he Government Totters Under Its Heavy Load.

tatters Growing More Critical Every Day.

Fruitless Endeavor to Block Investigation.

umors of Proposed Reconstruction of the Government and a General Election.

OTTAWA, July 21.—Before the Public Accounts Committee yesterday Mr. McMullen, in the absence of Sir Richard Cartwright, proceeded to ask Mr. Schreiber several questions in regard to the Intercolonial Railway. In reply Mr. Schreiber said the reason why there was so large a deficit on the Intercolonial Railway, compared with the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways, notwithstanding that it carried as much traffic when the mileage was compared, was that the rates were lower.

Mr. Bowell objected to this question, and Mr. Foster supported him in the objection, on the ground that it was not pertinent to the inquiry, which was as to the item of $300,000 of a deficit paid by the Governor-General's warrant on the Intercolonial. It was pointed out by Mr. Cock and Dr. Landerkin that it was impossible to investigate this deficit unless the reasons that brought it about were gone into. Still the members of the Government and their supporters refused and Dr. Landerkin accused them of being desirous to burk the investigation when Wallace decided that the question was out of order. It is, however, very clear if this new attitude of throwing obstacles in the way of the various inquiries will be of much service, since the Opposition are determined to oppose wrong-doing, whether committed by the Ministers or their officials.

THE STRUGGLE TO KEEP OFFICE.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto World, writing last (Monday) says: Things look more critical, and the revelations are not yet over. Postmaster-General Haggart has next to be investigated. If the allegations which have been in circulation for a few days are true John Haggart ought to resign at once and set a good example to Hector Langevin. If the Government have to carry any more disgraced Ministers it may totter under the load. Of the rank and file and the two new members, Mr. Abbott and Sir John Thompson, are bent on holding together with a reconstruction as soon as possible. I have upon the best authority that Mr. Abbott and Sir John Thompson have the resignations of all their colleagues in hand, to go into effect as soon as the session is over. If the Opposition insist on making more charges and continuing the session the Government will introduce a measure redistributing the seats as soon as the census figures can be added up, and that means a general election. The new leaders, so their friends say, have as a first duty to help the Reformers out of power, and their first to reconstruct the Government, and appeal if necessary to the country as soon as the lists are revised and the seats redistributed. They are ready to sit until October in order to do this. Another well authenticated rumor is that W. R. Meredith will go into the Cabinet in place of Sir Hector.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Before the Tarte Committee yesterday Martin P. Connolly, bookkeeper for the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co., gave evidence in which he clearly stated that various sums were paid Inspectors Pelletier, Brunelle and Germain for certifying to work which had never been done. The witness admitted destroying receipts and erasing entries from the cash book in order to conceal the forgery.

[Special to ADVERTISER.]

Wreck of the Steamer Circe on Anticosti Island.

The Captain and Five of the Crew Drowned.

MONTREAL, July 22.—During a strong gale which sprung up in the gulf Monday night the steamship Circe, already reported ashore on Anticosti, went to pieces, and Capt. Jennings, Chief Engineer Taylor, the second engineer, the chief steward and the storekeeper, who heroically remained by the ship when she was deserted by the crew, were drowned. R. Redford, the agent of the line here, states that the cargo, which consisted principally of iron, drygoods and a quantity of coal, will be a total loss. The bodies of the captain and two engineers were washed ashore, but the other two have not been recovered.

The death of Capt. Jennings, under the circumstances, is particularly sad. Only last winter he married a young lady in Glasgow, and his bride is not yet over 18 years of age. Capt. Robert C. Jennings was a young man not over 32 or 33 years of age. He was one of the most popular captains coming to this port. Although he had only been trading here a little over five years, he had been at sea all his life. At one time he was in the service of the Pacific Company and was afterwards in one of the George Bell boats running out of Liverpool. He first entered the service of the Donaldson Company as chief officer of the steamship Colina, which position he held till last year, when he was transferred to the Circe. He was a thorough seaman and a most careful and competent navigator. His father is Commodore Jennings, of the White Star Line, one of the best known of transatlantic navigators. Chief Engineer Taylor leaves a wife and five children to mourn his untimely end.

Notices of motion were given by Frater Spry, to amend the statutes so that the time may be extended for submitting notices of motion; that clauses relative to the Grand Council be expunged, and new enactments for the appointments of special committees provided; and by Frater Cooper, of London, that the fee of admission to the order be increased to $75. The Great Priory adjourned to meet at the same place as Grand Lodge.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

A Liberal Field Day in the House.

And C. S. Hyman Rivets the Attention of Both Sides.

OTTAWA, July 21.—In the House to-day Sir Richard Cartwright called attention to the violation of the law in the Government neglecting to make a return to Parliament of the iron bounties. Mr. Foster promised to attend to it.

THE BUDGET DEBATE.

Mr. Hyman on rising to resume the debate on the budget was loudly cheered. The leaders were nearly all in their seats and turned with expectant interest to listen to the first set speech in Parliament of the member for London. That interest was rewarded by a speech of that clear and practical kind which is so rare even in the House of Commons, and yet a kind nowhere else so much appreciated. Mr. Hyman not only carried his own friends to drop their work and listen to him, but from across the floor the close attention of the Ministerialists bore testimony to the originality and strength of the argument. He began by taking up Mr. Moncrieff's references to the oil industry. Mr. Moncrieff had dilated on the immensity of the oil industry and its value to Canada. Mr. Hyman told the House that nine-tenths of this industry in Canada was confined to Petrolea and Oil Springs, the combined population of which was under 6,000, and the total assessment representing this immense wealth spoken of by Mr. Moncrieff was in Petrolea in 1888, $988,000, and in Oil Springs in 1888, $231,000. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Hyman then showed that it costs the country $935,000 a year to maintain the oil industry of these two places, and declared it would pay better to pension off the thousand or so hands employed in the industry at $500 a year rather than continue the tribute now exacted for the benefit of these few refiners. (Hear, hear.) The duty all told on coal oil is 70 per cent. Leaving Mr. Moncrieff to the consolations of his friends, Mr. Hyman turned his attention to Mr. Wood, of Westmoreland, who, he said, had in his speech succeeded in differing not only from those on his own side of the House, but in differing also from himself. Mr. Wood had first dwelt on the great importance of keeping our own market. Secondly, he was not sure that there would be any advantage from reciprocity. Third, he was certain that the McKinley tariff would help not the American but the Canadian farmer, and, lastly, he wound up by stating that he believed in reciprocity in natural products for the benefit of the Canadian farmer. (Laughter.) Before dropping the unfortunate member for Westmoreland, Mr. Hyman recalled Mr. Wood's previous declaration that in principle he was a free trader. (Laughter.) Dr. Montague, the Falstaffian imitation from Haldimand was the next to feel the merciless lash of the oratorical whip. Dr. Montague had contradicted Dr. Landerkin's statement earlier in the debate that the circular to the Indians in the county of Haldimand asking them to vote for Dr. Montague, "The Queen's agent," was written by him. Mr. Hyman noted that Dr. Montague had presented a point of order in order to deny emphatically that he had written that election circular. My. Hyman then read from the official report of the evidence given in court by Dr. Montague himself, in which he testified,

"I recognize the circular produced. I think I saw it for the first time the day before the election. I can almost swear that was the first time I saw it."

"So, Mr. Speaker," commented Mr. Hyman, "you see he is not quite positive, but is almost willing to swear." He goes on further to swear:

"It was on the Sunday before polling day the circular was written. I wrote part of the circular. I do not think I wrote more than one-half of it." (Opposition cheers.)

But Mr. Hyman showed there was another witness who testified to the circular, R. W. Mutchmore swore as follows: "The doctor wrote the circular; I dictated it." (Laughter and Opposition cheers.)

Dr. Montague, who was in his seat, had been made very uneasy by Mr. Hyman's exposure of his tergiversation, and writhed and twisted until he could sit still no longer, but rose several times to ask Mr. Hyman to read the finding of the judge, but Mr. Hyman asked whether the finding of the judge altered his own or Mr. Mutchmore's sworn testimony, and Dr. Montague sat down, Mr. Hyman telling him he could take what consolation he might out of his contradiction of Dr. Landerkin's statement and out of his sworn declaration that he wrote one half of the circular. Seldom has a member of the House of Commons suffered such a humiliating exposure as Dr. Montague did to-day.

Mr. Hyman went on to criticise the National Policy, the burden it imposed on the country and on the consumer, reaching the enormous proportions of an annual tax of between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000; he denounced the tariff for taxing expensive velvets and fine goods less than it taxed the coarse and cheap goods consumed by the mass of the people. He defined the Liberal policy for unrestricted reciprocity, and declared that the Liberals believed they could negotiate a satisfactory treaty with the United States, and if they could not negotiate an honorable treaty they would make none at all. (Cheers.) Both parties were, however, pledged to reciprocity, it was simply a question of degrees and how far each would go. According to the Ministerialists it was loyal to sell a chicken to the United States and disloyal to sell them a baby carriage. It was loyal to sell pop-corn, disloyal to sell a coffin; loyal to sell them a pumpkin, disloyal to sell them chewing-gum. (Laughter.) Where, Mr. Hyman asked, does their loyalty start and where does it end. Did it start with a mule which could be exchanged under the old reciprocity treaty and end in a cake of soap, which would be included in a new reciprocity treaty, did it start at buttermilk and end in molasses? (Laughter.) The chief thing, however, which concerned the Ministerialists was not reciprocity, but the question of leadership. They knew the nominal leader, but who was the actual chief? This brought Mr. Hyman to the contrast presented by his own side of the House. "On this side of the House," said Mr. Hyman, "we have a leader of whom we are proud, whose kindliness of disposition has endeared him to the hearts of every one of us. (Hear, hear.) We know him to be all a man should be; we know him as a leader honorable to his trust and faithful to his principles; we know him, and I voice the feelings of every honorable gentleman on this side of the House, we honor him as a leader and revere him as a man. I believe the large majority of the people of Canada see in him to-day the one man in public life pre-eminently fitted to occupy the highest position in their gift." (Loud cheers.) Mr. Hyman was afterwards congratulated by many of his colleagues on the great success of his speech.

MR. ROSS, OF LISGAR.

Mr. Ross, of Lisgar, followed Mr. Hyman in what is termed a "debate," but so far from replying to Mr. Hyman's arguments or assertions he never so much as once referred to the member for London or his speech. He started out to talk about the Canadian Pacific Railway and Northwest crops, went on to tell about the condition of the farmers in Dakota, and wound up with a declaration of faith, "We believe in the National Policy, in Canada for the Canadians and in Canada for the Empire."

