprehensible. The volume is of particular value to the young business-man and to foreigners doing business with Canadian merchants. The information is especially useful to Canadian merchants at the present time when so many firms are beginning to do an export trade, to which a considerable portion of the book is devoted.

The first chapter on industry deals with each of the various branches of Canada's industrial development, in point of extent, production and possibilities. In his treatise on commerce the author treats the subject in all its phases, foreign commerce, domestic commerce, ocean transportation, inland water transportation, railroads, etc., are taken up in turn and the methods and terms explained. The various markets of the world are described, and a section is devoted to weights and measures in use the world over. The chapter on finance deals with a wide array of subjects. The author first describes the development of banking and instruments of credit, and then deals with all methods in present use describing each separately—foreign exchange, bills of lading and shipping receipts, etc., mortgages, liens, deeds, stocks bonds, and all classes of insurance are given attention in this chapter.

Another useful and principal feature of the volume is the trade index or directory of all marketable commodities and Canadian producers. This list embodies a description of most commodities and accurate lists of the Canadian producers of each, with addresses.

The book is published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Limited, Montreal, as a companion volume to the Journal of Commerce, of which the Hon. W. S. Fielding is President and Editor-in-Chief.

Will you Help the 240th?

There is room in the 240th battalion for every good man who wishes to serve his country. Machine gun men, signallers, telegraphers, typists, clerks, cooks, carpenters, shoemakers, tailors, teamsters, chauffeurs, mechanics, bandmen, farmers, medical men, merchants, lawyers, teachers, preachers, students—men from every walk in life—may find honorable and interesting and successful employment by enlisting with the 240th O.S. battalion, C.E.F., headquarters at Renfrew. Should we be defeated in the great European struggle now being fought to a finish, there will be no respectable employment for Canadians, either at home or abroad. Therefore we must win. Major Watt, the officer commanding the 240th, cordially invites the men and women of Renfrew and Lanark counties to give every reasonable assistance in recruiting the 240th up to full strength just as soon as possible. Every man and every woman can secure at least one recruit. Your business and your home and your family are being protected and saved by the heroic deeds and undaunted courage of your own kin now fighting in the trenches for liberty and justice. You cannot all go with the 240th, but you can all get one man who will go. Will you get him? A recruiting officer will be opened here within the next few days.

School teachers should warn their pupils against rushing suddenly out into the roadway when released from school. Vehicle drivers as a rule are careful, but the pupils must also exercise caution to avoid accidents.

Germany Has Lost Her

Only Great Aviators Within Last Few Weeks

IN the past few days news from the front has been received which indicates the death of two of the finest fighters that Germany has developed since the beginning of the war, namely, Captain Boelke and Lieut. Immelmann, the two most distinguished aviators serving the Central Empires. Those who admire daring and bravery, no matter where displayed, might be pardoned for hoping that the news is not true, and that these gladiators may live through the war and return unscathed to their friends. This, we imagine, might be the wish of the

LIEUTENANT BOELKE.

British and French birdmen who have fought against them. Boelke and Immelmann were not "baby-killers." They took their chances over the battle line and had won fame by their skill in handling their aeroplanes, and their daring in meeting antagonists, although Immelmann had declined a duel with one of the famous Navarre twins not long ago. Boelke had brought down ten French and British aeroplanes, according to the German official records, and Immelmann, who flew with him, was credited with equal daring and resource.

These two aviators stood so far ahead of any other comrades that we are entitled to believe that the air is not, despite the Kaiser's assertion, a German ocean. The Germans do not take to the element with any more success than they take to the sea. For a German aviator to bring down an ally is, therefore, something out of the ordinary, and worthy of official glorification. Giving all due credit to the exploits of Immelmann and Boelke, it must be admitted that they are not to be classed with the performances of some of the French aviators, notably those of Navarre, who is credited with having destroyed 20 German air machines. This youth has fought more than 60 battles in the air. He has escaped unhurt. Sometimes his prey has escaped him. Often it has sought refuge in flight when it became known that the champion of the French aviators was the antagonist. Sometimes the foe has been wounded or destroyed, but because of lack of the most undeniable legal information Navarre has not been given credit for his score.

Well Served.

In a recent speech Mr. Winston Churchill declared that in the British armies at the front there were something like 200,000 officers, who had 200,000 servants; and probably 50,000 grooms in addition, or 250,000 servants and grooms. That was an army in itself. How many of these, he asked, were in their prime of life and could be replaced by substitutes or natives?

SWEET CORN PESTS.

The Cutworm.—This pest can be quickly controlled by the use of poison bran mash or by hand collecting. Use plenty of seed, so that there will be enough plants left after the cutworms have completed their injury.

The Earworm.—This pest is difficult to reach, but the turning of the soil in the fall or winter will reduce the number of moths which appear the next spring to lay eggs on the silks of the shooting corn. The planting of the corn early will often enable the gardener to mature an early crop before the severest work of the worms appears. Late corn always suffers more than early sweet corn.

These are the more important pests which the gardener will meet in his spring and summer work, though they do not include anything like all of the immense number of garden insects. Many other forms will be found attacking the crop mentioned above, as well as onions, celery, asparagus and other vegetables.

PLANTING STRAWBERRIES.

Hill and Row Systems Most Commonly Used.

The strawberry leads the list of small fruits in popularity because of its wide range of adaptation to soil and climatic conditions. The large number of varieties give a long season of the most delicious fruit. Its ease of culture and its early season of bearing make it a desirable home and market crop.

"The strawberry is the most productive in a sandy loam soil, but if this type of soil is not available it may be grown with good results in many of the heavier soils," says Mr. Merrill of the Kansas station. "The poorest results usually occur on the sandiest soils, for these dry out more severely in the late summer months and prevent the formation of new plants and runners and reduce the development of fruiting buds for the subsequent season."

Freshly broken land is usually ideal for a strawberry bed, provided it has first been planted to some cultivated crop, such as potatoes. Sod land is likely to be infested with white grubs, which are a dangerous foe to the tender plants.

There are many different ways of planting, but the two most commonly used are the hill system and the matted row system. In the hill system the plants are set eighteen inches apart and no runners are allowed to develop. The strength of the plant is utilized in the formation of one stool. All the work done in cultivation in this system must be done with hand implements, but the returns are higher than in the matted row system. The modification of this system is sometimes practiced by setting the rows three feet apart and the plants eighteen inches apart in the row.

