ONTARIO VOTERS GATHER IN GREAT NUMBERS TO VOICE OPINIONS ON TEMPERANCE ACT; HEAVY VOTING BEING REGISTERED IN LONDON

Thousands of Provincial Voters Have Cast Ballots in Plebiscite.

BOTH SIDES ACTIVE

Rural Communities Recording Full Vote Under Ideal Weather Conditions.

Canadian Press Despatch Toronto Oct. 23.-Reports from Cntario ridings, Toronto and west, indicated at noon today that a heavy vote is being polled in the liquor plebiscite. In Toronto and its suburbs ballotting has gone forward since the polls opened without a moment's cessation. A long line-up awaited the opening, and queues were the common thing throughout the The biggest vote in the history of Toronto is probable.

Betting on the result in Toronto brought out odds as high as five to one against a dry majority. At the stockyards stockmen from the country were offering odds in favor of the Ontario temperance act.

In nearly 7,500 polling stations, in 107 provincial ridings, from Windsor on the international boundary to the trading posts of Northern Ontario, cial government auspices to decide whether the Ontario temperance act of 1916, restricting the legal sale of liquor to homeopathic quantities on physicians' prescriptions, shall survive, or whether it shall give place to comparatively open sale at gov

Weather Conditions Ideal.

It is the first time that a vote has been taken in Ontario in five years on the continuance of the Ontario temperance act, and for the first time ballot papers ask for a simple vote on the question. For these reasons supporters of the Moderation league hope for a favorable vote in spite of the fact that sentiment was overwhelmingly for prohibition in the last two ballots taken in the province. Indications are that weather co ditions are ideal in most districts. In the Toronto district the day is fine and sunny; roads through the rural districts are in good shape and

The tremendous interest taken by women in today's vote is bound to influence the result if it does not decide it. Not only have women registered everywhere their determination to vote, but women scrutineers and even women returning officers have entered the field. ### LEGAL RECIPROCITY CALLED POSSIBLE

International Efforts Made To Indemnify Canadian Motorists in Tourist Crashes.

PROBLEM PUZZLES

An international effort will soon be made to provide improved legal machinery to indemnify Canadian motorists following crashes between Canadian and American cars in Canadian territory. The secretary of the London motor club points out that if a native of Ontario gets into a smash with an American car, he has no legal redress unless the car from the U. S. is caught before it reaches the border.

"Because of this unfair position," he says, "the Ontario motor league, in the persons of Oliver Hezzlewood. notorists following crashes between in the persons of Oliver Hezzlewood, past president, and W. G. Robertson, introduced the question at the recen annual convention of the New York tate automobile association. Through their efforts it was decided to refer the matter to the American automobile association, with an urgent rec ommendation that it do all in its power to co-operate with the Ontario motor league in finding a solution for the problem.

Compulsory Insurance. Compulsory insurance was suggested, but discarded on the ground that recovery of damages would be difficult in cases where tourists from a distance were insured in local companies. Another suggestion was that the Ontario government compel every motorist entering the province to take out a bond or make a sub-stantial cash deposit to insure the indemnification of anyone hurt in an accident. This also was turned down, the reason being that with American tourist traffic forming such a large part of the revenue of the province, it would be an impolitic move and not producive of the results desired. Teh tourist traffic at the present moment ranks third among all sources of provincial in-

A proposal made by Mr. Robertson which met with general approval was that the tourist, in the event of accident, should be compelled to pro ceed to the nearest magistrate, and allowde to depart only after he had convinced him that he was not guilty or had left a satisfactory guarantee

Position of Americans.

The position taken by the Americans is shown in a letter from John R. Hope, assistant general manager of the American automobile association. tion, to Mr. Robertson a few days days ago. In this he quotes American law on the recovery of damages as follows:

Suit must be filed by the plaintiff in the place of permanent residence of the defendant. In other words the Massachusetts motorist would have to file suit against the Californian in California, and of course the same thing would apply in

Mr. Hope suggests a legal reciprocity between all motor clubs on the continent, so that motorists could file suits through the club attorney of the club of which the defendant was a member. The guesale letchewe (a species of antelope). six ant-eaters, and a Brazilian anaconda thirteen feet long.

