MISSIONARY MEETING.

An Interesting Session in the Methodist Church.

Last Monday evening, March 6th inst, there was a missionary meeting held in the Methodist church, and was attended by a large number of people.

The meeting was opened at 7.30 by singing "The Morning Light is Breaking." Prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. Spargo, and the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. D. B. Bayley, after which the choir sang "The Gospel Bells are Ringing." Rev. D. B. Bayley, who occupied the chair, made a few remarks and then introduced Rev. H. D. Marr, who gave a pleasing address. In his opening remarks he said that it was one of the largest missionary meetings he had ever attended, and he was glad to say that the interest in the work was on the increase. He took up the subject of "The Great Fatherhood of God and Brotherhood of Man." He said that God intended to have a kingdom. That the early day kingdom was a moral and spiritual one; then went on to show that all belonged to the kingdom. He said that the world did not yet fully grasp that it is its duty to spread the gospel. That the missionary work was the great means of opening up commerce with the heathen countries, and from that point of view alone was a success, but the most important work was to reach the souls of the heathen. He believed that the "Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man" was coming on apace. In closing the speaker said that we all could do something to forward the great cause and build up this kingdom, and that was by giving. Then followed an appeal for help along the financial line.

The choir sang "Speed Away," after which Rev. W. H. Spargo was called upon to address the meeting. He said that one of the great difficulties in the missionary work was selfishness. That missionaries had a great spirit of unselfishness, and that we should have the same spirit and give to their support as we could afford. He then gave a resume of five addresses he had listened to given by Thomas Crosby, the great North West missionary. Told how Mr. Crosby had formed a council with the worst characters among the Indians as officers; then of some of the evil practices of the "medicine man." How he had carried the work on until they had a church built, and of the readiness of the converted Indians to give. He said that Thomas Crosby's work alone repaid us for our efforts, but that the Methodist church was not the only one that was doing such work, nor the North West the only place where such work was being done. He told in bringing his address to a close some incidents connected with Mrs. McFarland's work, a Presbyterian missionary. His address was listened to with much interest.

The choir sang "Jesus Saves" while the collection was being taken up which amounted to $5.90. The meeting was closed by singing the Doxology and Mr. Spargo pronouncing the benediction.

The Andover Station.

J. A. Perley of Andover, is circulating a petition to get the station at that place open to the public again. It will be remembered that this station was not reopened after the telegrapher's strike in 1896. Through this the people of Andover have suffered much inconvenience. Although express trains stop there, the house is never opened and passengers obliged to wait for the train in the winter, or during the rain, often suffer. The claim of the Andover people is a just one and it should have the attention of the railway authorities. As far as freight is concerned it is found very unhandy for Andover merchants to haul all their goods from Perth, across the bridge.

There can scarcely be a possibility that the station will remain closed if the people persist in their demand.

Illness at Andover.

Andover correspondence of the Sun says: "Miss Emma Bedell, youngest daughter of John Bedell, has been ill for the past six or seven months with consumption. She was brought home from the hospital in St. John six or eight weeks ago, where nothing much could be done for her. Since she was brought home she had improved very much, much to the delight of her many friends, but within the last two or three days she has grown much worse.

Mrs. Thomas Cameron, who has been quite ill with la grippe, is able to be around again.

Good Cattle.

Ernest Plummer of Waterville sold a carload of Holstein stock cattle to Mr. McLean of Presque Isle. The cows were shipped from this station on Wednesday.

Mr. Plummer has perhaps a cow with the best record for milking in Carleton county. She began giving milk on April 1st last year, and continued so doing up to last week. During that time she gave 10,180 pounds, over five tons, of milk. Whose cow can beat this?

An Enterprising Firm.

There are few men more wide awake and enterprising than Estey & Curtis, who spare no pains to secure the best of everything in their line for their many customers. They now have the Agency for Dr. King's New Discovery, which surely cures Consumption, Coughs and Colds. This is the wonderful remedy that is now producing so much excitement all over the country, by its many startling cures. It absolutely cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Nausea, and all affections of the Throat, Chest and Lungs. You can test it before buying it, by calling at the above Drug Store and get a trial Bottle Free, or regular size for 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure, or price refunded.

