Probable Satisfactory Settlement of the Nicaragua Trouble.

Seventeen Soldiers Lose Their Lives by Eating Poisonous Meat.

Contradictory Statements Regarding the Jap-Chinese Treaty-An Englishman Made a Doctor of Philosophy by the University of Gottingen.

STRIKE LEADERS IMPRISONED. Paris, May 2.—Prous and Deville, the leaders of the recent omnibus strike, were sentenced today to six months' imprisonment each for inciting men to disorder and violence.

POISONOUS BEEF. Paris, May 2.—It is stated that seventeen soldiers have died at the Military Hospital at Vitroe, 21 miles east of Rennes, on the Vilaine, from eating American tinned meat. It is added that 34 others are ill, suffering from the effects of having partaken of the meat.

NO UPRISING IN ARMENIA. A special from St. Petersburg says: The Ottoman Embassy here contradicts the reports circulated in England of an alleged uprising in Armenia. Everything, it is stated, is perfectly quiet in Armenia.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

London, May 2.-Mr. Gardiner, President of the Board of Agriculture, replying in the House of Commons to a question by Sir John Kinloch and Mr. Robert Farquharson, said there was no chance whatever of Canadian cattle being unrestrictedly admitted into Great Britain this season. Since the last report of the Board of Agriculture, he said, the Government of Belgium had also discovered cases of pleuropneumonia among Canadian cattle landed at Belgian ports, and the Government of Great Britain was trying to obtain details in regard to the cases. When the details were received the Government would consider whether or not a detailed communication in regard to the matter should be made to the Dominion,

WOMAN TAKES A DEGREE. Berlin, May 2-An Englishwoman, Miss Grace Chisholm, has just taken the degree of philosophy at the University of Gottingen, with the express permission of the Prussian Minister of Education. This is the first degree ever taken by a woman since Gottingen became a Prussian university, as the Emperor has hitherto opposed the admission of women to the imperial universities. It is supposed that the conferring of the degree upon Miss Chisholm indicates a change of policy, and is preliminary to further concessions in regard to the higher education of women. The new departure has caused much stir in the German academic

The News correspondent in Vienna says diplomatic circles in Tokio believe a settlement will be effected by Russia's restoring Saghalien to Japan and China's compensating Russia with NICARAGUA HAS THE NICKLES.

The London Times' correspondent in Shanghai says: The Emperor urgently commanded Li Hung Chang to Pekin to consult with him as to the ratification of the treaty. Prince Kung also urged the necessity of Li's presence, as otherwise his labor in Japan was lost. Certain ministers and princes have petitioned the Emperor to pay a vastly increased indemnity instead of ceding Manchuria. Fukien officials have drawn up a memorial protesting against the cession of Formosa, and offering to contribute to a redemption fund. Viceroy Liu Kun Yi and Gen. Sung declare that the Emperor intends to fight to the death sooner than surrender Manchuria. It appears certain that Russia has handed her ultimatum to Japan.

The London Standard's correspondent in Paris says: The general expression of hostility at France's assistance to coerce Japan has had a salutary effect. Now it is intimated that France's purely diplomatic and expostulatory. intervention always was meant to be To cover the retreat from an untenable position it is announced that Japan is willing to make concessions. The Times' correspondent in Odessa reports that Russia has made every preparation for war, and is quite ready to mobilize for hostilities against Japan in case Japan does not comply with

PROBABLY A FAKE.

London, May 3.-The Birmingham Post says Lord Roseberry and Sir William Harcourt are not on speaking terms and the complications in China and Nicaragua prevent Lord Roseberry from resigning the Premiership immediately. This statement is not taken seriously here. The Sun comments upon Sir William Harcourt's saving in his budget speech yesterday that it was probably the last time he would intro-duce a budget to the House.

BRITAIN'S BUDGET.

Heavy Increase in Naval Expenditure To Be Met.

London, May 2.—In the House of Commons today Sir William Harcourt announced that the estimated expenditures for the coming year would be $479,905,000, and the estimated revenue $478,310,000. The increase in the expenditures over last year was due to the additions to the navy. The deficit of $1,595,000, as shown by the budget, must be met by the imposition of a duty upon spirits or upon beer. The strong objections raised by the Irish and Scotch manufacturers of spirits led him to propose the continuance of the duty of sixpence a barrel upon beer, which would yield a revenue of $2,500,000 and cover the estimated de-

Sir William Harcourt, continuing, said that the imports and exports for the past year had shown that though low prices ruled much benefit had been derived by the workingmen. Agricultural distress had been keen, and labor troubles numerous, yet the general condition was better than during the previous year. The most gratifying sign of prosperity, he said, was the deposits in savings banks, which amounted in 1890 to a little over $150,000,000. In 1891 they were $155,000,000; in 1892, nearly $165,000,000; in 1893, $175,000,000, and in 1894, $225,500,000. Nothing, he said, better proved the sound financial condition of the country.

The budget passed the first reading without a division.

THE NICARAGUA UNPLEASANTNESS Fair Way of Being Soon Cleared Up.

London, May 2.-In the House of Commons today Wm. P. Byles (Liberal) asked the Government if Nicaragua had offered to refer all questions regarding indemnity for alleged injuries to British subjects, including the ex-pulsion of British Agent Hatch to an arbitration commission, and if so, why the Government had declined to accept the proposal. He also asked if the Government of the United States had tendered their good offices or suggested the terms of an amicable arrangement of the difficulty, and whether there was a prospect of such terms being accepted.

Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, in reply, said Nicaragua on April 11 sent to the British Government a proposal that the trouble be settled by arbitration. He believed that when the papers in the case should be laid on the table it would be seen that the matter was not a proper subject United States Government had not tendered their good offices for the settlement of the difficulty. Her Majesty's Government had reason to believe the difficulty would be aranged shortly.

In reply to a further interrogation by Mr. A. C. Morton (Liberal), Sir Edward Grey said it was not a proper case for

The Central News says it is learned that the Nicaragua affair has been settled, England making some slight concessions. A special from Corinto, Nicaragua, says the British warships have changed position again. It is understood they are to leave upon receiving from Managua a promise to pay the indemnity. Admiral Stephenson has wired home asking for further instructions. He says the concessions made by England indicate that a peaceable solution of

New York, May 3.-A special from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, to the World says: A telegram from Managua reports that Nicaragua has money enough to pay the indemnity England requires.

THE BRITISH LEAVING. New York, May 3.-Corinto will be pen again before the next Pacific mail teamship is due. The British are preparing to leave.

ENGLAND'S NEXT MOVE. New York, May 3 .- A special from Caracas, Venezuela, to the World says t is believed there that as soon as England is through with Nicaragua she will turn her attention to Venezuela. The trouble with France is more complicated. It is feared she will follow England's example.

MUST PAY UP.

Strong Talk From British Papers on the Nicaragua Matter.

London, May 3.-Commenting on Nicaragua affairs the St. James Gazette says: "If President Zelaya plays us false we will not only occupy Corinto but will wipe off the map one or two other places with it. If any of the great powers had behaved towards Great Britain as Nicaragua did in the case of Mr. Hatch, we would have been at war with them before the end of a week."

NICARAGUA MUST PAY. London, May 3.-The Globe, in an editorial artical on the Nicaraguan dispute, says: "Nicaragua must pay and apologize. The American Republic shows a disposition to interfere in disputes between the small states and Europe, which is objectionable and unasked for. The tone of the American press, has reflected clearly as usual the tone of the country, though their bluster has been louder upon this occasion because it was felt that there was little chance of being listened to."

GENERAL GRANT'S DAUGHTER

Will Marry General Douglas-A Quiet Affair.

Chicago, May 3.-Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris and Gen. Henry Kyd Douglas, of Maryland, are to be married, and that in the near future. The report was published a year ago, and was promptly denied. Notwithstanding this. Gen. Douglas has been most faithful in his attendance upon the widow.

It is understood that the wedding is to occur at the residence of Mrs. Sartoris in Washington, and will be very quiet. Few guests outside of the family will be asked, and it is said Gen. and Mrs. Douglas will sail on the next steamer for Europe.

MAY MARVELS Manitoba Will Not Obey the Remedial

But the Government Will Go to the Country-Legislature Meets Soon.

