Aldermen To Debate Street Railway Buy at Next Meeting.

A snappy display of the heralding a consideration of the proposed purchase of the London Street Railway Company, is scheduled for the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

No Report Available.

While Mayor Dr. Wilson is still out of the city it is just possible that he will return Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, according to city hall authorities.

The earliest that a session of the commission can be held is Wednesday and a special session of the council, to consider the report expected from the commission, must be held no later than Friday noon, in order that the notice of the bill, as advertised Nov. 11, as is demanded by law—three weeks' prior to the date of the election.

Leaves Insufficient Time.

While acknowledged opponents of the proposed purchase in the city council on five in number, claim that this will leave an insufficient period for a satisfactory consideration of the deal, Acting Mayor Childs adheres to a contrary view.

"All the councillors need to do," he commented Tuesday, "will be to vote whether they wish to purchase the street railway or not. They do not need to consider the actual 'Bunnell' report, for that they will consider in this year if they choose to purchase the road or not. They do not need to consider the actual 'Bunnell' report, for that they will consider in this year if they choose to purchase the road or not."

"Then the people will have a good three weeks' notice of the report. I shall insist that the anticipated session of the transportation commission be open to the press. I shall insist that the public shall know every detail and move in connection with the suggested deal, in order that they may be further arranged in an intelligent and not be swayed by garbled reports or personal prejudice."

Give Press Report.

"I shall take the stand that a complete copy of the Bunnell report be furnished the press for reproduction. The people are going to spend the money if they want to purchase the road. Therefore they should be presented with the case from all angles. Let there be no concealment. Let everything be fair and above board and if this plan is followed out, I know that the public will be satisfied. The question their earnest and unbiased consideration."

We shall present the report as prepared at the direction of the commission, by A. E. K. Bunnell. Then it will be up to them. They can do as they wish, or they may choose to attend the franchise. It is strictly up to them."

London, Ont., Tuesday, November 7. How We Celebrate.

CANADA celebrated its Thanksgiving on Monday. At least, we recognized it by taking a holiday. It is just a question if we have the temperament and quiet state of mind to approach the day in the same spirit that stirred the Pilgrim Fathers when they originated the idea.

Some of our residents went away on holidays; others came here for the week-end. There were many first-class meals served, while a number of devout souls attended the services that took place in some of the churches.

Here and there was a preacher on the previous Sunday who dealt with the matter, and he was assisted by the choir with an anthem or a solo of the same idea.

But is there not a formality about the whole thing that is not healthy or sincere? The day itself has real cause for existence and for observation, and for a place in our national life.

Cutting Down Costs.

PREMIER BRACKEN of Manitoba is faced with doing a hard and unpopular thing, viz., cutting down the expenses of running the province.

The Bracken government in Manitoba, faced with the problem of reducing expenditures by more than a million dollars a year, is bound to find itself unpopular in many localities.

Undoubtedly many desirable services operated by the government will of necessity have to be curtailed or abandoned, and yet there is no alternative.

All that the Grain Growers' Guide says is true, and it has been said many times before. It has equal application for almost every government in Canada.

Ontario will watch to see what the Farmer government is able to accomplish in Manitoba. In Ontario the Farmer government has not been able to bring down the cost of running this province.

The Near East.

NOTHING is ever settled until it is settled right. That old rule applies to the Near East situation, where a few days ago things were patched up to avoid war—certainly a very good thing to do.

Today we have the Kemalists ordering the Allies to take their troops from the area around Constantinople and the other sections that were under dispute.

tate on what terms that corner of the world shall be run. The situation is not pleasant. The Turks themselves are intoxicated with the overthrow of the old government of the Sultan, and the feeling of authority and power has seized them and may cause them to do strange things before it plays out.

John Burns Again.

JOHN BURNS of Chelsea, the Labor representative who quit the Asquith cabinet, is trying his fortunes again at the polls in the British elections.

Like some other politicians, he has been able to bring down on his shoulders the desirable phrase of "Honest John."

He was arrested and jailed, but he put a new idea before the Labor movement. He was first recognized as a cabinet minister by Sir HENRY CAMPBELL-BANNEMAN, who made him president of the local government board 17 years ago.

He soon proved that he possessed qualities of administration in no small degree. Yet his elevation to cabinet rank, and his acceptance of the salary attached to it, was used bitterly against him by the ultra-radicals in the Labor world.

It may be urged against him in his present campaign that he was not in sympathy with the last war, when it broke his resignation was handed to ASQUITH and accepted.

Allowing for all the objections that can be urged against him, JOHN BURNS is a safe and sane man, a good debater, and positively opposed to "red" methods and ideas.

Not Punished. THE ceremony at Doorn that made the ex-kaiser and the Princess Reuss man and wife has been performed.

At the wedding there were plenty of signs of wealth. The chairs used by the bride and groom during the wedding ceremony were decorated with crowns.

The bride has money and so has the war lord of Germany. He has a very comfortable place to live, and lacks for nothing.

At one stage of the war the British people were promised that the kaiser was going to be hanged, and after this had been cooled down a few shades he was going to be brought to trial at the bar of the world, and all the powers were to sit in judgment on him.

Neither one of these things happened. He was simply sent, or allowed to go, to Doorn, in Holland, where he has suffered very little since, and now starts over again on his second matrimonial venture.

The ex-kaiser has never had to pay the price for the strip of hell he planted on this earth.

Glasgow Makes Money.

IN 1894 the Glasgow City Council bought out the street car system from a private concern and since then has successfully operated the lines under civic management, with the following result evidenced in a recent report.

All the money borrowed to buy out the original owners has been paid off, together with interest, $7,500,000 has been paid in taxes, $3,000,000 in income tax and $5,735,000 has been given to the "Common Good Fund."

The entire system is valued at $50,000,000, and is now the absolute property of the people of the city of Glasgow without a nickel of debt attached to it.

Furthermore, fares have been cheapened, and conditions and working hours of the employees of the system have been considerably improved.

The money you get makes a lot more difference than the money you earn.

Some men are born small, others shrink, while not a few never find out how small they really are.

Must be hard for a head reader when he runs into a man who's good for nothing. He's got to tell him something.

A Thamesville man had his fortune told by gypsies, and after it was over missed a $10 bill. Thus did misfortune almost step on the heels of fortune.

A Listowel coal merchant sells anthracite at $14.50, and claims to make money. In London dealers charge $18, and every one of them claims to be headed straight for the poorhouse.

Ontario holds its population. A PARKS of Oil City and Wm. CRAWFORD of Camiacie competed in a plowing match at Petrolia a few weeks ago and fifty years ago they did the same thing.

EDITOR McDONALD of the Chesley Enterprise is starting to print pictures of former editors of the paper. Quite a number of folks down this way are waiting for the present-day picture, being a bit anxious to have a look at the "People's William," as JOHN HUNTER of Kincardine calls him.

Vanleek Hill Review: "A few days ago while the threshers were at BILL COOPER's a son was born. The very next day another crew was threshing at SHIRI DAVIS' and a ten-pound boy was born to Mrs. DAVIS. CHARLES GOULD was to thresh the next day, but he has decided to stack his grain and wait till cool weather."

What a nice, gentle way they have of collecting taxes in Watford, where the collector puts this notice in the paper: "For the convenience of taxpayers I will be at the council chamber on Saturday to receive taxes." It would be somewhat of a pleasure to drop in there and pay the yearly fine.

Some of the moving-picture houses are feeding their publicity men on larks and ginger. Once on that diet they write like this: "A flaming romance of desert love! Flinging away the trapping of civilization! Colored with barbaric splendor! Racing through scenes that thrill with their beauty and daring!"

Onion growers in South Essex have a good crop, but there the prosperity ends. The price paid for them is about 70 cents for a 100 pound bag, the bag alone costing 12c. Then there is the cost of hauling to the railway. A year ago there was a good demand at $3.50 per bag. Some of the growers are in no shape to stand the set-back.

LEGAL QUERIES

Editor Advertiser: Sir,—A and B own adjoining lots in the city. A has planted trees along the dividing line. The roots and tops of these trees have crossed the line between the lots and have spoiled B's ground for several feet along the line. The roots of the trees being strong and going deep into the soil absorb the nourishment and moisture, while the limbs shade the ground, making it unproductive for garden purposes. What remedy has B?

Answer.—Notify A to remove them, and if he does not do so B may do so.

Editor Advertiser: Sir,—Kindly answer the following questions in your legal column: 1. If a person sells property does the government claim 5 per cent of the selling price, or what do they take?

Answer.—The government claims 20 cents on every $100 of the selling price. 2. Bachelor dying, willing all his property to one brother, what succession duty does government claim?

Answer.—Where the aggregate value (a) exceeds $10,000 and does not exceed $50,000, 5 per cent; (b) exceeds $50,000 and does not exceed $100,000, 10 per cent; (c) exceeds $100,000, 12 1/2 per cent. 3. If he dies without a will what do they claim?

Answer.—Depends entirely on who his heirs are. 4. If a married man dies leaving all his property to wife and family, what does government take?

Answer.—Where the aggregate value (a) exceeds $25,000 and does not exceed $50,000, 1 per cent; (b) exceeds $50,000 and does not exceed $75,000, 2 per cent; (c) exceeds $75,000 and does not exceed $100,000, 3 per cent; (d) exceeds $100,000 and does not exceed $150,000, 4 1/2 per cent; (e) exceeds $150,000 and does not exceed $200,000, 5 1/2 per cent; (f) exceeds $200,000 and does not exceed $250,000, 6 1/2 per cent; (g) exceeds $250,000 and does not exceed $300,000, 7 1/2 per cent; (h) exceeds $300,000 and does not exceed $1,000,000, 8 1/2 per cent; (i) exceeds $1,000,000, 10 per cent.

5. If he dies without a will do they claim the same? Answer.—Yes. 6. What is the smallest amount for both married and single that the government can collect succession duty on? Answer.—Depends entirely on the size of the estate and who the heirs are; we will have to know this before the question can be answered. 7. Is there any set time before a person's death that it is unlawful to dispose of property? Answer.—Yes. 8. Does it matter when a will is probated if the witnesses to will are dead or alive? Answer.—No. M. R. C.