A Delirious Day in Butte City.

[From the Anaconda Standard.]

I have read of Roman triumphs in the days when Rome played ball;
When she met all other nations, taking out of each a fall;
When victorious Roman generals marched their legions home in state, With the plunder of the conquered—and the conquered paid the freight Gorgons were those vast processions rolling through the streets of Rome; Mad with joy went all the Romans welcoming the veterans home Gold there was for fifty Klondikers swiped from temples of the gods;
Marble statues by the cartloads, gems enough to stone the dogs.
Following chariot cars were captives, damsels by the hundred score, Ballet dancers from far harems, savage men and beasts galore.
Millions cheered and yelled and thundered;
shook the earth as by a storm;
All Rome howled—and yet Rome's howling
after all was not so warm;
For these monster Roman triumphs, at which not a stone was mute, Couldn't hold a Roman candle—
When Bryan came to Butte.

I have read of the uprising of the men of la belle France
When Napoleon came from Elba, eager for another chance;
Marble hearts and frozen shoulders turned the generals to their chief,
But the people hailed their master with a rapture past belief.
What though France lay stunned and bleeding, she arose and got too gay What if he had lost her fortune, still the devil was to pay;
Though he'd killed a million soldiers and came back to kill some more,
The survivors stood there ready to give up their inmost gore;
And they wept and sung and shouted,
whooped and roared in sheer delight,
On their knees they begged, implored him to pull off another fight—Sure the champion was in training, and in training couldn't lose; Thus they danced around and acted as if jagged with wildest booze.
But the passion which they cherished for this fiery French galoot
Was as zero to that witnessed
When Bryan came to Butte.

I have read of Queen Victoria and her diamond jubilee.
London rose and did the handsome—it was something up to G.
Long and glittering the procession—beat old Barnum's best to death:
When the Queen is on exhibit, even cyclones hold their breath.
Troops of white and black and yellow—regiments from East and West—
All the glory of Great Britain—pomp until you couldn't rest.
Russia also cut a figure when she crowned her present Czar.
In the line of fancy blowouts Russian stock is up to par.
There were balls and fetes and fireworks, band played on and cannon roared; Monarchy was at the bat, and all their royal jiblets scored.
Add the Moscow show to London's, take the paralyzing pair—Put the Queen and Czar together, yoke the lion and the bear—Swell these pageantries of Europe till you get a dream to suit—
And it's pretty small potatoes—
When Bryan came to Butte.

Bryan has himself had triumphs, some ovations off and on—
Just a little bit the biggest that the sun e'er shone upon.
You remember the convention in Chicago,
do you not?
When the party went to Bryan and the goldbugs went to pot.

You remember the excitement when he rose and caught the crowd,
When for fully twenty minutes everybody screamed aloud.
Oh, the mighty roar of thousands as he smote
the cross of gold,
As he gripped the British lion in a giant's strangle hold!
Oh, the fury of the frenzy as he crushed the crown of thorns,
As he grasped the situation, as he held it by the horns!
Some there were who leaped three benches,
some who stood upon their head,
Some who tried to kick the ceiling, more who tried to wake the dead.
'Twas a record-breaking rouser, down to fame it shoots the chute—
But it wasn't quite a fly-spec—
When Bryan came to Butte.

Ah, when Bryan came to Butte! greatest mining camp on earth,
Where the people dig and delve, and demand their money's worth.
Though the Wall street powers despise them
and abuse them like a dog, Bryan is their friend and saviour and they love him as a god
Did they meet him when they came there?
Did they make a little noise?
Were they really glad to see him? Do you think it pleased the boys?
'Twas the screaming of the eagle as he never screamed before,
'Twas the crashing of the thunder, mingled with Niagara's roar.
All the whistles were a-screaming, with the bands they set the pace—
But the yelling of the people never let them get a place.
Dancing up and down and sideways, splitting lungs and throats and ears, All were yelling, and at yelling seemed wound up a thousand years.

