She stands down looking on the sparkling tide
Of the bright river, half in bashful fear,
Half bounding joy to find herself a bride;
Her blue eyes glistening with an infant tear,
Her lips apart,
Her colour raised—and you may almost hear,
Her beating heart.

He sits beside the river's bank; his eyes
Upturned to her sweet face, with looks so full
Of admiration, as if Earth supplies
To him no object half so beautiful;
One ringlet fair
Has left its sister curls, and nestling lies
In his dark hair.

It is the twilight of a summer eve;
A crimson flush just tips the western trees,
As though the lingering sunbeams sighed to leave
That loving couple fair, sweetening the breeze
With honey words,
'Mid flowers and tipping streams, low-humming
bees,
And singing birds.

MAN'S LOVE.

BY MISS MARY ANN BROWN.
When women's eyes grow dull,
And her cheek paleth,
When fades the beautiful,
Then men's love fadeeth;
He sits not beside her chair,
Clasps not her fingers,
Twines not the damp hair,
That o'er her brow lingers.

He comes but a moment in,
Though her eye lightens,
Though her cheek, pale and thin,
Feverishly brightens;
He stays but a moment near,
Heeds not that flush fadeeth,
Though true affections tear
Her soft eyelid shadeeth.

He goes from his chamber straight
Into life's jostle,
He meets at the very gate
Business and bustle!
He thinks not of her within,
Slightly sighing,
He forgets in that noisy din
That she is dying.

And when her young heart is still
What thought he mourneth,
Soon from his sorrow chill,
Wearied he turneth,
Soon o'er her buried head,
Memory's light setteth,
And the true hearted dead,
Thus man forgetteth!

A STORY OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

"Till then I banish thee, on pain of death!"
King Henry IV.

Continued.

Sometimes, during the day, the bold bulwark of St. George, by various manoeuvres, contrived to draw upon the democratic citizen; but the French captain was a seaman, and by cutting away his anchors, and retreating his ship, was again enabled to walk ahead; and as they were not within reach of shot, no actual hostility had occurred. Anxious and earnest were the gazers during the white of that night; and though sometimes, when a haze was on the horizon, it was hoped by the French captain that he had escaped from his pursuer, yet no sooner did the mistiness evaporate into thin air, than the indefatigable and watchful enemy was once more visible, and carrying on to come up with the chase. During the darkness, the British frigate had thrown up rockets, burnt blue lights, and fired guns, to attract the attention of any friendly cruiser; and when daylight again dawned upon the waters, another large frigate was seen nearly abreast of the Frenchman, and about two miles distant. At first she was standing towards the republican, but the superior sailing of the latter plainly evidenced that there was no chance of nearing the French ship; but by running on a parallel line, and occasionally hauling up, for the Englishman was to leeward. An engagement now appeared inevitable; but the French captain dexterously avoided it, by changing his course two points to windward; and though a few shots were exchanged, yet but trifling injury was done on either side. For four days and three nights did this chase continue; and the French frigate would catch the breeze and again outsail them. The fourth night a heavy gale of wind came on, that continued for nearly a week. The furious elements, though they did not calm the passion of the hostile parties towards each other, yet drew all their attention to their own peculiar safety, and the ships parted to meet no more.

Nothing scarcely could exceed the horrible situation of the state-prisoners during the storm. From their countrymen they suffered the utmost indignity and inhumanity. Several of them perished in that loathsome and pestilential hold; and eight or ten having held a solemn council, frenziedly determined on self-destruction.

At length the frigate arrived at Cayenne. The appearance of the island in its rich fertility was beautiful, and the verdure presented a graceful spectacle to the eyes of the wretched captives. But on landing, the intense heat of the climate almost overpowered them, and sickly apprehension aided the attacks of fever fast speedily diminished their numbers. They were placed in a coarce logie as a temporary prison, and provisions of the worst quality were served out to them in very scanty allowances, and they were kept under extremely rigid restrictions.