Winnipeg, May 3.-It is said on good authority that the reply of the Mani-toba Government to Ottawa on the school question next Thursday will be thus: "That inasmuch as this Legislature was elected to support national schools, it must adhere to that policy on account of which it was returned to power, and that before this Government can give any other answer than that the national school system is to be maintained it must discover afresh the attitude of the people of Manitoba up-on this question." In other words, the Government will say "No" to the re-medial order, and will go to the country for an expression of opinion upon its action. A Liberal caucus of members will be held next Wednesday, at which the reply of the Government will be presented. An editorial from the columns of the Montreal Gazette was published here this afternoon, suggesting that Manitoba should adopt the Ontario separate school system as a compromise, and combatting the theory that the Manioba Government have no alternative but to return a negative reply to the order-in-council. A member of the Manitoba Government, on being shown the dispatch, said: "The article derives special interest from the fact that it is a plausible acknowledgment on the part of the Government at Ottawa that they have got themselves into an exceedingly unpleasant position. The remedial order was a blunder, and the wording of the remedial order was an even greater blunder. The Gazette, at the direction of the Ottawa Government, would seek to remedy this mistake by suggesting that Manitoba make certain amendments to its school act. The blunder of the Ottawa Govern-ment cannot be bolstered up in any such evident fashion. The remedial order expressly directs a return to the system of schools as they exited prior to 1890. The remedial order is all that is before the Government of Manitoba, and nothing has been said or done which gives our Government any certain knowledge that anything less than the literal direction of the order would be accepted. If the Ottawa Government desires to negotiate with the Manitoba Government on the question of the modification of the school system, the time to open such negotiations was before the issuance of the order. At the present time all that is before us is the order, which is to be accepted or rejected. The adoption of the amendments to our school system would neither be in law nor sense a carry-ing out of the terms of the order, and could not be regarded as an answer to the order, which in brief is all that is before the Government of Manitoba,

In order to allow the defense to se cure evidence (by commission) from Philadelphia, the opening of the Hyams murder trial at Toronto has been postponed until Thursday, when Judge Falconbridge will preside.

Galvin Houston, bookkeeper for J. H. H. Taylor, Montreal, dealer in railway supplies, has disappeared. Examination of the books, it is alleged, re veals the fact that he had been robbing the firm for the past five years, his peculations totaling some $5,000. It is estimated that nearly 35,000,000 feet of Canadian pine will be rafted across the lakes to the Saginaw mills during the present season. In addition to this, the Michigan Central Railway will take at least -125,000,000 feet from points along the Mackinaw division and the Flint and Marquette will carry 50,000,000 feet.

CLARA FORD'S TRIAL.

Toronto, May 2.- Nothing of any importance transpired at the Clara Ford trial this afternoon. The confession made by Clara Ford to Detective Reburn at the time of her arrest was put in, and the detective cross-examined without being in the least shaken. The confession agrees entirely with what has been published, showing that the prisoner dressed herself as a man, rang the bell and brought young Westwood to the door and shot him as he stood there.

THE DOMINION ALLIANCE. Toronto, May 3 .- The Dominion Alliance executive met yesterday, Dr. Macdaren presiding. Arrangements were completed for the meeting of the egislative committee at the Parliament buildings, Ottawa, at 10 a.m. on May 8. Senator Vidal, in the Senate, and Dr. Roome and Mr. Flint, in the Commons. will be asked to invite the temperance members of Parliament to a meeting. The executive decided to publish a prohibition handbook of about 500 pages, compiled from the royal commission reports, to be edited by Mr. J. S. Spence. REV. DR. ROBERTSON'S PLAN.

Ottawa, May 2.-Rev. Dr. Robertson. superintendent of Presbyterian missions in the Northwest, delivered a mission address in Knox Church last evening. During his address he said the people of Manitoba should be allowed to settle the school question for themselves. They knew much better what to do than the politicians at Ottawa. He thought that, to get over the diffi-culty, a committee, not of bishops, priests or clergymen, but of laymen. should be appointed to deal with the matter, and when this committee would report the country should abide by and carry out the committee's recommittee's mendations.

Want the City to Attend to Telephone and Telegraph Companies Leaving Wires on the Streets-Also Want Large Stones Removed.

A large number of members were present at the regular monthly meeting of the London Bicycle Club last night at the club rooms. Dr. Balfour, the popular president, occupied the chair. The club passed a resolution complimenting the C. W. A. members for their excellent choice in selecting the doctor as their vice-president for the current year. The boys are confident he will make as great a success in his position as vice-president as he does as president of the L. B. C. The doctor intends to conduct a large wheeling party to the annual meet at Waterloo on Dominion Day, and all wheelmen intending to ride to Waterloo are requested to send in their names so that hotel accommodation may be se-Fifteen new members were elected to the club, and the membership roll is rapidly increasing. The committee having the new track in charge have been working hard to get the stock list filled up, but are disappointed at the apparent lack of interest the wheelmen are taking in the matter of subscribing for the stock, and they would like all who have not yet subscribed to do so at once, and be more enthusiastic in the matter, as it means a great deal to the city at large, as well as the wheelmen, to have visitors at the meets the club would hold here if there was a first-class track in the city, and as every litle town is building a track, London cannot afford to be behind the times. The hotel men ought to take more interest in the matter, as their houses would be filled with visiting wheelmen during the meets. 'A word to the wise," etc. Let the track be assured. The matter of a new uniform was left with the committee, to act at once. The club will hold a run on Thursday evening next, of which further notice will be given. All members are requested to be present. There will be ots of milk to drink in the country, so the captain says. Some of the members complain of the long pieces of telegraph and telephone wires left lying on the streets in the city by the companies' men. Several wheelmen have run over pieces in the dark, which flew up and smashed several spokes in the wheels. The city officials ought to attend to this matter, also to the large number of rocks and large stones lying on the roads.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE. St. John Is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery. St. John, N. B., May 3.-The many cases of marvelous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have ime awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected, namely Dodd's Kidney Pills, are obtaining great celebrity throughout the Province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which have since then been chronicled has caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

"She was a bright, original woman, and a chat with her was ever with the benefit of fresh ideas. The address of the letter she held was in writing unfamiliar, and yet before opening it, came her prompt decision that paper, script, address, wax and seal were all in evidence of a gentlewoman. 'I still insist,' she added, 'that a woman is known as much by her letter as by her gown.' This assertion was startling, but in the argument that followed was proved as possessing a degree of truth. Charms of person and manner can make a very quiet gown pass as a robe of elegance, while, as in this instance, a note or letter must stand many times as sole voucher for position and culture.

Says the Woman's Tribune: "Woman's first influence in the modern business world was to help make daughters more welcome in the world. Fifteen years ago, when my German shoemaker rejoiced that he had but one boy, and wished he had been a girl, on the ground that the girls saved their earnings and the boy earned nothing, spending the earnings of others, I knew that this thrifty German soul had detected the keynote of commercialism for women, viz., an honorable independence, resulting in a welcome to girl babies not vouchsafed a century ago. A short time ago my newsdealer said he was glad he had seven daughters, and did not wish they had been boys, for they were all self-supporting, and were in all other ways a comfort to him. This influence of the independence of women by making them welcome to the world is no small one, and if it is sometimes overdone, and indolent men in a family take advantage of energetic women, the general influence is for

SUIT AGAINST GEO. GOULD.

Charged With Fraudulently Retaining a Check for $40,000.

TRENTON, N. J., May 2.-A number of papers in the Suit of Rosella Roumatela known as Zella Nicolaus) against George J. Gould was filed this morning. Among the documents is a declaration that in April, 1893, the plaintiff was possessed, as her own property, of a check or deposit certificate of the value of $40,000. At Jersey City she afterwards lost the certificate, and Geo. J. Gould found it. "Yet the defendant, well knowing the certificates to be the property of plaintiff, but contriving and fraudulently intending craftily and subtlety to deprive and defraud the plaintiff, has not as yet delivered said certificate to plaintiff, although often requested so to do by plaintiff many times before commencement of this suit, but has refused so to do, and has conveyed and disposed of said certificate to his own use.' Another paper is a petition reciting that plaintiff is a minor, being only 19 years of age, and praying that the court appoint Lawyer Alexander Simpson, of Jersey City, as her next friend to prosecute the suit.

