

The Weekly Observer.

HILLSBORO, N. B., May 23, 1889.

His Parting Kick.

In the spring of 1885 we commenced the publication of the WEEKLY OBSERVER at Harvey, in the interests of the Liberal Conservative of Albert County, L. M. Wood having previously sold himself and his paper to the Grits. For this serious offence L. M. W. has continued to misrepresent, slander, and abuse, while resorting to every scheme an unprincipled mind could concoct in order to do us both public and private injury. Our private business has been misrepresented, our private life randomized, the circulation of the OBSERVER falsely stated, mistakes made concerning our future intentions, etc. In fact every device of an unscrupulous rascal, devoid of conscience or character has been resorted to to effect our ruin. We have generally paid little attention to the imbecile efforts though occasionally we have slightly repudiated his bristled-for-our-own-affliction as well as for the entertainment of the public. We have received numerous communications, showing us his true character, which we declined to publish not wishing to stoop to his level in dirt throwing and not desiring to raise ourselves by pulling others down. But when L. M. Wood, in all the pomp and glory of a Free Mason high in authority, while visiting different Masonic Lodges in the Province, saw fit to read an address and present a purse to one of Moncton's most degraded women we knew the fact through the columns of the OBSERVER, telling the truth and nothing but the truth, though not the whole truth. It is to be believed reports received from various sources, which we did not publish, not wishing to be too severe on one who stood so high in his own estimation. Of course no one would, even for a moment, have imagined that anything, no matter how true, appearing in the OBSERVER—such as obscure, illiterate, circumlocution sheet (according to the Maple Leaf)—could have any effect especially upon such a distinguished literary Hercules as L. M. W. conceives himself to be. But, mirabile dictu, it appears that our capsule of his hypocrisy has had the effect of lowering that gentleman in the estimation of everyone excepting his flatterers, friends Maggie and R. L. B. L. M. W., while acknowledging the truth of our statements, threatened dire vengeance did we dare again to refer to the Moncton attraction. "But despite all his dreadful threats we do not 'fear' worth a cent" as we do not fear anything that can be truthfully said against us and we well know L. M. W.'s false pen and tongue could not disgrace anyone but himself. But Lovey nursed his anger till about ready to side out of the county when he poured out his "pent up" demijohn of wrath upon us as follows:

So far as John N. Wells is concerned and the personal insults he has received from time to time referred to the editor of the Maple Leaf, both have passed over in silence for many months, until patience has ceased to be a virtue, with one exception in the maritime provinces, there is not a greater disgrace to the journalistic and newspaper-publishing business—and for its utterances he must be held accountable. Mr. Wells also repeated the same in low, snarling tones, and begged enough money to permit him to get some "C. O. D." paper from the station before the newspaper could be issued, and yet, like the sneaking cur that bit the hand that fed it, he gave such information to an undiscriminating and brutal attack upon citizens of Hillsboro, and threats toward the one whose kindness and money saved J. N. Wells from financial embarrassment. This is not all, but we deem it enough to prove to Mr. Wells that it will be wisdom on his part to abandon further attempts to indulge in personal journalism or think to depreciate the character of any one by a comparison with his own.

Of course it is very consoling to us to know that L. M. W. admits there is one paper—the Maple Leaf by no doubt refers to—ever worse than the OBSERVER. For the information of our readers we might state that the "seller of liquor" referred to in the above extract is R. L. Blake of Hillsboro, whom L. M. Wood visited a few days before publishing his excellent editorial. It is H. T. Stevens and John N. Wells. When we first came to Hillsboro that "seller of liquor" pretended to be very friendly with us having previously taken 2 shares ($10) stock in the OBSERVER Publishing Co. Yes when in Hillsboro just before moving here this same "seller of liquor," unsolicited, gave us his opinion of the Maple Leaf editor, which did not appear to us to be very flattering to his now much esteemed friend. Now "the scene is changed," we "having been so very unfortunate as to incur the displeasure of Hillsboro's distinguished citizen, and all on account of our taking a decided stand for temperance. We have never said anything against Mr. Blake but we have published his business, and as long as we are able to do so we will continue to do so, as strongly as our feeble intellect will allow. We did ask Mr. Blake for money on two occasions and received together the meagre sum of nine dollars, one dollar less than the amount of his subscribed stock. We never gave information to "a govern-

Remarkable Snake Story.

Mules, Horses and Children Devoured by a Hideous Monster.