Shall She Park Baby and Go Out With Her Husband or Devote Her Evenings to Her Child? Shall She Marry Her Mother's Choice or Her Own?

Dear Dorothy Dix-My husband seems to need entertainment and amusement constantly. We are good pals and enjoy the same things, therefore he always wants me with him, and gets peeved if I refuse to go. I appreciate having a man who enjoys taking me out, but the trouble is that when we go we always have to park the baby somewhere.

What I want to know is: Should I refuse to go and let him go alone if he wishes and stay with the baby, or should I leave the baby, who is always in good hands, to accompany him? I am between two fires-my desire to be a buddy to my husband, and to do justice to our three-year-old and the people who are so wonderful about taking care of her.

MODERN PAL AND MOTHER.

Go with your husband every time. You can hire some safe and reliable woman to take care of the baby, but there is no safe and reliable women you can get to look after your husband.

A man who is of a gay and pleasure-loving disposition is just bound to have some woman to play around with, and if you refuse to be his playmate you may be certain that he will find some other woman who will. If you refuse to go with him for a few evenings, while you sit at home and watch the baby sleep, he will find out that he can do quite nicely without you and you will be left undisturbed in the nursery. Many a wife loses out because she refuses to pal with her husband. She doesn't want to do the things he does, and she either won't go along with him or, when she does go, she is a spoil-sport who interrupts the most hilarious joke at a vaudeville show to wonder if the nurse has forgotten to warm the baby's milk or who ruins the flavor of a supper at a restaurant by complaining about the price of everything.

These women forget that the people that we love most, the people who are bound closest to us, are not those to whom we do a duty, not those with whom we work, but they are those with whom we play, those who enjoy the same things we-do and with whom we have a thousand joyous memories in common. I grant that it may not always be convenient for a woman to step out with her husband. His tastes may not always be her tastes. There may be a thousand times when she would rather sit at home and darn socks or read a novel than to grab her hat and go with him. But the point is that if she wants to keep her husband she has to keep up with him. It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us. And it is much safer to park out the baby than it is DOROTHY DIX. to park out a husband.

Dear Dorothy Dix-If I marry George I feel I am doing wrong toward my mother, as it would be against her wishes, although she knows nothing against this young man. But she has set her mind upon my marrying Frank, who is twenty years my senior, but who has a little money, which seems very appealing to mother. Mother is a widow and, in a way depends on me. Therefore I may be in duty bound to sacrifice my love and my own happiness for my mother's happiness.

Never. No mother in the world has a right to sell her daughter in marriage to gain ease and comfort for herself, or to force her daughter into an uncongenial marriage to gratify her own preference as to a son-in-law. And no girl is called upon to make a living sacrifice of herself to her mother. It is selfish and wicked of the mother to ask it, and it is foolish and weak of the girl to do it. And no good ever comes of it.

If a mother absolutely knows that the man her daughter is thinking of marrying is dissolute and immoral, or drunken, or lazy and worthless, she is right to move heaven and earth to keep the girl from wrecking her life by marrying him. But, absolutely, that is as far as parental interference should go in a match.

The mere fact that mother doesn't care for the color of the man's eyes or hair, or the business he follows, or the church he belongs to, or the

The mere fact that mother doesn't care for the color of the man's eyes or hair, or the business he follows, or the church he belongs to, or the family he comes from, and that she does prefer some other youth whose mother she knew, or who has an automobile, or who goes to her church, gives her no authority to coerce the girl into breaking off with the one and marrying the other.

It is the girl who has to live with the man she marries, and not mother. Therefore, the girl has a right to pick the man out and select him according to her own tastes and instincts, for marriage or wife.

Nor is mother's judgment infallible in husbands. I have seen mothers make their daughters marry men by cause the men were rich, and in ten years I have seen the money gone and the man reduced to poverty, and his wife without either love or money. And I have seen mothers refuse to let their daughters marry boys who were not in their social caste, and I have seen they seen they seem boys rise to power, and place, and wealth.

But Asad did not respond. He sat there in a gloomy abstraction, staring straight before him. At last he sighed wearily. He was just, and he had a conscience, as odd a thing as it was awkward in a corsair Basha.

