REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.

They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build. They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.

They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."

If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.

You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your old bills will be twice as large.

REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.

We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.

We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.

REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

Lessen Your Living Expenses!

"Be economical," is the cry in England, and this slogan has the same significance in Canada. We all must economize. There is more actual waste in our dress expenses than any other item. When a garment becomes soiled we throw it aside, when for a few cents it could be restored to original freshness and beauty by Dry Cleaning. A saving of at least 25 per cent. in the expense of dressing is possible by using the processes of Dry Cleaning and Dyeing.

Our agents will gladly give you full particulars.

John Hancock—"Father of the Revolution"

UPON the Declaration of Independence his name may be read without spectacles. His signature was the first subscribed to the world's most famous State document. In the most realistic sense John Hancock pledged his life and his fortune to the cause of the Revolution. He was one of the richest men in the colonies, holding investments in banks, breweries, stores, hotels, and also owning a fleet of vessels. The seizure of one of these precipitated the Boston massacre. In Revolutionary days and until his death he was a popular idol. When it was proposed to bombard Boston, though it would have resulted in greater personal loss to him than to any other property owner, he begged that no regard be paid to his financial interests. While Hancock did not sign the Constitution of the United States, he used his great influence in its behalf, which awakened the gratitude of Washington. "He was prepossessing in manner, and passionately fond of the elegant pleasures of life, of dancing, music, concerts, routs, assemblies, card parties, rich wines, social dinners and festivities." Until the end of his life the people of Massachusetts delighted to honor him. In the stirring events preceding the Revolution he was one of the most active and influential members of the Sons of Liberty. To this tireless worker for American Independence Liberty was the very breath of life. He would have frowned upon any legislation which would restrict the natural rights of man, and would have voted NO to prohibition enactments. It was upon the tenets of our National Spoken Word that Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago founded their great institution. To-day throughout the length and breadth of the Free Republic their honest brews are famed for quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Their brand BUDWEISER has daily grown in popularity until 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

Visitors to St. Louis are courteously invited to inspect our plant—covers 142 acres.

CHAPTER VII.

What did Vivien think? That was a question no one could answer. What did she say? Nothing. While all the county families called on Lady Neslie, while she was overwhelmed with compliments, and invitations, and welcomes, Miss Neslie stood quietly by. In vain they tried to win from her some expression of her feelings. She told herself proudly that she did not wear her heart on her sleeve.

"You must have been astonished, dear Miss Neslie," said old Lady Smeaton. "We none of us ever thought Sir Arthur would marry again."

She had blamed him herself—she had reproached him—she deplored his marriage, but family pride was strong within her. No one else should dare to utter a word against him.

"Astounded?" she repeated. "I think it is foolish ever to be astonished in this wonderful world. My father is still a young man, Lady Smeaton."

"Yes—but after bringing you up as his heiress, it seems so strange he should marry again."

"I am his heiress still," said Vivien; and Lady Smeaton moved away with a smile.

"That poor child does not realize her position," she remarked, afterward, when repeating the conversation. "She does not yet realize what a difference the coming of that young wife will make to her."

But Vivien was beginning to feel it more and more keenly. She had always been the ruling power, the one whose wishes were ever consulted. It was a new and terrible experience for her to be set so completely aside. Every day, nay, every hour, brought its distinct suffering.

On the morning after Lady Neslie's arrival, the housekeeper went as usual to Vivien for orders, and Vivien was giving them when the young wife entered the room. She listened for a few minutes, with a smile, and then turning to Miss Neslie, said—

"How kind of you to relieve me of one of my duties! But I have no desire to evade them. I will give the orders every morning, Mrs. Spenser; I think I understand Sir Arthur's tastes now."

The housekeeper looked with pity on the deposed sovereign. Vivien's dignity sustained her. Lady Neslie was evidently determined to use her full authority; before a servant it should not be disputed.

"You are quite right, Lady Neslie," she said, calmly. "Mrs. Spenser will come to you for the future."

A charming smile overspread the fair young face. When the housekeeper had left the room, Sir Arthur's wife turned to his daughter with a laugh.

"How sensible you are, Vivien! Do you know, from your manner last evening, I felt quite afraid that I should have to dispute my rights inch by inch, as it were, with you. I am quite relieved."

"I should never dispute with you, Lady Neslie," was the calm reply. "I hope never to say one word to you inconsistent with good taste or good breeding."

"I would rather quarrel and make friends again fifty times every day than live on such ceremonious terms with any one," cried Lady Neslie. But Vivien made no answer.

Hours afterward, when the old housekeeper, who had known her since she was a child, came to say how sorry she was, Miss Neslie rightly told her it was quite right—Lady Neslie was mistress, now—not herself.