In a recent issue of the Port of Spain, Trinidad, Gazette is told a most remarkable snake story. It is as follows: During the past two months it has been a matter of frequent complaint among the inhabitants of the district of Arima, on the island of Trinidad, that their domestic animals of all kinds were being lost in a strange, unexplained manner—usually at night. Lately even larger animals, some valuable mules and horses had gone to join the smaller fry that had disappeared. At first the blame was laid on thieves of unusual daring; but it was soon clear that some monstrous animal was the depredator, although, strangely enough, no trace of blood was ever found at the spot visited, or its neighborhood. No animal large enough to carry off a horse or mule was known to exist on the island. The people began to watch at night and it was noticed that the traces through the vegetation always stopped at streams and seemed to vanish altogether after that. Several children suddenly disappeared and a grief-stricken mother, while sitting by her bed mourning the loss of her five-year-old daughter, was, on the very day following the child's disappearance, a terror-stricken eye witness of the carrying off of her 3-year-old boy by a colossal snake. Pursued by an armed body of residents proved fruitless. It was surmised from the rather imperfect description given of approximate color, rings, and spots of the snake, that it was a variety of the extinct race of gigantic lizards or local anacondas, occasionally met with in the old days in the Orinoco valley, Arima and other rivers of the island. Finally, after many more depredations by the monster, who was several times seen in different mountainous localities, the matter was thought serious enough by the warden of the island to warrant making a request through the colonial secretary for assistance from Port of Spain. The story of the occurrences was also considered by the central agricultural board, and in the course of the meeting Hon. Dr. de Verteuil stated that in his opinion the snake was a huilar. Early one morning a large cavalcade, heavily armed, set out from Arima and proceeded to the Blue Mountain, in the neighborhood of which searching parties had located the snake the day before. He had been seen to enter the Guacharo caves in the hill separated from the mountain by a hollow, and the party gradually formed a circle around the hill. A portion of the party entered cautiously into one of the openings leading into the interior, the great caves, and had scarcely done so when the head of a monstrous snake suddenly appeared on the surface of a large pool. An angry hiss, like the plunging of red-hot iron into the pool, was heard from the hideous head, and then a volley of bullets were directed into a second valley was necessary to produce the desired effect, and was fired as the huge carcass fully 25 feet out of the water. When dragged out to the level he was found to measure 47 feet, and was 2 1/2 feet through the thickest part. His color was yellow on the under part of his body and dark above, having dark rings, between which the skin was variegated with semi-lunar gray discs. His snake-ship was dragged to Arima and steps taken to preserve the carcass in the council hall of Port of Spain. The matter was made the subject of a despatch from the American consul to his department at Washington.

Miller Bros. Music Store.

One of the Best Appointed Establishments in the Maritime Provinces.

The Miller Bros. music store in Moncton, is one of the most showy and best appointed establishments in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Miller constantly has on view from 12 to 14 pianos, Steinways, Mason & Risch and Emersons, and a large variety of organs, bringing the total number of musical instruments in his store and warehouses up to between 30 and 40. He has the Canadian as well as the American pianos, and sees no reason why the former should not control the home market in the organ business. He finds that there has been a great improvement in Canadian instruments in recent years. This firm looks upon their Moncton business increasing so rapidly of recent years that Mr. Miller last year proceeded with the erection of a new building at the corner of Main and Church streets for the new store, was especially fitted up for the music trade. It is perfectly and uniformly heated, and the arrangements for showing the instruments are all that could be desired. In fact, there is no music store in St. John which compares with it in the extent of show room, and the town is to be congratulated on the possession of so enterprising a firm.—Times.

Disaster At Tacoma.

TACOMA, W. T., May 14.—While 20 men were working at 6 o'clock last night on a building in course of erection by Walter Bates, a tremendous storm came up, striking the building and utterly wrecking it and burying the workmen in the ruins. As soon as possible the work of extricating was begun and in a few moments sufficient debris was removed to allow the body of Bates to be taken out. Two workmen alive were next taken out and the dead body of a man named McConnell. Wm. Seel, city attorney and son-in-law of Bates, was next rescued so badly injured he will probably die. Later, three other dead bodies were recovered, not identified. Besides these, Rev. W. A. Mackay, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who had stopped to take shelter from the storm, was seriously injured. The work of examining the ruins is still going on.

OLDS! If within your home Some gentle one is fading; Take warning, ere a summons come, Your happiness invading. For all the suffering she endures Is needless, did you know it: The "Favorite Prescriber" cures— Unceasing praise show it. Truly "a household blessing" is this marvelous specific—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescriber—for the ills of woman. Who that sees a dear face growing calmer day more ethereal but will rejoice to learn that the wife or daughter may yet be saved, and the family circle preserved unbroken? Do not despair, but try it, even if the doctor says there is "no cure." It is the only medicine, sold by druggists, for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. Canada's Destiny.

