Hamilton Must Build Line From Dundas

If It Enters Power Scheme at Once.

May Be Litigation Over Gravel Pits.

The power enthusiasts who have been arguing that, if Hamilton did not plunge into the Government scheme at once, th city would be stuck for the cost of build ing a line in from Dundas later, were given another jolt by Chief Engineer Sothman, who visited the City Hall yes Mr. Sothman declared that the commission had definitely decided tha main switching station will be place on the mountain side, near Dundas, whe ther Hamilton comes in now or at some future date, and the city will have to build and pay the cost of the line from Dundas in any event. Mr. Sothman says that this can be done, however, within the estimate of Hamilton's share $115,000. It was decided to place th near Dundas, because it would be cheaper and more convenient than uilding the line closer to Hamilton, the engineer explained. Mr. Sothman said mission had practically secured whole of its right of way and every in shape to go ahead with the He declares that copper can be cheaper now than it was ever cheaper now than it was ever

Although the city, under legislation recently enacted by the Ontario Legislature, passed a by-law prohibiting gravel pits within the city limits, unless permission was first secured from the city and certain restrictions imposed adhered to, the gravel pits in the west end are still going full blast. It is said Edward New was sorred with a copy of the bystill going full blast. It is said Edward New was served with a copy of the bylaw, but gravel is still being taken from the pit. The by-law will likely have a severe test snou, as the city will probably institute a prosecution. It is believed that the owner will make a strong fight, and contend that the Legislature had no power to enact such legislation, as it interferes with vested rights. It would be possible for the city, under the statues, to prosecute anyone operating a gravel pit, if it could be shown that a musance was being committed. ance was being committed.

Both Candidates Hold Meetings This Evening

"The liquor interests in Hamilton are going to spend $2,000, and more if neces sary, in this city, to secure the election of the Tory candidates." This statement was reported at Liberal headquarters last night by a well known uptown ho telman, who told the story of the intention of the liquor interests in detail. He nade no secret of the fact that while he had always been a Liberal, he had been approached and told that the liquor men must beat Wardrope and McClemont. He pointed out to the deputation that, in East Hamilton, the Temperance Electoral Association had endorsed one of Mr. McClemont's opponents, but was told that it made no difference, the liquor men must stand by Scott.

The "three-cent-an-hour-prison-made-goods." as shown by Mr. McClemont, were like a red rag to a bull, and the crowd jeered the present Government with fervor. The price of school books at present and the prices to be asked for them as soon as the elections are over and the old supply runs out, which are issues in the campaign, and which cause the Conservative candidates loss of sleeep to a large degree, were taken up by the Liberal candidate, who showed how much Whitney's promise of "probably free books" was worth. He went over the well-known promises which gained Whitney the position he is holding now, and showed exactly what he has done in not fulfilling those promises. 'What could be expected of a man like that?'' he asked. "He broke all his pre-election reconstructions and in the tent?" asked. The next day Judge Houston, the uncle of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party and a large company at dinner. And this was the signal for the commencement of a series of dinners, tea and card pasties and balls, given in honor of the bride, and which kept her and her coterie in a whirl of social dissipation for several weeks.

But from this brilliant entanglement let us draw out clearly the sombre thread of our own narrative.

Everywhere the resplendent beauty of Marguerite De Lancie was felt and celebrated. Every one declared that the star of fashion had emerged from her late eclipse with new and dazzling brilliancy. And ever, whether in repose or action; whether reclined upon some divan, she was the inspiration of a circle of conversationalists; or whether she led the dance, or, seated at the harpsichord, poured forth her soul in glorious song—she was ever the queen of all hearts and minds, who recognized in her magnificent personality a sovereignty no crown or aceptre could confer. All, in proportion to their depth and strength of capacity for appreciation, felt this. But none so much as one whose duty brought him ever to her side in zealous service, or deferential waiting.

Perseveringly he attended her, earnestly he sought an opportunity of explaining himself. In vain; for neither at home nor abroad, in parlor, saloon, thoroughfare or theatre, could he manage to secure a tete-a-tete. Whether sitting or standing, Miss De Lancie was always the brilliant center of a circle; and if she walked, like any other queen, she was attended by her strain, recold he speak to her. But the suite. Only when he mingled with this strain, recold he speak to her. But then—the quick averting of that regal hand, the swift fall of the sweeping, dark e eye lashes, the sudden, deep flush of the bright cheeks, the suppressed heave of the beautiful bosom, the subdued tremor of the thrilling voice, betrayed hidden emotions, that only he had power to arouse, or insight to detect, and read therein the confirmation of his dearest hopes. The castle walls might show a forbidding aspect, but the citade was all his own, hence his determination, despite her icy coldness of rauner, to pass all false shows, and come to an understanding with his Diana. Still Miss De Lancie was the cause of her course of conduct, he could not satisfactorily decide. Was pride struggling with love in her bosom! If so, that pride 'should succumb. Having failed in every delicate endeavor to effect a tete-acte, and the day of Marguerite's departure being mear at hand, Mr. Helmstedt went one morning directly to the house of Colonel Compton, each up his card to Miss De Lancie was particularly engaged a nad begged to be excused. he tried the same plan, with the same ill-success. Miss De Lancie was never at leisure to receive Mr. Helmstedt, At length this determined suitor sent a note requesting the lady to name some hour when she should be sufficiently disengaged to see him. The reply to this was that Miss De Lancie regretted to say that at no hour of her short remaining time should she be at liberty to entertain Mr. Helmstedt. This flattering message was delivered in the partor, and in the presence of Colonel Compton. As soon as the servant had retired, the old gentleman raised his eyes to the darkened brow of Philip Helmstedt and said: "I see how it is, Philip. Marguerite, is a magnanimous creature. She would spare you the humiliation of a refusal. But you—you are resilved upon mortification. You will not be content without a decided rejection. Very well, you shall have an oportunity of receiving one. Listen. Houston and Nellis are dining with the judge to-day. Mrs. Compton is superintending the making of calfs-foot jelly; don't huff and sneer, Philip. I cannot help sometimes knowing the progress of such culinary mysteriers; but I am not going to assist at them or'to ask you to do so. I am gets to ride. Miss be Lancie, according to her usual custom, will probably visit that or the adjoining music-room in the course of the forenoon, and there you have her. Make the best use of your opportunity, and the Lord speed you; for 1, for my part, heartily wish this lioness fairly mated. Come; let me install you."
"There appears to be no other chance, and I must have an interview with her to-day," said Mr. Helmstedt, rising to accompany his host, who led the way to the library. It was on the opposite side of the hall.
"Now be patient," said the colonel, as here to-day, you will have the house to yourself, and Marguerite, who for some

He listened.

Soon the chords of the lyre were swept by a magic hand that belonged only to one enchantress, and the listrument responded in a low, deep moan, that presently swelled in a wild and thrilling strain. And then the voice of the improvvisatrice stole upon the ear—that wondrous voice, that ever, while it sounded, held captive all ears, silent is sounded, held captive all ears, silent and breathless all tips, spellbound all sounded, neid captive all cars, all depends all fips, spellbound all carts!—it arose, first tremulous, melodious, liquid, as from a sea of tears, then took wing in a wild mournful, des-pairing wail. It was a song of renuncia-tion, in which some consecrated maiden piness, bewailing fate, invoking dea Philip Helmstedt listened, magnetic by the voice of the oids adieu to her lover, reno piness, bewailing tate, invoking death, Philip Helmstedt listened, magnetized by the voice of the sorceres, with its moans of sorrow, its sudden gushes of passion or tenderness, and its walls of anguish and despair. And when at last, like the receding waves of the heart's life the thrilling notes ebbed away into silence and death, he remained standing like a statue. Then, with self-recollection and the returning faculty of combination, came the question: "What did this song of renunciation mean;" And the next more practical inquiry, should be remain in the library, awaiting the doubtful event of her com-

He advanced softly, and opened the listed and silently-turning doors, and paused an instant to gaze upon a beautiful tableau!

Directly opposite to him, at the extremity of the thickly carpeted room, was a deep bay window, richly curtained with purple and gold, through which the noonday sun shone with a subdued glory. "Miss De Lancie, your words and manner are inexplicable, are alarming! Tell me, for the love of Heaven, Marguerite, does any insurmountable obstacle stand in the way of our union?"

