BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT,

Lord Mount-Stephen Marriage to Miss Tuinell, in London.

London, Nov. 29.—There was a large and fashionable attendance at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, on Saturday afternoon to witness the marriage of Lord Mount-Stephen to Miss Giana Tuinell, who was a lady in waiting to the late Duchess of Teck. The officiating clergymen were the Bishop of Peterboro and the Rev. Mr. Coggin, vicar. The chancel of St. Margaret's was lavishly decorated with choice plants and flowers. The impressive OVERCOME AND DROPPED DOWN. service was choral. Amidst the ringing of bells and strains of the "Wedding March" from the organ, Lord Mount-Stephen, attended by Sir John McNeill, took his place at the altar railings. The bride, leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Tuinell, passed up the aisle and took her place. She was attended in the capacity as bridesmaids by four pretty little girl relatives, beautifully attired. Then the service commenced. There were noticed among the guests Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley, Field Marshal Sir Donald Stewart, Admiral Lord Clan-William, Sir Stafford and Lady North-Strathcona and Mount Royal, Lord and Lady Clifford, Rev. R. H. Jephson and Mr. Charles Johnston. B. S. Mc-Irnes, his lordship's private secretary, acted as one of the ushers. There was no formal reception. LACROSSE BECOMING A COLLEGE GAME. Lacrosse is becoming popular among collegians, and it is expected that a new intercollegiate league will soon be formed to put this branch of spot on an equal tooting with other pastimes. Columbia is getting candidates together for a team. Harvard, Cornell, Stevens, Johns Hopkins, Lehigh and the college of the city of New York already have teams. Yale and Pennsylvania are also organizing teams.

CHECKERS. McLAURIN BECOMES CHAMPION | flege of holding the meet. BY DEFAULT.

The championship checker contest between James Dykes, of Wardsville, Ont., and James McLaurin, of Windsor, was decided on Saturday in Mc-Laurin's favor. The match was awarded to McLaurin by default, and given point. many of those interested in the contest are disappointed. It was decided in signing the agreement that the games should commence at 2 p.m. each day. On Saturday Dykes did not put in an appearance at the hall at that time. McLaurin waited for some time, and then claimed the match by default. D. H. Bedford, who was acting as referee, decided that McLaurin should be awarded the championship.

A number of checker enthusiasts stated after the match had been decided that it was a very unsatisfactory way to settle the matter, and that they would prefer that the match had been completed. Dykes was interviewed after the match had been decided, and he was very despondent over the re-sult. He said that McLaurin had the match won, and should have played the games out. He would have been satisfied to surrender the championship to McLaurin if he had played all the games, as he had held it for eighteen years, and he was willing to allow McLaurin to be his successor. He was deeply affected by the outcome, and almost wept when he realized that he no longer was champion of Canada. He said that he was immediately going to Montreal to play a man from Nova Scotia, and if he won, would then challenge McLaurin to a match for a big side bet, and would at once post a forfeit. his experience with kidney trouble, and his recent remarkable cure by Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. Conboy's statement reads as

"For a number of years I have been troubled with kidney weakness, brought on by heavy lifting and exposure to wet and cold; also a heavy strain whereby I wrenched my back. I experienced great pain in the chest, extending through to the small of my back and around the loins.

"Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills my blood became vitiated, and my kidneys were greatly deranged in their action. I suffered also from nervousness and general debility, and I am thankful to say that by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, assisted by Laxa-Liver Pills, I am wonderfully improved. I also suffered from constipation and liver complaint, but found Laxa-Liver Pills an excellent remedy, aiding Doan's Kidney Pills in their splendid work.

Remains of a Missing Woman Discov ered - Chocked to Death by

Her Husband Chicago, Nov. 29.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Mrs. Price $1
Pauline Merry from her home at No. Munyo 50 Hope street, was solved yesterday afternoon by the confession of Thomas Hickey. Hickey told a revolting story of how Christopher Merry choked and beat his wife a week ago last Friday. Then, finding it impossible to restore the woman to consciousness, Hickey says that Merry decided to put her "out of her misery" by beating out her brains with a poker.

The horrible story told by Hickey was extorted from him after hours of questioning in the sweat box. Then he led a party of police to an uninhabited portion of the city, where Mrs. Merry's body was found buried beneath a few inches of loose dirt by the roadside.