"In what hath befallen," he answered moodily, "there is naught to justify me in casting aside the stoutest soldier of Islam. My duty to Allah will not suffer it."

"Yet have I do and how to do it.

LONDON GRIDDERS RUN UP 17-5 SCORE ON O.A.C. TEAM

Western Stages Great Comeback After Trailing in First Half.

TWO FIELD GOALS

Guelph, Oct. 22 .- Well in the lead at the end of the first half the O. A. C squad of stalwarts failed to hold Fickley's crowd from Western U, in the third quarter and, dropping far behind, quarter and, dropping far behind, emerged after the dust of the battle had cleared, trimmed by a score of 17 to 5. The college crew were without the services of three of their best men in Silcox, Lewis and Richardson, but despite this heavy handicap they gave the Londoners a real battle.

The weak point of the Aggies was their half line, which failed dismally in repeated attempts to make successful ruxs. On the other hand the strongest point of the Western students' entire squad was their snappy backfield, which did sterling work in all quarters. Warren treated the Western fans to a real exhibition of punting and running throughout and Maxwell, his side-kick, turned in an excellent game.

David, the most outstanding of the "Fighting Shades," will meet Bob Sage in Detroit tomorrow night. Dave Shade is one of the greatest boxers in the country today. He can make the welterweight limit but boxes middleweights because he can't find enough to do in the 147-pound division.

Dave is universally considered as Mickey Walker's foremost contender. Walker has been suspended by the New York boxing commish for refusing to meet Shade. Dave is more than an ordinary puncher and much more than an ordinary boxer. He is the only man who ever knocked out Pinkle Wilchell. Pinkle went out in the fourth round. Dave has beaten Mickie Walker, Billy Wells, Morrie Schlaiffer, Jimmy Jones, Georgie Ward and many other high class boys.

New York, Oct. 22.—Little will be left of the St. Paul team, winner of the American association pennant in 1924 and of the Class AA series with Baltimore, when the majors get through with it.

and of the Class AA series with Baltimore, when the majors get through with it.

Christensen, an outfielder, who has been with St. Paul for two years may be lost by transfer. Neun, first baseman, goes to Detroit, and the Tigers must stick to him this time because he has been sent to the minors twice and under the rules cannot be put out on option again. Dressen will go to Cincinnati as third baseman.

Lee, the hard-hitting St. Paul outfielder, will go to Cleveland via the draft route. Roettger, the pitcher, reverts to the New York Yankees, who placed him in St. Paul when they made their deal for Markle.

Other St. Paul players may be lost, too when the majors get through looking them over. But probably that will not bother the club much since this year's American association champions appear to have a management with the faculty of taking hold of nothing and converting it into substance.

Last winter at the meeting of the minors, which was held in Chicago, St. Paul was complaining of the little hope it had of winning anything in the American association. Nick Allen was made manager, and he had nothing much to work on except two or three players and a lot of promises. At least that was the report given out. But he finished the season by bagging the championship in a hot race. He certainly seems to have a good chance to build up from nothing again next spring.

Groves, their prime southpaw, has gone to the Athletics, and before the next season begins there are likely to be other vacancles in the line including one at shortstop. ENDING NOWHERE!" The Western terminus of Canada's first great railway was a clearing in the forest. Victoria hardly more than a village. British Columbia a mining colony of a few thousand people.

Wise heads nodded grave concern over the "2,500 miles of rails ending nowhere.'

Yet the men who built the Canadian Pacific, then the world's longest railroad, saw what all see now not only a road to Vancouver, but a highway through Canada to

On this highway, at the Western gateway, two great cities rear their heads. Great they are, and growing greater. They typify the wealth of a wealthy Province. But their position on the Pacific links them directly with the nation's commerce and brings them within the greater circle of world

Ending nowhere! From this unknown port last year fiftyseven million bushels of wheat were loaded in ships for the world markets. Two hundred and ninety million feet of lumber were exported. A dozen cities and towns have sprung into being to turn British Columbia's resources into wealth, and to augment the traffic that passes in and out of the Great Western Ports.