The court has granted this petition, and the defendant must answer within 30 days of the service made upon him of this Communipaw a few days ago.

The meeting was a somewhat important one, inasmuch as it was decided to buy another machine for the corporation—not another toy like Jumbo, but a road

The two bylaws and the city solicitor's opinion on the proposed drains on Duchess avenue and Dean street, South London, were read, and it was decided to leave the matter in abeyance until next week. Petitioners for the drains will be seen in the meantime and asked whether they will become responsible for any damage incurred in case they Ladies' Black Cotton Hose, fast should use the drains to carry off a nuisance. The aldermen did not want to be too back. to be too hasty, and possibly entail another suit like Lewis vs. Alexander. G. A. Hall and F. Appleton applied for leave to establish a merry-go-round on the fair grounds during the coming summer. Granted. Mr. Hall to pay $10 and the usual $75 license, but no exclusive rights were given.

The report of the sub-committee re street paving came up, and Ald. Wm. Heaman stated that a representative of a Buffalo paving firm was in the city. The company had previously done no work in Canada, but it was asked that the matter lay over for a week No time will thereby be lost, and the question was deferred until the next meeting. The application of the Musical Society Band for a portion of the band concert grant was read. No other band in the city has yet applied for a share of the grant, and Ald. Parnell and W. Heaman were appointed to report next meeting. Ald. Parnell advocated having a first-class band, and he favored the Musical Society organization. H. A. Brown offered to furnish the of the work done by the machine in South London. "We graded five blocks on Cathcart street in No. 6 ward," said Assistant Engineer Ironsides, "and it only cost $24 75. "And what would it have cost with corporation men and teams?" asked the "From $30 to $40 a block," replied Mr.

Ironsides.
Ald. O'Meara was enthusiastic in Only 25c Each his praise of the machine. "I will guarantee," he said, "to work the machine for a week and save the city the price of it, and pay the men to run it

> Several members made excuses for not having Ald. Nutkins at the South London grading hee and was heard about recommending the purchase of the machine to the council until he had seen it in operation. Ald. O'Meara took a glance at Ald.

Nutkins and got a rap at the paving jaunters. "Well, now," said he, "I do not think Ald. Nutkins should object. He went away on pavement business, and we took his report, and I don't know why he should not take our report on this machine.'

Ald. Nutkins denied having objected in the slightest, and didn't want such an impression to go abroad. Smiles were exchanged, and everything was harmonious. It was only a slight misunderstanding. Ward foremen came in for a rub from Ald. O'Meara for going around making work for themselves, when there was none for other laborers, and charging $1 50 a day. He thought they had their own way a little too much. He denied being opposed to the workingmen-he had always acted as their friend-but he did not like to see the ward foremen living on beefsteak while the men he bossed only got fat pork. He was going to move that all foremen be paid regular laborer's wages-$1 25 per dayunless they have more than four men working. The motion was withdrawn, but the subject will be revived in the near future.

The reading of the accounts revealed the fact that certain repairs and supplies had been ordered without the consent of Chairman Heaman. In future Ald. Heaman will be consulted in every matter.

FERTILIZERS.

To the Editor: London, May 2.- I have just received bulletin No. 41, 1895, containing its Government analysis of different fertilizers, manufactured by both Canadian and American firms. Now, I do not wish to say anything against any of the firms who sell or manufacture fertilizers, but this I will say, that the Government is not doing right to the farming community in sending out such reports. The method pursued by the Government is thus: The inspector calls upon the different manufacturers, and also those who send out fertilizers. He has two self-sealing jars for each kind of fertilizer. He weighs four pounds, and puts two pounds in each jar, sealing each with the Government stamp. One he takes away and the other he leaves with you. Both being sealed, he goes away, and that is the last you see of him for a year or more; and as far as the results are concerned, that has been out of the question. Now, sir, every dealer knows that Mr. Inspector is coming around. Of course they know not when, but as a matter of fact they are prepared for him. Now, sir, I mean to say that the way, and the only way, to protect farmers and others who use fertilizers is to put it in bond the same as tobacco, cigars, etc. Every bag or receptacle in bond should be analyzed and the Government stamp put on each package, and given out only subject to the Government officer. I hope you will pardon me for writing such a long article, but this is business, and should be seen to, the sooner the better. Example: A traveling man called upon me a short time ago selling fertilizers. He said our fertilizers contained so much ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash, making 1,100 pounds out of a ton. I said: "What is your filler for the balance?" He was left. "Now," said I, "if you are so sure about the analysis of your goods, let us send some to the Government analyst at Toronto. the cost of the same being about $10. If it proves as you say, I will give you an order for a car and pay for the alysis. If it does not prove as say, you pay for the analysis, and go without the order." He said: "You know too much about fertilizers for me." So he left. Now, I say to farmer M.P.s, see that there is a cast iron rule made to all selling fertilizers, and you will not regret it. Yours truly, GEO. J. GRIFFIN.

"STEWARDSHIP."

Capt. Kimball's Unique Address to Christian Endeavorers,

On the Seventh Anniversary of the Local Establishment of the Society-Rev. Robert Johnston's Welcome.

The seventh anniversary of the local organization of Christian Endeavor was celebrated by a grand rally in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last evening. The ground floor of the large church was completely filled, and many were accommodated in the gallery. A great many clergymen graced the anniversary by their presence, and the speakers of the evening were Rev. Robert Johnston and Capt. Kimball, the Baptist soldier-preacher, formerly in the United States army, now pastor at Aylmer, Ont. During the evening two splendid solos were rendered by Miss Gilmour and Mr. Soper.

President Ashwell J. Clarke, in his chairman's address, gave a brief outline of the history of the Endeavor movement in London. It began about seven years ago, and proved a source of strength and power to the different churches with which the societies were connected. While they were a band of Christians pledged to loyalty to their church and Christ, this would always be so. Rev. Robert Johnston, the pastor of the church, was warmly applauded as he bade the Endeavorers welcome in the name of St. Andrew's Church. love Christian Endeavor work," said Mr. Johnston, "and I trust that you will find me just as hearty a supporter and helper of every department of that work in this city as I expect to find you hearty and helpful supporters of every branch of work connected with the different branches of Christian work in this city. Christian Endeavor is the movement of the present, and it is the hope of the future. I see in it the spirit that is animating the growth of faith in the church of Jesus Christ today; the hope for that grand work that is to be accomplished in the latter days of this century, and in the beginning of the coming century; that is to do mighty things in the bringing of the world to the feet of Christ.' Concluding, Mr. Johnston gave some words of advice to the young people. They should be permeated with true humility, and they should study the

Mr. Johnston referred to Capt. Kimball as the hero of a hundred days of battle, if not "the hero of a hundred fights," and a heavy-weight. Capt. Kimball took the word "Stewardship" as his subject, and was in truth a heavy-weight. He is a large man with an American accent, a full, ruddy face, adorned with a blonde mus-tache and a perennial smile. He began in a humorous vein, saying he had discovered the fact that Canadians were given to extravagance of words. He assured them that he should have preferred being out of battle every time, and had a tremendous inclination to run. (Laughter.) However, he ascribed this to a difficulty of legs instead of the heart. In this strain he continued, and touched lightly on Mr. Johnston's reference to humility among young people. It was all very well for old gentlemen like Mr. Johnston to speak like that. To him was due some consideration at the hands of such young men as the speaker (who, by the way, is probably 25 years older than Mr. Johnston) and other young Endeavorers. (Laughter.) He had only a few homely things to say, and hoped they would not be thought severe. He then started out to combat the idea that there was any promise of temporal blessing or real happiness arising out of Chritianity unidentified with the services of the Lord Jesus Christ, The conditions were absolutely inseparable. He then emphasized the fact that a steward had no proprietary right to anything entrusted to his care. A man was the steward of his body which was Christ's in fee-simple. Man was not only the steward of his body. but the steward of his money, and everything else which was Christ's property, and man's only to use. Instead of a man wondering whether he should give one-tenth of his income to God or not, he should ask God how much he could spare him to live on, to keep his family comfortably, and to keep a home over his head. He instanced the cases of some American merchants who gave to God all their business earned above a comfortable living. When a man was simply a steward for God he was not worried f his goods were swept away. He was simply relieved for a time of his toil and stewardship. He contrasted this condition with the feelings of a man had than the man who simply regarded himself as a steward. The chief qualification for the enjoyment of the results of service is to have served. Then he pointed out that when the things of earth were surrendered at death how little comfort there was in the idea of proprietary interest, and how comforting was the sense if stewardship was well fulfilled. When Christ would say: "Because thou hast been faithful in a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

TRADE IN CANADA.