Maybe He Did.

The pupils had been writing a history essay, and when the teacher was correcting the papers she was puzzled to find this remark in one of them: "King John died bald."

On being questioned, the boy who had written this said: "Well teacher, you said he died without heirs!"

H. G. WELLS' FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY The Romance of Mother Earth. Gods, Priests and Kings—(Continued). TODAY'S INSTALLMENT—50.

WE may note here a very interesting fact about the chief temples of Egypt and, so far as we know—because the ruins are not so distinct—of Babylonia, and that is that they were "oriented"—that is to say, that the same sort of temple was built so that the shrine and entrance always faced in the same direction.

In Babylonia temples this was most often due east, facing the sunrise on March 21, and September 21, the equinoxes, and it is to be noted that the Euphrates and Tigris came down in flood. The Pyramids of Gizeh are also oriented east and west, and the Sphinx faces due east, but very many of the Egyptian temples to the south of the delta of the Nile do not point due east, but to the point where the sun rises at the longest day—and in Egypt the inundation comes close to that date.

Whatever the mass of people outside were thinking, the priests of the temples were beginning to link the movements of those heavenly bodies with the power in the shrine. They were thinking about the gods they served and thinking new meanings into them. They were brooding upon the mystery of the stars. It was very natural for them to suppose that these shining bodies, so irregularly distributed and circling so solemnly and silently, must be charged with portents to mankind.

Among other things the orientation of the temples served to fix and help the great annual festival of the New Year. On one morning in the year, and one morning alone, in a temple oriented to the rising-place of the sun at midsummer day, the sun's first rays would smite down through the gloom of the temple and the long alley of the temple pillars, and light up the god above the altar and irradiate him with glory. The narrow, darkened structure of the ancient temples seems to be deliberately planned for such an effect. No doubt the people were gathered in the darkness before the dawn, in the darkness there was chanting and perhaps the offering of sacrifices; the god alone stood mute and invisible. Prayers and invocations would be made. Then upon the eyes of the worshippers, sensitized by the darkness, as the sun rose behind them, the god would suddenly shine.

So, at least, one explanation of orientation is found by such students of orientation as Sir Norman Lockyer. Not only is orientation apparent in most of the temples of Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia and the east, it is found in the Greek temples. Stonehenge is oriented to the midsummer sunrise, and so are most of the megalithic circles of Europe, the altar of heaven in Peking is oriented to midwinter. In the days of the Chinese empire, up to a few years ago, one of the most important of all the duties of the emperor of China was to sacrifice and pray in this temple upon mid-winter's day for a propitious year.

Brains of Ancient World. This clear evidence of astronomical inquiry and of a development among many modern writers to depreciate priesthods and to speak of priests as though they had always been impostors and tricksters, preying upon the simplicity of mankind. But, indeed, they were for long the only writing class, the only reading public, the only learned and the only thinkers; they were all the professional classes of the time.

There is a curious disposition among many modern writers to depreciate priesthods and to speak of priests as though they had always been impostors and tricksters, preying upon the simplicity of mankind. But, indeed, they were for long the only writing class, the only reading public, the only learned and the only thinkers; they were all the professional classes of the time.

You could have no intellectual life at all, you could not get access to literature or any knowledge except through the priesthood. The temples were not only observatories and libraries and clinics, they were museums and treasure-houses. The original Periplus of Hanno hung in one temple in Carthage, skins of his "gorillas" were hung and treasured in another. Whatever there was of abiding worth in the life of the community sheltered there.

Herodotus, the early Greek historian (485-425 B. C.), collected most of his material from the priests of the countries in which he traveled, and it is evident they met him generously and put their very considerable resources completely at his disposal. Outside the temples the world was still a world of blankly illiterate and unscientific human beings, living from day to day entirely for themselves.

Moreover, there is little evidence that the common folk felt cheated by the priests, or had anything but trust and affection for the early priesthods. Even the great conquerors of later times were anxious to keep themselves upon the right side of the priests of the nations and cities whose obedience they desired, because of the immense popular influence of these priests.

No doubt there were great differences between temple and temple and cult and cult, in the spirit and quality of the priesthood. Some probably were cruel, some vicious and greedy, many dull and doctrinaire, stupid with tradition, but it has to be kept in mind that there were distinct limits to the degeneracy or inefficiency of a priesthood. It had to keep its grip upon the general mind. It could not go beyond what people would stand—either toward the darkness or toward the light. Its authority rested, in the end, on the persuasion that its activities were propitious.

OLD PARTIES DO EXACTLY WHAT LABOR DESIRES

And That Is Making Labor Stand Against All Other Organizations.

VERY NICE LITTLE FIGHT

Alphonse and Gaston Have Once More Come to Life in British Politics.

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE ADVERTISER BY J. T. CLARKE.)

London, England, Nov. 7.—The large open-faced politics which we have in Canada continue as strongly with the complex mechanism of affairs here.

Whether knowingly or not, are still following the political hearsays of leaders who are gone, and are wondering why something new in the shape of the Farmers' movement has turned up to disturb them. Here everybody and everything is in the march, politically, going somewhere more than a week ago, one expected on arrival here that a battle would be in progress between the greatest of leaders, and the strongest of the opposing party has its guard up ready to ward it off.

Alphonse and Gaston. Surely there never was shown in British politics such a deference for adversaries as is seen here at present. The Unionist Alphonse is labelled only in politeness by the Liberal Gaston. When I was here for the Budget election in 1910 there was nothing like this. Of course some body may start a fight with any member. Already Lord Derby has gone so far as to say that a remark by Chamberlain "isn't cricket." With nominations over and the elections a week away, the contestants look to be sparring for points, and one gets the idea that the coalition government leading to the catastrophe of a general election, decided to use discretion in porting around the Liberal. The Conservative party, with Bonar Law as guide, went around by the right of the water fall, carrying the canvas, damage, etc., while Lloyd George and the Liberal took the rocky way to the left of the gorge.

George's Boat Gone. If both parties do what they may expect in the smooth water below the cataract, the Bonar Law party counts on having the canoe. With George's boat gone, the Liberal party can pick up Lloyd George. It is easy to see that the Liberal party is on the wrong side of the stream without a boat as a sort of assurance that it is not to be taken into the water. He has Chamberlain, Birkenhead and Horne with him. Whether he carries them along as hostages, or they have gone along to see that on his way around the cataract of the Liberal party, he is not to be taken into the water. It is fully certain that if Bonar Law does not take him into the water, Lloyd George will arrive below the falls with the materials for a pretty good raft.

The Conservatives and the two Liberal parties seem engaged less in fighting each other than in fighting Labor. They make no secret of this, and it is what they are about that they are all, in fact, giving increased status to Labor as an outstanding party. They are more clearly than ever defining a boundary line, with Labor as a party on one side and all other parties on the other. This happens to be pretty much what Labor wants.

BOGUS LIQUOR OFFICERS VICTIMIZE OTTAWA MEN

Police Find No Trace of Men Operating on Electric Lines.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Bogus liquor inspectors, operating on the Ottawa electric street railway line on Saturday night, arrested four "hip carriers," according to information available here. Efforts by local newspaper men to check up on the reported arrest of these men, elicited the information that they had not been taken into custody by the provincial police, who are under the jurisdiction of the Ottawa police, and the city police had no knowledge of the arrest.

Inspector Graham is investigating the case. The procedure is not new, according to Inspector Graham. Similar impersonations have been reported from trains running out of Montreal, he said, and added that the impersonators usually released their captives after payment of "hush money."

FIRST HEAD OF NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE DIES

Mr. Bulkeley was a former mayor of Hartford, was governor of Connecticut from 1889 to 1893, and United States senator from 1905 to 1911. Years ago he took an active interest in baseball, and was the first president of the National League, being elected to that office in 1876. At one time he owned a stable of horses, and he was an official of the National Trotting Association for 20 years. The funeral will be held on Thursday.

Want National Divorce Laws Throughout the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Preparation of a bill establishing national marriage and divorce regulations for introduction in next congress was announced yesterday by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Provisions of the bill would make marriage more difficult and would allow divorce on one of five grounds, enumerated as follows: Infidelity, incurable insanity, abandonment for one year, cruel and inhuman treatment, or conviction of an infamous crime. Once granted such a divorce would be valid in every state, but neither party to a divorce would be permitted to re-marry until a year after the introductory decree was granted.

SHOWS HAYCOCK TO BE MARTYR

Rev. P. Osmond Defends the Labor Candidate for Winchester, England.

Special to The Advertiser. London, Nov. 7.—A. W. Haycock, the Labor candidate for Winchester, was born on an Ontario farm and educated at Toronto University. He is about 40 years old, and is described on the nomination papers as a commercial traveler of Manchester. Coming to England before the war, he got in touch with the Independent Labor Party and with Norman Angell, and became enthusiastic for advanced social reforms and international movements.

At the outbreak of the war he served in France with the Quaker Ambulance Corps, but opposed conscription. He was a conscientious objector, and refusing the option of serving in a labor battalion, an opportunity which he chose to ignore. Mr. Haycock is a remarkably fine speaker, and is of no doubt by the strongest opponents, yet it is believed his war record may go against him.

He is in Winchester prison that he underwent sentence. Winchester being a Conservative cathedral city, it is agricultural. Haycock is an almost hopeless case for any Labor candidate. Haycock, however, is getting influential support from the Liberal party, Mr. Osmond, and the local Conservative party, reporting Haycock's opening meeting, held last Thursday, says: "Mr. P. Osmond, who presided, briefly introduced the candidate, and spoke refuting the charges that Haycock was pointing out nothing in the Great War. He was a candidate being serving long before many who were now attacking him."

RIORDAN WANTS CREDIT EXTENDED FOR ONE YEAR

Statement Ending Sept. 30, 1922, Shows Deficit of $772,954.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Another chapter is about to be written in the chequered history of the Riordan Company, Limited. Notices have gone forward from Gordon W. Scott, authorized trustee of the creditors of the company, calling on them to assemble on Thursday, Nov. 16, to consider a proposal by the company for a further extension of credit for one year.