The following quotation from J. Heber Haslam's lecture on "Success," has the right about it:—

There are those who profess to believe that there is no other destiny for the Canadian than to cast in our lot with our American cousins, and become part and parcel of a great North American Republic. I would ask those, have we not territory enough to make a nation? Are we lacking in natural resources? Are we every natural resource we are splendidly gifted. Then what is the matter? What conditions necessary to the growth of a great nation are not here? If the people themselves, who have been made heirs of this magnificent heritage, are made of the right material, and if undoubtedly we have all essentials of a great future; and let us see to it that we prize our privileges, that even the people of the United States, with all their push and pluck and pride in their matchless progress, and faith in their future, shall not eclipse us. They have got to start; and by and by our own time will come, and we will prairie equally productive as theirs will be another Chicago and Montreal another New York, and the Maritime Provinces, with a moral and agricultural wealth greater than all the New England, and Halifax and St. John will take rank with Boston; and then on the North American continent will be witnessed the grandest spectacle of the ages—the approach to full stature and the dignity of manhood of two great nations speaking the same language, descended from the same glorious ancestry, and heirs together of the same splendid heritage of freedom, in perfect accord, one with the other; sharing each other's prosperities and supplying each other's needs; consecrated to the blessed arts of peace, peacefully working out their destinies. This, to my mind, would be the grandest triumph of the age, and the nearest approach to the Universal Brotherhood of Man, possible in this wicked world, and would, to the world, be such an inspiration, and example as could scarce fail to have the most beneficent results on the future of human liberty and happiness.

A Peculiar Case.

A distinguished physician of New York tells of a recent case in his practice that had a peculiar feature. In a household of New York city there was a boy of 12 who possessed many excellent qualities, being amiable, truthful and upright. Passing along the street one day a piece of board fell from the second story of a house that was being built and struck him, inflicting a wound on his head. After a time the wound healed and left merely a slight scar. But it soon afterwards appeared that the boy had undergone an unaccountable change of character. He had become a liar and thief, and was a terror to his neighbors. At last the parents consulted the physician to whom we have referred, and who made a study of the case. He finally suggested that the boy should be trephined, in order to ascertain if any injury had been done to the brain when the skull was struck. When the operation had been performed in the vicinity of the scar, it was found that a splinter from the inside of the skull had pierced the brain. After the splinter had been carefully removed, and the wound properly dressed, the boy rapidly recovered. To the effect of the operation, the parents made apparent that the evil traits which had been brought into play by some unknown means had disappeared. He was changed again, and was once more the amiable, truthful and upright boy that he had been before he was wounded. "This case," says the distinguished physician who narrated the facts of it, "would be remarkable if the medical books were not full of similar cases."

Railway Horror.

DENVER, Col., May 14.—Yesterday morning a single engine, loaded with coal, was being run by Charles Tappan, who was caught underneath the red hot fire box. He lay in this position with only his head out from under the machinery, for an hour, suffering untold agony, no one being able to render him assistance. He was finally rescued by a passing freight train, and taken to his home, where he died. His body was found in a position similar to that of the man who was killed by a train in the city of Denver, last night. The man who was killed was a young man, named John, who was a member of the fire department. He was killed by a train while he was crossing the tracks. The train was a freight train, and was carrying a large amount of coal. The man was killed by a piece of coal that fell from the train. The man's body was found in a position similar to that of the man who was killed by a train in the city of Denver, last night.

A Remarkable Boy.

CINCINNATI.—John Walmuth, aged fourteen, died yesterday, and an autopsy on his body has shown the physicians who have discussed his case for some time what was the matter with him. Dr. Bohlander, who made the autopsy, says that the boy had a large, unexplained, white mass on his chest, which was a tumor. The tumor was found to be a sarcoma, and was the cause of the boy's death. The tumor was found to be a sarcoma, and was the cause of the boy's death. The tumor was found to be a sarcoma, and was the cause of the boy's death.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the following formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the cure of consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh of the Throat, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. It would have been a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Wells, 149 Power's Block, Boston, U. S. A.

Baptist Anniversaries.

Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the American Baptist Missionary Union.

Boston, May 15.—The celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the American Baptist Missionary Union began this forenoon. In the number of churches and church members, in its missions, the Baptist Union is the largest missionary society in the world. There was a large attendance at the opening exercises, including many prominent Baptist clergymen and laymen from various parts of the country. The treasurer's report shows total appropriations for the year $423,318; total receipts, $415,144; balance against the treasury, $8,174. The foreign secretary's report shows that in all the missions there are 279 missionaries, including lay evangelists; 2,076 preachers, 1,316 churches and 134,413 members, an increase from last year of 17 missionaries, 273 churches, 20 churches and 7,205 members. In the missions to the heathen there are 62 stations and 1,179 outstations.

