NOTICES OF THE WISDOM OF THE KING

Rev. James Bennet, ST. JOHN, N. B.

EVIDENCES of deep and serious thought throughout the volume."-Belfast News Letter, Jan. 24, 1871. "Succeeds well in seizing on the salient points of the words of the Royal Preacher, and in pringing them home to present duty."—Glasgow Daily Review, Feb. 6, 1871. "Characterized by directness of aim, sound sense, and right appreciation of the sacred writer's meaning.",—The Preachere' Lantern, (London), Feb. 1871. "It is a good book of sterling value."-The ritish and Foreign Ecclesiastical Review, April 1871.

"The production of a highly cultivated mind.

We have read several works on Ecclesiastes, and well remember the pleasure with which years ago we perused the Royal Preacher, but for fine criticism, comprehensiveness of thought, striking illustration and unostentations, yet eloquent and foreible style, The Wissenson OF The King, we think, surpasses them all."

—St. Croix Courier, March 6, 1871.

"The volume is not an unworthy companion of Dr. Buchanan on the same book."—The Homilist (London), April 1871. "There is a depart of the more than to the super branches out into innumerable topics of a secondary and collateral nature, giving to the work a boundless diversity, enriched with stores of ethical as well as of spiritual wisdom, evincing at once acute observation of social life and of human character, and containing the noblest lessons for practical guidance. Our author's style is remarkable for its free, unconstrained flow, almost collequial at times, but invariably signalized by elegance, force, adaptation to the subject, and not seldom by originality of thought in combination with terseness and beauty of expression.

There is about it a freshness, as well as a fullness of practical teaching, rarely to be met with in ordinary Biblical commentaries,"—Londonderry Standard, Feb. 15, 1871.

"This is a bright, breezy book, both interesting and instructive. We can most conscientiously commend this book generally, as one of the most sprightly, attractive and instructive works of its kind that has fallen under our observation."—Boston Evening Traveller, May

"The force, raciness and robust manliness of fr. Bennett's style and mode of treatment will rrest attention and excite interest in quarters there preaching or writing of the average uality would fall flat and dead."—Home and overing Record. March, 1871. Foreign Record. March, 1871.

"So plain yet so suggestive, so practical yet so profound are these Lectures that while you read them you feel their deep truth and reality: that you are in contact with realities both visible and invisible; that you are in close contact with the beating heart of nature and humanity, and that all their life and hope flow full and free from God alone."—Fredericton Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

"The writer is evidently well acquainted with the literature of his subject, and that acquaintince reveals itself almost unconsciously in every page. There is no estentation of reading or learning, but there is everywhere the gleaming forth of light which cannot be hid. The style is simple, intelligible, graceful. It shows at once that Mr. Bennet is a man of literary culture, who can express his thoughts with scholarly chasteness and good taste. We could not open a page without meeting some thought vigorously expressed. The work is eminently fresh and readable."—Pres. Witness, Halbian.

Halifax.

"He reveals in the treatment of his themes strong common sense, a firm grasp of thought, a logical acumen and a clear insight into human character. Even when dealing with trite ideas he imparts to them a novelty and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they searcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, pure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own-this garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetoric—fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. We have not found one slin shod sentence in the volume."—Christian Visitor, (Baptist) March 6th, 1871.

"We were not prepared to find him writing in such a finished style and issuing such a volume as 'the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation. If all his pulpit perfermances are equal to these, his people have reason to rejoice in the Providence which guided his steps to them."—
Evangelical Winess, May 1st. 1871. "This is a remarkably thoughtful, solid book Mr. Bennet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethics, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestations; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shews his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume. It will, we doubt not, take its place, as it ought to do, among our household expositions of this treatise of observation and Jewish wisdon ".—The Presbyterian (Philadelphia), May 20, 1871.

phia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a master's hand, and are expressed with a combined force and beauty that we have rarely seen surpassed in the production of any author. The ordinary reader will find noth ng that is above his comprehension, and yet it would be difficult to find a common place thought or form of expression. A combination of these requisites we deem the highest merit a writer can possess.

"We will be much disappointed if the book do not command a wide circulation. Wherever a sound literature is felt to be a deside atum, The Wisdom or The King has but to be known to be prized as a work that the world will not willingly lett die."—Saint John Telegraph and Journal.