THE MEMBER FOR STANSTEAD.

Mr. Rider, the member for Stanstead, who came to Parliament carrying the scalp of a Cabinet Minister at his belt, made a capital contribution to the debate, and showed himself to be familiar, not only with the conditions of agriculture and the markets and value of products, but to be well acquainted with economic truths and capable of applying them to the present condition of this country. Representing a border county, Mr. Rider was able to tell them something about who paid the duty on such articles as horses and sheep largely raised in his county. American dealers told them that the price a few feet this side of the American boundary was so much, and if delivered on the American side of the boundary the price would be as much more as the amount of duty under the McKinley tariff. Referring to the cultivation of beet root sugar in the townships, Mr. Rider characterized the encouragement of that industry by the Government as shabby treatment. The honorable gentleman supported all his statements by figures taken from the official trade returns and handled them in good Parliamentary style. He is certainly an acquisition to the debating ability of the Opposition.

Mr. Craig made a brief cotribution to the debate, referring to his recent residence in California, where he was educating his children.

A VIGOROUS SPEECH.

Mr. Flint followed Mr. Craig, and his speech was a vigorous, closely knit defense of the Liberal policy. A great deal had been attempted to be made by the gentlemen opposite out of the visit of Sir Richard Cartwright to Boston and an address he had made there. With regard to that address there had been the grossest misrepresentation. Mr. Flint declared far from it being a disloyal speech it was a brilliant eulogy of his native country, of its incalculable resources, the grandeur of its future and the capacity and forces of its people. It was a patriotic address, in which he pictured to that influential and intelligent audience the advantage which it would be to the country to trade with this Dominion. (Applause.) Mr. Flint neatly refuted the Conservative allegations that annexation lurks in reciprocity by pointing to the efforts which their party had made years ago to obtain reciprocity, and to the pretense which they had made of trying to receive it last March.

Speaking of the Mackenzie regime and honesty and economy which had characterized it, he remarked that he would not recall the circumstances under which that Administration had taken office. It might harrow the feelings of the gentlemen opposite, they were so similar to the circumstances which surrounded the present Government. (Applause.) He spoke for three hours and held the interest of his auditors until the conclusion of his splendid address. Mr. Flint wound up with a strong plea in favor of unrestricted reciprocity.

Mr. White (Shelburne) moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House rose at 12:15 o'clock.

Grading on the Calgary and Edmonton road to Edmonton has been completed, and the rails will be laid to the Saskatchewan River by next week. Grading has been commenced on the extension south from Calgary to MacLeod.

O. L. Spaulding, assistant secretary of the United States Treasury, has granted Mr. Shaughnessy's request for the privilege of resuming the examination at Montreal and Toronto of passengers' baggage for Pacific points in the United States over the company's all-rail line via Winnipeg, Mission, B.C., etc., and which privilege was discontinued about a year ago.

H. Walter Webb, vice-president of the Wagner Palace Car Company, said Monday the old law limiting the highest charge for accommodations on a sleeping car to 80 cents between points in New York State has long been regarded as a dead letter.

The Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk roads are still warring over the emigrant business. Saturday Commissioner Farmer, of the passenger department of the Trunk Line Association, heard the arguments of the passenger representatives of the two roads in interest. The Canadian Pacific in the emigrant business out of New York is what can well be termed a "pirate" road. It is not a member of the Trunk Line Association, and gets what business it can by paying heavy commissions to the ticket brokers and outside agents in the neighborhood of the Barge office. The Grand Trunk, upon the other hand, is a member of the association in good standing. The latter line, and also the association, would hail with delight the joining of the association by the Canadian Pacific, which would then be under the rules governing the emigrant traffic by the trunk line roads.

'Noble Work.'

It is always good evidence of a frank and sincere nature to overcome prejudice so as to tell the truth, and, when the truth is told, there is but one opinion, like the following: "Kansas City, Mo., U. S. A., Nov. 15, 1889. Gentlemen,—I am proud to say that your wonderful remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, has done its noble work. I am able to move around, being entirely free from pain (neuralgia). When meeting my associates I am often asked what in the world brought me round in such perfect health, and in reply I tell them it was your valuable medicine. JAS. W. LANG, M.D."

Doctors generally are reluctant to speak out, but there are many exceptions like the above, where physicians frankly acknowledge the merit of The Great Remedy.

A LONDONER'S SAD END.

Instant Death of Charles Bartley, Formerly of This City, at Victoria, B. C.

The Victoria correspondent of the Vancouver World of July 14 details the sad death of Charles Bartley, who left this city for the Pacific coast some time ago: "This morning one of the saddest and most sudden of accidents occurred at the new Jewell block on the corner of Yates and Douglas streets. Charles Bartley, a carpenter, was engaged on the third story of the building carrying a scantling, when without a moment's notice his life was cut short. The accident was so sudden that those around could hardly realize that their comrade was dead. The scantling which deceased was carrying projected about three feet over the elevator shaft. The elevator, which is used for carrying building material, was unfortunately lowered at this moment, and the scantling which the man held in his hand was struck by it. The scantling flew up and struck the unfortunate man in the face, knocking him down. He fell heavily on a sharp piece of wood, which pierced his skull, cutting a gash fully an inch deep. The men working in the vicinity ran to the man's assistance, but all they could do was to pick him up, as he was far beyond earthly care. He did not utter a word after he fell, and died almost instantly. Dr. Watt was called in, but he could not prolong life. Deceased was a favorite among his fellow-workmen, but very few know much about who he was. He has been in the city but a short time and had formerly lived in Ontario. He was a man of about 50 years of age and leaves a widow and seven children to mourn his loss. His wife and daughter reside in London, Ont., and a son is at present in Vancouver. Coroner Morrison held an inquest this afternoon." The World adds to the above: "Deceased's son, George Bartley, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Council of this city, has been connected with the World composing room for a long time, and the brief intelligence received by him this morning was a terrible shock to a dutiful son. He at once left for Victoria on the Yosemite, and following him there goes the tender sympathy of his many friends in this city who sorrow with him in his deep trouble. He had intended going to Nelson to-day. In the old home in London, Ont., the widow and fatherless will mourn to-night as do those for whom the light and joy and beauty of life have gone out forever. But the rod chasteneth."

George Bartley was a compositor in the ADVERTISER establishment and left the city about four years ago. The family is well-known here.

Three Years Free

The Coming School of Medicine.

The Histogenetic System.

THIS SYSTEM IS COMPLETE, having different medicines for all the different diseases. The theory is entirely different from that of the old schools. The medicines are perfectly pure, containing nothing of a poisonous nature whatever, and are quite tasteless. For three years these medicines have been given away free and thoroughly tested in the most hopeless cases before being placed on the market. The result has exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of cases supposed to be incurable have been cured, and abundance of proof can be produced to convince the most skeptical that Histogenetic Medicines have cured and are curing to-day DISEASES at a later stage than any other system of medicine in the world. In ACUTE cases the medicines act like magic. Chronic troubles require a longer time, generally from one to three months, according to the nature of the complaint. In FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, WOMB TROUBLES, etc., the medicines have been especially successful. Private EXAMINATIONS in these troubles are almost, if not quite, absolutely unnecessary. Call or send for one of our free books explaining the system. They should be in every house in the land.

RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA

LONDON, April 26, 1891.

I am happy to acknowledge, and now testify, to the efficacy of your medicines in curing Rheumatism. I have suffered with this painful disease in my shoulders, knees and hips for twenty-five years, also with sciatica for some time. I decided to try Histogenetic Medicines as a last resort, as nothing ever seemed to give me any permanent relief. The first week's medicine gave me relief, and in two weeks the sciatica disappeared and has not returned. I took the medicines for six weeks, and am cured of the rheumatism. I feel better in every way. I am sixty years of age, and feel quite smart and active. I can cheerfully recommend these medicines to the public, and will be glad to tell any sufferer about my case. It is now nearly two months since I ceased taking the medicines, and the effect is permanent.

A photographer at the convention in Buffalo told a reporter of the old days in the West, when the man at the camera used to make the subject "look pleasant" by leveling a pistol at him and saying: "Look right square in the muzzle o' this yer revolver, my man, and remember that I hain't agoin' to hev this picture spoiled with any o' your foolin'."

WESTERN ONTARIO.

BRUCE.

While some small boys were fishing on the shores of Lake Spry, near Wiarton, a few days ago, a large, black bear came out of the bush and walked down to the water beside them, took a drink and then walked leisurely back and was lost in the forest without noticing the children, who were pleased to get out of his company.

The Wiarton High School Board has decided to purchase the stone school and grounds on McNaughton street, to be used as a high school. The price to be paid the Public School Board is $2,250.

The Wiarton Board of Health has recommended the council to move the waterworks pumping house below the Government dock, so that the water used will be secured from outside the breakwater and away from the landing place of the tugs and boats.

Heck Baxter has been arrested near Wiarton for assaulting William Bradford. They had a dispute while Baxter was receiving his wages. He demanded $3 per month more, and being refused picked up a heavy club and struck at Bradford's head. The blow was parried by Bradford raising his arm. Baxter struck again, this time taking Bradford nearly square on the top of the head, knocking him insensible and inflicting an ugly scalp wound some five inches in length.

D. Robertson, merchant, Kincardine, has just returned from the Northwest, and is so well pleased with the prospects there that he has decided to go to Winnipeg at an early date.

Wiarton will vote on a bylaw to give another bonus of $5,000 to extend the waterworks.

James Anderson, a respected resident of Paisley for many years, died on Friday morning.

The Wiarton Echo says there is now a grand prospect for farmers in Bruce, who are very hopeful since the late rains. The root crops are reported to have been especially benefited, while cereals have taken a fresh start and promise an abundant yield. Grazing lands, too, have been greatly improved, and the hay crop, which is now about ready, will be better than was expected early in the season.

BRANT.

George Poodry, an Indian, was brought to the Brantford hospital from the reserve on Friday evening, suffering from typhoid fever. The patient was very far gone, and shouted on the way through the streets. He died at 5 o'clock next morning.

The census enumerators of North Brant held a dinner at the Commercial Hotel at Brantford. During the course of the proceedings Commissioner Hamilton was made the recipient of a chair.

ESSEX

The grain crop in Essex this season will be the largest experienced for many years. The wheat is all in, and both in quality and quantity far surpasses all expectations. The barley harvest will commence this week and a splendid yield is anticipated.

The new steam pump in Walker & Co.'s cranberry marsh at Marshfield has a capacity of 15,000 gallons per minute. The whole marsh of 200 acres can be completely inundated to the depth of six inches in 48 hours. The cranberry vines are now all planted for this season, making 104 acres. The men and boys are now engaged in pulling weeds and hoeing, while a small gang are employed in dropping guano on the plants to aid them in their growth.