In the matted row system the rows are from three to four feet apart, and the plants twelve to eighteen inches apart in the row. New plants are permitted to develop until the row is two feet wide. With this system the work can be done mainly with horse drawn implements.

Tubbing Seed Oats.

Why not "launder" the smut out of the seed oats by use of the tubbing method? The oats are allowed to soak in the formalin solution in the upper tub for about twenty minutes. Then the solution is drained off into the lower tub and the oats spread out thinly to dry. Then lift the lower tub with the solution back to the saw-horses, placing the emptied tub on the floor. The process is repeated until all the seed has been treated.—Farm Progress.

TIMELY ACTIVITIES.

Keep those lambs a-coming. Feed the ewes something to make milk.

A clean, disinfected stall is about the surest preventive of joint ill in the colts.

Make the terms attractive enough so that a new man does not have to be hired every spring.

Have you given careful attention to the selection of the stallion to which to breed the farm mares?

Take your dates from the spray calendar. There'll be scab to pay unless spraying is done at the right time.

Careful, careful with the teams. Save a sore shoulder now and a lot of work in the busy months to come.

Pruned yet? Well, then you know that there is no place where a wise man can do more good and a fool more harm than in the orchard with a knife and a saw.

Why not raise a couple of good beef calves this year anyway just to try out the theory? Some folks declare it will pay. And we are always hungry for porthouse.—Better Farming.

DUMBEST OF ALL ANIMALS.

This Creature Sits on its Mouth During its Entire Lifetime.

What would you think of an animal who sat on his mouth? You would guess he didn't know very much, wouldn't you? Neither does he. You could call him the dumbest of dumb animals. In fact, he's so very dumb that most people don't know he's an animal at all. He's the sponge.

No, not the sponge you are acquainted with—not the bathroom kind. That's just his skeleton. The sponge we're talking about is the one that lives in the bottom of the sea, where he sits all day on his mouth.

In the beginning he's an egg, which splits all up in many cells and then swims around for a day or two. Then there comes a dent in one side—that's his mouth. Soon the sponge stops swimming and sinks to the bottom, mouth downward. There he eats and eats until sometimes he gets to be three feet tall and as thick as he is tall.

He's covered with a jellylike flesh. When sponge fishermen hunt him to sell they go out in boats and pull sponges from the bottom of the sea with long handled forks. Then they put them on the shore to dry. After days the jellylike flesh drops off and the fishermen tramp the sponges with their feet. Then they are considered clean enough to sell. We really get the bones of the sponge, that's all—Exchange.

Rescuing Napoleon by Submarine.

In his book on submarines Frederick A. Talbot tells us that the submarine is "practically as old as the sailing ship," though he passes the fact over with the statement that the majority of these efforts were fantastic in conception and crude in design.

The most daring expedition ever suggested in the early days of the submarine was that proposed for kidnapping Napoleon from St. Helena. It was suggested to a British mariner, Captain Johnson, who was to get $40,000. The construction of the boat was begun, but on the day when the work on the outer shell of copper was to be started Napoleon died.

Cyrus and the Persians.

The Persians of the time of Cyrus were Zoroastrians. The Persian religion was primitively monotheistic, and they allowed no idols or other material symbols of deity in their temples. There was less enmity on the part of the Jews against the Persians than against the other great nations with whom they came in contact, due probably to the monotheism which characterized the Persian religion. So Cyrus, whatever else may be said of him, was certainly not an idolator.—Christian Herald.

Napkins.

Napkins became popular in France sooner than in England. At one time it was customary at great French dinners to change the napkins at every course, to perfume them with rosewater and to have them folded a different way for each guest.

Halcyon Days.

A halcyon is a kingfisher, and "halcyon days" are so called because it was supposed that the weather was always peaceful when the kingfisher was breeding.

Hardly.

Mrs. Klawler—Do you consider Alice very good looking? Mrs. Blunderby—Oh, Alice is pretty enough, but I would not call her an Adonis.

When Pigs Were Cheap

IN your grandfather's day—ask him about it—you could buy a dressed hog for three dollars; a nice big pig. And a live pig would cost you no more.

Everything in those bygone days was cheap—that is, the things of common use.

Clothes, boots, milk, bread, beefsteak, eggs, butter, lumber, farm labor, domestic servants—they all cost a good deal less than they do to-day.

It cost less to live—and less to be born—and less to die fifty years ago than to-day.

And it cost much less to publish a country weekly fifty years ago than it does to-day—very much less.

Yet you paid—or your grandfather did—just a dollar a year—the same as you have been paying since.

But the dollar rate must yield to the pressure of necessity. We must do now what we ought to have done years ago—raise the price of THE HERALD to $1.50. The tremendously increased costs of paper, ink, supplies, and the more-than-doubled cost of living have made us "furious to think." And so, on and after July 1st the price of THE HERALD in Canada will be $1.50 a year.

Good Readers All

If you were in our place, and knew all we know about the higher costs of publishing, you would wonder how we didn't make the advance long ago. We trust you to meet the new rate with a smile. Not for 50 cents a year will you say "Stop my paper."

DISTRICT NEWS.

FRANKTOWN.

Special to THE HERALD.

Mr. John Hughton is gradually recovering his health after having undergone a successful surgical operation at his home here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Abbott, of Carleton Place, were Dominion Day and weekend visitors with Mrs. Lucy Houston.

Mr. William Cardiff, of Kochon, Que., was an over Sunday visitor with the family of Mr. George Perry.

Mr. John McEwen, of Smiths Falls, spent Dominion Day in the village.

Pte. H. T. Pierce, of the 130th Battalion, who has been at his home here for a couple of weeks, returns to Valcartier Camp this week.

The members of L.O.L. No. 381, will attend divine service in St. Paul's Presbyterian church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the minister of the congregation will preach the annual sermon on the great Protestant anniversary. Members of other lodges and the public are very cordially invited to be present. The Orangemen will assemble at their hall in the village at two o'clock and parade to the church.

Thursday next, July 6, will be a red letter day in Franktown, where a monster demonstration will be held in McCarthy's Grove, for the ceremony of the presentation to the 130th Battalion, of the Machine Gun presented by the Township of Beckwith. It will take the form of a basket picnic and the programme will commence at three o'clock in the afternoon, consisting of patriotic addresses and music, and various recreations and amusements. It is certain to be a very interesting occasion.

A fair young daughter arrived as a Dominion Day present to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Bernier, at Franktown station. The girl baby should be a loyal Canadian.