Nowhere, indeed! Forty short years have placed Vancouver and Victoria in a commanding position on the international and national charts of trade.

If Canada is going to establish a cattle trade with Britain it must be on the basis of the greatest possible profit for the cattle-raisers. It is not sufficient that there be favorable rates to binations of rate fixers there that charge more for their service than it is worth.

If Mr. Preston has the facts—and he has been long enough in public life to know facts when he sees them-the plain duty of the dominion authorities is to go the limit. If it is not possible to get fair treatment from existing companies, then use some of the government merchant marine vessels and go into the business.

There is not a man in the world today whose every movement is so thoroughly scrutinized and as widely published as those of the Prince of Wales. The average man may look on at times and remark that Wales is getting all the publicity, but how many men would want to go through the same performance? Would Mr. Average Citizen like to be trailed by reporters and photographers all day and into the night? There might be a novelty in it for the first day, and a man who was a glutton for publicity might relish it for a week. But when the same thing was repeated each place he went, when his every meve was chalked down and published, how long could Mr. Average Citizen stand it? And a little farther-let the average man look over his record for a year, and say if he would be prepared to have the light of the printed page turned on his every act.

Small Stuff For a Big City.

An O. T. A. supporter started to deliver an and Spadina avenue. He attracted a crowd and ford, secretary of the Neighborhood Association assorted collection of tomatoes, eggs and apples.

Apparently Toronto has an element that is small in its capacity to realize what free speech duced a "comrade" from Germany. Before he in the issue. spoke the man introducing him called for three cheers for the land he came from-Germany. A policeman stood there and paid no heed to the cheers, neither to the speech that followed.

Yet in Toronto a man was pelted with tomatoes and eggs because he dared speak on a street corner in regard to a legitimate matter on which the people were being asked to vote with a full knowledge of the facts.

Save On Coal-Spend On Paint.

Alderman Greer, chairman of No. 2 committee | bolster up his winter hut. f London city council, has made the startling discovery that nearly $500 has been saved on the city hall coal account.

So the suggestion comes that the place be painted. Five hundred dollars worth of paint on those civic premises would make them sparkle like the twinkle in a glass eye.

Or why not put it away as an endowment fund for a new city hall-in 100 years from now it would amount to quite a substantial sum.

Weather Prophet

Old Rain Face makes his yearly call to tell us of the things he's saw, and how the winter's goin' to lie, and when it's goin' to freeze or thaw. He says as how he watched a squirrel a-sittin' by a hickory tree, and how he loafed upon the

this that Christmas time would be a thaw. Old Rain Face, too, had saw a coon, and heard him whistle in the breeze, deductin' from the way he sang in April things would start to freeze.

And one day, too, he watched the birds decidin' on which way they'd go, he reckoned when he saw them off that in December we'd have snow. He spied upon a groundhog too, he says in their eye he thinks in April we'll have rain. Old Rain Face comes around each year to say what comin' days will be, he makin' up his mind ily in United States; they are taking no chances on such by scratchin' bark from off a tree, by self-restraint makes for long life and a general on a political roorback. So I've most brought my mind to think that frozen whiskers on our chin.

But still if Rain Face seems to feel that he's a weather prophet here, why should I try to son darken his doors, but he didn't. So let him squint upon the squirrel, make faces Alfred for running off and marrying without at the groundhog too, and from these things pass money, when I did the same thing myself? It Is the Teacher That Counts. "We must remember that it is the teacher and not the school that counts. We can never get school buildings but what we will need the buildings but what we will need the finest human direction we have ever had. It is a mistake to build a school at every child's door. There is a real danger of children not valuing things so easily given them. I would like to warn those who are inclined to make education too much of a gift that there needs to be in the child a that there needs to be in the child a definite awakening of body, mind and soul to the real value of what is be-

Arnprior, Ontario .- "I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn' seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods. I would sometimes pass three months, and when it came it would last around two weeks, and I would have such pains at times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 19 years of age and weigh 118 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 108 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of ny friends told me about Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss HAZEL BERNDT, Box 700,

CHICAGO

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 23.—Reports of rains in Argentina pulled down the price of wheat today as soon as trading began. Lower quotations at Liverpool tended to emphasize the weakness of the market in Chicago.—Despite assertions that part of the Argentina drought damage was irreparable, and that Argentina this season might yet parallel the experience of Canada buying support failed to evelop until values showed a decided general settle to 2½c lower, was followed by only slight railies.
Corn and oat prices dropped with the wheat. After opening at 5%c to 1%c Corn and oat prices dropped with wheat. After opening at 5% to 1% c lower, corn continued weak.

