Former Premier Declares That Church of Christ Only Path To Righteousness.

UNION IS PRAISED

Sees Bigger and Better and Broader Things Coming From Amalgamation.

Voicing Christian sentiments, with which his audience was in absolute ccord, and in a manner undeniably sincere, Hon. Ernest C. Drury, Crown Hill, ex-premier of Ontario, delivered a masterful address at the annual banquet of the laymen's association of the London. Methodist conference, held in Dundas Cenre church last night.

In a word, Mr. Drury came, he spoke, he conquered. Three different times during his address all present rose spontaneously to their feet, and, amidst ringing outbursts of applause, gave testimony to their unqualified approval of the former U. F. O. leader, to his great vision, and to his mighty outlook.

"Standing as we are in a welter of thange and progress," asserted Mr. Drury, "there is no force in the world except the Church of Christ, representing the teaching and ideals of the Man of Nazareth, that can turn the world along the path of righteousness and happiness.

"The church is the only force," continued the speaker, "that is prepared to guide the world, the only force that can bring about international peace, that can create the love, which can reach across barriers of national boundaries and barriers of color, that can bring peace out of chaos, safety out of danger and happiness out of potential misery and destruction.

"We are going on to bigger, better, broader things," averred Mr. Drury, in commenting upon the church union question, in his opening remarks.

"Perhaps some of us, who are steeped the Mathedist of the feet and the like which grain rising to its feet and the Mathedist of the property of the property of the control of the contr

Is Step Forward.

"I trust, hope and believe that the new move, in which the Methodist church, is taking part without a dissenting voice, this United Church of Canada, is a step forward and toward the realization of the ends that we must accomplish if we are to serve the Master effectively."

Emphasizing the point "that there has never been an age so fraught with possibilities for good or evil as the present wonderful age," Mr.

Drury ventured to state "that it is within the range of possibility for one voice to speak and for all the world to hear that voice."

"Man stands in control of forces of tremendous benevolent potentialities, but of forces also that may be used for equally tremendous destructive purposes, and it is possible that a sudden outbreak of national hatred might destroy a whole city or nation overnight, that cyllization might hee a sudden outbreak of national hatred might destroy a whole city or nation overnight, that civilization might be overthrown and mankind decimated."

Referring to the national fear existing today, Mr. Drury defined patriotism as being of two kinds, "the loving of one's own country and the cheaper kind of hating outside countries." The speaker cited "the balancing force of the tribunal of justice against this dangerous fetish of nationalism," and bore fetish of nationalism," and bore

The speaker testified to "the incredible performance of the Labor government in England for a year," and "to the leadership of ex-Premier Ramsay MacDonald who did government in England for a year," and "to the leadership of ex-Premier Thompson, contraito, will sing The Song Ramsay MacDonald, who did more to settle the disturbed state of Britain's Indian opera Shanewis. Mr. Drury was inclined to be slightly critical of "the good old days," in which, "despite the most lintense religiou, no child welfare work or humanitarian movements were undertaken.

"I believe these movements today in the bencavalios Pagliacci, will be sung by Carman Learn, baritone, while Puccini's ever-popular aria, One Fine Day, from Madame Butterfly, will be offered by Dorothy Stanley.

I believe these movements today to be of the spirit of Christ." as-serted Mr. Drury. "Christ Himself was not happy when others were still in misery, not content when, though He was saved others were lost, and the same Christian principle and spirit should prevail in our lives.
Even the faultiest of mankind should not be thrown away as useless, it should be fostered and built up into the structure of the home. The application of the social gospel of Christ, too precious of material, should be broadly applied in the industrial and economical spheres of life. The pagan doctrine, "let the weak perish," should be forsaken and the new spirit of carefulness and love prevail.

Needed To Save Ali.

"I know not how, nor when, nor where, the Kingdom of God shall come," concluded Mr. Drury, "but know that the coming of the Kingdom of God is the only thing to save and prevent the world, material, political social, from dashing itself to pieces for the kingdom of peace and truth will suffice to use the forces already under man's control for naught but good purposes."

Unfortunately during the last year the printing and loose leaf business has been rather quiet, but there is in London one plant which has worked continuously without laying off a single man in the last year, and that is the firm of Reid Bros. & Co., Ltd., Nightingale avenue. Actually they are employing 20 per cent more help than they were in May last year.

For this of course there is a reason, and the reason why this firm is busy is that the printing, bookbinding and loose leaf work which they do is of a quality which is unsurpassed, and their prices are reasonable. They have built their business upon the rock foundation of service, and their customers have no worries as to quality, delivery, or prices are taken to the printing the service of the service.

Room Size and Arrangement Should Always Be Considered.

"There is no better time than the resent to buy wall paper, and although dealers have enjoyed the best eason in years, the stocks are now complete, all shipments of the best things are on hand, and there is no better time than the present to decorate," is the advice of Westland Bros., decorators, of 156 Wortley road. "Make the inside of the home smile with the outside. Add a little color, t few flowers to the bedrooms, a little foliage to the living-room and dining-room; in other words, bring the outdoors into the house and make it a real place in which to live. "A writer for the American Home Bureau advises throwing out of the bedrooms all the flowered wall paper and bright things, rightly claiming the bedroom to be a place in which to sleep, but she evidently has overlooked the fact that we usually sleep with our eyes shut, so that the wall paper does not bother us much when in that condition. But when awake brightness and beauty are always desirable.

CAPT. PLUNKETT'S NEW REVUE FULL OF ROLLICKING COMEDY

"Oh, Yes" Coming To Grand Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MANY NEW SONGS

About the finest bit of news that has been broadcasted around local breakfast tables for some time is the glad tidings that Captain Mert Plunkett and his world-famous Dumbells Company and orchestra will be seen here in a brand-new revue called Oh, Yes! at the Grand opera house for three days, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15 and popular Saturday matines at

That the good ship Oh, Yes! has been launched for laughing purposes only and that comedy is the keynote is evidenced by a glance at the following numbers chosen at random from the program:

Al Plunkett has a new "fly" song and also sings Do Shrimps Make Good Mothers? Ross Hamilton scores in Lips I Have Kissed and I Love Them All. "Red" Newman sings a patriotic number entitled Let's Keep the Money in the Country, and How Does the Milk Get Into Cocoanuts? Pat Rafferty has a knockout hit in Lips That Touch Archibald" (Stan. Bennett) sings cal numbers, ranging from the classical to popular jazz, many of them Guards, and "Jock" Holland leads the big beauty chorus number with Where Are the Girls of the Old Brigade?

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism and lumbago (which is really muscular rheumatism) work just the other way. Every attack invites another.

There is scarcely any disease which physicians find more difficult to treat successfully than rheumatism. Long study, however, has shown that the seat of the disease is in the blood. By maintaining the quality of the blood, you are doing the best possible thing to prevent and combat rheumatism.

That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved successful in thousands of cases of rheumatism and lumbago. These pills enrich the blood and enable it to throw off the poisons of the disease. And so long as the blood is kept pure and rich, there need be no fear of a return of the

Only One Explanation.

A speaker addressing a church gathering in town north of London said: "This is an age of material things. People are not satisfied to take as much for granted as they used to. The word faith has not the same grip on them as it had on the generations preceding, because they minds."

It may be that what he said expressed in a very plain way his observations and those of others. Perhaps he was right in his claim that that Russia emerged from the throes of revolupeople in the religious realm would "not take as much for granted as they used to," and that faith is not as great a factor as it once was. The speaker expressing these views was competent to give an opinion on the subject, and to that extent we are prepared to accept his word.

The strange thing is that people take so much for granted in other phases of life, accept so many things without a question, yet when they approach questions of a spiritual nature they assume a defensive attitude and insist on the whole thing being clearly demonstrated so that they can really handle, feel and see for them-

A few months ago it was possible to stand on the brow of a hill just on the edge of the city. The hillside was covered with ice and snow, and it was used for sleigh-riding. There wasn't a work. Russia wants capital, but capital is not sign of life—the fields on past the bottom of the fond of rushing in where the prospects are that hill were as snow-bound as the hill itself. At it will emerge with a broken neck. one side stood a clump of willows, a little farther three maple trees, but there was no sign of As far as the sense of sight was concerned, they were dead. A few weeks later there were great brown carded as a slide. The sun vers getting stronger to give evidence that would be of any value in patches on the side of the hill and it was disand the snow was going. Still there was no determining innocence or guilt. indication of life, so dead and dry was the grass that some boys set fire to it; the same day, though, they visited the willow trees and took some of the branches away with the little furlike buds on them. That was the first sign of life. Today it is possible to stand on the same spot, but the hillside and the field is green, and gold with dandelions. The trees are out in leaf. The same sense of sight that a few months ago called it death now proclaims it life, so to that extent sight is erratic. In the same way the gardener in the fall took his bulbs out of the soil and put them down cellar for the winter. If he went and looked at them in January his sense of sight would say "Dead." His sense of touch as he rubbed the dry husks that surround some of them would son. say the same thing. Last week he put them out to grow again.

Now, in none of these things does ne be shown how it is done. He knew the hillside dead. and the field would become green and he knew his bulbs would grow again. He is willing to take these things for granted. He may answer probably getting the idea from seeing cars go that his faith is the result of having seen the past with a spare tire. same thing in operation before, but that is not a sufficient answer. He cannot have the process explained to him; the scientist may tell him all he knows about the return of sap to the branches of the trees, or about the germination of seed after it falls into the ground, but when he comes to the point of telling where the life actually comes from, his powers of reason are exhausted, and he has to acknowledge that his limited powers of research have not delivered an explanation that goes the entire distance. As Tennyson put it:

Flower in the crannied wall, pluck you out of the crannies, I hold you here, root and all, in my hand, Little flower-but if I could understand What you are, root and all, and all in all, I should know what God and man is.

plant; we can crush or starve the life out of it, they must surely be forgeries. They have been but we can't put it back again. Despite the declared genuine, and the next problem will be mystery, we do not doubt the existence of life to determine how one man could have all that in that plant. The parallel may seem homely, money. and it may not walk on all fours, but the same thing is applicable to spiritual realms. #### Capital is Afraid.

