FINED TWENTY-NINE MILLIONS.

Standard Oil Company To Be Punished For Defrauding The Public.

ALL THE LAW ALLOWS.

Judge Landis Is Sorry He Could Not Fine the Rockefeller Combination More.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Judge Kenis Landis today, in the United States district court fined the Standard Oil Company of Indiana $29,240,000 for violation of the law again accepting rebates from railroads.

The fine is the largest ever assessed against any individual or any corporation in the history of the United States jurisdiction. The case will be carried to the higher courts by the defendant company. The penalty imposed upon the company is the maximum under the law and it was announced at the end of a long session in which the methods and practices of the Standard Oil Company were mercilessly scored. The judge in fact, declared in his opinion that the officials of the Standard Oil Company, who were responsible for the practice of which the corporation was found guilty, were nothing less than thieves.

COAL AT CARAQUET.

Messrs. Milledge Vanbuskirk and John Fearon, of Harcourt, have had men at work for some time on the Caraqueet shore in Gloucester county, prospecting the coal areas taken up by them. They received word lately that the drill had passed through eight feet of coal and if this is verified, it will prove a bonanza. Mr. Vanbuskirk is quite confident that the men are not mistaken and that coal exists in large quantities on the Gloucester coast. He is so confident, indeed, that he and his partners are taking up further areas.

Last term, the public school enrollment was about 480, so that there were at least 50 out of school who should have been receiving instruction there. The town will need another teacher or two as some departments last term were overcrowded.

We was a member of the fire department and while at work in the restaurant one of his brother firemen struck at the electric light wires with an axe to shut off the current. The wire fell on the shoulders of McKinney, who grasped it quickly to throw it from him, when the whole current passed through his body. He became rigid. Doctors were quickly summoned but he died inside of ten minutes.

STR. DOROTHY N. LAUNCHED.

Messrs. Russell's New Boat Now in the Water.
 12 KNOTS AN HOUR.
 A First-Class Vessel That Will Carry 150 Passengers.

The steamship which has been built by Messrs. John Russell & Co. during the past few months, was launched at 10.15 Wednesday morning. The launch was a very successful one. The boat slid off the ways without a hitch, and rode upon the water in perfect trim.

There was no formal christening ceremony, but the boat is to be named "Dorothy-N." She is named after little Miss Dorothy Nicholson, daughter of Dr. Nicholson, and Mr. Matthew Russell's eldest granddaughter.

The Dorothy N. is 72 feet over all 17 feet beam, and 5 feet hold. She is fitted with the most modern type of twin-screw engines, there being two pairs of fore-and-aft compound engines, with cylinders 6 x 12 x 8 inch stroke. The engines drive two 3-foot propeller wheels, calculated to turn at the rate of 250 revolutions per minute. The engines were built by the Polson Iron Works, of Toronto.

The boiler is one of the Robb Engineering Co's. vertical type, tested to 125 pounds working pressure. The engines are as neat a piece of machinery as can be seen on the Miramichi. They are what one would expect to find on a fast private yacht, and Mr. Robertson, chief engineer of the steamer Bangor, who examined them carefully, said they were as fine a set as he had ever seen in his years of experience.

The boat is built for light draft, having been meant for the Redbank route. She draws less than 3 feet. It will take about a week's work yet to finish the carpenter work on her houses. When completed she will compare favorably with any craft on the Miramichi. She will be licensed to carry 150 passengers.

Master builder George Henderson, with Messrs. Watty Green, Peter A'Haran and John Wright, his assistants, are entitled to much credit for turning out such a trim piece of work.

Mr. Matthew Russell, the veteran steamboat man, supervised the work, and comes in for no small share of the credit. This is the fourth boat Mr. Russell has built on his own account, the others being the "Rustler," "Lady Dufferin," and schr. "Maggie B." Mr. Russell was for a number of years master builder for Gilmour & Rankine and superintended the construction of many vessels.

The Dorothy N. is a fine acquisition to the fleet on the Miramichi. She is admirably adapted for the passenger service, has excellent freight accommodation, and is a handsome boat in appearance. She will probably be the fastest steamboat on the river, as it is confidently expected that she will run up to 12 knots an hour. She is well suited for the up-river service, and it is now up to the business men of the town to see that she goes on that service, and is not sold to outside parties to leave the River.

