Cardinal Vaughan Dead.
London, June 22.—The Very Rev. Herbert Vaughan, Cardinal and Archbishop of Westminster, died Saturday. The Cardinal, who had been sinking for some weeks from heart disease and dropsy, died peacefully. His death was not expected so soon.

Friday Cardinal Vaughan was wheeled in a bath chair about the corridors of St. Joseph's College. On the previous day he appeared in the college chapel in full Cardinal's robes, and made a farewell address to his Bishops and priests.

This world belongs to the energetic. Little things console us, because little things affect us.

SOLDIERS OF THE GREAT KING

Rev. Dr. Battisby Addresses
the Members of the 24th Kent Regiment.

Splendid Service at St. Andrew's Church—Delightful Music by the Large and Well-Trained Choir.

Companies C and D came in for hearty complimentary comment from Lieut.-Col. Rankin, commanding officer of the 24th Regiment, yesterday. The men of these companies had turned out promptly and in full force to the regular Sunday church parade, while their comrades in companies A and B had been somewhat neglectful. The bands have always set an example to the Regiment for prompt and full attendance.

The morning was a delightful one and the young soldiers made a splendid appearance on the march-out. Arrived at St. Andrew's church, where they worshipped, an excellent and edifying service was enjoyed.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Battisby, gave an earnest and eloquent address. Appropriately he based his discourse upon the soldier's life and ably described the stern battles with evil in which it was necessary for the young Christian soldier to engage. As soldiers of the Great King they must not forget the lessons learned. They must be obedient to His Word, valorous in His service, loyal to His cause and exercise supreme confidence in His command. Dr. Battisby's address throughout was a most inspiring one.

The musical service was exceedingly fine and much enjoyed by the large congregation present. Under the directorship of Wm. E. Brackin, the clever young organist, the choir rendered two magnificent anthems with solos by Misses Gertrude Somerville and Ada Ross, while Miss Ross contributed an exquisite solo.

On returning to the armory Col. Rankin addressed the Regiment briefly, after which the soldiers were dismissed by Major Scholdfield.

The regular march-out will be held this evening.

MICHIGAN CAPITALISTS:

INTERESTED IN A LARGE MINING COMPANY.

Rainy Lake Pulp Company Gets Incorporation—A Host of Other New Smaller Industrial Concerns.

Toronto, June 22.—Another large mining company, with Michigan people interested, has been incorporated under the name of the Hermine Mining Company, authorized capital of $2,500,000, and head office at Sault Ste. Marie. The following are provisional directors:—Joseph Hermin, Rev. Harry Appleton, J. A. McPhail, L. Sibilskey, O. J. Larson of Calumet, Mich., and P. Primeau, J. S. Wilson and W. H. Greene of Marquette, Mich.

The Rainy Lake Pulp & Paper Company, whose concession was recently approved by the Legislature, is incorporated with $500,000 capital, head office, Toronto, and the following provisional directors:—Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Toronto; Wm. Blackwood, Winnipeg; W. A. Preston, Mine Centre, and W. J. Elliott, Toronto.

The Central Business College of Toronto, Limited, is incorporated to take over the Central Business College, conducted by W. H. Shaw. The capital authorized is $150,000, and the provisional directors are:—W. H. Shaw, A. McP. Kennedy, P. McIntosh and A. F. Sprout.

The King Edward Hotel Company are given authority to increase their capital from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and the Perrin Plough Company of Smith's Falls from $50,000 to $100,000.

The following other new companies are also incorporated:—Crosby, Limited, Point Edward, $250,000, manufacture of machinery; C. R. Morrison and P. W. Fulford, Port Huron, and Maurice Krakow, Sarnia, "provisional directors. Iron-Ox Remedy Company, Walkerville, $100,000, supplies; Canada Felting Company, St. Jacob's, $50,000; Algoma Builders' Supplies Company, Port Arthur, $10,000; Barrie Shoe Company, Barrie, $40,000; Canada Underskirt Company, Toronto, $40,000; Wankinson Hall Ladies' College Company, Toronto, $40,000; Municipal World, Limited, St. Thomas, $40,000; Westport Electric Light Company, Westport, $40,000; Hiawatha Navigation Company, Sault Ste. Marie, $25,000, with authority to purchase steamer A. J. Tynon from G. F. Marks; Saint Agnes School, Limited, Belleville, $20,000; Niagara Falls Driving Park Association, $25,000.

