A PITIABLE CASE IN LONDON

Man Dying With Tuberculosis Has No Place to Stay and Is Knocked About From Post to Pillar---Finally Allowed to Rest in the Common Jail---An Object Lesson for London.

What is to be done with tubercular patients? The old question, so familiar to Londoners, and one which has caused no end of arguments from medical standpoints, is to the fore again, this time in all its piteous nakedness. The story is one of great interest, and reads more like a tale from Armenia than a chronicle of a local happening.

AN UNFORTUNATE CASE. Joseph Smith a couple of years ago lived on Adelaide street. At that time his wife was dying of consumption, and Smith was roundly upbraided because he left his life partner and went out to shuffle for himself. Smith was arraigned in the police court and was compelled to contribute to the support of his dying wife.

There was no sympathy for him at the time, even when he stated that had a terror of the disease, and was afraid to live in the house. WIFE DIED.

Time wore on. Tuberculosis, which pursues its victims with an awful persistence, soon wiped out the life of the wife, and those people who had been responsible for her care were relieved of the burden. For burden it was, owing to the fact that there is no hospital where such patients can be properly cared for in this district. SMITH TOOK ILL.

Then Joseph Smith took ill, and the doctors told him he had contracted consumption. Some charitable people put forth an effort, and had the man sent to a sanatorium, where he was treated for a time, but apparently he could not be cured, and he was turned out in the world again. In this city there is a certain lady whose life has cast sunshine into the homes of many of the afflicted. Her name has appeared frequently in print, but she does not seek the notoriety, and on this occasion would fain keep her name out of the present article. This lady is Mrs. Boomer. She has done much for many people, and Joseph Smith is among the number. PATIENT AT THE DOOR. The other night she heard a knock at the door, and a man stood on the "I am Joseph Smith," he said. "I have nowhere to go. I am dying, and hungry. I could do a little work, but I have no place to sleep, nowhere to go. I am an outcast."

Mrs. Boomer got him something to eat and questioned him, bringing out the fact that after his term in the sanatorium he was no better, and that apparently his days are numbered. NO PLACE TO STAY.

"I must have some place to stay," Smith said. "I cannot die in the Mrs. Boomer advised the man to make application at the hospital, but he told her it was no use. "I will not leave the house until you provide for me," he declared desperately. "I have no place to go."

Mrs. Boomer called up half a dozen places, but the man would not be Then she cailed up ex-Mayor John D. Wilson, the well-known medical FINALLY ADMITTED.

All refused, because of a rule which says that no tubercular patients can be admitted to the institution at present. "I will sit on the verandah all night," Smith said again. "I have no

Finally, the hospital authorities agreed to allow Smith to spend the night there, and he left Mrs. Boomer's. SLEEPS IN JAIL.

It seems he was cared for that night, and since that time has been alfowed to sleep somewhere in the jail.

At least, he told Mrs. Boomer he was stopping at the jail. "The whole story is a pitiable one," said a gentleman to The Advertiser, "and is a forceful argument for the people of London and the county to cease their arguments and work in harmony for the establishment some sort of an institution where incurable tuberculosis patients may cared for and where incipient stages may be cured. What has become of the London Health Association? Is it not time something was done?"

The revenue might also be bility is that the expenditure will continue to increase. This year's increase is $125,000,000, and just now the political parties in the Reichstag are quarrelling as to who shall pay it. The bureaucracy prepared a so-called financial reform bill, without consulting the Government parties, and the consequence was that when it came by a shot from a twelve-inch gun? before Parliament it met with sharp criticism from all sides. As a matter of fact, the sole object of the measure is to create new taxes to the extent of $125,000,000, and there is no question G. T. MARY AND THE LAMB.

[McCall's Magazine.] It made the butcher laugh, For when he asked, "which quarter, ma'am?"

She said, "I'll take a half."

It came to table thirteen days, And Mary did her best With different sauces dressed.

"I didn't know you loved lamb so," Her doting husband sighed; hate it worse than aught I know." Discouraged Mary cried.

'I didn't know lambs ever grew To such a horrid size; And several mutton pies!"

"I wish you'd take the rest away

And bury it from view: If it's around another day I don't know what I'll do!"

And so her husband took it out, And hid it in the ground; And now when Mary is in doubt, She says: "A half a pound!"

Strange Reasons for Opposing Water Meter Regulation. Chatham, Ont., June 9.—The S. Had-

through their solicitor, M. Wilson, K. C., have issued an injunction to restrain the water commissioners from enforcing the new meter regulations for factories in the city.