Interesting Items.

SOME Pigs.—Herbert Crawford of Hartford, Cumberland, N. S., is the proprietor of a pig-ranch on a truly Western scale. He keeps about forty brood sows through the winter.

AN EPIDEMIC OF SUICIDE.—The list of suicides in Chicago sometimes equals five a day. The Tribune of that city says: "Within the last three months there have been three post-mortems, six physicians, twelve well-to-do merchants, seven office-holders, three lawyers, three bankers, four railroad officials, two artists, three mayors, one journalist, one army officer and two capitalists have, for various reasons, voluntarily shut off this mortal coil."

LONGEVITY AT GREAT VILLAGE.—We have at present twenty five persons over 70 years of age in this district. Seven of these are over 80 years of age. David Vance, is 96. A few days ago two others died—Mr. Joseph Geddis, aged 84, and Mrs. Sarah Douglass, aged 74 years. This large number of aged people speaks well for the health giving atmosphere of this locality and the industrious and temperate habits of the people.—Truro Sun.

MUCH MARRIED.—A wedding of more than ordinary interest was performed at Fort Wayne, Ind., a few days ago. The groom was upwards of 50 and the bride only 19. The groom has been married eight times, and has buried six wives and been divorced from the seventh.

Shediac Notes.

A few evenings ago the Grammar School gave a concert in Tait's Hall to a good house. The different exercises were well performed and consisted of singing, readings, recitations, broom drill, and tableaux.

On Friday evening two burglars attempted to rob the store of C. C. Hamilton. They broke in the front door and advanced to the centre of the store where they espied the clothes of two of the clerks who slept under the central counter.

Mr. C. Corkan, organizer of W. C. T. U's and Temperance Schools, organized a Temperance School in Shediac on Monday evening. Rev. Mr. Baird was elected Superintendent, J. G. A. Belyea teacher of Bible Class, Miss Maggie Harper Secretary, Miss Winnie Ha-Christier, and Miss Etta Webster Organist.

Albert Notes.

Times are dull here at present. The chief amusement is Base Ball playing. Albert Nicholson of Surrey was in town Monday.

One of the chief places of attraction of late has been the Gipsies tents which were pitched at or near the Sand Hole. W. J. Jones Esq. has taken charge of the very excellent music, and to the Teachers for the general interest manifested in the preparation of the pupils for the exercises of the day.

Alma Notes.

Arbor Day was duly observed on the 17th inst. During the forenoon the teachers of the advanced dept. assisted by Sarah Stewart, Whit. Pulsifer and a number of the large school boys, dug and carried to the school grounds twenty-five maple trees.

Harvey Chips.

Work will be commenced in the Watson stone quarry in a short time. Carter Smith of New Horton has sold his farm to Truman Carter and purposes going west.

Nixon Notes.

We are having lovely weather and the farmers are very busy putting in their seed. John Giddert, who lost his barn and contents including his team has found true friends who have presented him with over one hundred dollars. He is away now to buy a horse. We wish him better success in the future as he is a very sober, industrious man.

How Arbor Day was Spent in the Superior School at Elgin Corner.

The Superior School at Elgin celebrated, according to order, Arbor Day on Friday May 17. At quite an early hour flags were seen floating from the windows of the School House and different parts of the school grounds.

Opening Song:—"Welcome Here," School. "Arbor Day and Spring Time," whole School. Song—"May Day Car," School, Planting and Dedication of Trees. Speeches National Ant. em.

Arbor Day and Spring Time was an exercise consisting of choice quotations from eminent authors, referring to the change of the seasons, a description of some of the different kinds of trees, shrubs, plants, flowers, etc. In this exercise every pupil in the school had a part, and each class rendered its part admirably.

Some excellent addresses were given by Dr. E. C. Robinson, by each member of the Board of Trustees, Rev. Mr. Parker and Lavers and others. Each expressed himself pleased with the exercises of the day and the general appearance of the School.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Isa Godard who presided at the organ for the very excellent music, and to the Teachers for the general interest manifested in the preparation of the pupils for the exercises of the day.

The school premises are undergoing a general repair, the old posts are being removed, a nice fence of sedge-wick wire is being put up. A long felt want is thus being supplied.

Arbor Day was duly observed on the 17th inst. During the forenoon the teachers of the advanced dept. assisted by Sarah Stewart, Whit. Pulsifer and a number of the large school boys, dug and carried to the school grounds twenty-five maple trees.