Russia has taken years to demonstrate the folly of regarding a man with money, who wanted to use it to develop an idea or improve his holdings, as a menace. The same move has demand explanations that will satisfy their also shown that driving money, or capital, out of existence as the medium of exchange can work nothing but havoc.

It was in 1917, before the close of the war, tion bearing on its banner this device: "Death to private capital and private enterprise." It took three years for the reformers to have it thoroughly driven into their minds that in killing capital they had almost killed their country. The first step away from the first idea was Lenin's permission to peasants to sell their produce, and allowing businessmen to buy what they liked and run certain small industries.

This new idea was never allowed to operate. Businessmen became "profiteers" on the least pretext, for which they were jailed or fined. The result was that in 1924 the number of private enterprises left was a very small number.

Today even official papers of the soviet are discussing the need of getting foreign capital to

Londoner Urges That Old Age Pension Would Be Best Way to Assist "Vagrant."

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,-I read in your issue of yesterday the case of the aged and friendless Mrs. Hattie Baxter. Too often we see in the papers cases of aged people being arrested as vagrants. For Added to that it is a recognized fact that years, handicapped by age and physical frailty, there is a disinclination to return verdicts Mrs. Baxter had made many futile attempts to secure work. Is it not high time the people of Canada put a stop to this disgraceful state of matters by compelling the government to put through the old age pension bill as speedily as possible? Given a suitable pension, there will be no need for aged people to be arrested as London, May 21.

"As a matter of fact," states W. Ince Anderson, secretary of the Hotel Keepers' Association of Ontario, "the standard of accommodation in the 1,600 hotels of Ontario is higher than in many parts of the United States, California, for one, and the southern states generally.

The hotel situation in Ontario is in a state of transition, at this very moment. To begin with, there are already a large number of first-

"Built, for the most part, in the day of buggies and to accommodate a traveling public which moved on railroad trains, the old hotels in the small towns and villages of Ontario lack some of the physical features that the new age of auto travel demands. Greater bath room facilities for dusty tourists, for one little thing. A cafeteria system in place of the old dining room to meet the demands of guests which arrive at no scheduled time, for another. Good garage room instead of stabling. We could go on in-

In every town and village, a Chinese restaurant has sprung up in opposition to the hotel dining room and robbed it of even that slight revenue. In the past ten years, hotels have fallen on very evil times, and if accommodation in any one of them is not all that could be desired, it is very simply explained. Any business can do no better than it can afford.

"Now, there is a movement for the establishment of free tourist camps all over the ountry, which, in combination with the Chinese taurants and other facilities along the way, vill effectually end the career of that ancien institution, the hostelry. The hotel keepers are condering what the traveler in winter will do, camping in a free tourist camp, or going out in the storm early in the morning to seek break-

"But it is unquestionable," said Mr. Anderson, "that the tourist traffic, developing at the rate it is, will be the means of reestablishment to hundreds of hotels that are situated on principal highways. ### Two Fascinated Cats Guard Riverdale Park Bird House

By F. G. G.

NE cannot imagine a cat occupying a more unique postition unique position. And in this case it is not merely one cat, but two. Both of them gentlemen, which makes it stranger still. They might be called the bachelors of the bird-

That is where you will find them, in the birdhouse at Riverdale Zoo, Toronto. They never leave it; have not left it for months.

You cannot imagine two cats in a more tantalizing place. You know how fond a cat is of a canary, that is, from the same angle of fondness as the bird and the worm. Well, here are two cats in a place where there are not only a flock of canaries, but all kinds of other birds of brilliant plumage and, undoubtedly, appetizing

There are green and red macaws; red breasted starlings, cardinal birds, rare beauties from Indian jungles and South American forests; not to mention a cage full of ordinary crows, a white backed crow, two or three kinds of jackdaws, rooks and a magpie or two. The air is filled with their cries and song. They fly up and down and back and forth. If ever there was a place where cats ought not to be you would think this was the place.

Yet here are these two cats. And, most extraordinary of all, they are right on top of the cages. Only one or two of the big cages have wooden tops. The tops of the others are heavy netting. The bodies of the cats show clearly through them to the birds beneath as they move silently backwards and forwards along the top.

Eight months ago the cats were placed there by the keeper of Riverdale to prey on the rats which showed a tendency to come in and eat the food of the birds. Since then the cats have absolutely refused to come down. Whether it is because the hunting is good up there or because they enjoy the proximity of the birds is not quite clear. At any rate, they seek to stay up there on the shelf made by the tops of the

Sometimes you see them walking along the netting, with canaries flying not more than a foot or so below them. The canaries and other birds are apparently oblivious of their presence. If you clap your hands suddenly the rooks, crows and jackdaws will instinctively make for the uppermost branches. But they do not seem to

On the other hand, the cats will sometimes on for half an hour at a time watching the birds through the netting. What their thoughts are nobody knows. You have seen a cat lying silently watching an inaccessible canary? Im agine these cats watching so many inaccessible birds. Of course strange things are possible in animal contacts and the lion and the lamb lying down together could happen long before the millennium made it probable. Dogs and cats have become before now the best of friends. In Herriman's comic strip, Krazy Kat and Ignatius Mouse are bosom pals except when the latter hits the former with a brick. It may be that the natural instincts of these two cats to ravage these birds has been sublimated into the most beautiful attitude of protective affection. It may be. But one would not like to trust that mouse colored Tom, or the tiger striped chap either, alone for one moment with those birds if the wire wasn't there. There is a lean and hungry look in their eyes as they gaze at the birds below. But at the mo ment in intruding sparrow from the outside has come in and is perkily jumping about in all its demure tininess amongst a collection of exotic birds. It may be, undoubtedly is, a fact that the cats have seen the sparrow. Perhaps they recognize it as a crasher-in and, as faithful custodians or commissionaires, think it should be thrown out; not quite happy in their minds that should have got past their guard at all.

You'd wonder how the cats knew that this parrow should not be there. No doubt in the eight months of their residence on the top storey they have learned all there is to know of the people living in the flats beneath and can disnguish each of them at a glance.

The cats indeed are not so long there without reaching something that approximates a speaking acquaintanceship with individual birds. For example, the keeper the other day saw one of the green macaws hanging acrobatically from the roof of the cage and pecking with its great, curved Roman nose of a beak in a most ionate way at one of the cats immediately above. And the cat was undergoing the bird's philandering with the most pleased sort of air. In fact, looked as if it was actually purring with de-eat?" And they go out to some cafeteria. "I witnessed one of the problems of the small town host," said Mr. Anderson. "It is a small but beautifully run hotel ____ The host is a man with vision, who is certainly making the most of the new conditions, and really is making money. Just at eight o'clock, when his dining room closes, a party of seven motorists, three men and four ladies, arrived at his door and came in. He at once passed word to his dining room crew to keep open for these visitors. The cook got busy and freshened things up on the stove and side tables. They

"The men hung up their coats and went to the washroom, the ladies were directed to the ladies' room upstairs. After half an hour, the ladies came down stairs, the men put on their coats, out they went and drove cheerfully on their way.

"This is just one sample of the trials and tribulations of the hotel keeper in this age of motoring. It is very distressing and disappointing. But there you are."

Such tourist camps as are being run in Ontario are to be subjected to strict inspection by the government. Unless a camp has sanitary conveniences and water and is run on a decent basis, it will be closed.

Otherwise, the touring situation, as far as the condition of roads and the range of tours is concerned, Ontario was never in better shape. In the past ten years, it is stated, one hundred and fifty million dollars have been spent on our

Three times the number of motor tourists that came into Ontario from the States last year is predicted for this year by Mr. Robertson, secretary of the Motor League, following his attendance at the big motor touring convention in Washington a few days ago. The Sarnia club reports that the number of thirty day touring licenses issued to Americans since May 1st is already 1,560, as compared with 655 in the same period last session. And the summer has not yet really begun.

Asked which four tours were most popular and likely to interest tourists, the Motor League gave these; the Great Northern Tour, which is Toronto, North Bay, the Soo, and home via Michigan, down past Cheboygan, Saginaw, and home via Flint, or Detroit, Windsor, London. The western tour is to Detroit, Chicago, and as far west as Omaha. The southern tour, via Buffalo, Batavia, Geneva, to Watkins and the Finger Lake region, or on to Lake George and the Hud son. The eastern tour is to Montreal, and home via the northern loop to Ottawa and down by Smiths Falls, or right on past Montreal to Quebec. It is even possible to go to the Maritimes on very excellent roads all the way.

All of these tours can be managed very easily in two weeks, which is the average holiday a man takes in Ontario. The great northern tour showing the four most popular outlined by the Motor League with its route through the beautiful northern wilds of Ontario, with endless opportunity for camping, fishing and the viewing of wild game which, on the North Bay-Soo Highway, is often scared off the road by the tourist, is specially recommended by the Motor League, which supplies a complete service on this tour, as on all the others. Dr. Doolittle, president of the Canadian Automobile Association, made the jum from Toronto to North Bay in one day, opening two Muskoka tourist camps on the way, and then made the Soo the following day. The roads for the most part are hard gravel highways.