Improved Features of the Business Outlook,

As Reported in R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review.

Toronto, May 2.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says: The advent of the vessels from sea and the opening of the canals have somewhat brightened the situation at Montreal, and some fair shipments of goods are being made.

Drygoods men report an improved sorting business and rather better remittances from some sections, though there is still great room for improvement in this respect. Groceries show a slightly better distribution.

Iron and heavy metals generally very dull. The excitement in hides continues. Leather advances in sympathy, and credit lines and terms are being restricted. Dairy products dull with easy values prevailing. IN TORONTO. Wholesale trade at Toronto continues in a satisfactory state; demand for seasonable goods increasing, and the feelimprovement in hardware and metals, while sugars are firmer. The demand for hides continues good and prices firm. Leather is affected favorably in consequence. There is an advance of 5 cents per bushel in the price of Ontario white wheat, which has sold since the beginning of the week at 80 cents along the lines of railway north and west. Holders in many cases are now asking 85 cents, but the price is not likely to go above 85 cents, as at 87 to 90 cents dealers would bring in wheat from the United States, paying the 15 cents duty and freight.

The failures for the week are 34, as against 31 for the corresponding week of a year ago.

London, Friday, May 3.

THE NEW G. T. R. PRESIDENT. As has already been announced in these columns, Sir Henry Tyler, who for over twenty years has been president of the Grand Trunk Railway, has retired, and his place has been taken by Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, K.C.M.G, C.B., a distinguished British financier, the head of the shareholders' committee who have been calling for a change of policy. Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, the new president, was born in the British metropolis on Feb. 19, 1831, and educated at Eton and Balliol College, Oxford. He early showed a liking for finance, and secured a clerkship in the British Treasury in 1856. In rapid succession he held the position of private secretary to James Wilson and George A. Hamilton, Secretaries of the Treasury; to Mr. Disraeli when Chancellor of the Exchequer, and to Mr. Lowe, when he held the same office. His next important appointment was that of Comptroller-General of the National Debt Office, which was given him in 1873. At the request of the Khedive of Egypt, he went to Egypt in 1876, with the view of accepting a financial post in that country; but after the issue of the decree of May 7, 1876, by which an abitrary readjustment of the public debt of Egypt was proposed, he returned to England, and resumed his post at the National Debt Office. In the following July he was appointed one of the British Government administrators of the Suez Canal Company, and six months later a royal commissioner for the Paris Exhibition of 1878. In that year the important post of vice-president of an international commission of inquiry into the resources of Egypt was given him. In the absence of M. DeLesseps, he acted as president of this commission, which also was charged with the duty of proposing measures for remedying the financial disorder in that country. The report of the commission traced the whole of the mischief to the system of personal administration by the Viceroy, and proposed that his Highness should surrender his estates and those of his family to make good the deficit of the revenue and pay the large floating debt of the country The immediate consequence of the presentation of their report was an acceptance by the Khedive of all its conclusions, and a formal announcement to Mr. Rivers Wilson of the determination of his Highness to abandon his actual system of government for one more in conformity with European experience, and to govern in future by means of a responsible Ministry. The formation of the new Cabinet was entrusted to Mr. Nubar Pasha, who offered to Mr. Rivers Wilson the post of Finance Minister. With the consent of her Majesty's Government, Mr. Rivers Wilson accepted this position for a period of 2 1-2 years. But in less than six months early in 1879 - the Khedive struck the blow he had long been meditating. He dismissed Mr. Rivers Wilson and his French associate, and soon afterwards Mr. Rivers Wilson was recalled by the British Government to resume his duties in connection with the national debt. He was created a K. C. M. G. for his distinguished services in January, 1880, and on April 5, the new Khedive signed a decree appointing Sir Rivers Wilson president of the international commision of liquidation. During the same year he received the royal license to accept and wear the insignia of the first class of the Turkish Order of the Medjidieh. In May, 1881, Sir Rivers Wilson was appointed a royal commissioner for the prominent part in financial affairs. From this sketch it will be observed that the new president of the Grand Trunk is not a railway man, but an expert financier. It is probable, therefore, that the first act of the new board will be a thorough inquiry into the financial standing of the road, with the object of reorganizing its finances.

As to the running of the road, we be-Heve that President Sir Rivers Wilson will find that its Canadian management has been most efficient and economical, and that its failure to earn dividends has arisen from causes over which they had no control. The line has to depend on through freight for a great leal of its revenue, and one of the first reforms that the new directorate should strive to effect should be the speedy removal of every impediment in the way of their successfully competing with their United States rivals. The total Canadian exports to the United States for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1894, were valued at $7,500,000, compared with $6,414,000 during the corresponding period in 1893. Manitoba and the Northwest are not included in these returns. The increase is due to the reduced tariff under the Wilson Bill. Conservative politicians have all along argued against the value of the United States market, because the products of the two countries are similar. They do not take local conditions into account. Ontario is nearer the great urban State of New York than are the western states, from which New York draws much of its supplies. Would Michigan build a protective wall around her because her products are similar to those of her neighbors? All international trade must be mutually profitable or it would not be carried on.

The Bowell Government speaks in one breath of the necessity of retrenchment, and in the next of taking the preliminary steps for the building of the Hudson Bay Railway, the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, and the digging of a tunnel between the mainland and Prince Edward Island, each one of which will cost millions upon millions of dollars, which will never yield a cent's return to the Government, but will, on the contrary, necessitate further expenditure for maintenance. To cut down departmental expenses a few thousands while undertaking the expenditure of scores of millions is surely the silliest possible exhibition of a penny wise and pound foolish policy. The fact of the matter is that the three gigantic schemes the Government countenances are mere general election bribes. The Government has no intention of seriously undertaking them, but by encouraging them and promising expenditure upon preliminary surveys, etc., it may commit the country without meaning to do so .- Montreal Wit-today's session of the House of Commons was spent in dicussing Mr. Mulock's bill to prevent members of Parliament from accepting passes from railway companies. The measure was freely criticised on both sides of the chamber, over 30 members speaking. Most of them indorsed the principle of the measure, but objected that it would either fail in carrying out its object, or did not go far enough. Mr. Casey said it would prevent a man from com-

they did not pay it out. Mr. Ouimet, a Minister, urged that every M. P. should travel free on state subsidized railroads, as in France. He insinuated that Mr. Mulock was more anxious for public applause than to have his measure passed.

Mr. Charlton defended Mr. Mulock, and said the bill was reasonable, and could be amended in committee. Four members rose at once on the Government side, so great was the interest taken. Mr. Weldon was recog-He supported the views of Mr. Mr. Flint agreed with the principle the bill. Col. Denison (Toronto) thought the $33,000 now granted for mileage should be distributed among the railways, and that a bill should be passed to compel all railways to carry M. P.s free, so that they might see the country and use their knowledge for public benefit.

Mr. Cockburn (Toronto) said the bill was lost already, because of the multitude of objections to it. "Why oppose free passes?" he asked. "Why should anyone object to my carrying any member of my family free, whether on my back, or in any other way?" He suggested that Mr. Mulock was overanxious for public applause.

Mr. Mulock retorted that he was re sponsible to his constituents and the public for his acts, and therefore to an infinitesimal degree to Mr. Cockburn, which caused general laughter. Mills (Bothwell), while agreeable that the bill should go to the committee for amendment, pointed out that in England members of Parliament were paid a guinea a sitting when considering in committee railway and other bills. The money was paid by railway companies, and no one suggested they were bought. Many times members of Parliament had to travel for the benefit of their constituents, and the mileage did not cover that travel.