A large steam pleasure boat is being built at Hilyards shipping St. John for Mr. Thos. Foley of the Hotel Miramichi. The boat is being constructed by contract with James Fleming & Sons, and F. S. Heant is doing the carpenter work. The boat measures 45 feet in length and 9 feet beam. A 20-horse power Essex engine is to be installed. The boat is expected to be very fast. The wood work is being done in native cedar and oak. The boat will be shipped to Newcastle by rail.

The hay crop is good in New Brunswick, but in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island the crop will not be as good, being largely winter killed in both of these provinces. All other crops promise fair. Future prices also probably well in the three Maritime provinces. The shortage in Europe and the West. Altogether the prospects for farmers in the Maritime Provinces never were better. Only the continuation of the wet weather through haying can spoil the farmers' prospects.

The hardware establishment of A. E. Alexander & Co., Campbellton was broken into at 1 a. m. Thursday by a couple of burglars. Charles Alexander was awakened by the burglar alarm and he and his brother-in-law, Fred Campbell, ran to the store. The burglars tried to make their escape but they were pounced upon and after a struggle, lasting about twenty minutes, were reduced to submission, and taken to the lock-up. One of them drew a razor during the scrap, but it was knocked down by Mr. Campbell. So far as can be learned both men are strangers in the town.

The preliminary examination, in the Seely-Fontaine case was continued at Dalhousie on Wednesday before Police Magistrate Windsor. Doctor Ferguson, coroner, and Dr. Disbrow were the only witnesses heard and the prosecution closed its case. At the request of Mr. Mott, for the defence, the court adjourned till to-day.

The people of Marysville are naturally somewhat excited by learning of there being so much hidden wealth in the place.

THEO. GALLEY DROWNED.

Sad Accident Last Week on Board the Alexandra on A. O. H. Excursion.

NO RESCUE AT TEMPTED.

Conflicting Stories that Should Receive an Investigation.

A sad fatality occurred on Tuesday 30th, during the excursion on the steamer Alexandra, under the auspices of the Chatham Division of the A. O. H. Theophilus Galley of Newcastle, a young man 20 years of age, fell overboard from the upper deck, and was drowned.

There have been many conflicting versions of the occurrence current since it happened, but from careful enquiries we can give the following as correct. Galley went to Chatham Tuesday morning. In the evening he got on the excursion boat about 8 o'clock. He was accompanied by two companions, and between them they drank a bottle of gin. They were sober coming on board, or at any rate able to look after themselves. A young woman named Carrie Savery was on the excursion boat, accompanied by Galley's brother Frank. They had gone down, knowing he was at Chatham, in order to meet him and see that he came home. Galley had been "keeping company" with Miss Savery for some time.

When he came on the boat he met her and the three stayed together most of the time. After a while, when they were down in the cabin, Galley told Miss Savery that he felt sick, and was going to get a breath of cool air. He also said he would like a cold bath, or something to that effect which she did not catch. He was seasick from the motion of the boat, and the effect of the liquor probably made it worse. He went up on the upper deck and went to the stern. Miss Savery went after him, and stopped for a moment to speak to Frank Galley. Just as she turned to walk on, she saw Theophilus Galley, who was leaning over the rail as if to vomit, lose his balance and fall overboard. The boat was then running down river a short distance below Chatham. Miss Savery says she wanted to jump over to help him, because she could swim and she knew he could not. Anyway there was some confusion and the crowd gathered around. Frank Galley forced his way through the crowd, and running to the wheelhouse told the captain his brother was overboard and drowning, and to stop the boat. He says the captain replied it was then too late and too dark to make a search. Frank Galley and Miss Savery also say that others told the captain, but nothing was done. Captain Nowlan said the first man to bring the report to him was a young man named Connors, who said a man told him, and that he (the captain) told Connors to go back and get his informant and bring him up. This was about opposite Stewart's Landing, about 2 1/2 miles below Chatham. The captain admits that others also told him about the same time that there was a man overboard, but he thought it was too late to do any good by turning back, and also feared that if he did so, in the confusion and crowding among the passengers, others might fall over. He admitted that he did not know how much time had elapsed between the accident and the first report of it to him. The boat continued on her course, and nothing was done. The body is being grappled for, but has not yet been recovered. The deceased young man was well spoken of by all who knew him. He is reported to have been of steady habits, and those he had worked for thought highly of him. He was the eldest son of Mrs. John Fogay, by her first husband, Wm. Galley, and lived with her at "The Rocks" in this town.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in the house over the wonders your medicine worked. Mrs. M. A. C. Lelievre, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, headache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wedding Bells.