Claims the Smallest Dictionary in Canada

Vest-Pocket Volume Containing Definitions of 15.000 Words Owned by Resident of Simcoe, Ontario

By B. M. PEARCE

WNERSHIP of the smallest dictionary in Canada is the unique claim of Mr. Harold Jones, a resident of Simcoe, Ontario.

The dictionary, which he claims entitles him to this distinction, is truly a watch-pocket edition, being only one inch long, three-quarters of an inch wide and one-quarter of an inch thick. It contains 382 pages and supplies the definitions of about 15,000 words. The typographical work is of such a fine nature that the words can scarcely be read with the naked eye. It is encased in a small, time-worn container, in which is encrusted a tiny magnifying glass, certainly a very necessary instrument if constant reference is to be made to the dictionary by its owner. This remarkable little compilation was one of a very limited number of copies printed by Messrs. David Bryce and Sons, of London, England, in the year 1843, and so far as is known it is the only dictionary of its kind in existence on the American continent to-day. Mr. Jones became its owner in a most peculiar manner. He was playing in vaudeville on an American circuit in the year 1915. One evening a brother actor produced this tiny dictionary and was describing its history to Mr. Jones when suddenly the bell rang for the latter's act. He hurried away, and in the rush of the moment slipped the dictionary into his vest pocket. Since that day, he has not seen or heard of the former owner of the dictionary. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Jones enlisted for overseas service and was in the army until after the armistice. He had packed his civilian clothes in a trunk at home, and on returning dug them out. In a vest pocket of one of his suits he discovered the dictionary dwarf and for the past six years it has been one of his most prized pos-

Perhaps his story might be written by ne who makes a regular business of literature and put in all the school books. Perhaps Hon. Finn spent his early years in the maritimes. in St. John, N.B., to be exact, where a gentleman the name of Murray McHugh spent a great deal of time on his education. Finn was a very devoted young canine.

A short time ago Mr. McHugh found it necessary to leave the dominion and take up his restdence in White Plains, N.Y. Finn went with But the dog wasn't satisfied. He couldn't keep his mind off his old haunts back around St. John. The longer he stayed at White Plains, the worse it got. If he had not been an exceedingly devoted sort of a dog it wouldn't have been so bad. But the fact remains that he was, and Finn didn't know what to do. He studied the situation from every angle. He wasn't setting a very od example to Canadian dogs in general. It's bad enough, he thought, to have mere men immigrating to the United States, but I'd hate to have my descendants think that I was the dog who started the movement among the members of our race. There is posterity to be considered, he said to himself, not to mention my own personal feelings in the matter. He made his de-

And so, a day or more later, a farmer named Robert Case, living near Stamford, Conn., saw a ery forlorn and dusty figure coming down the Canadian border and he was trotting along with true dogged determination, though there was a tenderfoot tramp limp to his lope. He was a sad-looking little dog, but he was hiking resolutely ahead without a glance to either side.

Mr. Case picked up the diminutive and somewhat dirty hobo, and, being a dog lover himself, decided that Finn, for this was who it was, needed attention. He seemed to be all in. Mr. Case bathed and fed him and lodged him. Finn, however was technically under arrest as a vagrant. The tag on the dog's collar gave Mr. McHugh's name and his New Brunswick address. Through the Connecticut Humane Society Mr. Case got in touch with the St. John authorities, who notified him of Mr. McHugh's change of residence.

When Norma Shearer Decided on a Movie Career, She Didn't Lose Her Head Over It-Went After Fame in a Business - Like Manner-Most Promising of Younger

T all happened very suddenly.

A short time ago she was absolutely unknown. Then, all at once, she was a star and the wise ones were nodding their heads and declaring: "Oh, I had picked her out long ago. I knew she was going to make a name for herself one of these days."

The cause of all this acute observation was Norma Shearer. She is a Canadian, born in Montreal. There is nothing new or startling in that fact.' She is one of the most outstanding of the rising generation of movie stars, though that, too, has been widely heralded in all parts of the dominion. The combination of these two little items of information, however, reveals a situation that demands an investigation. How did Miss Shearer develop into a headliner, why and what about it?

Miss Shearer received her early education in a Montreal convent, and after graduation turned out to be one of those girls who isn't satisfied with the usual afternoon-tea-bridge-party-danceand-be-merry type of life.

Eventually, therefore, in search of something different, she ran into an entry blank for a Montreal beauty contest which she promptly filled out. Almost immediately after the conclusion of this little ceremony she won the contest. His nose was pointed straight for the And then she began to discuss the possibilities of a career in the movies. That, at least, is one good thing which has been the direct result of a beauty contest.

Miss Shearer must be blessed with a considerable amount of determination. Her avowed intention of heading for the silver screen was most heartily opposed by her father.

"To prove that I was not urged by an idle fancy," she says, in telling of her first steps toward stardom, "to prove that I was really impelled by honest ambition, I told my family that I would be entirely self-supporting. I have been. All that I have had in the way of money since has been what I have earned, with the exception of birthday checks, which may be counted if any-

Nothing If Not Efficient

ORMA SHEARER went about the business of becoming famous in a manner sufficiently thorough to impress an efficiency expert. She did not pull the usual stunt of spending all her money on a one-way ticket to Hollywood and then attempting to stampede the studios with declarations of her genius.

She went to New York with her mother and tried to get a small part on the legitimate stage. she got it. She took this with the idea of learning a few hings about make-up and becoming accustomed to audiences before seeking to appear before cameras.

While she was appearing on Broadway, she had her name put on the list of aspiring extras at all the Long Island studios. In course of time she made her debut before the director and his megaphone and stuck in the ranks of the extras till she had convinced herself that all tendencies toward camera shyness had been

When she was sure of this she began to do small parts. It was not until she had a certain reputation for excellence in minor roles that she decided to head toward Hollywood. Her eventual arrival among the stars was inevitable considering the business-like manner in which she went through the preliminaries.

But it would never have been possible, of course, had she not the ability to back up her own commonsense methods of going after success. She is beautiful. She is charming, which is another and an entirely different thing from beauty, and she has the brains to back up these

She is described by a press agent with a mean talent for words as a most lovely young woman, "glorified at the moment by that transient blush of youth which may even gild the lily of true beauty and which succeeds in lending a semblance of it to mediocre comeliness." This, when you finally get it translated, does not sound as complimentary as it is evidently meant to be, but this young Canadian actress is certainly to be complimented on the fact that, in his frantic attempt to do her full justice, she has forced this expert juggler of words to completely ruin a dictionary. He required exactly five columns to contain his encomiums.

No further arguments are needed to prove that Miss Norma Shearer of Montreal deserved her laurels. The only other way to definitely settle it is to go and see one of her pictures, which will be final proof.

Proof That She's a Star

BUT if any evidence is required as to the heights to which she has risen, it is only necessary to state that she is now sufficiently great in moving picture circles to have the prolucing company which is paying her salary distribute press sheets containing her advice to young ladies. That is indeed fame.

First, there is the matter of economy. "Saving," she says, "prepares one for anything you may choose. It's good training for your willpower. If you can't find any other reason for saving your money, just bank it anyway-be-

Secondly, there is the subject of flirtation, which may be of more interest but of less general feel particularly worried about these women, for girls in pictures. I think they have only themselves to blame-or should I say thank?"

Thirdly, there is a piece of general information for the young girl who is so anxious to be different and will go to all sorts of lengths in order to have herself looked upon as a creature unique from all others. "Why not try pradishness?" says Miss Shearer, briefly and very much

C IR FREDERICK WILLIAMS-TAYLOR, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, though of Scot-Welsh-Irish descent, is a great admirer of the English race, especially for the honor, integrity and reserve which characterizes that people. As an illustration of the latter trait he tells a story of a personal experience during the war. An English peer was seated in a London club playing bridge during the darkest days of 1914. A servant entered and handed him a telegram reporting the death of his only son. The peer read the telegram and said:

'Wilkinson, there is no answer"; and then, to his partner, "Two hearts." "That is the English way," adds Sir

R AOUL HURTUBESE is now graduating from the Ontario College of He is the son of a pioneer habitant farmer and the first French-Canadian to complete the four-year course in scientific agriculture at the college on the Guelph hills. He entered the institution not only as a student but also as a His boyhood was spent on the farm his father cleared near Bourget in that fertile valley which bears the same name as the capital city of Canada and the river that flows through them both. His early life, surrounded by contented French-Canadian farmers, bred in him not only a fondness for the soil but also a desire to be of some definite service to his native race.

He was handicapped, perhaps, but his handicap, instead of discouraging him, only spurred him on to additional effort. An attack of spinal meningitis had impaired his health somewhat and left him lame.

But Raoul Hurtubese had already decided on his future career and refused to let a misfortune of this nature deter him. He completed a matriculation course at the University of Ottawa and then entered the agricultural college in the fall

President J. B. Reynolds had that very year, in ascending the throne of agricultural training at Guelph, revolutionized the courses by requiring matriculation standing from all students registering and proceeding towards a degree. Hurchy, as his fellow students called him, had his matriculation but he had taken it at a college where practically all the instruction was given in French. He had a fair command of English but was accustomed to read it rather than speak it. He soon realized, therefore, that he had chosen no royal road to knowledge, despite the fact that Guelph likes to be known as the Royal City.

Particularly in his freshman year did he find exceedingly difficult to follow the reasoning of the lecturers, some of whom knew as little French as he knew English. Their scientific language was enough, in his opinion, to straighten the hind leg of a dog. But he stuck to his guns during five years of persistent plugging and perspiration, for he had learned from his pioneer forefathers that inspiration without perspiration is futile.