The locked-out tailors in Windsor are likely to get the best of the fight with their late employers. The latest phase of the contest is the resolutions passed by the railway men pledging themselves to purchase only from union shops until the trouble is settled.

Work has commenced at the lighthouse on Colchester Reef. A number of cribs in addition to those put down last fall are being placed in position and filled with stone and the structure generally overhauled.

Thos. Tuite, one of the Dougall avenue sewer excavators at Windsor has entered suit against the contractors to recover $280.

ELGIN.

The Kettle Creek bridge of the M. C. R. at St. Thomas has now the strongest and safest floor of any bridge in America. Workmen have just about completed flooring the structure with oak timbers 8x13 inches laid three inches apart. The bridge is also equipped with the Jordon guard rail. The cantilever bridge over the Niagara River is being similarly floored.

John Burns, milk dealer, Talbotville, died on Sunday from the effects of blood poisoning. He was aged 48 years. He leaves a wife and six children. The deceased had only been ill for a day or two, blood poisoning being the result of a small scratch on his big toe.

On July 7 a man named Henry Barclay, who represented that he was traveling for his father, an oatmeal miller in Toronto, got L. Campbell, St. Thomas, to indorse a draft for $10 on his father. The draft was returned dishonored with a statement to the effect that Barclay had not been traveling for his father in ten years. The Toronto police were instructed to arrest him, and did so on Sunday. He has been taken to St. Thomas for trial.

Nearly 6,000 tickets were sold at the various M. C. R. stations for the excursion on Friday.

John McMillan has taken charge of the Argyll House at West Lorne, having bought out Mr. Winter.

On Wednesday last Mary Eva, the 6-year-old daughter of M. D. Mehring, of West Lorne, fell off a swing while playing in the lawn and broke her arm.

W. J. Duckworth, inspector for the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, was in West Lorne last week in the interests of the company, looking into the matter of changing the name of the telegraph company's office and also removing them down town.

A more genial feeling is now pervading West Lorne among the two parties who are contending over the matter of two names. There are only two or three of the old settlers now in West Lorne that were here when the difference of opinion arose at that time. The feeling has very materially abated, as the younger folks seem to try to be more reconciled to each other, and there is no doubt but the name of Bismarck station will be struck off and the station called by the name name as the town and postoffice, West Lorne.

GREY.

The Durham collector has returned his 1890 roll and reports all the taxes collected except $2 for dogs and $10 70 for non-residents.

John Hobkirk, Bentinck, died last week, aged 72. He had resided there 35 years.

Four hundred and thirty-six wrote in the county of Grey at the recent examination for entrance to high schools.

There was quite a confusion at a barn raising a few days ago at Cedarville, as about half of the men refused to work if the proprietor would not get beer for them. He refused to get it, so they took their coats and left.

J. C. Atkinson, a popular Owen Sound lacrosse player, was entertained by his friends to a supper before leaving that town for Brantford. Mr. Atkinson will be cutter in one of Brantford's large drygoods houses.

Teeple & Thomas have started an organ factory in Owen Sound. Mr. Teeple's father has a factory in St. Thomas, and Mr. Thomas is well known in Grey county.

HURON.

The Seaforth people failed to make both ends meet at their recent firemen's tournament, being about $60 short.

The Canadian Salt Association has reduced the prices of salt. Notice has been given that the price of fine or coarse salt, in carload lots, will be 85 cents per barrel, free on board cars at point of shipment. The price of coarse salt was formerly $1 10 per barrel. It sells now in the United States at 60 cents a barrel.

KENT.

One of the M. C. R. excursion trains struck and killed a cow west of Ridgetown on the return journey from Niagara Falls on Saturday morning.

Alfred Craddock, barrister, of the firm of Scane, Houston, Craddock & Stone, of Chatham, died on Thursday afternoon of hemorrhage of the kidneys, after two weeks' illness, aged 33 years. He was a member of the town council, and an active worker in the C.M.B.A. Deceased leaves a wife and one child.

R. E. Gosnell, formerly editor of the Chatham Planet, has edited a very handsome pamphlet, issued in the interests of the Okanagan Land and Development Company of British Columbia.

New wheat is already reaching the market in Chatham. John Brickby, of Harwich, sold a load to T. H. Taylor on Saturday which averaged 62½ pounds to the bushel. Wheat promises to be a remunerative crop in the county.

The postoffice authorities are still looking for some trace of the registered letter which disappeared between Port Alma and Blenheim on June 25, and which is said to have contained $150. The missive was mailed to Kingsville, at Port Alma, and was duly billed with another letter, to the Blenheim office. When the bag, which was closed at the Port, was opened at Blenheim Postmaster Morris found only one registered letter, and sent back notice to that effect.

OXFORD.

Hagarty's buildings on Brunswick street.

J. D. Hamilton and A. B. Maguire are the only two residents of Stratford who participated in the battle of Ridgeway a little over 25 years ago. Mr. Maguire was in Toronto on Saturday, and while there the Veterans' Association presented him with a beautifully-inscribed gold medal commemorating the historical event.

Schenker & Rothaermael's hardware store at Millverton was burglarized on Sunday night. A suspect was captured at Newton with some of the stolen goods—razors and jack-knives—in his possession, and he was committed to Stratford for trial.

PEEL.

Mrs. Sanderson, Peel, has something in the way of a curiosity that has scarcely a parallel. Three small chickens, whose natural parent had deserted them, have been adopted by a cat, that about the same time had been deprived of her offspring. The poor feline will carry them around and watch over them with all the care of a real mother, and will even try to administer to their physicial wants, and protect them from danger or exposure.

Wm. Addy, one of the oldest residents of Brampton, is dead. Since his arrival there he had carried on business as a cooper. In religious matters Mr. Addy was a devout and earnest worker, and in the early days of the Primitive Methodist body in Brampton was a leader in the church and Sunday school. He was a staunch Reformer, and died aged 72 years.

SIMCOE.

At Emerson's mill a young lad about 16, eldest son of Mr. Carefoot, was standing near a belt that drives a grindstone. The large shaft on which the belt works runs very rapidly—about 350 revolutions per minute—but the grindstone runs very slowly. The fingers seemed to have been first caught and were pulled out at the second joint, the hand was broken, the wrist mashed, then the arm broken clean off between the elbow and the shoulder and thrown twenty feet from where the body fell.

WELLINGTON.

Samuel Stockton, a prominent farmer of Minto, while working at a fence the other day, stumbled into a yellow jacket's nest, and in about five minutes he was loaded down with the bees. They crawled inside his clothing and stung his body, but fortunately he managed to get clear of them before being stung to death.

The Howick Springbank cheese factory, together with all the valuable machinery and 800 cheese, has been totally consumed by fire. The building, machinery and also the cheese, were insured. The loss will be a big one. A number of the patrons of the burned factory are sending their milk to the Harriston factory, which they will no doubt continue to do until a new factory is erected.

B. W. Baldwin, Carnesville, Tenn., writes: I have used your German Syrup in my family, and find it the best medicine I ever tried for coughs and colds. I recommend it to everyone for these troubles.

R. Schmalhausen, Druggist, of Charleston, Ill., writes: After trying scores of prescriptions and preparations I had on my files and shelves, without relief for a very severe cold, which had settled on my lungs, I tried your German Syrup. It gave me immediate relief and a permanent cure. ®

OBJECTIONABLE ASSISTANCE TO IMMIGRANTS.

We are told that assisted immigration has ceased, and the workingmen, who for years agitated for the reform, are asked to believe that it is "a mean cowardly kind of lying" to say that public money is expended to aid in bringing penniless men and women and waifs and strays from the old world poorhouses to Canada. That is the assertion of the Stratford Herald. Anyone who takes up the last Auditor-General's report on payments of Dominion money will see that instead of the payment of public funds for coaxing immigrants to the Dominion having entirely ceased, the practice is continued in several of its objectionable forms. In the first place there is the bonus to adults. Agents are subsidized by offers of public money to beat up immigrants. That these men are not always careful to earn their subsidies as well-wishers of Canada would desire is made evident by the large sums paid at various points in Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario for supplying meals to the destitute men and women arriving in the country.

Another branch of the assisted passage question to which the attention of the workingmen with families may well be directed is the bonusing of pauper children, collected and sent to Canada by such professional philanthropists as Dr. Bernardo. Over 1,000 of these waifs were sent into the Dominion last year, and a greater number are expected this season, as a result of the encouragement granted by the payment of a bonus for each child landed. The collectors of these unfortunate children, crime and disease tainted as many of them are, can hardly point to the fact that Canada does not already have a large enough population of this description and to spare. Not only that, but thousands of the best class of our young men and women annually cross the border to look for employment, at remunerative rates, denied them here. Now we have no objection to immigration. We have no objection to the Government at Ottawa expending a resonable sum to set forth the merits of Canada, though we would have greater faith in a trade policy that rendered it easy for the people to earn a living, and thus made every newcomer an advertising agent. But we do protest against public money being taken to pay bonuses for the shipment to Canada of either pauper men and women or their offspring, collected from the slums of old world cities. We have a country good enough to command the best class of immigrants if it is rightly governed, and such a class, self-supporting, frugal, able to pay their own way, will always be welcome in any part of the Dominion where they may choose to cast their lot.

Men and women of the description that require to be bonused and are so poverty-stricken that they need to have meals bought for them while en route, are not wanted here, and under no consideration should the professional philanthropists be subsidized, as is the habit at present, to send their collections of pauper and crime-tainted children into the country.

HON. MR. LAURIER put the tax and combine question in a nutshell yesterday, when he pointed out that the high tax policy is the foster parent of the combine system. It is not by laws like that proposed by Mr. Clarke Wallace that combines can be put down, but by reducing the tariff that encourages them. But where would the present Government be if combines were abolished? By combine influence and by combine money it gained its last victory, and it will not be found privy to any action that will compel monopolists to rely on their own merits.

THE LEONARD MEMORIAL.

Much satisfaction is expressed by citizens with the generous offer made to the City Council at its meeting last night by Messrs. Frank E. and Charles W. Leonard. Wishing to establish a suitable memorial to their late father, Senator Leonard, who was associated with the progress of the city from its village days, the Messrs. Leonard have offered to contribute $7,000 as a fund to construct public baths for the city, provided the civic authorities will provide the land and manage the establishment after it is equipped. The matter will be considered in committee and disposed of at an early date. There should be but one opinion as to the duty of the aldermen. The offer should be accepted and the establishment constructed. A public bathing establishment, properly conducted, is a necessity, and the Messrs. Leonard could not have devised a more popular memorial to their worthy father.