The Kaiser Anxious to "Forestall England" --Britain May Secure Port Hamilton-The Cotton Trade and the Industrial Situation-Irish Elections—Death of the Oldest Man in the World.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

London, Nov. 27 .- In spite of the optimism of the colonial officers of both Great Britain and France, and the denial of the rumors of a conflict at Nikki between the French and British forces, the matter is one of the greatest gravity since the initiation of the wild policy of sending armed bands from Dahomey to Lagos, led by hot-headed officers, to assert the authority of their respective nations and grab anything in sight which might still be unoccupied, it has been obvious that a collision may recur sooner or later. Both governments have repeatedly been warned to recall these roving expeditions, and await the settlement of the delimitation committee, now sitting in Paris. It is difficult to apportion the blame for this state of affairs.

RAIDING IN WEST AFRICA. That the French initiated the system of raiding the contested territory in West Africa is indisputable. but the 'colonial Columbus," as Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader has nicknamed Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, has made a serious false step in following suit. If a diplomatic protest on the subject had been promptly lodged in Paris and vigorously pushed, the whole question would probable have been amicably settled by this time. But instead of this, the French have been permitted to boldly invade the admitted lines of British Lagos territory, fight the natives and occupy towns so that they might more easily reach and occupy the Say-Boussa-Nikki triangle. which is the object of the dispute. So far as known, the Marquis of Salisbury has not asked even for explanations, and the whole story appears to be incredible. If the Marquis of Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain have a settled policy regarding West Africa they into any of the federation's workshops Nenagh, Tipperary, aged 115 years. have failed to make it known, and all the conditions existing in any other McCarthy was born in Nenagh early present situation is fraugnt with perilous humiliation and the loss of the little self-respect the Tory ministry has left. For this the country and press, even the Conservative newspapers, are demanding reprisals by the reseizure, for instance, of the town of Boussa, lately seized by the breaking off of the negotiations in Paris until the acts of the Dahomey officials are formally disavowed.

REINFORCEMENTS. In the meanwhile, another batch of 80 British officers and non-commissioned officers sails from Liverpool today for Lagos, accompanied by a battery of six 12-pounder Maxim-Nordenfelt howitzers, specially supplied by the colonial office without consultation with the the forces in process of being dispatched are joined to the troops already there, Great Britain will have 250 officers and non-commissioned officers and 4,000 troops in West Africa. Commenting upon this fact, the semiofficial Temps of Paris says: "The British troops will be received by our troops, who are already de facto in possession, and who propose to remain so until the pending negotiations are settled by equitable compensations legitimately shared by France and England. Until then we shall not swerve.' If this means anything, it means that France intends to exact further "graceful concessions" from the Marquis of Salisbury, similar to those in connection with Siam, Tunis and Madagascar,

THE FIRST SLICE. The apparent calmness with which the European powers are taking the German seizure of Chinese territory does not deceive any but the shallowest observers. Germany has got the first slice, but she will not be allowed to eat it unless the other interested parties are permitted to take a bite off the same joint. That is the question which now forms the subject of diplomatic negotiation, which, before long, perhaps, will assume a heated character. Here in London the foreign office is firmly persuaded that Germany's action is due to the sudden acquisition of knowledge that England is arranging a private deal with the Chinese gov-BRITISH INTERESTS IN CHINA Nothing is yet publicly known about that deal, but the facts are as follows: It is necessary to bear in mind that the British possession of Hong Kong, which is one of the largest seaports in the world, has been left in a most defenseless position, owing to its inadequate fortifications and garrison. Without the protection of the British fleet, it would be quite incapable of holding out against the attacks to which it would be liable. In case of a sudden outbreak of war, it might possibly fall into the hands of the enemy, together with its immense stores of coal, its magnificent docking facilities and large quantities of naval and military stores. On the other hand, should the fleet remain to protect Hong Kong, it would have to neglect the paramount duty of keeping the seas clear of hostile cruisers. Some months ago the governor of Hong Kong, the commander of the local military forces, and the admiral of the fleet, embodied the foregoing in a memorandum and mailed it home. It is known now that a special cabinet council was summoned to consider the matter, and the result was that the British minister in Pekin was ordered to enter into negotiations with the Chinese government for the cession of the islands adjoining Hong Kong and a portion of the mainland facing it, without the possession of which any scheme of defense would be useless. There is reason to believe that these gold the most precious metal. Dodd's negotiations have just been brought to a successful conclusion, but the con-sideration received by China for her complaisance is not yet known. It is needless to say that England does not Germany's attitude towards China is made clear by the statement that within two months a squadron of eight warships, with 3,000 men, will assemble in Chinese waters. Emperor William's brother, whose ambition for years has been to win naval honors, is to command half this force, and in government circles it is expected that some hot work will result. It is stated that Russia gave the kaiser assurance that a free hand would be given Germany should circumstances render the seizure of territory necessary. The demany of Germany on Hayti will be backed up by warships.