He now graduates a master of the English language as well as the French. That was one of his major reasons for entering the college. He was anxious to learn not only the science of agriculture, but also to study the language of his English-speaking countrymen and their psychology. His fondest hope has always been that he might have an opportunity of developing a better relationship between English and Frenchspeaking Canadians, and it was with that ambition in view that he laid out for himself the educational program which he is now com-

He was discussing the whole matter with another student a few days ago during the course of his final examinations. "I am feeling very happy to-day," he said, smilingly. "I have just written my final examination in English poetry. Though English literature has been difficult for me to understand, I have enjoyed studying it. It told me many of the things I wanted to know. It enabled me to appreciate many of the qualities of the English-speaking Canadian. b woman officer in the Toronto probation department, "the flapper is no fool. You hear talk about the flapper and the underprivileged and one thing or another-but of all my probationers, only two, I venture to say, are what you might call underprivileged. You can't say that female delinquents come from any special class of the community.

Mrs. Browne's views have special interest from the fact that she is the only woman probation officer for adults in Canada. She has had wide experience in this comparatively modern work, having been over seven years attached to two years ago.

Mrs. Browne went over her book of probationers and found that they divided up exactly forty-four, single and wedded. Most of the married women had been placed on probation for shoplifting. Again and again she read out the phrase, "Married woman-theft of goods in

"It's appalling the number of married women who figure in this sort of thing," she commented. "The cause? Usually, apparently, a sudden temptation. I don't think it's another thing. The majority are not thieves at all. They regret their act a moment after it's committed. That's where probation is useful. Most of them are first offenders and when they're placed on probation they never repeat.

"As for joy-riding cases, it's harder to explain them. Spring must have something to do with them-we only begin to get them with the coming of spring and then they keep up all summer. It may be a sort of loneliness that is responsible sometimes. A lot of them are old country girls -and this is a hard country to get acquainted. Not that any of them ever give a reason for their conduct or misconduct. I never yet succeeded in getting a girl to give a reason.

"Very few of them, I think, are evilly inclined. They just go. The springtime, I guess, call of the blood or call of the wild.

"But it's the automobile that does it. Some girls don't think they've graduated until they've gone in an auto and smoked a cigaret. You can class them all alike. I get them from all "But one thing you might say. I have never yet come across a case where a girl has been dragged into a car against her will. Blame the men as much as you like, and the man who cruises round in a car looking for a girl to go for a ride with him is certainly not blamelessat the same time no girl is blameless who goes with them of her own free wil. the Toronto juvenile court as probation officer of person. She is, with an Irish heart that is before entering on the care of adult probationers warm and eager towards anyone she can possibly on the formation of the department more than help. Her work as a probation officer is entirely devoted to helping lame dogs over stiles, if such a time-worn expressure may be applied to her supervision of errant women. The first time one saw Mrs. Browne she was walking along the hall with her arm round the shoulder of a girl probationer who could be overheard telling her that she always went to bed now at nine o'clock every night. And the girl was smiling as she said it.

Mrs. Browne told one or two cases which showed the tragedy behind many a case placed on probation, of which little is revealed in the court. Here was the tragedy of a married woman. Her first baby was born while her husband was in Burwash. He got work when he came out and was doing well; but one day the pair of them were in a store when the man lifted a dress for his wife. He was sent down again for six months and the woman was placed on probation for a year. As if this was not tragedy enough, the first child died while he was in the Don jail awaiting transfer. And a second will be born while he is again in jail. But Mrs. Browne with the aid of the Salvation Army and the Victorian Order of Nurses will see the woman through.

Another case, this time of an old country girl, of decent home and with a very strict mother, which might be the cause of the trouble that subsequently developed, for apparently too much strictness is sometimes as bad as laxity. One night she went to the theatre, picked up an acquaintance with a married man and was arrested in a car in the country. Whereupon she was placed on probation for a year. begged Mrs. Browne not to tell her mother. Mrs. Browne consented, though it was against her usual custom. Events seemed to justify her action for the girl was reporting regularly, working every day and seemingly doing fine.

One day she was upset with something in the home and left. She disappeared. She ceased to report. Word came that she was living irregularly. No need to detail the way in which she was traced-it took two weeks-but one day Mrs. Browne with two police officers caught her. came up in court in the morning.

She felt like that. But Mrs. Browne reasoned with her and, finally, persuaded her to take the girl home, forgive her and give her a new start.

Husband and Wife Arrested

ND then, just last week, the girl came in A to see Mrs. Browne, broken-hearted. Just when everything seemed fine and her re-establishment looked complete, with happiness in the offing, the blow fell. This is real-life drama. She was going to have a baby.

Once more Mrs. Browne bore the burden of seeing the mother. It was an hour of despair, sorrow, and bitterness; but the determined, warm-hearted Irish woman won the battle, against odds, for the girl. Plans were made which cannot be detailed—and it may be that the future will be much happier than ever seemed possible. All of which goes to show that probation is positive rather than negative in its workings.

Here was another girl, beautiful but poor; in fact, according to Mrs. Browne, she was as pretty as a picture. She married a young fellow, who was weak and somewhat shiftless. They had three children. Eventually both of them were arrested as the results of heavy thefts from a department store. The husband was sent to jail for two years. His wife was placed on probation. Mrs. Browne has practically lived with her since. The girl has certainly paid the price of her misdemeanour. First of all, she sold her furniture and made restitution. She was left penniless. She tried to get work. It was a time when married women were being denied jobs. Her very name was against her. People knew the case. Finally, to provide food for her children, she decided to take a basket from door to door and sell aprons. Right in the district where she was born and bred. But Mrs. Browne would not hear of it.

So the girl continued her search for work. And Mrs. Browne searched for her. It seemed hopeless. At last the girl heard of a job she might be given in a big factory—but not as a married woman.

"Listen." said Mrs. Browne. "They say we shouldn't deceive but you're fighting for your three children. Apply in your maiden name and get the job."

The woman got it. But this same job has been an agony in its trivial cruelties. She earned fourteen dollars a week. She had to pay thirteen to her mother as board for herself and the children. She worked overtime to earn ething extra to maintain the decencies of eyed English woman of poise, intelligence and courage. Her investigations have led her into slums, Chinese joints, dives and doss houses, all sorts of places. Yet only once did she meet rudeness, and that from a woman-whom she deflated in about three brief sentences. Mrs.

Kensitt could do it. When a prisoner is found guilty and judgment suspended for investigation, it is Mrs. Kensitt's job to find out if probation is possible or desirable. Her work, again, is posi negative. A relatively small percentage are placed on probation, but where there is a chance that probation will pluck some brand from the burning, Mrs. Kensitt, after investigation, recommends, and so saves the individual from a prison sentence and possibly a ruined life. Not only is Mrs. Kensitt able to give the magistrate information beyond that which comes out in court, on which a decision may be based, but she supplies valuable data on which the probation officers may subsequently act. She goes into every case with sympathy but not with sentiment. "If you allowed sentiment to sway you," she declared, "you simply couldn't

To show that probation is not overworked, as is sometimes claimed, it may be mentioned that out of over 2,000 cases which passed through Dr. Margaret Patterson's woman's court, only 136 came to the probation department.

Mrs. Kensitt investigates every type of case from every class and of both sexes from seventeen years of age to seventy and eighty. Her endeavor always is to find out the home, school and church background of the individual; the economic, mental and spiritual factors entering into the particular delinquency. She delves into: What are the relatives like? What is the rental paid? Is the home behind the whole situation? What is the educational standard? The occupation? Was an apprenticeship served? What are the wages earned? Does the man or woman belong to a church?

She sums up the whole affair and lays it before the magistrate with possibly a plan for regeneration showing that the relatives will cooperate with some hope of success. She does not recommend more than a third of the cases that come to her as worthy of probation. The others are hopeless. They have no background giving the slightest chance of successful effort at

"The economic situation," said Mrs. Kensitt, in explanation, "is at the bottom of most of the case came to light that her knees did not shake cases I investigate. It is making hoboes out of scores of young men between eighteen and twenty-five. They are forced to leave school at fourteen, when most of them have just got to senior third, half-way through. By JULIA HOYT.

In answering questions relating to good taste, I find it most difficult to give a definite answer. Good taste depends so enormously, except in a few instances, on the particular circumstances and individuals concerned in a given case that it is hard to generalize.

The other day a girl of my acquaintance told me that she would never again accept ah invitation from a certain man because, instead of calling for her the night before to take her to dinner, he had asked her to meet him at the restaurant. She asked me if I did not think this was extremely rude. It seems to me was extremely rude. It seems to me daughter of J. H. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix-I would certainly like to be able to make a hit with the weaker sex, which is apparently too strong for me. I am a college stu-dent, who goes in for athletics, dances, am ready for a good time, can talk fluently and I own a car. I have plenty of dates, but there is always some fellow that the girls like I are very happy together. He treats better. What is it that girls want me with the utmost consideration, is and look for in a man? RALPH.

Answer: It seems to me that your accomplishments quite fill the bill of the requirements of the modern flapper. Especially the car, as most girls consider that a motorcar is like the mantle of charity that covers very nearly any disability a man might have.

You speak of girls as belonging to the weaker sex. Perhaps therein lies the reason for your failure to win one. There is nothing that women resent so much as being patronized, and having a man pose before them as a superior just because he wears trousers instead of skirts.

