TWO MORE VICTIMS ADDED TO DEATH LIST FROM HEAT

Mr. John E. Daly, of Princess Avenue East, and Mr. G. Fleming Passed Away, One on Sunday, and the Other Saturday Night.

THE HEAT WAVE STILL IN FULL SWING

The Thermometer Registered 85 Degrees at Eight o'Clock This Morning—Mercury Went Up to 96 But Dropped to 76 This Afternoon.

Two more deaths, directly traceable to the heat, are reported in London. The victims are Mr. John E. Daly, of 85 Princess Avenue East, a machinist employed for many years at the Grand Trunk carshops, and Mr. G. Fleming, better known as William Fleming. Both gentlemen passed away with appalling suddenness.

Mr. Daly was sitting chatting with his family on the lawn last evening about 7 o'clock when he suddenly toppled out of his chair, and Dr. Mogan, who was instantly summoned, found that death had been almost instantaneous.

Mr. Fleming had worked all day on the construction work of the London street railway on Richmond street north. In the evening Mr. Harry Merritt, sergeant-at-arms at the city hall, found him sitting on the stairs of the hall off the arcade, apparently very ill. Dr. Kingsmill was summoned, but death occurred in a few minutes.

This makes the number of deaths from the heat in London reach a total of six.

Warm Today.
This morning opened very hot, the thermometer registering 85 degrees. From that time on the thermometer rose rapidly until it registered 96 degrees. However, a thunderstorm blew up, and a most refreshing shower fell. As a result the temperature moderated, and at 2 o'clock the official registration was 76 degrees, a drop of 20 points.

On Saturday it was very hot. The highest temperature was 97, and the lowest 87.

On Sunday many were reported suffering greatly. Rev. G. H. Hoad, a visiting English clergyman, could not take the services in the Adelaide Street Baptist Church, owing to the effects of the weather.

There was not so much variation of temperature on Sunday. The highest was 95, and the lowest was 71. Last night the lowest temperature recorded was 73, which does not make for sleep.

A Great Exodus.
There was a great exodus out of the city yesterday and on Saturday. The Sunday the Traction Company and the Pere Marquette did a tremendous business. The morning cars on the London and Lake Erie were crowded.

From that until evening there was a steady stream to the lakeside.

Little Wanderer Was Seeing "Choo-Choos"

Thoroughly interested in the "choo-choos," and fairly gurgling with delight every time he heard a locomotive start, or saw a train move, a 3-year-old boy was found by the G. T. R. officials this morning wandering about on the station platform. All that the youngster could say was that he was "mumum's boy," that he was called "Tom Thumb," and that he wanted to see the "choo-choos." The G. T. R. people telephoned the police station, and it was not long before a lady called to know if a lost boy had been brought in. The youngster turned out to be Charlie Thompson, of Park Avenue, and he was taken home.

MANY WITNESSES WILL BE CALLED TO GIVE EVIDENCE

Conference Was Held at Which Judge Macbeth, City Solicitor Meredith and Mr. J. M. McEvoy, Counsel for Mr. Patrick Mulhall, Were Present.

The investigation into the charges made against Ward Foreman Patrick Mulhall in take place on Wednesday. This morning there was a conference between Mr. J. M. McEvoy, solicitor for the defendant; City Solicitor Meredith and Judge Macbeth, relating to the evidence to be submitted on the charges of "harassment" the pay sheets so that city employees could be paid while at the same time receiving money for putting down private walks.

Mr. McEvoy wanted to know what evidence was to be presented, so that he could prepare a defence, if necessary. It was decided to call all the men employed under Mr. Mulhall during the time specified in the charges. Subpoenas will be issued for all of them, and they will be examined on Thursday to show what they know of the transactions mentioned in the charges laid by Ald. Turock.

As a result of the conference, both sides are ready to proceed, and it is anticipated that the case will be wound up on Wednesday night. It is not the intention of either side to take up more time than is absolutely necessary.

Secrecy is being maintained as to the evidence to be offered in support of the latest charges.