Motorists Were Held at Sarnia When Auto Found To Contain Wet Goods.

PAYS $300 FINE

Special to The Advertiser Sarnia, Oct. 22.—County Magistrate C. S. Woodrow this afternoon handed down a written verdict dismissing the charge of selling liquor made against Samuel Sorrel and John Welch of Detroit, who were arrested when their automobile, standing beside a river zow at Port Lambton, was found to tain twenty cases of whiskey.
The defence at the hearing yesterday produced customs clearance papers and claimed the liquor was for export to Marine City. The magistrate said the decision might have been different had the automobile been on a public highway and going from the direction of Marine City, but at the time of selzure it was on land leased by the Carling Brewery Company of London and the liquor might conceivably have been exported to Marine City via automobile ferry. The car and its contents were ordered returned to their owners.

Four Counties Organize For Mutual Benefit and Advancement.

Special to The Advertiser. Woodstock, Oct. 22.-Sunday school workers from the Anglican churches of Brant, Waterloo, Norfolk and Oxford counties met today in new St. Paul's Anglican church here in the first convention of its kind, and decided on a permanent organization to co-ordinate the activities of the schools. About 400 delegates were in attendance. It was decided to hold the annual event next year in the Trinity church, Galt.

Rev. Canon Appleyard, rector of St. Paul's church, presided and welcomed the delegates. Addresses on Sunday school work were given at the afternoon and morning sessions by Rev. M. Rogers, Toronto, Rev. J. D. Cornish, Port Dover, and Rev. W. L. Armitage of London.

The session this evening was open to the public and the address was given by Rev. S. Silcox, principal of Stratford normal school, who spoke on "Young People in the Church." Archdeacon Fotheringham of Brantford gave an inspirational discourse Officers are: President, Rev Canon Snelgrove, Galt; vice-presidents, Rev. J. D. Cornish, Port Dover, and Rev. C. E. Jeakins, Brantford; secretary-treasurer, Rev. F. G. Rickard, Waterford. These officers will select four laymen to act on the executive committee.

The exhibit of eggs from Oxford county entered in the national dairy show at London, England, for competition in the colonial class, did not take first prize, as was the case last year, according to cable reports received here, which also state that South Africa was awarded first place. Sergt. Turner of Stratford captured the highest number of prizes at the Woodstock poultry show which is now in progress. He had the largest entry and almost made a clean sweep in the class for pigeons. Over 169 entries had to be refused, as there was not accommodation for more than 600 birds. S. A. Gibson & Son of Ingersoll were prominent with their silkies, while W. Montgomery, B. Galloway, Ingersoll, R. Harvey, Henderson & Son were also to the front.

Being the last chance of a declaration before the polls opened this morning, a general appeal was made on behalf of the cause of temperance and the O. T. A. In many cases it was stated to be a Christian duty to support a law which, whatever its weaknesses might be, was at least a step in the direction of more clothes and food and comfort for the homes of Ontario.

MILLIONAIRES LIVE IN ARTISANS' HOUSES

Municipal-Owned Dwellings Built For Workers Occupied by Rich.

Canadian Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 22. — The Glasgow ousing committee is circularizing the tenants of municipally-owned houses with a view to ascertaining the truth or otherwise of the asser-tion that many of the tenants are in receipt of salaries of from £1,000 to £1,500 a year.

The convener of the committee states that the houses in question are intended for artisans, not millionaires. He says the council will refuse to re-let the dwellings if the assertions as to the tenants' salaries prove to be true.

In connection with the matter it is pointed out that permission has been granted to sixty tenants of the mu-nicipal residences to erect motor car and motorcycle garages in their gar-