"Obstacle!" repeated Miss De Lancie, starting violently, and gazing with wild, dilated eyes upon the questioner, while every vestige of color fled from her face.

DR GRENFELL'S THRILLING AD-VENTURE ON LABRADOR COAST.

Forty Hours a Prisoner, and Nothing but Raw Dog Meat to Eat-Afraid to Lie Down Lest He Should Freeze to Death.

St. John's, Nfld., June 4 .- Capt. W. Bartlett, of the steamer Strathcona, which has just arrived from the north, brings word of a thrilling experience which Dr. Grenfell recently passed which Dr. Grentell recently passed through and which nearly cost the intrepid missionary his life. Late in the action of the day to cross the Fish roads, bound to Belvue to amputate a man's leg, and took with him a team of, eight dogs and knomatik with his gun I a case of surgical instruments. He was lightly clad, as the weather was fine, and he recently passed to intend the intended in the intended in the control of the intended in the control of the intended in the intend expected to make a quick journey brewing. Though he thought of return-ing, he had covered so much of the way that he determined it would be just as well to push on to his destination journey would prove to be last one.

To avoid the obstacles inseparable from land travels in the northern wilds Dr. Grenfell was proceeding over the ice along the shore when suddenly the wind began blowing from the land. In less than an hour it had reached the velocity of a gale, and before the doctor could realize his position or make an attempt to reach the coast the ice attempt to reach the coast the parted from the shore and began move rapidly out to sea, taking him and his outfit with it. It was an inand his outfit with it. It was an in-tensely trying position to be in, but for hours the devoted missionary kept up his pace, urging his team to their greatest speed, hoping to effect a landing at some jutting point on the shore before the ice would clear it. In this he was disappointed, and when nightfall set in he found that he had to spend the night

This he was compelled to do, and Into he was compelled to do, and a horrible time he had of it all through the long hours of the night. The wind continued to increase in fury, and by the time darkness set in he was alone on the ice several niles from the land, and going farther to sea at a rapid rate. To make matters worse, the dogs were accidentally driven into a bad spot, which consisted mostly of slob, and the doctor had much difficulty to save the komatik and dog team. He did this after great exertion, though he lost his gun, surgical instruments and some clothing which he carried. It was terribly cold, and to lie down was out of the question, as he had nothing but the komatik to recine on, and would freeze rible time he had of it all through

Eight fine lots on the north side of Cumberland Avenue, 100 feet deep, at $12.00 per foot. These are splendid building lots.

A number of lots still left on both sides of Eastbourne Avenue and on east side of Westmoreland Avenue. A few of these lots though speciality well located are a little lower than the street, and we have a special filling in arrangement as to these. The price is estill $15.00 per foot between Main Street: and Delaware Avenue. Between Delaware Avenue and Cumberland Avenue the price is $12.00 and $14.00 per foot with the exception of four good lots which are $18.00 per foot. All these lots will soon double in value.

Look at the surroundings to the east, west, north and south of this survey and you will say it has no equal in the city. You can lose nothing in an investment in this property but on the contrary are certain to make a handsome profit. Your own judgment tells you this and you can find no one to dispute it. In most cases you must risk to make band you was a certainty.

West Mount Survey Very Popular

The very liberal terms under which we are offering lots in West Mount is ppreciated and taken advantage of by many. It is seldom that a high class roperty, such as West Mount, is placed upon the market at such a low price, ombined with such liberal terms, a uniform price of $500.00 for desirable uliding lots 40 to 44 feet frontage, 116 feet deep with alley in rear, and with NO INTEREST OR TAXES FOR FIVE YEARS, and with five years to any for lot. These conditions must appeal to any person having the slightest lesire to own a home, or to those seeking investment.

Plans of "West Mount" and "Beulah" surveys can be had by calling at our office. Our representative will be on the ground, head of Garth Street, saturdays, 2 to 5 o'close.

Over the Hill to the Poorhouse With Former Millionaire.

Chicago, June 5 .- A despatch to the Tribune from Milwaukee says: C. J. L. Northwestern Railroad, former Mayor partner of the late Senator Sawver in the wholesale lumber business, a former millionaire and prominent politician, and now a resident of Chicago, yesterday applied to Agent Gustav Frells Frelson, agent for the Associated Charities, son, agent for the Associated felis felison, agent for the Associated Charities, for admission to the Milwaukee County poor house. Two daughters, both married to wealthy men, fail to reply to his requests for aid. It is said a son who lives in Chicago is too poor to care for his father. By his removal to Chicago two years ago, Mr. Meyer has forfeited his right to admission to the Milwaukee County house, but Mr. Frelson will make an appeal in his behalf to his wealthy sons-in-law.

Mr. Meyer refused money aid. He was 77 years old, and was once prominent in the councils of the Republican party, having twice been a delegate at large to national conventions.

Greenwich, Conn., June 3.-In the summer resort here this afternoon a large, seven-year-old lion named Nero, untam ed, and made angry by repeated jabed, and made angry by repeated jab-bings with a stick and the firing off of blank cartridges by the keeper, leaped at the keeper and followed him out of the iron door of the cage where he was being exhibited to a large crowd gath-ered to witness "Washburn's circus." It was all the fault of the assistant keeper, who failed to pull the iron door in in time. He has disappeared ,so fear-ful was he, when the affair was over and the lion safely caged again, of being mobbed.

When the news of the lion's escape reached those assembled in the main tent, where the show proper was about to start, there was the greatest stampede ever made from a circus tent. The people crowded under tents and over stone walls, into adjacent buildings and up trees and telegraph poles.

Proprietor Washburn, of the circus, told several officers present to shoot the lion. He also offered $1,000 reward for its capture. While a search was being made for the escaped animal, growls were heard coming from the tent in which the side show was held.

The circus men resolved to capture the lion and get the reward.

IN PURLOINED CLOTHES.

The effort made at the local Tory con vention, and since, to steal from Mrs. Hoodless the credit for her good work for technical education for girls, to forward which she was employed by the Ross Government, and to give it to J. J. Scott, who had never, up till that time, been known or suspected to have any care whether technical education made progress this century or next-and whose voice certainly was not heard in clarion tones cheering on Ross and his helpers in the work—is but part of the general scheme of the Whitney cam-

Its object is to boldly attempt to steal for Whitney credit for all in sight, without regard for the fact that in most has been found opposing to the extent of his power the very policy that has produced the creditable results!

Confronted with the fact that in three years he has increased the Provincial expenditure from $5,267,000 in 1904, to $7,714,000 in 1907 and that his estimates for this year call for $8,000,000, Whitney and his friends say: "Ah! but didn't we also increase the revenue?"

The increase of the expenditure, 43 per cent, in three years—as much as it was increased in 33 years under Liberal rule-is a very serious matter, even if the money had been taken from the Province in ordinary revenue, and by me magic of the spendthrift Governent. But it was not.

Whitney has been squandering the capital of the Province! Without including in the reevnue for 1907 the money received from the sale of Cobalt and Kerr Lakes (a capital item, according to Whitney's and his Treasurer's tention) Whitney spent last year $578,500 more than the current revenue of the Province. That is an unpleasant revenue of the Province is larger than it was in 1904, it is not so because of, but rather in spite of, Whitney. In nearly every instance the policy that has produced the increases was bitterly opposed by Whitney when in Opposi-tion, and was carried into effect against

Whitney strongly opposed Ross' policy of developing the northern country and building the T. & N. O. R. It was that policy which led to the finding of Cobalt and the mineral riches of the district He has no right to any credit for the revenue increases from that quarter. Had he had his way there would have been no development policy, no railway, ne Cobalt, none of the consequent rev

Whitney opposed the succession duties, the tax on corporations and the brewers' and distillers' licenses. He got from these three sources in 1907 no less than $1,568,933. Aside from havingcontrary to his declared policy-increasthe succession duties about 10 per cent., Whitney deserves no credit for that large item either. He even stood pledged by his declaration in the Legis lature to repeal the tax on corporations! But he did not do it.

A careful scrutiny of the items going to make up the total revenue shows that at the most only $351,492 can be eredited to the acts of the Whitney Government out of the total of $8,320,

It is plain then, that, while it by its increased the expenditure by $2,447,000 three years. Is it entitled to any "credit" for that showing?