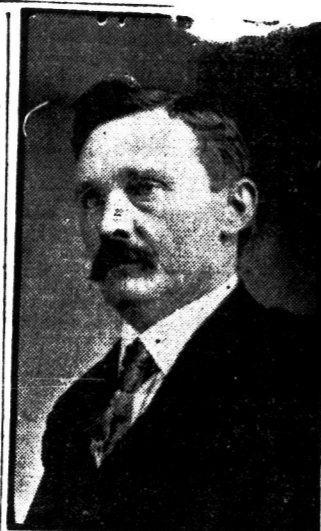

All the pay sheets referring to the period under discussion, the months of April, May, June and July, will be presented, and every item will be closely scanned for evidence of wrong-doing.

CLUCKER DUNN RELEASED

The Guelph Management Announces a Shake-Up.

[Canadian Press.]

Guelph, July 10.—The first of the classes which promise to be general in the reorganization of the Maple and baseball team, in order to strengthen it, was made this morning, when Clucker Dunn, the London boy, who has been playing centre field, was

POLICE ORDER BODIES EXHUMED

A New Development in the Beamsville Mystery.

LOOKING FOR STRANGER

Some Indications That Woman and Her Child Were Murdered.

[Canadian Press.]
Beamsville, Ont., July 10.—Provincial Inspector Miller has ordered the bodies of Edna Comfort and her young son, exhumed, and instructed an outside physician to make an examination to see if it agrees with the report of the doctor who performed the post-mortem. The death certificate filed in the case of the child shows that in the opinion of the physician it was not drowned, but was dead before the body reached the water. This and the fact that the woman had marks on her body similar to those on the child, adds to the mystery of the case. The police are looking for a man who was seen talking to the woman near the reservoir where the bodies were found. The stranger had a bicycle with him.

LOCKED IN HIS ROOM SETS FIRE TO SELF

Chatham Man Probably Fatally Burned at Wallaceburg.

[Canadian Press.]
Chatham, July 10.—While under the influence of liquor, James Brophy, aged 40, employed at the Wallaceburg Mass. Factory, was last evening locked in a room in a boarding-house at Wallaceburg, set a fire in an attempt to burn his way out, he set fire to himself and was badly burned that he cannot recover.

TERRIFIC HEAT AGAIN RULES AT NEW YORK

Excessive Humidity Makes It Worse, and Prostrations Are Numerous

[Canadian Press.]
New York, July 10.—A heat wave that showed no consciousness of having been broken last week returned with sunrise this morning to claim renewed dominion over the city and its exhausted millions. The thermometer at 10 o'clock registered 92 degrees, and a stifling humidity made the heat more difficult to support. Prostrations began to come in with the earliest police reports. Two deaths occurred during the night. The tremendous demand for milk and ice has made both scarce, and prices have risen.

MOROCCAN CRISIS NOT SO ALARMING

Negotiations Proceed Without Startling Developments.

[Canadian Press.]
Berlin, July 10.—Preliminary negotiations regarding Morocco are being conducted confidentially, but nothing is made public officially beyond the joint statement that the exchanges are on a friendly footing that it is expected that they will be prolonged and are without sensational developments.

For the first stage, at least, the negotiations are confined to Germany and France, though the other interested powers are kept informed.

LOYAL AND HEARTY WELCOME FOR THE RETURNING PREMIER

Thousands Cheer Sir Wilfrid Laurier Upon Arrival at Quebec—Remarkable Demonstration by Citizens of Ancient Capital.

Quebec, July 9.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is home. The Empress of Britain with the Premier and several of his cabinet, the Canadian contingent, and a number of other distinguished people reached Quebec this evening after having been delayed nearly three days by the seamen's strike. Sir Wilfrid received a royal welcome, and his home-coming was in the nature of a triumph.

While the formal civic welcome will not take place until tomorrow night, nothing could stem the enthusiasm of his loyal supporters in this city, and he was afforded a welcome such as seldom is given to a public man in this country. There was no organized parade, no set speeches, and no prearranged programme. It was the spontaneous outburst of a people's loyalty to a man they have known and loved.

