The three weeks that have elapsed, he newspaper points out, have been critical ones, as it is generally during this period that Western Canada's crop is either assured or damage occurs from storms, hail, drought, rust or insects. As far as the alliance is now concerned in the question, it has been left entirely in the hands of the special committee, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, Rev. M. Kelly and Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor. There was a world-wide kick by the self-styled ambassadors of God about the street cars running on Sunday, but we got them, and we shall have Sunday bathing, too. There is nothing I enjoy so much as a dip in the lake or protected river on a hot Sunday. It makes one feel good all over, and all who bathe in the open speak to each other, thereby making all bathing places social centers.

Now, Mr. Editor, I contend, that if the preachers instead of knocking everything the citizens want and need, would themselves go down to the pools and bathing places, don their suits and go in on a hot Sunday afternoon, everybody would call them good fellows and would go to hear them preach at night after the daily plunge, but there can be no use telling people to wash and be clean when they have shut off the only facility some people have of doing so. ### Lloyd George Declares Socialism To Bring Ruin

London, Eng., July 17 .- The Socialist debate in the Commons today proved rather a humdrum discussion, traversing well-worn paths. That phrase shows the danger of a person seeking that type of a husband. to correctly interpret Canadian sentiment on short acquaintance. No doubt the writer has reference to the reciprocity pact of 1911, brought down by Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson of the Laurier administration. It provided for a free interchange between Canada and United States of the natural products of the two countries. That whole issue was discussed not on the merits of the case, not as the opening of a wider market to the farmers of Canada, but on the purely trumped-up argument of handing Canada over to United States. Just how it was to be done, just who was going to do it, or what parties were to be present when this outrage was committed-none of these things were ever stated. The campaign was political fiction, but it served the purpose of defeating the Laurier government, and that it is Pine River. was the one and only reason for its discreditable exist-

It did more. Today we have a visitor from Cardiff seeking national information in Canada, and he hears of "commercial union." Had he asked many questions in many parts of Canada, Mr. Forsdike would have found that there is practically no sentiment in Canada that could be described as favoring union with United States. There is a tremendous investment of United States ments. money here; Canada looks to New York rather than to London for loan money; United States firms are many times as keen at studying Canadian markets as paid employees should receive consideration. Those the British firms; our provinces are full of United States tourists at this season of the year-yet none of these things, nor all of them combined, has given in charge to see that as much justice is done to the rise to a feeling in Canada that would find concrete expression in such a phrase as "Let us be one nation and one people."

A Much-Belated Statement.

A long statement has been issued by the soviet government of Russia officially telling of the murder of the whole Romanoff family on July 16, five years ago. The official report does not differ much from accounts already published.

It tells of the manner in which the whole royal family of Russia, father, mother, son and daughters, were taken from one place to another, and how on the fatal night of July 16 they were asked to go into a lower room of the semi-jail in which they were confined, there made to stand up with their backs to the wall, and shot dead by their captors, without regard to age, sex, guilt or innocence.

The long statement of the present Russian govern ment, apologetic and explanatory of the steps and reasons for the final crime, does not help matters. It simply places the whole incident in the class of sanctioned, sold, deliberate murder.

He Made His Opportunity.

A young man who left Stratford two months ago was in London yesterday. He left Ontario because "there was no opportunity for a young man here," and from remarks made by him his attitude now is that "there is not much chance for a young man in United States.'

That is not a new complaint: it has been made by many people many times.

Instead of dealing with the case by argument, let us take the case of a foreigner who came to London about five years ago. He could not speak a word of English, and he had no trade. He had practically no money, and had to get a fellow-countryman who could speak English to go with him when he wanted to secure a bicycle. A small deposit was paid on the wheel; it was to become his business partner. He started out on that wheel, selling a few rugs and curtains that he had secured at a sale. He sold them at so much a week; it was not long before his stock was gone, and he had to secure more. He has been at that "securing more' ever since, and the process took him to night school. where he mastered the English language. Since then this man has brought his wife and family to this country; he drives in a car for pleasure or for business; he owns his home and is in a position to go ahead with

There was apparently "no opportunity for this man in Ontario" when he came here; he could not even speak our language.

The "no opportunity" business did not bother him very long. In his own crude way he went ahead and carved out an opportunity.