Pierre Michaud, although the bitterest arguer against him when he thought of his home and his wife, yet struggled with his affections, and like many others determined on attempting to escape. It is true that several had lost their lives in their endeavours to reach Surinam or Berbice, or to penetrate into the interior to the Spanish settlements of Paraguay. Some, in fact, after almost incredible hardships, succeeded in getting to Pernambuco. Michaud at length was enabled, through the generous aid of a Swedish gentleman, a planter, who was about to embark in an American brig for the purpose of conducting a sick wife to Europe, to obtain concealment in the same vessel. The brig was bound to Gottenburgh; and oh! the delight that swelled in the heart of the banished man when they gained the mouth of the river, and were rapidly running off from the land.

The very air, as it came laden with perfumes from the orange blossoms, was now the breath of liberty to him, and hope resumed its wonted hold upon his mind; he was free, free, and he felt in his whole frame the expansive powers with which emancipation had blessed him.

"Oh, best liberty! it is thou alone
That gives to fleeting life its sweetness and perfume,
And we are slaves without it."

The winds were fair, and the weather favourable, and the captain promised a speedy passage. Monsieur Bertholton had laid in his own provisions for himself, his wife, his daughter, and his friend; and trusting to the assurance of the captain who was poorly supplied, they lived merrily and unsparingly upon their stock, which was daily decreasing. It was the month of December when the brig neared the British isles, intending to run through the English Channel. But northerly gales set in; the cold became piercing; and, to their dismay, they discovered that there was even, upon the most economical scale, not more than a week's victuals remaining, and a very scanty supply of water. Day after day passed on, and still those hard-hearted winds prevailed. Gradually the food disappeared, till their only nourishment consisted of a single biscuit, about a quarter of a pound of salt, and one glass of water for twenty-four hours. The sails were several of them split; the brig being deep in water, the sea broke over her, and at length she became leaky, so as to keep the half-famished and nearly worn-out crew incessantly at the pumps. But the thrilling dread of starvation overcame the horrors of prospective shipwreck; scarcely a morsel of nourishment was left; the water, except a very small portion, which, to the eternal honour of the seamen, was preserved for the females, was gone, and death stared them in the face with that gaunt and terrifying look which ravenous hunger and parching thirst create. The captain of the brig proved inadequate to his duty; by his soundings he discovered that he was considerably out of his longitude; and when emergency demanded his prompt activity and exertion, terror overcame him, and he shrunk back dismayed, confining himself to his cabin under pretence of illness, which, however, was not long before it came in reality.

It was a pitiable spectacle to witness the despairing countenances of those unhappy creatures, whose hollow cheeks soon betrayed the urgent wants of nature, and whose wretched eyes glared wildly upon each other as unbridled longings arose that made them sick to shuddering. Every means had been resorted to that human invention could suggest to prolong existence, but the last resource was failing. No vessel appeared in sight; as the gates of heaven seemed to be closed to their earnest supplications, and despair triumphed over even the consolations of religion. And there sat the father gazing with tender anxiety, waiting upon agony, at his wife and child, but with his tenderness there came also a mingling of ferocity that he could not subdue. The demon hunger was praying upon his vitals, and the corroding tooth of the monster poisoned the source of generous feelings. Madame Bertholton possessed a most kind and indulgent husband; disease had made her peevish, but impatience and repining were swallowed up in the prospect of the dreadful death which awaited them, and the affliction of the wife and the mother raised her above the ebullitions of corporal suffering. The incessant breaches made by the sea kept them constantly wet; their bedding, every thing was saturated with water; whilst to add to their misery they had seventeen hours of darkness to seven of light.

To be concluded in our next.

In the House of Commons on the 8th August, Captain Boldero gave notice that he should, next session, move for leave to bring in a bill to establish a system of Military Colonization in Canada, which should form a body to act against internal and external enemies.