O'DONNELL-JAMIESON.

A pretty event took place in St. Patrick's church, Nelson, on July 17, when Rev. Father Power united in marriage Mr. John J. O'Donnell, an enterprising and popular young man of Barnaby River, and Miss Mary A. Jamieson of Nelson. The bride, who was gowned in white-silk, with white lace hat and ostrich tips, was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Jamieson, who wore a dainty white muslin dress and white hat. The groom was supported by his brother, P. O'Donnell. After the ceremony the happy couple and guests drove to the bride's home where an elaborate wedding dinner awaited them. About 5 p. m. they drove to their future home in Barnaby River, where a reception was held. After supper was served dancing and games were indulged in for a few hours. The bride was the recipient of a large number of useful and pretty presents. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and prosperous married life.

Catarrh

To prove unequivocally, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through drugists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a truly substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars of 25¢. Its soothing agents are Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc. are incorporated into a velvety cream like Petroleum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative. HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Said to Relieve Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion; One ounce Compound Salutaria; Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime, is stated by a prominent physician to give most excellent results in kidney or urinary ailments, and also in rheumatism and sciatitis. The mixture opens the clogged pores of the kidneys, thus assisting them in their work of filtering all waste and poisonous matter from the blood, and expels these in the urine. To allow this poisonous matter to remain means that it will settle in the muscular tissues or joints, and cause the untold misery known as rheumatism.

The mixture is composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which can be purchased at any good drug store, and mixed at home.

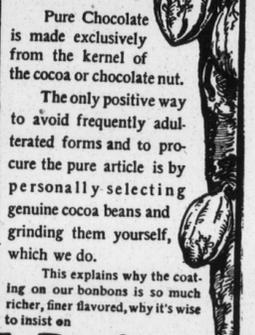

Anyone suffering from any of these afflictions will no doubt be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended remedy.

INVESTIGATION NEEDED.

It is time that last week's drowning accident was investigated. The fact that a man fell overboard and no effort was made to save him or recover his body demands immediate attention. Most people would stop a boat to pick up a dog that was in danger of drowning; but it appears that the man who fell off the Alexandria was coolly left to his fate. The conflicting stories current should be enquired into, and the officers given the fullest opportunity of explaining their failure to stop the vessel. It may be that they had good reasons for acting as they did. If so, the public has a right to know what they were.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The officers of the Board of Trade have again called a meeting to be held in the Town Hall tomorrow evening. Previous meetings this year have neither been successful nor largely attended; and there has been little to encourage the officers to take any further interest in the organization. Should to-morrow's meeting show no more numbers or enthusiasm than the usual meeting in the past, those who have taken an interest in keeping the Board alive would be justified in withdrawing and letting it die in peace. If the business men of the town want a Board of Trade, one can be easily kept up and made to do effective work; if they don't want one, the present affair, called by courtesy a Board of Trade, had better be dropped.

THE REAL CRIMINALS.

In the United States district court at Chicago, on the 3rd instant, Judge Landis fined the Standard Oil Company $29,240,000 for fraud in dealing with railroads. The company will, of course, appeal, and may evade payment. If they do have to pay, they will seek to make the consumers of oil pay the whole amount in increased prices. By the way, the members of the Standard Oil Company are the leading spirits in the Mine Owners' Association of the West—the organization that so persistently, but unsuccessfully, tried to have the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners hanged on manufactured evidence.

THE OPPOSITION PLATFORM.

Something definite has at last been heard from the leaders of the Local Opposition, but it is disappointing to those who hoped that that party had something to offer that would greatly benefit the province.

At Port Elgin, on the 31st ultimo, Messrs. P. G. Mahoney, F. D. Black, George V. McInerney, J. Morrissy and J. D. Hazen addressed a political meeting. The Globe and Telegraph of St. John and the Frederickian Gleaner, all Opposition organs, report the meeting, and we presume their report is correct. None of the three papers report anything that Messrs. Mahoney and Black said; the other three speakers are reported by the Telegraph and Gleaner, while the Globe reports none but Mr. Hazen.