Of the earth's great celebrations, 'twas the champion heavyweight,
'Tis the champion of champions for all time,
I calculate,
For it knocked out all its rivals, and still standing, resolute, Punched creation's solar plexus—
When Bryan came to Butte.

Literary Review.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAGAZINE.

The March number of this magazine has the first of a series of papers by Lieut. Col Munsell on "The New Brunswick Militia," therefore the next few issues will be of special attraction to those interested in military affairs. The regular departments are full of interest as usual. Published by W. K. Reynolds, St. John. $1.50 a year.

Seed Wheat and Turnips.

The following notice of interest to farmers appears in the Royal Gazette: Agricultural societies and others requiring seed wheat for the year 1899, will please send in their orders to the Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, as soon as possible, stating quantity and variety wanted. Turnip seed of the same variety as furnished last year. "Carter's Kangaroo" can also be spoken for from the Department. C. H. LaBillois, Commissioner of Agriculture.

How's This for a Yarn.

Upper Kent Cor. to the Dispatch says: "A horse which has made a record for itself is the property of W. J. Miller, Muniac. He tied the horse at the store of B. Kilburn. The horse took fright, broke away and ran up the road about half a mile, then took to the railroad track, upon which he ran the distance of eight miles, passing over culverts 50 feet long, making the distance in less than half an hour. It started over the railway bridge at Perth but missed its step and fell through. Nothing broke about the rig, and the horse was not injured except for some bruises which it received when it fell through the bridge.

Inspector Colpitts Makes A Seizure,

Last Friday, Scott Act Inspector Colpitts drove to the boundary line on the Houlton road, accompanied by Constables Braydon, McAlpine and John Scott, on a double team and seized a quantity of liquor on the premises of Clarence Hogan, who keeps a liquor store there. A man named Belanger, who was in charge at the time, was arrested. Hogan appeared on the scene later on and struck Braydon twice on the face, after which he escaped to the American side of his store. The constables drove to town with their prisoner and a sled load of liquor. Police Magistrate Dibblee fined Belanger $100 and ordered the liquor destroyed.

Notes from Centreville.

Politics—Custom Officer to Resign—Fire, Personal, Etc.

Now that the political battle is over, the victors and the vanquished, each have a different version to give of success or defeat. The former say the Blair government was popular, while the latter say it was an uphill fight against the patronage, power and money of the Local and Dominion governments, with the power and prospect of a bridge at Hartland. The opposition having to contend with this, it is a wonder they did not lose their deposit. There is proof enough to show that enough money has been wasted to build two bridges at Hartland, and the encouragement given for one is that a company's bonds will be protected. How will that be done? If the company does not materialize to furnish the funds, what is the guarantee that the government will come to the rescue? The time was opportune before the election for the people to make their demands, for the government to take charge, and provide funds, and instead of guarantee bonds, furnish the means and accomplish the erection. No doubt they will be able to run the third election on this bridge racket.

Joseph Vandine's house narrowly escaped destruction by fire last Sunday morning. When discovered flames were breaking out near the chimney. It is supposed a defective flue was the cause. Willing hands and plenty of water saved the building.

Dr. Perkins has been to Bangor to learn how to dehorn cattle. The doctor is a hustler, and is a safe person to ward off diseases of the quadrupeds.

A disease called mumps, prevalent in this section, is no respecter of persons. Children and adults alike suffer. Many of the school children were victims, and now teacher "Perry" is a victim and laid up for repairs.

La Grippe has spent its force. Many have suffered during the past winter; a few died.

Collector Irvine says he will vacate the office 1st of May. The faithful are all in the race. Who will it be? "No opposition need apply," so says Mr. Carvill, M. P. P. AMICUS.

[NOTE.—Regarding the bridge "Amicus" is evidently astray, inasmuch as the company is already practically formed, as has been stated. "Amicus" should be more optimistic.—EDITOR.]

Transcript: The Fredericton Reporter does not seem to take one-half the interest in the opening of the provincial legislature it formerly did. The legislature's glory has departed and it is not improbable that Brother Pitts will advocate its abolition.

A Complaint.