TRYING TO CONCEAL.

At yesterday's meeting of the Public Accounts Committee in Ottawa, Mr. McMullen proposed to adduce evidence to show that an immigration agent in the department controlled by Mr. Carling had been permitted to systematically defraud the country. In order to do this, it was necessary to take into cognizance the doings of this individual, who, by the way, is a relative of Langevin, from 1885 to last year. But both Minister Bowell and Minister Foster strenuously opposed the motion. They were determined that the inquiry into the alleged boodler's doings should not extend beyond 1889-90, as if it were not in the public interest that charges of fraud against public servants should be investigated, no matter when the alleged offenses were committed. Similar obstructions were raised when it was proposed to ascertain why the Government-controlled Intercolonial Railway was not able to pay its way. The pretense that the Administration courts the fullest and freest inquiry into its management of public affairs is not well founded. But for the persistence of the independent representatives of the people, the rascalities which are daily laid bare would be glossed over just as the charges against Sir Hector Langevin and Mr. McGreevy, M.P., were laughed at by the Conservative leaders when one of their own followers, impelled by a sense of duty, asked for an investigation long before last general election, and was refused it. The persistent attempts at concealment and the thwarting of honest inquiry may well make friend as well as foe more than suspicious of the whole gang.

THE JOB CONFESSED.

Now that the militia general orders contain notice of the holding of the camp for military district No. 1 at St. Thomas, perhaps our local contemporary will admit that the statement that Mr. Ingram had secured a promise that it would be held here was correct.—[St. Thomas Times.

Which reminds us that the chief Tory newspaper has put it on record that the taking of the camp to St. Thomas was decreed in order that it might be used as an agency to promote the interests of Mr. Ingram in the bye-election that will follow his unseating, which is conceded. While the leading officers in the district maintain that the grounds bought and held for camping purposes in London are the most central and best adapted site, the camp is sent to St. Thomas for purely political reasons. Nevertheless we do not believe that the bribe will be of much use to the tricksters. Any man of sense who is more concerned for the honest administration of public affairs than for a party triumph, will indignantly spurn the attempt to make the defensive force of the country a political agency to bolster up the cause of a poor stick of a candidate and a decaying Ministry.

WHAT THE "ADVERTISER" THINKS ABOUT IT.

THE unanimity with which persons accused of wrongdoing at Ottawa become sick is one of the most noticeable features in the investigations now in progress at the capital.

MANY Toronto and Hamilton milk dealers put boracic acid in their milk to prevent its becoming sour. The acid does not prevent the milk from deteriorating in quality, it merely conceals its sourness. We trust that no London milk dealer is guilty of this trickery. If he is, it is within the power of the inspector to put a stop to the habit, as the presence of the acid is easily discovered.

IF RYKERT could have concealed his grab game he would have been Senator Rykert long ere now. If Thomas McGreevy and his partners had not fallen out the Public Works rascalities might have been glossed over, and the right to affix "Sir" to his name conferred upon Sir Hector Langevin's confidential go-between. What a kettle of fish they are, to be sure.

THE evening organ of the Dominion Government at Ottawa calls upon Sir Hector Langevin to resign, and thus save the Administration from the ruin to which recent boodling developments is hastening it. The advice will not be accepted; Sir Hector is determined to stick by the Government, and the Government dare not throw him overboard. He knows too much.

NINETY thousand dollars would be a big sum to pay for a complete sewerage system to take the place of the present higgledy-piggledy system. It may be that a less sum would relieve the city of its present difficulties and provide for its near future necessities, but in any case it it clear that the civic authorities must soon adopt some intelligent plan for dealing with the whole matter. The policy of drift has continued far too long.

MR. C. H. WATEROUS, JUN., the Brantford manufacturer, has been talking about the attempt of that city to retain the car shops and have Brantford placed on the main line of the system. He points out that "the Grand Trunk officials made much of the geographical position of London." That is nothing new. London's central position is conceded on all hands. It is the center of a network of lines controlled by the G. T. R., and as a location for the car works cannot be approached by any other western city.

IT CANNOT STAND.

[Moncton, N.B., Transcript.]

The Abbott-Langevin-Thompson Government is doomed.

SIR HECTOR AND HIS CONFIDANT.

[St. John, N. B., Telegraph.]

"Sir Hector must have a confidential man, and I'm the man. It might as well be me as anybody," said Mr. Thomas McGreevy to Harbor Commissioner Valin. And so the two confidence men divided the boodle between them. There appears to have been quite as much love for the "old swag" as for the "old flag" in the business, and they loved the latter dearly!

SOMETHING SERIOUSLY WRONG.

[Toronto Week.]

There must be something seriously wrong in the Administration under which such transactions as have been already brought to light could occur. Nothing but the most searching investigation of the working of the whole governmental machinery will now satisfy the respectable adherents of either party throughout the Dominion.

THE LIBERAL LEADER.

[Presbyterian Record.]

No statesman in Canada is rising faster that Mr. Laurier. His clean record, pure character, conciliatory manner and lofty eloquence are giving him a strong hold on the esteem and confidence of the people, without distinction of creed and party. He fights fairly, and is always a gentleman. Canada needs first-class men on both sides, and the people, as a rule, are beginning to see that patriotic, statesmanlike qualities should be appreciated wherever they appear.

A BURNING SORE LEG.

Ulcers Form. Hospitals and Doctors Useless. Crazed with Pain. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About eight years ago I wrote you from Wilkesbarre, Pa., describing how your wonderful remedies completely cured me of a terrible case of eczema or salt rheum. I must now tell you what CUTICURA REMEDIES have again done for me. On the 22nd of last September I had the misfortune to bruise my leg, and I put a piece of sticking plaster on it. Inside of a week I had a terrible leg. My wife became frightened and advised me to go to a surgeon. I went, and doctored for two months, but no good was done me, besides costing me big money. My leg had by this time formed into an ulcer, and got worse every day. I could not stand it any longer, and made up my mind to go to a hospital and see if I could be helped. I went to several here in the city, in turn, but none could do me any good. I had a terrible leg, with a hole in it as big as a dollar, and pain that almost set me crazy. I got scared about it, and determined to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I obtained a set, and inside of five weeks my leg was healed up as well as it ever was, except the terrible scar it left for a reminder of what was once a terrible sore leg. These REMEDIES are worth their weight in gold.

ABOUT HAIR

Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Sir,—I have, as you know, for some time advertised in Canada and the States a prescription for the hair called "Dr. Dorenwend's Hair Magic." I have received some thousands of flattering testimonials from those who have used it as to its merits as a restorative of gray or faded hair; also as a promoter of the growth and a certain cure for dandruff.

A great many of my correspondents ask the questions: "Why is my hair turning gray so early? Why is my hair falling out?" As it is impossible for me to answer every one, I take the liberty of encroaching on your valuable space to make a general reply. A great many persons do not seem to be aware that excessive washing and rubbing is injurious to the growth of the hair; such is the case, however. Constant washing and rubbing the scalp and hair causes over irritation and removes the oily substance which gives strength to the hair; undue heat caused by the wearing of heavy headgear is also injurious. Anything that will tend to dry up the sap or life of the hair will cause dandruff, falling out of the hair, gray or faded hair and finally baldness. Of course there are other causes as diseases, hereditary tendencies, etc., but the first mentioned are the main and most common.

Dr. Dorenwend, an eminent German physician, has given to the world after years of toil and experiment his now famous "Hair Magic." The object of this preparation is to assist nature in the production of this oily substance absolutely necessary to the growth of the hair. It is now sold by all reliable druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or will be sent on receipt of price to any address. See that each wrapper bears the seal and signature of the manufacturer,

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

IN THE OLD COUNTRY.

Eton was defeated by six wickets in the annual match with Winchester.

Surrey defeated Hampshire by 208 runs. Hampshire got 109 and 85, Surrey 117 and 285 for eight wickets, the second inning being declared closed at the fall of the eight wicket.

In the Eton and Harrow match at Lord's, the Etonians would have cut a sorry figure against the Harrovians but for some excellent cricket on the part of G. R. Brewis. Going in first, Brewis was eighth to leave for a score of 70, the effort only realizing 125. Harrow passed their opponents' total before their third batsman was sent back, and 224 runs were obtained for four wickets. After this, however, the Etonians carried all before them, the last six wickets only adding 17 runs, the venture closing for 241. Eton had obtained 36 in their second inning without the loss of a batsman, when play ceased for the first day.

A match between Notts and Sussex was in progress when the last mail left. Notts got 286 for the loss of one wicket in the second innings. Shrewsbury was not out for 136 and Gunn not out for 141. For Sussex, Bean, the professional, scored 145, not out. In 5 hours and 40 minutes actual play 453 runs were scored, an average of 80 per hour.

THE TURF.

RACING AT BRIGHTON BEACH.

BRIGHTON BEACH, July 21.—M. F. Dwyer bought Arnica and Nomad yesterday from L. J. Rose, the millionaire proprietor of the Rose-Meade stables, for $11,500. He afterwards sold Arnica to W. C. Daly for $3,000. The track here was heavy, and the first race was run in a thick fog:

First race, 1 mile—Long Island 1, Fernwood 2, Tattler 3. Time, 1:44⅘.

Second race, ⅝ mile—Circular 1, Thiers 2, Irregular 3. Time, 1:04.

Third race, ¾ mile—Cynosure 1, Centaur 2, Zed 3. Time, 1:31.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Rambler 1, Dr. Helmuth 2, St. John 3. Time, 1:44⅘.

Fifth race, ⅝ mile—Eclipse 1, Daisyrian 2, Kittie T, 3. Time, 1:04.

Third race, ¾ mile—C. L. Brown 1, Phil. Dwyer 2, Julius Sax 3. Time, 1:17.

Fourth race, ⅝ mile—Blaze Duke 1, Little Billy 2, Lord Willowbrook 3. Time, 1:04.

Fifth race, 1 mile—Allan Bane 1, Blue Banner 2, Red Fox 3. Time, 1:45½.

NOTES.

King Herod, the grandson to Mambrino King, has lowered his record to 2:21¾.

The Prince of Wales is steadily increasing his stud of racers. He bought on Friday three animals valued in all at 950 guineas. The Prince's judgment of horses is sneered at by turfmen in general, and experts declare that the three latest acquisitions of his Royal Highness are worth at the outside not over £500.

The entries for the summer trotting races of the Woodbine Driving Club, Toronto, next week, for which $3,000 are offered in purses, close on Thursday.