LIVING ON CAPITAL.

Whitney's supporters seek to make much of the enormously increased rev enue, and speak of it as a great triumph of Tory finance. But the claim will not bear examination.

Look at the facts. Where did it come from! How much of it is due to Whit ney, and of that amount how much really benefited the people? e increase of revenue in 1907 over the figures of 1904 was about $2,200,000. 1904 the receipts from mining were $27,000. In 1907 they were $1,690,000. Quite a difference, isn't it? Why shouldn't Whitney boast? Look below the face of the figures. The ugly fact is then readily discovered that of the vast increase AT LEAST $1, 185,000 IS NOT "REVENUE" AT ALL, BUT IS, BY WHITNEY'S OWN STAN-DARD, CAPITAL THAT HAS BEEN SPENT DURING THE YEAR. This sum was the price received for Kerr and Cobalt Lakes. They were ours; Whitney has sold them. Instead of placing the $1,185,000 in capital account, as a business man would do if he sold some of his property, the Whitcurrent revenue receipts and spent it.

Cobalt Lakes to draw revenue from ceipts of 1907 was an increase of $394. Government at Ottawa poid to the Govent of Ontario, and for which the latter deserves no credit whatever, its only part being to squander it.

ese two items alone make up .82,-084,000 of the increased receipts of 1907

ducing the increased subsidy. The $1,-185,000 received for the sale of Kerr and Cobalt Lakes was not current revue, at all. When we deduct this w find that the increase from mining in 907 was about $478,000.

That is still a considerable sum. How uch of it is due to Whitney? What did his policy do toward producing it? The fact is that if Whitney could have had his way we should have had not a dollar of it. He was ever the foe of the development policy of Ross which open ed the northland and gave us Cobalt and its rich minerals. He resisted it to the extent of his power and it was in spite of him that it was carried out.

Whitney fought against spending dollar on forestry in North Ontario. He opposed inquiry into the resources of the territory.

He declared it to be a land of "rock and muskeg," the "land of the stunted poplar," and ridiculed it as being "not worth $5 a mile."

He fought against the building of the r. & N. O. R., which was the means of iscovering Cobalt and producing the great mineral development.

He resisted every appropriation fo the benefit of Northern Ontario: What title has he to any credit for the increase in revenue produced by the policy which he has ever fought? His only accomplishment has been to squan-der the money yielded by the Ross policy which he opposed.

And had he not sold off those two valuable assets, Kerr and Cobalt Lakes, and spent the money, he would have had a very large deficit. And a showing of a surplus made by such a course, is like the householder who, bent upon having a jolly time of it, sells his home and blows in the proceeds in riotous living. Reckoning time will come by and by.

ILL DIRECTED JEERS.

Editor Pense now further explains that he didn't consult with his leader re the C. N. R. guarantee either in the Rossin House or any other place. This clears the Kingston man on one charge but leaves him open to another. but leaves him open to another. Why, if as he now says, this matter was so important as to demand a protest, did he not, as the Opposition's financial critic, consult with his leader and have the Opposition lined up in colid array against the Government? Couldn't he trust MacKay!—Spectator.

The couldn't now the country in the country indicates the country in the country indicates the country in the country

The senior Tory organ is very indiscreet in thus recalling public attention to the disgraceful falsehood by which Whitney got this guarantee railroaded through the Legislature in its closing hours. Having been driven to withdraw its frequently repeated untruth about Mr. Pense, common horse sense should have counselled silence. But it had it "Couldn't he trust MacKay?" the organ asks. There was no question of trusting MacKay. The course of the Legislature hung upon whether Hon. J. Pliny Whitney, Premier of the Pro-vince, was to be trusted when he made a solemn statement and pledged his word of honor thereto.

The legislators, Mr. MacKay and Mr. Pense included, thought they could. They accepted that solemn pledge, and they found afterward that it was worthless And now the Hamilton machine organ actually jeers at MacKay and Pense be cause they trusted to the honor of the UNBLUSHING KNAVERY.

The Tory efforts to explain away Whitney's odious gerrymander have been of no avail. It admits of no excuse or palliation. It remains an example of unblushing knavery. It is morally as incapable of excuse or extenuation as the act of the midnight incendiary, who seeks to destroy his neighbor's family by firing his dwelling.

There was no occasion for a disturbince of the constituencies-if we omit the Premier's desire to cheat his political opponents in the approaching election. That this is true is made evident by the fact that even the poor excuse spected in making them!

The only attempt at excuse was the tatement that it was desirable that ine- Because Mr. J. A. Macdonald is Let us see what this excuse amounts to-how far the gerrymander ies a greater advantage. East Kent, 23,232; West Kent, 33,528. This is a difference of 10,296, yet Kent was not touched! Same reason North Perth. 29,255; South Perth, 20, 620. This inequality was not touched, and for the same reason, of course.

But when it came to making changes that might help the Tories, no excuse of equalizing population was needed. Look at Peel and Cardwell:

Peel had a population of 18,032, and Cardwell, 17.473, a difference of only Yet Whitney takes from the smaller constituency of Cardwell Albion township and the viHage of Bolton, which had been in it since Confederation, and placed them in the larger one of Peel, thus increasing the inequality of population to remedy, which was the sole excuse advanced for the gerrymander! By this act the population of Peel is made 21,473; Cardwell, 14,030, differ illustrations of Whitney's hypocrisy and dishonesty in dealing with the question Were this but the one foul blot upon his record it would be enough to damn him in the eyes of al! honorable men. And the Premier's falsehood and duplicity in this matter are of a piece with his whole course. He leaves a trail of vio-lated principles, broken promises and outrages upon the sense of justice and fair play of the people. Ontario is disgraced by his record.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Let's see, Mr. Lynch-Staunton, he nuch enthusiasm did that School Book Commission furnish your bank account out of the Provincial treasury?

The Government is not perfect. It has done some things which, with the experience it now has, it would not do again.—Toronto News.

But it doesn't regret the gerrymande one of its most infamous outrages. Whitney promises to do even worse in

The Mail and Empire complains that Mr. MacKay did not "keep the Legislature in session until July" to fight Whitney's Mackenzie and Mann guaran tee. The organ is inclined to severely condemn MacKay for permitting th wrongdoing by Whitney.

While the Whitney Government in reased its expenditure for our most important industry, agriculture, by 7.57 per cent., it increased its expenditure on outside legal assistance—"something for the boys"-240 per cent. "The boys must have been very hungry!

The Methodist laymen left no doubt as to their views on Whitney's three-fifths legislation. And it is equally reugnant to honest men everywhere Whitney, of course, intends to back down on it when change will make it easier to whack the temperance men.

The Spectator begs people to remem ber that the best way to induce Whit-ney to be clean and honest is to give him "hearty endorsation at the polls." Now let somebody advocate presenting great criminals with sets of silver and illumined addresses in order to "induce "Voter"-Yes, you are correctly in-formed. As soon as Whitney got into power he increased his own salary $2,-000, also the salaries of his Ministers, in spite of the fact that for years he had been denouncing Ross' Government as overpaying its members, But don't marvel at that; it is of a piece with Whit ney's general inconsistency.

A Tory contemporary says the Meth-odists "picked a very bad week" for their conference this year, election day breaking in in the middle of it. The Methodists hardly need to be reminded that in selecting the date for the election Whitney did not consult their con venience. He would be immensely grat ified if his arrangement would prevent many of them from voting.

Law reform legislation was one of the things Whitney was to give us. When he found that his hand was about to be forced by Mr. MacKay he resorted to the trick of having a meaningless motion introduced by Hon. Mr. Foy in order to head off any move toward real reform! And he refused to even consider doing away with the outgrown and un popular fees system of remunerating of ficials! Most violated pledges!

Whitney's personal organ, the Toronto News, has a cartoon representing a quar tette of election crooks out of a job One of them is labelled "Thumb Nail Artist." This is probably intended to represent Freeborn, the man whom the Tory machine sent out to train its election officials and scrutineers to the trick of destroying Grit ballots. offered for making changes was not re- have the Tories really got rid of this qualities in population should be correct- of the University Governors, and approves of the management of its affairs by an independent commission, Whitney pretends to regard him as antagonizing Mr. MacKay. That is pure childishness Mr. MacKay does not oppose management of the University by a commission What he does oppose is giving that commission a huge sum of money—$500, 000, $600,000, perhaps a million, a year without the Legislature knowing how much it is or what it is to be used for.