Everybody takes pleasure in returning small obligations, many going so far as to acknowledge moderate ones, but there is hardly any one who does not repay great obligations with ingratitude.

MAY NOT BUILD

Pere Marquette Likely to Get Into Buffalo Over
Q. T. R.

The report comes from New York that the Pere Marquette has practically given up the plan of building an extension through Canada from St. Thomas to Buffalo, and will instead make a truckage arrangement with either the Michigan Central or Grand Trunk for the carrying of its trains between those two cities.

The Wall Street Journal in discussing this report says such a change would be economical, and adds:

The 150 miles of territory between St. Thomas and Buffalo is already well served by the Michigan Central and Grand Trunk, and no local revenue can reasonably be expected for the Pere Marquette. The only question is the desirability of landing the Northern Michigan traffic of the road in Buffalo. As a factor in the Chicago-New York situation, the road can hardly hope to compete with the Michigan Central which is in the field with something near 100 miles shorter route between Chicago and Buffalo than any apparent combination the Pere Marquette is able to make.

As to which company the Pere Marquette will be able to make a truckage arrangement with, there is considerable speculation. Neither the Michigan Central or the Grand Trunk are especially anxious to make such an arrangement, but if the Pere Marquette is bound to get through to Buffalo, in regard to which there is no doubt, it is, of course, better for one of the existing lines to take the trains than have a competitor in the local field.

The chances at present seem to favor an arrangement with the Grand Trunk.

SWINDLED NESTORIANS.

A Charge Against Rev. Dr. Adams of Manitoba.

Winnipeg, June 22.—Three or four Nestorians from a small colony recently established near Battleford have returned here. They assert that Rev. D. Adams, who brought them to Canada, has fleeced them out of every cent they had in the world, caused them to work on his land under the supposition that it was their own and finally turned them out penniless to make their way to Winnipeg as best they might. Mr. Adams' side of the story is still to be heard.

JUDGE ARMOUR DYING.

Press Report From London on His Lordship's Condition.

London, June 22.—Justice Armour of the Canadian Supreme Court, one of the Alaskan Boundary Commissioners, is dying at the London residence of his son, owing to stomach trouble.

SACKED A CONVENT.

Religious Disturbances at St. Etienne, France.

St. Etienne, France, June 22.—The appearance of the Capuchins in the Police Court here for refusing to obey the order to disperse was the occasion of serious rioting, and sharp fighting occurred between the Catholics and Socialists, in which several persons were badly hurt. Fines were imposed on the Capuchins. A party of anti-clericals broke into the office, and seriously injured two sympathizers of the friars. During the evening the anti-clericals sacked the Capuchin convent on St. Barbe Hill, and broke the windows of the Christian Brothers' schools.

A great anti-clerical mob tried to seize the host from the hands of the priest as the procession was about to re-enter the cathedral. A free fight ensued, in which fifteen persons, mostly women, were injured. Less serious troubles occurred at Nantes and Angers.

Dr. Dewart's Funeral.

Toronto, June 22.—Representative men of every class in the community assembled on Saturday afternoon at the funeral of the late Rev. Dr. E. H. Dewart. After a simple service at the home, 515 Sherbourne street, the remains were conveyed to Sherbourne Street Church, where the funeral service was held, thence to the Necropolis. The service at the home was conducted by Rev. S. Cleaver, Rev. I. Tovell and Rev. Dr. Parker. At the church Rev. Dr. Briggs conducted the service, assisted by Rev. S. Cleaver and Rev. J. A. Rankin. Dr. Briggs spoke briefly, and was followed at greater length by Rev. Dr. Withrow, editor of the Church publications, and by Rev. Dr. Ross, a close friend of the deceased.