TO FORESTALL ENGLAND. Emperor William, in conversation with Admiral von Knorr, commanderin-chief of the imperial navy, and with Prince Henry, made use of the expression, "Wir muessen Brittanien ein paroll bieten" ("We must forestall England"). This remark was made while the emperor was enlarging on the situation in China and dwelling on the fact that the advantage gained by the quick action of the German naval forces in Kiao-Chau Bay must be followed by an adequate strengthening of the squadron by the forces available.

The German newspapers are almost unanimous in demanding that Germany seize the present opportunity to obtain adequate and tangible compensation for her support of China in the peace negotiations with Japan in 1896. THE LABOR TROUBLES.

London Adbertiser. (ESTABLISHED 1863.)

MANAGER John Cameron

London, Monday, Nev. 29, 1897.

Tomorrow's Opening of the Ontario Legislature.

Tomorrow, the last session of the eighth Legislature of Ontario will be opened by Sir Oliver Mowat, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province. The opening promises to be unusually interesting. Never before, we believe, has a Governor-General and his wife graced the opening of the Legislature of the Province, but on this occasion both Lord and Lady Aberdeen have promised to be present, tarrying as they are, for the time being, at Government House.

The session is opened at an earlier date than usual, because of important business that must be settled. In addition to the ordinary review of the management of public institutions and natural resources of the Province, the members will be called upon to discuss the timber question. In the Province, there are two views on the best means to preserve the interests of the people, under the new condition of affairs brought about by the increase in the United States duty on lumber. The Opposition leaders have tried to be on both sides, according to the locality in which they found themselves. But when they meet the House, and are brought face to face with the question, their object will be exposed. The whole subject will be discussed in the light of facts and of the legal obligations of the Province, and no doubt a policy will be formulated, under the guidance of the Administration, that will be for the welfare of the people as a whole. The report of the Forestry Commission, which will be laid before the Legislature, will aid the members in reaching a just judgment. There is a widespread desire that, while the Provincial institutions should continue to be maintained out of receipts from our lumber and minerals, which are the heritage of the whole people, everything should be done that can be done to secure for the future the maintenance of an ample supply of timber. The Government took action in this direction years ago. Its policy has been directed to preserve from fire the standing timber, to reafforest vacant lands wheresoever practicable, and to encourage the planting of trees n the older settled portions of the Province. But if further steps are shown by the Forestry Commissioners to be necessary, we may be sure they will be taken. It is probable that some changes may be made in the educational legislation of the Province. with the object of still further improving the school system, but no radical measures are needed or contemplated. It will be satisfactory to the friends of economic government in the Province to know that the finances are in a highly satisfactory condition. The receipts for the past year have considerably exceeded the expenditures, and there is a substantial surplus in the treasury. On the stump, the Opposition have been making reckless accusations against the Government. There are many reasons for believing that Mr. Whitney and his lieutenants would have been far more careful if they had not believed that the general election would take place before another session was held. Face to face with the Legislature, it will be shown on how little foundation their attacks have been built.

A Province so well governed as Ontario has been may well be congratulated on its present standing and its future prospects. Premier Hardy and his colleagues ought to be able in the ensuing session to give overwhelming proof that they are faithful servants and deserve further consideration at the hands of the people.