There are indications that the suspic ions entertained about the preparation of the voters' lists in the new ridings of Northern Ontario will not fail to be realized. It is said that a large number of Grand Trunk Pacific men will be deprived of the right to vote, and that, in some cases employees of Tory candidates are entrusted with their preparation, and that the brief time allowed wil not admit of revision by the judges. There is much in the situation to awaka fair voters' list and a free ballot.

It is laughable to hear the Tory steer ers telling Crown Pointers that Liberals are to blame for bringing immigrants to the city. Why, it is one of Whitney's boasts that he has very largely increased the expenditure for bringing immigrants to Ontario! The Here it is. Owing to Mr. John Smith's colonization and immigration expendigreat popularity he has been able to ture of the Province has increased under carry Peel by narrow majorities for the Liberals. By adding about 200 Tory He has complained bitterly that the votes to his riding, thus gerrymandered, Liberal Government at Ottawa does not Whitney hopes to shut him out of the treat Ontario right, but takes the im-Legislature. the increased receipts of 1907

Whitney had no part in pro
The gerrymander is full of just such the cities, and it is bitterly denounced by the Tory Manufacturers' Association for that course. Again and again it has vainly sought to get it to bring foreign workingmen to our cities.

The Tory organs are asking for much praise for Whitney for giving the set-tlers the timber and minerals on their lands, and claiming that Mr. MacKay is a late convert to the principle. Mr. MacKay, when Commissioner of Crown Lands in 1904, seconded Mr. C. N. Smith's resolution to give the settlers the timber and minerals. A year ago he again seconded a similar motion, and Whitney, in his Chesterfieldian style, denounced it as "balderdash." As Mr. MacKay points out, Mr. Cochrane's bill of last session gave the settler "all the timber and minerals when there were nor there."

Not even such a thorough-paced Whitney apologist as the Toronto News can bring itself to acquit Whitney of surrendering to the spoilsmen. The best it can do is to admit that "the demand for reprisals was strong and insistent and the News has held that too many officials were removed. Sometimes the action of the Government seemed to be capricious. In cases Ministers surren dered unwisely to desperate local pres sure." Whitney denies adopting the spoils system. Thus is the Premier spoils system. Thus is the Premier given the lie by his most devoted Toronto organ. Up here, it is so fully acknowledged that Whitney is domin ated by the spoilsmen that even his strongest supporters do not attempt to meet the charge of spoils.

It is utterly useless for Whitney and his henchmen to try to make the people think that the LaRose deal, by which a syndicate which included a Minister's brother-in-law was presented with $130, 000 of the people's money, is an excusable transaction. With the best of will to defend the acts of Whitney, even the Toronto World revolts at that and some other of the doings of "that last aw ful week." It says: "When the LaRose payment of $130,000 is considered it will seen that it is a matter that must have been under consideration for some time. Why the Government should have appeared to desire to conceal it until the last hours of the session only the lunar deities can explain." The reader must feel that it was pretty rank, to wring an expression like that from the

In 1902 Whitney's party in the Legisature declared for (1) fewer member: 60 instead of 94; (2) redistribution only after every decennial census; (3) High Court Judges to do the redistributing. Now Whitney, with a majority of 42, cannot find it in his coward conscience to face the people whose trust he has so basely betrayed, so he casts to the winds the principles of which he so frecently boasted and sets about gerrymandering the Province, shifting a township here and there wherever a Libral is to be weakened or a Tory helped, and manufacturing a number of seats which he thinks can be counted upon as sure to strengthen his party. been altered by those who know the man to read: "Cowardly enough to be dishonest, and dishonest enough to be cowardly."

Rheumatism Developed Burning, Painful Sores on Legs-Tortured Day and Night-Tried All Kinds Remedies to No Avail-Wife Had Debility and Pains in Back.

BOTH USED CUTICURA AND ARE WELL AGAIN

"My husband had been a great sufferer with rheumatism for nearly fifteen years. At first it was in his bones, but after a while it was in his bones, but after a while it was in the flesh and finally running sores broke out on his legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomfort and great suffering he had to endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and three physicians treated him, one after the other, without any food results whatever. So one day I happened to read about Cuticura Remedies. I asked him if he would not try them. 'No', said he, 'it's no use, I've spent enough money now.' The next day I ordered five dollars' worth of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Oinment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them without confidence but after three weeks all the sores were dried up. The burning fire stopped, and the pains became bearable. After three months he was quite well. Two years later the pains and sores came back after he had been working hard and had taken cold. But as soon as he used Cuticura again it cured him. Two years aga I used Cuticura. Pills for general debility. They did me a great deal of good and made me well. Three months since I had pains in my back and Cuticura took them away, too, I can prove this testimonials tany time. Mrs. V. V. Albert, Upper Frenchville, Me., July 21, 1907."

A Single Treatment

Consisting of a warm bath with Cuticura Scap, a gentle application of Cuticura Cintment, and a mild dose of Cuticura Resolvent or Fills, is often sufficient to afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure of torturing, disfiguring eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, and inflammations of the skin and scalp, from infancy to age, when all else fails.

WEEDING OUT OF TEACHERS.

Trustee Carr Declares Many to be Incompetent.

Board Can Not Provide Playgrounds For Children.

Arrangements Made For Battlefields' Concert.

There is to be a weeding out of in competent teachers in the public schools of this city. The Internal Management Committee of the Board of Education decided on this last night after Trustee Carr had called attention to the matter and charged that the report made last fall by Inspector Ballard showed that there was a large number of inompetent teachers. A special committee onsisting of the chairman of the Board, consisting of the chairman of the Board, chairman of the Internal Management, chairman of the Finance Committee and Trustees Howell and Carr, was appointed to deal with the matter. The committee will do the weeding out before the schools re-open in September and will advertise for new teachers in the meantime.

and Trustees Carr and Wilson was ap-pointed to deal with applications for sal-ary increases which are expected to pour in from now on. The manual training and domestic science teachers started the ball rolling. The former asked for no stated increase. Miss Strong, teachof domestic science, asked for rease from $500 to $600.

increase from $500 to $600. '
It was decided to advertise for three specialists for the Collegiate Institute. Teachers for classics, modern languages and science will be required. Two of these will be new appointments and one is to fill the vacancy left by M. J. Garvin, who is going to Torouto. The new teachers will begin with a salary of $1,000 a year, with an annual increase of $100 until the $1,600 maximum is reached.

The matter of providing playgrounds for the children was brought to the attention of the committee and while the trustees expresed their hearty approval of the idea to have more playgrounds, in addition to the school grounds, they decided they had no power to spend any money for a purpose of this kind and passed a resolution to that effect.

John Harrower headed a deputation from the Trades & Labor Council which was after information about the new technical schol. The matter was fully explained and the deputation expressed approval of the scheme before leaving. E. S. Hogarth, teacher in modern languages at the Collegiate, was given a month's leave of absence in September, as he desires to go to France and German desires and German desires desired and German desired desire s he desires to go to France and Ger-nany. He will provide a substitute.

A special committee was appointed to arrange for any teachers who want to go to England with the party of Can-adian teachers who are to visit there this year.

The request of George H. Bull, Secretary of the local committee The request of George H. Bull, Secretary of the local committee, which is raising funds for the Quebec battlefield, who asked for the use of the Collegiate Asembly Hall on June 19, for a children's concert to be given under the auspices of His Excellency the Governor-General, was granted.

The schools will close on Friday, June 26 and re-open on Tuesday, September 1.

A QUESTION FOR SCOTT.