Long before the hour of the boat's arrival thousands of citizens gathered at the wharf and as the boat drew near cheer after cheer greeted their leader. To the familiar tunes of "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf Forever" the boat was warped into her pier. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stood on the bridge, bowing and smiling, and waving to the thousands who acclaimed him from below. He looked the picture of health, having become quite tanned and brown from his sea voyage.

"I'LL SEND YOU DOWN NEXT TIME" P. M. JUDD TOLD HORSE BEATERS

William Miller and Joseph Ellwood Fined $10 Each for Cruelty to Animal Hired From a Local Liveryman—A Lesson for Several Young Men of London.

At this morning's session of the police court William Miller and Joseph Ellwood, two north end youth, who, on the evening of July 1, procured a horse from W. Perkins, a Dundas street liveryman, and raced it all about the city and around the country, beating it so cruelly with the whip that when it was returned blood was streaming from cuts, were each fined $10.

The prisoners were represented by Mr. E. C. Scatterd, and he said that they would plead guilty to having whipped the horse to make it go faster. He urged that they be let go if they paid the costs of the veterinary's attendance.

"What does the horse say about all this?" asked Magistrate Judd. "It says that it is satisfied if remuneration is made to its owner," said Mr. Scatterd. "I don't believe it," said the court. "This court is not intended only for the purpose of making people pay. It is simply outrageous the way some of the boys of this city treat horses that they get from liverymen."

Awful Cruelty.

Mr. Perkins stated that the horse he gave the youths was a good animal, and, being a warm night, he asked them to drive carefully, and they promised they would.

Chief Williams said people had complained to him about the way the two lads were driving the horse about, and a farmer came all the way in to tell Mr. Perkins about how he had seen the lads racing the horse in the country.

Young Ellwood admitted that he had been up before Acting Magistrate Beattie and had been fined $10 for fast driving.

"I am going to fine each of you $10," said the court, "and I want you to remember that if you ever come up here again on a charge of this kind, and I can do it, I will send you down without giving you any chance to pay a fine. There is too much of this sort of thing altogether."

BYRON TELEPHONE TROUBLES HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO END

Agreement Reached With the Bell Telephone Company, But an Appeal May Be Made to the Railway Commission Regarding the Rates.

At a meeting of the directors of the Byron Telephone Association, held on Saturday, it was decided to accept the proposition made by the Bell Telephone Company for the time being, and as a result connections have been amicably established between the two companies.

For some years there has been an arrangement between them by which a call was paid by subscribers on the Byron line. A short time ago the rates were raised to 10 cents a call for subscribers, and 20 cents for other users. To this the Byron company objected, with the result that there was no connection between the two concerns for several days. However, parties got together, and the proposition of the Bell Company was accepted for the time being.

It is understood that the question is not finally disposed of. Some of the directors are still of the opinion that the rate is too high, and it is expected that an appeal will be made to the Dominion Railway Commission later to adjust the matter.

In the meantime the present arrangement will prevail. The system will be open for 24 hours each day.

A HAMILTON MAN HELD AT INGERSOLL

Will Be Taken Back to Answer to a Charge of Theft.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, July 10.—Following the description in a telegram which he received from the Hamilton police last night, Chief Chilton arrested George H. Fox, giving him the name as George Hurson in the Kirwin House this morning. Fox is wanted in Hamilton on a charge of theft, and officers are expected from that city tonight to take him back.

HYDRO MAN SHOCKED

Comes in Contact With Thirteen Thousand Volts.

Guelph, July 10.—At the substitution of the hydro power plant this morning Clarence Noyce, an employee, came into contact with a wire carrying 13,000 volts. Although the wire was insulated, his arm nevertheless was badly burned, and he is suffering greatly from nausea. At the hospital it is expected he will be out in a few days.

Seized With Cramps.
A young man who was bathing near the Port Stanley pier yesterday, was seized with cramps and was sinking for the second time when someone tore up a loose board and threw it to him. With what little remaining strength he possessed he seized it, and being close to the pier, onlookers joined hands and pulled him up to safety.