It was hard, gradually, surely, slowly to see herself deposed. It was his wife now whom Sir Arthur consulted on every occasion; it was to her he turned in any little difficulty, while Vivien sat by unnoticed. Lady Neslie ordered the carriage when she wanted it; she arranged the hours for visiting, the days for dinner-parties, what friends were to be invited. It was evident that she did not intend to forego one iota of her privileges. She said to Vivien once—

"I do not consult you, because I wish to rely upon myself, and it is as well to do so from the beginning. You will marry some day, and leave the Abbey; then I should have to learn afresh, if I began now to depend on you."

"I shall never leave the Abbey," said Vivien, hastily; "it will always be my home."

She would not have spoken so had she stopped to think; but her surprise had been too great. She left the Abbey, whose life was bound up in it!

Lady Neslie laughed; and this time there was something of a sneer in her laugh.

"Then, if you marry," she said, "do you intend to bring your husband home here?"

Vivien looked at her steadily.

"I think you forget yourself, Lady Neslie," she replied; "that is a matter concerning my father and myself alone."

"My grave, serious Vivien, if it concerns Sir Arthur, it must concern me; you cannot separate our interests."

"Nor will I discuss them," said

Vivien, calmly, as she quitted the room.

She walked to her favourite retreat—the pretty, old-fashioned garden where the sun-dial stood, and there, far from human eyes and ears, her indignant sorrow found vent. That she should leave the Abbey—her home—had never entered her mind. If anyone had said to her "that her soul was to leave her body, yet that she was to live on, it would have seemed easier to her. Leave the Abbey—she who had been born within the shelter of its walls, who had looked upon it as her home and her heritage, who had been prouder of its glories than the master to whom it belonged! The bare idea of it moved her to sharpest anger, to bitterest scorn.

That interloper, that insolent girl, to speak with a laugh on her face of what would be to her the direst of all calamities! The Abbey was more to her than herself—it was her outward life; away from it there could be no life for her.

Then she laughed to herself a contemptuous laugh. What a waste of emotion! The time would never come when she would prefer the love of a man, to the love of home. That was the first, that the enemy had fired, and it wounded her sorely.

Lady Neslie soon began to find that she had an enemy in this proud, imperial girl, whose face never softened for her. If it was to be warfare, she said to herself, it should at least be open on her part.

Not many days after that a large party of guests was assembled in the grounds of the Abbey; some were

A Remedy For All Pain

"The efficiency of any drug" says Dr. C. P. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all diseases is pain, and this is what we prevent most often applies to us for, i.e. something to relieve this pain. If we can arrest this promptly, the patient is most liable to trust in us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-Kamnia Tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have used them on many occasions, and have never been disappointed. I found them especially valuable for headaches of malarial origin, where quinine has been taken. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Anti-Kamnia Tablets are also excellent for the relief of headache from improper digestion; also for headaches of a neurotic origin, and especially for women subjects to pains of certain kind. Two Anti-Kamnia Tablets give prompt relief, and restore the patient to his usual state of health. These tablets may be obtained at all drugists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headaches, neuralgic and all pains.

morning callers, others visitors staying in the house. Lady Neslie, all life, gayety, and animation, wild with high spirits, was the ring-leader of all the mirth and merriment. Of all the large gardens and pleasure-grounds, Vivien had selected as her own the pretty retreat where the sun-dial stood and the golden gladioli grew; it was her own. Visitors might go where they would; friends might wander where they liked—that one corner was sacred to her. The gay, laughing group were discoursing about sun-dials, and Lady Neslie said there was a picturesque old one in the rose garden.

"Let us go and see it," she said. Vivien, who was present, looked up; but, before she had time to speak, Miss Smeaton, one of the visitors, remarked—

"We must not go there; that is Miss Neslie's garden."

Mildred looked up, with a light, short laugh.

"My dear Miss Smeaton—pardon, pardon me—what nonsense! That may have been the case in the dull old days. We have a brighter rule here now, and every one may go where they will."

She led the way laughingly, and most of the visitors followed her. So it was not in one, but in a thousand instances that Lady Neslie contrived to have her own way at the expense of Vivien's feelings.

If one thing annoyed Vivien more than another, it was to see her dignified father taking a share in the revels of which his wife was the queen and leader. He, who all his life had been so grave, so indifferent, who had never seemed to hasten his footsteps—it was a sore trial of her patience to see how the merry, laughing girl he had married could make him fall in with her every whim, could make him join in her pastimes and sports.

At such times the baronet seemed ill at ease in his daughter's presence. He liked to see his lovely young wife gay and happy; he liked to hear the ring of her laughter, the sound of her voice; he liked to follow her wild, fitful leadership, as she led him with undignified haste from one pastime to another. At such times he did not care to meet the grave, wondering look of his daughter. His present life was so different from the stately life he had led, he did not care that she should see him unbend and make himself the companion of a laughing, bright-faced girl. So it came about that gradually, but surely, Vivien found herself de trop, and came to the conclusion that Sir Arthur and his wife were happier without her.

CHAPTER VIII.