To the Editor of the Times:
Sir,—Some years ago, when it was mooted around that there was a possibility of the Deerings opening up a factory in Hamilton, there was one of the name of J. J. Scott who took a great deal of interest in having a by-law passed by the owners of property in Hamildeal of interest in having a by-law passed by the owners of property in Hamilton for fifty thousand dollars. The by-law was (happily) defeated, and it was learned later on that the company did not request the same. And it might be interesting now, if this is the same J. J. Scott, who is asking for the support of the East enders, what was his object in doing so, contrary to the wish of the Deering Company. If I remember aright, there was an election near at hand, and rumors were prevalent, as to the disposal of the fifty thousand if the by-law carried. An explanation might not be out of order, even at this late day. Yours,

The entire evening session was devoted to a report of the home missions, western section, and addresses by Dr. E. D. McLaren, secretary, and Dr. John Pringle and A. S. Grant, missionaries from the Yukon, caused great enthusiasm.

Devotional exercises occupied a large portion of the morning sederunt, and the business was principally routine. Ap-plications from thirty-one ministers of other churches, who desired to be taken into the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, were received and a committee was appointed to consider them. Several

The Revenue of Queen's.

Principal Gordon presented the report of Queen's University and College. The enrollment for the past session of Queen's University and College.

The enrollment for the past session was as follows: Undergraduates in arts attending, 390; extra-mural, 261; post-graduates in arts attending, 34; extra-mural, 38; students in theology, 36; in practical science, 284; in medicine, 213; in education, 42. Deducting 47 enrolled in two faculties, the total attendance thus was 1,251, an increase of 112 over 1906-07. Last year the increase (97) was mainly in the arts department, this year it has been chiefly in science, while there have been added also the students in the faculty of education.

The board asked the Assembly's approval of its appointment of Rev. Robert Laird, Financial Secretary of the University, at the completion of the present canvass for additional endowment of half a million dollars, as General Secretary and professor of practical theology at $2,250 a year.

Opposition.

When the Liberal Government in

When the Liberal Government in 1888, recognizing the growing importance of the agricultural industry, proposed to create a separate department of agriculture, with a responsible minister, the Conservatives in the Legislature opposed the proposal as unnecessary, yet they allow that department, with ministerial head, to remain to this day, nor is anything now heard of doing away with it.

So, too, as regards the public works department. In the session of 1899, Mr. Whitney and his followers supported an amendment in committee of supply to strike out $18,750, being the salaries and expenses of that department, the evident object being its abolition. As everybody knows, there has been no interference with that important the text branches of the subject but Mr.

been no interference with that impor-tant branch of the public service by Mr.

Whitney.

Mr. Whitney, in 1904, moved to abolish the office of Minister of Education, ish the office of Minister of Education, but instead of doing so, appointed to the leadership of educational affairs a man grossly incompetent for the duties.

Minor offices which were once strongly objected to by the Conservatives, but are still retained by them, are those of superintendent of neglected children, superintendent of forestry and drainage referee. They also opposed surveying and exploratory work in New Ontario, but have now found that the work of ascertaining the resources of this great northland is after all of such importance as to justify the Liberals in initiating it.

Three important measures, which it. Three important measures, which since their introduction by the Liberal Government have yielded the Province a total revenue of over $9.000,000, were opposed by the Conservatives. These were the succession duties act, the supplementary revenue bill and the tax on brewers and distillers.

But in three years they have increased the expenditure about 50 per cent, the expenditure about 50 per cent, the three years of Conservative rule as it was in the 33 years of Liberal rule.

Such, in brief, is the record of a political party which claims to have made good its promises and is now pleading for a "square deal."

Instead of repealing these measures, the (London Advertiser.)

cond, and of close on $75,000 from the third.

When in Opposition Mr. Whitney moved to strike out of the estimates the sum of $4,335 for the maintenance of an immigration office at Liverpool. Last year the Government of which he is the head spent no less than $35,744 on immigration and colonization, and are taking $38,000 for this year.

The Conservatives in Opposition are on record as in favor of taking the administration of the liquor license system entirely out of party politics and party control, and in 1890 affirmed the principle that the license commissioners should consist of the county judge, the county warden and a third to be appointed by the Government, and that these commissioners should appoint the license inspector. Yet when they attained power, instead of attempting to carry out their announced policy, they removed nearly all the license inspectors and commissioners then holding office and appointed active Conservative workers in their stead.

pointed active tonservative workers in their stead.

In 1902 the Conservatives supported a bill affirming these three principles: Reduction of the number of members of the Legislature; redistribution measures to be passed only after a desgmial census; the boundaries of the constituencies to be fixed by a committee of Judges. The gerrymander act of last sessions gives the lie direct to their professions in these respects.

When in Opposition the Conservatives posed as advocates of economy and condemned the then expenditure. But in three years they have increased the expenditure about 50 per cent., the per capita increase being as great in the three years of Conservative rule as it was in the 33 years of Liberal rule.

and as the revenue account included a balance of income from last year $956.48, the true deficiency for the year is $4,071.71, a condition of affairs which as the report says, "calls for mediate attention of the Church.

Twenty students completed their theological course and received their tiplomas, eighteen of them holding university degrees.

The appointment of Rev. Dr. Grey as financial agent at $2,500 a year was reported. The board regretted that no offer had been received for the present college building. Aquatic Carnival Last Evening Was a Great Success'

A crowd of fully 4,000 people was or hand at the docks of the Hamilton and Turbine steamship companies last even ing to go to the aquatic carnival. The wd exceeded all expectations and six or seven hundred people were left at the gates. Great credit is due the Thireenth band and its energetic committee, teenth band and its energetic committee, consisting of Hamilton W. Robinson, Wm. Ostler, A. Nelligan, W. F. Robinson, J. Donaldson and the Bandmaster, for their enterprise for getting up an excursion on such a grand scale. The boats after being loaded, started off in Indian file, the Modjeska first, Turbinia-second and Macassa third, after passing the piers they struck an easterly course out into the lake and then turning, steamed back in towards Burlington, where the fireworks display was given. While the display was being made the vessela sailed in a circle about a mile and one half in circumference, about a half a mile apart. The lights from the steamers made a beautiful effect, the Macassa outdoing the others in the matter of illumination. of illumination

Great credit was due the officials of the steamboat companies for the way in which they handled the large crowd. Everything passed off smoothly. One funny incident happened on board the Modjeska. Three of the passengers being in a high state of exuberance in anticipation of the delights that were to come started to rid themselves of their superfluous spirits by dancing on the railing on the side of the spip, and immediately confirmed the spectators' prophesy by falling into the bay. Being good swimmers and accustomed to that sort of thing they struck out for the shore amidst the cheers of the moonlighters.

The carnival was a huge success, being one of those rare occasions we everybody was happy and satisfied

VIOLENT LANGUAGE.

BRITISH SOCIALIST M. P'S. OPPOSED KING'S RUSSIAN VISIT.

Foreign Secretary States Plainly That Attitude of Alcofness Would Sconer or Later Lead to War-Unionists Side With the Government.

London, June 4.-Continuing the de bate over King Edward's proposed visit to Russia, the Labor-Socialists suggested that the visit had been engineered by Russia, with the view of rehabilitating her credit, and John G. S. MacNeill, Nationalist, joined in the debate. Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary, on behalf of the Government deprecated the tone and the temper of this attack. He declared that the evidence proved clearly that the system of Government in kussia had apparently bettered during the last two years, and such an attempt to exert pressure as suggested would hinder this constitutional progress instead of happing it. He then invited the House to consider what the resentment would have been in Great Britain had the Emperor of Russia declined to visit this country until a full self-government had been granted the Transvaal. The Government had advised the King to pay this visit, which, according to its information, would be welcomed by all the moderate and liberal citizens of Russia.

Sir Edward Grey then repeated that no negotiations were on foot for a new treaty or convention with Russia, and he said none would be initiated during the visit. It was hoped, however, that the visit would have the political effect of improving the relations between the two countries. A few years ago such a visit would have been imposible. The fact that it occurs now is intended to emphasize the knowledge that the relations between Great Britain and Russia are to-day to Russia, the Labor-Socialists suggested that the visit had been engineered by knowledge that the relations between Great Britain and Russia are to-day friendly, and he trusted they would so friendly, and he trusted they would so continue.

The Foreign Secretary then went on to say that the consequences of the attitude of alcofness or boycott of Russia suggested by the Labor-Socialists must be disastrous and would sooner or later lead to war. The British Government was pursuing a policy of peace. If the House rejected that policy he (Sir Edward) would fall with it. Attacks on the personal gharacter of Emperor Nieholas were not justified. If the Cabinet advised the King to take up the attitude suggested it might as, well tear up the Anglo-Russian convention, the Foreign Secretary said, and he then reminded the House that the general peace of the world depended greatly upon Great Britain's relations with Russia.