At a convention in Windsor on Saturday, Mr. W. J. McKee, the present M. P. P., was selected as Liberal nominee for North Essex at the ensuing general election. The name of Mr. R. F. Sutherland was the only other seriously entertained by the convention, but Mr. McKee got a substantial majority of the votes, and Mr. Sutherland moved that his nomination be made unanimous. Mr. McKee has proved a good representative.

Canada's Dairy Exports.

The cheese export trade of Canada shows a remarkable expansion in the year just ending. From Montreal, the first time in the history of the Dominion, the transatiantic shipments of cheese have exceeded the two million poxes mark, the quantity this year being 2,102,985 boxes, as against 1,726,226 in 1896. Butter exports were also enormously increased. In 1896, 157,321 packages were shipped from Montreal; this year, the shipments are 220,252 packages. The producers have obtained $16,-500,000 for these two products of the dairy. While the exports of cheese may not continue to increase in the same ratio in the future as during the past year, there is a great market for good Canadian butter yet awaiting development in Great Britain. Our shipments of butter can be increased many fold by careful making and marketing. Co-operation all along the line to send only the best will pay.

Value of First Impressions. It is true of the United States in particular that the liveliest and most accurate sketches of its people and institutions have been drawn by foreigners. The good citizens of the republic resent these portraits when they are not flattering, and challenge the correctness of impressions formed on the wing. The explanation is plain. Sit down and try to write your impressions of your own city or province, and see if your pen will flow. Then, if you have ever been abroad, see how easy it is to record your observations there. To a discerning traveler in foreign parts everything is clothed with novelty, and he judges it by the standard of his own country. Naturally, first impressions are the most vivid, for novelty soon wears off. A noted French raconteur, who was "writing up" the States, said he dared not stay there more than two months, or his ideas would evaporate. Talking of first impressions to Mr. Cy Warman the other day, he said that he had jotted down some "skits" on Canada and its people when first he crossed the border, but residence here had so familiarized him that he could scarcely remember what the peculiarities were that he had noted. "When I was in old London," said Mr. Warman, "I mentioned some of my impressions of the city to Robert Barr (Luke Sharp). 'Such things never occurred to me,' said Barr. 'Why don't you write them?' I neglected it at the time, and when I reached America I tried in vain to recollect what had struck my fancy in old London."

A Literary "Style." 'How shall I acquire a literary style?" is a question some budding writer is always asking. Don't try. First learn to spell, and if you are, with malice aforethought, determined to write, say what you want to in your most natural manner. There is no recipe for a style. The ingredients for fine writing of every description are the same, but you must compound and flavor them yourself. That's where style comes in. It's an essence of your own individuality, and if it isn't innate you cannot distill it from books. It may be developed by study, but not created, and habits of early composition are necessary to its growth. In saying this we are not inviting contributions, excepting live news. Experience has made us hard-hearted. Young writers, however promising, are invariably too florid and badly need the blue pencil. They would do well to heed the advice of the old Scotch school teacher: "Read over your compositions, and whenever you meet with a passage which you think is particularly fine, strike it out."

Mr. Mills will lead in the upper chamber, and will prove to be a tower of strength to the Administration, which is weak in that body.

[Ottawa Tribune.] Mr. Mills is a politician, but not a politician only. He is a statesman, full to overflowing with the requisite qualifications. He is a publicist of the highest attainments.

[Winnipeg Free Press.] He has been a long time in the pubic eye, and the public have never seen in him anything to distrust. He is able; he is honest; and he has a mind of his own. He is sufficiently disciplined as a party man to work with his colleagues, and he knows better than most that it is necessary to do this under our system of party government: but he is a man of opinions. and has the courage to sphold them.

THE MAJOR'S COMPANION.

[Shipping.] A correspondent sends us the following amusing story, as recently enacted upon an Australian liner: Australian major, after spending the first evening very late with his friends in the saloon, suddenly returned to them after saying 'Good night,' and requested an interview with the purser.