Chivalry and reverence for womanhood is a line that never fails to make a hit with women, and it is particularly effective in college, where girls who have given the boys a close run for the honors don't take very kindly to the tin-god stuff. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-I have been keeping company with a young man for three years. We have very good evenings a week, yet he has never his 81st year, was born in Germany, told me he loves me. What do you and came to Canada with his parents lawn, tables being spread among the think his intentions are? JUST TWENTY-FOUR.

Answer: None, my dear. Absolutely none. A man who sees a girl four times a week for three years and never tells her he loves her is never going to pop the question. He isn't in love with her. She is just a good pal, nothing more. And some day he will come along and tell her that she has been the best friend a fellow ever had, and so she is the very first he is going to tell the good news to, and that is that he is going to be married to the dear est, sweetest, most wonderful little girl in the world. And he just knows they will be such good friends! DOROTHY DIX.

when I picked up a cup of tea my hand would tremble like a leaf. I could not sleep well, could not remember things, and there were neuralgic pains through my body. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am in perfect health."

Weak and Nervous

Mrs. Maurice Naugler, Middle-wood, N.S., writes:—
"After confinement I found myself very weak and unable to gain up strength. I tried different doctors without benefit. My heart seemed to be affected, and I was so nervous that I would not stay in my own home alone. A relative told me it was all due to my nerves, and that I should take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. should take of the should take of the should take of the should be stronger in every way."

Heart Trouble

Mr. John Tucker, Elimville, Ont.,

writes:—
"I suffered for a great many years from nervousness, heart trouble and neuralgia. I could not sleep at all, and had frequent headaches. My appetite also became poor and I was bothered with indigestion. I finally commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and found it the best thing I ever tried. It relieved me right away and I soon got better."

Never Felt Well Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith,
Ont., writes:—

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well."

In order to maintain health vitality must be

We must have vitality to accomplish the day's work—vitality to fight off disease—vitality to enjoy Lack of vitality is usually attributable to exhaustion of the nervous system. There is not sufficient nerve force in the system to control the vital organs and supply the energy consumed in the act of living.

We are slaves to our hopes and fears. Always hoping that to-morrow or next week we may be feeling better.

But nervous ailments do not right themselves. From the first warning symptoms such as sleeplessness, irritability and indigestion there gradually develops neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism or some form of paralysis.

The sooner the building-up process is set in action the better, and there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore the depleted nervous system. Whatever may be your special ailment you may be sure that it poisons your mind and works against your success and happiness. Rest and sleep will help greatly in the restoration of the nerves but nutrition is also necessary and this is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. From experience in many thousands of cases we know what you may expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. But it is up to you to carry out the treatment regularly and persistently until your whole system is filled with new vigor and vitality.

It will take a little time but you are the one who is to benefit and it is surely worth while to make an effort to be strong and well and to realize again the joy of health.

Could Not Sleep

Mrs. Wallace Burwell, R. R. No. 7, "For several months my nerves bothered me so that I simply couldn't get to sleep for two or three hours after going to bed I took five boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and ever since I have no difficulty in sleeping. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is certainly a boon to nerve sufferers."

Nervous Breakdown

Mervous Breakdown

Mrs. Sidney S. Corey, Butternut
Ridge, Kings Co., N.B., says:—

"I had a nervous breakdown after a severe attack of the FLU. I could not sleep for terrible headaches, nervous twitching of the nerves and muscles, and numbness of the hands.
I was so nervous I could not lie still.
This lasted for nearly a month and a half. I tried medicines from doctors but did not seem to get much help.
On the advice of a friend, I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after taking three boxes I was completely relieved."

Nervous Exhaustion Mrs. Jane Hooey, Nestleton, Ont.,

"For several years I suffered from what the doctor called nerve exhaus-tion and I also had eczema on my face. I suffered from sudden starting from sleep, brain fag, nervous irritability and indigestion. Every little undertaking seemed to become such a momentous thing—even the preparing of the meals worried me to death and left me tired out. On the advice of a friend who uses it, I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and must say that it is the most effective must say that it is the most effective medicine I have ever used, and with the change in my health and the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, the eczema cleared up."

Fluttering Heart
Mrs. J. A. Wright, Barwick, Ont.,

writes:—
"Last Spring I felt very miserable, seemed tired all the time and didn't care if I never ate anything. I never was hungry, and it seemed as if what little food I did take, did not digest. I could not sleep and my heart was in a weak condition. It would flutter, stop fer a second, and then beat so hard that I could hear it thump. I sent for several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by the time I had taken four boxes I felt quite well, and have been ever felt quite well, and have been ever since. Local Council of Women Will Make Recommendation To City.

ELECT MRS. J. ROSE

That there should be a woman on the London board of health is a recommendation which the local council of women will make immediately to the city council. This decision was taken at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon, when the suggestion was brought to the meeting by Mrs. A. T. Edwards, reporting for the citizenship committee. It was felt that in certain matters pertaining to the city's health a woman's influence on the board would be a decided asset.

The citizenship committee has nov become a powerful organization, its membership being drawn from the different wards of the city. Just now an attempt is being made to bring in members from the outlying districts of the city. The citizenship committee believes that in the event of these districts becoming part of the city the women should be trained who was returned as president of the Local Council of Women at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at "Lenmore," King street. along the lines of citizenship.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, May 22 .- According to Warden Thomas Heatherington, road matters will again form a lively topic at the June session of the county council, because of proposed changes in the county road system. Warden Heatherington, Reeve H. S. Hornick, chairman of the road committee, and W. D. Colby, county road superintendent, will meet the minister of highways in Toronto on Tuesday to discuss changes. It is expected that a number of roads, now classified in the county road system, will revert to township roads. Paving Program.

When the department of highways completes its improvement program on the provincial highway this year there will be only 28 miles of unimproved road between Windsor and Toronto, highway officials state. The majority of the I. O. D. E. chapters were now known to visit the Old Orchard, and there was no reason to think he would visit it now. Then, again, none of the feathered folk in the Old Orchard were big enough to tempt King Eagle to try to catch them. In order to see better Peter had come out from the shelter of the old Stone Wall and was sitting with his head tipped back, staring up at King Eagle. You see Peter had seldom had a chance for a good look at King Eagle that he was making the most of this

He knew that his two babies in their nest up on the Big Mountain would enjoy a Rabbit breakfast. So King Eagle began to swing in circles, and every time he came around he was a little lower. He was watching Peter Rabbit, and he was watching Farmer Brown's house, to see that no one appeared there.

Peter was so interested in watching King Eagle that he never once thought of danger. It didn't enter his head that King Eagle might come down there in the Old Orchard. So he was startled so that he felt as if he had almost jumped out of his skin when Scrapper the Kingbird suddenly screamed. "Run, Peter! Run!"

when Scrapper the Kingbird suddenly screamed, "Run, Peter! Run!" He had just sense enough to make a flying leap for the dear, safe old Stone Wall, and as he did so heard the whistle of air rushing between stiff feathers and he heard a scream of disappointment. King Eagle had shot down like a thunderbolt and had just missed Peter.

At the same time there was another scream. In fact, there was a succession of screams. From the safety of the old wall Peter peeped out. There was Scrapper the Kingbird actually attacking King Eagle and trying to drive him away, all the time screaming at him at the top of his voice. Somehow he managed to keep above King Eagle, darting down to strike him on the back or between the shoulders. He actually pulled one or two brown feathers out. Peter saw them floating down through the air.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, said that generally speaking, the government was trying to hold together only such works as to hold together only such works as were already in existence.

An item for $150,000, covering harhor repairs and improvements at Goderich, Ontario, including the Ontario vote, elicited an inquiry from W. W. Boys (Conservative, Simcoe South), why such extensive improvements were required at this particular lake port. Mr. Boys pointed out that he had absolutely no desire to reflect on Goderich. There were larger lake ports, however, on which very little money was being spent, while there appeared to be an abundance of money to spend on smaller ones.

Dr. King pointed out that there was great activity at this port, especially in the grain trade. The improvements would be of vast advantage to the shippers, and also not only to Goderich, but to the whole dominion of Canada. He considered the proposed improvements absolutely especial.

These young men, who have completed their theological training and probationary work, related the experience which led to their decision to enter the ministry Following the reception address by Rev. (Capt.) J.
W. Magwood, of Central church, Stratford, the charge to the young men was delivered by the president of the conference, Rev. A. E. M.
Thomson.

Fear Nothing.

Rev. Mr. Magwood said that he coveted the youth of the candidates. He warned them that in their ministerial life they need not expect applause. He outlined some of the characteristics a modern pastor should possess. Above all, he advised them to be original and unafraid of heresy trials, stating that intellectual emancipation had been won for them. "If people go to sleep during your sermons, it is a tribute to your orthodoxy but not to your personality or vital energy." energy."

A year ago the Conservative group in the House hoped to make a case against the solicitor-general in con-nection with the Home Bank at the time the abortive effort was under-taken against the Hon. J. A. Murut investigation showed that Mr. McMurray's position was in-vulnerable. There was nothing prejudicial to his retention of cabinet office until the government adopted the policy of compensating the depositors of the Home Bank. In view of the imminent introduction of legislation to that effect, Mr. Mc-Murray has quite properly quitted the cabinet.

Under the present regime, office of the solicitor-general office of the solicitor-general has lost something of its authority. Its functions have been absorbed in some part by the department of justice. Mr. McMurray, who is an opponent of hanging and a prison reformer on principle, offended Conservative sections of the community by the somewhat liberal manner in which he relieved prisoners from the prescribed penalties of their crimes. In consequence, the minister of justice took over the authority of parole.