A daughter was born to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Pierce on Friday last.

Mr. G. Eldon Bradley, of Stittsville, was in the village on telephone business for the Beckwith and Montague company on Friday last.

The Orangemen of Franktown and vicinity will celebrate the glorious twelfth at Almonte.

Rev. J. S. Lowry made a trip to Barriefield Camp last week and saw the 130th Battalion entrained for Valcartier.

APPLETON.

Special to THE HERALD.

Miss Jeffrey, of Ottawa, was the weekend guest of the Misses Teskey.

Mrs. Rath, of Clayton, visited Mrs. W. B. Paul last week.

Pte. John McWilliams is visiting with Mr. R. M. Baird.

Rev. Mr. Glassford, of Carleton Place, gave an address at the missionary concert last Thursday eve.

Messrs. Geo. Turner and F. W. Oxford spent Monday in Perth.

Mrs. A. Dewar and Mrs. Jas. Knox, both of Ottawa, spent the past few days with their brother, Mr. Neil Munro.

Miss Mayne Stewart arrived home on Saturday from visiting friends in Toronto and other points in Western Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Firth, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Margaret, and others, motored to Dalhousie Lake and spent the 1st of July.

Mrs. Geo. Turner and Miss Ethel left on Saturday to visit friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. David Dalgleish and little daughter left last Thursday to visit friends in London Ont.

Mrs. Pye and Mrs. S. Spinks spent the weekend end in Lanark.

Mr. D. Fumerton spent a day in Ottawa last week.

Mrs. Nichols and Misses Maud and Irene James, attended the wedding of Miss Myrtle Matthews at Lanark last Wednesday.

Misses Nora and Gwen Teskey are home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Syne motored to Clayton on Sunday and spent the day there.

Quite a number attended the picnic at Almonte Saturday.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be observed in St. Andrew's church next Sabbath Morning. Preparatory service on Thursday evening previous.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the "Manse" last Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. John Aitken youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Aitken and Miss Carmel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, of Goulbourn, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. A. D. Fraser performed the ceremony, Miss Ruby Aitken assisted the bride, Mr. Clifford Sather the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the groom, where a reception was tendered to them by his parents. Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Aitken.

ALMONTE.

From the Gazette.

Miss Kathleen Conn, of Ottawa, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. A. C. Gilmour has so far recovered as to be able to walk about town again.

Mr. R. Aldrich, ledger-keeper in the Bank of Montreal, has enlisted for overseas service in the 73rd Battery.

Mr. Clarence Kellough has lost three more cattle, the second bunch that took ill, and Mr. Milton Lindsay has also lost another.

Mrs. D. Cram received announcement of the marriage of her niece, Miss Mary Helen Patterson, to Mr. Geo. W. Gove, the marriage taking place at Sarnia, Ont., on June 21st.

Geo. Moore, aged fifteen, son of Mr. Chas. Moore, of Ramsay, was operated on for appendicitis on Friday last. It is a serious case, but good hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Sergt. Robt. H. and Mrs. Cochrane, whose marriage took place in Ottawa on June 20th, spent a few days with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cochrane. Mrs. Cochrane was formerly Miss Myrtle V. Lott, a member of Arnprior public school staff.

Mr. Tom Dean has gone to Toronto, where he will be joined shortly by Mrs. Dean and family. It is eleven years since Mrs. Dean came to Almonte, and she retains a warm feeling for the old town, as here both joys and sorrow, have marked the passing years. Four children were born here, two of whom are dead, one having been drowned a few years ago.

Miss Valdemir Munro, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Munro, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the Radcliffe College Commencement held in Sanders Theatre at Boston, Mass.

A pretty but quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sadler, Almonte, on Wednesday, June 28th, when their eldest daughter, Annie E. was united in wedlock to Mr. James T. Buchan, of Almonte, eldest son of Mr. Jas. Buchan of Aberdeen, Scotland.

Rev. S. G. Brown performing the ceremony in the presence of the friends of the young couple. Congratulations extended, a dainty wedding supper was served.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Ethel Cran and Mr. Jack Moffatt of Arnprior, Messrs. Ivan McIntosh and Alex. Stoddart, of Carleton Place.

The home of Mr. Arch. Camelon of Ramsay has been deprived of wife and mother. Mrs. Camelon had a severe attack of la grippe in January, from which other troubles developed, and gradually wore away her strength until the end came on June 20th. The late Mrs. Camelon was Nettie Somerville, daughter of Wm. Somerville of Middleville, and was aged 51 years. There was a family of three girls and one boy.

Another of Almonte's very oldest residents has responded to the inevitable call that comes sooner or later to every one, and Mr. James J. Forgie passed beyond this world's recall. On Saturday he had been about as usual but on Sunday he was taken very ill, and on Wednesday morning he quietly slipped away. The late Mr. Forgie was born in Ramsay township on April 1st, 1833, a son of the late Graham Forgie and Ann Geminell. He came to Almonte when he was a young man, and he engaged in occupation of one kind or another. He was a wagon-maker by trade. On May 6th, 1858, Mr. Forgie was married to Miss Isabella Tomlinson, and to them twelve children were born, only two of whom are now living. These are Mr. J. G. Forgie, barrister, of Pembroke, and Mrs. A. E. Teskey of Winnipeg.

On May 5th, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Forgie celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Two years later Mrs. Forgie was called away, and on August 29, 1911, Mr. Forgie was again married to Georgina G. Smith who survives him.

The rider of the White Horse has again entered an Almonte home, and borne away the spirit of its head. Mr. Chas. B. Miller had for some time suffered from ailment which refused to respond to skill and care, and on Friday, June 23rd, he passed away in his 66th year. The late Mr. Miller, who was born in Perth, came to Almonte with his father about the year 1860 or 70, and has since had his home here. He served his apprenticeship as machinist in a foundry and machine shop on the site of the Almonte's Knitting Co's present factory, and afterwards was employed in various capacities along that line of work. On November 25th, 1879, he was married to Miss Helen McQuarrie, who, with members of the family born to them is still living. These are Charles, who has been in the west but returned home before his father's death; Thos., Agnes, Nellie and Jean. The late Mr. Miller was for many years a member of Mississippi Lodge A.F. & A.M., and was at his death the oldest past master of the lodge. The funeral was held under Masonic auspices.

A CAUSE OF INDIGESTION

People Who Complain of This Trouble Usually are Thin Blooded.