He was very white. 'There is a lady,' he said, 'in my cabin, No. 42.' 'Rubbish!' exclaimed the purser. 'Here's a list; your companion is Capt. Higgin-'Nothing will induce me to go into that cabin again,' said the major. 'Well, I'll go," rejoined the other. He returned with great celerity, and with a face as white as the major's. 'Upon somewhere else for the night, and see tory and law, an administrator of ex- earliest dawn they sought the stewperience and uprightness, and a siti- ard and demanded an explanation. 'It's all a mistake, gentlemen,' he said. 'It's Capt. Higginson all right; here's his luggage.' 'We must have this explained,' said the purser. 'This portmanteau is unlocked; let us see what is in it.' It contained a lady's wearing apparel. 'By jingo!' cried the steward, 'that's what comes of taking names as don't belong to us. She said she was Capt. Higginson; but she didn't say it was only in the Salvation Army!"

Moberly, Mo., Jan. 21, 1896.

Radway & Co.:

Dear Sirs—I have been keeping in the house your Radway's Ready Relief for the last six years. I have used it in every way, and found it to be the best on earth. Six years ago I was sick; I tried all kinds of medicines, but they did me no good. My father saw the advertisement in the paper; he told me to try a bottle. I did so, and by using it three days I was able to be out. I have kept it on hand ever since, and have told my neighbors about it. My wife has been troubled with toothache. I gave a trial of the medicine and it cured her pain instantly. I was gathering corn and got Moberly, Mo., Jan. 21, 1896. I gave a trial of the medicine and it cured her pain instantly. I was gathering corn and got my hand caught between the wagon bed and standard and mashed it badly. I ran to the house and poured on a lot of Radway's Ready Relief and had no more pain. I tied my hand up with a piece of fiannel, poured on more Radway's Ready Relief, and in an hour I was ready to take hold of my work again. I cannot be thankful enough. I could write a great deal more, but this raper would not hold half of what I could write. Yours truly,

JOCOB J. KAPPLER,

April 10, 1897.

Firmly Crounded Upon Real Merit
—They Know Hood's Sarsaparilla
Absolutely and Permanently
Cures When All Others Fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stilingis and a little Iodide of Potassium.

Besides these excellent alteratives, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

Nor are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the best-in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5.

Mark Twain

Describes the Recent Scenes of Rowdyism

Which He Witnessed in Austria's Rowdy Reichsrath on Thanksgiving Day-Is Glad He Was There

Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens) has cabled to the New York World from Vienna, a description of the scenes nobody heard, and passed by nobody passed at all. It was aimed at the obpower in the hands of the president of the parliament. This was a victory for the government, but was unlawfully won and was a simple usurpation. "Naturally yesterday's session would be historical, so I went early, arriving when the house was empty. In half an hour 200 or 300 members were present on the floor and the galleries were a miner a sack of flour for $75 and bapacked. I was in a gallery exactly opposite the president's tribune and had a perfect view. There was not much noise then, but the atmosphere was charged with suspense and expectan-All the house was holding its Cy. breath. A long waix, then a stir, a craning of necks and by a door far to the right the president and vice-presidents entered. The house rose, and a HURRICANE OF INSULTS AND EX-

ECRATIONS burst from the opposition them to their places. The Right answered back, and both sides roared, shouted and stormed. Two dozen Socialists stood in a body below the ministerial desks, shouted up at the president, and shook their fists furiously at him. He addressed some words to the house; at least, one could see his lips move, and he spread his hands over his breast. If he is a tyrant, he has some beseeching, persuasive gestures, not seen elsewhere but among the angels. That holy gesture seemed to madden the group of Socialists. All at once they

PLUNGED OVER THE BARRIERS and up through the ministerial benches, one in a red cravat, reached up and other seized his bell. In a moment they were fighting and struggling with uniformed servants of the house, wno ejected them. At the same time others of their group stormed up the side of the tribune, drove out the president, and the vice-presidents, and followed them all across the floor, hammering the latter with their fists. The Socialists came back, occupied the president's tribune, and held it like a fort. The man in the red cravat gathered up an armful of the president's papers and threw them over the front, in a sort of snow storm. Meantime the whole house was

HOWLING AND YELLING "Radicals!" "Scoundrels!" All of a sudden the distant door opened, and down the floor of the chamber came drifting the spectacle and flash of 50 would not have missed it for the succession to the throne. Moreover, it was history, and belongs among the world's memorable days. This force was received with a temptest of execrations from one party and with vic-

A HEAVY DEFEAT for all concerned. The handsome officer in command cared nothing for the reception. He went up into the tribune and requested the Socialist garrison to retire. They declined. Then he stepped aside, and his men pulled, hauled and dragged the fighting, struggling garrison down and out of their fort and out at the door, and the drama was finished. There were some more scenes before the sitting closed, but they were nothing after the supreme tragedy.