Before the end of the month of July the Abbey was filled with visitors. Lady Neslie seemed to have but one thought—how she could manage to extract the greatest amount of enjoyment from her life. As for quiet domestic felicity or anything of that kind, she never dreamt of it. Life, with her, meant a round of excitement; no seater was one festivity over than she began to plan for another. There was no rest, no cessation, and Sir Arthur was too much in love to resist her. Day by day Vivien's distrust grew greater. With her keen perception and quick womanly tact, she saw many things that quite escaped Sir Arthur's attention. She saw a deficiency of knowledge and of prudence, a want of thorough good breeding, which convinced her more and more that her father had in some way or other been deceived.

One morning she was greatly annoyed. The visitors had been through the picture-gallery, and as the day was too warm for driving or walking, they lingered there, divided into groups; admiring and discussing the different pictures, Lady Neslie laughing, and as usual the centre of a group of admirers. Vivien was close and several others were near. She was to her, Colonel Hetley, Lord Liston, did not hear the commencement of the conversation; but when her attention was drawn to it, it was by the use of her name. Colonel Hetley was saying to Lady Neslie—

"No two ladies could present a greater contrast than yourself and Miss Neslie. You might pass for the graceful goddess of beauty; Miss Neslie is like Juno."

Lady Neslie interrupted him, speaking quickly in her pretty brogue English—

Vigorol

Weak and run-down. Tired and sluggish. Eyes feel heavy. Headaches and feverish. Don't allow these symptoms to continue. Tone yourself up. Get a bottle of VIGOROL, it will do it, and do it quickly. Every spring one needs a good tonic. VIGOROL acts as a general house-cleaner; it gets after every organ and cleanses it. Get it to-day. At all drug stores.

The Allies' offensive may not come for a year. It may never come. This does not mean the Allies will lose. It does not mean that Germany will hold what it has taken. It means that the issue of the conflict and the terms of peace may be dictated not on the conditions of the battlefield, but by conditions back of the battlefields; not by shock of armies but by the vast hemorrhage which has bled the nations weak. This is superwarfare, the test of ultimate power.—Chicago Tribune.

Tiring, Ceaseless Back-Ache Can be Rubbed Away To-Night

Relief is Almost Unfailing from Even the First Application.

RUB ON NERVILINE.

Cold has a vicious way of finding out aching muscles or weak joints. How often pain settles in the back, causing inflammation and excruciating soreness. Stiffness and aching all over follows.

An application of Nerviline at the start gives immediate relief and prevents worse trouble.

When the pain is very acute, Nerviline has a chance to show its wonderful penetrating and pain-subduing power. It strikes in deeply, and its strike-in-deep quality proves its superiority to feeble remedies. Then this goodness is magnified by its strength, easily five times greater than most liniments.

Address

To Miss Ida Tucker, Teacher and Organist, St. Philip's.

Dear Miss Tucker,—At a meeting of the men of the congregation of St. Philip's Church, held yesterday afternoon, a unanimous and hearty vote of thanks was accorded you for your valuable and much appreciated services as organist during the past few years.

I was asked to convey this fact to you, and to express the regret which the congregation feels over your contemplated departure from the place. I was also asked to say that you take with you the very best wishes of the congregation of St. Philip's Church for your future welfare. May I add my personal appreciation of your work both as teacher and organist and my deep regret that you have decided to resign your position. Still I feel that it may be a good thing for you that you intend to become a nurse, and I have no doubt that you will become a very capable and efficient one.

That God may prosper you both spiritually and temporarily is the prayer of

Your friend and Pastor,
A. E. E. LEGGE.

REPLY:
To The Congregation of St. Philip's Church.

My Dear People,—Will you accept my heartfelt thanks for your kind vote of thanks and the beautiful gifts which succeeded it.

I feel from a building and received what the doctor called a very bad sprained ankle, and told me I must not walk on it for three weeks. I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and in six days I was out to work again. I think it the best Liniment made.

British Valour Unsurpassed.

Washington Post.—British courage was never more gloriously exhibited than it has been by the soldiers and sailors of the empire during the present conflict. The long roll of British victories in the past centuries was never embellished by nobler feats of arms than those performed upon land and sea by the British army and navy during the past twelve months. No Clontarf gave greater glory to Irishmen than has the ceaseless warfare in the trenches of Flanders given to the sons of the Emerald Isle. The courage of Banockburn has carried through the intervening centuries, and the men of Scotland have died at Namur, at Mons and at Ypres even as their fathers died for generations that their land should be kept free. Crecy, Pottiers, Agincourt, Blenheim, Badajoz or Waterloo gave English soldiers no greener laurels for bravery than have Neuve Chappelle, St. Julien and Givenchy. British valor is unsurpassable by troops of any nation that the sun shines upon. Kitchener and French and other British commanders have accomplished all that it was possible to accomplish.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, July 21, 1915.