The notices are accompanied by a profit and loss statement of the company's business for the period Nov. 1, 1921, to Sept. 30, 1922, showing a deficit of $772,954, and balance sheets as of Sept. 30 last, compared with those of July 1, 1921. There have been several meetings of creditors recently, and some of the creditors, it is understood, take the attitude that continuance of operations as during the past year held little prospect, and that the immediate winding-up of the company would be the best way out.

Nearly 13,000 choice bulbs being used, as well as numerous perennials and ornamental shrubs. In addition, several thousand bulbs were given to Pinfarley Park and public institutions of the city for beautification purposes. The society's beautification program this year is one of the largest on record. Approximately five tons of select Holland bulbs have been distributed among the members and citizens in general.

W. C. T. U. Leader in Quebec Deals With Liquor There.

MAKING BAD NEIGHBORS

Since Liquor Became Easy in Quebec It Has Become First Tourist Center.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—"We are bad neighbors, and dangerous neighbors to every other province, and to the United States," said Mrs. James Giegie of Quebec, in speaking to the Advertiser representative yesterday. "Since their temperance legislation, we have become the tourist center of America."

"Mrs. Giegie, the legislation and the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union, is in Toronto attending the Canadian National W. C. T. U. convention. "We made a great fuss abolishing the bar in Quebec," Mrs. Giegie went on, "and now instead we have haunts on comfortable tables and chairs, making the situation worse than ever. Higher education is being given to our young men. Men can go into our government stores and get as much whiskey as they care to have. They can go to our hotels and get as much as they care to have. It is just like a bucket brigade."

Does Not Want Money. "Premier Taschereau claims that next year he will double or treble the profits on liquor and devote them to higher education, colonization, health work and good roads."

When do you hope to have temperance in Quebec? "I don't know," said Mrs. Giegie. "I sometimes think I will never see it in my day," said Mrs. Giegie sadly. "I think we will never see it while this government is in power. The lure of money is so great that even the municipalities are getting restless and threatening to ask for a referendum so as to share in the profits."

"What is your answer to the argument that prohibition exposes young people to greater temptations than existed under the old system?" "Well, it is common sense," asked Mrs. Giegie. "I have heard that argument a good deal, and it is, of course, purely anti-prohibition propaganda. People say that young people are indulging in liquor more today than in previous times because it is illicit and they want to jump the traces. If they did not do that, why, however, they would certainly do it some other way. There is always a proportion of boys and girls who want to be young. It is not fair to lay the responsibility for this at the door of prohibition. Ten and twenty and thirty years ago I can remember hearing dreadful stories about the way the boys and girls were smoking and drinking in our colleges. You know, but if they do, pray for me that I shall have courage to go through with it."

BONAR LAW HOLDS SMALL PLACE IN STORY OF 2 DECADES

UNKNOWN TO WRITER.

Special to The Advertiser. OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Mr. Bonar Law has been a member of the British House of Commons for over 20 years, but his rise to a position of national importance and real political influence is a matter of comparatively recent date.

Wilfrid Scawen Blunt, who died a few months ago at the advanced age of 82 years, maintained to the last through his social and political connections close touch with all developments in English politics, and his diaries, published in 1921, created a great sensation. Not only did they give the inner history of various nationalist and other movements in the east, to whose support Mr. Blunt had devoted his energies, but they offered a most lively and intimate picture of the events and personalities of British public life from 1888 up to the outbreak of the great war.

Writes of Politicians. Mr. Blunt had contact with the Tories through his cousin, George Wyndham, and with the Liberals through Winston Churchill, with whose father, Lord Randolph, he had at one time been politically associated.

His diaries refer to practically every British politician of note during the period which they cover, but there is no mention of Mr. Bonar Law till Nov. 12, 1911, when the following entry occurs: "Beaucherkil just returned from his gold digging in Alaska. He and Hilalre Belloc dined with us. The sensation of the moment is that the Tory party has decided to elect as its leader, in succession to Arthur Balfour, who resigned last week, one Bonar Law. It appears that the old Tories would not stand with the reformers who would not stand with Walter Law."

Mr. Churchill has still a great contempt for Mr. Bonar Law one of the reasons for the coalition split may be revealed. Nowhere else in Bonar Law's two stout volumes of diaries does the name of the new Conservative premier figure.

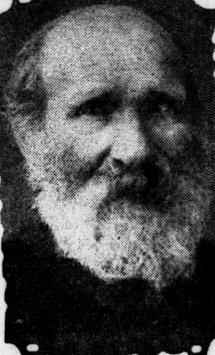

DE VALERA COMES OUT AS PRESIDENT

Dublin Followers Break Out in Revolt Against Free State.

Special to The Advertiser. Dublin, Nov. 7.—Open rebellion against the Irish Free State flared up in Dublin last night. Insurgent snipers from alleysway ambushed three lorry loads of National troops in Angler street, and many pedestrians were wounded in an exchange of volleys and a subsequent stampede to safety.

A considerable rebel force attacked Porto Bello barracks, where Free State troops repulsed the onslaught. The office of the Irish Independent was bombed. This activity followed a proclamation signed by Eamonn de Valera, who again assumed his erstwhile title of "President of the Irish Republic," and declared his followers would fight until exterminated rather than co-operate with the Free State government.

Miss MacSwiney, sister of the lord mayor of Cork who died after a hunger strike following her arrest, according to an insurgent announcement. "I do not know if they will let me," Miss MacSwiney wrote in a letter made public by de Valera's aides, "but if they do, pray for me that I shall have courage to go through with it."

VETERAN London man passes

DIES FROM EFFECT OF FALL ON STEPS

A. J. Marsh, 88 Years of Age, Succumbs in Victoria Hospital.

A. J. Marsh, one of this city's oldest residents, passed away at Victoria Hospital early this morning at the age of 88 years. Mr. Marsh had lived for years past on Britannia avenue, Oxford Park, West London, and had been in perfect health up till about six weeks ago when he fell from his back steps and suffered injuries which necessitated his removal to the hospital.

Mr. Marsh came to this country from the Isle of Guernsey 51 years ago, and has been a resident of London ever since. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Merton, of this city, and two sons—William, city, and Alfred, of Cincinnati.

Mr. Marsh had been a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters for 65 years, and was also prominently connected with all activities of this lodge. At the time of his death he was a member of Court Brighton, A. O. F.

The funeral will be held from his late home on Thursday, at 2:30, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

JUDGE ORDERS CAR SEIZED WITH LIQUOR RETURNED

Justice Delormier Rules Commission Must Either Pay Value or Give Back Auto.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Justice Delormier has quashed the Quebec Liquor Commission's seizure of a $5,200 automobile belonging to Sol Lebofsky, and ordered the commission to return the car or pay its value.

It was found that the commission had not carried out the procedure necessary to confiscation. The car was seized in a public garage on Nov. 2, 1921, and was found to contain 292 bottles of liquor. Plaintiff declared that he had leased his automobile to a man named Moulley, and the commission never ascertained whose car it was, or took any legal proceedings subsequent to the seizure against either Moulley or the plaintiff.

The judge ruled the car was susceptible to confiscation, but only on judgment of a competent court.

LAST 100 YARDS IN RACE FOR LIFE KILLED OLD MEN

Abe Craig, Youth of 22, Had Presence of Mind in Mine Explosion—Made Use of Doors To Conserve Supply of Fresh Air Left in the Chamber.

TOTAL NUMBER OF DEAD UNKNOWN

Spangler, Pa., Nov. 7.—Five more bodies have been taken from the Rely mine to the temporary morgue, bringing the total of known dead at 6 o'clock this morning to 40. Thirty-three men had previous been taken to the morgue. Rescue workers expressed a belief that there were no more living miners in the mine. On this assumption the total list would be 61.

SPANGLER, Pa., Nov. 7.—On the "cot of honor" at the hospital rests a youth of 22. His name is Abe Craig. His coolness saved at least a dozen lives. "There isn't much to tell," said Craig. "We went down at 7 o'clock, in heading No. 10 on the left. A few minutes later there was a crash. I told the boys that meant a cave-in, and we had better get out. Then there was a rush of gas. Luckily our door was open, so the explosion would have knocked it down. I slammed it, and about 25 of us waited to see what would happen."

Outside there were yells, and one of our gang shouted to tell them there was fresh air in our place. I opened the door and three or four men started out. The boys rushed out and dragged in others. We revived them.

"Then I looked out again. All I could see was bodies. The after-damp was rolling through the heading. I jumped inside and closed the door. There was nothing to do but wait for rescuers."

Young Men Stronger. From 7:30 until about 2 o'clock we stayed in the chamber. Older men were getting faint. Young fellows were holding out pretty well. Nobody had very much to say. Some of the boys were praying.

"Finally the after-damp worked its way around and under the door. There was only one thing to do. I told them we would have to make a run for it. We opened the door and ran outside the heading. It was a tough dash, stumbling over bodies. We began to choke. Some of the boys fell, but those of us who had men staying in the mine kept on."

"We ran into fallen rock between the seventh and ninth headings. That probably was where the explosion occurred. A dozen or more of those brought from the shafts are not expected to live. Their faces and bodies were seared and broken by the force of the blast. A complete casualty list will not be available until tomorrow, it is said."

COMPANY REFUSES STATEMENT.

Johnston, Pa., Nov. 7.—Fifty-one bodies have been recovered from the Rely mine, wrecked yesterday by an explosion of gases, it was announced today, as rescue workers continued to clear away the debris.

Fifty more bodies are believed lying in the ruined workings. Hope that survivors other than those rescued yesterday will be found, has been practically abandoned. Thirty-one men who were brought from the shaft suffering from injuries, and more dead than alive from poisonous gases, were in Spangler, Penn. hospitals.

Several first aid men are also recovering from exhaustion and gases. Mine company officials today still refuse to give out details of the explosion, or make public a list of employees working in the mine.

As near as can be estimated about 140 men were in the mine. Of these about thirty-nine were rescued alive, though many were injured. With the fifty-one bodies recovered, men and women familiar with the size of the shafts worked at the place believe that at least fifty more dead will be found.