Major Pond's Death.

New York, June 22.—Major James B. Pond, the well-known manager of lecturers and singers, died at his home in Jersey City, aged 65 years, as the result of an operation on June 17, in which his right leg was amputated.

FATAL EXPLOSIONS.

MEN BLOWN TO PIECES AT CAMBRIDGE, O.

Others Killed in New Mexico Mine—Barnful of Dynamite Struck by Lightning.

Cambridge, O., June 22.—Lightning struck a barn stored with 3,000 pounds of dynamite at the new mines now being opened near Seneca, twelve miles from here, killing six men and injuring a score of others, besides ruining the mine shaft. The men killed and injured were carpenters and building shafts. A storm came up and the men took refuge in the barn, where the dynamite was stored. Suddenly a blinding flash came, and in an instant the barn was demolished and the men scattered over a radius of 100 feet.

Raton, N. M., June 22.—Five men were killed by an explosion which wrecked mine No. 3 of the Raton Coal & Coke Co. at Blossom, N. M. Cincinnati, June 22.—The building of the Central Manufacturing Co. at Court and Russell streets was wrecked by an explosion. Fred Page, the principal owner, was killed, and his partner, Joseph Kitchowski, was fatally injured.

A STUDENDOUS THEORY.

Scientists Have a New Idea Regarding Atoms.

New York, June 22.—The Sun has a cable despatch from London, which in part is as follows:—

The world's foremost searchers after the ultimate secrets of the universe have at length committed themselves to a stupendous theory which has for some time been foreshadowed, and has now apparently been substantiated by the study of the new substance called radium. Prof. Crookes the other day in Berlin, and Prof. Lodge and Curie this week in London, have confidently proclaimed that it is easy to define this great revolution of science in scarcely more than a sentence. It is almost as far beyond the power of the human mind as the idea of eternity or infinite space.

REGINA A CITY.

Big Celebration in the Northwest Capital.

Regina, N. W. T., June 22.—The Northwest Legislative Assembly prorogued on Friday afternoon. Mr. Thomas McKay made a fighting speech in the closing hours. He blamed the Northwest Government for not obtaining from the Federal Government what they asked for. They had failed to remove the objections taken by the Government at Ottawa.

In closing the Legislature the Lieutenant-Governor gave assent to the act incorporating Regina as a city. With the giving of the royal assent the wildest enthusiasm prevailed. Flags were everywhere manifest, and many buildings were decorated with bunting. Locomotive and traction engine whistles, bells, horns and hundreds of voices greeted the royal assent. A half-holiday had been proclaimed by the Mayor and was observed by everyone. In the evening there were speeches and a torchlight procession. There was a crowd present such as has never been seen in Regina, and as it was made up almost entirely of citizens of Regina it proved how great an increase has taken place in the population of the Territorial capital within the past fourteen months.

The greatest day in the history of Regina was ended by a smoking concert in the evening, tendered to members of the Legislative Assembly, which was attended by hundreds of citizens, including all the leading business and professional men. Addresses were delivered by Premier Haultain and members of the Assembly.

In every profession every individual affects to appear what he would willingly be esteemed, so that we may say the world is composed of nothing but appearances.

ORUETY TO PUPILS

Paris, June 20.—The sensational trial at Tours of three directresses of the refuge of Notre Dame de la Charite, charged with cruelty towards female pupils entrusted to their care, reveals extraordinary details, which are being made capital of by the anti-clerical press in their campaign for the separation of Church and State. The cross-examination of 60 witnesses established the fact that among the punishments indicated was the cutting off of the hair of such girls as possessed luxuriant locks, and the hairdressers of Tours and Paris testified that they purchased large quantities of human hair from the convent at regular market price. Another punishment was "the cross of the tongue," which consisted in girls being compelled to draw the sign of the cross on the floor of the chapel with their tongues. In extreme cases the form of punishment in use was the smearing of girls' faces with filth. A witness, Mlle. Lea Boulay, testified that on the day of her first communion she was forced by the tyrannical sisters to walk barefooted over the sharp stones, with a crown of thorns on her head, and was obliged to kiss the feet of all the other sisters and the servants. Many of the forms of castigation were suggestive of the middle ages.