"THE WISDOM OF THE KING is well worth careful reading. Indeed you cannot read much of it at once. There is a constant play of fancy about the thoughts, and often the very words, that is admirably suited to the Scripture book, of which this is an exposition, be twhich demands such constant attention on the reader's part that he gets tired, for he does not know where it is to end. The style is compact, lucid, often sparkling and epigrammatic, the sentence cut sharply, but with a poetic fullness of original illustration that redeems them from all hardness."—Halifax Monthly Record, (Church of Scot land).

"Each chapter is so well done, so lucid, ye concise in its exposition, that it is sometime difficult to determine which is the best and mo interesting.—Stewart's Quarterly, St. John.

Ripeness versus Rawness. The great difficulty which occurs to the majority of progressive philosophers, is an inability to restrain certain ideas in which they blindly believe there can be nothing but truth, strength and vitality. Thus we find men who are true thinkers, and who earnestly endeavor to map out systems for the good of others, who are inseparably wedded to a principle which they will not modify but are ready to extend to the utmost. If the principle is correct if it can be made and the facts, as I think you have been misinformed as to the true position Mr. Humphries occupies as a Candidate at the eoming Election.

He is not by any means the nominee of a "Business Coterie." On the contrary, he is the nominee of a large and influential body of Freeholders, (not confined to either Moncton or Salisbury,)—a class of men who would not be influenced by any "Ceterie," in their choice as to who would be a fit and proper person to represent The great difficulty which occurs to the modify but are ready to extend to the utmost. If the principle is correct, if it can be applied to the fullest extent, and with regard to every subject, of course all is well and the result must be successful; if, on the contrary, it is imperfect, its application wish to send him to the House hypothecated. He has stated his views, distinctly, on the School question. He gives no uncermust necessarily prove disastrous. It is indeed melancholy to see a respectable intellect, not riding a hobby, but, as it were, fairly saddled and guided by a hobby; and the administration. His friends urge upon him the necessity that exists for a radical change in the fairly saddled and guided by a hobby; and the prospect seems all the more cheerless when associations and circumstances concur in keeping the diseased mind apart from curative agents. We are induced to make these remarks on account of the strange degree of favor which is manifested by extreme radicalism towards extreme youth; and we are really led to believe, from what we have heard and read, that some persons, in their irrestrainable desire to experiment with novelties, are led to mistances are 'is sound and fury,' meaning nothing and containing nothing, except low and insulting personalities such as disgraced the halls of legislation, during the past session. take animal spirits for genius, promises for take animal spirits for genius, promises for evidences of goodness, and efforts to curry favor for marks of disinterested industry.

How far men of this class are prepared to go in support of their theory we cannot say, but when we find persons pretending to lead public opinion, ex cathedra laughing the claims of experience to scorn, weeping over their former folly in having revered grey hairs, and advocating the advancement of youth, not to the exclusion of decrepitude but of ripening manhood, we cannot conceal our regret and surprise. It live in America we should contemn European customs; and we might as well advise Humph our hard working settlers and hard working settlers and hard working member he will deal with this and all other ing married citizens to eat their meat raw, as to tell them that their children alone understand how to regulate and guide the destinies of the country. That ignorant and blatant characters, extreme radicals, and unscrupulous experimentalists should favor an idea of this kind affords us small for the Board of Works) as well his busiground for wonder, but that persons claim-ness training, have not been of that char-acter to fit him for the position of our ing philosophical instincts, and versed in the traditions and history of the classics, in holy writ, and in the records of modern Colonial governments, hence the localized times, should entertain this sentiment, ideas that prevail over any views of general strikes us as somewhat wonderful; and we cannot help surmising that such persons as the Local Parliament. have been spirited away by a band of school boys, and utter what they do not believe, under duress and fear. For ourselves, we yield to none in an earnest desire to help young men, and, on this account, we deem it cruel and unfair to ask them to discharge duties of which they know little or nothing. No prudent jockey would employ a carpenter to shoe his horse, and we think that no prudent people should attempt to make a boy a legislator; nor could they, in fairness, hold him responsible for faults arising from in experience. What we require then in America, fully as much as in England, is qualifications; and comparing things by things, possessing more than an average would employ a carpenter to shoe his that young men should serve an apprenticeship before they become masters, and, in urging the adoption of this course, we in urging the adoption of this course, we make no comparison between the mental capabilities of men of different ages, but, assuming that they are precisely equal, we wish to give the juniors every opportunity of advancing their status morally, mentally and socially beyond that of their predecessors. they were forever washing clothes in Southern France, and yet everybody seemed so dirty; but was compensated seemed so dirty; but was compensated by striking an analogy to this in "Pharisaic purism" and "ostentatious observance"—which strikes the ordinary mind as a sly thrust at his brethren of the Established Church. At Rome the cynosure of the Southwark congregation felt "a thrill"—stood speechless before the "a thrill"—stood speechless before the Coliseum, and made a mental apothesis of the Arch of Titus, which was to become articulate when he once more found himself on his moral native health—the Tabernacle. The seven thousand must have been relieved to find that the "thrill" was not caused by a consciousness of having reached the city of the Popes. The Appian Way was "the British Muse-um along both sides of the road for eight miles"; and "St. Peter's was a church indeed." Returning at length to the miles"; and "St. Peter's was a church indeed." Returning at length to the seven-thousand-fold bosom of his parish, Mr. Spurgeon related in detail these experiences, and dilated thereon with much eloquence, and perhaps a pardonable gusto; deriving, as an oracle and apostle should, many a pointed moral and pious lesson from what he saw. But perhaps the most striking lesson of his address, was law points. Mr. Duff has been addressing most striking lesson of his address was, the proof it gave of the broadening pro-cess which affects the mind of him who breaks away from routine and an everyday regularity of life, and goes abroad among his race with his ears, eyes and mind wide open; how the sympathies are expanded, and the teacher gets new light, as well as new stimulus, in the