AMERICAN INGENUITY IN EVADING THE LAW.
—The very first object of the Americans, after a law has been passed, is to find out how they can evade it. This exercises their ingenuity; and it is very amusing to observe how cleverly they sometimes manage it. At Baltimore, in consequence of the prevalence of the rabid phobia, the civic authorities passed a law that all dogs should be muzzled, or rather the terms were, "that all dogs should wear a muzzle," or the owner of a dog not wearing a muzzle should be brought up and fined; and the regulation further stated that any body convicted of having removed the muzzle from a dog should be severely fined. A man, therefore, taking a muzzle to his dog's tail, (the act not stating where the muzzle was to be placed.) One of the city officers, perceiving this dog with his muzzle at the wrong end, took possession of the dog, and brought it to the town-hall. Its master being well known, was summoned and appeared. He proved that he had complied with the act, in having fixed a muzzle on the dog, and further, the city officer having taken the muzzle off the dog's tail, he insisted that he should be fined five dollars for so doing.—Murray's Diary in America.

THE TRANSCRIPT.

QUEBEC, WEDNESDAY, 25th SEPT.

New-York papers of the evening of Thursday last, are without news of importance. The British Queen, at that time supposed to be out sixteen days from Portsmouth, had not made her appearance. It is very probable that the news by her will be received in the course of today by the steamer from Montreal, which will bring New-York papers of Friday and Saturday.

On Thursday morning, nothing had been done in the case of the Africans taken on board the Afrisatid, the attention of the court at Hartford being directed to other business. The trial of these brave and unfortunate men excites intense interest, and a number of the papers say—and we believe truly—that if a conviction for piracy and murder results from the trial, the United States will be impainted with an indelible disgrace.

The City of New-York, it would appear from the following paragraph, is now much nearer to Bristol, Liverpool, &c., in a commercial point of view, than to one of the cities of the Union:—

The Natchez Courier received in the regular course of the mail this morning, contains the account of the departure of the Great Western on her last trip to England. The G. W. herself has travelled to England and back again, in less time by a week than the news has gone thence to Natchez and returned.—N. Y. Com. Adv. 19th inst.

Extract from the Montreal Correspondence of the Gazette de Quebec:—

I have ascertained on good authority that the rumour respecting the enlargement of twenty or thirty of the political prisoners is founded on fact.

The prisoners from Upper Canada were expected to arrive in Montreal yesterday morning, and it was generally supposed that they would be put on board a steamer, without delay, in company with their fellows in iniquity convicted at Montreal, for conveyance on board Her Majesty's good ship Buffalo, bound to New-South Wales.

THE STEAMER CANADA.—We are happy to find that the repairs to this fine vessel are completed, and that she will, this day, resume her station on the line, after an absence from it of six weeks. She left the floating dock on Monday morning, and moored alongside the Queen's wharf. Having received a fresh coat of paint, &c. her appearance is now as fine as when first launched. "Richard's himself again."

COURT OF KING'S BENCH.

CRIMINAL TERM. Monday, 23rd Sept. The Hon. Chief Justice Stuart and Justices Cochran and Duval on the Bench. Mr. Henry Black appeared on behalf of the Crown, in the absence of the Solicitor General, who left for Montreal on Saturday evening. The Grand Jury brought in the following bills:— The Queen v. Joseph Aubin, stealing two lambs—true bill. Do. Louis Roy, stealing a cow—true bill. Joseph Aubin was arraigned, and pleaded guilty. The lambs stolen were the property of Mr. Hegin, of Pointe Levi. Louis Roy pleaded not guilty, and his trial was fixed for Wednesday (this day.) The court then adjourned to one o'clock. On the reassembling of the Court, the Grand Jury brought in the following bills:— The Queen v. Bridget McCormick, (wife of John Brady), Mary Brady, and Bridget Brady, arson—true bill against B. McGill, and B. B.; no bill against Mary Brady. The charge of arson in this case arises out of the burning of a dwelling-house belonging to John Brady, in the parish of St. Ambrose, on the 4th of August last. On being arraigned, the prisoners pleaded not guilty, and their trial was fixed for Tuesday, (yesterday) but did not then come on in consequence of the length to which the trial of Coates extended. The Grand Jury also brought in true bills against Mary Mahan, larceny; Sarah Mac-

Avully, grand larceny; Thomas Picard, stealing a cow; Edouard Mainville, stealing a mare.