Thin blooded people usually have stomach trouble. They seldom recognize the fact that thin blood is the cause of the trouble, but it is. In fact thin, impure blood is the most common cause of stomach trouble; it affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluid are diminished in their activity; the stomach muscles are weakened, and there is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, the digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengthens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles and awakens the normal activity of the glands that supply the digestive fluids. The first sign of improving health is an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood-making pills is evident throughout the system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are strong and vigorous instead of irritable and listless. This is proved by the case of Mrs. J. Harris, Gerrard St., Toronto, who says: "About three years ago I was seized with a severe attack of indigestion and vomiting. My food seemed to turn sour as soon as I ate it, and I would fall on the floor after vomiting. I tried a lot of home remedies, but they did not help me. Then I went to a doctor who gave me some powders, but they seemed actually to make me worse instead of better. This went on for nearly two months and by that time my stomach was in such a weak state that I could not keep down a drink of water, and I was wasted to a skeleton and felt that life was not worth living. I was not married at this time and one Sunday evening on the way to church with my intended husband I was taken with a bad spell on the street. He took me to a drug store where the clerk fixed up something to take, and my intended got me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the end of the first week I could feel some improvement from the use of the Pills, and I gladly continued taking them until every symptom of the trouble was gone, and I was again enjoying the best of health. These Pills are now my standby and I tell all my friends what they did for me."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wherever you go you see more Ford Cars than all other makes combined. They are deservedly popular on account of the continuous satisfaction they give.

The Engine of the Ford (the heart of the car) is the most simple type.

It is more powerful than seems necessary, hence Fords are great hill climbers, and no sand or mud is too deep for them.

Our announcement last week that we would sell Ford Cars on $195 cash and payments for the balance, has made it possible for many to get their car this year instead of next. Come along, we have them in stock for immediate delivery.

Any thrifty family can have their auto this week if they want it.

Remember, Ford Cars cost less to buy and very much less to keep up.

General Morrison Gives

Graphic Account of

Canadians in Battle

A LETTER from Brigadier-General E. W. B. Morrison of the Canadian Field Artillery gives some interesting details of the recent violent attack on the Canadian front. He tells about General Mercer, who was killed, and General Victor Williams, who was taken prisoner. The letter says:

"They went into a dug-out for shelter from the shell fire and that is the last heard of them. The enemy's infantry attacked over the front as soon as the bombardment ceased.

"Young Cotton and Matthews of Ottawa are also missing. Cotton was in charge of two guns that were used for enfilading distant portions of the enemy's line and were dug in close up to the front. As his duty was to fire parallel to the front, his guns were in emplacements that faced down the line. Consequently, his orders were that in case of an attack opposite to him he was to disable the guns and retire with his men. Instead of doing this, when the Germans charged, he ran his two guns out of the emplacements into the open facing the front and fought to the very last. Neither he nor any of his men have been heard of since.

"Colonel Buller, whom you will remember as one of the aides at Government House (Ottawa), was among the killed. He was in command of the Princess Pats and the regiment made a splendid stand. They were forced back a short distance, but Buller called on them to charge along a sunken road or communication trench. They followed him with such a rush that he found himself in their way and sprang up on the bank alongside. He was running forward cheering them on when he was shot through the heart.

"Our infantry fought splendidly. Nearly all the battalion commanders were killed or wounded in the first assault.

"It was a terrible battle from the commencement. The enemy had massed a large amount of heavy artillery and simply blew the trenches away, and put the supporting batteries out of business before they assaulted. The division was supported by Imperial artillery. The artillery bombardment in said to have been the worst ever. During the night following reinforcements were brought up and a counter-attack made, which recovered a large portion of the ground lost, but some remains yet to be retaken. You will see the Germans only claim 350 unwounded prisoners and when you compare that with the casualty lists which will have been published before you receive this, you will understand how our infantry stood up to their work. One battalion went in 900 strong and 350 remained after the fight.

After our troops re-took the ground that had been temporarily lost they fought at one point the bodies of a big sergeant-major of the Mounted Rifles and two men of the Princess Patricia's. Around them lay the bodies of 12 Germans killed with the bayonet before they had been 'done in'.

The Germans showed more decency than on former occasions, notably in firing on stretcher bearers. One of our men was wounded and captured, and the Wurttembergers gave him a cup of coffee, and said to him, 'cheer up, old man you will be over in England in a few days.'

This probably alluded to the vainglorious accounts then in circulation regarding the naval battle. However, the wounded Canadian watched his chance and slipped into the bush and got away from his captors. He was caught again, but again escaped and returned safely to our lines.

A young Ottawa boy named Bruce Hill, who came out as gunner in my old 1st Brigade and had since got a commission distinguished himself by remaining in his forward observation position after the Germans had charged past and kept up communication by telephone with his battery for several hours until the wire was cut by shell fire. He waited until dusk and made his way back, carrying his telephone instruments with him. Unfortunately next day he was wounded, but I understand, slightly. As I indicated before, the prospects are good for a busy summer, especially on this part of the line.

North Toronto Station

(1) New C.P.R. North Toronto Station. (2) Entrance to Train Platforms. (3) General Waiting Room. (4) Train Sheds.

THE opening of the North Toronto Station of the Canadian Pacific Railway a few days ago marked a red letter day in the history of the Queen City of the West. The banquet given by the Mayor and Aldermen of Toronto to Mr. A. D. MacTear, the genial general manager of the C.P.R., showed distinctly the amicable relations which exist between the Company and the city. The new station was turned over into the hands of the city and under skilful hands was elaborately decorated with a profuse supply of bunting, and the evening ceremony, at which Mr. MacTear formally declared the station open for business was attended by thousands of people, who thronged every part of the station. Mayor Church paid a great tribute to the Canadian Pacific and rejoiced in the extremely happy relations which existed between them.