Of course, our young men will say: "But you don't expect me to take a bicycle and start selling from door to door." That's where the trouble comes in with Canadian young men. As a class they are well educated, and as a class the first thing they do is look for some person else to develop a business to the stage where they can take on another hand or two, and thereby give them a job.

It is one of our weaknesses as a race and as a nation. We lack initiative.

The Case of Two Men.

The Toronto Star takes note of a peculiar case of where a marriage was stopped because the prospective father-in-law thought it his duty to tell his future sonin-law the story of his life. He told him that the father of the girl he was about to marry had been sent to jail for murder; after serving seven years he escaped, and young man not only broke his engagement but had the girl's father arrested.

The contrast in the conduct of the two men, says the Star, is remarkable. The escaped murderer had a fine sense of honor himself and he trusted his liberty to the man who wished to marry his daughter. The Visitors from the Old Land are almost certain to fiance, virtuous and proud, was furious over the decepask questions, perhaps in a guarded way, about the tion he considered had been practiced upon him. Ever Hear of Pine River?

Who gives names to places that are recognized or the maps?

Who, for instance, undertook to call a place "Pine River" just on the borders of Bruce County?

The road maps show it, and naturally a motorist as he pounds along the road leading to Kincardine, looks for something rather picturesque, attractive, or quaint when he reaches Pine River.

Well, there it stands, a bit of a grocery store on the corner, with the inevitable gas tank in front. Nothing else. No, sir, not a pine tree, and not a river-yet

Perhaps John Hunter of Kincardine Reporter. can straighten out the mystery of Pine River, for it certainly calls for an explanation, if not an apology.

Should Be Very Easily Settled.

There is too much talk about "resignations at the city hall." Citizens generally have no sympathy for a lot of this unnecessary publicity given to salary adjust-

When a certain amount is set aside in the estimates for salary increases it is only fair that all the lowerholding the better positions would probably be the first to approve of this course. It should be the aim of those lower-salaried employees as to any other, for the reason that their problem of existence is more acute than those in better-paid places.

The whole matter could be settled in a very short time were it undertaken in this spirit.

Note and Comment.

The weeds have almost got the better of the "For sale" signs on some of London's vacant property.

U. S. statistics show there is one car for every "eight and five-tenth" persons in that country. The automobile driver is cutting the population into tenths.

Ontario will now witness that peculiar custom of abinet ministers having to go back to their constituencies, and, if necessary, stand for re-election. No good nurnose is served by this provision.

The Canadian Senate to Sir Henry Thornton: "Go ahead, sir, and run the National Railways; we want you to make a success of the undertaking; remember we are behind you. But also remember that we have the power to tie your hands and we propose to use it."

On the day of the last wine and beer vote in Manitoba, the Winnipeg Free Press said: "The elector who does not vote today is a poor citizen." Considering the almost alarming smallness of the vote, the Free Press will have to conclude that its district has an over- our tissues by an accident which whelming majority of poor citizens.

Another opinion is expressed by Mr. Ralph Upson, of Detroit, regarding the fate of the two balloonists who perished in Lake Erie. He holds that they decided to part company, one dropping in the basket, the other clinging to the balloon ropes. This conjecture, put forward by a competent aviator, again brings to mind the desperate straits in which two brave adventurers found themselves. It is to be hoped that the futile with the greatest care it should be tragedy serves as an object lesson of the danger and uselessness of such events.

TURNING MARKS INTO BEEF.

(From the Western Mail, Cardiff) A Fleet street personality who has just returned from Berlin has his pockets stuffed with notes from 100 to 20,000, and these he gives to his friends as souvenirs of post-war Germany. He has many interesting things to say about what you can do with the marks in Ger many, and about the spending capacity of the mark in relation to the workers' wages. An interesting table was recently published. A pound of margarine costs 16,000 marks, which cannot be earned in less than three hours. An egg costs 1,100 marks, and represents a quarter of an nour's work. A pound of sugar (procurable by ration card only) costs 1,700 marks, twenty minutes of a werker's time, and a bread ration costs 500 marks, six minutes' work. A pound of beef can be bought with the wage of three hours' labor, namely, 15,000 marks, while it takes a whole week's wages (240,000 marks) to buy a pair of boots, and two and a half weeks' wages (600,000 marks) to buy a sult. A piece of ordinary washing soap costs 3,000 marks and over half an hour's work to earn Working class families are considered to be enviably well off by the educated classes, some of whom are trying to scrape along on pensions of a few hundred marks a month, or live on a capital which, through the late precipitous decline of currency, has fallen to many thousands for the last ten years had lived as a decent and law-abiding citizen. Rough is the road, and often dark: frequented by outlaws and sturdy beggars; encumbered with wrecks of goodly equipages, and bodies of wounded travelers; full of cripples, and weary folk who are ready to faint and fall, and overladen beasts and men, and little lost children. I enjoy a swim on Sunday or any other day, but I do not consider that in issue. The question raised by the Ministerial Alliance is, to my mind, one of fundamental importance to this province. Not only as regards the Sabbath is it important, but as regards every vital problem upon which there is a divergence of opin-ion among different portions of a Christian population. As I understand the argument of the alliance, it is admitted that there may be a difference of opinion among Christians as to whether or not Sunday bathing is wrong in itself, and that that is not the issue. The question is whether or not public funds collected as taxes from all the people should be spent in fostering a project which is spent in fostering a project which in any way offends the conscience of any numerous body of believers. This is quite a different thing from prohibiting swimming or interfering with liberty. Spending and prohibit ing are not at all the same.