NEAR IN LIFE, NOT PARTED IN DEATH

Double Funeral Takes Place in Montreal Today—Refused To Leave Sick Wife.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—The double funeral service will take place this afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lovell, whose death occurred on Sunday evening. Mr. Lovell having died one hour after the decease of his wife.

About two weeks ago Mrs. Lovell suffered a stroke of paralysis, and her husband, although having been in a state of general weakness for some time, refused to listen to requests that he enter a hospital, since it was his wish to remain near Mrs. Lovell during her illness.

When she died at about 9:30 p.m. on Sunday, Mr. Lovell sat down in his room, asking for refreshment. About one hour later his stepson, Allan Bulcroft, upon looking at his step-father, found that he had just died.

GERMAN MARK DROPS AGAIN. Special to The Advertiser. London, Nov. 7.—The German mark reached today the unprecedented low point of 35.50 to the pound on the London Exchange today. Far for the mark is about 25 to the pound.

kept on, and finally I ran slap-bang into the air. I was dizzy, but I screamed to the boys. Most of them who got to the sixth heading keeled over.

"Then I heard men coming, and I knew they were rescuers. They got us out. Only the young men made it. I am afraid all the older men lost their lives."

FIFTY BODIES RECOVERED. Spangler, Pa., Nov. 7.—The bodies of 50 miners who lost their lives in the Rely mine explosion here yesterday, lay in the temporary morgue at 9 a.m. today. Thirteen more were in sight in the mine, rescue workers said, and 32 injured were in the miners' hospital.

Leaders of the rescuers summarized the situation at that hour: Men in mine when the explosion occurred, not more than 112. Bodies recovered, 50. 13. Injured in hospital, 32. Total accounted for, 95.

There was still some uncertainty as to the number of men who went to work yesterday, but it was pointed out that if the total was 112, as some authorities believed, the missing 13 miners would probably be found in the eighth level. Even if these men had gone into the main shaft it was asserted they had probably perished. If that proved true the leaders said the number of dead would reach 80.

Efforts were being made to repair the pumps, while a force of workers were putting a passageway through the coal between the eighth and ninth headings. With this work complete, the authorities hoped to reach the last of the unexplored galleries by noon today.

PLACE DEAD AT 90. Special to The Advertiser. Johnston, Pa., Nov. 7.—Ninety miners perished in the explosion in Rely Colliery No. 1 mine at Spangler yesterday, rescue workers and mine officials believed today.

Rescue crews all night in an effort to reach the men believed entombed in a large subterranean chamber. About forty were rescued alive. Poisonous gases killed most of the men, as they made a vain attempt to throw up air-tight barricades against the vapors.

A dozen or more of those brought from the shafts are not expected to live. Their faces and bodies were seared and broken by the force of the blast. A complete casualty list will not be available until tomorrow, it is said.

Sad Scenes at Mine. Rescue workers drove through the wreckage all night and brought out bodies. Thousands of persons, including wives and sweethearts of the victims, kept a vigilant watch at the shaft, as a drizzling rain soaked workers and watchers, and made rescue efforts more difficult.

Additional bodies were brought out, singly, by twos, threes and by the half dozen. Following hurried examinations by physicians to see if a spark of life still remained, the dead were taken to the Miners' Hall at Spangler, where women and men knelt and wept beside them. The names of the dead were whispered through the crowd at the mine, and then more agonizing screams broke the dreary silent waiting.

A dozen women fainted as they failed to recognize husbands who were under way today. They were brought out. They took the passing of time to mean that hope grew less for rescue. Some of the additional imprints worked at the place believe that at least fifty more dead will be found.

CHARGE POISON KILLED HUSBANDS. A dozen women fainted as they failed to recognize husbands who were under way today. They were brought out. They took the passing of time to mean that hope grew less for rescue. Some of the additional imprints worked at the place believe that at least fifty more dead will be found.

Strange Case in Chicago, Where New Deaths Being Reported to Authorities.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Investigation of the life of Mrs. Tillie Kilmek, who, according to the police, is believed to have poisoned at least four husbands, was under way today.

Her present husband, Joseph Kilmek, is seriously ill from poison, the police said. He recently had his life insured.

In the body of Frank Kruecker, another husband, was found enough poison "to kill four men," according to a coroner's physician.

Plans were made to exhumate the bodies of John Ruszakowski and Joseph Mitkewicz, former mates of the woman. Meanwhile Harry Suda, a cousin of the accused woman, told the state attorney's office of the mysterious death of his sister Rose, who died after attending a dinner at Mrs. Kilmek's home. When Suda's story was told, Elizabeth Wyckowski, another cousin, said her two sisters and a brother died under mysterious circumstances after they had dined at the Kilmek home.

The two cousins asked to have the bodies of their relatives exhumed for examination.

ASQUITH DENIES ANY ALLIANCE

Describes Idea of Joining With Conservatives As Wholly Fantastic.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Premier Bonar Law today announced the appointment of the remaining minor officials of his government. He has decided that his cabinet, including himself, shall consist of sixteen members. This will be the smallest cabinet of recent years, except the war cabinet, which was a kind of inner cabinet. The cabinet includes the minister of labor, which is a plain intimation that there is no intention to abolish the labor ministry. Herbert H. Asquith, in a speech in London tonight, took occasion to deny rumors of a possible new alliance between the Asquithian Liberals and the Conservatives in the event the Conservatives fail to secure enough seats to command a majority in the new parliament. He described the idea of such an alliance as wholly fantastic.

BONAR LAW CONFIDENT. LONDON, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Nomination day has by no means finally sorted out the election color scheme. Lloyd Georgeian headquarters claim many candidates who, however, down in their constituencies, at any rate, have announced themselves as Liberals, pure and simple, without the prefix "National."

BANISH PIMPLES BY THIS METHOD

Stuart's Calcium Wafers Have Remarkable Action in the Skin Texture to Aid Beauty.

In a few hours you won't question why they are the best known, most widely used and most successful complexion beautifier ever found. They clear your blood, they remove the sluggish impurities that gather to make pimples, boils, rash, blackheads, blotches, mud-diness, and such blemishes. The calcium itself is the greatest skin influence known. It causes the skin to wake up; it begins work at once; you observe the results, and in a few days there is absolutely no question as to the wonderful action of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Get a 60 cent box today at any drug store, and never again will you be in despair to find something to make your complexion beautiful and keep it lovely.

THE above picture shows Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the Turkish Nationalists, and his advisers, who have torn up the Mudania armistice convention signed with the Allies. The Turkish leaders are here shown examining copies of the agreement signed at Mudania. Left to right: Ibrahim Atilov Bey, minister from Azerbaijan; Sultan Ahmed, minister from Afghanistan; a military attaché; Mustapha Kemal Pasha; Refet Pa sha, late minister of national defense, who on Sunday announced himself as governor of Constantinople.

So, while Bonar Law's supporters declare that only 147 Lloyd Georgeian candidates are opposed to them, the Lloyd Georgeians themselves announce that their full strength in the field is 178 candidates. Evidence accumulates that the Lloyd Georgeian forces will feel a draught in the local organization for the storm burst prematurely, and, in matters of detail, there has hardly been time for them to adapt themselves to the altered circumstances. The former premier's headquarters organization is efficient enough, but the party's local machinery is weak. Lloyd George himself is still in the doctor's hands, but he hopes to go to Wales on Thursday for four days of speech-making.

The week-end deluge of oratory has really let little new light on the situation. Bonar Law's speech at Leeds was practically a repetition of his previous utterances, but it was significant that for the first time the premier allowed himself to express confidence in the result of the election.

NEW CABINET MEMBERS. LONDON, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—It was announced today that the following members will constitute the new cabinet: Premier Bonar Law, Marquis of Salisbury, Stanley Baldwin, Viscount Cave, William C. Bridgeman, Earl Curzon, Duke of Devonshire, Earl of Derby, Viscount Peel, Lieut.-Col. C. M. H. Amery, Viscount Novar, Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, Sir A. Griffith Boscawen, Sir Robert A. Sanders, E. F. L. Wood and Sir Montagu Barlow.

The list includes the entire ministry with the exception of the attorney-general, the lord advocate, air minister, postmaster-general, minister of pensions and the heads of the minor departments. Further minor ministerial appointments today include: J. W. Hills, financial secretary to the treasury; A. Boyd Carpenter, parliamentary secretary to the labor ministry.

WOMEN CANDIDATES. LONDON, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Following is a complete list of women candidates in the field for election to Parliament: Unionists. Lady Astor, Plymouth, Sutton; Hon. Mrs. Broderick, Donagh; Lady L. Wood and Sir Montagu Barlow.

National Liberals. Miss Helen Fraser, Glasgow, Govan; Mrs. Coombe-Tennant, Forest of Dean, Gloucester.

Liberals. Mrs. Alderton, Edinburgh, S.; Commandant Mary Allen, Westminster.

FINISH HIGHWAY TO ST. THOMAS

New Cement Road Will Be Open To Motorists in Week.

Special to The Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—The cement highway between London and St. Thomas was completed Monday noon, and will be ready for traffic in about a week's time. The final piece of cement has been laid, and as soon as it dries motorists will have a highway comparable with that between Toronto and Hamilton. The pavement has been used to a considerable extent this summer, although the long detours have made its use difficult. The work has been reported very satisfactory and has been laid very rapidly. Grading of roads west of the city have also been completed for the year. Contractor F. D. Milligan reports that his contract of 18 miles is now finished, while the four miles undertaken by Contractor Sills is also ready for traffic. Great satisfaction is expressed locally at the excellent improvements in roads in this part of the country.

ACCIDENTS CLAIM THREE DEATHS IN MONTREAL

Dorothea Courneve, 6, of 172 Cavillier street, fell from the second story of her home, Saturday night, and died about four hours later of a fractured skull. Struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train on the track near the Strathmore Station, on Saturday morning, Ovide Marleau was instantly killed.

Expect Canadian Coast- ing Laws To Be Sus- pended For Season.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—Suspension of the Canadian coasting laws for the remainder of the season of navigation on the Great Lakes will, it is expected, be announced by Hon. Charles Stewart, acting minister of trade and commerce, tomorrow. It is understood that the government decided on a course of action at Saturday's meeting of the cabinet council, leaving it to Mr. Stewart to announce the decision in a formal statement tomorrow. This evening Mr. Stewart refused to make any statement in regard to the matter, declining either to confirm or deny the reported suspension.

