THORNDALE HAD BUMPER FAIR

Some Excellent Exhibits,a Large Crowd and Keenly Contested Speed Events.

Thorndale, Oct. 6.-The largest fair in the history of the Thorndale Agricultural Society was held here this afternoon, about 2,300 people being present. The gate receipts totaled nearly $100, more than the best previous year, and the exhibits were doubled.

The speed programme was an excellent one. Special rates had been arranged on the Grand Trunk, and hundreds of visitors from London village streets and hotels were crowded to capacity, fully 250 rigs coming in from the surrounding country. President James Dawson, Secretary Gee, and the other officers were delighted with the result of their year's work, and were given much praise for the able manner in which the exhibition was handled. Not one accident or mishap was reported. The exhibits were excellent, and included first-class specimens of the bered nine, and included himself, five different articles of farm produce, domestic manufactures, fancy needlework, cooking, farm implements, buggies, wagons, sleighs, cutters, sewing machines, stoves, electrical machinery for private farm use, and many other things too numerous to mention. THE APOSTLES OF ECONOMY. There was a fine irony in the pas-yesterday.

Toward the close of the last session the Opposition moved an amendment condemning in general terms the increase of expenditure. The insincerity of this economy plea was humorously exposed by Mr. Fielding. He called the roll of the Opposition members who had demanded public works for their own constituencies. X. Y. Z.-A large ditch was put through my farm before I bought it six years ago. The farm is high and dry, and the ditch is no use to me, but it has filled up and will not carry off water from farms above me, whose owners want me to open it, and I have been served with a notice that the engineer will be at head of drain. What am I to do?

Ans.-You must attend before the engineer and state your contention to him. The matter is to be determined your land you should not be compelled to bear any part of the expense of cleaning it out, but if it does it will be the duty of the engineer to decide whether you should bear the whole or ditch through your farm.