Mr. A. D. MacTear in replying, concurred in the good feeling existing. The design of the new station is free adaptation of the Italian Renaissance to the requirements of the present day. It is a single story building, faced externally by Tyndall limestone from the Tyndall quarries, Manitoba; the choice of this Canadian stone has been justified by the excellent color effect of the masonry in the mass, an effect equal to any that could be obtained by the importation of the better kind of building stones from the States. A large and spacious waiting-room 70 feet by 50 feet, of lofty proportions occupies the centre portion of the structure, marked on the South elevation of the building by three large semi-circular headed windows; it faces the South with the main entrance centrally placed on the front. To East and West of this central block are two subsidiary wings roofed at lower level and devoted to station facilities; that to the East to men's and women's rooms with their respective lavatories, and that to the West to ticket offices. To the North of the waiting room is the Concourse beyond which are the parcel, baggage and express rooms. Opening from the Concourse is the midway, which is 20 feet wide and 150 feet long, passing underneath the tracks and from which access is had to the various overhead platforms. Flanking the building at its northwest corner is the clock tower rising to the height of 140 feet, and four large clock dials, 8 feet in diameter, which will be a great convenience to entire neighborhood. The vestibule under the tower leads to the concourse. A sidewalk (protected by a marquise) is laid along the southwest sides of the station so that patrons may enter there or at main entrance, centrally on the South side or at the lower vestibule, the expectation being that the latter entrance will be used by those passengers who have already secured tickets and only requires to pass directly to the trains, relieving the main waiting room of much of the congestion that might otherwise occur. A private driveway also runs along the west side of the station so that vehicles may drive up to either entrance and pass through under the track to the baggage and express rooms and out on Yonge Street to the North of the station. Internally the waiting room, lower vestibule and concourse are lined with marble for their entire height, the architectural effect being obtained by the use of different colored marbles all set in practically the same plane so as to avoid as far as possible all offsets and other dirt-collecting projections. The plaster ceilings are treated in a broad manner with large panels. The midway is lined with glazed brick for its full height as are the stairs leading up to the platform. At night the main waiting room will be illuminated by four large bronze standards each topped with a cluster of frosted bulbs and a large reflector. A complete system of electric clocks of British manufacture have been installed; of this the large clock in the tower forms a part.

All ornamental iron work, plastering, marble work, heating, ventilating, plumbing, electric work, etc., have all been carried out by Toronto firms. Wherever possible, and there are but few exceptions, all materials and labor employed in the construction of the building are of Canadian or British origin and Canadian timber has been used for all woodwork whether rough lumber or finished mill-work, this being one of the requirements of the C.P.R. in connection with all their work under construction.

CAPTURED SHIPS.

Millions for Great Britain in Sale of Enemy Craft.

A net gain of $34,250,000 has been realized by Great Britain from her seizures of enemy ships and their cargoes in the last 20 months of the war, according to the record of the prize court. The Government has captured 157 ships which have been disposed of after decision by the prize court as follows:

	No.	Ton.
Sold	42	54,772
Requisitioned	42	56,162
Detained till after the war and requisitioned, 73	85,036
Total	157	195,970

There are many more vessels and a large quantity of cargo still before the court. Some idea of the work already done may be gathered from the fact that more than 1,000 writs for prize court proceedings have been issued.

The goods which have been seized and condemned as contraband represent every possible variety ranging from windmills, tombstones, and human hair to wild animals which were intended for the Berlin Zoo.

TOOK OFFICER'S ADVICE.

Fahey Consulted Captured Captain Regarding Dublin Rising.

Perhaps one of the most quixotic episodes of the tragic uprising in Dublin was the arrest and detention of Captain Lindsay, of the Inniskillings. The captain motored into Dublin without any idea that an uprising was on until he encountered a Sinn Fein barricade and was promptly made a prisoner and taken to the Four Courts.

He was allowed to wander freely about the place, but not to leave. The rebels treated him with exceptional courtesy and offered no violence.

The following day the Irish commander, Fahey, sent for him and said:

"Captain, have you ever had any experience in actual warfare?" "Oh, yes," replied the captain. "I fought in the South African War and in other campaigns."

Immediately came the remarkable quixotic proposal.

"I want to consult you professionally," said Fahey. "Sit down, captain." Whereupon Fahey laid upon the table a plan he had drawn.

"I want your opinion," he continued, "on a sally I propose making," and Fahey outlined his scheme. "It is hopeless," replied Lindsay. "If you sally forth your men will be outflanked on this side and enflanked on that," and in the most detached manner Captain Lindsay pointed out where the sally had no earthly chance for success.

"There is really only one thing to do," continued Lindsay, "and that is to surrender."

"Oh, I can't do that," replied Fahey, "but about the sally, I'll take your advice."

The following day Fahey again sent for his prisoner and outlined another military scheme. Again Lindsay detailed exposed its hopelessness, and again reiterated his opinion that the only sensible thing for Fahey to do was surrender.

The next day Lindsay mounted to the roof of the Four Courts and across the Liffey saw the English troops bringing up their artillery. Then he sent for Fahey.

"What size are they?" asked the rebel commander.

"Eighteen-pounders," answered Lindsay.

"What can they do?" Fahey then asked.

"Blow this place to smithereens."

"Let us go to some safe place and talk this matter over," was the next suggestion, and Fahey and his prisoner went down to the cellars of the Courts.

"You have only one thing to do," said Lindsay, "and you must do it quickly. That is, surrender."

"The General says no surrender," answered Fahey, "but I believe in you and will take your advice." He did so and the Four Courts surrendered.

Just before he was led away Fahey said: "Captain, let me introduce you to the wife," presenting a charming little woman. "I don't care about myself, but I would appreciate if you would do what you can to save her from trouble."

Lindsay promised and Fahey was led away. He was afterward sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to ten years' penal servitude.

He Proposes. "But I don't love you, Ingomar." "In these days that is no reason for not being engaged to a mau."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Scots in Heroic Charge.

A story of the heroism shown by Scottish and other troops at Loos was told by Winston Churchill in the House of Commons. He was referring to the disbanding of four Scottish battalions which had covered themselves with glory at the front, and said:

"The Ninth Scottish Division, which played a notable part in the battle of Loos, lost 6,000 killed and wounded out of 9,500 infantry. One battalion of Cameron Highlanders went into action 850 strong with 30 officers, and the colonel and the adjutant and 110 men alone who were survivors, took and held their objective."

"Four successive lines were swept away, and the fifth went on without hesitation, while two days later the remnant was asked to make an attack and they did it with the utmost elan and good spirit."

"These troops," Mr. Churchill went on, "1,200 selected out of a brigade of 4,600, swept over the parapets to the attack. You talk about the charge of Balaklava and the Fusiliers at Albuera; even these deeds pale by these new divisions raised in the British army. Needless to say, no account of these achievements, other than a very meagre account published many months afterwards, has reached the public."

FREDERIC ISHAM

Each Episode Suggested by a Prominent Author
Serialization by HUGH WEIR and JOE BRANDT

[Copyright, 1915, by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.]

SYNOPSIS.