We recommend Excelsis Shaving Sticks because we are convinced that it gives remarkably good value at the price asked. This price is a little higher than that of some sticks, but you certainly get a soap which possesses in a quite uncommon degree the main qualities which go to make a shaving soap do its work well and truly. Excelsis Shaving Soap gives a thick, white, creamy lather, which is quite bland and unirritating, and does not soon dry on the face. It makes shaving as near a luxury as anything can render that necessary. The operation, and it is decidedly economical in use. We know a man who has got over a twelve month of daily shaving out of a single stick—no bad record for 35c. worth of shaving soap.

The tendency in fall suits is toward more closely fitted effects.

The Same Issue

Says Roosevelt.

No Change in the Situation as to Germany Since the Lusitania Was Sunk—An Act of Murderous Piracy.

New York, July 12.—That the issue between the United States and Germany is just what it was when the Lusitania was sunk, was asserted last evening by Theodore Roosevelt just as he was about to take a train for the West. Mr. Roosevelt's remarks made it clear that he did not consider that the exchange of notes had made a particle of difference in the situation, and that he still believed the sinking of the Lusitania was an inexcusable act of piracy.

"What do you think of the last German note?" he was asked.

"I have only to say this," he said. "Turn back your files to what I said when the Lusitania was sunk. What I said then applies now, and in the end the United States will have to recognize that fact. What I said at that time covers the case. I said it then and I say it now."

The statement Mr. Roosevelt made on May 9th, follows:

"On the night of the day that the disaster occurred, I called the attention of our people to the fact that the sinking of the Lusitania was not only an act of simple piracy, but that it represented piracy, accompanied by murder on a vaster scale than any old-time pirate had ever practised before being hanged for his misdeeds. I called attention to the fact that this was merely the application on the high seas, and at our expense, of the principles which when applied on land, had produced the innumerable hideous tragedies that have occurred in Belgium and Northern France. I said that not only our duty to humanity, but our duty to preserve our own national self-respect, demanded instant action on our part and forbade all delay. I can do little more than reiterate what I then said. When the German decree establishing the war zone was issued, and, of course, plainly threatened the type of tragedy which has occurred, our Government notified Germany that in the event of any such wrongdoing at the expense of our citizens we would hold the German Government to a strict accountability. The use of this phrase 'strict accountability,' of course must mean and only can mean that action will be taken by us without an hour's unnecessary delay. It was eminently proper to use the exact phrase that was used, and having used it our own self-respect demands that we forthwith abide by it."

F. S. Pearson's Will

ESTIMATED $500,000.00.

Pittsfield, July 12.—The sum of $500,000 is left to Tufts College, $50,000 to the Lowell General Hospital, and $50,000 to the House of Mercy, this city, by the will of Dr. Fred S. Pearson, Lusitania victim, late of Great Barrington, this State, and London, Eng., filed for probate here to-day. No bond has been filed showing the amount of Massachusetts property but it is understood that Dr. Pearson left an estate of about $500,000.

The residue of the property was left to two sons and a daughter. The sum of $200,000 was left in trust for certain relatives and upon the death of the legatees and their children the fund will be equally divided between the Young Men's Christian Association of Manchester, N.H., and Lowell, Mass.

Mr. Pearson was a graduate of Tufts in the class of 1883 and had many times shown his interest in and loyalty to the college. As a trustee he was instrumental in raising several funds.

FOR USE OF FRENCH.

New York, July 15.—A Paris special to the World says:— One thousand American aeroplanes, purchased with American money and officered by American aviators, are to be tendered by an American organization fathered by a former United States Ambassador to France for the use of the French army in the present war.

It is reported that already $1,000,000 has been raised by Americans for the project and that an American of even greater prominence than the former Ambassador soon will come forward as the chief of the organization.

ABSOLUTELY INCOMPREHENSIBLE.

New York Times.—Our patience and our tolerance are the best possible evidence that this is the freest of all countries, for in no other country would such tolerance be shown. The absolutely incomprehensible thing about it is why, when so many of those taking part in unseemly agitations have come here to enjoy the blessings of liberty, they should now be such ardent partisans of a Government that would put all of them in jail if they so abused their privileges within its jurisdiction.

The leftovers of fresh fruits can be cooked just enough to prevent their spoiling, put into jelly glasses and put into the lemonade. It will make a delightful fruit punch.

Significant Statements

Lord Cromer, in the House of Lords yesterday, expressed the opinion that "the only way to rehabilitate the finances of this or any other country, is complete victory, resulting in the overthrow of Kaiserism, and the establishment of a real constitutional Government in Germany."

I was sorry to be unable to attend personally the ceremony of the presentation of a Colour to the Regiment.

ARTHUR STEEL-MAITLAND, Colonel (tem. Surgeon-General) M. W. Russell, Deputy Director of the War Office.

Memorandum on the Newfoundland Association. 1. It has never been suggested or thought that the object of any Association here was to supply material needs which Newfoundland itself was not able and ready to give.

Oporto Market. The following is an extract of a letter received from Oporto by the Board of Trade here:-

"The arrivals have lately been very heavy and the market is now over supplied. Sales are very limited at the high prices demanded by the shippers and as further supplies are expected and the demand is very limited, we think the present values cannot be maintained. The rate of exchange is about 36 1/2."