KOMOKA KOMOKA, Nov. 6.—The W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church have made arrangements for their annual bazaar, which will be held on November 29 in the town hall. Miss Mary McDougall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave McDougall, underwent an operation in St. Joseph's Hospital on Tuesday and is reported to be improving. Mr. and Mrs. Ray McDougall of Sarnia, are spending Thanksgiving with relatives here. Halloween passed very quietly in this village. A large number of the younger folk attended in masquerade costumes called at the different homes and entertained with music and in other ways, and were served refreshments at most places.

CRUMLIN CRUMLIN, Nov. 6.—The young people of Dorchester Presbyterian Guild were entertained by the guild of the Presbyterian Church of Crumlin on Friday evening. After an enjoyable musical program games and contests were indulged in. At the close of the evening a dainty lunch was served. W. H. Smith, B.S.A., and family of Chatham are guests at the home of H. A. Urquhart. A number of ladies from the vicinity motored to Thamesford to the district W. M. S. meeting on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. R. Kreiger are leaving shortly for Pontiac, Mich., to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. F. Grant.

SMUTS ATTACKS UNION OF SOUTH AFRICAN PARTIES JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 6.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters.)—Referring in a speech at Potchefstroom to the movement for a working agreement between the Nationalists and the Laborites, Premier General Smuts of the South African Union, asked whether it was not "a pure swindle" that two parties were giving up their "high and holy principles merely because they hoped to get control of government."

Premier Smuts foresaw dark days for South Africa under a Nationalist-Labor combination, and declared the country would be put back hundreds of years and would never again regain the ground lost.

ALLIED CURRENCY HITS NEW LOW RECORDS AT N.Y. NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—French francs and German marks today slumped to new low records for the year, while demand sterling dropped 1 1/2 c, presumably in reflection of the more threatening developments in the Near East. Franc checks were quoted at the rate of 6.69c each, as compared with their previous low of 6.81 1/2, while German marks sold at 1 1/2 cents a hundred, or more than 6.200 to the dollar. The normal or pre-war price of francs was 19.3 cents each, and the mark 23.8 cents each. Demand sterling was quoted at $4.45 1/2, as compared with the year's high of $4.51 1/2 in June, and the year's low of $4.17 in January.

Young Girls Need Care

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time. If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Cobourg, Ontario.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me for my daughter. She had trouble every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition with weak back and pain in her right side. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She has become regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable Compound, and attends school regularly. She is gaining steadily and I have no hesitancy in recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to others, as it has done so much for my daughter."—Mrs. JOHN TOMS, Ball St., Cobourg, Ont.

Hamilton, Ontario.—"When my daughter was thirteen and until she was fifteen, she suffered every month so that she could hardly move around the house, and when she would have the pains in school she would have to be carried home. She also had headache, dizzy and faint spells, and soreness in her back. I saw your advertisement in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her. She does not have the least bit of trouble now, and we recommend your medicine. She works in a candy-shop now and seems well and strong."—Mrs. I. P. CLAUS, 83 Oxford St., Hamilton, Ontario.

"Yes, Mrs. Brown, we sell Graded Eggs now."

"YOU understand that if eggs can be graded for export, we can grade them for home consumption, and you will now be sure of the quality you are getting. We used to depend entirely on getting our eggs fresh from the country. But 'fresh from the country' doesn't mean 'fresh' in the way the consumer means 'fresh.' The meaning to the consumer is eggs of high quality. And we could never be sure that our country eggs were uniform as to quality. We just sold them as we got them—'fresh from the country,' 'new laid,' etc., and passed on the risk to our customers."

Note to the Public:

"No person shall ship eggs or cause eggs to be shipped or delivered or displayed for sale in cases or containers which are marked or labelled with the name of any class and grade specified in these regulations, unless the quality and weight of the eggs contained therein is equal to or better than such class and grade."

Extract from Clause 3 of the Egg Regulations. Live Stock and Live Stock Products Act.

"Yes, but we tried to do the best we could under the old system of marketing eggs. The new system will be much more satisfactory. Eggs will soon all be sold by grade. They will be graded according to the Canadian standard grades, the same as eggs for export or inter-provincial shipment. We will buy them according to grade and sell them according to grade. The very freshest, largest, nicest eggs will be graded 'specials.' The next grade will be called 'extras.' Then will come 'firsts,' and last 'seconds.'"

"Well, it will be satisfactory to know what one is getting. I think the grading of all eggs will be a big, long step in the right direction. And I for one will use more eggs."

"Yes, and many a time I made up my mind I'd never buy eggs in your store again. Why, sometimes, two and three out of a dozen would be positively unfit for use—others

ENLIST WOMEN IN N. Y. STATE FIGHT

Rival Party Workers Doggedly Prepare For Election of Governor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Rival party workers in New York state, spurred to unusually energetic labor by the bitter contest for the governorship between Governor Miller and Alfred E. Smith, his Democrat adversary were carrying on the day before election battle silently and doggedly, each side enlisting the aid of hundreds of women throughout the state for the last-hour drive.

The claim of the Democrats that Smith's vote in greater New York will greatly overcome the governor's up-state plurality, has aroused city Republicans to extended efforts. Democrats up-state likewise are making an intensive last-day campaign, hoping to add to their candidate's strength when he reaches the Bronx.

New Jersey campaigners were making the most of the last day in efforts to get undecided voters in the interesting battle between Governor Edwards and Senator Frelinghuysen, seeking re-election, both of whom claim victory by large pluralities.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The reparations commission today handed the German government another note, impressing upon Germany the necessity of making more definite proposals for the stabilization of the mark, and reminding the German government of its undertakings of last July with regard to regulation of Germany's finance.
 The commission requested a speedy reply to the note.
 Parliamentary and financial circles profess to see only hopeless confusion in the situation. They interpret the note as a polite reminder that the commission is totally out of sympathy with the manner in which Chancellor Wirth and Minister of Finance Hermes are conducting the negotiations.

SOVIET TO WAR ON SOCIALISTS

Zinovieff Declares Action Intention of Communists in Future.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.—Addressing the delegates to the third International congress here last night, Zinovieff, of the Soviet Central Committee, declared that the chief aim of the communists in the future will be to fight all other socialist parties. He said he considered them as the reactionary force of the International Bourgeoisie.
 Reviewing the year's progress, the Soviet leader said he considered that a full victory for communism was assured eventually. Communism has become so strong, he contended, that it is no longer afraid of capitalist attacks or of international reaction.
 "We guarantee the proletariat of the world that sooner or later we shall bring them to the expected goal," he said. "Russian workers impatiently await to see the first spark of the uprising blaze in other countries." Clara Zetkin of Germany called the congress to order in her native tongue and then summoned Zinovieff to nominate him chairman of the session.
 With searchlights in the gallery playing upon them, the Soviet leader and the feminine radical from Germany were given a tremendous reception. The sailor's band played the "Internationale." At the table on the stage, covered with a red runner, sat Katayama, leader of the Japanese socialists, Kalaroff, Bulgarian leader, and other prominent radicals. From the walls hung enormous pictures of Premier Lenin and War Minister Trotsky of Russia.
 Clara Zetkin, speaking of the communistic progress in Germany, predicted that a revolution would eventually be brought about in that country. Lenin and Trotsky telegraphed greetings to the congress. The message from Lenin said the "Communist Party during the last year has increased its force tremendously, and Soviet Russia is now much stronger as a whole."
 "The chief aim of communistic parties abroad should be directed toward gaining power," his message said. "I am convinced victory is assured."
 Messages of greetings were sent to imprisoned communists throughout the world and to the red armies.
 Today's program and meetings make up the program for the congress. The delegates will depart for Moscow to continue their celebrations and their work.

TO SUPPORT POLICY OF LLOYD GEORGE

General Welfare of Empire Comes Before Mere Partisanship, Asserts Winston Churchill.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Winston Churchill, in an election address sent to his constituents of Dundee, says he stands as a Liberal free-trader, but is not deserting Lloyd George or the high-minded Conservatives who stood by him and who "are now exposed to the malicious intrigues of the die-hard and the Independent Liberals."
 "The general welfare of the nation and the empire must come before mere partisanship," he declares. "The Bona Law government stands on far too narrow a basis for political stability. It is based far more on the Lords than the Commons. Its character and composition are reminiscent of the Georgian Third party, an almost medieval policy."
 Mr. Churchill favors active and earnest efforts in support of social reform schemes and the development of the empire. The proposal of a capital levy, urged by labor, would be catastrophic to trade and employment. Nationalism would dry up the springs of enterprise and destroy the livelihood of the bulk of the people.
 Mr. Churchill urges the electors to follow the middle path of wisdom and safety between reaction and revolution.

URGES CHILD EDUCATION AS BASIS OF TEMPERANCE

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—White ribbons should realize that the temperance movement must commence in the education of the child, in the opinion of the Dominion president, Mrs. Gordon Wright of London, who delivered her presidential address at the twenty-second convention of the Canadian National Women's Christian Temperance Union at Willard Hall today.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyett's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.
 Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Geo. A. Martin, Newly-Appointed Secretary, Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies.

The work of the Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies has increased to such an extent that it has been decided to appoint a permanent secretary. Up to the present the secretarial work has been done gratuitously, but the growing duties require someone who can devote his whole time. The committee appointed to select a secretary chose Mr. Geo. A. Martin for the position. Mr. Martin has had ten years' experience in editorial work on various Canadian daily newspapers, including Kitchener Telegraph, Stratford Herald, Buffalo Courier, Toronto Telegram, four years on the Toronto Globe, and his last work was as editor and director of the Oshawa Reformer. His diversified business and editorial experience eminently fit him for his new sphere of work.
 The Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies was founded in 1902. It has established high ethical standards as a requisite for membership, and practically every Canadian agency of importance is included in the membership.