Mr. McInerney is reported to have said that there was great necessity for a change in the administration of provincial affairs, but just where the opposition propose to make changes and how was not pointed out. We presume that the electorate will, before they consent to turn out the present administration, desire to make sure they will not be losing by the change. In his speech, which could not but be eloquent, Mr. McInerney appears to have made but one definite statement. That was that the next local contest would not be run on party lines. As both Liberals and Conservatives have repeatedly endeavored to mould provincial policies after those at Ottawa, but without success, this non-partisan electioneering is nothing new.

Mr. Morrissy declared that the roads of the province are worse now than they were twenty years ago. We do not believe that Mr. Morrissy can back up such a statement with proof. Mr. Morrissy went on to say that he was opposed to the local government because of its dishonesty and bad administration of provincial affairs, particularly in respect to the stumpage question, which he declared to be a burning question in Northumberland. So far as we can learn from the aforesaid published reports, Mr. Morrissy was very careful not to make any definite pronouncement as to how the opposition would deal with the crown land problems if they should happen to come into power. He evidently did not wish to commit either his party or himself, for it is well-known that the people of the agricultural and mining counties have different views on stumpage from those held on the North Shore. At the Opposition meeting here on the 8th ultimo, Mr. Morrissy and other speakers claimed that, if the people put the Opposition into power the latter would "do right by the lumber interests." They did not explain the exact meaning of "do right." Several speakers at that meeting were lumber operators, and these claimed that the lessees of timber lands were not making any money. The inference from their remarks was that the Opposition would not increase the stumpage. Mr. Morrison, M. P., said at the same meeting that the opposition would, if necessary, reduce the stumpage. But Mr. Hazen, has not so far as we know, delivered himself on the question; and he seems in no hurry to do so.

Mr. Hazen's speech at Port Elgin contained two planks for his platform—the promise to hand over the control of the highways to the municipalities, and to reduce the cost of school books by fifty per cent. The School Book plank is an excellent one, and must soon be adopted no matter what party is in power. The Highway plank is of doubtful value. The rural schools, which are under local control, are not as efficiently managed as those of towns, whose trustees are partly appointed by the central government. Locally-controlled highways would be managed better than rural schools, but still the difference between municipal and provincial roads would in all probability show to the advantage of the latter. Excepting for the promises re roads and books, Mr. Hazen's speech was as barren of explicit declarations as were the remarks of his colleagues. He laid down no rule for the levying or collecting of stumpage; while deploring the great debt of the province, he gave no guarantee whatever that his party would either reduce the debt or stop its further growth; he did not say what measures, if any, he would take to increase the efficiency of our schools and render the teaching profession more remunerative and permanent; he did not take the public into his confidence concerning what would be done with liquor licenses and the demands of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation. In fact, he appears to have only three planks in his platform—municipal control of highways, cheaper school books, and the exclusion of Dominion issues from local politics. With respect to the public debt, which in most cases, (national, state or provincial or municipal, the world over) seems to increase more rapidly under each successive administration, no matter of what party he gives many high-sounding phrases but absolutely no guarantee. With respect to all departments of government, excepting the control of the roads and the price of school books, he asks the people of the province to take his party on trust. At the best, it will be, unless he defines his policy much more clearly, a leap in the dark for the public to do so. He has no right to ask intelligent people to vote for him until he shows them exactly what they have to expect from him in case he should win the next elections. And those who vote for the Opposition before that party come out squarely and say what they stand for and what they do not stand for are likely to awaken and find themselves sold.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

IN MEMORIAM.

THEOPHILUS GALLEY.

Lines on the death of the young man who was drowned on the A. O. H. excursion, July 30th, 1907.

BY GERTRUDE E. SULLIVAN.

Come listen to a story
 Which no one can deny;
 It happened on a Tuesday,
 The thirtieth of July.

The steamer Alexandra,
 Going a rapid rate,
 Left the wharf at Newcastle,
 Laden with human freight.

There was amongst the passengers
 A man, though not of fame,
 Who was well known in all the land,
 And Galley was his name:

The idol of his mother,
 Who brought him up with care;
 But, alas! now that poor mother
 Is in agony of despair.