Mr. Arthur J. Balfour asociated himself and the entire Unionist party with Sir Edward Grey's "able and dignified speech."

with Sir Edward Grey's "able and dignified speech."

Mr. James Keir Hardie, Socialist, excelled himself in violence of language against Emperor Nicholas and the Russian Government. He was called to order by the Speaker, who threatened to stop the debate unles he withdrew certain objectionable phrase. This Mr. Hardie finally did.

The Labor-Socialist motion condemning his Majesty's visit to Russia was defeated 225 votes to 55.

SOCIALISTS IN PRUSSIAN DIET. Election of Eight Has Created a Great Stir.

Berlin, June 4.-The elections for members of the Prussian Diet have resulted, for the first time in history in the entrance of Socialists into that in the entrance of Socialists into that stronghold of junkerdom. This fact causes a great stir, and it is expected it will lead the trovernment to grant the long-demanded reform of the tranchise. Six of the tweive divisions in Berlin have elected Socialists. One was elected in manover, while possibly two or three will be elected on the second ballots.

The victories of the Socialists are all the more remarkable because the fran-chise on which elections to the Diet are conducted is based on a property qualification, which confers the pulk of fication, which confers the burk of power on the wealthy and disfranchises the masses. The Government hitherto has resisted successfully all for reforms. Chancellor Von demands for reforms, Chancenor von Buelow's attitude on this question and the resultant street demonstra-tions last January are recalled as the latest meidents in this perennial struggre.

It would be unsafe, however, to deduce from the present Socialist triumph that the Socialist Democrats are regaining the ground they lost in the Keichstag electrons last year. All the victories are in constituencies which then adhered to Socialism.

However, anybody with a hobby for chrysanthemum culture might make the experiment, and if successful he could grind enough powder from his own plants to keep his bedroom free of mosquitoes all during a hot summer.

At the Arlington station some of this powder had been made in a hand mill, and tests to determine whether it will drive insects away have been made. It cannot be said that hay new discoveries have been made. The properties and quantities of the Persian insect powder—all varieties of which are made from the plants of the chrysanthemum family—have been known for ages. MISSIONARY NIGHT AT THE CONFERENCE.

Fine Addresses by Rev. J. E. Hughson, B. A., and Mr. N. W. Rowell, K. C., of Toronto.

sion of the Hamilton Methodist Conference was held yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a very large representation of ministers and laymen from the different circuits. The meeting was held in Centenary Church, where all the meetings will be held, and it is expected that much important business will be transacted. The election of officers was the most important item of business in connection with the afternoon meeting.

Dr. Carman, Toronto, the General Sup erintendent, gave an address early in the erintendent, gave an address early in the afternoon. He spoke of the earnestness that every one connected with the ministry should have in the life work. There should be no deception in looking after the work laid down by the Saviour. The ministry has to deal with facts at all times, and hard, stern facts they appear. He was no half-way believer, either. Jesus was the great and honest Christ, or He was a gross and wicked deceiver. or He was a gross and wicked deceiver. All Christians are ambassadors of Christ, to know and work the truth.

Rev. Thomas Colling, President.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. It took four ballots to declare Rev. Thomas Colling, of Port Elgin, the President of the Conference, he being given a close contest by Rev. W. J. Smith, of Guelph. The election of the Secretary resulted in Rev. A. J. Irwin, Tara, being chosen.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. A. L. Gee, Brantford, the retiring President, for his faithful work during the Laymen's Requests Granted.

Joseph Gibson, as a member of the Laymen's Association, then asked the General Superintendent to introduce the resolution adopted by the Association at a meeting held on Wednesday evening, when the three-fifths clause was condemned as being unjust. The Conference endorsed the motion.

ence in 1909. Rev. A. E. Lavelle, Niagara, was ap-inted Statistical Secretary; Rev. A. I Terryberry, Southampton, Assistant Secretary, and Rev. C. T. Barret, of Mil-Barton Street Church.

A motion was put by the Standing Committee to the Conference to the ef-fect that it leave Barton Street Method-ist Church in the same status as it was last year. A discussion took place, and the matter was left, to be taken up later.

Missionary Meeting. The evening session in Centenary Church was devoted to the missionary anniversary, and was very well attended. The newly elected president, Rev. Thos. Colling, was the chairman. The choir The newly elected president, Rev. I nos. Colling, was the chairman. The choir was present and contributed an anthem. Rev. J. E. Hughson, B. A., was the first speaker of the evening. He took up his start in the éastern provinces, in the ministry, five years ago, and spoke of his obeying the call of the west for resolute men to Rook after its interests. He dealt with the impressions he had received when he arrived in Lethbridge. Alberta, and of his early work. At his opening service he had 25 people, and at the evening service probably a dozen more. He found it very desolate, but he discovered there were great possibilities that would have to be developed. He saw the village grow to a flourishing city and preached to 700 people on his farewell. He spoke in glowing terms of the value of the west, and it was no wonder to him that the young men were turning westward.

The eyes of the world are at present turned to this great and glorious west.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, K. C., of Toronto, was the next speaker. He stated that the last conference might be truly called a missionary conference, for it recognized as never before the needs of Cana missionary conference, for it recognized as never before the needs of Canada in the missionary work. The people were awakening to their responsibilities. He took up some of the suggestions that were adopted by the laymen's missionary movement. What the people of the country want is information. If that is supplied, the money will be forthcoming. Men are commencing to realize that outside forces are taking them upward and forward or dragging them downward. More can be done by prayer than has ever been dreamed of. He advocated having a missionary prayer meeting once a month, and believed that would be all the pastor would have to do. As for the laymen, he thought there should be a board composed of the strongest men in the church for the purpose of pushing on the missionary cause. The trouble is to-day we look upon the church much the same as the social club: One goes there and supports it for what one might get out of it. The spirit of christianity is not getting, but giving. In regard to the beard Mr. Beard scale is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard Mr. Beard scale it is should be a board to the beard of the beard with the beard with the same as the sould be a board to the beard of the beard with the b there and supports it for what one might get out of it. The spirit of christianity is not getting, but giving. In regard to the board, Mr. Rowell said it should distribute missionary literature. Then there must be systematic giving. It must practically be put on the same plane as a business proposition, and worked as such. The weekly envelope for missions is a splendid method for getting tthe men incrested. Individual responsibility is necessary.

In speaking of China, Mr. Rowell said wonderful progress had been made. In five years China has awakened from her sleep of centuries.

In conclusion, he hoped that the laymen's missionary movement would con-

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn.

This Morning's Session.

This Morning's Session.

At this morning's session Rev. R. P. Bowles, M. A., B. D., Toronto, gave an interesting paper on "The Culture of the Preacher's Mind." He referred to the fact that in the suggestions of friends, there are to be found texts that are good. One must note his companionship for in it there is strength. A minister must know his weakness and his needs, that he may apply himself in such a manner that he will strengthen his weakness and help his needs. A minister is known to be his best work when he had devotion to the living word springing up in his mind. One must work all the time. It has been said that there is more intellectual laziness in the world than anything else. Activity of mind is a neanything else. turned to this great and glorious west. The west is mighty and rich, but money and agriculture cannot make a country great. That depends on the manhood of the country. A country must rely on its Christian influence is needed to stem the tide of materialism that is pervading the west at the present time. The gospel of Jesus Christ and noble manhood must be sent to the west to christianize it. Unless we send to the west Christian ideals, there will be a hard fight for the church of the east. The west is growing so fast that in time what it will say Canada will have to obey. The population is gradually getting beyond the lakes.

There are two agencies in the west that are working for manhood and womanhood, and they are the church and the school. They are the only two whole most proud to bear its own burdens and be generous in assisting others. He spoke of the young men who are devoting themselves to the nissionary cause. He knew of men fresh tioning Committee. Mr. McGregor said he was not speaking to the conference for the purpose of advertising Mr. Livingstone. He would not advise the tearing away of a preacher from a work for which he was especially fitted.