Sir Richard Cartwright laughingly said if every railway subsidized by the Government were compelled to give the representatives in Parliament free transports it was but a small return for the bonuses. But he disapproved of Jamaica car trips at public expense. Mr. Hazen suggested that passes were given because Parliament had liberally voted subsidies. Messrs. McMillan and McMullen supported the bill, and Mr. Davies said the discussion had more than justified the introduction of the measure.

Solicitor-General Curran emphasized an idea that seemed to prevail to a considerable extent, which was that all the railways of the country who have received subsidies should grant passes to members of Parliament. A bill to this effect, he said, was brought in years ago by Col. Amyot, but it was laughed out of the House, though a good measure. He suggested that the Government should bring in a measure on that line.

Mr. Baird had been "slurred" at for having a pass, and rather favored a

Dr. Sproule charged Mr. Mulock with being a proprietor of the Farmers' Sun, the Patron organ Mr. Mulock said he had a 50-cent interest as a subscriber. Dr. Sproule said the bill went too far. It was all right for a millionaire like Mr. Mulock, but not for a poor man. He indorsed Mr. Curran's idea of compulsory passes.

Some members suggested that newspapers sometimes get passes, and were in the same boat as M. P.s, while it was pointed out that under the bill many M. P.s could still travel by passes obtained as directors of railway companies, as stock shippers, etc. In fact, the law could be evaded.

It was explained that newspapers gave legitimate value for any passes given them. was adjourned.

I know of no man in the Commons whom I would rather see elevated to the honorable and responsible position of a Senator than yourself, but the rumor must have been set affoat by persons having some ulterior object in view, as no such offer has been made, nor has it been considered. Certainly a Senatorship was never asked for by you, either directly or indirectly. Moreover, such a step is precluded for the present by the fact that there are no vacancies that have not long since been promised. "Trusting that you may be successful in the contest before you, I remain, etc., sincerely yours, "MACKENZIE BOWELL."

Mr. Foster acknowledged that it was so written. He also confessed that ten vacancies existed in the Senate, as follow: Senator Archibald, Nova Scotia, died in October, 1890; Senator Leonare. London, May. 1891; Senator Stevens, Quebec, April, 1892; Senator Boyd, New Brunswick, December, 1893; Senator Billa Flint, June, 1894; Senator Chaffers, Quebec, July, 1894; Senator Glaster, New Brunswick, July, 1894; Senator Tasse, Quebec, January. 1895. A bill by Mr. Rider insures two hours to workingmen for voting in Dominion elections, as the Ontario law provides. Mr. Foster brought in a bill to extend to countries enjoying most favored nation treatment by Great Britain the advantages of Canada's French treaty. The British colonies will also share the lower tariff. Mr. Foster could not say how much revenue Canada would lose by the changes.

Vice-President Shaughnessy, of the C. P. R., who was in the city today, says the wheat acreage of Manitoba will be from 5 to 10 per cent greater than last year.

In the Senate today the new Government bonus to the railway to the Saskatchewan from Winnipeg was under discussion. Any revision in the terms agreed on last night were opposed by Senators Miller and McCallum, the latter characterizing the line as a railway through icebergs. Premier Bowell said the agreement had been changed by an order-in-Council but was subject to the approval of Parliament. He denied that it meant $10,000 a mile, but acknowledged that it was only a line to the Saskatchewan-a colonization road through a territory already supplied with railways. The terms have been changed at the instance of the speculators, but Premier Bowell could not divulge them till the papers are brought down. It is understood the deal would never have been laid before Parliament if a general election could have been hld before the secret order-in-Council

Mrs. Craigie Is Making the Name of John Oliver Hobbes Famous in Fiction.

A Sketch of Her Personality—Slight and Singularly Frail in Bearing and Impression - Her Features Delicate and Intensely Feminine-Success of Her Little Play.

Mrs. Craigle, who is making the name of "John Oliver Hobbes," famous in fiction, is a very young woman—almost a mere girl—shy, tiny, and extremely pretty. She is English so far as place of birth is concerned; but in descent, and, to some extent, in temperament, she is thoroughly American. Her father, John Morgan Richards, is one of the wealthiest wholesale chemists in London.

Mr. Richards-Welsh by descent-is an American of Americans, and belongs to that peculiarly charming type—the quiet, refined and cultured American gentleman. This is a type which is as yet but little known among us. We know the American millionaire who consorts with our royalties and marries his daughters to our dukes. We know the keen, pushing and smart American man of business, and we know the somewhat loud-voiced and overhurried American tourist. But that delightful and entirely unique type of American gen-tleman, with a family of long descent and of a university education, is as yet but a rare phenomenon among us.

Mr. Richards can go back to a period anterior to the revolution in the history of his family's settlement in America. In the days of warfare his people were soldiers; but in quieter times they went into the church. No fewer than four generations of them have been in the church; one of them, the great-grandfather of Mrs. Craigie, founded the first theological seminary in New York, and held the chair of theology up to the time of his death. The Fields, who have figured so brilliantly in so many departments of American lifein law, with Judge Field, of the Supreme Court, and David Dudley Field; in enterprise, with Cyrus Field, of the American cable-are cousins of Mr. Richards.

Mrs. Richards is even more typically American. Restless, energetic, imaginative and lavishly hospitable, her spacious home in that series of rather gaunt castles near Hyde Park called Lancaster Gate is a place where you will meet some of the most distinguished of London's social types. A child of Quaker pedigree, she is devotional, spiritualistic and inexhaustibly good-natured, and her enthusiasms range from Dr. Parker, of the City Temple, to the Duchess of Teck and the Princess Christian. Indeed, it is one of the peculiarities of this staunch American Republican that she is on terms not merely of intimacy, but of affectionate friendship with several members of the royal family, and they often make her home theirs during their visits to London and in hours of trial and sorrow they have sought consolation from her generous heart.

Probably you will meet at the home f the Richards a larger and more interesting collection of London's celebrities than in almost any house in London. It s characteristic of both the host and hostess that sometimes their dinner parties consist of 40 or 50 guests, and these guests represent every section of London celebrities, the literary predominating, then the journalistic, artistic, and now and then the theological.

Mrs. Craigie is a somewhat curious outcome of such surroundings, but everybody studying the character of her parents can see where she has derived the qualities that go to make up her In person she is slight, just about the middle height, and singularly frail in bearing and impression. Her face is very pretty, as I have said. The features, though strongly marked, are delicate and intensely feminine. Her eyes especially attract your notice, for they are large, open and beautiful in color and shape, and with all their keenness and brilliancy tenderness is the predominant expression. She moves through a room with a singular softness and grace of motion. Her shyness has almost disappeared in her larger experiences of London life, and she acts the part of a hostess with ease and readiness, and, as she lives with her parents, and has to organize these Gargantuan evenings to which I have alluded, her task is not always quite easy.

I have alluded to her tendency to pietism. In her it has taken a somewhat different form from that of her parents. The family was originally Presbyterian. but Mr. and Mrs. Richards are regular attendants at Dr. Parker's City Temple, while the daughter, only a few years ago, became a member of the Catholic Church. Mrs. Craigie was married when she was little more than a girl, and her affections are bound up in a charming little boy. It is certainly a somewhat uneasy sign of our times that a girl of this The defendant to pay costs. The suit kind-brought up in wealth and opulent surroundings, free from the sordid and surroundings, free from the sordid and meaner cares of life, and reared in an atmosphere heavy laden with love—should take the saddened and almost cynical view of human life which is to be found in her works. No human be- Anson B. Nicholls, whose stock was ing's conversation could give one less the idea of a nature soured, malignant, ers, leaving nothing for other creditors. or even superficially cynical. She never speaks unkindly of any human being; and she enjoys social, literary and dramatic gatherings; she is tireless in the giving and organizing of charity. she suffers from the malady of her age; she has had some painful dis-illusions.

and above all things she sees straight and she sees clear. Some surprise may be felt that a woman who has hitherto devoted her pen exclusively to the novel and the drama should be interested in the ame profound studies as have engaged Mr. Belfour. But Mrs. Craigie has gone toough a most thorough scheme of self-culture. A Scotchman in America once made the remark to me that the only educated men in America are women. Mrs. Craigie confesses the paradox. She studied the piano with Walter Macfarren; for two years she worked at classics and philosophy with Prof. Alfred Goodwin at the University College, London, and she had for years private tutors in every subject she cared to take up. Known to the public as a writer of fiction—which, to some extent, is of the world worldly she is really one of the deepest read, most serious and most widely cultured women of her time. Her output of work at the present has been very small. She has her hours every morning, during which nobody is allowed to enter her room; and, although she thus works steadily and regularly, she erases infinitely more than she publishes. Thus it is that, in spite of the startling success of "Some Emotion and a Moral." she has since written only three stories.