But God in His infinite mercy,
 Has taken him for His own;
 And he sank beneath the waters,
 Without uttering a moan.

Ah! little did that crew think,
 As they left the bustling port,
 That before they had returned to it
 They would be one man short.

And little did the girl think,
 As she sat there by his side,
 That ere they had reached midnight,
 He'd be beneath the tide.

The crew were all so happy,
 No one with a care,
 When the awful sound of splashing
 Fell upon the air.

Then rushed upon the upper deck
 Every soul on board,
 And some one cried in a loud,
 shrill voice,
 "A man is overboard."

It was so dark and dismal
 That they could hardly see,
 And every person wondered
 Who the man could be.

But very soon they knew his name,
 And a gloom spread over all,
 As each one thought within himself
 How Death had made his call.

But Death has only freed him
 From the bonds of sin and woe,
 And perhaps this very moment
 He looks on us below;

For God has him in His keeping,
 May His Holy Will be done,
 And we hope some day to meet him
 Where sorrow is not known.

"Yes," answered Jocelyn, "I understand."

At this moment a servant came in with lamps and proceeded to close the windows. She was quite an old woman—an Englishwoman—and she placed the lamps upon the table she scrutinized the guest after the manner of a privileged servant. When she had departed Jack Meredith continued his narrative with a sort of deliberation which was explained later on.

"And," he said, "that is why I came to Africa—that is why I want to make money. I do not mind confessing to a low greed of gain, because I think I have the best motive that a man can have for wanting to make money."

He said this meaningly and watched her face all the while.

"A motive which any lady ought to approve of."

She smiled sympathetically.

"I approve and I admire your spirit."

She rose as she spoke and moved toward a side table, where two lighted candles had been placed.

"My motive for talking so barefacedly about myself," he said as they moved toward the door together, "was to let you know exactly who I am and why I am here. It was only due to you on accepting your hospitality. I might have been a criminal or an escaped embezzler. There were two on board the steamer coming out and several other shady characters."

"Yes," said the girl; "I saw your motive."

They were now in the hall, and the aged servant was waiting to show him his room.

"No one knows," Victor Durnovo was in the habit of saying, "what is going on in the middle of Africa."

And on this principle he acted.

Ten miles above the camping ground where we first met, he had told Meredith, "you will find a village where I have my headquarters. There is quite a respectable house there, with—a—woman to look after your wants. When you have fixed things up at Loango and have arranged for the dhows to meet my steamer, take up all your men to this village—Msaia is the name—and send the boats back. Wait there till we come."

In due time the telegram came, via St. Paul de Loand, announcing the fact that Oscar had agreed to join the expedition and that Durnovo and he might be expected at Msaia in one month from that time. It was not without a vague feeling of regret that Jack Meredith read this telegram. To be at Msaia in a month with forty men and a vast load of provisions meant leaving Loango almost at once. And, strange though it may seem, he had become somewhat attached to the dreary west African town. The singular cosmopolitan society was entirely new to him; the life, taken as a life, almost unique. He knew that he had not outstayed his welcome. Maurice Gordon had taken care to assure him of that in his boisterous, hearty manner, savoring more of Harrow than of Eton, every morning at breakfast.

Jack took a seat on the porch and began to search for his cigar in the pocket of his jacket. Jocelyn went to the front of the veranda and watched her brother mount his horse. When she came to the back of the veranda a little later she was thinking about her brother Maurice, and it never suggested itself to her that she should not speak her thoughts to Meredith, whom she had not seen until three weeks ago. She had never spoken of Maurice behind his back to any man before.

"Does it ever strike you," she said to Jack, "that Maurice is the sort of man to be led astray by evil influence?"

"Yes, or he led straight by a good influence, such as yours."

He did not meet her thoughtful gaze. He was apparently watching the retreating form of the horse through the tangle of flower and leaf and tendril.

"I am afraid," said the girl, "that my influence is not of much account."

"Do you really believe that?" asked Meredith, turning upon her with a half cynical smile.

"Yes," she answered simply.

Before speaking again he took a pull at his cigar.

"Your influence," he said, "appears to me to be the making of Maurice Gordon. I frequently see serious flaws in the policy of Providence, but I suppose there is wisdom in making the strongest influence that which is unconscious of its power."