The pacing mare Strathso, 2:22, is driven without a bit, a strap around the head acting as a guide. It is said of her that she will pace a race as well without a driver as she will with one.

The winner of the greatest number of harness races in 1890 was the bay pacing mare Lady Sheridan, owned in Athol, Mass. She has recently reduced her record to 2:19½ in an eight-heat race.

Statistics compiled on the meeting which has just closed at Washington Park show that during 25 days 400 horses participated in the races run, the value of which was $195,701. Two hundred and fifteen of these horses won money, Strathmeath leading with $18,860 to his credit, while Curt Gunn was next, with $13,895 won. The other winners of $5,000 and over were: Bashford, $10,047; Poet Scout, $9,070; Ban Chief, $8,960; Verge d'Or, $6,025; Racine, $5,288. G. B. Morris leads the winning owners—$18,860 taken into camp—while next on the list is Scroggin Bros., with $15,734 won.

THE TRIGGER.

LONDON, July 21.—The members of the Canadian team at Bisley are issuing invitations for the usual receptions next Thursday. So far the team has fairly realized the expectation of its friends. They have made a good record, securing third place in the first 100 for the second stage of the competition for the Queen's prize, besides winning the Prince of Wales' prize, reserved for competition among medallists. The Kolapore match has been fixed for Wednesday, and the final stage of the Queen's prize for to-day. Three Canadians are qualified to compete. In competition yesterday the Canadians won second prize, £10, in the McKinnon contest and several other successes.

National League scores, Monday—Cleveland 1, Cincinnati 2; Boston 3, Philadelphia 0; New York 5, Brooklyn 4; Pittsburg 3, Chicago 0.

A new club is being sought to take the place of the disbanded Omahas.

On Thursday Pitcher Getzien, of the Boston League club, was released; Daley and John Irwin, of the Boston Association Club, were fired, and the Syracuse Club, of the Eastern Association, collapsed.

The Sporting Life publishes an excellent photograph and obituary of William M. Crowley, who died at Gloucester, N. J., July 14, after a lingering illness, from Bright's disease. The deceased played right field in the last revived Tecumseh Club. In 1877 he was with the Louisville Club. In 1878, 1879 and 1880 he played with Buffalo. From 1881 to 1884 he was with the Boston Club. His last engagement was with the New Havens.

LAWN TENNIS.

Such is fame. Some American papers seem to have never heard of London, Canada, and confound it with England's metropolis. Speaking of the lawn tennis tournament at Detroit and the presence of three Forest City players, Outing of New York says: "There are three men playing at Detroit from London, England, Messrs. Wood, Bayly and Brown. Mr. R. A. Bayly is said to be an English player of some prominence."

THE HYENAS JUMPED ON HIM.

DENVER, July 21.—William Collins, the trainer and keeper of Sells Bros.' herd of elephants, came near being torn to pieces the other evening by the hyenas, and but for the assistance of the circus employes he would have been not only killed but eaten. Collins had been looking after the hyenas in addition to caring for the elephants, as the regular hyena trainer is off on a vacation, and had entered the cage preparatory to taking part in the morning parade. He had just fastened the doorway, or gateway, when the largest animal leaped on him and fastened her teeth in his thigh. Collins pulled his club, which he carried in his belt, but the other hyenas in a trice were on him. He fought and yelled lustily for help, but the rest of the menagerie became so excited that the employes with difficulty located the trouble. Collins had by this time become so exhausted that he was fast going under. The hyenas were beaten almost to death before they relaxed their hold, and after Collins was secured, more dead than alive, the animals went to fighting with one another. They were subdued by a stream from the fire hydrant. Collins will recover, but he was terribly injured.

Wreck of the Steamer Circe.

MONTREAL, July 21.—The Donaldson steamship Circe, formerly the Glamis Castle, is ashore at East Cape, the most southern point of Anticosti Island, and the ship will most probably be a total loss. Part of the ship's crew left her in the boats immediately after she struck, but Capt. Jennings and his officers are still on board. The ship is valued at $125,000, and has a full general cargo from Glasgow for this port.

Forty Thousand in Gold in Her Woodshed.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 21.—The Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church here has just came into $10,000 in a peculiar way. Mary Greer was an eccentric old lady of nearly four score years. About four weeks ago, feeling that her time had come, she sent for her lawyer and a friend to make her will. The first asked to be carried to a woodshed in the yard. There she pulled aside some rubbish and disclosed a can containing $40,000 in shining gold. Then the old lady was carried into the house and made a will bequeathing $10,000 to the church. She was informed that if a public bequest was made within 30 days of death it was of no avail, so the old lady handed over the money in cash.

A Hundred Years to Come.

Wouldn't you like to live until the year A.D., 2,000, just to see the people and the world generally? Who knows but you might, if you observe the laws of health, and keep the Stomach, Liver and Bowels in full action. The best medicine known for this is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are small, sugar-coated granules, but powerful to cure; produce no nausea or griping; easy to take, and sure cure for biliousness, constipation, headache, and disease produced by an inactive liver. A convenient vest-pocket remedy.

Mr. T. Hanafin, late bartender at the Grigg House, has assumed control of the cigar and news stand in Mr. Marcel Hoehn's barber shop, 359 Richmond street, where he will be happy to greet all his old friends—and they are not a few—and will be prepared to furnish the best of everything in his line. 98-u

Frauds Will Be Perpetrated for Gain.

Unscrupulous manufacturers of medicine are offering to supply the retail druggists with an article put up in RED wrapper, almost identical in general appearance, and closely assimulated in every detail to Carter's Little Liver Pills.

In this way they hope to profit by the merit of Carter's Little Liver Pills, and palm off an imitation on the unsuspecting sufferer and purchaser.

It is the source of wonder to honest people that there are men ready and willing to perpetrate such frauds.

Let them beware. A day of reckoning will surely come. There are "upright judges" in the land who will punish such people.

When you go for a bottle of Carter's Little Liver Pills ask for "CARTER'S," insist upon having "CARTER'S," and see that you get "C-A-R-T-E-R-'-S."

The proprietors of Carter's Little Liver Pills have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to make their value known. True merit always wins with the people, CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS have won.

A GENEROUS OFFER.

The Messrs. Leonard Propose a Memorial to Their Late Father,

And Will Give Seven Thousand Dollars for the Erection of a Public Bathing House.

Assistant Engineer A. O. Graydon Appointed City Engineer—Engineer Chipman's Report—Ninety Thousand Dollars the Estimated Cost of a Sewerage System—Gravel Irregularities—Foremen Suspended—Railway Matters.

Among the communications read at Monday night's meeting of the City Council was one from Frank E. and Charles W. Leonard. It announced their desire to present to the citizens of London a memorial to their esteemed father, the late Hon. Elijah Leonard, in the shape of a public bathing house. The writers were willing to provide about $7,000 towards the object if the Council would furnish $1,600 for the purchase of the real estate necessary. The principal conditions mentioned were: That the board of management should consist of the mayor, one alderman and one of the Leonard brothers or a citizen appointed by them; that the Council pay all salaries, fuel, light, water, insurance and repairs necessary for the proper working over and above the reyenue; that the charges for admission be 10 cents for plunge bath, 15 cents for private bath and 25 cents extra for an extra private bath at the discretion of the Board; that the bath be open every week day and up to 9:30 a.m. on Sundays, in such a manner that both sexes will have entire private use of the building on days set apart; that the surplus, if any, be credited to the Board and be used for extensions or improvements as it might decide; that the city provide suitable sidewalk, boulevard and lay water and sewer pipes into the building free of charge. The baths, the communication stated, would consist of one plunge bath 18x65 feet long with proper dressing stalls, sixteen private baths, and four extra baths, besides offices, reception room, board room, boiler room, etc.

The letter was referred to No. 1 Committee to report.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE.

By Ald. Connor, chairman: (1) That R. Southam be allowed to construct a window area on the city registry office ground, provided he gives a satisfactory agreement; (2) that R. Hueston be paid $15 for damages to coupe; (3) that Mrs. G. W. Cox be paid $25 for injuries received on account of a defective sidewalk; (4) that progress is being made on the request of the Sacred Heart Convent for a boulevard enclosure; (5) that Clarence street, from Dundas street to G. Clause 5 was struck out. The remainder of the report passed.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE.

By Ald. Spencer, chairman: (1) That the tender of the ADVERTISER Printing and Publishing Company for printing be accepted, it being the lowest; (2) that the tenders of Chas. Chapman, for blank books, and John Mills, for stationery, be accepted; (3) that the city's advertising be divided equally between the ADVERTISER and Free Press; (4) that O. Ellwood's communication re remission of water rates in cases of charity be referred back; (5) we submit the estimates of the Board of Education for adoption; (6) that R. Dagg's complaint re railway crossing by filed; (7) that the petitions of George Dowling and Alex. McLean, re income tax, ; (8) your committee has investigated the charges re gravel contract and finds that 149 loads of gravel were delivered, and that 245 loads were returned by Mr. McEwan, the spreader, as having been delivered during the week from July 2 to 8, both days inclusive; (9) we report progress on the petitions of Mrs. Harris, E. T. Essery (re Market lane), Thos. A. Browne, and as concerns the fire hall extras and small-pox hospital.

Ald. Judd objected to the adoption of clause 7 and moved that Mr. Dagg's petition as per his communication be acceded to.

Ald. Winnett said Ald. Judd was a solicitor for Mr. Dagg. Ald. Judd claimed it was his senior partner. A discussion ensued and ended in the clause being adopted.

The petition in question was signed by a number of people, and asked that the request to allow a railroad to run across Adelaide street to Ald. Winnett's coal sheds be not entertained owing to the danger attendant thereon.

Clause 8 had to do with the gravel irregularities. Ald. Spencer read two letters addressed to the mayor, signed "One Who Knows," in No. 2 ward. The latter asked that a watch be placed on certain gravel foremen, alleging that the city was paying one-third more than it ought to. The letter warned the mayor not to tell any of the city officials of the communication. It further stated that during the week ending July 17, M. Shea was paid for 100 cords of screened gravel which he never had furnished. Mayor Taylor, on receipt of the second communication consulted the chief of police and watches were placed on Messrs. Shea and McEwan. Mr. Shea was counted for 145 loads by one watch and Mr. McEwan, the spreader, for 149.

Ald. Spencer said that Mr. McEwan had appeared before the committee and had 245 loads marked in his book. Mr. Shea had also his copy, and between the two there was a difference of about six loads.

Ald. Gartshore moved that Mr. McEwan's services be dispensed with, and Mr. Shea's contract for gravel conceled, the latter to be not paid for the gravel actually delivered until he had prepared an account of all the gravel delivered during the season. Carried.