The writ is issued on the grounds that Stewart Lamont, one of the commissioners, has not proper property qualifications, and that Mayor Westman, chairman of the water board, is interested in a plumbing business. The writ was accepted by Judge Dowlin this morning, and the notice will be served on the commissioners immediately.

AMERICAN MEATS BARRED

And No Chance of the Germans Letting Down the Bars. Berlin, June 9.—American packing interests, which have been living in the hope that the approaching tariff evils in political life. negotiations with Germany would result in an extortion of concessions upon their products, are destined to be disappointed

The Kaiser's Government will in no circumstances consider the letting down of the bars which new so effectually deprive the fatherland of the privilege of eating American meats, The ambition which the Chicago packing combine cherished of regaining the rich annual trade of twelve or fifteen million dollars which it formerly enjoyed in Germany will therefore not realized. If Germany consents to grant any favors, it is declared, they will take some other form than a re-taxation of the prevailing exclusion laws against American meats.

Such of them as seek to enter the German market now are subject to a tax amounting on the average to 4% cents a pound. This is largely made up of heavy inspection charges at the German ports of entry, the Teuton authorities insisting upon a rigorous microscopical inspection on this side wholly regardless of the fact that the meats arrive here with the United States Government inspection certifieate already upon them. The tax is of course, prohibitive, and the American packing trade has dwindled as a onsequence to by-products, such as leomargarine and lard.

The result of these meat exclusion laws has been artificially to increase the cost of domestic meat to a point where it constitutes a luxury for the working classes. The Agrarian element, however, reaps handsome profits, and as it is the hand that rocks the German cradle of state, there is, of course, little prospects that the laws will be relaxed for the benefit of American competitors.

Elixirs of Joy Are These

The exquisite agony of sea sickness is no longer the preliminary ordeal of pocket packages, whose effect it is claimed is that the choppiest of channels will give to the voyager no more disagreeable sensation than an appetite for chops. There are instant cures for a headache, magic potions for earache, imbetween the shoulders, pain beneath the chest, pain beneath a tight shoe. Such preparations as these, since they remove pain, may be called elixirs of joy. But there are more potent preparations, for if all that is claimed for them is true they are veritable elixirs of life itself. It is dactic acid which is to enable the human body to withstand the processes of decay, so that a man can live as long as he has money left to buy a 60-cent tube of lactic tablets. IN OLD LONDON

London, June 9.-The crushing burden of rates and taxes in this city has become well nigh unbearable and residents have taken the only effective means to protest. The great "middle belt" of London, where the strain on the pocketbook has become most severe, is gradually being deserted for outlying districts where charges are within reason. The various municipal authorities are up against a real crisis in their affairs as a consequence, for they are forced to make their choice between reducing the rates and keeping the people within their jurisdiction, or still further increasing the rates to make those who remain pay the deficit caused by the "wanderers." One authority recently stated that there were upwards of 50,000 . empty houses in the affected districts. Hack-

O'BRIEN LANDED ON KETCHEL'S JAW

Staggered the Michigander in the Second, But He Recovered Quickly.

Philadelphia, June 9 .- Stanley Ketchel, the middleweight champion, tonight defeated Jack O'Brien in the third round, thus accomplishing a feat that Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, failed to accomplish in six Latter Won First in Merchants' rounds some three weeks ago. The fight was stopped in the second minute of the third round, after O'Brien had been knocker down twice in the second and once in the third, and was almost unable to raise his hands to defend himself.

The fact that Ketchel is to meet Johnson in a real championship fight within the next few menths was not lost sight of. Indeed, it was this opportunity to draw a comparison between the big black fighter and the smaller but more aggressive white man that gave tonight's contest more than ordinary interest. Besides, Ketchel, who won a decisive victory over O'Brien but a few weeks ago, though admittedly he had the worst of that fight in the first halfdozen rounds, had declared he could defeat the Philadelphian in four or six rounds as decisively as he did in ten rounds on that occasion. The crowd, however, did not wholly share Ketchel's confidence, and so it came to see.

Buffalo, June 10. - If Frank Nebrich can win from Henry St. Yves in the 15-mile run at Baseball Park on Saturday afternoon, there will be witnessed a scene of jubilation second to nothing short of that attending a victory in a holiday baseball game. The Buffalo boy will have a host of rooters. The little Frenchman betrays the greatest interest in his rival, known to him before his arrival in Buffalo. He has run over Nebrich's exploits in the Amateur Athletic Union days, and has developed considerable more respect for the ability of the little Buffalo lad than he had hitherto enjoyed. "They do not tell me about him and he is better than many that I have raced," he complained.