To-Day's Baseball.

The Cubs and Shamrocks will clash in this afternoon's baseball match. The players will be:

Cubs—Simms, pitcher; Clouston, catcher; T. Winter, 1st base; Peddigrue, 2nd base; Meehan, 3rd base; St. John, s. stop; Tessier, r. field; Ryall, c. field; D. Winter, l. field.

EMPLOYED BY H. M. GOVERNMENT.—Messrs. C. Bond and C. McCoubrey engineers on the Nascopee, have resigned their positions and will leave shortly for England, where they will be employed by H. M. Government. They secured their new positions through one of the agencies controlled by the Government and will probably enter upon their new work at Manchester.

Our Volunteers.

The total number of volunteers enrolled to date is 2,077, the following having enlisted with the Reserve Force yesterday:

David E. Savers, St. John's. Jos. Ryan, St. John's. Thomas, St. John's. John S. Blackall, Peterhead, Scotland. Peter G. Smith, Lumsden, Aberdeen, Scotland. Hayward Bruce, Green's Hr., T.B. Fishers are now 115 men on drill, and recruiting is progressing favourably.

The Superfluities!

By RUTH CAMERON.

"She had never realized that the glitter and magnificence of society in great capitals can exist only against a background of misery and starvation."

"This is one of the show places of this city. There are twenty-seven bath-rooms, beside all the other rooms. Eight servants are employed to keep the house in order, and the family consists of one elderly woman who seldom entertains."

"I do resent the Superfluities, but I do grow hot when I hear about superfluities. There is some justification for luxuries that are used, but in the face of all the bitter want in this world what moral right has anyone, no matter how rich, to superfluities that he hangs on to not for utility, but simply for the lust of possession?"

"Thank God there is such a place on this earth. Pray God there may soon be more."

"If the bees have come up too thick, weed them out and cut up the refuse into fine scraps for the chickens; it will be good for them. Chickens that are penned up should be fed greens, grubs and grains."

"And They Can Go Away. I never pass the handsome homes in a beautiful suburb of my home"

"We pride ourselves on saying that no article leaves our store that does not comply with all the claims we make for it."

"In offering this season's teas we have no hesitation in saying that a finer or better tea than 'Homestead' has never been offered at the price."

city in the summer when they are closed and boarded up without thinking—these homes are so beautiful that it would be no hardship to stay in them through the summer and yet it is these people who can go away, while those who live in the ugly, crowded part of the city where summer is unendurable have to stay in their homes. Another manifestation of the superfluous versus the necessary."

"They tell us sometimes that these things have to be, that there is no other possible condition of affairs than satiety of luxury, piled up superfluities for the few, and for the many the joy-killing lack of the simplest pleasures, lives which the money iron of a daily struggle to make ends meet has entered and blasted, death from overwork, evil industrial conditions or plain lack of enough food to support life."

"I don't believe it. And I have a reason. The Country I Want To Visit. I have recently decided what country I want most to visit when I go abroad. Norway. No, not because of its magnificent scenery, its wonderful mountains and fjords. But because of these sentences: 'Norway is undoubtedly the happiest and most progressive country in Europe. It is not a wealthy country and it does not afford capitalists opportunities for piling up fortunes. Nobody is very rich and everybody appears to have a sufficiency.'"

United States to Give Austria

A DIRECT REFUSAL.

Washington, July 15.—The United States probably will send within another fortnight a reply to the note recently received from the Austro-Hungarian Government, which contended that the extensive shipments of war supplies from this country to the Allies was "not in consonance with the definition of neutrality."

"Unofficially word came to-day that Turkey would follow Germany and Austria in making representations on this subject, and should a note from the Ottoman Government arrive officials would delay the sending of their answers so as simultaneously to inform the Germanic allies of the unalterable view of the United States on arms shipments."

Many Subscriptions TO ITALIAN WAR LOAN.

Rome, July 16.—Subscriptions to the new Italian war loan, which was authorized by royal decree on June 17 continue to come in most satisfactorily, but, owing to the possible length of the war, other loans which the Government officials prefer should be voluntarily are foreseen.

It has been suggested that a forced loan be resorted to if difficulty is encountered in raising sufficient money in which case the forced loan would be omitted in proportion to the income of every citizen above a certain sum. This would not be so advantageous as the present voluntary loan.

Persons who subscribed to the voluntary loan in proportion to their income would be exempt from the forced loan.

English Women Ask for Share in War.

Will Demonstrate to Prove Determination to Take Hand in Fight.

London, July 15.—Women are coming from every quarter of the United Kingdom to take part in a great patriotic procession through the West End on Saturday to demonstrate to London and to the Minister of Munitions how strong is the determination of the women of England to take a share in defeating the Germans. The promise of the early days of the organization that it was to be the biggest thing of the kind ever seen is being maintained. Miss Annie Kenney estimates that there will be at least thirty bands and a hundred banners, as well as thousands of pennants.