THE SEWAGE PROBLEM.

As chairman of the Board of Health, Ald. Ivey brought in a statement from Engineer Chipman as to the result of his recent visit here. Mr. Chipman said his work had been handicapped owing to the fact that the levels of the street intersections had not been previously taken. He thought, however, that the sewage could be deposited on the sand flats near the Cove without being pumped. The cost of the system, with the two main trunk lines, he would roughly estimate at about $90,000, exclusive of the right of way. The soil at the Cove seemed admirably adapted to the disposal of sewage. One acre, he considered, would suffice for 1,000 people. Mr. Chipman took occasion to comment on the present system as very defective, constructed with no regard for future extensions. He would recommend that the levels of all street intersections in No. 6 ward, and also the land lying south of the Pipe Line road be taken. The report was only preliminary.

Ald. Gartshore moved that the acting engineer take the required levels and be empowered to employ assistance. Ald Taylor moved that No. 2 deal with the matter and have the levels taken as soon as possible.

Mayor Taylor intimated that Ald. Ivey might have to go to Toronto in connection with the question.

Ald. O'Meara—I think the Council had better hire a room in the Rossin House and pay board. (Laughter.)

Ald. Ivey alluded to the pending judgment of the courts in regard to the sewage problem. They had not sufficient data before them to give a decided opinion. He had asked Mr. Chipman to see the authorities touching a further extension of the stay of proceedings.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald said the city had not kept faith with the Provincial Government on the stop log question. The Council should take some action; the whole process seemed to be one of delay.

Ald Taylor's amendment carried.

A PROMOTION FOR A. O. GRAYDON.

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald moved, seconded by Ald. Scarrow, that Acting Engineer A. O. Graydon be appointed city engineer, the question of salary to be referred to No. 1.

Ald. Ivey moved that the matter be laid over for the present. It was better to move cautiously.

Ald. Gartshore said Mr. Graydon had done the work better than the city engineer. He did not think Mr. Graydon wanted the appointment right off; it would be better to wait until later and give him a chance to show what he could do.

Ald. Scarrow thought it unfair to ask Mr. Graydon to continue to do both the engineer's and the assistant engineer's work at the latter's salary.

Ald. Ivey's amendment was lost on the following division: Yeas—Wyatt, Ivey, W. W. Fitzgerald, Winnett, Gartshore, Spencer and Thomas—7; nays—Taylor, O'Meara, J. Fitzgerald, Scarrow, F. J. Fitzgerald, Bartlett, Wilkey, Judd and Shaw—9. The motion carried and Mr. Graydon was made city engineer on the same vote reversed.

THE RAILWAY NEGOTIATIONS.

Mayor Taylor touched on the relationship of the G. T. R. car warks agreement and Port Stanley lease, but no new action was deemed necessary.

QUERIES, MOTIONS, BYLAWS, ETC.

Ald. Thomas asked if the residents of Ridout street, between King and York streets, were to have a block pavement. The road was in a bad condition. Mayor Taylor suggested that No. 2 Committee get in its estimates so that the position would be more definite. A motion to that effect, which also included No. 3, was carried.

Ald. Gartshore moved that firemen be instructed to become familiar with the interior of large buildings in the city, so that in case of fire they could more properly perform their work. Carried.

Ald. Winnett moved that the exemption privileges be discontinued to the London Bolt and Nut Company, as they had not fulfilled the conditions of their agreement. The mover consented to withdraw the motion upon Mayor Taylor's statement that the management had assured him the works were only shut down in order that improvements might be made.

Nearly twenty local improvement bylaws were hustled through the three stages, and the Council adjourned before midnight. Aldermen Connor and Skinner were the absentees.

SUNDAY SCRIMMAGE

At a Summer Resort Near Montreal—Conflict Between Catholic and Protestant Guests.

MONTREAL, July 21.—There was quite a disturbance on Sunday at the Hotel de Lotbiniere at Vaudreuil, one of the popular summer resorts in the vicinity of Montreal. The difficulty arose out of religious differences between the French Catholic and English Protestant guests at the hotel. The greater number of the guests are prominent French-Canadian Catholics, but there is a good sprinkling of English Protestants. The hotel is run by a stock company, which is controlled by French-Canadians, but the manager is Edwin J. Fenton, an American. It seems the Catholic guests have been contributing $10 weekly as rent for a building in the village in which their service is held, and Sunday nights they have spent in amusing themselves with a dance in the hotel parlors. Sunday, a week ago, when they assembled for their customary dance they found the Protestant guests in possession of the parlor, where a clergyman was holding service, the Catholics withdrawing. On Sunday the latter, determined not to be done out of their dance, assembled early, when they found the following placard hung in the parlor:

Guests will kindly refrain from dancing in the hotel parlors and ball room on Sunday.
J. FENTON, manager.

This was torn down and dancing commenced. Then Mrs. Fenton turned out the lights, only to find them re-lighted. Mr. J. M. Fortier, of Montreal, one of the proprietors of the hotel, was sent for, who ordered the lights to be turned on again and a lively fracas ensued. Manager Fenton had by this time put in an appearance and took his wife's part. The manager and his wife were abused by the French-Canadian guests, who jeered and hooted them, and there was every appearance of a free fight, when the mayor appeared in his insignia of office and succeeded in quelling the disturbance. The firm stand taken by the manager and his wife in support of the sanctity of the Sabbath is widely praised. Several Protestant guests left the hotel and there are rumors of others going. The head waiter and head cook with their staff, numbering about twenty, declared that if Mr. Fenton were to leave they would leave with him. Monday afternoon Mr. Fortier left with a complete new staff for the hotel; and, fearing trouble, he took sufficient protection with him to clear out the old staff from the house.

Elopement and Marriage of Marshal Blucher's Grandson.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 21.—A meeting at Elkhart Lake a few weeks ago, an acquaintance and an elopement terminated in the marriage in this city of Miss Alene Loeb, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Count Von Blucher, a son of Prince Von Blucher, and a great grandson of the old Marshal Blucher, who turned the tide of battle at Waterloo. The count who is 24 years of age has been in America a year.

Returned to Life in Her Coffin.

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 21.—Mrs. Richard Middleton, of Pisgah, Butler county, as was supposed, died at 2 a.m. Monday, and was surrounded by weeping relatives. Bells tolled, following the village custom, and preparations were made for the funeral. When the undertaker arrived, 26 hours afterward, he saw a faint flush on her cheek and resuscitated her. She is now about to sit up, and every hope of her recovery is entertained.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, July 20.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: "Improving prospects have induced holders of English wheats to take 1s less. The small quantity recently offered averaged 30s 9d. Foreign wheat is selling slowly. Prices show an average decline of 6d. A good continental demand prevented a greater weakening. Barley is cheaper. The depression is local and the market will improve soon. The arrivals of corn and oats exceed the requirements and this has depressed the market. At to-day's market English wheats were neglected, millers insisting upon a slight advantage in view of the favorable prospects. The factors, however, would make no concession. Indian wheat was firmer. American wheat was flat and prices were in buyers' favor. Flour was steady, though only a trivial business was done. Oats were 3d lower. Peas advanced 1s. Barley was slow, though there was a steady trade.

Trade in Scotland.

EDINBURGH, July 11.—John Swan & Son's weekly report says: The supplies of home-fed fat cattle both in Edinburgh and Glasgow have been smaller. Trade has been decidedly better. The smallness of the supply in Edinburgh prevented Englishmen operating to any extent except in fat cows, but in Glasgow a very large number of cattle was bought to go south. The supply of Canadian cattle has comprised over 1,000 head, for the best 9s to 9s 3d per stone was obtainable; 500 States cattle met a fairly good trade at from 8s 3d to 8s 6d per stone.

The number of sheep and lambs on offer this week has been under an average. Trade throughout has been better, more especially in Glasgow, young sheep experiencing a rise of 1s, and ewes from 1s to 2s over last week's prices. Lambs have been shown in fairly large numbers, and full prices have been realized for the best, but secondary are, however, sold at an advance in price. Calves have been an exceedingly large show, and they met a very quiet trade at a sharp reaction. Pigs met a slightly better trade at rather more money.

Store sheep in small supply, and the general quality indifferent. Trade steady. Very few store cattle are shown in Edinburgh, and sales are difficult to effect. The number of milch cows shown in Edinburgh was about the same as last week, and they met an exceedingly quiet demand at a reduction of from 30s to 40s a head.

Best beef, 9s 3d to 9s 6d; secondary, 8s; cows, 7s 3d to 7s 6d per stone. Bulls very difficult to sell at low prices. Best mutton, 8½d to 8¾d; secondary, 7½d to 7¾d; lambs, 8½d to 9½d per lb.

Endowed with Moral Stamina.

There has been some comment on the indecency of some portions of the circus posters that now adorn the bill-boards of Stratford. In London the same lithographs formed the subject of an investigation before the police magistrate, who ordered the objectionable lithos to be torn down. Rev. J. W. Holmes, of the Central Methodist Church, on Sunday evening, referred to the matter, and hinted that the Stratford authorities were not as highly endowed with moral stamina as the London authorities. He said the posters were most corrupting in their influence, and hoped no member of his congregation would attend the spectacular exhibition. — [Stratford Herald.

Death of Mrs. A. Puddicombe.

Another old resident of London has passed away in the person of Mrs. A. Puddicombe. The sad event took place Monday at the family residence, 25 Henry street, South London. Mrs. Puddicombe was born in 1814 near Great Torrington, Devonshire, Eng. In 1858 she emigrated to Canada, and since that date had lived in this city. Her husband, three children—two daughters and one son—survive her. The eldest daughter was married to Mr. Charles McClary, and the second to Mr. Osborne, of the old firm of Hobbs, Osborne & Hobbs. Her son Robert is inspector of the London Loan Company. Deceased was an exemplary wife and mother and a consistent member of St. James' Anglican Church, South London, for many years. She bore her long illness with remarkable patience, and when the end came it was perfect peace. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from her late residence, Henry street.

A South London House Raided.

John McDonald was arrested early yesterday on a charge of keeping a disorderly house in South London over Clark's Bridge. Complaints have been entered on several previous occasions against this place. When three of the police force, led by Sergeant Jenkins, arrived at the house about 2 o'clock this morning eight or ten persons made good their escape through the back door. Four, however, were caught including a couple of visiting 'cyclists, and the party appeared in the police court. The prisoners were discharged with the exception of McDonald. A week's adjournment was given the case and a warrant will be issued in the meantime for Sarah Moulton, one of the inmates.