I believe that with this exposition of the question all-will, and do, agree that no public funds (taxes) should be spent which either consciously or unconsciously encourage infidelity or discourage Christianity. By the same easoning separate schools cannot ogically be condemned, and presum-ably the Ministerial Alliance is not

The Tecumsehs were weak in spots off attack and these weak spots robbed them of opportunities to make runs when hits were needed. The London directors probably knew what they were about in the Buck Boyle release, especially in view of the fact that it was sure to invite Boyle, despite the fact that he "spiked first" when at bat, but still of late had been getting his ration of hits that way; that he couldn't seem to resist trying to pilfer the plate, with or without instructions apparently; that he was a poor mark to shoot at on first especially for strange infielders and that his emotional outbursts had a tendency to upset the poise of the infield at critical junctures, was, to many fans, the most valuable first-sacker in the league. If this is true, if statements are true that Benny was really a welter the night he fought Hart, then it is a cinch he would not try to reduce ten pounds in the short time that elapses before he meets Lew unless Tendler did, too.

Tendler himself is no will-of-the-wisp and it would be interesting to see what happens at the weighing in—if there is a genuine bona fide weighing in.

Jimmy Dougherty, the Leiperville impressario, who manager Alex Hart, says that Benny fought Hart at 145 pounds, and he here and now offers either Tendler or Leonard a side bet of $10,000 that the curly-haired Philadelphian can beat either Leonard or the chief contender for his title in fifteen rounds.

Woodstock, July 16.—On Saturday afternoon next the feature cricket event in Western Ontario will be the game between the selected elevens of the Western Ontario Cricket League to be played at Galt. The game is due to start at three o'clock, and should provide an excellent exhibition of cricket.

Peter Rabbit sat talking aloud to himself. He was admitting to himself that he must give up hunting for the home of Danny Meadow Mouse. "Yes, mother. What is the matter? Are you sick?" "Mercy no, child. I just heard startling news."

"About Dan?"

"Yes. A lot of folks are all going aboard."

Ann got up and put away her sewng. She was quite pale and hands shook as she reached for her old felt hat.

"Ann Lester, you're not going? "Of course I am going-I shall be one of the first ones to greet her," said Ann proudly, and buttoning her heavy coat she leaned over and kissed her mother. The older woman clung to her. "Don't you care, Ann, don't you care about it, darling! He's not worth a pang of sorrow!" "I'm not caring—much, mother," smiled Ann, running out of the house and down the steep lane that led for the dock. Scores of people had gathered to welcome their favorite young townsman back from a successful voyage, and many a curious glance searched out Ann, rosy with walking in the fresh wind. "She cannot be such a goose as to expect that Danny will go back to her now," whispered one girl to another, and all the while Ann's smiling lips were praying for strength to carry her through this ordeal—murmuring her faith in Danny.

The vessel drew nearer, the afternoon sun catching her sails and turn-ing them to golden wings. "He's got new sails," muttered one old man. "And new coat of paint."

"New boat, by jinks! Hey-h-h—Cap'n Danny!" Another old man leaped in the air and waved his hat frantically.

The sails were hurriedly reefed, and the boat came gracefully into dock like a tired bird come to rest. She was brand new, and her name shone out in clear white letters on her bow:

Ben Frame stayed behind to explain to his friends all about his great joke. "It was a sweetheart," he declared stoutly.