HOUSING COMMISSION LACKS MEETING QUORUM

A meeting of the housing commis sion, which was to have been held last night, was postponed, there be-ing no quorum. Harry Wray, the chairman, and R. H. Hessel were the only members to put in an appearance. No arrangement has been made so far for the next meeting. The regular meeting would have come on Monday, May 24, which is a holiday.

dollar rain fell in Thunder Bay district this morning, putting an end to forest fires, which had already done considerable damage, and would have done a great deal more had they not been stopped, and also soaking the ground for the farmers who have put in their seed. Local reports are that the rain covered the whole area from Jackfish west. It was accompanied by a moderate amount of thunder and lightning, but did no damage. The forestry department had a call The forestry department had a call from Whitefish for 40 men, who were

If care is taken in selecting an auto it is also the most economical. A car such as you will find advertised over in the classified "Automobiles" columns is the solution to the problem of economy in ownership. Read these columns every day until the car you want appears, or hurry things along by putting in an ad of your own.

VICTORIA DAY SPECIALS IN UNUSED TRANSPORTATION-

In the days of good Queen Victoria people used to think they covered a lot of territory travelling a few hours with horse-drawn vehicles. How they would have appreciated the opportunity that is yours to go as far in an hour as they did in a day. This opportunity can now be enjoyed by everyone. Some of the best values in automobiles are used cars. Here are the "lucky thirteen":

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, May 22.—The board of control today, in private session, decided to recommend to the city council that the resignation of City Treasurer W. H. Davis be accepted on July 15, and that Cecil Stewart, recently demoted from cashier in the tax department, be asked to resign on July 1. This is the board's answer to repeated demands for reorganizaion at the city hall, following the judicial investigation by Judge Gauld after Harold Forbes, a cashier, ab-sconded with $50,000 of city funds. Mr. Davis' resignation has been in the hands of the controllers since the investigation.

555 Dundas St., the church of constant revival? One hundred and sixty-three have confessed Christ and were immersed in water in eight months. Miracles of healing, equal to those recorded in the Bible, occur. Prayer has never ceased night or day in this Assembly for over eight months. No concerts, socials, bazaars or rummage sales to raise money are ever held. Eighty per cent of the people attend prayer meeting three times a week. What is the secret? The whole Gospel is preached. People receive Bible experiences and are filled with the Holy Spirit as on the day of Pentecost.

GARTSHORE AGAIN LEADS CHILD WELFARE SOCIETY

Reports at Annual Meeting Show Successful Year For Association.

FINANCES ARE FIRM

Col. William Gartshore was reurned as president of the London Child Welfare association at the annual meeting held last night in the Y M. C. A. This association has just completed a most successful year, weathering the $431 deficit of February last following a timely contribution of $500 from the nicipal chapter, I. O. D. E.

Lionel Eliot, in presenting the reasurer's report, pointed out that the organization was temporarily on a firm financial basis. The first installment of the United Welfare fund has come in, which, together with the generous grant from the city council, would carry the organization safely over the coming months The members expressed their appreciation of the I. O. D. E. scheme to support an I. O. D. E. child welfare nurse to take care of children from two to five years of age, now not included in child welfare follow-up work. This would open up the field still further in the city. Last year the total expenditure of the association was $6,484.14 and the total excellents the Last of the association was $6,484.14 and the total receipts, excluding the I. O. D. E. $500° donation, $6,053.14, leaving a here in London, he said.

The report of the acting supervising nurse, Mrs. James Stapleton. showed a marked decrease in infant mortality rate within the last few years, owing to the work of the association. It had been reduced from 132.4 per thousand previous to 1921, to 55.9 last year. It was pointed out, however that the still births were inhowever, that the still births were in creasing yearly, from 53 previous t 1921, to 93 last year.

It was these still births and infant deaths immediately following birth, that the health organizations of the city must now tackle. The only solu tion seemed to be education mothers to demand pre-natal and the teaching of mothercraft to young girls at school. The Child Welfare association has just completed an investigation into the still births in London, and placed the results before the physicians of the city, hoping to bring about an

Tells of New Zealand. The chief feature of the meeting was an address on child welfare work in New Zealand, given by Miss Mary Lambie of Christchurch, New Zealand, the country which has the lowest infant mortality rate in the world. Miss Lambie comes immediately from Toronto, having been sent to Canada by the New Zealand government to learn new health methods She has already recommended the introduction of the Victoria Order of Nurses into that country.

According to Miss Lambie, the WINS TWO MEDALS. Miss Bernice Wilcox of Mount Brydges has the distinction of winning medals for efficiency in vocal and instrumental music. The award was made in a contest conducted by the W. C. T. U. for pupils of the continuation school.

Plunkett society, under government supervision, has control of the child welfare work in New Zealand. Like other schemes for the general good other schemes for the general good of the people, it receives a government subsidy, which amounts to 50 per cent of its funds. The health program is dominion wide, not left to provinces or cities. It is in this fact, Miss Lambie believes, that the strength of the work there lies.

Not Confined to Cities. The work of the child welfare nurses, or Plunkett nurses as they are called, is not confined to the place of a nurse in the home for about a month after a birth, helping the mother and teaching her how to care for the child properly. She can be seen the child properly. #### Washington Convention Moves For Closer Bond With Canada

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, May 22.—A forward movement to bring more cordial relations and better understanding between the businessmen of Canada and the United States was made tonight, when the United States chamber of commerce, with 2,000 delegates present from all parts of the union, unanimously adopted resolutions presented by the Chicago Association of Commerce declaring: "That an inquiry be conducted by officials of the United States chamber as to the possibility of further improving the social and economic relations between the businessmen of Canada and the United States, to the end that each may enjoy the utmost advantage to be maintained to the best possible social and business contact between the citizens of the two countries.'

You've wished for a car very often, no doubt. And you've wished hard. because you realize that the granting of this one wish automatically satisfied so many more of your desires.

Owning a car adds to the pleasure of your family—it means convenience and dispatch in business. Why not own one? The "price difficulty" need not stand in your way.

You can buy a good USED CAR from a reliable dealer at a very modest figure through The Advertiser Want=Ads, where most of London's best dealers advertise their highest USED CAR values every day.

TO EXPECTANT

Letter From Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. Inever had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable; Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. Fam a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. (She is as good as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it."—Mrs. ANNIE E. AYARS, Spring Valley, Sask.

The final figures were 11—7, naturals, and naturally in favor of the Tecs since they kept tapping at the offernoon and even keel by getting three runs themselves in the seventh and eighth.

The sudden onslaught upon Harris, who had allowed but five hits up to this time, may be accounted for by desperate and none too careful hitting. Harris apparently had as much stuff as ever, and was sitting on a sevenrun lead when the seventh started. A number of fans probably concluded to see the seventh finished and call it a lay. And then the violence started. Buck Boyle opened the fusilade with a see the seventh finished and call it a flay. And then the violence started. Buck Boyle opened the fusilade with a smash through third. Doubles by Matuzak and Carlin, Kerr's triple and singles by Bashang and Nitch all came in a hurray. Brower's catch of Germain's hard fly just as he swerved and Klein dived to avoid a collision, brought a respite to the Tecs, who were scurrying in all directions after base hits, and an end to the orgy.

The Bakermen got one of these four counters back in their half. Sandquist walked, took third on Kernan's single, and the pair of fleet-foots tore off a clean double steal.

The Aces were down 4—1 in the rur sheet and had the bases filled in the fifth with two gone. Nunamaker thought he had the game sewed up, but Stimpson tore the stitches out when he raced back to the score-board after the Ace leader's certain-booking triple and clutched it for the third out.

This narrow squeak spurred the Tecs to another hitting spree in their half of the same round. Stimpson drew a walk. Cross and Erower singled, Baker scoring. Nunamaker took Sandquist's attempted sacrifice for a play at third, but tossed into the dirt, and all were safe. Sunny James Kernan hereupon strode on the cheery scene and crammed a two-basger into center field, but was out by a couple of beaded eyelashes when he tried to cram three bases into his blow.

CHAPTER VII. My First Experience as a Referee This isn't my first attemtp at writing for the newspapers. Several times have I written special articles but this is the first time that I've but this is the first time that I ve undertaken a long series. But I guess a man who has the nerve to face 100,000 people, as I did when I refereed the Dempsey-Carpentier battle in Jersey City, ought not to feel squeamish about writing a fight series, especially when I'm out of sight of my crowd of readers.

I started refereeing about 16 years ago at Gus Troxler's Central Institute, Broad street, Newark, where the railroad station now stands. Gus, who is noe of boxing's real characters conducted a gymnasium on the third floor of the building. It took a three-flight climb to reach the gym, that in itself was enough to get a man in good condition, or prove to him that he was not.

At one time I had Tommy "Bulldog" Hackett under my wing. He was an Englishman and as tough as they make 'em. But he got stage-fright when he met Willie Mango and was K. O'd. Many of the best boxers now performing got their start at this place. I spent all my spare time around the Institute. I never missed a fight night. The bouts were supposed to be ony four-round exhibitions—but they weren't exhibitions tions—but they weren't exhibitions— they were real fights, such as you

I not only used to see the bouts at Troxler's, but every chance I'd get I'd steal over to New York and watch the best of the referees in the big city in action. Sentiment in baseball has been getting a test in Detroit this spring. Never a popular idol, Ty Cobb, the greatest baseball player of all time, has been the target for criticism by the fans, and the widespread demand for his removal from the managership has been expressed in smaller crowds than Navin field has seen in years.