BANKER AND BLACKSMITH

Break Away from the Village of Belmont,

And Leave Numerous Creditors to Mourn Their Departure.

A week ago the ADVERTISER announced that Adam Allison, banker, Belmont, had assigned to John Campbell, St. Thomas. At first it was supposed that the estate was left in a good shape and would pay a fair dividend, but the departure of Mr. Allison as soon as the assignment had been made caused an investigation, which reveals the fact that very many innocent parties must suffer by his failure.

Mr. Allison's father is an old and respected farmer in Blenheim township, and Adam was the first C.P.R. station agent in Belmont about ten years ago. That position he held for four years, and he then went into partnership with Norman McDonald, barrister, St. Thomas, as private bankers. Mr. McDonald retired from the firm some three years ago, since which time Mr. Allison has continued the business of banking and grain buying. He lived with his wife and two children in a handsome two-story brick house, situated upon about an acre of ground, which was erected for him at a cost, it is said, of between $4,000 and $5,000. Only this spring the house was repapered and frescoed at a cost of over $200. He rented two farms, of 50 acres each, which are well stocked. He had some seven or eight horses, besides farm stock. He was a man who had the confidence and respect of the great majority of the people, who, to all appearances, lived an exemplary life, and whose honesty and business integrity, until recently, was unquestioned. He was an elder in the Presbyterian Church, as also a teacher in the Sunday school, and took an active interest in church work. Recent developments regarding his business affairs and mode of transacting business, therefore, occasioned general surprise.

A good many of those who ought to know are of the opinion that he never had a very large capital. Whatever capital he may have had, it is now apparent, that for some time past he has been using the money of others to keep himself afloat, and has been guilty of deception, not to use a harsher word, to cover his tracks. At the last, however, he was driven to the wall, the state of his business affairs could be no longer hidden, and on the advice of his solicitor he made an assignment. The assignment is dated last Tuesday, July 14, and on the same day he left the village, and has not since returned. His business affairs have been found in a much worse condition than was anticipated, and it is shown that those who had faith in his business integrity had put their trust in a broken reed. His business connections were widespread; many in the village and surrounding country had dealings with him, either as depositors, indorsers, or in some way or other, and as a consequence many have been bitten. Those who have been doing business with him of late now state that the fact that he was not prompt in meeting his engagements, putting them off with some excuse or other, and that his statements did not always agree, caused them to be suspicious that all was not right—suspicions which have since been confirmed.

Russ Allison, brother of Adam, the banker, arrived in Belmont about two years ago. He was a blacksmith by trade, and for a year worked for Hugh McCollum. On Dec. 2 Mr. McCollum sold out to him and he has since carried on the shop. Last spring he was married to a young lady, whose parents reside at Hespeler. His wife went on a visit to her parents' home a couple of weeks ago, and her husband boarded at the Creamer House. Last week he borrowed a number of small sums from different persons in the village, and has not been seen at his shop or in the village since Friday. Mr. McCollum, to whom he is indebted $300, examined his books and finds his accounts are all collected up, and that little or nothing can be realized.

It is difficult to obtain a correct list of the liabilities of Adam, the banker.

Some time ago Wm. Groat gave Mr. Allison a note for $1,394 to collect in Manitoba. Mr. Groat asked about it from time to time, and was told that it had not yet been paid. Since Mr. Allison's departure it has been learned that he was paid the money June 4. Others have made payments to him on notes placed in the bank as collateral security. Some got receipts and some did not, but in none of these cases were the moneys thus received paid into the bank. The following are said to be creditors for the amounts specified:

Adam Allison, Princeton, father of the absconders, $1,900.

George Bratt and Samuel Davidson, indorsers for Peter Ferguson, $1,200.

Smith Bros., flax mill proprietors, deposits, etc., $1,140.

L. Simpson and S. Davidson, indorsers, $800.

James McPhail, $500.

F. McGibbon & Co., Sarnia, $400.

John Campbell, miller, St. Thomas, $400.

Arch. McVicar, $225.

Joseph McCord, $207.

Mrs. Legg, $200 or $300.

Mrs. Taylor, $200.

Rev. J. A. Brown, security, $200.

John Ferguson, $190.

M. Grossau, $150.

The Home Circle, $125.

Canada Salt Company, $150, and numerous smaller and doubtless many larger amounts.

Perhaps one of the hardest losses to bear, though one of the smallest, is that of Miss Mary Jones, a tailoress. She had saved $55 from her earnings and deposited it in Allison's bank.

Mrs. Allison states that she had no idea of the state of her husband's financial affairs, and that she has been left entirely without funds. Her father and mother arrived from Michigan last week, and her brother arrived Saturday night. Mrs. Allison wished to leave the village and take some articles with her, but Constable Shelding told her she was free to go where she liked, but that she could take nothing out of the house. The house is watched night and day.

A meeting of the creditors will be held on Friday next, the 24th inst.

Those to whom Russ is indebted, and who consequently mourn his departure, are: Hugh McCollum, $300; John McGrath, tailor, $42; Mrs. Mapson, of the Creamer House, $5, borrowed money, and two weeks' board; Mark Taylor, bar-tender, Creamer House, $5, borrowed money; Wm. Dier, general storekeeper, $100; D. McKellar, $23; A. McPhail, baker, $3; Mr. Fauset, $44; Dr. Cline, $13, borrowed money, Angus Stewart, $50, borrowed; Colin Taylor, $6, borrowed; Harry Smith, $20, meat and cash lent; George Watcher, $14, borrowed; Moore & Odell, $65, for furniture. That Russ Allison does not intend to return is indicated from the fact that he called upon J. B. Davidson, barrister, Friday morning, and tried to raise a loan on the furniture, for which he had not paid.

CRICKET.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 21.—The cricket match between the Germantown Cricket Club and the Hamiltons, which began yesterday morning, was continued to-day. In the first inning, in which Hamilton went to bat first, the home team were put out for a total of 82 runs; the visitors ran up a total of 106 before their last man was out. In the second inning the bowling of Patterson for the Germantown team was too much for the local cricketers, who were put out for a total of only 20 runs. The game was thus decided without the visiting team going in for their second inning.

LONDON C. C. "AT HOME."

On Saturday next the London Cricket Club will hold an "At Home" on their grounds, corner St. James and Wellington streets, when the Bankers will play the return match with the London Cricket Club. No invitations will be issued, but the members of the club will be pleased to see all their friends on the ground, especially the fair sex.

BAPTY, Dundas Street

He Fell Among Thieves

"The broom's at the door," Hogan announced, thrusting his head into Wynne's sitting-room at noon next day. "We're due already, but I've been kept waiting by a patient."

Time had not often seemed to go so swiftly as it passed on that rapid little journey. Harry's heart was beating fast when Hogan's carriage pulled up before the door of the house in Eccleston Square, and his mouth and lips were dry. If he could have had his choice he would sooner have sealed a battery with a determined enemy behind it than have mounted the innocent flight of steps before him. But he was in for the business now, and must needs stiffen his nerves and go through with it.

Almost before he knew it, Hogan's voice, in oiliest suave medical tone, was introducing him.

"My friend, Mr. Ronald Morton, the world-famous Asiatic explorer, Lady McCorquodale. Mr. Morton, Lord Hounes."

Lord Hounes, dried and sour, and withered to an extraordinary degree, bowed with his own frosty dignity, and waved a hand towards a wonderful old figure in an armchair.

"My father, the Earl of Bridgebourne."

The Earl of Bridgebourne had never been a big man physically, but in the extreme old age to which he had lived he seemed to have shrunk away to nothing. The skin clung tightly to his withered old temples as if it had grown too small for the skull. The toothless mouth fell in, and the nose and chin peaked beyond it, threatening to meet. Not a nerve or a muscle of his face seemed to have motion in it, and only his eyes were alive. They had grown amazingly large and brilliant, like a bird's.

The unknown visitor's heart fluttered with a sudden unexpected tenderness and pity. The stately old man had been kind to him when he was a lad, had patted his head and advised him, and on two or three memorable occasions had tipped him a five-pound note. It was wonderful to himself to notice how near and keen and fresh the past from which he had severed himself grew at that moment.

Lady McCorquodale's hair was white, and arranged in scanty bands. She was less majestic than of old. He thought she looked softened, gentler, and less masculine. She had taken to spectacles, and looked shortsightedly at the visitor.

Harry took the seat that was offered him, and Lady McCorquodale began to question him.

"We understand from Dr. Hogan, Mr. Morton, that you are averse to society, and that during your brief stay in town you desire to be left alone as much as possible?" He bent his head in silence, but accompanied that gesture with a little deprecatory wave of both hands, which seemed to make light of the matter. "We are very sensible," her ladyship continued, "of the favor you do us in coming here. You knew poor Harry?"

The old lady's severe voice trembled. She had meant to put the question in her usual ceremonious fashion, and had introduced it solemnly enough, but it touched her heart when it came. The handsome, wrong-headed, foolish lad was dead, and having dead had long since been forgiven.

"I knew him, madam," the visitor answered simply, and waited for further questions.

"Where did you first meet him?" asked her ladyship.

"He went straight to the Byzance Hotel on the night of his arrival in Constantinople." He tried to avoid the lie direct, and hesitated from what his hearers took for shyness or long disuse of social habit. "We met there for an hour or two," he went on, forced to admit the situation frankly. "I believe he joined the Polish Legion, but nothing came of that, and he finally went up country with a Circassian officer."

"We heard," said her ladyship, interrupting him, "some confused story of his having saved an Englishman's life from the Circassians. Did you know of that?"

"It was Ronald Morton's life he saved."

The quaint form passed with the rest of the stranger's oddities.

"Your life?" cried the old lady trembling. "He risked his own?"

"I am sure," said the pretended Morton, shrugging his shoulders with an incomprehensible modesty, "that he never thought of that."

"He was brave," said the old lady. Her tremulous lips told more and more of pride and affection, and perhaps something of repentance. Harry had been very young when the members of all his house had turned their backs upon him, and had left him to his own fatal devices. She thought piteously, "If they had only been a little more generous!"

"Did he often speak to you of home?" Lord Hounes asked drily, "and of his own affairs?"

"I knew his reasons for leaving England. You must let me speak of this. I am persuaded—I know it as well as I know that I am sitting here—that he meant honorably all along, that rogues took advantage of his inexperience of the world, and gulled him."

"I have always said so," the old earl broke in with shrill and wavering pipe. "I have always said so. His Uncle Percy maintained it to the day of his death. The boy was duped by rogues."

"We caused," said Lord Hounes, in his dry-as-dust parliamentary tones, "we caused the strictest inquiry to be made into his way of life, and could discover nothing, absolutely nothing, which militated against his character."