Editor ADVERTISER:

DEAR SIR—Hoping you were one of the great majority in the last election contest in this county, and that there will soon be a bridge at Hartland; the gaol (if you want it,) and I would say, a lard factory, too, if such were possible, as I would have all good things for Hartland. Yet I cannot say that I am very much flattered with the way some of the merchants there have of doing business. And now I mean to explain fully to you, as I think it should be done in order to gain your sympathy. Having a lot of railroad sleepers that I had made to build the W. & C. railroad with, I went to a firm in Hartland to dispose of them. He one I talked to said he would handle those sleepers after he had heard from certain parties. Being so elated over the successful sale and wishing to indulge in the luxuries of life, I carried off three pails full of it. Now, Mr. Editor, can you imagine my doing other than paying for said luxuries when I had delivered sleepers? But I was not permitted to do so. Said merchant followed and claimed article, and now he has lard and I have sleepers. Some may say I am in fault, but I hope, Mr. Editor, you will see differently. Not wishing to encroach further on your space, for which I thank you, I remain

Yours,

E. B. Z.

ESTEY & CURTIS are prepared and competent to fit, and have been fitting SPECTACLES and EYEGLASSES during the year 1898, and if they have a dissatisfied customer they would be only glad to have that person call upon them. They guarantee perfect satisfaction or goods returnable, and no charge made.

In many cases persons are fitted with Glasses when there is no need for them. But the average Spectacle pedlar and Jew "Optician" recommends glasses whether they are needed or not, and when the person who is cheated finds that the Spectacles are of no benefit, the pedlar is gone.

Estey & Curtis examine the Eyes Free of Charge.

Moose Hunt in Water.

An Exciting Adventure of the Hon. John Costigan.

Hon. John Costigan, under Sir John McDonald's regime was secretary of state and minister of customs. While the Hon. John Costigan occupies a foremost rank among Canadian politicians, he is equally at home trapping a bear or an otter in the depths of the New Brunswick wilderness, or guiding a bark canoe on the fretful surface of the big forest lakes. When a young man he was noted for his strength and today although 64 years old thinks nothing of carrying a 60 pound pack, with a birch canoe on top of that over the carry from Mud to Trouser lake in the Tobique country. In his long experience Mr. Costigan has had several exciting adventures. He was once paddling up the east side of Island Lake accompanied by a friend, when a rifle was accidentally discharged, the bullet narrowly missing Mr. Costigan and ploughing a big hole in the canoe. It was only by desperate exertions that they were able to reach the shore before the canoe sank beneath them. On another occasion he had walked on snowshoes many miles from camp when a snowstorm set in followed by a gale of wind and bitter cold. Thinking to shorten his return to camp Mr. Costigan struck out on a beeline across the ridges. The travelling was very heavy and the falling snow so obscured the natural landmarks that he lost his way and found himself at nightfall totally exhausted and without food or fire. He was on the point of giving himself up for lost when he happened to find a sable bait in his pocket. This he ate, and it seemed to give him renewed strength and courage. He made another attempt to face the blast and was fortunate enough to strike a lumber road, by which he reached the camp. Mr. Costigan says that it was the sable bait that saved his life.

On another occasion he was paddling up Long Lake with an Indian named Tom Bear, when a large moose charged down on them and made for the canoe. The Indian became confused as the moose approached and jumped over the side of the canoe to swim across. The moose seeing this started after the Indian and was gaining rapidly on the Redskin when Mr. Costigan fairly lifted the canoe out of the water and hastened to his rescue. When the moose was within a few feet of the Indian Mr. Costigan dealt it a blow over the head with his paddle. Just then the animal struck bottom and Mr. Costigan fired. The animal was mortally wounded and fell dead on the shore. Mr. Bear as reason for his flight said: "By thunders, John, I'm not so good Catholic as you. Sartin, I thought if one got to you was de bes' man." He had several other exciting experiences.—Ex.

They Are Liberals.

To the Editor of The Telegraph:

DEAR SIR—A friend has handed me a copy of your issue of the 23rd ult. containing a silly little correspondence stating that Mr. Gagnon and myself had said that if elected we would support Dr. Stockton, but since the election we were claiming to be Liberals.