Dr. Carman, the superintendent, quoted the law of the conference on the subject. After much discussion, the following resolution of the Stationing Committee was put to the conference: "That we recommend the conference to set apart Barton street church for special mission work for one year, and that a courteous letter be sent to the Hamilton City Mission Board to the effect that this is considered by the committee the better way of meeting its wishes."

The conference rescinded the resolutions passed last year bringing the church under the control of the City Mission Board. Dr. Carman considered that the conference last year had exceeded its authority in turning the church over to the City Mission Board.

Mrs. Leslie-Carter in "Du Barry."

In speaking of a dramatic artist such as Mrs. Leslie-Carter, one naturally drops into superlatives. The reason for this is that a dramatic temperament such as she possesses to so large a degree, is something of exceeding rarity. There are plenty of actresses who are well versed in the technic of the stage; who know all about acting, as is said, but who do not bring poignant conviction to their work, who do not carry over the footlights and grip the heart of the auditor. It is only the great artist with personality and temperament who does this. It is on this account that Mrs. Carter is constantly referred to as the foremost actress of our time. At the Grand on Monday night she will be seen in David Belasco's play, "Du Barry," the biggest play that has come from the pen of an American dramatist. It is a matter of some interest that the production in which she will appear is the one which she has always used. Seats are now on sale.

The exact cause of the explosion has not been determined. Two tons of the explosive were stored in the building, but according to officials of the company it will not explode unless touched off with an electric spark. The fire to-day tends to prove this claim, as no explosion occurred.

Edith Keating was the only person in the building to escape even slight injuries. Eliza Lee, 18, of Amherst, was packing a torpedo with the explosive and had just placed a cap on the tube, which contained 75 pounds dynilite. A flame suddenly shot from the vat in which the dynlife is stored.

A cry of fire aroused every person in the bhilding, but before they could escape the flames had spread to nearly every part of the building.

Miss Barkley, the most seriously injured of the victims, fell as she neared the door. Supt. Allyn rushed back to her assistance and succeeded in getting her to the open air after his face and hands had been scorched.

A horse hitched to a buggy standing fifteen feet from the loading house was unhurt. Several other buildings in which the various processes for the manufacture of dynlife were carried on were not harmed. The loss will be on were not harmed. The between $4,000 and $5,000.

Hon, Mr. Fielding said the Government did not propose to be dictated to by hon, gentieman opposite as to what servants should be paid. They did not befieve in making flesh of one class and fowl of another. The trouble was that they had given a loose and easy going permission to gentlemen opposite to delay the business of the House to an extent that would not be permitted in any other civilized country. Parliament had allowed a liberality which enabled half a dozenmen to hold up public business, but it was never supposed that men would abuse that privilege.

Mr. Owen—What about 1896?

Hon. Mr. Fielding—In 1896 there was never an hour when public service was not provided for.

Mr. Gordon entered a vigorous protest against the obstruction tactics of the Opposition. The time had come, he argued, when it was necessary to find a remedy for the evil from which the House had suffered so largely, and he saggested that the rules of the House be amended to enable the House to proceed with the business of the country.

Mr. Lancaster attacked the Minister of Customs for leaving the House to take part in provincial polities and for making a statement which he (Lancaster) maintained was intolerable.

Over the Attempted Shooting of Major Dreyfus.

One Man Offers to Murder Him-Editorial Vituperation.

Paris, June 5.—Whether yesterday's attempt upon the life of Major Alfred Dreyfus at the time of the canonizing of Emile Zola in the Pantheon was only the individual act of a man believing himself to be an outraged patriot or had behind it an incipient nationalist plot, the Republican press are unanimous in deploring the incident, and believes it in jured, rather than aided, that cause jured, rather than aided, that cause. Even those papers which doubted the wisdom of burying Zola in the Pantheon-think that the shooting of Major Dreyfus consolidated the Republican sentiment, and they evidently desire to see the incident ended as early as possible. Any attempt to reopen the old Dreyfus issue at the trial of Louis Gregori, the man who shot at the major yesterday, they point out, can easily be frustrated as being plainly extraneous.

s being plainly extraneous. On the other hand, the fury of the Na. On the other hand, the fury of the Nationalist papers is unbounded. L'Action Francaise fires a broadside, which recalls the most exciting days of Dreyfus and Boulanger. At the head of its columns this newspaper prints a statement by Charles Maurras which, it is likely, the authorities will investigate. In this article the writer says that on Wednesday night "a resolute patriot visited M. Daudet and Lieut, Boisfeury, and himself offered to kill Dreyfus, but his proposal was rejected." A leading editorial in this paper appeals to the country to turn to the Duke of Orleans for redress, and concludes with these words. "Do you desire that Zola's body be ejected from the Pantheon? Do you desire to march Dreyfus to the execution block? If so, invoke our king."

Dreyins to the execution block: It so, invoke our king."

The paper also republishes a number of London reviews of the Dreyfus case, insisting that he is a traitor. The decision of the Court of Cassation to cut off the time for an appeal, the paper says, is illegal, and it concludes its article as

"What we ask for Drevius is not six

"What we ask for Dreyfus is not six balls from a revolver, but the twelve builtes from the execution squad."

Other newspapers declare that Gregori, much grieved at the recent death of his mother, has lately manifested signs of mental derangement.

With regard to the reasons for Gregori's act, the opinion prevails in Paris that there is much truth in his avowal that he was driven to the deed by the appeals to hatred with which the anti-Semitic papers have been filled since the Government resolved to place the appeals to hatred with which the anti-Semitic papers have been filled since the Government resolved to place the body of Zola in the Pantheon. The state of this feeling can be gauged by an interview with Henri Rochefort, ed-itor the the Patrie, which is published to night, and in which he says: "It would have been a glorious death for Dreyfus. It would have been his first and only time under fire."

Action Saved Life.

It was definitely established at the re-construction this afternoon of the scene in the Pantheon that Gregori fired the first shot from behind Dreyfus, the ball penetrating the sleeve of his coat and burying itself in a flower pot at the base of the catafalque. When Dreyfus wheeled at the sound of the detonation he threw up his left arm over his heart. The second shot was fired point blank at his breast, the bullet entering the wrist and ranging upward. It was located this afternoon by means of a radioscope, but was not extracted.

means of a radioscope, but was not extracted.

Mathieu Dreyfus, the brother of Major Dreyfus, who sprang forward to save him, chivalrously protected Gregori from the crowd which was raining blows with canes and umbrellas on the man, shouting: "It is not for us to punish; let the law take its course."

Other witnesses testified that they noticed Gregori's suspicious movements as he pressed forward in the throng. He was tumbling in his coat pocket; and as Dreyfus passed he ducked between the hear of the hystaless.

tween the legs of the bystanders and arose and fired at the major's back. During the course of the day the po-lice made several hundred arrests, but no serious importance is attached to these, as the prisoners are mostly students and rowdies who took part in umerous street brawls

Bullet Not Taken Out.

Bullet Not Taken Out.

Gregori's sister is unable to account for his act, except that he was carried away by indignation at the idea that the army, to which he has devoted his life and which he so passionately loved, should salute with its flags the author of "Al Debacle." She said her brother latterly had displayed symptoms of melancholy. The authorities are pursuing their investigation with a view to determining whether or not there is a piot behind the attempt of yesterday. This morning Gregori was taken to his apartment, and was present when the police made a thorough search of his rooms for possible incriminating documents. Their efforts developed nothing of importance.

day an animated discussion took place regarding assessment equalization. Reeve Mitchell, of Grimsby, claimed that Grimsby was unjustly assessed last year, and this year's apportionment was unjust also. It was unfair, he said, to place an assessemut of 90 per cent, of the property valuation on that municipality and one of 50 per cent, on the places as the committee's report would do. He suggested leaving the matter in the hands of the reeves as to valuation of property in their respective municipalities. He considered that the assessors violated their oaths when they made such discrimination. Several councillors of Merritton concurred in Mr. Mitchell's views.

This discussion lasted until 1 octock, was continued at 3, and ran on until 6, being closed by a very brief statement by Hon. W. S. Fielding at 8 o'clock, when the House resumed after recess. In the briefest possible manner he, while granting the importance of the subject, contended that the present was an inopportune time to bring it up, and urged that voting supplies for the public service was the most pressing question at the moment. It could not be said that Mr. Fielding made a speech on the subject, his reece, but rather to the continuation of speech on the subject, his res were so brief. Mr. Roche, of Marquette, complained that some department officials were acting in a partisan manner, and he instanced an interpreter in his own constituency. The Minister was asked as to his policy on this point.