PREPARING FOR BIG EAST LONDON PICNIC

Meeting Will Be Held Tonight -Some of the Features Decided Upon.

A general meeting of the East London businessmen will be held this evening to arrange for the picnic, when the different committees appointed a mittee, the one in charge of the special attractions, has met, it is understood, but the members of that alone have enough suggestions to occupy the time of the session.

An effort is being made to have the Motor Cycle Club, organized a week or so ago, put on a number of races, one mile and five miles, and one lap on the half-mile track, slow. A ten-mile road race will also be started from the park on July 14, the day of the second annual picnic. The racers will also go twice or three times around the course

Excellent Programme of Sports Was Carried Out at Springbank Park.

GREAT TUG-OF-WAR

In Which Neither Side Had Room to Crow-Other Events of Yesterday Afternoon.

The visiting delegates of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters spent a most enjoyable time at Springbank yesterday afternoon. Before leaving for the park, the delegates formed in line and headed by a band, paraded up Dundas street. attracted the attention of hundreds of citizens. All the big open cars were chartered to take the delegates and local members to Springbank and once there the delegates proceeded at once to carry out a programme of Tug-of-War.

The first event was a tug-of-war between the men of the east and west. The team of eastern men was captained by C. Britton, of Gananoque, and the western men had as their leader, W. Courer, of Montreal. Both captains picked out six of the biggest men they could find, and at the word 'go" they went with a will. It looked a while as if the rope would break with the force the men exerted and encouraged by the cheers of their friends they pulled until they were nearly black in the face. KOKOKOKOKOKOKOKOKOKOKOKOKO

For awhile neither side could move the other, and with feet braced and muscles tense the men pulled for all there was in them to try and get an The men from the west finally won the first pull. The teams after a short rest lined up again and this time the men from the east won. At the third pull there was a struggle which lasted for more than five minutes, and it was a source of great amusement to the crowd. The contestants were somewhat tired by the two preceding pulls and finally the men from the west pulled the easterners across the line and were

The tug-of-war teams posed as follows: East-C. Britten, Gananoque (captain); D. Allen, W. G. Strong, C. Howell, J. H. Young, C West-W. Couper, Montreal i); D. Thompson, W. Wig-(captain); D. Thompson, W. Wig-more, P. M. P. Tilley, W. McLurg, J. Ritchie and G. Westmore.

Baseball Game. Following this event a baseball game was played. A large indoor baseball was used, and a diminutive bat, and for an hour both teams, urged on by the hundreds of Foresters present, did everything possible to score as many runs as they could. The play was funny all through, and kept the crowd  in roars. The teams were known as East and West, and the men from the urg, N. Wilson-Pratt Case Must Go to the Courts If It Is To Be Aired Further. The Wilson-Pratt difficulty over the building bylaw was given another airing last evening, before the special committee appointed to look into the matter, and for two hours and a half the alleged grievance was presented The outcome of the meeting was that the two belligerents may take the whole question to the police court if

The committee thought that although City Architect Nutter inspected the building a sufficient number of times, he should have been more thorough in his investigations, in view of the feeling between the parties.

The Contention. Mr. J. M. McEvoy represented the case for Mr. Wilson. He said that there was no footing on the walls as required by the bylaw. The concrete was not well made, and there were other defects. He thought Mr. Wilson should have protection, and that the committee should see to it that he was protected. "I say there is no footing for the wall," said Mr. McEvoy. "I will undertake to strip the wall on the west side and show this committee that there are no footings for it, if the committee will visit the house." "That is our property, and we will certainly not consent to your digging," said Mr. J. C. Judd, K. C., on behalf of Mr. Pratt. "If you want to take us tainly are not afraid of anything like that."

Perfectly Safe. Mr. Nutter explained that he had visited the building three times during the course of construction. On the first occasion he had seen part of the foundation, and there was no footing. On the next occasion the building was well advanced, and on noticing that there was a footing on the inside he asked the contractor if that was the case on the outside, and he stated that it was Mr. Nutter then explained that he took the man's word for it, and he had no reason at this time to doubt his word As for the building, it was perfectly

After considerable wrangling and sharp talk bet ween the parties con-cerned, they withdrew, and the charges made against City Engineer Graydon and Mr. Nutter were taken up by the