Dudley Larnigan, district attorney, because of his fight on the vice and liquor trusts, is killed by an agent of a secret society, the committee of fifteen. The fight is continued by his son, Bruce, who is elected district attorney, and by another son, Tom. Bruce is in love with Dorothy Maxwell, whose father is head of the insurance trust.

FINAL EPISODE

The Milk Battle

Suggested by FREDERIC S. ISHAM, Author of
"The Striders," "Under the Rose,"
"Aladdin From Broadway," Etc.

"Is there a chance for his recovery?" The doctor, who was bending over the side of the wan faced young man in the wheel chair, shook his head slowly as he looked up at the young woman who had asked him the question.

"I won't try to deceive you or raise false hopes, which may never be realized, Miss Maxwell. Mr. Larnigan is in a very critical condition. Death may come any day. The best we can do is to hope and pray."

A sturdy, thoughtful man of perhaps thirty-five waved his hand toward her from an automobile, which had drawn up beside the gate.

"Good morning, Miss Maxwell. And how is our patient today?"

"About the same, Mr. Harding," said the young woman sadly, as he assisted her to a seat beside him.

Robert Harding, Bruce's lawyer cousin, reached over and patted her arm gently.

"There is one thing that I am going to do, Miss Dorothy, and in which you can give me real assistance. I am going to continue the battle against the graft trust where Bruce left off, and I am going to fight to the death!"

The girl impulsively caught his hand. Harding told the girl that he had induced wealthy philanthropists to finance a milk company that would fight the milk trust.

Six weeks passed—six strenuous weeks on the part of Robert Harding and the newly organized People's Milk Supply company. The People's Milk company as a legitimate, sound business enterprise was coming into its own, but it was increasingly plain that the mysterious opposition it was receiving would stop at nothing to put it permanently out of commission. For instance, the prices of the trust began to drop steadily, so steadily, in fact, that from a financial viewpoint it became impossible for Harding and his associates to meet them.

Harding called a hurried meeting of his associates in his private office and the men responded with dubious faces, for the venture had already cost a considerable amount. "Gentlemen," announced Harding, coming to the point without delay, "we are here because we are confronted with a grave crisis in our affairs. Unless we are prepared to continue our operations for the near future at a loss I fear that we must decide that our project is a failure."

In a short time $150,000 was realized, and Harding was delighted.

He telephoned the good news to Dorothy Maxwell, who received it with for her car, determined to drive to the office of the Independent, the newspaper which Bruce Larnigan controlled in the interests of his battles for the people.

Almost the first person she met in the editorial office was Robert Harding, who hurried toward her eagerly.

"I think I have found a way to help you," she said impulsively. "I have remembered that father has at home a book with the names of the members of The Fifteen and their secret by-words, minutes, and so on. That book ought to let us know who the mysterious head of the milk trust is. We can then force him to come out into the open."

"Good!" echoed Harding, with enthusiasm. "When you have the book let me know."

"I will," the girl promised, and then she caught her breath sharply. Just behind them stood Stanford Stone with a slight smile on his lips.

She felt that Stone was watching her intently as she passed out of the office, and she quickened her pace. But her mind was made up.

"I'll find the book," the girl decided, "and then take father to our home in the mountains. Mr. Harding can come there for it."

This decision made, she lost no time in carrying it out. Her search for the Journal of the Fifteen was a short one, as she knew the book was in her father's private desk in the library and had not been removed since his seizure. With the little red covered book in her possession she rushed preparations for their departure to the mountains so hurriedly that by 9 o'clock that evening she and her father were on their way and a note had been sent to Harding telling him where he could reach them.

It was at 10 o'clock the next morning that Dorothy, reading to her father in the cheery living room of their little country home, glanced up to see the figure of Stanford Stone entering the rustic gate of the grounds. She stopped abruptly. The precious book was in the bosom of her dress, but she knew that Stone would stop at nothing, not even physical violence to her, to gain possession of it. Her glance traveled swiftly about the room. On a table lay her father's silk hat. With a quick movement Dorothy caught up the hat and slipped the book into the lining just as Stanford Stone was announced.

Dorothy spoke a few words of careless greeting to him and left him alone with her father. Hardly had the door closed behind her when Stone bounded from his chair and sprang to the side of Mr. Maxwell. There was murder in his eyes.

"Curse you!" he growled. "Where is that book?"

Terror sprang into the eyes of the helpless old man, and then came a fortunate interruption. Voices sounded from outside, and Dorothy and Robert Harding appeared. Stone quickly changed his attitude and was gently stroking Maxwell's hair when the couple entered the room.

"I am going to take your father into the grounds for a little air, Miss Dorothy," he said. Catching up Maxwell's hat, to the girl's dismay, he caught the handle of the wheel chair and pushed it ahead of him.

Stone escorted Maxwell to the edge of the grounds without uttering a word, his mouth set in a hard, grim line. A gang of laborers had been at work on a rustic bridge spanning a high gully, at the bottom of which gushed an angry little torrent. Stone pushed Maxwell's chair out on to the edge of the bridge and glanced about him swiftly, debating as to the best method to force speech from the closed lips. A man in overalls was occupied in removing some of the old planks from the center of the bridge preparatory to substituting new and stronger ones. As Stone watched him the man put on his hat and started off whistling, evidently for nails or tools to complete his task, leaving a gaping hole perhaps six feet across.

Hardly was the laborer out of sight when Stone darted toward the opening thus exposed and hastily pulled back into place the old boards, adjusting them in such a way that they would be dislodged with the slightest weight placed upon them. As Stone strolled back to the chair Dorothy and Harding appeared from the house. Stone scowled, and then, turning his back, idly dropped Maxwell's hat over the bridge to determine the distance to the water below and ascertain whether a fall through the rotten timbers of the bridge would be fatal.

"I thought you might like to see Mr. Harding for a few minutes, father, before he goes. But where is your hat? You will catch cold."

"I am afraid, Miss Maxwell, that it is up to me to get your father a new hat," broke in Stanford Stone. "I accidentally knocked it off the bridge."

"Will you help me to the rescue, Mr. Harding?" asked Dorothy, pointing to the hat and ignoring Stone. Harding followed the direction of her pointing hand, saw the hat on the farther edge of the chasm-like ravine and offered his arm to the girl to help her across the bridge. She accepted with a little smile, and the two stepped on to the planks, while Stone drew back with stolid face. If they reached the middle of the bridge the two would plunge to their deaths through the rotten planks he had arranged.