New Stories O. HENRY

EXPENSIVE VERACITY.

A Houston man who attended great many of the services of Sam Jones, the evangelist, was particularly impressed with his denunciation of prevarigators and lies of all kinds, white, variegated and black.

So strongly was he affected and in such fertile ground did the seed sown by the great evangelist fall, that the Houston man, who had been accustomed to occasionally evade the truth, determined one morning he would turn over a new leaf and tell the truth in all things, big and little. So he commenced the day by scorning to speak even a word that did not follow the exact truth for a model.

At breakfast his wife said:
"How are the bsicuits, Henry?"
"Rather heavy," he answered, "and about half done."
His wife flounced out of the din-

"Oh, Henry," she simpered, "how are Ella and the children? I would come in but I'm looking such a fright today I'm not fit to be seen."

"Guld only speak!"

"If it could," said the young man, holding his nose with his handkerchief, "I bet a dollar it would speak of the dead languages."

"Yes," said Henry, "you do. It's a good thing your horse has a blind bridle on, for if he got a sight of you he'd run away and break your neck." His aunt glanced icily at hime and drove away without saying a word. Henry figured it up afterward and found that every word he said to her cost him $8,000.

The close relation of Reginald Mctogether at Chequers Court—seems to indicate that a plan aiming at a joint settlement of reparations and interallied debts may have an important place in the discussions. The insistence in Paris despatches today on the fact that Premier Poincare's Carstairs, Alta.; Mrs. Charles Mcspeech was prepared before the Brit-ish prime minister's pronouncement was delivered is regarded here as significant, proving the desire of the French not to embarrass London needlessly in the discussions.

Mr. and Mrs. Gold, who lived at the "home farm" in connection with Murthly Castle, Perthshire, Scotland, were also friends of the family, and Mr. Smith also visited there as a boy. On such occasions he would wander through the old castle, whose walls were covered with the work of famous artists and hung with old tapestries. And it was here with old tapestries. Here is a simple, unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water, make enough paste to cover the hairy surface: apply, and in about two minutes rub off, wash the skin, and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment, be sure to get the delatone in an original package, and mix fresh as wanted—Advt.

Blackheads Go Quick

By This Simple Method By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.—Advt.

WARNING

You who use Palmolive Soap use it for beauty's sake. Be careful that you get it. There are many soaps made to deceive you. They imitate the shape and color. Names are coined to sound like Palmolive. Numerous soaps—some of them wretched soaps—are put in this guise to mislead you:

Our interests do not matter, but yours do. Your demand is for Palmolive, because of what it does. You are seeking certain proved results. And you are cheated when you get a soap which can't bring those results.

Palmolive Soap has world-wide fame because it aids complexions.

The envied results, seen everywhere, have won millions of people to it. Thus Palmolive became the world's leading toilet soap. Not merely because of olive oil—that's ages old. Not merely because of palm oil—Cleopatra used that. But because our experts found a way to give those oils unique efficiency in soap.

It is Palmolive Soap that has won beauty lovers as no other soap ever did. It is the Palmolive blend—based on. 60 years of study—that brings those desired results. It is Palmolive which, by enormous production, gives you a 25-cent quality for 10 cents.

That is what won you—that is what you want. A commonplace soap without those virtues will not suit or serve you. Then be careful. Note the name carefully. Be sure you get the wrapper shown below. Don't let anybody cheat you on a thing that means so much.

TO START BREAK AT N. Y. MARKET

Professional Raid Fails After Forcing U. S. Steel Common Down Slightly.

STOCKS RECOVER

Announcement Made of Deal Between California Petroleum and Standard Oil.

By STUART P. WEST.

Special to The Advertiser. Wall Street, New York, July 17 .-The day on the stock exchange began what appeared to be a professional raid, designed to test out how the market would stand up again the radical victory in Minnesota and the pessimistic expressions regarding the outcome of the reparations discussions One or two large blocks of U. S. Steel common were offered, forcing the stock below 90 again, where it was within a half point of its extreme low for the year. This manoeuvre, if it was intended to shake confidence in the general list and re-start liquidation, was not successful.

Followed Steel Common.

More sensitive industrials like Baldwin Locomotive, Bethlehem Steel, American Locomotive and Corn Products followed steel common down a point, then the selling stopped and there was an irregular recovery.