THE GAMEY DEBATE.

As the debate on the report of the Royal Commission proceeds the more plainly and painfully does it become evident that as a deliverance upon the case that report is absolutely valueless. Beyond question the commissioners have in their resume of the investigation misquoted and misrepresented the evidence on several important points. Some of these, the Opposition leader indicated in his trenchant criticism of the report at the opening of the debate on Wednesday. Still further the discrepancies were pointed out by Mr. Lucas, in his calm and closely reasoned speech on Thursday. It is surely not unreasonable to contend that a document so erratic in its quotations of the evidence is totally valueless as far as its conclusions are concerned.

Take, for example, the Stratton alibi. As Mr. Lucas says, an alibi is always viewed with some suspicion in criminal cases. But the judges attach par value to the contention of the defence that Mr. Stratton was not at the Parliament buildings on Sept. 11th, at the hour when Gamey swears he received the money. They do more. They misconstrue the evidence to reach the conclusion. From page 24 of the report we quote:

"On the eleventh of September Mr. Boland was with the Provincial Secretary from about 10 a. m. and walked down with him at 11 and accounts for him until 1 p. m."

Turning to the evidence we find that Mr. Boland says he left Mr. Stratton at the Trusts and Guarantee Co.'s office at 11 o'clock and went to his own office. Again we quote from the commissioners on the same question:

"Mr. Buckingham proves that he saw Mr. Boland and the Provincial Secretary together at the Trust Company's office on the 11th September, about 11 a. m., with Mr. Boland, and he left them there."

Mr. Buckingham, it will be remembered, gives no warrant for such a conclusion. The very opposite. In his evidence he says he went to the office of the Trusts and Guarantee Co. at 10.45, waited around for about fifteen minutes, and as he went into the manager's office, Mr. Stratton and Mr. Boland walked out. Whither went they Mr. Buckingham could not say, but he did make it clear that by whatever door they left the office they could reach the street. How, then, can the commissioners truthfully declare that Mr. Buckingham "left them there." The evidence, on the contrary, is that they left Mr. Buckingham there.

Archie Campbell, M. P., has every reason to expect a bouquet of cabbage blooms from the market gardeners of York, but he hopes that the blooms are not yet sufficiently "headed up" to do much injury.—Ottawa Citizen.

Lawyer (to Globe reporter)—"And what conversation, witness, did you have with Mr. Stratton regarding the Gamey interview?"

Reporter—"We talked about the Carnegie library grant."

Lawyer—"You misunderstand my question witness. What I want to know is what words passed between you and Mr. Stratton relative to the interview granted by Mr. Gamey."

Witness—"We talked about the Niagara Power Company question."

And it was because he was afraid of some such thing as the above happening in court that Stratton asked Hammond if he couldn't forget some of these things.

You believe that, don't you?"

BLENHEIM

June 22.—Two beautiful solos were well rendered in the Presbyterian church last night by Mrs. Brooks, the famous contralto singer of New York.

The annual union picnic held at Provincial Park, Friday, June 19th, was a great success, although the crowd was not as large as those of other years. Hundreds of people drove to the "Point" through the rain, which fell during the morning.

After dinner it cleared up for an hour or two and then football and baseball games were played between teams from Palmyra and Morpeth, and excursions were run out into the Eau by W. R. Fellows, Jr., who brought over his gasoline launch and sailboat from Erieau for this purpose. The crowd was considerably swelled by the large number who came in the afternoon to play for the dancing in the evening. The Palmyra band furnished the music during the day and for the dance in the evening.

The lacrosse match played here on Friday between the Blenheim and Chatham intermediates, and which resulted in a victory for Blenheim, was very interesting. The ball stayed in the vicinity of the Chatham goal most of the time. Blenheim did not score a goal until the third quarter of the game. The home team played well. Faust saved the Blenheim defence much work by his long throws. "Tete" Chrysler for Chatham, as goalkeeper for Chatham, was fine and kept back many hot shots.