Hon. Mr. Oliver argued that he had always taken the view that the \Government could not gain anything by an items mentioned in the Auditor-General's report for advertising in special numbers of Canadian newspapers. He noticed one item of $700 for advertising in a special number.

Hon. Frank Oliver replied that the department usually followed two methods in this regard; one was to buy a number of the special issues of a newspaper and send them to the old country for distribution. Another was to purchase advertising space in such a numbfor distribution. Another was to purchase advertising space in such a number. In a recent special edition of The Globe, for instance, the department gave a creditable representation of Canada. These special numbers were sent largely, even by private parties, to people resident in England and the United States.

RECAPITULATORY

Hon. A. G. MacKay's Seventeenth Letter to the People of Ontario.

STAKING MINING LOCATIONS-Still unrecalled is the slanderous and absolutely false statement with reference to the former Board of Commissioners of the T. & N. O. Railway that, instead of mapping out a policy, "they hurried out, a number of them, and staked out mining claims themselves." Every man of them has denied this. Why do not the Government recall the slanderous statement deliberately inserted in their misleading campaign book?

THE LA ROSE DEAL-Equally false and slanderous is the state ment contained on page 75 of the campaign book, in which, in order to attempt to explain the giving away of $130,000.00 of the people's money, they say that as to the O'Brien Mine I "secretly decided the dispute as to the ownership, when an election was in progress, in favor of a friendly politician." The Government knew when they issued that statement that they were issuing a statement that was absolutely false. They knew that a board of arbitration, appointed prior to my time, had sat and heard evidence for three weeks, that they had made their award, and that I had merely ordered that award to be carried out to the letter. The award is on file in the Depart ment, and the present Government, acting on this very same award, issued the very mining lease to the O'Briens that they afterwards attacked at the instance of the La Rose people! Do the people of this Province think, if there was any honest defence to the giving away of $130,000.00 of the people's money, that the Government would re sort to such malicious and absolute falsehood in order to defend their MODEL SCHOOLS-The absolutely untrue statement made by the Premier upon the floor of the House last session, that the Government were not abolishing model schools in Old Ontario, although as early as October last the regulation circular numbered 19, had ssued, announcing such course of action, has been repeated over and over again by Conservative speakers during this campaign. Such of the Government.

SCHOOL BOOK FAKE-At page 53 of this Government book appears the following statement:-"The contracts for the old readers having come to an end, it was decided to throw the printing and sup-plying of the books upon to public competition. This at once reduced the prices, for the publishers were forced to compete with one another. The lowest tender was accepted." This statement is absolutely unworthy of the Minister of Education. It is true that tenders were advertised for, but the specifications called for binding, etc., different to that used formerly. Consequently, none of the large stock of books which the Canada Publishing Company had then on hand would fit the specifications. Therefore they could not tender and use their stock then on hand to fill the tender. If the contract went to a different firm on the new specifications, their whole stock would be a dead loss. Consequently they were glad to make a porary bargain at slaughter prices. Thus it will be seen that the Government did not accept any tender according to advertised specifications. Yet, in order, if possible, to make believe that this whole transaction was regular and that former prices were absurdly high, they publish the deliberately false statement that "the lowest tender was accepted"! Commissioner Cooper, however, soon exploded this leading as to be an excellent illustration of the statement that "truth is stranger than fiction." The whole book would be a discredit to a

This estimated revenue, however, in cludes school lands funds, and various other items, which many of the legis-lators contend should not be included in revenue account, but should be regarded as capital. This recalls a long-time contention in the Ontario Legislature. many years it was the contention of Mr. Whitney when in Opposition, and oceans of words were wasted by the now Premier, his Treasurer, Hon. Mr. Matheson, and the auditor, Mr. Claney, in argument that Hon. Mr. Ross' Government was ceiving the people in taking into acount, as part of the Provincial assets the Provincial funds held in trust for Ontario by the Dominion Government Proceeding on the theory that the Pro vince did not own the capital, the inter est of which we received annually, and that it could not command the amount and therefore should not count it as an asset, those financiers never cease to denounce its inclusion as a case of stuffing the accounts and fooling th people. It mattered not to them that the eminent accountants commissioned o investigate the Provincial finances, after due examination into the matter, eckoned the amount as belonging to the Province. Whitiney and his friends would have none of it. They had made up their minds that Ontario had no right, to the money, and that Ross knew

Well, Whitney attained power; Math on cooked up the accounts on the basis of his old contention, so as to make the worst showing possible, rejecting, of ourse, the assets composed of the funds in question. Hardly, however, had he got done licking his lips with satisfac tion, when the Dominion Government intimated that it was its determination to rid itself of the amount on which it had been paying a much higher rate of interest than upon other funds held by it, or as the alternative, the interest rate would be reduced. Here was a body blow to the amour propre of the To accept this Whitney financiers. ney was to acknowledge that during all these years, and in all their argu ments regarding it, they had been wro They did not like to do that. Then, as good as its word, the Dominion Govern nent reduced the interest rate. Still they left it. Recently, however, the ormous increase of expenditure by Whitney has led them to swallow the bitter pill and make the humiliating admission that Ross was right and they were wrong; that Ontario did own the capital, and could command it; and the amount is to be placed in the Provincial tied into his lap, will it be squandered as Whitney has squandered, in one year the $1,185,000 of the Province's capital received from the sale of the Kerr and Cobalt Lakes? And where are Whitney's and Matheson's boasted "princi ples" about which they rang the change for so many years? And when these huge items of Provincial assets have been frittered away, shall we have further turns of the tax screw to squeeze out the necessary revenue to keep up the rate of prodigal expenditure which he has struck?

The Kingston Standard (Tory) has the bad grace to find fault with Mr. Pense, M. P. P., because he did not vigorously resist the passage of that $2,500,-000 guarantee bill. But the Standard's censure assumes that Pense should have nstinctively known that Whitney's excuse for asking that the bill be passed to save the Province loss was a one. Now, why should Pense have taken for granted that the Legislature dare proceed on the Premier's solemn word of honor?

Attraction.

June is the active busy month at The Right House. A sort of culmination to the great business of March April and May, June brings the great annual white muslin, underwear and household linen sales, as well as the big early summer reduction sales of summer goods and surplus stocks all over the big store.

June brings to the people of Hamilton great saving changes at the Right House, opportunities to secure summer goods of a high standard of quality and style excellence at absolutely reduced prices. Of all the June Saturdays, to-morrow, in all likelihood, will be the best in money-saving interest. And remember, the Thomas C. HUDSON BAY LINE.

Deal With C. N. R. For Control of Rates.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, June 5.—It is understood that in lieu of the Government construction and ownership of the proposed new Hud and ownership of the proposed new Hudson Bay Railway, as originally suggested, it is intended by the Government now to secure the construction of the road and control of the rates in an equally effective manner by entering into an arrangement with the C. N. 'R. Construction Co. for the line towards Hudson Bay, from the pass to the C. N. R. The Hudson Bay line is now completed to the pass, a distance of 480 miles from the Fort, and a general survey of the rest of the route to the terminus has been made. The Gowennment's plan, it is stated, is to give a liberal cash bonus to the Canadian Northern Railway Co. to complete the road and Railway Co. to complete the road and to guarantee a portion of the bonds. I believe them is to be shown in the charges above mentioned and the standard correction that can be shown in m. fig.

I believe them is quite proud, and the little chap took it in his hands. No one of the Miller family had seen George use the gun, and no one knew it was loaded. It had just the one cartridge in it.

the rifle he pulled the trigger, and George fell to the floor.

Will One of These Do You?

Good clothes—for you—are any that fit your purse, your work, your station in life, your mind and your body, and any clothes that do not fit all of these can-not be the right clothes for you. One of the services this store renders is to help men find clothes that are good and suit-able for them in every way and satisfying in the highest degree. Here is a special opportunity to investigate and test the claims of Oak Hall as to our value-giving powers.

Suits $8.75