"I am glad you think I have some power over him," said Jocelyn, "but at the same time it makes me uneasy, because it only confirms my conviction that he is very easily led. And suppose my influence, such as it is, was withdrawn; suppose that I were to die, or what appears to be more likely, suppose that he should marry."

"Then let us hope that he will marry the right person. People sometimes do, you know."

She smiled with a strange little flicker of the eyelids. They had grown wonderfully accustomed to each other during the last three weeks. Here, it would appear, was one of those ships between man and woman that occasionally set the world agog with curiosity and skepticism. But there seemed to be no doubt about it. He was over thirty, she verging on that prosaic age. Both had lived and moved in the world. To both life was an open book, and they had probably discovered, as most of us do, that the larger number of the leaves are blank. He had almost told her that he was engaged to be married, and she had quite understood. There could not possibly be any misapprehension; there was no room for one of those little mistakes about which people write novels and fondly hope that some youthful reader may be carried away by a very faint resemblance to that which they hold to be life. Moreover, at thirty one leaves the first romance of youth behind.

There was something in her smile that suggested that she did not quite believe in his cynicism.

"Also," she said gravely, "some stronger influence might appear—an influence which I could not counteract."

Jack Meredith sat in his long chair and looked at her searchingly.

"I have a vague idea," he said, "that you are thinking of Durnovo."

"I am," she admitted, with some surprise. "I wonder how you knew? I am afraid of him."

"I can reassure you on that score," said Meredith. "For the next two years or so Durnovo will be in daily intercourse with me. He will be under my immediate eye. I did not anticipate much pleasure from his society, but now I do."

"Why?" she asked, rather mystified.

"Because I shall have the daily satisfaction of knowing that I am relieving you of an anxiety."

"It is very kind of you to put it in that way," said Jocelyn. "But I should not like you to sacrifice yourself to what may be a foolish prejudice on my part."

"It is not a foolish prejudice. Durnovo is not a gentleman, either by birth or inclination. He is not fit to associate with you."

To this Jocelyn answered nothing. Victor Durnovo was one of her brother's closest friends; a friend of his own choosing.

"Miss Gordon," said Meredith suddenly, with a gravity that was rare, "will you do me a favor?"

"I think I should like to."

"You admit that you are afraid of Durnovo now; if at any time you have reason to be more afraid, will you make use of me? Will you write or come to me and ask my help?"

"Thank you," she said hesitatingly.

"You see," he went on in a lighter tone, "I am not afraid of Durnovo. I have met Durnovo before. You may have observed that my locks no longer resemble the raven's wing. There is a little gray, just here, above the temple. I am getting on in life, and I know how to deal with Durnovo."

"Do you know," she said, after a little silence, "that I was actually thinking of warning you against Mr. Durnovo? Now I stand aghast at my own presumption."

"It was kind of you to give the matter any thought whatever."

He rose and threw away the end of his cigar. Joseph was already before the door, leading the horse which Maurice Gordon had placed at his visitor's disposal.

 These are only a few examples; there are thousands of others.
 While success cannot rightfully be judged by money standards, the fact remains that in the eyes of the world the extent of a man's success is the extent of his capital.
 The worth has no use for a poor man or a loser.
 The person who has reached middle age, wholly dependent upon his individual efforts for his livelihood, is accounted a failure. He no longer commands the respect of the multitude but receives instead their scorn or pity.

 Have you ever thought of these things?
 What are you doing to make yourself independent?
 Your hand or brain devoted to another man's cause can never make you wealthy.
 Nor can your dollars.
 The man who only saves is at best a plodder.
 He should invest his dollars.
 Look about you.
 There are successful people on every side.
 Have you ever wondered how they made money while others have not?
 Excluding those rich by inheritance, and those rich by fraud, there remains countless thousands of men and women who, starting practically without a dollar, have built up for themselves wealth or a handsome competence, and are no longer dependent on their hands for support.
 These people have made money first by working for and earning dollars, and then by putting their dollars to work.
 You are cheating yourself and your family when you do not save from your earnings and put your earnings to work.
 Suppose you put your savings in a bank. The bank pays 3 per cent. How can it? Because it invests your money so that it will bring much more than 3 per cent-enough more so that most bankers become very wealthy on the difference between your interest and theirs.