Stone calmly drew out a cigarette and lighted it. And then he dropped the match with an imprecation. Something had made Dorothy Maxwell pause suddenly, wheel squarely about and stare back at her father.

"There is something on your mind, dad?" cried Dorothy. "There is something you are trying to tell me and can't. Oh, what is it?"

For a horrible moment the lips of Maxwell worked convulsively, but no words came from them.

Again the lips of the paralytic worked with frantic eagerness, and now as the girl bent pitiously nearer she heard husky, broken words.

"Don't cross the bridge, daughter—if you value your life!"

Dorothy sprang to her feet and whirled toward the spot where Stanford Stone had been standing. But he was gone.

Harding was aroused by a voice from the direction of the yard. He turned and saw the figure of a man who ordinarily would have passed as a prosperous merchant, but who was now in a plainly disheveled condition.

"Curse you!" he growled. "Where is that book?"

"My name is Burrows, John Burrows," said the newcomer, advancing and speaking in a thin, nervous voice. "I am the president of the Consolidated Milk Supply company. You are ruining me, Mr. Harding, with your ruinous price reductions in the city milk supply. I have come to ask you what terms you are willing to give and call off your dogs."

"Terms?" snapped Harding, clenching his fists. "Do you think that I would stoop to make terms with a man of your type, Burrows? You are one of the miserable, despicable grafters of the Secret Fifteen. You are a man whom every decent citizen should be ashamed to see at liberty. You are one of the men responsible for the condition of poor Bruce Larnigan and for God knows how many more crimes! I shall tear you and your limbs from limb before I am through!"

Impulsively Harding started toward the other, and quickly Burrows turned, with stark terror in his eyes, and ran straight out over the bridge! Dorothy cried out to him to come back, but the man either did not hear or was afraid to stop. On he dashed until suddenly he reached the rotten planks in the center and plunged with a wild shriek through the opening down into the chasm below.

Dorothy sank back into Harding's arms, sobbing pitiously, with the doomed man's shriek still ringing in her ears. Another of the Fifteen had paid the penalty of the Larnigan vengeance.

With the death of Burrows came the collapse, final and irrevocable, of the graft trust.

Realizing that they plotted and fought in vain against the energetic crusaders, Bruce and Tom Larnigan and Robert Harding, ably assisted by Dorothy Maxwell, the survivors of the formerly omnipotent Fifteen sought peace.

The terms were imposed by Bruce Larnigan, now happily recovering, and Robert Harding and were ratified by Tom Larnigan, returning from Brazil. These terms were severe, but just. All nefarious interference with the business of the country was stopped immediately. So far as possible restitution was made to the victims of the graft trust from the private fortunes of Stanford Stone, head and front of the graft trust, and his accomplices.

Naturally all this was not accomplished without much toil, for the ramifications of the graft trust's operations had extended far and wide into American life. But it was done, and then Stanford Stone, with a final malediction on the Larnigans and all connected with them, sailed for a long vacation in South America.

Dorothy Maxwell found a loving husband in Bruce Larnigan, and the two devoted themselves to making as comfortable as possible the few remaining years of her stricken father, who had, of course, been compelled to sever all connection with business. And Tom Larnigan, returning triumphantly from South America with much important evidence of smuggling for the government's secret service, was made happy by Kitty Rockford's acceptance of his proposal.

Lesson II.—Third Quarter, For July 9, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Thess. i and iv, 13-18—Memory Verses iv, 16, 17. Golden Text, iv, 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It is grand to have a whole epistle to meditate upon this week, and especially such a one as this, so full of the glorious truth of our Lord's second coming and its two stages, first to the air for His church and to the earth with us to set up His kingdom of righteousness and peace. The references to His coming in each chapter we gave in last week's lesson, and before taking it up more fully let us receive a few heart lessons from the whole letter. It is from the three with whom we have been traveling recently, Paul and Silas and Timothy, faithful and devoted witnesses to the risen living Christ, and it is to the believers who lived on earth at Thessalonica, but were really in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ as to their heavenly standing (I Thess. i, 1; II Thess. i, 1). It was by the gospel of God and of Christ, in the power of the Holy Spirit, that they were led into this holy position and the assurance of it, and the apostles' desire for them was that they would walk worthy of God, who had given them this great joy and called them unto His kingdom and glory (chapter i, 5; II, 2, 4, 8, 9, 12; III, 2; iv, 1).

The one only thing that a sinner is asked to do and can do is to turn from his sins to God and receive the Lord Jesus Christ as his own personal Saviour. That makes him to be in God and in Christ and secures to him all the benefits of the finished work of the Lord Jesus, life eternal, the forgiveness of sins, acceptance in Christ and a joint heirship with Him without any works whatever or any merit on the part of the sinner.

Having eternal redemption, our one occupation is summed up in serving the living and true God, which means with quietness doing our own business, filling the place He assigns us, living together with Him, as children of light rejoicing in everything giving thanks and trusting the God of Peace to do all in us and through us because of His faithfulness (chapter i, 9; II, 11; v, 5, 10, 18, 23, 24).

Having become followers of Christ, who suffered everything and was killed for our sakes, we must not shrink from suffering with Him and being killed for His sake, never pleasing men, but only and always pleasing God, who trieth our hearts (chapter i, 6; iv, 14, 15; III, 4). Being delivered from the wrath to come, of which He speaks more fully in the second epistle, our attitude should always be that of waiting for His return. Our individual personal salvation is threefold—we are saved, we are working it out, and we wait for the redemption of the body at His coming. This is simply stated in chapter i, 9, 10, but see also Rom. v, 1, 2; Tit. II, 11-13; I John III, 1, 2. There is another and larger threefold view of salvation, covering the whole church, which shall be caught up at His coming, then the salvation of all Israel at His coming back with us in His glory, and after that the salvation of all nations, so that "salvation" one of the greatest words in the Bible, has a sixfold significance, reaching on to the kingdom when the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord.

Paul seems to have taught so much about the blessed hope and associated events that the believers feared lest those who had died had missed a great blessing and privilege, but he assured them that those who might remain until the Lord came would not prevent or go before or gain any advantage over those who had died or, as to their bodies, fallen asleep (chapter iv, 13-15). I have many friends who think that between death and resurrection the soul sleeps and that there is no conscious existence, but I cannot find any foundation in Scripture for such a belief, so I tell my friends that if I shall die I will be more alive than I am now, believing Phil. i, 21, 23; II Cor. v, 8; Rev. vi, 9-11; Luke xvi, 22.