To those who know that I was the Liberal candidate at the last federal election, and that for the last seven years the organization of the Liberal party in this county has fallen on my shoulders, it is rather amusing to learn now from your correspondent that I have been a Liberal since declaration day only.

Owing to Mr. Costigan's interference there was no other alternative left but to run the election on strict party lines. Mr. Costigan's conduct was no more nor less than a challenge to the Liberals of this county, and on nomination I told him on the hustings that I accepted his challenge. The only issues discussed during the whole campaign by my colleague and myself were the incapacity of the late members and Mr. Costigan's interference. The Liberals voted in a body for us, whilst a great many Conservatives did likewise for the reason that they preferred voting for staunch outspoken Liberals than Conservatives like the ex-members. There in lies the secret of our success.

A Story of Mark Twain.

It was on a Denver newspaper that the funniest piece of journalistic work ever done by Mark Twain was suppressed by a too friendly proof reader. Mark had been instructed to write a description of the opening of a drinking tavern. In the young days of Silver State such affairs were deemed sufficiently important to be specially reported.

Mark decided to make his account of the festivities bear witness to the potency of the free refreshments dispensed. The article began soberly enough but soon the diction became misty. Even the spelling became confused and finally the report degenerated into a maudlin, incoherent eulogy of the tavern-keeper. It was funny. Mark read it over, and laughed until he cried.

But the next morning when he eagerly scanned the paper, he could not find his work. In an obscure corner he found a two-line announcement that the Alcazar Tavern was opened with appropriate festivities last night. That was all.

He rushed down to the office and inquired about the article. The managing editor knew nothing about it; the city editor could not tell what had become of it; the foreman printer said he had not seen it. As Mark was running about the office, raving about the outrage and trying to find information as to his missing copy, a proof-reader slyly nudged him, and said confidentially:

"You owe me a cigar."

"How is that?" inquired the humorist.

"I have earned it!" was the reply. "I saved your job for you last night."

Maybe you don't know how the old man feels about such things, but he won't have it if he finds it out. He's sacked three men since I've been here.

Just that way?"

"Just what way!"

"Why just as you were last night, you know. Your stuff wouldn't do at all—it was simply awful. I knew that if the old man saw it you were gone. So I fixed it up for you myself!"—Montreal Witness.

Good Advertising Story.

The National Advertiser tells a story of an old bachelor who bought a pair of socks, and found attached to one of them a slip of paper with these words: "I am a young lady of 20 and would like to correspond with a bachelor with a view to matrimony." Name and address were given. The bachelor wrote and in a few days got this letter: "Mamma was married 20 years ago. The merchant you bought those socks from evidently did not advertise or he would have sold them long ago. Mamma handed me your letter, and said possibly I might suit you. I am 18 years old."

DISEASE OF THE SPINE.

A Melody That Makes Life Almost Unbearable—A Nova Scotia Lady Tells How to Cure it.

Mrs. Frank Minard, Milton, N. S., is a lady who possesses the confidence of a large circle of friends. Mrs. Minard has been a sufferer from spinal disease and attendant complications, and to a reporter she recently gave the particulars of her cure. She said:—"As a result of the trouble I suffered terribly. At times the pain would be confined to my back, and at other times it seemed to affect every nerve in my body from the top of my head to my toes. As a result I was reduced greatly in strength, and was unable to stand upon my feet long enough to attend to my household work. When doing any kind of work which required a standing position I had to provide myself with a high chair as a means of support. The medicine which the doctor prescribed for me did not seem to afford me more than temporary relief from the pain and I was gradually growing weaker and weaker. Finally the doctors suggested that I should use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and acting on his advice I began to take them. I had only used a few boxes when the agony I had suffered for months began to abate, and I began to regain my strength. I continued using the pills for a short time longer, and was again in full possession of my health and strength, and able to do my household work. I have never enjoyed better health than I am doing at present."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure because they supply the blood with its life giving properties and strengthen weak nerves. All diseases due to either of these causes are speedily cured by the use of this medicine. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The keen-eyed urchin espied the great writer as he landed from the boat says the Cleveland Plaindealer.

"Let me assume the white man's burden."