 And what if they invest unwisely and lose all, as they sometimes do? Why, it's your money and your loss—not theirs.
 You have not the control of your own capital—do not even know they are doing with your money.
 You are making your dollars work for others. Why don't you make them work for you?
 The banker invests your dollars; pockets their earning power, and gives you 3 per cent.
 Why don't you do your own investing and make the profit for yourself?
 You may think you have no opportunity.
 But you have.
 Opportunities are at every hand. No man or woman exists that has not had some opportunity for financial advancement.
 The trouble is: most opportunities wear rubber shoes, and the public sleepily refuse to hear them.
 One of the world's most successful financiers, when asked how he made money so fast, replied:
 "I have an agent at the elbow of every opportunity and never let one pass without paying me tribute."
 Don't you realize that every great fortune had its humble beginning. That just a few dollars have grown to millions?
 Look at Andrew Carnegie. He saved up $500.00 and made his first investment in Adams Express Company stock. It paid him 10 per cent interest almost from the start.

 You know what it and he did with it today.
 There are hundreds of similar examples.
 "No one ever succeeds except by doing things."—John D. Rockefeller.
 To become wealthy—successful—you must save and invest your savings.
 Where were you in the year 1896, and what were you doing? Couldn't you have saved $100.00 without inconveniencing yourself?
 Suppose you did save $100.00 and invested it in CROW'S NEST PASS COAL MINE STOCK. This stock was sold in 1896 to small investors at 10 cents a share—six years thereafter it was worth $100.00 a share, and to day is selling for $285.00 a share, or your $100.00 invested then would pay you a dividend of over $10,000.00 a year and be worth $285,000.00.
 Opportunity is always knocking at the door.
 Jay Gould once said to a friend, "When you invest in the stock of a company, don't look for the 'best,' for you will never find it. Look for a good one; then invest, and do it quickly. Don't wait to see if it pans out all right, for that is where you lose your opportunity. When you have waited to see if it pans out, you will have to pay a premium on the stock, and you will have lost the biggest advance in value. You must make money on your judgment and foresight, and not on demonstrated facts."

 Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, has over 400 millionaires who have made their fortunes out of coal and oil. Coal is the basis of all industrial and commercial wealth. Coal mining in British Columbia has always been a success. It is like diamond mining in South Africa—a bonanza of the first magnitude.
 Dunsmuir made millions and millions in coal mining in British Columbia, and died the richest man in Canada.
 The BRITISH COLUMBIA AMALGAMATED COAL COMPANY of Portland, Oregon, controls 17,500 acres of coal land near Vancouver, B. C., estimated by coal experts to be underlaid with 1,400,000,000 tons of the best quality of steam, domestic, and cooking coal in America.
 Our mine is better than the Crow's Nest, the quality of our coal is pronounced by coal experts to be as good, if not better, we are 500 miles nearer tide water, and 300 miles nearer the big smelters in the boundary district, where coke is used.
 We are offering a limited amount of the treasury stock for sale at 25c a share, par value $1.00, full paid and non-assessable.

There are 265,000 people in Canada today, who really KNOW "Fruit-a-tives" to be a splendid remedy.

Four years ago, "Fruit-a-tives" were an unsolved problem in the brain of one of Canada's leading physicians.

Today, over a quarter of a million of Canadians know them for what they are—a positive cure for Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

"Fruit-a-tives" have cured stubborn cases of Constipation—Chronic Rheumatism—Skin Eruption—that defied ordinary remedies. The cures of Biliousness, Indigestion, Headaches, Pain in the Back, Nervousness and Irregularity of the Bowels—are numbered by the thousands. "Fruit-a-tives" move the bowels just as fruit moves them and leaves them healthy.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices and tonics in tablet form—with the increased medicinal action made possible by the chemical change which takes place when the juices are combined.

SPECIAL MEETING TOWN COUNCIL.

Mayor and Treasurer Authorized to Borrow $3,000 More From Royal Bank.

TAXES COMING SLOWLY.

Mr. Casey's Petition—Enlarging Police Court—New Officers—Fire Whistle.

A special meeting of the town council was held Tuesday 30th ult. The mayor and all the aldermen were present, excepting Ald. McMurdo and Morrissey.