President Navin of the Detroit baseball club realized that Cobb made the club what it is, and he has never been niggardly in admitting it either via the pay envelope nor in public expression. And it is believed that the crowd could keep on dwindling before Navin would make the move to dismiss Cobb. It would have to come from the Georgian first, and the latter has never been very quick to admit that he's wrong. Cobb's recent statement, which analyzes his ball club both as a team and individually, must strike the average fan as fair. He has very few high ranking players on the club, and says that he never made the prediction that the Tigers would win any pennants. That was done for him by over-enthusiastic scribes, and they weren't all Detroit scribes, either, but men whose opinions are entitled to the prefix "expert." The plight of the Detroit club just serves to emphasize once more how very complicated is baseball. A team lacks pitching one year and has everything else. This is patched up and some other part of the fleet-footed athletes in their assault on the record books. Between the beginning of January and the end of March, ninety world's indoor records were sent tumbling into the discard by the combined efforts of Nurmi, Ritola, Plant, Granville, Ray, Murchison, Scholtz, Coaffee, and several others.

In view of this brilliant performance, athletic officials and promoters are wondering how the public, grown accustomed to the clatter of falling records, will turn out for next winter's games when it is unlikely that European track stars will be on this side of the Atlantic. However, there is no real need to worry. Probably Nurmi's like will not be seen for many a year; but the lure of the game-of man-to-man competitionwill remain and new stars will appear to take the place in the limelight vacated by Nurmi and Frigerio and by some veteran athletes who will not likely brave the rigors of another winter's campaign. That is the reason sport never grows old or stale—the achievements of the stars of yesterday are matched or bettered by the stars of today, and the merry

McTigue's Offensive Ability Is Expected To Pull Him Through.

Special to The Advertiser ing sharps are all set to win a wad o defeat Paul Berlenbach in the Milk Fund show at the Yankee stadium in New York. the other way hasn't made much of a dent in those prevailing odds.

If there was ever a setting for a big killing in boxing here is one, provided McTigue wins, and despite the seeming line from the money market, it looks as if McTigue is just going to do that little thing, and the Gotham fans, as usual, will be compelled to give up thousands of dollars as the result of being on the wrong end.

There can be only two results to the bout—either that Berlenbach swings one of those wicked lefts of his and puts McTigue to sleep, or the latter will win on points. There are only two things that favor Berlenbach: one that the bout goes fifteen rounds, and the other that he has an advantage of some ten years in age. There is a question whether McTigue's legs will stand the fifteen-round route They were wabbling at the end of that distance against Mickey Walker, and he is older than he was then.

he was then.

McTigue has earned a reputation of being a "cheese champion," chiefly because he has refused to risk his title a questionable bout cause he has refused to risk his title since he won it in a questionable bout with Battling Siki on St. Patrick's Day. 1923, in Dublin. But one thing must not be overlooked—he is one of the cleverest defensive fighters in the ring today. The crafty Walker couldn't get through. The lumbering one-punch Berlenbach isn't going to lift McTigue very often and will be hit in return about six or seven to one. McTigue, however, hasn't any knock-out punch of his own, and Berlenbach is likely to survive the route.

Survive the route.

Berlenbach's only chance rests on his ability to get through with that left haymaker of his, and the chances will be brighter later in the bout than earlier as McTigle grows more tired and his long idleness and age begin to tell. The Irishman is certain to have the edge on points, but he cannot afford to be jolted often by Paul, otherwise it is doubtful if he will survive.

The challenger has an impressive knock-out record—on raper—but the only real fighter he ever met was Jack Delaney, and the latter gave Berlenbach a dose of his own medicine in four rounds. He never met a defensive boxer of McTigue's ability, and it is unlikely that he will get through often.

The odds of 7 to 5 on Berlenbach look mighty attractive. mighty attractive.

PACIFIC COAST ENTRANTS CHOSEN FOR TOURNEY

Associated Press Despatch.

San Francisco. Cal., May 22. — The field of five, led by Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, former British amateur champion, which will represent the Pacific coast in the United States national open golf championship in Worcester Mass. in June, was selected yesterday in the second day's play in the coast qualifying round. All are professionals. The list, with the scores in yesterday's round, follows:

Scores for the 36 holes:

Willie Hunter, 75, 72—147; Joe Novak, 74, 75—149; George Kerrigan, 77, 74—151; Charles Guest, 75, 76—151; Ed Gayer, 77- 76—153.

loe Stecher Is Favored To Down Zbyszko Memorial Day.

Special to The Advertiser. Chicago, May 22.—Ed (Strangler) Lewis to win over Wayne (Big) Munn at Michigan City, Ind., and Joe Stetcher to defeat Stanislaus Zbyszko at St. Louis in the Memorial Day wrestling oouts, is the way those on the "inside" of the wrestling circle have the coming mix-ups doped out. As this group seldom wrong on the mat outlook

t looks like a safe guide. Both bouts are being advertised as for the heavyweight championship of decided about-face by the sport writers in Chicago. Previous to the Zbyszko-Munn affair in Philadelphia, Zbyszko-Munn affair in Philadelphia, Munn was acclaimed the champion. When Zbyszko sprung his famous coup, defeated Munn, and then went over to the other camp, the referee of the Lewis-Munn bout in Kansas City was made to declare that Lewis had not forfeited his title to Munn, and now Lewis is credited with being the champion and Munn the challenger.

and now Lewis is credited with being the champion and Munn the challenger.

In the meantime, legal action is pending in Chicago to restrain the promoters of the Lewis-Munn bout in Michigan City from advertising it as a championship affair. A hearing on the injunction, brought by Zbyszko, is scheduled for Monday.

Lewis' eyes are understood to be troubling him—the same allment that has attacked a number of wrestlers. The Michigan City affair is scheduled to go two falls out of three. The prediction is made that Lewis will get two and Munn one, but that the second will be so close that it will offer a reasonable excuse for a return match, probably within Chicago itself.

It has been rumored for several weeks that Stecher was to become the standard-bearer for the other camp. If this is true, his bout with Zbyszko will establish it. The wise word is "string with Stecher."

Amateur Teams Away For Holiday

Orient Seconds Go To Lucan-Macs at St. Marys.

All of London's amateur teams will holiday out of town on Monday.

The seniors play the Stratford Bards on the banks of the Avon, and hope to have broken out into a winning streak by evening.

Orients and McCormicks, the two intermediate entries, play away. Orients invade Lucan, where the Irish Nine have been making valiant stands almost from the time Father Chadwick invented the game of baseball, and the biscuitmakers appear in St. Marys as a windup to a senior lacrosse fixture.

The London Orient juveniles will appear at Strathroy in a before-luncheon game. St. Thomas intermediates tangle with the Strathroy team in the afternoon, which gives the town a twin baseball bill.

Golfers Expect Big Day Monday

The holiday on Monday will be marked by contests at all three London golf clubs.

At the London Hunt, there will be driving, putting and approach contests. driving, putting and approach contests in the morning, and mixed foursomes in the afternoon. in the afternoon.

A similar program will be staged at the Highland club. A flag-raising ceremony will mark the afternoon program. At the Thames Valley course, driving. putting and approaching contests will be staged, starting at 9 o'clock, and at 2 in the afternoon, mixed foursomes will be started off.

World's Finest and Most Accurate Instruments Are Used in Ford Plant.

MILLIONTH OF INCH

Former Swedish Expert Continues Researches At Dearborn Laboratory.

It is an unfortunate fact that rifles were among the first pieces of mechanism to be manufactured in large quantities. More than 35 years ago, Carl E. Johansson was a foreman in the Swedish government arsenal at Eskilstuna, where it appears the mass production of rifles and other refined instruments of war gave employment to many.

Johansson, as foreman, had, it is presumed, to inspect the finished products, and see that they were perfectly accurate. He conceived the idea of combining solid master gauges, used to check the accuracy of measurements on the rifle parts, so that a greater number of dimensions e obtained from a small num-per of blocks.

The first set was produced in 1897. Today Johansson gauge blocks are recognized throughout the world as the most accurate precision instru-ments known, and have earned the proud title of "Standard of Stand-

From the modest position of foreman in a Swedish rifle factory, Carl E. Johansson has risen to one of the world's foremost authorities on pre-ision. Not only did he produce new standards of precision gauges, but invented a secret process of applying a perfectly smooth surface to blocks he manufactured, and the blocks themselves are made of a special alloy which is also a secret pro-

Until recently, Carl E. Johansson operated two factories producing his marvellous gauge blocks, one at Eskilstuna, Sweden, and the other at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He still runs both places, but the latter was bought by Henry Ford, who has an elaborate laboratory at Dearborn, Michigan U. S. A., where C. E. Johansson now conducts his scientific researches with the aid of world-tamed engineers and metallurgists who compose his staff.
The gauge blocks he produces are the most accurate measurement the world knows. They have no countered part in science or in industry. The inspection sets, which one wil find used in Canadian industrial in-stitutions every day, are guaranteed correct to .000,002 inch(two-millionths of an inch), when used in 68 degrees Fahrenheit. The statement of ac-curacy applies to each block.

Lower-priced sets are built quite a arefully, but the accuracy is not as fine, being correct to four-millionths of an inch, and a natty five-piece vest-pocket size for immediate reference, produced for the use of too

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Canadian Press Despatch

Winnipeg, May 22.—Prices held comparatively steady on a featureless wheat market here today, and the close was firm at 1½0 higher for May at $1.37. de up for July at $1.78%, and 1½0 advance for October at $1.44½. The buying power was very moderate but there was little pressure in evidence, and the light offerings the came out were quietly absorbed. With the exception of one early dip, when the July future fell to 174¾, fluctuations were limited, the high for the day on May being $1.87%, July $1.71 and October $1.45%.