The new form of interchangeable mileage tickets issued by the western roads is proving very popular. The Sebastian ticket was placed on sale on Nov. 15, and 25,000 tickets were ordered printed, as it was thought that they would be sufficient for the demands that would be made. Honore, indeed, went on, and the brighter and merrier she grew the more coldiy supercilious were the glances bestowed upon her by Miss Trent; the more appalling was Miss Haughton's gaze of disapproval; the more Lawrence expanded in her smiles; the more Hervey caught himself up in his corrections and lectures, as if he feared her sudden flight from their midst; the more Phoebe raised her eyebrows with mild astonishment; the more Mrs. Trent made languid remarks of displeasure at "giris who let their spirits run away with them; the more Lady Somerson smiled behind her hand-screen; following with her eyes the light, restless figure, which was so beautiful despite its ill-fitting dress; and the more Royden Keith studied. with quiet amusement, the changing Royden, pleasantly. face of this girl, who seemed as yet to possess so little knowledge of the world which had set its seal upon his does tonight, do you, Mr. Keith?" Theodora had paused beside him as he leaned against the chimney watching the dancers-watching one especially, as Miss Trent plainty saw. He looked down and answered her, his eyes growing full of fun as their intentness vanished; he looked down and answered her truthfully, but as he would rather have died than answer her, if he could have foreseen how and when she would report and distort his words. That is what I cannnot understand in Honore's nature," continued Theodora, placidly insinuating the wide contrast in her own; "her perfect incapacity for any serious thought and feeling. She is rather pretty, and, as Hervey says, she is amusing sometimes; but she is not at all one you could fancy at the head of an establishment, or, indeed, moving in any wider range of society. As mamma says"-Theodora was gaining courage from the uncontradicting face-"any man would be unwise to bestow a strong affection upon Honore, if he expected depth of affection in return; do you think so, "That it would be unwise for some men to bestow a strong affection upon Miss Craven? Yes. It was at this moment, just as Theo-

So he answered quietly, with his rare smile; but, when the two words had been thus involuntarily uttered, a dusky flush rose in his face, and his eyes, meeting hers, asked pardon for the jest. No one had noticed her blush, or the sudden brightening of her eyes, but everyone could see that no words of his

For a while Lawrence Haughton's jealousy lay sleeping, but his sister redoubled the keenness of her watch, and Theodora redoubled her quiet words and glances of contempt. By force of contrast, Miss Trent appeared almost genial to Jane and Phoebe that night.

"Or trip through it-as some women said Royden, with a smile. "Or stalk through it-as some other women do?" added the old lady, with a sly, swift glance at Miss Haughton. "Have you asked her to dance?" "Yes, I have asked Miss Haughton, and she refused me-as you did.'

"For my reason, probably. One even-ing of dancing would leave me like the Dutch skipper who came home so thin at him at the same time. Ten minutes ago," she presently resumed, playing a little louder, "I heard Miss Haughton wondering to Miss Trent why she invited that disagreeable little Mrs. Payte here. And on whom do you think our hostess laid the iniquity? "On me, if she did me justice," said

Yes, on you. I was your guest for the day, she said, and I obliged to be invited.

Mr. Brown was a continual sufferer from kidney disease. The urinary system became involved, and his condition grew very serious. That great benefactor, Dodd's Kidney Pills, conquered the disease and made a new man of the victim. Mr. Brown cannot say enough in praise of the remedy which has done so much for him. Thousands of Lives Lost - One of the Worst Disasters in Many Years.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.-The typhoon which swept over the Philippine Islands on the 6th of October was the cause of one of the worst disasters that has been reported from the southern ocean in many years, if not in the history of that section of the world. Thousands of lives were lost, including many Euwas something appalling. Telegraphic advices concerning the calamity have been very meager. The difficulty of "I awoke just in time to at any time, and owing to the remote- and the encounter attracted the atness of some of the provinces visited by the hurricane, full details of the storm did not reach Hong Kong until the 1st of November. The steamer Gaelic, from the Orient, today brought letters and papers which contain accounts of the ravages of the tidal wave and the winds. Several other towns were swept and blown away. Fully 400 Europeans were drowned, and it is estimated that 6,000 natives perished.