Mrs. Pankhurst will lead the procession, and among the notable women who have signified their intention of marching are Mme. Clara Butt, Mme. Marchesi, Lady Glanusk, Lady Dupplin, the Hon. Mrs. Frederick, Guest, Lady Byron, Lady Colebrook, Princess Sophia Duleep Singh and Mrs. Waldorf Astor."

Aerial Torpedo

LATEST GERMAN DEATH DEALER

London, July 12.—The German military authorities have succeeded in developing an aerial torpedo which can be directed by Hertzian waves from the navigation platform of a distant Zeppelin. The new weapon possesses all the destructive properties of the undersea torpedo and in general appearance resembles the weapon which is fired from submarines.

Until now the Zeppelins have had no means of discharging bombs other than to drop them from high in the air over the object which it has been sought to destroy. The result has been that many bombs have gone wide of their mark deflected during the fall by currents of air or miscalculation.

Refractory errors due to light and atmospheric conditions have contributed to the wild dropping of the German bombs, until seemed that so long as the Zeppelins remained high in the air, which of necessity they must do in order to avoid destruction from anti-aircraft guns, no accurate work could be assured.

The experimental stations of the Germans have demonstrated the absolute success of guiding torpedoes through the air by Hertzian waves after the same manner in which undersea torpedoes have been directed by electric batteries on land.

Smaller than Whitehead.

The new German aerial torpedo is shorter than the standard 18-foot Whitehead, the length of the new German weapon being stated at seven feet. It is believed that this size is for the present limited merely to the practical question of affording to a Zeppelin a maximum number of weapons for firing rather than a very limited number of extra large size.

According to the information obtainable, the new aerial weapon obtains its buoyancy through the medium of water gas and compressed air gas. The weapon is kept at any desired height by means of two underbody screws actuated by a common shaft. The propelling power is afforded by two stern screws, and both the underbody and the stern screws are under control of the Hertzian waves sent out from the Zeppelin."

"The torpedo is composed of two bodies, the outer of chrome nickel steel and the inner of a substance similar to that which enters into the construction of Zeppelins."

"The torpedo carries an electric accumulator and also an electric motor generator, the latter being actuated by the Hertzian waves. These Hertzian waves are projected on the Telefunken wireless system."

Captain of Ship Torpedoed by Hun

Tells Story of How the Vessel Was Hit Without Warning.

A thrilling account of the torpedoing of the Montreal steamer Cairndhu is given by Capt. Purvis, who was in charge and arrived here this morning with the Cairndhu.

"We were torpedoed without a slightest warning," he said to the Star, "and did not get a glimpse of the submarine. We were about 10 miles off Brighton at the time, having just passed Beachy Head. It was late Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock and thousands of holiday trippers on the Brighton esplanade heard the explosion. For the next two hours they saw the Cairntor sinking and finally disappeared, a great sight for them."

"I was in the chart room at the time setting the course. Then the mate suddenly shouted 'hard a port.' Before I could get up there was a tremendous explosion forward. I was thrown off my feet with the vessel took, and a stove behind me was sent rolling out on to the deck."

"When I got to the bridge the form the forward hold was littered on the bridge and deck. 'Well, I said to Grind, the mate, 'What do you think of your friends now?'"

The mate was formerly Captain Grind of the Montreal freighter cona, a naturalized German who has his command on representations to his nationality.

"Grind did not say much," continued the captain. "We had plenty of time to man the boats and put two visits to the ship before she went down. Torpedo craft and tugs came out to our assistance, but the Cairntor went down slowly by the time whenever they started towing her was a very trying experience. The noise and shock of a torpedo hitting a ship cannot be described."

Captain Purvis had with him on Cairndhu three of the Cairntor crew and three from the Iona who was torpedoed later. While on shore at his home in Newcastle, Captain Purvis and his family narrowly escaped destruction in a Zeppelin attack on that raid was far worse and more terrifying than being torpedoed," said.

"It is pretty hard that a sailor wife should have terrors like added to the suspense she is usually under to her husband's safe—Montreal Star.

FOR THE NURSERY.

"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household.

Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the instantaneous or Circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs, downstairs, and in my lady's chamber,"—without any labour at all—Independently of the state of the kitchen fire.

The cost is reasonable.

FOR THE BATHROOM.

An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance.

Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost! Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of grate cleaning—and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm weather!

A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no flues to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.

The master of the house has his shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

When "Spring cleaning days" suggest the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.

But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem.

Latter-day domestics are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes.

The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous.—may12.1f

Shells Made Here Must be Loaded Before Shipment.

Ottawa, July 13.—That there has been considerable public and official misunderstanding in regard to the supply of shells to the British War Office by Canada would appear from the true facts of the matter as ascertained. The crux of the situation has been in a change in the war office's requirements from empty shells to loaded ones, and the consequent change rendered necessary in the plans of Canadian shell makers.