As to His coming for us and our meeting Him in the air, chapter iv, 16-18, with I Cor. xv, 23, 51, 52, makes it very real. The Lord Himself shall descend, the same Jesus who ascended from the Mount of Olives (Acts i, 11), a trumpet shall sound, and all the dead bodies of believers, whether buried in the earth or in the depths of the sea or burned to ashes, shall come to life, and those who once lived in them when they were mortal bodies, but have since death been with Christ in glory, shall live again in those resurrected, glorified bodies. At the same moment, in the twinkling of an eye, all living believers shall be changed without dying and, together with the raised ones, be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord. There is comfort in these truths for all who will receive them. The words "That are Christ's at His coming" (I Cor. xv, 23) convince me that no true believers shall be omitted in this great event. The dead bodies of unbelievers shall not be raised till after the thousand years (Rev. xx, 5, 6). There is no foundation for believing that death or the destruction of Jerusalem or any other great event or the coming of the Holy Spirit has any connection or association with the second coming of Christ.

MAY STARVE PRISONERS.

Germany Plans a Systematic Course of Reprisal.

LONDON, June 26.—That Germany is determined immediately to institute the systematic starvation of British prisoners in reprisal for the British blockade is the alarming information reaching here on unimpeachable authority.

The correspondent brought the information to Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of Blockade, Sunday afternoon. Lord Robert said that he had been greatly impressed by the continued reports of the scarcity of food in Germany and that he trusted that this would not be made the excuse for serious attempts to cut down the necessary supply of food for prisoners of war.

"If that should happen," he said, "it would arouse such a storm of indignation as to add terribly to the bitterness of this, the bitterest struggle the world has ever seen."

To Prohibit Meat Consumption.

LONDON, June 26.—According to a despatch from Berne, given out by the wireless press Sunday, Adolph von Batoeki, president of the German Food Regulation Board, threatens to make Germany a vegetarian nation until September. He announced on Friday, the despatch says, that he was seriously considering a prohibition upon the consumption of meat for two or three months, and he probably will adopt that course.

German newspapers, it is added, were allowed to report Herr von Batoeki's statement, but were forbidden to comment upon it.

HEAT FLASHES, DIZZY, NERVOUS

Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the change of life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness.

For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dorothy Received the News With a Thoughtful Face.

a thoughtful face. For a few moments she paced the floor of her room nervously. She knew in her own mind that the milk trust was one of the branches of that sinister organization known as The Fifteen, of which her father, as head of the insurance trust, at one time had been a member. How could she use this fact to the advantage of Harding? She debated the question anxiously. Finally she called

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

Succeeded by a Day of Sports.

The third annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Firemen's Association was held in Carleton Place on Friday last, the delegates assembling in the Fire Hall. Representatives were present from Pembroke, Eganville, Arnprior, Almonte, Lanark, Smiths Falls and Carleton Place. The afternoon session was devoted to routine business, and the reception of reports of delegates, all of which showed progress and improvement in the welfare of the respective fire brigades represented in the district.

During the afternoon an early adjournment was made, and the visiting delegates were entertained by the local firemen to a trip up the Mississippi on the steamer Commodore, that was very much enjoyed.

At the evening session the following officers were elected:

Pres., J. M. Taylor, Pembroke, 1st vice, J. O. Drummond, Smiths Falls, 2nd vice, John Bennett, Carleton Place, (all re-elected); secretary, J. E. Boober, Lanark; Treas., W. G. Beattie, Arnprior; Committee—credentials, E. A. Wilson, Carleton Place, P. Fleury, Eganville, A. W. Horton, Almonte; finance and auditing—J. O. Drummond, Smiths Falls, R. Lumsden, Arnprior, O. G. Schultz, Pembroke; games—M. J. Neville, Pembroke, W. Sinn, Eganville, J. Bennett, Carleton Place; topics and exhibits—A. McLaren, Carleton Place, W. G. Beattie, Arnprior, W. Dunlop, Almonte; executive—J. M. Taylor, Pembroke, J. O. Drummond, Smiths Falls, J. Bennett, Carleton Place.

The next annual convention will be held in Pembroke.

DOMINION DAY SPORTS.

On the 1st a public demonstration was put on by the Ocean Wave Fire Club under the auspices of the association, for which generous prizes were awarded. The day was fine, but the country people were evidently busy at home and the neighboring towns had celebrations of their own so that the attendance was not as large as anticipated. But a good programme was presented, and everything advertised was pulled off without a hitch.

About one o'clock the various brigades assembled at the fire hall and headed by fire chief McIlquham in his buggy (just recovering from a severe illness), with a fire engine and hook and ladder truck, marched in procession to Riverside Park, the Perth Citizens Band supplying the music.

The prime events on the list were the firemen's contests, and these were pulled off first. The hose-reel race was the most interesting, run in against time. Five teams competed, Arnprior, Lanark, Eganville, Almonte and Pembroke, the first three winning in the order named. The last two missed a good run by not holding the hose at the hydrant. Perth and Carleton Place did not compete. The time was, Arnprior 1:19, Lanark 1:31, Eganville 1:36.

The coupling contest was all to Arnprior, they winning both first and second money. The Arnprior laddies appeared to have more training and their experience under excitement stood to their aid.

The hook and ladder race was also a keen one. Arnprior took first place in 26 seconds, Eganville, Almonte and Lanark being a tie. In the saw-off for second, Eganville won, making the same time in the second efforts as the winners of the first prize.

The firemen's foot race was won by a Lanark man.

The 100 yards race (open) was won by Simpson of Ottawa in 10 3/5ths, another Ottawa man being second.

The quarter-mile race also went to Simpson, with his mate second.

The high jump was won by Will Ireton, one of our high school students, with Simpson second.

The boys' bicycle race was won by Joe Moore, with Glen Culbertson second. Several other minor events did not fill.

THE BASE BALL MATCH

Was a popular feature. It was between the Seneca of Ottawa and the Perth club. Some very good play was made, and some rather loose work. The score of 12 to 8 represented the merits of the teams. The Ottawa pitcher Laing, was rather a "star," fanning out 15, and in one inning striking out three batters in succession when there were three men on bases.

The day's doings ended with a "hop" in the town hall in the evening, that was largely attended, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the young people.

Although the local company may be out of pocket by the demonstration they had the satisfaction of putting on a fine day's sport and carrying it out to the satisfaction of all concerned.