The hurricane struck the island at the bay of Santa Paula, in the province of Samar. It devastated the entire southern portion of the island, and cut off communication with the rest of the world for two days. On the 12th the hurricane reached Leyte, and struck the capital of Tacloban with great fury. In less than one half-hour the town was a mass of ruins. The natives were panic-stricken and tried to make their way to clear ground. Four hundred of them were buried beneath debris of the wrecked buildings, and 126 corpses of Europeans were recovered from the ruins when the native authorities instituted a search for the dead. Reports from the southern coast were received which claimed that a score of small trading vessels and two Sydney traders were blown ashore and the crews drowned. The sea at Samoa swept inland nearly a mile, destroying property valued at several million dollars and causing wholesale deaths among the natives.

ABOUT THE MISTLETOE.

Where It Grows and the Quantities

That Are Used. Mistletoe for centuries has been one of the most important factors in Yuletide decorations, its use dating back as far as the days of the Druids. The hanging of the mistletoe on Christmas Eve, between 11 and 12 o'clock, in many homes is the beginning of the season's merrymaking. The bough is hung in a place where there will be no obstacle in passing under it, and the penalty being caught beneath its branches

The misletoe of the Druids is viscum album. It is a true parasite, existing on the sap of other trees, and never at any time is it in a contact with the soil. It grows freely on apple, pear and plum trees; on poplars, thorns, maples and basswood, and rarely on the oak. It is said that the only sacred mistletoe of the Druids was that found upon the oak. The propagation is by the seeds. These are covered with a translucent, gummy substance. The are placed in position by birds, which. in trying to rid their beaks of the sticky seeds, rub them on the bark. The seeds which are deposited on the east or north side of the tree grow more rapidly than those to the south or

Some idea of the quantity of mistletoe that is used annually in London (England) may be had when it is known that from the two counties of Worcester and Hereford alone more than 100 tons are shipped each season. Much also finds it way from Normandy and from France to the London market. Large quantities are imported yearly to New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and much reaches Chicago.

The mistletoe generally seen in the market here is a cousin to the European species, and is known as phoradendron flavescens. It is smaller, both in berries and leaf. It is found in great quantities in New Jersey and southward through the Carolinas, New Mexico and Indian Territory.

TRADE IN ONTARIO. [From Bradstreet's Report.] Toronto, Nov. 27.-The wet weather of the past few days has been unfavorable to the sale of goods usually in demand at this season. The fur trade is especially injured by the open fail. Country roads are broken up, and despite the high prices for grain, which is a strong incentive to farmers to seil, deliveries are but limited. Export demand keeps up, and warehouses outside are being emptied. The provision trade is quiet owing to low prices abroad. Wool is quiet, stocks being unusually light, owing to the heavy demand for the United States during the early summer months. A good many inquiries for dressed poultry are being received from England. Prospects point to an enlarged trade in that line. Money rates continue steady at 4 per cent for call loans and at 5 to 7