"If he could have guessed," said the visitor, "that his family would have taken so much care to do him justice he would have stayed, and faced the hollow charge against him. An able counsel could have blown it to the winds in a minute."

"If I had not been certain," said the old earl in his tremblidg falsetto, "if I had not been certain of the boy's honor I would never have paid the debts he left behind him."

The visitor looked up, with a glance at once keen and troubled. There was a momentary hoarseness in his tone as he responded.

"I wish poor Wynne could have known. It lay upon his mind like lead."

"He seems to have made you his confidant," said Lady McCorquodale.

"I do not think," Harry answered, "that he had a secret from me."

A ring at the outer bell and the opening of the outer door had passed unnoticed, but at this instant a figure entered the room and brought him unconsciously to his feet.

"Inthia!" cried the old lady. "I thought you were forty miles away."

"Roberts was mistaken as to the time of the train," she answered. "We were twenty minutes late. I called on Lady Mabel as I drove home."

"This is Mr. Morton, my dear," said Lady McCorquodale. "The great traveler in Asia, whose book you have been reading. Mr. Morton was with poor Harry when he died. My niece, Miss Grey, Mr. Morton."

The girl looked gravely and sweetly up at him, and their eyes met. In a second—in less than a second, in a flash of time—her calm expression changed to one of unutterable bewilderment. She had no eyes for the man who actually stood before her, bearded, massive, sun-burned, and scarred. The face that met her gaze was Harry's, as she had seen him last. It was like a lightning flash for suddenness, and was gone as soon as there. The two stood eyeing each other strangely, and Lady McCorquodale, rising rapidly, took Inthia by the hand.

"Sit down, dear," she said tenderly, and whispered in a swift aside, "I startled you."

"No," said Inthia's eyes. She was herself again, but wondered still at the vision she had been.

"My great-grandson," said the earl, "died like an Englishman, Mr. Morton."

The whole interview had weighed upon him from the first, and now that Inthia was here he felt it intolerable. He thought he had come with a pardonable pretense, but now he felt as if he were steeped in infamy. He could not speak without evading lies. If he had found the people of his blood as he had supposed he left them, cruelly indifferent and cold, his position would have been easier. But it hit him hard to know that they had been sensitive of his honor, and that in spite of appearances they had believed in him. He found it difficult too to sit by and give no sign when a casual phrase informed him of Percy Seaforth's death. But for a strong and resolute repression the tears would have arisen to his eyes at that intelligence. The colonel had been like a father to him, and had stood next in his heart to Inthia.

He had a purpose in mind, and could not yet afford to betray himself. He felt that he must harden his heart, as Joseph had done before his brethren thousands of years ago, though like Joseph he would fain have gone out and wept.

CHAPTER XIV.

"Begad!" said Hogan, as he left the house at Harry's side, "ye're curiously shy, Morton. Upon me word now, ye were blushing and bogglihg like a schoolgirl. Ye weren't used to be like that when ye were more accustomed to the society of ladies, I'll go bail.

Harry forced a laugh. He was content to leave Hogan to his fancy, and was glad that he had lighted upon so natural a supposition. Hogan wanted to drive him back to the hotel, but Harry insisted on shaking hands then and there.

"I'm in want of exercise," he said. "London cramps me."

He strode away, and Hogan watched his massive figure as it went down the street. The medico was as full of pride in his friend that he could not refrain from playing him on the very coachman.

"D'ye know who that is, Harkett? That's the most famous man at this hour in London. That's Mr. Ronald Morton, the great Asiatic explorer."

"Him as rode on 'orseback from the Cahspian to the Pacific, sir?" said the coachman, waking to sudden interest. "He looks as if he'd gone through something, sir. A splendid figure of a gentleman."

Effects of Alcohol on the Human System.

Differing Views, But the "Drink" Habit Comes in for Severe Condemnation —The Expenditure for "Hard Stuff" in the States.

At the opening meeting of the International Medical Congress at the national prohibition camp grounds in Port Richmond, L. I., Dr. N. S. Davis, of Chicago, spoke on "The Nature and Effects of Alcoholic Liquor," in part as follows: "During 1890, 80,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits, 40,000,000 gallons of wine, 800,000,000 gallons of malt liquors, making a total of 920,000,000 gallons, were consumed in the United States. They cost the consumers $800,000,000, or $13 per head on the total population of the country. The time lost from work, sickness and crimes due to drinking cost as much more, and it is estimated that rum cost the people of the United States in this period $1,600,000,000.

"What does the consumer get for this enormous expenditure? He does not get health, strength, clothing, food or happiness, but wasted fortunes, ruined lives and homes, homeless children, poorhouses, asylums and jails. Men who do not drink can work better and lose fewer days from sickness than those who drink. People drink because of the erroneous ideas as to the nature and effects of alcoholic beverages.

"Before chemistry analyzed liquor it was supposed to be stimulating, warming, soothing and restorative. This is now known to be fallacious. Nineteen-twentieths of the alcoholic drinks given to the sick are mixed with sugar, milk, eggs or meat broths, which furnish the nutriment, and would support life better if given without alcohol. A five-pound loaf of bread contains as much nutriment as will be found in a daily diet of eight or ten quarts of beer continued for a year.

"The man who drank this amount of beer would swallow a barrel of alcohol. In beer there is 4 per cent. of alcohol, in wines 15 per cent. and in distilled liquors from 50 to 60 per cent. Science classes alcohol as a poison. If taken pure it will destroy tissue as quickly as carbolic acid. Alcohol causes permanent structural changes in the liver, kidneys, stomach, heart, blood vessels and nervous tissue, and lessens the natural duration of life from ten to fifteen years."

Prof. William H. Porter, of the New York Post Graduate School, followed with a paper on "The Physiological Relation of Alcohol to Food." He did not agree entirely with Chairman Davis, and said that there are cases in which alcohol can be given with benefit. Prof. Porter had several charts showing the constituent parts of various articles of food and their value as nutritive agents. Starch, sugars and fats are stimulating, and are transformed into alcohol before they can be taken up by the system. Those used to eating food of this nature have a desire for stimulants.

Alcohol, being pleasant to the taste, is preferred to stimulating foods, and the alcoholic habit is gradually acquired. Albuminous food, such as meat, eggs and milk, stimulate the body without giving the desire for alcohol. The common practice of using vegetables and cereals to the exclusion of milk and meats often arouses a desire for alcoholic beverages. To get rid of the alcoholic habit fats, starch and sugar should be avoided. Alcohol is useful as a medicine, but must not be classed as a food.

Prof Axel Gustafson told what he knew about "Some of the Effects of Alcohol on the Brain." He said that alcohol holds a pre-eminent place as a blood poison. This, he thinks, is shown in the crimes of alcoholists and drunkards. Suicide, insanity, idiocy and moral manias are traceable to the influence of alcohol on the brain. The minimum poisonous dose of alcohol for adults is from four to six tablespoonfuls of brandy or whisky, two to three wine glasses of port or sherry, and four wine glasses of sherry or champagne.

Dr. T. D. Crothers, of New Haven, advocated placing all drunkards in quarantine like persons suffering from contagious disease. This is the only way in which the disease could be stamped out and the influence of heredity checked. The quarantine should be established by the State and maintained at the public expense so long as licenses are granted.

There was an animated discussion upon the subject, "Can a physician practice medicine without alcohol?" and there were some very sharp attacks upon Dr. James Wood, of New York, who argued in favor of using alcohol freely in fevers. Dr. Wood is a young man, and his youth and inexperience were made the basis of the argument against his position. Personalities flew back and forth. Dr. Wood finally said he was disgusted and walked out of the Tabernacle.

Dr. M. L. Holbrook, of New York, made an effort to show by insurance tables and other statistics that alcohol shortens life and spreads disease. Dr. L. M. Green, supported by a large number of tabulated cases, argued that the habit of moderate drinking greatly increases the danger of a patient attacked by disease. This is because alcohol reduces the vitality and the power of resistance of disease.

Prof. E. P. Thwing, of Brooklyn, who recently established an asylum for the insane at Canton, China, entertained the audience with a few remarks on "Climatic Influences as Related to Inebriety." He said that it had been shown that climate has changed not only the complexion but the animal development of men. The United States is in the "intemperate belt." Climatic influences intensify the feverish rush of life by extreme thermal changes, and the peculiarly dry and electric quality of the air which stimulates the nervous system. A neurotic diathesis is the result, and man cannot bear the added strong drink. The average criminal is more susceptible to meteorological changes than the honest man.

Wesleyan Ladies' College.

The thirtieth annual catalogue of the Wesleyan Ladies' College, Hamilton, has just been issued. It is a handsome production, and contains much that will interest parents with daughters to educate. Beginning well, away back in the sixties, it has steadily maintained its prestige, and now, under Rev. A. Burns, S.T.D., LL.D., principal, it is enjoying more prosperity than ever. Do You Suffer Pain?

Does a dull aching of nerve or muscle, or the acuter pangs of neuralgia, toothache or lumbago make life a misery? Thousands are compelled to suffer day in and day out simply because they are unacquainted with the extraordinary pain-subduing power of Nerviline—the great nerve pain cure. It is certain to cure nerve pain speedily, Nerviline cures toothache, rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, etc. Nerviline is powerful, penetrating and effectual. Sold everywhere.

PERFUMES.

Crystalized History—That's what someone says words are. But a good Perfume is the essence of sweet words. Petals by the thousand are used to make a single drop of Otto of Roses, but that will stir up more memories in a second than could be read in the ADVERTISER in a week. Josephine loved musk. History says so, and we remember it as well as we do that her husband became Emperor of France. One cannot smell the odor without being reminded of it. But all do not limit their choice to one odor. We hear of a lady who puts her letter paper between sachets of different essences, and it is the perfume that she employs that speaks for her. When she uses Tuberose or Chypre she says: "I am true." If the letter smells of White Rose it is "Adieu;" but if it is the tenacious and persistent musk it is "Eternal love." If the adorer is too stupid to understand, so much the worse for him. The Perfume should be always of the best quality; everything else depends upon your Perfumes. Good or bad perfume, good or bad anything else. If you can't see that, there must be something wrong in your eyes—better have them examined for spectacles. We say you can always get the best at Bark-well's, and we think we know. zxv

Hand-in-hand

—Pearline and purity. You can't have one without the other. A good housekeeper will have both. Pearline cleans anything that dirt can settle on. In the laundry, the bath, and all work about the house, it washes thoroughly, easily, safely, and cheaply. You will find there is nothing else like it. Everybody else is using it.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—PEARLINE is never peddled. 299 JAMES PYLE, New York.