ASK CHANGE IN NAME OF AUTHOR'S ASSOCIATION

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 6.—The local branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, in a resolution passed at a recent meeting, recommends a change in the name of the association to the Canadian Writers' Association. The resolution adopted reads:
 "That the name of the association be changed from its present form to the Canadian Writers' Association, and that the secretary of the association be asked to make this resolution widely known among the branches of the association, it being felt that the name 'writer' is more applicable to the majority of the present members and to the majority of those persons who make application for membership in the future."

ECZEMA Hands Were Raw Would Crack and Bleed

Eczeema or Salt Rheum, as it is commonly called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases. The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when exposed to heat, are almost unbearable and relief is gladly welcomed.
 The pre-eminent success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in permanently removing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.
 Mrs. M. R. Willard, Dudsweil Jct., Que., writes: "For about three years I had eczeema, in a very bad form, on my hands. They were all raw and would crack and bleed so that I could not do my housework. I tried everything I could think of without any results. At last I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and when I had it about all taken I could see it was helping me, by the time I had taken five bottles my hands were all well again, and I have not had it since. I cannot praise Burdock Blood Bitters enough."

GRAIN HEADS MAY RESIGN POSITIONS

Association Will Hold Annual Meeting At Calgary November 23.

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 6.—Many important subjects will be under consideration at the annual meeting of the United Grain Growers, Limited, here on November 23. One, if not two, of its principal officers will tender their resignation. President, Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressive party, may resign his position as head of the organization to devote his whole time to politics, while E. J. Fream, secretary, has definitely signified his intention of doing so in order to become a member of the Alberta Public Utilities board.
 Improvement of livestock marketing conditions will be a feature of the meeting. Preliminary to the regular sessions, a conference to which representatives from shippers, associations, individual shippers, and delegates of the U. G. G. have been invited, has been called for November 22, when the subject will be fully discussed.
 A plan whereby cattle consigned to Winnipeg, Edmonton and Calgary will be sold there only when those markets pay a fair price, otherwise they will be sorted out and taken on to the best available market at the time, has been prepared by the United Grain Growers, and if the company can get support for it from the shippers it will be put into effect, according to a statement issued by the organization.
 To do this, however, it is pointed out that cattle could not be shipped in mixed loads, but would have to be sorted. It will mean grading all cattle so consigned, pooling all returns over a certain period on cattle so handled, and a distribution of profits made on a patronage dividend or participation certificate basis.
 The business before the regular meeting will also consist of reports of the board of directors, including the annual financial statement, consideration of amendments to by-laws and election of four directors for a period of three years.

MOTHERS' CLUB NOT GETTING OUT SLATE

Takes View Women Should Run For School Board On Individual Merits.

The London Mothers' Club, either as a union or individual organization, is not devoting time at present to getting out a slate for the board of education, nor is it proposed to do so.

Statement to this effect was emphatically made by the Union Mothers' Club president, Mrs. John A. Rose, when asked regarding intentions by The Advertiser.

"Some years ago, when three women were elected to the board," answered Mrs. Rose, "the mothers' clubs did take an active and practical interest. A resolution was sent to the Local Council of Women, with the result the three candidates were elected. Since that time we have placed a memorandum on our books that, having established the fact the board of education is a legitimate field of endeavor for women, we are of the opinion that henceforth women should run on their own merits as individuals, and not as representatives of any organization."

Mothers and Their Children

Milk Through a Straw. My boy wouldn't drink milk until I hit upon the idea of letting him drink it through a straw. Now you should see him go to it.

BRAIDED FUR. A smart suit of taupe broadcloth is trimmed with bands of mouton. The mole is heavily braided in soutache braid, and braid fastenings adorn the front of the coat.

Fashion's Forecast

Good Style For School Wear. Not wholly unlike a middie is the upper part of this cunning frock for school wear. Madras, linen or serge are serviceable materials and so are very well adapted to this style. Made of madras at 50 cents per yard and braid at 10 cents per yard, the garment would cost about $1.65.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Dear Miss Grey,—Well, Cynthia, I hope you haven't forgotten me. It's a long time since I wrote. I wrote to Geranium for petunia slips, but I never got them. Haven't we had some lovely weather. I would like to correspond with some one about my own age, 15 or 16. I go to a party about every two weeks in the winter, and I generally have one myself. There are quite a number of young people around here, and we all like to have a party. So it takes up most of the winter. I saw in today's paper where Quincy had some contests to spare. I would be pleased if she would send them to me. Well, Miss Grey, I have always come for help, and I feel as though I should help some of the needy ones. I am sending some recitations and riddles; if anyone would like them they can get them from Miss Grey. Please find enclosed a self-addressed envelope for the contests. I am sorry I haven't a mite for the fund this time, but will try and raise it the next time. Wishing Cynthia and Boxites the best of luck. My address is with Miss Grey.

A LOVER OF FLOWERS.

No, I haven't forgotten you, Lover of Flowers. You must be quite a social butterfly, attending so many parties. But we are only young once, aren't we, Lover of Flowers? I am mailing you Quincy's address, and you can write to her direct for the contests.

POTPOURRI.

Dear Cynthia Grey—Will you kindly give me the contents and how to make a rose jar? Yours truly, H. F. W.

Here are directions for making potpourri: 1. Get a good-sized stone jar with an open mouth, and see that it is quite dry. It is a good plan to leave in a dry place over night. Lay them in the jar half an inch thick, sprinkling each layer thickly with well dried lavender flowers. Repeat each morning until the jar is three parts full. Let it stand for ten days, stirring the contents each evening. Then break into small pieces a ounce of stick cinnamon and grind coarsely an ounce each of allspice and cloves and mix together. Now get another jar, and place the rose leaves in it in layers as before, and thickly sprinkle the spice between. Tie a double sheet of stiff paper over the mouth of the jar and stand in a dry dark cupboard for three weeks. Then grind half an ounce each of nutmeg, cloves and allspice, and a nutmeg, and break up half an ounce of cinnamon. Add to these ingredients one-quarter pound dried lavender flowers and one ounce powderedorris root, and thoroughly mix all together. The special jar should now be brought and filled with alternate layers of the petals and the newly-mixed spice.

Between every layer drop ten drops each of amber, geranium and bitter almond, and three drops of attar of roses. Finally pour over all an ounce of lavender of rose extract.

GETS LONESOME.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I join your circle? I guess I will be welcome. I follow the rules. This is the first time I have written, but I read the letters every night. I certainly enjoy them, too. There are so many in need now. I felt sorry for "In Need" I think her pen-name was Dina. She came from Haileybury? If so, she won't be the only one in need, as the forest fires destroyed so many homes and lives. My mother died several years ago, and I am a housekeeper. I get so lonesome at times. I like to dance or skate very much, but I love music. I am knitting myself a sweater. I have been at it a long time, but with a sick one to look after, your time is pretty full, but however, I will finish it some time before the winter is over. I love reading, too. I am reading "The Rosary" now. I think it is good. I wish "Fairy of Lighthouse Cliff" would write to me, or anyone else that wants to. I am 19. I will write again at Thanksgiving time and enclose a mite. JEAN.

No, in need lives quite near London, and is not one of the ones who suffered from the forest fires. I am sure there are any number of young girls in the Mail-Box who would like to write to you, Jean, so I am placing your name on the family list, and anyone wishing to correspond with you may have it from the Mail-Box. I hope you get your sweater finished soon. Aren't you getting anxious to see what it looks like on?

SENDS MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—Enjoy reading your letters very much and miss them very much when they do not appear. Will you please send me the address of Sunny Nook? I enclosed a wee mite for the S. C. H. Wish it were more, but perhaps later. Since there are trees around our door will sign, MAPLE GLEN.

Sunny Nook's address is already on the way to you, Maple Glen. Many thanks for remembering our hospital fund with the enclosed mite. We will be looking for a longer letter next time.

TWENTY-TWO JOINS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been figuring for quite a number of minutes, just how to begin this letter. Now since I have made a start I'll go right ahead. This is my first letter, so may I be accepted as a member of your happy family?

I was just reading about the unfortunate fire victims in Northern Ontario; it must be very desolate up there now. I am making catsup today; I think it will be the last for this season. Here is a hint, maybe an old one. If your zinc ring refuses to turn when opening a gem of fruit, run a lighted match around the lower edge. I have the sweetest little baby boy, just six weeks old. He is my first baby, and he certainly is a very great attraction to my husband and myself.

Inclosed find wee mite for S. C. H. I will sign, TWENTY-TWO.

Welcome to our Mail-Box, Twenty-two. It isn't such a terrible ordeal after all, is it? I am quite sure your baby is a darling; what are you going to call him? Thanks for the hint re opening jars, also for the inclosed hospital mite. We will be looking for a letter soon again. Are you just twenty-two?

TOO CUNNING FOR TRAPS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please answer the following question in your valuable paper. What's the best rate exterminator that you know of? I've tried Common Sense as one, and for another I've tried plaster of paris and cornmeal mixed together, both with fairly good results, but I'd like to know of something much better. Strychnine is hard to get, and they find too cunning for traps. W. D. S.

If any of the Boxites know of a good rat exterminator will they kindly send it in for W. D. S., who is quite anxious to get rid of these pests.

HUNT CLUB GAIETIES RECALL PRE-WAR DAYS

Luncheon, Cross-Country Run, Tea Dance Largely Attended Thanksgiving Day.

Before-the-war days were recalled in the regular, old-time Thanksgiving party, which was held Monday at the Hunt Club, followed for a number by a cross-country run, with Sir Adam Beck, master, who came up from Toronto for the week-end, and Col. E. L. Leonard, assistant master, in charge. Several who did not want to take the jumps followed by the road.

A tea dance, for which inspiring music was provided by Lombardo's orchestra, was a jolly wind-up. Gay Halloween decorations, glowing open fires, quantities of chrysanthemums, effectively arranged, gave a festive air to the rooms, emphasizing the atmosphere of hospitality and good cheer.

Amongst those who were entertaining were: Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Betts, Major Hume Cronyn, and Mrs. Cronyn, Dr. J. G. Hunt and Mrs. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kerrigan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Faracombe, Mr. and Mrs. Miss Helen Harris, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leonard, Col. C. H. Hill and Mrs. Hill, Miss Harris (Eldon House), Col. C. K. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. MacMahon, Mrs. W. G. Webster, Mr. George Little, Mr. Douglas Weidon, Mr. Harold Groom.