Rev. R. J. Freeborn, Huron, Mich., passed through here to-day on his way to Invermay, where he will attend the wedding of his sister, Miss Annie Freeborn.

Mr. W. C. White, of Detroit, spent Sunday with his family here.

Miss McNaughton, of Chatham, is spending a few days with Mrs. John S. Laird.

Large crowds have been in town for the last three days attending the Latter Day Saints' Convention. Yesterday the opera house was crowded to the doors, when some of the most prominent elders addressed the people.

Mr. Leonard Jamieson left last week for Cannington, where he will visit his uncle, Mr. Foster.

Mrs. Gibb and family and the Misses Arnold leave next week for Erieau to spend the summer at "Bide-a-Wee," which they have rented from Miss Bounsaill.

ONCE MORE

THE LAU MELOMEO.

How Hawaiian Natives Go After the Flany Tribe.

"Lau melomeo" is the name of a decoy used by the native fishermen of Hawaii. It is made of the hardest wood to be found on the islands and is carved and rubbed till it assumes the shape of a club with a little knob at the smaller end, to which the line is tied.

The club is from one to three feet long. A village sorcerer performs certain rites over it over a sacred fire. After this is done the club is magic, and the fisherman must be extremely careful of it. If a woman should step over it or enter a canoe in which it lies, the club would lose all its power and would be useless ever afterward.

After the club has been charmed the fisherman mixes candlenut and coconut meat, bakes it and ties the mixture in a wrapper of coconut fiber.

At the fishing grounds the club is covered with the oily juice of the stuff and is then lowered carefully to the bottom. The scent of the baked meat attracts certain kinds of fish, which soon gather and begin to nibble at the club. As soon as enough fish are around the decoy a small bag shaped net is lowered very gently until its mouth is just over the club. The latter is then pulled up carefully and cunningly till it is within the bag. The fish are so eager for the stuff with which the club is covered that they follow it into the net without fear. As soon as all the fish are in a fisherman dives and closes the mouth of the net, whereupon the rest haul it up quickly.

WE MUST GROW OR DIE.

Constant Study Is Necessary to Keep Pace With the Times.

A passion for growth, a yearning for a larger life, is characteristic of all great souls. A man is measured by his power to grow, to become larger, broader, nobler. The intensity of his desire to reach out and up defines his capacity for development.

Any one, young or old, possessed by a passion for growth is constantly adding to his knowledge, always pushing his horizon a little further. Every day he gains additional wisdom, every night he is a little larger than he was in the morning. He keeps growing as long as he lives. Even in old age he is still stretching out for larger things, reaching up to greater heights.

We often find plants and trees that are not fully developed, but have reached the limit of their growth. They cannot be made to respond to the wooing of enriched soil or copious watering. The power for the extension of cell life seems to have departed.

There are many human plants of similar nature. Early in life they settle into grooves, from which nothing can displace them. They are dead to enterprise, to advancement along any line. New movements, new systems of business, larger conceptions of life and similar things in the living, moving present do not appeal to them. Immovably bound to the past, they can step only just so far this way, only so far that way. There is no further growth, no progress for them. They have reached their goal.

Employees often think that they are kept back designedly and that others less deserving are pushed ahead of them, when the real trouble is with themselves. They have ceased to grow. They continue to move in a circle. They have not kept pace with the trend of the times.

"Forward!" is the bugle call of the twentieth century. The young man or woman or the old man or woman who has ceased to grow is to be pitied. Life holds nothing more for either.

Character often is damaged by one's own want of dignity.

No Tramps Found.

Collingwood, June 19.—Considerable excitement has been aroused over the many reports that two tramps, one white and the other black, were encamped in a bush a short distance from the town in the township of Nottawasaga, but upon investigation by Chief Wilde and Policeman Best no definite information could be obtained from any person in the neighborhood to verify the report.

A Homely Axiom.