LONDON'S RESERVOIR IS FULL PUMPS DO EXCELLENT WORK

2,500,000 Gallons of Water From the Horton Street Plant On Sunday—No Danger of a Water Famine Despite the Heat.

Over 2,500,000 gallons of water were pumped at the Horton street pumping plant Sunday. They worked all day, fourteen wells being connected. As a result, the reservoir was raised over two feet, and is now practically full. The artesian wells were shut down for twenty-four hours on Friday and Saturday in order that the leak in one of the mains at the plant should be repaired. Now everything is in first-class working order, and Mr. Gaultz expects that no more trouble will ensue.

Pumping All Day.
"We had the pumps going all day Sunday," said Mr. Gaultz. "We have raised the reservoir over two feet, and it is now practically full. There is an awful demand for water, and we are using close to six million gallons at the present time. However, the heat wave cannot last all the time, and we expect to have the springs show better results than they are now showing. We have had plenty of water during this spell, and this is sufficient justification for the methods we have adopted to increase the supply."

Shut Down Plant.
It is the intention of Mr. Gaultz to shut down the Springbank pumping plant tonight or tomorrow to install the Venturi meters there. At the present time no system of measurement is to be found at the station there to show how much water is pumped daily. Some time ago, the board ordered the meter, and it has arrived. Mr. Gaultz states that it will make no particular difference to the supply if Springbank is shut off for a few hours, as the wells are showing such good results.

G. T. R. CARSHOPS WORKMAN BECOMES INSANE FROM HEAT

Mr. John King, of 402 Lyle Street, Gave the Police an Awful Battle Before They Were Able to Take Him to the Asylum for the Insane.

John King, of 402 Lyle street, a carpenter employed in the G. T. R. carshops, was overcome with the heat and went violently insane on Saturday evening. Mr. King worked in the carshops on Saturday and went home in the afternoon, seemingly in his usual health, although he had complained of the intense heat.

Shortly after arriving at home he was taken ill and commenced to act strangely. Later in the evening he had to be forcibly restrained from injuring himself or others. A physician was called at once, and it was hoped for a time that he would recover.

Surmising where he was to be taken Mr. King escaped, and stayed away all last night, it is not known where. He was discovered wandering about Rectory street this morning. He had been out in the country evidently and had picked a bouquet of wild flowers for his wife.

The doctor who was attending him and his friends could do nothing with him, and it was found necessary to call the patrol. When taken in charge Mr. King had made his way back to the carshops, where he was employed only two days, and wanted to return to work.

A tussle ensued on Campbell street, before he was captured. He was taken first to the police station and later to the asylum, where he is now being taken care of.

It is not known whether he will ultimately recover his sanity. Dr. Seaborn is attending him.

THIEF MADE A RICH HAUL

Home of Mr. C. L. Fitzgerald on Princess Avenue East Was Ransacked.

PEOPLE ABSENT AT TIME When They Returned They Found That Many Valuables and Money Were Missing.

Unknown persons last evening entered the home of Mr. C. L. Fitzgerald, letter carrier, of 646 Princess Avenue, while Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald were absent, and succeeded in getting away with four valuable rings, Mrs. Fitzgerald's gold watch, and two banks, one containing over $20 and the other about $2.

The detective are working on the case and expect to make an arrest shortly, as they think the work was done by an amateur. Entrance to the house was gained through a back window, and as the screen was not removed it is thought likely that some boy crept through by sliding it back.

A number of neighbors sitting on verandas, close to Mr. Fitzgerald's house, saw nothing that would arouse their suspicions.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald spent the evening visiting Mr. Fitzgerald's patients at 694 Dufferin Avenue, and as soon as they came back found that someone had been in the house.

The Coronation Men.
Quite a number of citizens were at the depot at noon expecting to arrive who attended the coronation of the men on the express from Toronto, but none of them appeared. The trip to London from Quebec means about 24 hours, so that the troops will do well to reach here this evening.

The police were powerless to restore order, and the fighting continued most of the night.

Two companies of soldiers were sent to Ocotlan to garrison the town. During the fighting the house of Zeek Batch, an Englishman, raised the British flag.