Perhaps the most triumphant mo-ment of her life was on that memorable afternoon at Daly's Theater, when one of the most remarkable audiences that could be found assembled to see that little play, "Journeys End in Lovers' Meetings." The cast was Ellen Terry, Forbes Robertson and William Terris The play, though taken from the French, was absolutely original so far as the dialogue was concerned, and sustained all those qualities—quick observation, delicate satire and dramatic point—which are to be found in all the conversations of "John Oliver Hobbes." The success of the little play was never doubted, and went without the least show of weariness or uncertainty from the first moment. It is a curious revelation of unexpected contradictions and of the resources of human character that this pitiless, scornful portrayer of the follies and frivolities of human life should be in her heart of hearts so gravely and per-sistently conservative. It is, perhaps, this union of serious purpose and profound thought with a keen humor that give to Mrs. Craithie's expressive face its lights, its shadows and its infinite charms.—T. P. O'Connor, in the New York Press.

CHANCERY SITTINGS CONCLUDED.

Mr. Justice Street Disposes of the Long Docket.

An Action Sent to the Stratford Court-A Plaintiff Recovers a Large Sum.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON. by Justice Street at this afternoon's Chancery sittings. In the case of the township of Aldborough against Yauch, judgment was given against Yauch for $2,737 68, and leave given to move against Yauch's other bondsmen, Jacob Miller and Michael Miller, who fought the case, was relieved of all responsibility under the $16,000 bond which he

Manson vs. Thompson was to set aside a conveyance of property in Strathroy as fraudulent. James Manson, a private banker in Strathroy, loaned Isaac and Jane Thompson $500 on lots 12, 13, and 14, on Richmond street, in that town. The property was transferred by the Thompsons to their two sons before the money was paid. Judgment for plaintiff, defendants to pay the cost. Depper vs. Hughes, in which Charles Depper, of the Hamilton road, claims $2,473 81 as due him by George Hughes, a junk dealer, was referred to the local master to take accounts between the parties, and state what sum is due the plaintiff. Judgment for possession of certain land was also given unless defendant pays into court in two weeks the sum of $1,666, to the credit of the Howe vs. Oliver.—An action by the administrator of the late Timothy Howe, of Strathroy, against A. W. Oliver and wife, of this city, and one William Oliver, on two promissory notes. The principal point of interest was the contention that one of the defendants being a married woman, having but a few articles of silverware when she made the note, was not liable to be sued as having separate estate. It was held that any property however trifling, was sufficient. Judgment for plaintiff as claimed, except as to wife on smaller note. Alex. Stuart for plaintiff. Frank Love for defendants.

Justice Street refused to hear the case of Carling Brewing Company vs. Baby. Baby is a license holder in Windsor, and the suit is to recover the value of ale and kegs supplied him by the company. The court's ground for goes the child's name on the tablets of refusal was that at the time the transactions took place he was a director of with the result that on the following the Carling company. In Smith vs. Wilson, an action to decide to whom certain goods seized by the sheriff of Middlesex rightfully belonged, Mrs. Mary A. Smith was by consent given judgment declaring her entitled to the goods and the amount in the sheriff's hands over and above the fees. Defendant to pay $100 costs.
The case of the City of London vs.

Col. Leys to recover school moneys which defendant had in his possession at the annexation of London South with the city, was ably argued by counsel. Justice Street gave judgment for the city for $1,331, to be paid into court by May 6. Proceedings were stayed until the next term to allow Col. Leys an opportunity to appeal if he so desires.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The foot of the long docket which was begun by Justice Street at the opening of the Chancery Sittings on Tuesday is almost reached, and the court will adjourn this afternoon. Two cases were disposed of this morning. Brewer vs. Coutts was brought by A. Brewer, a Parkhill miller, to set aside a conveyance of certain property in the village of Buxton, county of Kent, made by George W. Coutts. Brewer recently obtained a judgment against Coutts for $300 for the seduction of his daughter, but the money has never been paid. It transpired that the conveyance was made before the judgment was given against Coutts, and verdict for the defense was given with costs. The entry of judgment was stayed until the fifth day of the next divisional court.

In Mactavish vs. Rogers, judgment was given for the plaintiff for $928 75 and interest from May 1, 1894, less $75 allowed for expenses of a sale, and $136 92 with interest from May 4, 1893. was brought by A. DOCKET CLEARED. Justice Street took the bench this afternoon and disposed of the last case on the list-that of D. J. James vs. Plymouth Rock Clothing Company. It was an action by D. J. James, of Strathroy, to recover $1,500 for alleged breach of contract. Owing to the illness of Jas. C. Taylor, one of the defendants, the case was postponed till the Stratford sittings, which begin on May 14. Defendants have to pay the costs of the

Just at the present moment there is an unwonted activity in the doll trade, and the manufactur-ers are jubilant and loud in their expressions of good will towards the new President, who is responsible for this a practice of devoting at least two mornings a week to visiting hospitals —not merely an ordinary perfunctory official visit, but an inspection into which he throws his whole heart and geniality. Instead of contenting himself with marching through the various wards escorted by the officials of the establishment, he makes a point of going from bed to bed, shaking hands with the patients, inquiring into their condition, encouraging them with cheering words, and all this without the slightest appearance of hurry or being pressed for time. It is especially by the bedside of sick children that he tar-ries the longest, and, as he is very tender-hearted, he generally asks the little patients what he can do to give them pleasure and to make them to forget their pain. The answer almost invariably is, "Une poupee," and down one of the President's aides-de-camp things, but really expensive ones, such a one would expect to find in the nurseries and play rooms of the rich.

at their wits' end to meet the demand.

By an error for which the compositor was responsible, the 65th bargain line in J. H. Chapman and Co.'s advertisement on another page reads: "Men's fine all-wool black worsted suits, worth $6, for $2 75." The figures should have been "$16, for $12 75." This explanation should suffice the firm's many customers who were disappointed in not being able to secure such an unheardof bargain. J. H. Chapman & Co. always aim to do whatever their advertisement promise.

Albany, New York, May 2.—In the Assembly today Mr. Gorst offered the following resolution:

State of New York, mindful of the blessings of a free government, and feeling interest in the welfare of all people which is awakened by the blessings which we enjoy, hereby represent to Lord Rosebery, Premier of England, and leader of Irish reform bills in Parliament, that great interest of Americans in his policy toward Ireland, and the hope that the time may not be far distant when Ireland may have the blessings of home rule. For many years we have watched with patient interest the struggle of the great giants in the cause of reform in Ireland's government, looking to a speedy realization of her high hopes. We have seen the goal almost reached under the leadership of England's greatest commoner, Right Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone, whose mantle, so long borne by him, has now fallen upon younger but none the less brave shoulders. We believe in the ultimate success of this glorious movement, and would greatly rejoice if it were recorded that under the ministry Seven cases were struck off the list of Lord Rosebery home rule for Ireland was finally realized. And the New York Assembly forward to Lord Rosebery, Right Hon. William E. Gladstone, and

I should be afraid to say how many dolls the President has given away since he became Chief Magistrate, but I should imagine that it must be over a thousand-in fact, considerably above that figure; and inasmuch as not one of them has cost less than 10 or 20 france it will readily be seen that this peculiarly touching form of charity has made a little hole in the President's large purse. The best of it is that the ex ample which he has thus set has been extensively followed, not alone by the so-called "nouvelles riches," or lights of the Republican regime, but also by "la haute finance," and even by the noble faubourg. In fact, everybody is sending dolls to the children's hospitals, orphan asylums, and homes for foundlings, and the doll makers are

Chicago, May 2.—The features today have been the strong cables and heavy realizing by longs, the latter proving the most influential in the end. Prospects of rain also added to the bearish feeling. Receipts continue liberal and exports light. Unless a good share of the wheat which has gone out by lake should disappear at non-visible points the visible is not likely to decrease over 1,000,000 or 1,500,000 next week. The market for some time past has been running independently of the conditions that usually have some influence, and it may continue to do so. The countrymen are getting aggressively bullish, and when they get into market actively the professionals are wise to stand aside and give the sons of toil plenty of rope.