Tuesday, 23rd Sept.

The Honbles. Justices Cochran and Duval on the Bench.

The case of the QUEEN vs WILLIAM COATES came on and was continued until 6 P. M. at which time the court adjourned, having previously given directions for the accommodation of the Jury at the City Hotel during the night. Notwithstanding that we have the whole of the report of the proceedings in type up to the adjournment, and which forms six columns of our paper, we have refrained from publishing it until the whole is finished, as we believe it is against the rules of the Court to publish any of the evidence until the Jury has rendered a verdict, or been discharged.

The circumstance stated above will, we trust, prove a sufficient excuse for the paucity of reading matter in this day's Transcript. In the event of the trial being concluded to-day, we will give our readers a very full report of the proceedings in our next number.

The indictment, which contains sixteen counts was read; it was varied as follows:—1st count charges the prisoner with having stolen, on 28th Feb. 1838, 228 $10; notes, 292 $2; 1370 $5; 1939 $10; 1928 $20; 205 $50; 176 $100—total $58,542—in a dwelling house belonging to Peter McGill and others, (Directors of the Bank of Montreal,) the said money being the property of Alex. Simpson, Esq.; 2nd in the dwelling house of Mr. Jas. Bolton; 3rd in the dwelling house of Alex. Simpson, Esq. and so on.

The following are the names of the Jury on Coates' case:—

It gives us much pleasure to find by an advertisement in this day's Transcript, that the St. George's Society propose proceeding in a body on Saturday next to see the painting of the Queen in the Picture Gallery. We trust that the request of the President for a full attendance will be unanimously complied with.

Table with columns: Net amount for Lower Canada after deducting reductions and position for Upper Canada, Expenditures, Gross amount received, Years. Rows for 1833, 1834, 1835, 1836, 1837, 1838.

NOTE.—The foregoing statement shows the amount of payments made during each of the years stated, but not the expenditure for those years respectively; as, in consequence of the regular supplies being withheld by the House of Assembly since 1832, the payments were made irregularly, as funds could be procured for the purpose.—On a calculation it appears that, deducting the expense of the Commission of Inquiry and of the Police in 1838, there will be found a mean expenditure of about £143,500 and this includes a sum of £14,251 paid, in the years 1833, -4, and 6, for wages to Members of the House of Assembly.

To the Editor of the Transcript. Sir—Having seen in the Mercury of yesterday evening, that the critique on the portraits of Queen Victoria has been attributed to individuals to their great annoyance; and to prevent a repetition of this, I beg to say I was the author of the paragraph in question. I remain, Sir, Your obt. servant, PETER DELCOUR.

MONSTER OF A MACKEREL.—On the 23rd of August last, as Robert Loggie and Alexander Mills, were engaged on Fox Island, in this River, fishing and curing salmon, they saw a large Fish coming in from sea, and supposing it to be a young whale they jumped into a canoe and pursued him. They wounded him several times with a harpoon, but not being able to hold him, he effected his escape. A short time after, they discovered him in their nets, and with much difficulty succeeded in bringing him to the shore. He proved to be a Mackerel. He was ten feet nine inches in length, six feet eleven inches in girth, three feet seven inches across the tail, and three feet from the nose to the gills. When salted, he filled two barrels and a half.