There were reports of rain in many parts of the west, and with further showers forecasted for today, any apprehension that has existed as to crop conditions has been relieved for the limited Kingdom and the continent bought spring wheat with some Manitobas, with total saies Thursday estimated at 400,000 bushels. Germany was reported buying rye.

The cash wheat market showed more activity today and houses with United States connection reported increased overnight trade. Increased activity at Atlantic ports also was recorded. Cash oats were in excellent demand, but light offerings hampered trading. Other cash coarse grain market was dull, though the undertone continued firm, and prices held very steady.

MONTREAL MONTREAL.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, May 22.—The export trade in Canadian grain on the local market today was reported very quiet, owing to the fact that there were few firm bids in the market from foreign buyers that could be accepted. The demand for occan grain room was a little better, and especially so from United States exporters, and a moderate amount of business was transacted to most ports at steady rates.

sint of business was transacted to t ports at steady rates.

feature of the local cash grain ket was the inquiry from New York orters for No. 2 Canadian western s on spot at 16c per bushel over the mines May option, c.i.f. hare, but there was none offering, no sales made. The trade in carlots of s was quiet, but the tone was firm, prices were unchanged. 212—Canadian western, No. 2 72½c; 3, 65½c; extra No. 1 feed, 63c.

Financial Review

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 23.—Speculators for the advance brought about another sharp advance in prices this week the industrial and railroad advances being lifted to within a few points of the year's high. Bonds mounted to the highest levels in several years and sterling exchange approached within a fraction of one cent of parity, to the highest quotation since November, 1914. Increased public participation resufted in a broadening tendency in the stock market, new leaders in the motors, olis, steels, chemicals and specialties being brought forward, when a number of the public utilities, which initiated the recent upturn, chowed signs of yielding on profit-taking. Trading was in substantially increased volume, the daily full session averaging close to two million shares.

Trade news was largely constructive. It included the announcement of higher million shares.

Trade news was largely constructive. It included the announcement of higher gasoline and crude prices, reports of marked improvement in the steel trade, maintenance of freight traffic at high levels, maintenance of the demand for popular priced motor cars, and a stiffering price tendency in several commodities.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, May 22.—The receipts of butter today were 2,923 packages, as compared with 1,809 for the same day last week and 4,267 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the condition of the market, the demand from all directions being still of a very limited character, and, therefore, the volume of business was small and the undertone eased, but there was no change in prices announced.

Unlisted Section of Toronto Market Comes Into Prominence.

Conadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, May 22.—Further heavy buy. ng of Imperial Oil shares gave the unlisted oil group on the Toronto exchange a position of leadership, while the tracon stocks led by Brazilian were a good second. The attainment of another nev high mark by Consolidated Smelters at 86 was another bright feature of the market. Mackay common exceeded its previous mark by advancing to 123. The aration of a three per cent dividend by Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company accounted for that stock's advance of points to 48, ex-div.

Imperial Oil reached a high point at which is approximately the same level as that reached on the previous shortly after the latest sub division of the shares. Dealings in Imperial were slightly short of 3,000 chares, and the close at 33½ represents a gain of 1½. The other unlisted oil stocks showed a corresponding strength in a at smaller way.

nce and turned firmer at 161/2

The traction group was not altogether in the background. Further improvement in the milireis exchange rate to 10.45 was made an opportunity to advance Brazillan stock further.

The latest of a succession of high record marks was established today by Smelters when 86 was reached. Buying for American account has been largely responsible for the latest advance.

Sales for the day totalled 4,822 listed shares, 6.867 unlisted, and $1,000 government bonds.

Motor Group, However, Gives Remarkable Demonstration of Group Strength.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 22.—Realizing sales by professional traders imparted considerable irregularity to the price movement in today's stock market, although the main trend continued upward, with the motors giving another remarkable demonstration of group strength.

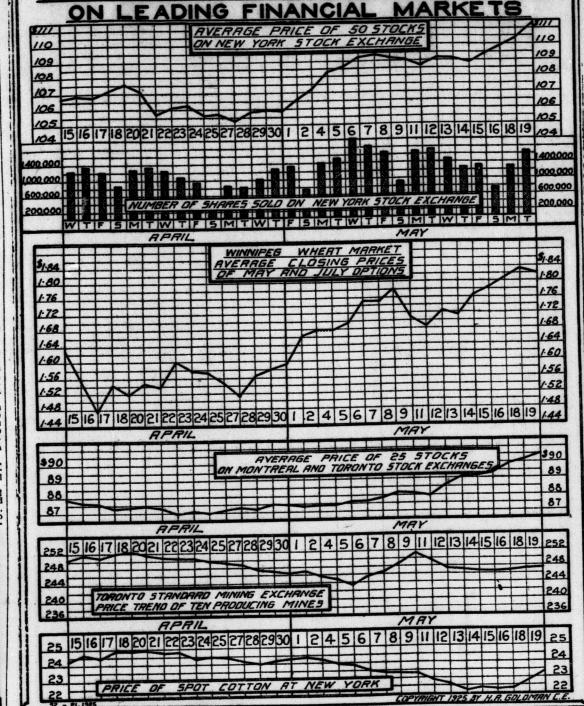

The continued ease of the credit situation as reflected in the establishment of the highest reserve ratio of the year by the New York reserve bank, an increase of 10c a barrel in Smackover crude prices, and higher lead and zinc quotations all had a bullish effect on sentiment.

Revival of activity in the rails was in anticipation of favorable April earnings statements. The northwestern lines are expected to make a particularly fine showing, which accounts for net gains of 1 to 2½ points being recorded by these issues.

The continued demand for the motor shares was ascribed to reports that spring sales were running at an unusually high rate. Nash Motors jumped 14 points to 425, and Mack Trucks moved up over 4 points.

Buying of the oils was of a selective character, California Petroleum advancing more than 3 points to a new high at 123, while Marland, Texas Company, Union Oil of California, Sinciair preferred and Atlantic Refining climbed a points of so.

QUICK ACTION SAVES TORONTO CHILD'S LIFE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, May 22.—Quick action on the part of physicians and the medical staff of the Hospital for Sick Children here undoubtedly saved the life of baby Margaret Kinsman, aged 3, who swallowed between 30 and 40 tablets containing strychnine. Rushed to the hospital, the child's stomach was cleaned and 30 of the pills recovered. It was estimated there was sufficient strychnine in the pellets found to kill an adult.

When removed the pills had not dissolved, and it is this fact that saved the baby's life. Margaret is now resting comfortably, and hopes are entertained for her recovery.

The Bone in the Beefsteak

HE bone in the beefsteak is useless, but you pay for it just the same. . . . You don't want the bone—but you have to take it, if you want the meat. . . . There's a bone of that sort in most automobile prices. You pay for "bone" when you buy a car on which the manufacturer has had to pay profits to parts-makers.

PAYING FOR MIDDLEMEN'S PROFITS IS PAYING FOR "BONE."

And most automobile prices include middlemen's profits.

That's because most automobile companies are dependent on middlemen or parts-makers.

Few companies are equipped to make their own bodies, engines and chassis parts. They have these parts made outside and assembled in their own factories. They pay profits on these parts to middlemen-and then add their own profits.

SO THE RETAIL PRICE OF MANY AN AUTOMOBILE INCLUDES DOUBLE AND TRIPLE PROFITS-"bone" for which the purchaser pays.

Very different is the situation with Studebaker.

For there is no "bone" in Studebaker prices. No extra profits for double overhead. No middlemen's profits.

Here's the reason: Studebaker manufactures more of the parts that go into its cars than any other large automobile manufacturer, except possibly Ford.

STUDEBAKER MAKES ALL ITS OWN BODIES. Do you know any other automobile manufacturer who can say as much?

STUDEBAKER MAKES ALL ITS OWN ENGINES. Many manufacturers buy the entire engine—an engine made for no car in particular - and, of course, include the engine-maker's profits with their own in the car's list price.

STUDEBAKER MAKES ITS OWN AXLES, TRANSMIS-SIONS AND CLUTCHES. How many others can say that?

STUDEBAKER MAKES ITS OWN GEARS AND BRAKES - makes its own springs, castings and stampings - does its own drop-forging and MACHINES CRANKSHAFTS ON ALL SURFACES.

The Studebaker policy is COMPLETE MANUFACTURE -with only one overhead-with only one manufacturing profit. That policy results in important advantages to the purchaser of a Studebaker. First, quality is controlled by Studebaker throughout manufac-

Second, the absence of middlemen's profits KEEPS DOWN MANUFACTURING EXPENSE.

Third, large volume further makes possible MANUFACTUR-ING SAVINGS WHICH STUDEBAKER SHARES WITH CUSTOMERS THROUGH LOWER PRICES.

Isn't it plain that Studebaker can thus afford to give GREATER DOLLAR-FOR-DOLLAR VALUE?

Isn't it equally clear why STUDEBAKER PRICES ARE SEVERAL HUNDRED DOLLARS LOWER than those of any other cars comparable in quality?

Remember these facts BEFORE you buy a car.

Think of the bone in the beefsteak that you're paying for, though you don't want it.

And don't forget this: THE "BONE" IN MOTOR CAR PRICES, middlemen's profits, often amounts to 25 per cent of list prices-MAKES YOUR AUTOMOBILE DOLLAR WORTH ONLY 75 CENTS.

Come in and see the Studebaker models in our showroom. Come in and see how you can save paying for the "bone."

You don't want "bone," you want "meat" — and IN STUDE-BAKER PRICES YOU PAY ONLY FOR "MEAT."

Come in today-in fairness to yourself, learn what Studebaker