MEXICAN RIOTERS KILL AND LOOT

Politics Cause of Tumult in Streets of Ocotlan.

FIGHT LASTS ALL NIGHT Storekeepers Take to the Roofs and Pour Volleys into the Mob.

[Canadian Press.]
Oaxaca, Mexico, July 10.—Eight men were killed and more than fifteen wounded during a political riot in Ocotlan on Saturday night. Partisans of Benito Juarez, one of the two candidates for governor, began the riot by leading an attack upon the mercantile establishments of the Diaz brothers, relatives of Gen. Felix Diaz, the opposition candidate for governor.

Armed resistance on the part of the occupants of the store increased the fury of the mob, which ran amuck through the principal streets of the little town, breaking windows of private and business houses.

In a short time the partisans of Diaz rallied, and their leaders led them in a counter-attack. Few of their faction were armed with anything better than revolvers and clubs. Stones and knives were the weapons most frequently wielded.

Owners of stores attacked posted themselves in many cases on top of their buildings, and shot into the attacking mob. Most of the deaths are ascribed to them. The opposition, afforded by the mob of Diaz supporters, served to increase the tumult in the streets, but also to reduce the fury of the attacks on business houses.

The police were powerless to restore order, and the fighting continued most of the night.

Two companies of soldiers were sent to Ocotlan to garrison the town. During the fighting the house of Zeek Batch, an Englishman, raised the British flag.

ORLEBAR STILL ALIVE

Male Old Veteran Remembers the Fight in "Tom Brown's School Days."

London, July 10.—It will come as a surprise to most people to learn that the original of one of the combatants in the famous school fight described in "Tom Brown's School Days" is still living. His name is Rev. Augustus Orlebar, now in his eighty-eighth year, and for the last 52 years vicar of Wiltshire, a busy little village near Bedford.

The male old veteran remembers the fight encounter quite well. He was the rugby school boy who caught out the able batsman in the Marylebone cricket match described in the same story. His author, Tom Hughes, captured the cricket eleven when he put Orlebar into the team.

An interesting story could be told of real people who have figured in fiction under fictitious names. Dickens is generally supposed to have "used" his father more than once, and George Eliot preserved some of the salient traits of hers for posterity. Hardy's aunt, so it is said, appears in "Far From the Madding Crowd" as "Flithelma Eydeine." Many prominent men and women of today, thinly disguised, can be recognized by London readers of "The New Machiavelli," by H. G. Wells, "Silvery Web" among the number. Morley Roberts penned a presentable portrait of the Earl of Rosebery in an early novel entitled "Lord Lifford," and E. F. Benson's "Dodo" it is easy to recognize Mrs. Asquith and her circle. The arm of coincidence is long, too, and it is quite likely that a writer may think he is inventing a new name for an objectionable character.

MISSIONARIES IN GRAVE PERIL

Horrors of 1877 May Be Re-Enacted in Balkans.

INTERVENTION IS LIKELY

Starving Women and Children Fill Barren Mountains as Montenegro Prepares to Fight.

London, July 10.—Europe is again on the verge of a volcano. The Young Turks, long restless, are advancing on the Balkans.

Mrs. Nicholas, of Montenegro, has called out his reserves and will fight the invaders to the last ditch. The campaign of devastation and massacre now started is bound to result in scenes which made the great war of 1877 a shock to the civilized world.

It is freely urged that intervention looking toward the establishment of a Christian state is needed. Russia, though friendly to Montenegro, has been so far unable to interfere. Not only are the Albanians in revolt, but the English and American missionaries face death unless the powers intervene at once.

All the roads leading to Montenegro are crowded with refugees, who know that torture is the least they can hope for if the Turks overtake them.

In the barren mountains of Montenegro the crowds of starving women and children are making appeals to the civilized world for help. So far these appeals have attracted no attention save in Vienna and St. Petersburg.

The advent of the New Turk, far from ameliorating the condition of the people in the Balkans, has resulted in treatment as severe as any they endured under the old regime.