BALDNESS.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR is the grandest ornament belonging to the human frame. How strangely the loss of it changes the countenance, and prematurely brings on the appearance of old age, which causes many to recoil at being uncovered, and sometimes even shun society to avoid the jests and sneers of their acquaintances; the remainder of their lives consequently spent in retirement. In short, not even the loss of property fills the generous thinking youth with that heavy sinking gloom as does the loss of his hair. To avert all these unpleasant circumstances, OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA stops the hair from falling off on the first application and a few bottles restores it again. It likewise produces eyebrows and whiskers; prevents the hair from turning gray, makes it curl beautifully, and frees it from scurf. Numerous certificates of the first respectability in support of the virtues of Oldridge's Balm are shown by the proprietors. CAUTION. - Observe that each bottle of the genuine Balm has a splendid engraved wrapper, on which is represented the Falls of Niagara, the agent's name, &c. Sold wholesale and retail by J. J. SIMS, MUSSON & SAVAGE, BEGG & URQUHART.

W. COWAN & SON.

19th June.

The following article is warranted to cure PILES, RHEUMATISM, all SORES, &c. or no pay taken for it.

TO PHYSICIANS AND PATIENTS.—The Blind Piles, said to be incurable by external applications.—Solomon Hays warrants the contrary. His Liniment will cure Blind Piles. Facts are more stubborn than theories. He solicits all respectable Physicians to try upon their patients. It will do them no harm, and it is known that every Physician who has had the honesty to make the trial, has candidly admitted that it has succeeded in every case they have known. Then why not use it? It is the recipe of one of their most respectable members, now deceased. Why refuse to use it? Because it is sold as a proprietary medicine? Is this a sufficient excuse for suffering their honest patients to linger in distress? We think not. Physicians shall be convinced that there is no humbug or quackery about this article.—Why then not alleviate human suffering? If they want try it before, let them after all other prescriptions fail. Physicians are respectfully requested to do themselves and patients the justice to use this article. It shall be taken from the bottles, and done up as their prescription, if they desire.

SOLOMON HAYS.

PILES.—DROPSY, SWELLINGS, ALL SORES, RHEUMATISM.

It is absolutely asserted, on the most positive proof, that the above complaints are cured and cured by the timely use of Hays' Liniment. It is impossible to find room in this paper to present those proofs which are conclusive and convincing. They may be seen at length where it is sold.

GENERAL DUFF GREEN.

So well known as Editor of the late Washington Telegraph, is referred to for the truth of the following:—

General Green a few days since asserted in a public place, that he had used Hays' Liniment for the Piles, and that the effect was very astonishing, and that he felt it his duty to make known as far as in his power, to his suffering fellow men that such an extraordinary article was in existence.—He said he would cheerfully lend his name, and aid in extending its usefulness. This is but one of we may safely say hundreds who have given like testimony.

SOLOMON HAYS.

WONDERFUL!!

An Astonishing Fact!—Hays' Liniment has now been used in some thousand cases, and no failure can be found. It will cure every and all cases of Piles. No charge without success.—Apply at

JOHN MUSSON,
Agent for Quebec, and at Messrs. SIMS & BOWLES, BEGG & URQUHART.

Caution.—None can be genuine without the written signature of Comstock & Co.

LOOK OUT FOR IMPOSITION.

BEWARE! A base attempt has been made to imitate Hays' Liniment, and infringe upon the copy and other rights of the proprietors. Never buy Hays' Liniment, unless it has a splendid engraved wrapper, and the written, mind written signature of Comstock & Co., all others must be impositions. Any person vending any other article, by the name of Hays' Liniment, either by wholesale or retail, will be prosecuted for a violation of our copyright. The oath of Mr. Hays may be found copied in our inside wrapper, swearing that no other person knows any of the component or essential parts of this Liniment—and that he will not reveal the secret for twenty years.

HEADACHE.