Roughly speaking, it may be stated, however, that inside three months Canada will be able to supply the same number of filled shells as she has formerly supplied of empty ones.

The first orders for shells received in Canada were for empty ones. At that time Great Britain was in a position to fill the empty shells received from Canada as well as to manufacture her own loaded ones.

Acting on these requests the Shell Committee which had been created in Canada by General Hughes organized Canadian manufacturers for the production of empty shells and was shortly able to supply large quantities of these, more, in fact, than had been promised. The requirements of the first order were filled early last spring. In March, however, when the Shell Committee sought further orders, it was informed that the War Office wished for no more empty shells. It appeared that with the great stimulation of the manufacture of munitions in Britain itself facilities for filling empties received from outside sources no longer existed.

Meanwhile Canadian manufacturers had been complaining that they were not receiving sufficient orders and that orders from the French and British Governments were going to American sources. It is understood that representations to this effect were made by the Canadian Government and that reply was received that the British authorities engaged with the securing of munitions were prepared to accept greatly increased supplies of shells from Canada.

But, and here was the difficulty, they must be filled shells. It was suggested that Great Britain's facilities might permit of her filling empty Canadian shells on delivery, but reply was made that this was not now feasible. It was finally stated that D. A. Thomas would be sent to Canada and to the United States as representing the new Minister of Munitions, Mr. Lloyd George, and would take up this matter with the Canadian authorities.

Meanwhile the Shell Committee has been figuring on the supply of filled projectiles instead of empty ones. It estimates that while at present Canada could supply loaded shells only 25 per cent. of its output of empty ones, this percentage could be increased to 35 per cent. in one month and that in three months the full rate of output promised could be filled in loaded shells.

The whole matter will be further discussed with Mr. Thomas, who will arrive here shortly and the activities of the Shell Committee and of Canadian manufacturers will be on the question of converting Canada's supply of the complete shell.

Fulham Boy Hero of Eighteen Years Says "It Was a Very Small Affair."

The youngest soldier who has been awarded the Victoria Cross is Private Edward Dwyer, of the East Surrey Regiment. He is only eighteen years of age. On his return to his home in Fulham he found the street ablaze with festoons of flags stretching across the road.

Private Dwyer, who was a green-grocer's assistant when he joined the East Surrey Regiment, in an interview, describing his gallant feat, said:—"It was a very small affair, and I don't want to say much about it. I only did my duty. But if you want to know, it happened this way: I was in a trench on the side of Hill 60, when the other fellows retired, and I was left alone. The Germans were in a trench only 15 yards away—so close that I could hear them talking in their lingo. I knew that if they took this trench it would be a bad job for our other trenches behind, so I collected all the grenades I could get hold of and started throwing them at the Germans. They threw back, doubtless thinking there were a lot of men in the trench, and I kept on throwing until at last reinforcements arrived, and the trench was safe. I think I killed three or four of the Germans, but their bombs all missed me.

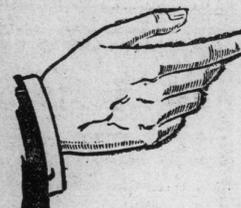

"It was a week later that I got hit on the head, and was taken to hospital."

THE EMPLOYERS.

The men who do the heavy toiling, when flies are bad and heat is broiling, are often plunged in grief and dismay. They argue, with the vim of lawyers, that fortune favors their employers, who wear glad rags and ride in motors, and look with scorn on sweating voters. But they who wear the purple raiment, who hire the men and make the payment, have griefs to burn, as well as fellows who wield the sledge or pump the bellows. They burn the midnight oil and wonder how in the name of patent thunder, the way the tide of trade is flowing, they'll keep the blamed old business going. They're jolted now by Wall street spotters; how will they pay the honest toilers, who envy them their lot so easy, which lot is quite distinctly cheesey? The whistle blows; the man of labor goes home to gossip with his neighbour, to smoke his pipe, tell stories funny, and curse all capital and money. One gloomy fact supremely clear is; all men have woes, whatever their sphere is; we should not envy, then, a brother, but sympathize with one another.

THE EMPLOYERS.

Paris, July 15th.—"The gains which the enemy was able to realize yesterday did not exceed at any point four hundred metres (a quarter of a mile) in depth.

"In the Vosges there has been a violent bombardment at Fontenelle. "Our aviators, continuing their bombing succeeded yesterday in causing important damage to the station at Libercoart, the military bifurcation between Douai and Lille. One squadron of twenty aeroplanes dropped on the buildings and roads eighty-four shells. Aeroplanes furnished with cannon, bombarded a train that had come to a stop between two stations and obliged a German aeroplane to come to the ground.

Garding Against Submarine Attacks on Atlantic Coast.

Ottawa, July 9.—While the authorities of the naval service department are not disposed to place too much reliance upon German threats of a submarine base on the Canadian Atlantic coast, it is not intended to take any chances.