Corn and Oats—The big traders who bought yesterday have not been in the market today.
A few small shorts covered this morning, after which the price fell off.
Provisions are sympathetically higher at the opening, and a portion of the advance has been held. Trading light and featureless.

BROCKVILLE.

Brockville, Ont., May 2.-The first meeting for the season of the Brockville cheese board was held today, with a large attendance of both salesmen and buyers. The offerings of 290 boxes white and 1,400 boxes colored showed that the make up to date this season is much larger than in previous years. The market was very dull and not a box was sold. Seven cents was offered for white and 7 1-4c for colored, but the price was so low that the factorymen looked at the matter in the light of a jest. The McLennan bill before Parliament, which provides for the branding of all Canadian cheese with the month in which it is made came up for discussion, and varying views were expressed. John Redmond, Lansdowne, was elected president; C. J. Gilroy, Glenbuell, secretary, and R. J. Murphy, Elgin, auctioneer.

STIRLING.
STIRLING. Ont., May 2.—At the Stirling cheese board yesterday there were offered 295 boxes white and 115 boxes colored cheese; 74c was offered, but none sold.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

TROUT FISHING EXTRAORDIN-

London and vicinity have long been known as a sportsman's paradise, and it has now added fresh emphasis to its right to the title. It has been demonstrated that it is possible to catch trout in London without the agency of the rod or fly, simply by means of the little finger. This morning a young man raised the wire cover of the glass trout receptacle in the city treasurer's office and held a glass under the falling water to get a cool drink. His fourth finger rested on the surface of the water and the next moment he almost dropped the glass into the pool. A six-inch trout had hold of his little finger! And it retained its hold until drawn half out of the water. "The poor little things," said Treasurer Pope, who was standing by; "they are hungry, and that is the only means they have of letting us know." And he immediately sent out for some beef and liver, and telephoned to Spring-bank for some minnows. "That's nothing," said Janitor Merritt, the City Hall authority on fish, when told of the occurrence. "A big fellow took hold of my finger one day and held on until I drew him out and he fell on the floor. Fact!"

Stella was painfully conscious of the change in his manner during the next few days. It was as though he were holding himself back, trying to be patient and courteous while suffering from a constant sense of injury and anger. A sort of halfsuppressed irritation and resentmen showed itself in his manner. She could not understand it She knew that she had vexed him by her refusal to divulge the secret of her interview with John Hannington, but she felt that he ought to trust her a littleespecially when she had said that she would tell him everything by and by.

She talked gently and sympathetically to Molly, telling her that she had promised Mr. Hannington a week's grace, and that she hoped he would then speak to Mr. Mon-Molly tossed her graceful head, and looked at her stepmother with scornful eyes. "Of course you will do what you can to separate us," she said. "What makes you say so, Molly? If your father approves, I shall approve too." "But you will do your utmost to prejudice my father's mind; I know that!" cried Molly, flushing to the roots of her hair. "I understand it all; Jack told me."

"Told you-what?" asked Stella, as the girl hesitated. But Molly would not speak. She grew redder and redder, hung her head like a bashful child, and turned away. Stella could only conjecture that some garbled version of her acquaintance with John Hannington had been poured into her

An air of gloom and mystery seemed to have settled over the household. No two persons were happy in each other's company. Misunderstandings abounded on every side. The whole family appeared to be at cross purposes—the most disagreeable state that a family can possibly be in. Stella and Bertie were more comfortable together than any other couple; and they, by tacit consent, avoided all themes which might breed perplexity or discussion. Bertie was under the impression that Molly's intercourse with Hannington had been broken off; and although he had not known much | pleasure) obliged to go abroad. of it, he had known enough to make him viction that Molly was no longer carrying on clandestine relations with a man whom his father so thoroughly disliked. by the new friendliness which seemed to obtain between Molly and Uncle Ralph. He came upon them once or twice in deep converse; once he was certain that he saw his uncle hand her a letter, and he knew that they went for long walks together-but. after all, there was nothing so remarkable in these facts as to cause suspicion that anything was wrong. It was only that Bertie knew his uncle well enough to suspect his motives in every action of life; and that he did not trust too much in Molly. He did not like to confide his suspicions to Stella-who perhaps, might have been set on her guard if she had but known them in time; he could only resolve to wait and watch for further developments.

It struck him as odd, when he went into the Octagon Room one day, that Ralph was standing in the middle of the room, with a ring in his hand which he was idly fitting on his little finger. As soon as he saw Bertie, he thrust his hand into his pocket, so as to conceal the ring, and asked rather fiercely what he was doing there.

"It is the room in which I usually sit," said Bertie, with a touch of cool dignity which struck Ralph instantly as something fresh in his manner, "and I don't know why I should keep out of it. Why have you got Molly's ring? "Molly's ring?" I have not got any ring of Molly's; what do you mean?" "I mean the ring that you had on your finger," said Bertie, steadily. "A ring with one red stone set with brilliants. I saw it as I came into the room." "You are quite mistaken," said Kingscot, suddenly recovering his coolness. "The ring I am wearing never belonged to Molly at all; it was a heirloom in our family, and I was trying it on in sheer absence of mind. I wish, my dear boy, that you would mind your own business. And then he left the room, but-as Bertie noticed-without offering to convince him of his mistake by showing him the ring, which must have hung very loosely on his finger, for he drew his hand out of his pocket with-

These vague suspicions, this consciousness of something unexplained, sufficed to make Bertie wakeful for the next two nights. As he lay sleepless, he could not rid himself of the idea that there were strange sounds in the house, stealthy footsteps going to and fro, a light gleaming for a moment where no light should be. On the second night up and partly dressed himself; then opened his door softly and went out into the corridor, where the struggling moonlight lay in fitful gleams upon the polished floor. He had armed himself with a revolver-a pretty dangerous tov which he had bought in London, and s proud of keeping loaded beside his bed Bertie went up and down the passage, looked into one or two rooms, stood and listened intently, but could hear nothing. He had fancied that burglars might be in the house. Wanting as he might be in moral courage, Bertie was physically no coward. His blood warmed at the thought of a hand to hand encounter with robbers He might, he fancied, win back his father's trust and affection if he displayed striking bravery and presence of mind. He felt something like a thrill of positive satisfaction when at last he was certain that he did hear a footstep, that he did see a glimmer of light beneath the door of his father's study-where no light was usually to be seen between the hours of one and two in the morning. He drew back into a dark recess, and waited for the footsteps that were

The study door opened, a flash of light came forth. It came from a lantern in a man's hand, and the light gleamed upon the man's face as he walked. Bertie started; his revolver nearly fell from his hand as he looked. This was no robber, then?-merely Ralph Kingscot, who had been wandering about the house by night, after his well-known, uncanny fashion. He had a roll of papers in his hand, and his face was pale; his eyes gleamed in a restless way as he glanced from side to side.

Bertie drew back as far as possible. At that moment he did not want to confront his uncle. Relations between the two had been somewhat strained during the last fow days. He was lucky. Ralph stopped and extinguished his lantern before he reached the dark recess. If he had kept it alight, he would have seen his nephew's shrinking figure as he passed down the corrider. He went to the Octagon Room; thence, as Bertie knew, he could pass into his own apartments. Some impulse urged him to follow. He made his way softly and stealthily to the Octagon Room, holding his loaded revolver firmly in one hand.

The Octagon Room was dark. The door into the Tower stood open, and a breath of cold night air blew on Bertie's face as he approached it. He know what that meant. The door from Ralph's room into the garden must be open too. Voices fell suddenly upon his ear. He stopped to listen, for surely one of them at least was well-known to him. Molly; what could Molly be doing in Uncle Ralph's room at that hour of the night? And there was Kingscot's voice and another-whose? not John Hannington's?