Capt. Henry Toke Munn, the distinguished Arctic explorer, who has been a frequent visitor in London, has just arrived back in England after spending the summer at Southampton Island, in the Arctic Ocean, in the interests of the Arctic Products Development Company, of which he is manager, and Viscount Lascelles, the president. A series of Arctic stories by Capt. Munn has been appearing in Chambers' Journal. Capt. Munn had purposed wintering in polar regions, as he has frequently done before, but, changing his plans, will probably be in Canada and in this city about New Year's.

To Keep Hair Wavy, Lustrous, Beautiful

The use of the hot curling-iron cannot be too strongly condemned. It means death to the hair eventually. Moreover, it is entirely unnecessary. Long or bobbed hair can be kept beautifully wavy and curly to any extent and in any form desired, by using the simple and harmless silmerine method. Liquid silmerine should be applied to the hair before doing it up, using a clean toothbrush. In about three hours you will find that a very pretty "natural" wave and curl has resulted, and the effect will last quite a considerable time. Liquid silmerine is really beneficial and is not sticky nor greasy. Neither does it streak the hair nor stain the scalp. You need get only a few ounces from your druggist. The best way is to divide the front and back hair into from four to six strands and to moisten each strand separately from root to tip.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicy Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray hair, streaked or faded hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off."—Adv.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable.

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble, you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rashes and blotches are healed right up. Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.—Adv.

CHAPTER III

ALWAYS Clinch's little pale eyes searched the forest twilight in front of him; not a falling leaf escaped him; not a chipmunk. The slightest noise behind him, he would, turned slowly. Eve stood there.

He died in his pale eyes as she came to him, rested silently in his gentle embrace, returned his kiss, laid her flushed, sweet cheek against his unshaven face.

"Dad, darling?"

"Yes, my baby?"

"You're watching to kill Quintana. But there's no use watching any longer."

"Have the boys below got him?"

"He demanded."

"They got one of his gang. Byron Flanagan is dead. Jim is badly hurt. Sid Stone, too—not so badly."

"Where's Quintana?"

"Dad, he's gone."

"But it don't matter. See here!" She dug her slender hand into her breeches pocket and pulled out a little fistful of gems.

Clinch, his powerful arm closing her shoulders, looked dully at the jewels.

"You see, dad, there's no use killing Quintana. There are the things he robbed you of."

"Taint them that matter. . . . I'm glad you got 'em. I allus wanted you should be a great lady, girlie. Them's the tickets of admission. You put 'em in your pants. I gotta stay here a spell."

"Dad! Take them!"

He took them, smiled, shoved them into his pocket.

"What is it, girlie?" he asked absently, his pale eyes searching the woods ahead.

"I've just told you," she said, "that the boys went in as far as Quintana's shanty. There was a dead man there, too; but Quintana has gone."

Clinch said — not removing his eyes from the forest: "If any of them boys has let Quintana crawl through I'll kill him, too. . . . In the Gwan home, girlie. I gotta mossey — I gotta kinda loaf around for a spell."

"Dad, I want you to come back with me."

"You go home; you hear me, Eve? Tell 'Corny' and Dick Berry to hook it for Owl Marsh and stop the Star Peak trails—both on 'em. . . . Can Sid and Jimmy walk?"

"Jim can't."

"Well, let Harve take him on his back. You go too. You help fix Jimmy up at the house. He's a little fella. Jimmy Hastings is. Harve can tote him. And you go along."

"Dad, Quintana says he means to kill you! What is the use of hurting him? You have what he took."

"I gotta have more'n he took. But even that ain't enough. He couldn't pay for all he ever done to me, girlie. . . . I'm aimin' to draw on him on sight."

Clinch's set visage relaxed into an alarming smile which flickered, faded, died in the wintry ferocity of his eyes.

"Dad!"

"Gwan home!" he interrupted harshly. "You want that Hastings boy to bleed to death?"

She came up to him, not uttering a word, yet asking him with all the tenderness and eloquence of her eyes to leave the house. He's a little fella, Jimmy Hastings is. Harve can tote him. And you go along."

He kissed her mouth, infinitely tender, smiled; then, again grim and scowling:

"Gwan home, you, an' do what I told ye, or I'll cut a switch that'll learn ye good! Never a word, now! On yer way! Gwan!"

Twice she turned to look back. The second time, Clinch was slowly walking into the woods straight ahead of him. She waited; saw him go in; waited. After a while she continued on her way.

CHAPTER IV

AND Clinch's mind was on her. All else — his watchfulness, his

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

AS soon as Jack arrived at his home town station he arranged to have his treasure money shipped home. Then he started on a run. "Come on, Flip," he shouted. And in no time at all Jack was on his front porch.

IT was about as happy as Jack had been for a long time. Home again! He rang his doorbell and his mother answered. In an instant Jack was in her arms. Then he started telling her about his many great adventures.

JACK'S mother was surely surprised when the treasure money arrived. And so was Jack. For, instead of one money chest, there were three. Jack began immediately to plan another adventure trip.

"First you, my friend Mike," said Quintana cautiously.

Clinch took his rifle by the muzzle and shoved the stock into view so that Quintana could see it without moving.

To his surprise, Quintana did the same, then coolly stepped a pace outside the shelter of his hemlock stump.

"You show me now!" he called across the swamp.

Clinch stepped into view, dug into his pocket, and cupping both hands, displayed a glittering heap of gems.

"I wanted you should know who's got 'em," he said, "before you hop. I'll give you something to think over."

Quintana's eyes had become slits again. Neither man stirred. Then: "So you are a buzzard, eh, Clinch? You feed on dead man's pockets, eh? You find Sard somewhere and you feed. He hold up the morocco case, emblazoned with the arms of the Grand Duchess of Esthonia, and shook it at Clinch.

"In there is my share. . . . Not all. Ver' quick, now, I take yours, too."

Clinch vanished and so did his rifle; and Quintana's first bullet struck the moss where the stock had rested.

"You black crow!" jeered Clinch, laughing. "I need that empty case of yours. And I'm going after it. . . . But it's because your filthy claw touched my girlie that you gotta hop!"

Twilight lay over the phantom wood, touching with pallid tints the flooded forest.

So far only that one shot had been fired. Both men were still maneuvering, always creeping in circles and always lining some great tree for shelter.

Now the gathering dusk was making them bolder and swifter; and twice, already, Clinch caught the shadow of a fading edge of something that vanished against the shadows too swiftly for a shot.

Now Quintana, keeping a tree in line, brushed with his lithe back a leafless moose-bush that stood swaying as he avoided it.

Instantly a stealthy hope seized him; he slipped out of his coat, spread it on the bush, set the naked branches swaying, and darted to his tree.

Waiting, he saw that the gray blot his coat made in the dusk was still moving a little—just vibrating a little bit in the twilight. He touched the bush with his rifle barrel, then crouched almost flat.

Suddenly the red crash of a rifle lit up Clinch's visage for a fraction of a second. And Quintana's bullet smashed Clinch between the eyes.

Temperamental Artists Belong To the Past

Morals may not be improving and manners may leave much to be desired, but we are progressing in one respect, in our appreciation of music and our attitude toward musicians.

So says Madame Olga Samaroff, the only woman pianist who has ever attempted to interpret the complete Beethoven sonata series, and who, in spite of her foreign-sounding name, is a typical American woman.

"When I made my professional debut," she said, "I was told that I must not use my own name, a plain American-sounding one, but must assume an interesting foreign-sounding one, because I could arouse no interest unless I did. So I took the name of my Russian grandmother.

"Now this would not be necessary in the least, for the American and Canadian audience is just as discriminating as the continental one, and no longer judges artists by their names or their press agent's stories. And foreign artists no longer expect to conquer us by their oddity or picturesqueness.

"Another fallacy we have outgrown is the idea that the sort of temperament that manifests itself tearing down curtains and throwing vases has anything to do with art. . . . But it's because your filthy claw touched my girlie that you gotta hop!"

WHAT RELIEF! SKIRT LENGTH IS SOLVED

A FASHION investigator with a scientific turn of mind has been studying the problem of the skirt length. He made a thorough canvass of 25 of the representative shops in New York, ranging from the most exclusive to the popular-priced stores. Here is the result: Street dresses are shown with skirts from two to ten inches from the sidewalk, with the average about seven inches.

Sports wear has skirts from six to eight inches from the sidewalk, with the average about nine inches.

Evening gowns escape the ballroom floor by from one to seven inches, and the average is only five.

And now that you have heard all about it you will please yourself as to the length of your own.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

FARMER BROWN'S BOY MISSES HENS. (By Thornton W. Burgess.)

In placing blame he was very slow. Unless you absolutely know——Farmer Brown's Boy.

The young Fox who was the prisoner of Farmer Brown's Boy was beginning to really enjoy life again. Yes, sir, he was doing just that. You see, he had discovered a way of hunting even though he was chained to a post in Farmer Brown's barnyard. Three times now when Farmer Brown's Boy had let the hens out of the henyard for exercise the young Fox had caught one without being discovered. He had been smart enough to take those hens inside his house to eat, and so they had been no titillate feathers scattered outside.

It was the day after he had caught his third hen that Farmer Brown's Boy noticed that his flock didn't seem as large as it should be. He went into the henhouse to make sure that none of the hens was there. Then he went out in the barnyard and began to count them. Of course, he knew just how many there should be. When he had finished counting he was three short of the proper number.

"That's queer," said Farmer Brown's Boy with a puzzled frown on his freckled face. "I must have miscounted." Then he began to count them over again. Of course, the hens were running around and it was not easy. This time he was two short. He tried it again and this time he was four short.

Farmer Brown's Boy began to lose patience. "I simply can't count these hens while they're running about," said he. "I've counted them three times and each time got a different number. But not once did I get as many as there should be. It looks to me as if some are missing. I've got to make sure. I don't see how any can be missing because I don't see what could have happened to any of them. I'll drive them all into the henhouse and count them as they go through that little doorway. Only one at a time can go through."