To the Electors of the County of Westmorland GENTLEMEN .-

GENTLEMEN,—
At the request of many friends in different sections of the County who believe that the affairs of the people of our Province have not been managed by the present Executive with proper regard to their importance, and that a system of stricter concomy should be adouted in the administration of the Government, I shall be a candidate for the present vacancy in the representation of this County.

If elected I shall at all times give my utmost attention to the Local affairs of every section of the County and in every way further the interests of this my native County and the Province generally.

Your obt. sert. R. A. CHAPMAN. Rockland, Dorchester, Jan. 13th, 1872. jan16

TEES of the School Districts within each County, as follows:—

(a.) At the rate of $20 for the school year, in consideration of each licensed Teacher employed: of whatever class.

(b.) The balance, by an equal rate per pupil according to the average number of pupils in attendance at School, and the number of teaching days the School has been open. The Trustees of Districts recognized as poor Districts in any year, to receive, in this latter apportionment, special aid not exceeding one third more per pupil than the Trustees, of other Districts within the County. County.

One-half of the County fund is to be apportioned and paid semi annually. One-halt of the County fund is to be apportioned and paid semi annually.

No public moneys will be received by Districts which fail to establish Schools under the Act. It will be observed that the amount of Provincial and County moneys to be expended in any District in aid of Schools will depend almost exclusively upon local exertion, or the direct efforts made by the people of the several Districts in maintaining their own Schools. The sum to be received by the Teacher from the Province is definite, but the exact amount that will be received by the Trustees from the County Fund on account of the average attendance of pupils, cannot be known at the time of the School meeting. The meeting should, therefore, be careful in voting its estimates to autherize a sum amply sufficient to enable the Trastees to meet the liabilities of the School year. Any balance remaining in the hands of the Trustees, is, of course, to be carried to the credit of the next School year, while any deficit arising from an authorized expenditure may be carried forward and provided for in the estimates of the following year.

The first disbursement of the County Fund will be apportioned on the School attendance made between January 15th and April 30th, inclusive.

8. That the Board of Education has prescribed the following Regulations respecting contracts with Teachers:—

That our City may retain its present pre-eminence as a commercial centre, greater ability and energy must enterinto its corporate management. Its Harbor interests require the most vigilant scrutiny; and not less, but more, important are those guarantees which should be, but unfortunately have not been, taken for securing the Public Health. The Construction and Lighting of our Streets, the Water Supply, the Sewerage question, the proper distribution of Taxation, the support and management of the Public Schools, are also matters of great moment and are intimately related to our City's commercial prosperity. With such questions we shall deal faithfully, although we do not propose that their discussion shall wholly overshadow the many interesting topics that will engage the attention of the inhabitants of other Provincial towns, whose more important local news will be chronicled, from

RATES OF ADVERTISING. THE DAILY TRIBUNE will unite, when requested, with the other City Newspapers "by the year." The latter practice has gone out of fashion in all well managed newspaper offices; and being a most unjust arrangement, both for the Newspaper and a majority of the Advertisers, should have ceased to exist in this City many years ago. Such a step might place the TRIBUNE at a disadvantage, for a time, in the race with its older and more vigorous Daily Journal, Globe, and Morning News; but it would establish a just principle, and, in the end, prove advantageous both to the Advertising Public and the Press.