Four years ago the Young Turks made their famous revolution, deposing the old sultan and seizing the reins of government, everyone agreed to hope for the best. Measures which had been agreed on by the powers for the prevention of massacres in Macedonia, Austria, and Bulgaria, seemed to be a general fraternizing among all races. The Christian Muslims, who had inhabited the dominions of the sultan, were considered the London mansion, where a pretty pastoral performance takes place on behalf of a pet charity of the Princess Louise, Duchess of Albany.

As Lord Dudley's term of office as governor-general of Australia expires this month, his successor, Lord Denman, has naturally been getting very busy preparing for his departure.

Lord Denman goes to Australia as a man who has done things for his country, and therefore with the equipment to serve Britain under the southern cross. Wounded in the South African war, he made rapid progress on his return home, being created a baronet, and then a knight.

A convinced Liberal in politics, he has acted as whip of the House of Lords, of which he is also deputy speaker. In the House of Commons he was the champion of the unpopular policy of the government.

Lord Denman Popular. Further approval came from the present King, who appointed Lord Denman to the post of captain of the corps of the gentlemen-at-arms. As Lord Denman has been so long in the service of the crown, and is a student of public affairs as she is an excellent hostess, they are sure to make popular successors to Lord and Lady Dudley.

Although Lord and Lady Dudley could not leave Australia to be present in London for the coronation and the subsequent festivities, they managed to arrange for their debutante daughter, Lady Honor Ward, to enjoy the coronation. This she has been doing, chaperoned by her aunt, Lady Wolveston, and her grandmother, Lady Georgeina Dudley. Another relative, Mrs. John Ward, daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, has also been taking the train to London.

Other English peers, although not called to his office in the British colonies, have substantial interests here. Lord Clinton, the Duke of Sutherland, and Lord Clanwilliam, have property rights in Canada.

The Duke of Devonshire is the most enterprising of these noblemen, as he possesses 2,600 acres in the neighborhood of Brooks, Alberta, which he has been developing. He has hopes to settle with picked Highland settlers next spring, when the farms will have been planned out, and the Duke of Devonshire will be a successful settler in the West.

After the South African war, Lord Lovat bought some land in the Orange River Colony, and the Duke of Westminster acquired a very extensive estate near Cape Town. Lord and Lady Devonshire have extensive properties in British East Africa.

Heart Right WHEN HE QUIT TEA AND COFFEE

Life Insurance Companies will not insure a man suffering from heart trouble.

The reason is obvious. This is a serious matter to the husband or father who is solicitous for the future of his dear ones. Often the heart trouble is caused by an unexpected thing and can be corrected if taken in time and properly treated. A man in Colorado writes:

"I was a great coffee drinker for many years and was not aware of the injurious effects of the habit till I became a nervous invalid, suffering from heart trouble, indigestion and nervousness to an extent that made me wretchedly miserable myself, and a nuisance to those who witnessed my sufferings."

"I continued to drink coffee, however, not suspecting that it was the cause of my ill-health, till, on applying for life insurance I was rejected on account of the trouble with my heart. Then I became alarmed, I for the first time leaving off coffee helped me quickly, so I quit it altogether and having been cured by the change, I wrote to the Postum Food Co., Windsor, Ont., of Postum I began to use."

"The change in my condition was remarkable. All my ailments vanished. My digestion was completely restored, my nervousness disappeared, and most important of all, my heart became strong and became normal. He is survived by two sons, Samuel, of the Columbia Hotel, and David, of Dufferin avenue, and five daughters, Mrs. S. Bolman, Mrs. T. Duckworth, Mrs. J. M. Goring, Mrs. W. F. Frezell, of Detroit.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning from Smith, Son & Clark's. The body will be taken to his former home in Bothwell at 6:30 a.m.

ENGLAND WELCOMES COLONIAL GUESTS

Representatives From Canada and Australia Shown Good Time.

HOSPITALITY REIGNS

Titled People Fall Over One Another To Be Hospitable to Visitors.

London, July 10.—Since they came to the imperial conference, the big personalities from the British overseas dominions have been to the fore, not only in the public mind, but at all the smaller functions that have marked the coronation season.