Such losses as occurred in the first hour or so inmost stocks were of little consequence. The afternoon found prices drifting aimlessly with no positive tendency one way or the other. Profit-taking by those who had bought on knowledge of the dividend increase had an adverse effect upon Continental Can.

Harvester and mail order stocks were offered down on the argument that the low wheat prices would affect the demand fro what these companies have to sell, in as much as low wheat prices are favorable to the biscuit manufacturers. There was some quiet buying of National Biscuit at a slight advance. Further covering occurred in the sugar stocks, but later on these gains were lost. Within the last day or so refiners have been doing considerably increased business and this has been reflected in higher prices for the refined sugar and freer buying of raw sugar. The long expected announcement was made regarding the deal between California Petroleum and Standard Oil of N. J. The latter is to take a million barrels monthly from the former for three years. The amount to be paid will depend upon current quotations on the eastern seaboard.

California Petroleum stock was moderately responsive to the news. Other oils were dull and only slightly changed. No Longer Attentive, Bearish advices regarding automobile and related stocks came from Boston from a well-known "advisory agency." Recollecting the miscalculations which the same "authority" made in its suggestions earlier in the year, the street is no longer so attentive. Instead of there being a flood of selling in the motor stocks, some moved in a counter direction. Hudson soil above 24. General Motors ran up across 13.

Motor parts stocks were steady with some demand for Stewart-Warner. Harvester and mail order stocks were

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 17.—The main features of the annual report of J. H. Rainville, president of Argonaut Gold, Limited, presented at the annual meeting of the shareholders this afternoon, were the rich quality of the new ore body, found at the 500-foot level and the fact that the company has entered upon its productive career with a clean balance sheet so far as obligations to the public are concerned.

Since the last annual meeting the shareholders authorized an increase in the capital stock from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000, and as a result the management has been able to clean up all construction and development accounts as well as general expenses and leave sufficient in the treasury to carry through to the stage where the property will be self-supporting.

With regard to the development work underground the most interesting features have been the work on the 500-foot level, where the new ore body foot level, where the new ore body foot level, where the new ore body to the ton.

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Winnipeg
Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, July 16.—With the trade fairly large and the general sentiment extremely bearish, new low levels were reached on the wheat market here today, the new crop futures being relatively weaker than the July position. Lower values are anticipated.
During the early part of the session there was a little export buying, suggesting some business over the weekend, but generally the demand is slow and in small quantities. The closer ranged from 1%c to 1%c lower, with October leading the decline.

The coarse grains and flax reflected the weakness in wheat, and values were generally fractionally lower. October flax registered the heaviest loss, closing 2%c lower than Saturday. Trading is limited, and supplies are secured without forcing prices.

The cash wheat market was weak again today. All Canadian track grades

Although appearing in the juvenile court but a short time ago, charged with stealing bicycles, a youngster of this city has not learned his lesson and yesterday went in for bigger game when he stole the Ford coupe of W. This was decided in the police court at Windsor yesterday, when Magistrate Gundy gave judgment in favor of a man charged with violating the O. T. A. by selling beer of more than the prescribed alcoholic content.

Expert testimony was called by the defence, which showed that beer if left alone in the heat, can develop a kick of sufficient strength to make it seem like the real old stuff that used to sell for a nickel a schooner.

CAME OUT TO THE FARM, NO ADVANCE REPORTS NOW GOES TO FACTORY

City Bright Lights Lure Workers From Pastures Green, and Farmers Suffer.

Is the provincial immigration polwho come out from the old land for farm work remain in that capacity for any reasonable length of time? These are questions with many and varied answers, no doubt, but there was one husky young gentleman in a local barber shop who announced quite frankly that although he had come out but three months ago for agricultural endeavor, he was now "off to Windsor to get $5 a day in a

The party in question explained that he had been engaged recently in the Byron area. The conditions were good, he admitted, and the country good, he admitted, and the country beautiful, but his partner (who evidently came over at the same time)

"I know that there have already een reports as to what will probably be recommended, but these reports doubt are opinions expressed freely by members of the council who do not know whereof they speak, as no reports have been issued, or instance. Mrs. Turner's duties have been practically those of assistant tax colector, and the city treasurer expect that whoever is chosen for the position will be designated as such or the city payroll. This is another item of consideraion for the aldermen when they next discuss city salaries.

Admits He Is One of the Men of Whom Mayor Complains.