So Farmer Brown's Boy once more made sure that not a single hen was left in the henhouse. Then he closed the henhouse door, leaving open only the little sliding door made especially for the hens. Then he drove the hens in and counted them as they went through that doorway. When he had one had disappeared the number was three short of the proper number.

these things could have happened. He went into the henhouse and searched very carefully to see if Robber the Rat had gnawed a hole from underneath. There was no hole. The henhouse was perfectly tight. There wasn't a crack that even so slim a fellow as Shadow the Weasel could have squeezed through. He went all around the henyard. There was no place where any fur-coated thief could have crept in. The only thing he could think of was that a Hawk might have dropped down in the henyard when no one was about.

"That must have been it," said Farmer Brown's Boy at last. "Red-tail no Hawk must have been paying this henyard some visits. I'll have to keep an eye out for that fellow. I certainly will have to keep an eye out for that fellow. If he has caught three he certainly will try for some more. I'll keep my eye on this henyard for the next three days and see what happens. I can't afford to let Redtail have any more hens."

How that young Fox would have chuckled could he have heard and understood what Farmer Brown's Boy was saying. My, how he would have chuckled! (Copyright, 1922, by T. W. Burgess.)

A Clear, Beautiful Skin

There are millions of tiny openings or pores in the skin and these must be kept open and clean if the beauty of the skin is to be maintained.

Because it cleanses these pores and encourages the healthful action of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment is most effective as a skin beautifier. Roughness, redness, pimples and all sorts of skin blemishes disappear by its use, and the skin is left clear, smooth and velvety.

Now cleans teeth this new way

Do you know that careful people of some fifty nations are brushing their teeth in a new way. And largely by dental advice?

If you have not learned what that method means, make this test and see.

This new combat film

This new way fights the film on teeth—that viscous film you feel.

Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It absorbs stains, then forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

It also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most tooth troubles are due to film. So are most cloudy teeth. Under old methods very few escaped them, for no ordinary to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus those two great natural tooth-protecting agents are given manifold power twice a day. Modern research proves those things essential.

You see new beauty everywhere

Now millions use this method. You see the results wherever you look, in shining teeth which give to people new beauty and new charm. Those whiter teeth mean cleaner, safer teeth. They mean to those people a new dental era.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film coats disappear. This test will be a revelation. Make it now. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

HONOR MEMORY OF WAR HEROES

Citizens of Stratford and District Assemble For Unveiling of Monument.
Special to The Advertiser.
STRATFORD, Nov. 6.—"To the glory of God and the everlasting memory of the men whose names are engraved thereon, I unveil this memorial." With these words Major-General Sir Edward Morrison, C.M.G., D.S.O., this afternoon formally unveiled the memorial erected by the people of Stratford, North and South Eastshores, Downville and Ellice Townships. The memorial, a beautiful representation of the spirit of Canada and a fitting remembrance to those who fell in action, stands within a few feet of where these five municipalities originally met before Stratford took its share from each. It is of granite and bronze and cost $25,000.

Though the morning was threatening the sun beamed forth just as the ceremony was to commence. Large crowds from the city and country were present. War veterans, 24th Perth Regiment, Collegiate Cadets and Boy Scouts paraded, while members of the families of those killed had special seats arranged for them in front of the platform. At the close of the program wreaths from the city, G. W. V. A., branches of I. O. D. E., and various townships, as well as many private wreaths.
Major-General Morrison's remarks were brief. He commended the people for erecting such a handsome memorial and urged them not to forget their debt as well to the men who came home.
The memorial was formally presented to Mayor Gregory, for the city, by William Preston, chairman of the memorial committee.
Colonel Oliver of Galt, formerly O. C. of the 1st Battalion, spoke, as did also the reverend of North Eastshore, Ellice and Downville.
The dedication prayer was offered by Canon Cliff, chaplain of the Perth Regiment.
The memorial typifies a beautiful thought, the main figure representing vigour, hope, and thankfulness. In the background, its head down, the sword and grasping a broken sword, is defeat.
The monument is the work of the noted sculptor, W. S. Allward, Toronto.
About 400 names are inscribed on the memorial.

WESLEY BARRY TO APPEAR AT GRAND

Popular Playhouse Presents Fine Bil, Featuring "From Rags To Riches."
For the remainder of the week the Grand Opera House will return to its policy of pictures and vaudeville. The feature picture for the remainder of the week is one of the biggest which will come to the theatre this season, presenting Wesley Barry in "From Rags to Riches." This is the finest picture Wesley Barry has ever made, and has scored a distinct success wherever shown. In larger American cities today it is showing at the same price as good attractions, but there will be no advance in the prices at the Grand for the engagement.
In addition to the great feature picture, there will be a Hill Room Boys' comedy, "A Tailor-made Chautauq," one of the best of this popular series. There will be also the usual five acts of vaudeville, including Bob Cook, talkative trickster; Charles Forest, an eccentric comedian; St. Elmo Duo, songs and music; Austin Duo, a novelty offering; and the Dancing Pagans in a variety dancing novelty.

MEIKLE STEAMS TO AID OF CANADIAN SEIGNEUR

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Steaming at full speed to the aid of the disabled freighter, Canadian Seigneur, of the Canadian government merchant marine, the Reid-Newfoundland Company steamer, Meikle, is expected to reach the Seigneur 738 miles northwest of St. John's, Nfld., some time tomorrow night, according to a wireless report received at the Canadian government merchant marine office here this evening. The Seigneur has been drifting for several days without a rudder, which she lost while bound from Carleton to Montreal with a cargo of coal and pig iron.

MARY MACSWINEY NOW STARTS HUNGER STRIKE

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—A bulletin issued by the Republicans states that Miss Mary MacSwiney, who was arrested by the Free State military on Saturday, has been hunger-striking since she was taken into custody.
A letter said to have been found after her arrest, reads:
"If imprisoned, I will hunger-strike. I don't know whether they will let me die, but if they do, pray for me that I may be as brave as those who have gone before me."
Mary MacSwiney is a sister of the late Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who died in Brixton prison in London, on Oct. 25, 1920, after a hunger-strike lasting 73 days.

Does Not Expect U. S. To Place Embargo On Canadian Grain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—No embargo on Canadian grain is probable, despite the demands of the American Farm Bureau Federation and other farm organizations. This is the information which is given out here unofficially from sources intimately in touch with the situation. It is pointed out that an embargo on Canadian grain would mean that the United States would be forced to import grain from Canada, as it sometimes does. Moreover, the United States railroad lines promise soon to relieve the congestion of grain at the small elevators in the west and northwest, and say they are near the end of the worst of the car shortage.

Canadians Observe Fifth Anniversary of Battle of Passchendaele.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Blessed by an abundant harvest and a long period of national progress, virtually unmarred by industrial strife, Canadians today observed Thanksgiving Day, set aside each year as a national holiday. The day also marked the fifth anniversary of the Battle of Passchendaele, when the Canadian corps, after three weeks of bitter fighting against tremendous odds, carried the ridge of Passchendaele, in which they routed the flower of Hindenburg's storm troops, and in so doing materially hastened the dawn of peace.
All these things were remembered throughout the Dominion by grateful citizens, whether in attendance of thanksgiving services held in the majority of the churches or at family reunions. The weather was mild from coast to coast, but rain spoiled the day in a great many districts.

Only one small blaze enlivened the quietness of the local fire department over the week-end, when the fire department was called out to Ripley Lane, where some outbuildings had caught fire. The extent of the damage is not known, but it is stated that it will be in the neighborhood of $500. When the firemen arrived on the scene the buildings were a mass of flames and were nearly totally destroyed, so they confined their efforts to the adjoining buildings in an effort to save the other threatened structures.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes: "About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel kind of faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just feel faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills. I took three boxes, and I felt much better, so continued all winter, and now I never feel any such faintness, surely do appreciate the good they have done for me."

Lively interest is certainly being shown in the coming of Signor Salvini, the world-famous "Wizard of the Harp," who is to fill an engagement at the Patricia Theatre tonight.

Death in Automobile Crash Reveals Marriage Kept Secret For Over Year

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—A marriage which was kept secret for more than a year was revealed by the death in an automobile accident last night, on Howard avenue, of Howard Lanstra, 24 years old, 53 High street west. Members of the family, when told today that the woman who was with their son gave her name to the attaches of Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, 2245 Jefferson avenue, where she was taken after the accident, as Mrs. Halle Lanstra, wife of Howard, refused to believe their son was married.
The hospital staff today investigated and learned that the marriage was a fact. Mrs. Lanstra became hysterical today after learning, for the first time, that her husband was killed.
Walter Lanstra, 1269 Lillibridge avenue, brother of Howard and driver of the ill-fated car, said he was driving toward the city on Mack avenue with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lanstra, who sat in the rear seat, and Miss Grace Schrandt, 22 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schrandt, 1786 Hubbard avenue, who sat in front with him.
Near the 8 1/2-mile road a car, coming from behind, crashed into his car and hurled it off the road. His car turned over and the other slid into a ditch on the other side of the road.
When Lanstra recovered from the shock, he found his brother and the two women in the wreckage. His brother was unconscious.

It's Time To Talk of the Newest Things

Belts are slowly going back to normalcy. At least, nearly back, for they're higher. And a decorative get-toe they made when they moved, for bright embroideries, bead work and metal trimmings often appear on them.
When you think of blouses, think of the cozier or jacket type of model if you choose to be very snug. In new fabrics, such as blistered silk and printed crepe, blouses have a distinction that hasn't been their's for seasons.
Leg of Mutton sleeves—you signed, maybe, at Great Aunt Ellen's when you saw them on the revered little thingy. Now, though, they're smart, oh, very! with all their graceful plumpness and slimmness, when they appear on quite the nicest Fall gowns.
A very eye-like effect is the hertha cap-like neckwear creation. And really it doesn't choose to be anything at all but feminine and lovely. Why should it, when it inherited its charm from fair ladies who had a most decided flair for coquetry.
Fall hats tell their story through handcraft. And hands speak surprisingly well. Embroideries of every kind showing peasant influences and Egyptian and Persian touches make new millinery charming.
Black matelasse, with its undeniable air of distinction, looms up grandly as a very smart fabric for Fall Suits and dresses when it lends a very chic atmosphere.