Mrs. Broderick, wife of the Canadian minister of marine, confesses that she has enjoyed more delightful entertainments than are good for her, while Mrs. Andrew Fisher, wife of the prime minister of Australia, says she is enjoying every moment of each day. Lord Ward, whose husband is the premier of New Zealand, feels that Englishwomen are too reserved, too cautious and too formal, and one and all of them have severely criticized the freak fashions of the period, which Queen Mary is doing her best to discontinue.

Feelings of the utmost cordiality reign in every class of society for the strangers within their gates. Wealthy and titled people especially have been almost tumbling over one another in their eagerness to be hospitable to their kith and kin from Canada or Australia.

Sir Lancelot Aubrey-Fletcher offers one among many examples. The hospitable baronet has been turning his lovely mansion in the Chiltern Hills into a hotel for the time being, in order that our colonial guests may see something of our manners and customs in the country.

The only stipulation Sir Aubrey-Fletcher made was that his guests should produce an introduction from the agent-general of the colony to which they belonged.

Such prominent citizens of Canada and Australia as are still staying in this country, will put in an appearance Monday at St. Dunstan's, the Countess of Devonshire's London mansion, where a pretty pastoral performance takes place on behalf of a pet charity of the Princess Louise, Duchess of Albany.

As Lord Dudley's term of office as governor-general of Australia expires this month, his successor, Lord Denman, has naturally been getting very busy preparing for his departure.

A PRINCE'S ROMANCE

Recited by the 6th of the Women. He Was in Love With.

London, July 10.—In December last a death notice appeared in the Morning Post, which was the ordinary notice, except that it was issued in the names of the servants of the dead woman instead of the relatives. It ran: "The servants of Miss Rebecca Clark Jackson, author and composer, have the honor of informing you of the death of their mistress, Mrs. Rebecca Clark Jackson, who died at her residence, 6 Boulevard du Parc, Paris, on the 2nd inst. She was 39 years of age, and was buried in the cemetery of Montmartre, Paris, on the 4th inst. Her death was caused by a heart attack, and was the result of a long illness. She was a very kind and generous person, and was much loved by her friends and servants. Her death is a great loss to the literary world."

INVESTITURE LIKE MINOR CORONATION

Much Pomp and Ceremony For the Prince of Wales.

London, July 10.—The attention of the whole country will be focused on Carnarvon Castle next Thursday, when the investiture of the Prince of Wales takes place.

The ceremony, to be observed, representing much patient research into the archives of the past, has for its chief points the various articles of the investiture and the noble persons who will carry them.

The prince will start his eventful journey to Carnarvon castle in a royal carriage, escorted by Derbyshire Yeomanry, from Griffith's crossing. In the castle square he will receive an address of welcome from the mayor and corporation, and then a salute of 21 guns will mark his departure for the scene of investiture, and give the signal for his standard to be hoisted over the Eagle tower.

Immediately before the prince will go Sir Watkin, Scott-Giles, garter king-of-arms, carrying the letters patent; Lord Morley, with the mace; and Viscount Tredegar, holding in his hand the Duke of Devonshire's sword; the Marquis of Anglesey, with the chapel; Marquis of Bute, with the coronet; Lord Eglinton, with the golden rod; Sir Herbert Wainman Williams, with the Welch dragon standard; and Sir Martineau, with the white wolfhound standard.

Nothing is said officially about the Welsh terrier, to be presented to the prince by the North Welsh dog fanciers, so presumably Prince Eddy's canine friend will be waiting at some convenient spot for his master, till he is through with the investiture business.

On either side of the Prince of Wales will walk the Earl of Plymouth and Lord Kenyon as supporters of his dignity. Much bowing to King George and Queen Mary has to be done when the young heir apparent and his procession reach the dais. Then Home Secretary Winston Churchill comes to the front and in a loud voice reads the letters patent, a much he-said document specially prepared, which is the legal confirmation of the honor to be bestowed. While this is being read the King will look on with the insignia, looking on his sword, putting the coronet on his brow, and the golden rod or verge into his hand.

When fully attired as Prince of Wales he will take a chair on the right of the throne.