Shipping is being warned to be on the lookout for such hostile craft, and it is very probable that a regular system of patrols will be instituted. The new type of German submarines can quite easily cross the Atlantic and this fact in itself is regarded as justification of special precautions.

The initial step would be the placing of additional patrol boats on the Atlantic and the constant maintenance of a vigilant lookout, with the object of preventing the establishment of a submarine base.

This work will call for "fast, well-armed vessels, a number of which are already patrolling the coast and have been since the outbreak of war. It is thought that the steam yacht turned over to the Government by Sir John Eaton may be used in this service, or may replace another vessel sent out on an anti-submarine errand.

The eastern coast of the Dominion is in many places desolate and difficult of access from the sea, and numerous islands exist which are sufficiently lonely and out of the way to afford refuge for hostile submarine craft. At the same time there are seamen in the Canadian Atlantic coast service who are familiar with these islands and who know the coast like a book, and it is not thought probable that the whereabouts of a hostile submarine base, even if once established could be long concealed.

Three Reformatory School V. C.'s.

No fewer than 19,648 boys from the great reformatory and industrial schools in Great Britain have served during the war in the naval or military forces.

Three of them have won the V. C., 25 the D. C. M., and 20 have been mentioned in despatches. Three have been decorated by the French Government and eight have received commissions.

The roll of honour includes 530 killed in action, 62 who died of wounds or sickness, and 1,540 wounded.

The Home Secretary in a letter to the managers of the schools congratulates the staff and the boys on this excellent record.

WOMEN WHO ARE ALWAYS TIRED

May Find Help in This Letter.

Swan Creek, Mich.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When through neglect or overwork I get run down and my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a great blessing to women, and I cannot speak too highly of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNE CAMERON, R.F.D., No. 1, Swan Creek, Michigan.

Another Sufferer Relieved.

Hebron, Me.—"Before taking your medicine I was all run down, discouraged and had female weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and find today that I am an entirely new woman, ready and willing to do my housework now, where before taking your medicine it was a dread. I try to impress upon the minds of all ailing women I meet the benefits they can derive from your medicines."—Mrs. CHARLES ROWS, R. F. D., No. 1, Hebron, Maine.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Little girls are usually interested in learning to sew and knit if the work is presented to them in the guise of a game, and sensible mothers who realize that truly useful employment is just as enjoyable as purposeless games, and to keep a supply of kindergarten materials on hand. Sewing cards and fancy worsteds are but a preparation for real sewing and embroidery and soon lead to the child's learning to make doll's clothes and other real work.

Another incentive to the art of crocheting is the so-called "wonder box," which resembles a small decorated handbox enclosing a good-sized ball of yarn and the crochet needle for making play reins or long strips for mats. Another suitable work game for a child is to begin a doll's quilt, either of knitting or of the old-fashioned patchwork, the fitting together of the squares and the neatness of the stitching being all a part of the game.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE.

TO THE STORE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY.

Ten Strong Reasons

Why You should Buy Your Furniture from us.

- 1st—We produce our own lumber which goes into the Furniture and saves considerable in cost.
- 2nd—We have the Surface Oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 3rd—We import our own Coverings for our Parlor Suites, thus saving two duties, as most all the imported Suites come from Canada and the United States, and they have to import their coverings from France or some of the European countries, and pay duty into Canada or the States. We avoid the second duty by getting the Covering ourselves and having the frames made here.
- 4th—We have our Springs made from the wire by the only Weaver in the country; also the Oxford or Copper Wire Spring by machines too.
- 5th—We have our Mattresses made by machinery in our own building, the only machine of its kind in the country. It can produce 50 against 19 by hand, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 6th—We are producing the Excelsior or Wood Fibre and cutting the cost in two, which will mean considerable saving in the making of Mattresses.
- 7th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated Ideal Beds and Springs and sell at factory price.
- 8th—We also have the COMBINATION LATH and SPRING BED, the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 9th—Having the factory in the same building, we can handle all sizes all repairing; in fact you can choose your own Coverings for Parlor Suites, Mattresses, etc., and have it made to order.
- 10th—Our motto (last but not least) is to sell at the lowest possible prices, and despite the serious advance in prices all round, we are, where possible, reducing the prices, WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY HOUSEKEEPER when in need of Furniture and Furnishings, as we now by arrangement work from the "Tree to the Home," thus cutting out all middlemen's profits.

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY.
(By Harold McGrath.)

Cloth 60c; if mailed, 75c more.
At the foundation of the plot of this exciting mystery story, there is a secret organization in Russia. Then are given glimpses of country house society, the modern boarding-school, the fashionable restaurant, the enterprising twentieth century newspaper reporter, the romance and mystery that may be linked together by two halves of a bracelet, the love of a father for his daughter, the devotion of an old family servant, the intrigues of a band of thieves and blackmailers and plenty of the old love that is always new, not to mention the million dollars about which the whole thing revolves and which, in these times, has an especially pleasing ring. All these result in a story that keeps the reader with pulses tingling.