Mayor Wenige needn't bother naming any of the so-called "obstructionists" in the city council. Ald. Wilson gave The Advertiser assurance today that he was one who could undertake that task to a nicety.
"He needn't bother at all," declared Ald. Wilson. "I'll name the obstructors. I'm one of them, and if any person wants to know definitely to the others are I'll tell them."
'Who are they then?" he was ask-

CHANGE PICNIC DATE FOR IRISH SOCIETY

Date First Chosen Conflicted With London's Dollar Day.

The Irish Beevolent Society will hold its annual picnic at Port Stanley n Wednesday, Aug. 22, instead of on Thursday, August 23, as had been previously arranged. The latter day had been previously chosen by London merchants as the annual Dollar Day, and it is for this reason that the date has been changed. Necessary arrangements for the change have been already made with L. and

P. S. R. officials.

The committee have arranged for a monster banquet in the L. & P. S. Cafteria at night. First-class speakare to be guest of honor. It is ers are to be guest of honor. It is expected that the premier, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Hon. Manning Do-herty, minister of agriculture, and Arthur Maguire, mayor of Toronto, will be among those invited.

During July tourists from all over Canada and the United States have been passing through London. Alhough no official record is kept of the exact number of tourists that call at the London Motor Club, the which no one could say was not satisfactory.

Under the benevolent heat of the sun, temperance beer of less than two per cent becomes as good beer of anywhere from four to seven per centum proof spiritis.

This was decided in the police court at Windsor yesterday, when be well pleased with the accomn dation afforded them at the tourists camp on the Pipe Line road, and many of them have expressed the opinion that it is one of the prettiest spots in Ontario, and excellently situated for a tourists' camp.

London probably receives more of the American tourist traffic than other cities, because of its central ocation, and the many attraction that are afforded the visiting motorists.

The tourists' camp is becoming well known, and several motorists from Indianapolis, who were in the city yesterday, asked to be directed to the camp, having heard of it from other tourists who have passed through here. Port Stanley, too, is becoming known among motoring people. Many express the desire to visit the lakeside, and according to the secretary of the London Motor Club, all tourists who have visited our summer resort have returned glad that they have had an opportunity of seeing the Erie lakeside and our miniature Coney Island.

"Reducing" Was Right.

HELLO M'DEAR, I'M REDUCING -

WANT AD TIPS

The Appeal of Odd Cents and Odd Dollars

An authenticated case exists of an advertiser who ra duced his price three cents, from $2 to $1.97, and doubled his orders. "Even" prices in hundreds of newspaper advertisements and mail order catalogs are almost as rare as purple cows. And automobile manufacturers recognize the hidden principle here, too-they don't quote even hundreds. Look up the latest Ford price.

'Advertisers have found that in selling goods to per interested in price (not, that is, to a clientele thinking in only of quality), an odd price seems much smaller to the public than an even-dollar price. Four dollars and ninety-five cents is only five cents less than $5, but to the public it seems much smaller than $5. Ninetynine dollars seems much lower than $100. This condition applies so universally that hundreds of display advertisers have a rule in advertising against even prices. They know that the odd-dollars or odd-cents price will sell more goods out of all proportion to the small difference.

There is an interesting psychological illusion involved. When the average person views a figure the first digit makes the greatest impression on him because it has the greatest significance. In the number, $4.98, the 4 has to do with hundreds, whereas the 9 has to do with tens and the 5 with ones. The digit 4, consequently, naturally makes by far the greatest impression.

In cold business, one should react to the difference between $5 and $4.98, which is only 2 cents. What happens, however, is that we react mostly to the difference in the first digits, which is a matter of $1 and of considerable moment. Odd-dollars and odd-cents prices carry also the suggestion of the price cut, which pleases many people. Prices are not always quoted in Want Ads, but it is often desirable to quote them. And if they are not quoted in the ad, the advertiser must quote them to the inquirer. The foregoing "number magic," heeded by so many display advertisers, is valuable, too, for the Want Ad user.

There Is Lasting Quality In Artificial Ice

It wasn't frozen down the river last winter and stored in a shed to wait your need.

It was frozen a few hours ago in Arctic temperature from London's pure spring drinking water. It reaches you in big, full-weight, hard, crystal slabs; not in any doubtful, haphazard piece, but sawed to size to guarantee you all you pay for.

Artificial Ice makes no excuses about meltage during delivery.

You will relish its purity in your refrigerator with your food.