A resolution was passed, on the recommendation of the finance committee, authorizing the mayor and treasurer to borrow from the Royal Bank, on current account, from time to time as required, a sum not to exceed $3,000, for the current expenses of the town. This increased accommodation may become necessary on account of the taxes coming in slowly. The loan is to be repayable on July 1, 1908.

The petition of William Casey for rebate of taxes, on account of his property being inaccessible for lack of a road, was brought up by the mayor and some discussion ensued. Several aldermen spoke, and the opinion was expressed by some that Mr. Casey had no valid ground for objections, as his assessment was low, the assessors having apparently taken the circumstances into consideration. His taxes are $12 for this year, which was considered low for a property owner. The petition was laid over until next regular meeting, the chairman of the petitions committee to enquire into the matter in the meantime and be prepared with a recommendation, in order that the council may dispose of the matter.

Ald. John Clark, chairman of the park and fire committee, verbally reported in regard to the procuring of a fire whistle. He said they were not yet in a position to give figures of the cost of such a whistle, as the manufacturers communicated with wanted specifications submitted from which the whistle could be specially made.

Some discussion took place in regard to the laying of a spur railway track at the power house. The mayor stated the negotiations he had had with the railway. The discussion ended without anything definite being decided upon.

Ald. T. A. Clarke, chairman of the police and appointment to office committee, recommending (1) that the tender of M. Russell for supplying coal to the police court room at $4.74 per ton be accepted; (2) that Howard Williston be appointed a school trustee, in place of John Clark, whose term had expired, and that John Williams be appointed a surveyor of lumber. On motion the report was received and adopted, the appointments of Messrs. Williston and Williams being duly balloted on.

The police committee also recommended that they be authorized to remove the partition separating the police court room from the other small room, in order to give needed room for the growing police court business; this to be in addition to creating the platform and railing as already authorized. On motion the report was received and adopted, the work to be done by tender. The council then adjourned.

AUGUST 'CANADIAN' PICTORIAL.

The midsummer spirit pervades the August "Canadian Pictorial." There is a page of fishing scenes in the lakes of Northern Ontario, where the black bass run four and five pound. Then there's yachting and camping, and wading and diving, and a picture of one of the fashionable seaside resorts of the Lower St. Lawrence. Then come the news-pictures, of which the chief are, those illustrating the national welcome-home that Sir Wilfrid Laurier received, and the catastrophe at London, Ont., in which eight lives were lost. The distinguished Canadian of the month is the recently knighted Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario; and in the Woman's Department there is a fine picture of Ledy Clark, also articles on the "Out Door Life," "Summer Shopping," "Fruit Preserving." As well as timely fashion pictures. Ten cents a copy, one dollar a year. The "Pictorial" Publishing Co., 142 St. Peter street, Montreal.

CHOKED SQUAW TO DEATH.

Killed to Imprison Bad Spirit.—Following Ancient Belief.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—In the wilds of Keewatin tribal custom and Canadian justice have clashed, and Jos. Fidler, the chief, and the medicine man of the Sandy Lake Crees, are under arrest at Norway House. They will be tried for the murder of a squaw.

The woman, who is of the same name and blood as the two rascals, fell sick in the spring and became delirious. The Indians of the region believe in the evil spirit or wendigo has entered him, and they believe that if the person dies naturally the wendigo escapes to the woods, pursues and frightens away the game and famine follows.

Therefore the band assembled and according to the custom, appointed their chief and medicine man to the high honor of choking the sick squaw to death so that the spirit might not escape with the passing of breath, but might remain imprisoned in the dead body. In the presence of the whole tribe the chief and medicine man carried out the instructions.

A piece of canvas was placed about the squaw's neck and then followed the noose of a rope. This being tightened by the two leaders of the band, the ravings of the woman stopped, the evil spirit was imprisoned and the game preserved.

The piece of barbarism was executed within 200 miles of Kenora. Word of it reached the authorities, and the arrests followed. The Fidler's asked the officials not to be too severe with them as they had no idea that they were doing wrong. They were merely doing their duty by the band and following the customs of their fathers. The execution of this duty was a high honor and according to customs the executioners were handsomely fed by the parents of the victim.

Whether the jury will be sent to Norway House or the prisoners brought to Edmonton will be a matter for the justice department to decide.