And yonder she sits in my cane-bottomed chair." Many a man sits silent and alone in a home of mourning and conjures up before his eyes the face and form of the woman who was once a loving wife and a faithful helpmate. In thousands of such cases the wife might still be alive and well and happy, had the man been not only a good husband, but a wise adviser. Women shrink from the ordeal of consulting a physician. They shudder at the thought of submitting to the obnoxious examina-tions insisted upon by most physicians. In the majority of cases they have none of this hesitancy about consulting their husbands. A wise man will understand at once that troubles of this description will soon break down a woman's general health. He will understand that a specialist of emi-nence and world-wide reputation should be frankly consulted at once. Dr. R. V. The following information regarding the visit of Lady Aberdeen to London on Wednesday is supplied the hospital fair management: In a telegram received by Mrs. Boomer this (Monday) morning, Lady Aberdeen expresses herself as very gratified by all the plans made to welcome her when she comes to open the hospital fair on Wednesday next, adding that Major Denison, lately quartered in London, will come with her, and will act as A. D. C. in attendance. Her excellency and party will arrive at the C. P. R. station at 11:25 a.m. Mrs. Labatt will, in her own carriage, convey Lady Aberdeen to the hall, followed by Mrs. English, first past president of the Local Council of Woman; Mrs. Tilley, as a member of the executive of the National Council (for Dominion King's Daughters), and Mrs. Yarker, as acting president of the hospital fair. Dr. Roome, and perhaps some other medical men who may accompany him to the station, will welcome Dr. Worcester, and bring him to the city hall for the opening of the fair and to lunch. The ladies hope that a large number of the city doctors and the hospital trust will honor them and help their cause by their personal presence on the occasion, in token of their sympathy with this effort on behalf of a provision for the sick children of London. At 3 p.m. her excellency will proceed to the rooms of the Art Club to inspect their beautiful exhibition of decorated china. Her excellency has always taken a particular interest in the art and other educational societies affiliated to the National Council; therefore it is a very fortunate coincidence that the Art Club of London, in affiliation with its -A Montreal dispatch says: The flag Local Council, should be holding its

Victim.

The first fatality on the London Electric Street Railway in the city limits happened about 6:15 on Saturday, on Dundas street east, a few feet inside the city limits, when William Spice, a farmer, 64 years of age, and residing on the town line between Nissouri and London, near Thorndale, was almost instantly killed.

Just how the lamentable affair happened will probably not be known until after the inques ot 12 o'clock today. of inspecting and purchasing a feed cutter. Towards evening he drove towards home, and paid a visit to his son Daniel at 480 Charlotte street, to see his daughter-in-law, who is ill. He left his son's place about 6 o'clock, and turned east on Dundas street. On the other side of Eva street the horse and its driver turned towards the north side of the road to avoid a mud hole, it is supposed, and attempted to cross the track. At the same time an ap-proaching trolley car, No. 54, in charge of Motorman David Break and Conductor James Fitzgerald, was backing towards Pottersburg. The collision must have been a fearful one, as the slender vehicle and its occupant were crushed beneath the rear platform. The rig was literally smashed to atoms, and Mr. Spice sustained several cuts on the head, any one of which would have caused death. There were only three passengers in the car at the time—two men and one woman. The unfortunate victim never spoke. He was extricated from the debris and carried into the house of Mr. William Ferguson. The horse was uninjured. Dr. Moore was the first to arrive, then Dr. James Macarthur, and later Coroner Dr. Ferguson. A conveyance was sent for, but the body lay for two hours awaiting removal to Ferguson's morgue.

The deceased came to Middlesex at an early age, and had resided there all his life. His wife died four years ago. He leaves three sons and a daughter— William, an invalid son, at home on the farm; Daniel, who is employed at the chemical works, and Sarah and James, in the Northwest Territories. This is the second fatality since the advent of the street cars in the Forest City. Some years ago William Phildew, a painter, was killed on Richmond bleak houses on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Grand. Considerate horse cars. A man was also killed in London West by a trolley car before the system was introduced into the city. Since the opening of the Pottersburg line the cars have been backed to the asylum from the fair grounds, where a 'Y" is now being put in, which, it is expected, will be finished today. The place where the accident occurred is a dark spot, and the road is in bad

No Emotional Preaching. Rev. Canon Dann preached a powerful sermon at St. Paul's Cathedral last night. People, he said, need not attend St. Paul's Cathedral in the expectation of having their emotions touched by the preacher. The sermons were presentations of the Gospel, designed to instil Christian truth and doctrine, and not to influence the emotions. The cathedral was a place of worship, not a place of preaching. Canon Dann dwelt on the beauty and significance of the Church of England service. Dancing Denounced. Rev. Wm. McDonagh, formerly of London West, preached in the Askin Street Methodist Church yesterday. In the course of his sermon he said that dancing was one of the most contemptible of sins; that it was brutish

He was, he said, almost daily meeting people who claimed that it did not much matter what a man believed if he was sincere, and did what he thought right. Sincere men had aided in the work of the inquisition. It was of vital importance that the damental points of one's belief should be correct. A right belief of the character of God, the judge of all, and a right appreciation of the teachings of Christ must affect life's conduct.