DR. E. SPOHN, a German physician of much note, having devoted his attention for some years to the cure and removal of the causes of NERVOUS AND SICK HEADACHE, has the satisfaction to make known, that he has a remedy which by removing the causes cures effectually and permanently this distressing complaint. There are many families who have considered Sick Headache a constitutional incurable family complaint. Dr. S. assures them that they are mistaken, and labouring under distress which they might not only alleviate, but actually eradicate by the use of his remedy. It is the result of scientific research, and is entirely of a different character from advertised patent medicine, and is not unpleasant to the taste. To be had of

L. I. SIMS.

MUSSON & SAVAGE-BEGG & URQUHART.

DR. BRANDETH requests a perusal of the following article:—

LIFE AND DEATH,

Every thing has two distinct principles to its nature; one

THE PRINCIPLE OF LIFE

THE OTHER

THE PRINCIPLE OF DEATH.

So long as the principle of Life predominates, Health is enjoyed. When the principle of Death, sickness takes place. How is this accounted for? By the principle of Death, I mean the principle of decomposition or decay, which is each hour going on in the human frame from the hour of birth, to that of our final exit. While the natural outlets—the pores—the bowels—and all other directories of the body, discharge these decayed particles as fast as they are generated, we are in a state of health; we are free from the presence of the disease.

When, from breathing an impure atmosphere, living in a vicinity of swamps, or when we are in the constant habit of coming in contact with bad smells—effluvia arising from obnoxious accumulations of animal or vegetable bodies in a state of putridity, being infected from a living body under the influence of disease in a malignant state; or sedentary occupation; or, in short, any cause which promotes decomposition faster than the stomach and bowels and the other excretories can remove, naturally; we are then in a state of disease. And should the cause which produces this state of the body remain, and nothing be done to drive the accumulated and accumulating impurities out of the body, the principle of death or decomposition, will become paramount, and the last glimmering of life depart from the once animated clay.

How then, shall we contract these death dispending influences? How?

PURGE!—Yes—I say Purge! The magic in that word shall you be indelible, if the hand or brain can accomplish so mighty an explanation. Yes, purged be that pain in the head, the back, the bowels, the foot, the stomach, the side, the throat. Does it arise from internal or external cause,—I still say purge!—For know this self-evident truth, that pain cannot exist, save by the presence of some impurity—some deposit of decomposed particles upon the organ or part where the pain is seated. And purging discharges this impurity, the bowels and continuing the practice, will cure every complication of disease; and will prevent any one from becoming seriously indisposed; even when in constant contact with the most malignant fevers which cannot by possibility seriously affect the body, if we are continually careful to preserve it in a pure state, by frequent and effectual purgation. Hippocrates says, "Purgation expulses what must be expelled, and patients find relief; if on the contrary, they are tormented by purgation, it is a proof there are yet matters which must be expelled."

The subscriber of this has resided in every variety of climate, and by always purging on the first appearance of sickness, has enjoyed for the last ten years, uninterrupted health. For we may call such the state of him who is never sick more than 6 or 8 hours, about the time it takes to secure the effect of a purgative. The purgative I make use of is my grandfathers' pills, and they are, to my certain knowledge, the most judiciously balanced purge in existence. I have used them for 8 months daily, in doses of from 10 pills per day, to satisfy myself as to their innocence. It therefore, cannot be doubted. It is my opinion, that any person, be he ever so prostrated by disease, provided he is capable of taking exercise at all, may lengthen his life to 60 years, by continuing to assist the natural functions with the BRANDETH VEGETABLE PILLS. Death never can take place until the Principle of decomposition puts out the lamp of life. And that would seldom be before 60 or 70 years, was this principle of purgation always resorted to on the first appearance of sickness.

In the hope that these remarks may be of some service, I am the public's obedient servant,

D. BRANDETH, M. D.

Great caution is required to procure the genuine Brandeth Pills.

Druggists and Chemists are never in any place appointed Agents by Dr. B. All his authorised Agents have an engraved certificate of agency, signed by himself; unless this certificate can be shown, do not purchase. This caution is absolutely necessary to guard the public against spurious Pills.