What did this mean? A burning tide of indignation rushed through Bertie's veins. He dashed forward hardly knowing what he did. He had a glimpse of a dimly-lighted room; of Molly in her hat and cloak, holding by a man's arm, of Ralph Kingscot's furious look. The light was suddenly blown out; there came a cry, a scuffle; the sound of a loud report as the revolver was wrenched out of his hand and fired-by whom he could not tell. A heavy blow was planted well between his eyes; there was a moment of bewildering pain, of flickering lights, confusing noises, quivering nerves-and then came the blackness and silence of complete unconscious-

Glasgow on a dull, dreary, drizzling day; Glasgow with east wind in full predominance, with pavement deep in mud, with lamps lighted in the streets at four o'clock in the atternoon, although the month was April, and in the country, at least, the daylight hours began to lengthen pleasantly. But the great city was wrapped in gloom, and the cheerlessness of the day was reflected in the countenances of those unlucky persons whom business (it could not have been

Withal, there was defiance in his air; he was at war with mankind, with himself, with God, perhaps; he felt himself to be fortunate, and he was yet not entirely happy. He was certainly little in the mood to notice the people whom he passed in the street; hence it was doubtless. that he did not catch sight of a lady who was standing with her maid on the steps of a highly respectable family hotel, patiently waiting until the door should be opened to her knock. With that look of high excitement on his face it was not likely that he vould see even an old acquaintance like Lady Valencia Gilderoy.

But Lady Val was not to be discouraged She uttered an exclamation, then ran lightly down the steps, pursued the observant gentleman, and touched his arm,

MIDDLESEX.

The East Middlesex District Council, R. T. of T., met at Komoka on May 1. A large number of visitors and delegates were present at the afternoon session. The councils represented were: Komoka, No. 499; South London, No. 397, and Granton, No. 401. The D. C., Bro. N F. Yeo, of South London Council, presided. The reports of councils and committees were most encouraging. The state of the order committee reported a new council organized at Lambeth, with good prospects for organiza-tion at Lobo and Kilworth. The report of the finance committee showed all councils represented to be in good financial standing. It was decided to hold a Royal Templars' picnic at Sarnia on July 4. In the evening an open session was held, the attendance being large. The D. C. occupied the chair. Addresses were given by Bro. Nash, S.C., of Komoka Council, and Bro. Lacey, of South London Council; instrumental duet, violin and organ, Miss and Mr. Stewart; duets, Messrs. Sinclair and McLean; recitations, Miss Mc-Clurg, and a quartet by South London members. Both meetings gave good evidence that Royal Templarism is making good progress in East Middlesex district. The wants of the visiting delegates were well attended to by the Komoka members

A very pleasing ceremony was performed on Wednesday, May 1, at the residence of Mr. Thomas Dyer, Crumlin. His eldest daughter, Ada, was married to Mr. Allan McConnell, of the London Asylum staff. After partaking of a feast of good things, the happy couple left on their wedding trip. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Cook, of Dorchester.

DUTTON.

May 1.—The Epworth League, the building was carpeted and beautifully draped with lace curtains, pictures and handsome decorations. There were six tables decorated with six different colors. The young ladies who were in charge of each table wore the same colors as their table. The hosts and hostesses were: Rev. J. E. Moore and lady; George E Newman, M.A., and lady; W. H. Cake and lady. They vied with each other in welcoming the friends as they entered the festive scene. After all had enjoyed it to the satisfaction of their heart's desire, Rev. Mr. Moore, the pastor, called the meeting to order, and presented a short programme: Music by the choir, instrumentals by Miss Green, speech by J. C. Payne, B.A., and a couple of selections by the orchestra. The viands were of the most inviting kind-ice cream, bananas etc. Proceeds, about

INGERSOLL.

("Advertiser" Agent, W. H. Manning.) May 1.-Last night a young man named Leonard Woolson, son of W. A. Woolson, grocer, while riding his bicycle up Thames street, came into was a decided success. The hall was bicycle up Thames street, came into beautifully decorated with colored bunting, while the stage was furnished delivery wagon and received somewhat serious injuries about the head. His lip was so severely cut as to require H. Morrison. Among those present a couple of stitches, and he was badly from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. D. shaken up generally. The bicycle was not damaged to any extent.

Michael Young, the boy soprano, of Toronto, made his final appearance in Ingersoll at the Baptist Tabernacle last night before a large audience. He came highly recommended by the Toronto papers, and fully sustained the reputation which preceded him. He possesses a voice of remarkable sweetness and purity, and of wonderful compass, and his numbers were rendered with great feeling and expression. His selections were principally from the "Messiah," and he responded cheerfully to encores in nearly every instance. The balance of the programme was contributed by local talent, and was pleasing throughout. It was gotten up by Mr. H. E. Robinson under the "talent system, adopted by that church at the beginning of the year, and was a gratifying Success

The fare is only $1.75, tickets good going May 23 or 24, and returning on the 25th. It will no doubt be well patronized. The Harvie Mission Band will meet in St. Paul's Church tomorrow (Thursday) night. A special meeting of the General Benevolent Society will be held in the council chamber on Friday afternoon. The Ingersoll cheese market will reopen for business on Tuesday afternoon next. The board will meet for the election of officers at 1:30, and the market will be held at 3:30. Most of the factories in this district are now in full blast, and several have made their first shipment of 1895 cheese, the price realized being 8 1-2 cents.

White-Capped Women Administer a

Whipping to a Wife Beater. Port Tampa, Fla., May 2.-Edward Tucker, a merchant of this place, was taken from his home recently and whipped by women. Tucker had been in the habit of going home drunk and abusing his wife. Some time ago he was warned that he must treat his wife better or he would be severely dealt with. On this occasion Tucker went home drunk, and soon Mrs. Tucker was heard screaming. Shortly afterwards a number of men entered Tucker's residence and dragged him to the outskirts of the town, where a number of ladies, wearing white caps, were waiting. Tucker was stripped to the waist and lashed to a tree. Then the women, each of whom was armed with a rawhide, began to lash him. Tucker's screams were heard for a mile. Tucker promised never to abuse his wife again.

WYE'S CASE.

A Kingston telegram says: Richard Bayly, Q.C., counsel for the respondents in the Wye case, deliberated upon by the Ecclesiastical Court of Appeal, concluded his argument yesterday afternoon. His assistant counsel, Mr. Betts, completed that side of the case, and Mr. Marsh, on behalf of the appellant replied. The judgment will be delivered tomorrow. Counsel for the prosecution argued that the real question was whether Mr. Wye's usefulness was gone, not as a result of his fault, but from any cause whatsoever. If this was found to be a fact, then the canon required his removal. Mr. Bayly held that Mr. Wye's services were not acceptable; that out of 305 communicants not more than 30 or so attended the services. Mr. Bayly dealt with the aspersions cast on the Diocesan Commission and the chancellor, and showed that they had not acted with other than conscientious interest in the workthey had done a disagreeable duty with faithfulness and sagacity.

The Hudson Bay Railroad-The Contract

Let. Winnipeg, May 3 .- Mr. Hugh Sutherland, accompanied by Messrs. Grant, Foley and Isbister, the contractors of the Hudson Bay road, left Portage la Prairie early yesterday by carriage and will drive over the entire route northing. Joseph Martin, of this city, was westward to Lake Dauphin. A local engineer is now engaging a staff of men and it is said that engineers will take the field next week. Two parties will likely be sent out, one starting from this end of the line, and the other beginning near Westbourne and working towards Lake Dauphin. According to present plans the first section to be graded will extend from a point on the old line to the neighborhood of Portage la Prairie. Mr. Andrew Strang, secretary of the Hudson Bay Railway, was seen yester-day. Mr. Strang said that on Wednesday Mr. Sutherland, president, Mr. Sprague, a director, and himself, met and officially ratified the contract to build the first 250 miles of the Hudson Bay Railway, which was signed by the contractors and president. The directors found everything, from start to finish, in proper legal shape, and the contract was ratified and signed by the directors in the presence of the contrac-tors. The order-in-council is attached to the contract. The contractors bind themselves to build 250 miles, one-half of it this year and the other half next, while the company bind themselves regarding the payments. HEADLIGHT FLASHES.