"Do not bite off a bigger piece than you can chew," is a homely axiom that it is safe to heed and which expresses in language more forcible perhaps than elegant a vital truth. But although we all know the misery of undertaking too much, of having more care upon us than we know how to manage, why is it that we, over and over again, place ourselves in this uncomfortable position? How easy it would be to gauge our powers and our purses at their right values and act accordingly if we only would—but it is forever the same old story.

We stupidly pile up burdens upon our shoulders that are absolutely senseless, but that after a time weigh as heavily as Shubad the Sailor's Old Man of the Sea. In nine cases out of ten people live beyond their strength and beyond their income and what a waste of vital power that means, what depression and carking care!

Mosquitoes and Sounds.

A doctor, writing from Port of Spain, Trinidad, to a medical journal, tells of his experiments with mosquitoes. He says that one of his childish amusements when playing with his companions in the early evening was to strike a note that would attract the insects. As he remembers, the most alluring sound was a continuous "oo," sung in a medium key, which was quickly changed to "ah" in a lower tone and dwelt on in the same way. The effect on the mosquitoes was magical. Their singing would quickly increase in volume, and they would immediately attack the faces of the children, who, strange to say, enjoyed the sport. But the mosquitoes did not enjoy it long, for their love of music afforded an excellent opportunity of killing them.

Character often is damaged by one's own want of dignity.

WHEN BOYS WERE MEN

By John Habberton,
Author of "Helen's Babes," "George Washington," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by John Habberton.

But a grander feast was enjoyed one cool evening after Phil had announced late in the afternoon that there would be pancakes for supper and asked that each man would take knife and fork as well as plate when he went for rations.
Hamilton had found some soda and cream of tartar in the village. He made the batter in a half barrel, and his griddles were an odd collection of frying pans, plowshares, flattened sides of camp kettles the bottoms of which had rusted or burned through, a stove lid and some tin plates. As we hurried to the cookhouse when the bugle blew supper call we saw all these things on a glowing mass of coals and the cook lifting large cakes from them with a wooden turner made from a barrel stave, while Phil himself, with a huge bit of fat pork on a stick in one hand and a great cup in the other, was greasing the pan and pouring more batter. As the cook placed a huge cake and a spoonful of sugar on each plate Hamilton said that if we would be patient and stand around as we ate each could get a fresh cake every two or three minutes.

"Ah!" "Um!" "My!" "Oh!" "Golly!"
"Gosh!" were some of the expressions that went up around that fire while the men began their supper, some using spoons instead of knives and forks.
Often heard, however, was, "This reminds me of home," or "Doesn't it remind you of home?" Had I ever before been asked to name our national dish I would have hesitated between pie and pork and beans, but since that great evening I have believed that a competitive contest the pancake would receive more votes than beans and pie combined, besides being president among eatables as "the tie that binds," a touch of nature and more of that sort of thing. As we ate these cakes everybody began to talk of home. Even big Fat Callahan became so absorbed in home reminis-cences that he forgot to curse the government for not giving us butter to eat on our cakes.

But nobody, no matter how full of home memories, stopped eating that he might talk. The first cake disappeared from the plates in a minute, and two or three men who apparently hadn't any homes to think of returned so frequently for more that we agreed to form a circle, each man to receive a cake and some sugar as he passed the cook's table. It was an odd spectacle, apparently, to men of other companies—that company of about 80 men marching slowly in a circle and eating as they walked. But we were not at all concerned about our appearance just then. We were having a private cake walk in which each and every man "took the cake." Our officers heard of it from their servants, and the captain came down to look on.

"Won't you try one, captain?" asked Hamilton, offering a clean plate and fork. The captain accepted, tasted, exclaimed "Gracious!" and said no
more until he had finished the cake.
Then he remarked as he stepped into a gap in the line:

"Just let me see how it feels to tramp around in a circle a little while."
He didn't lay aside his plate and fork either, but twice took his turn—and cake—like the commonest of his men, believing, evidently, that the pancake, like love, levels all ranks. When he departed, it was to bring the colonel over to see the fun and also to see a company which was well fed.

place in the circling line brought me
near enough to the two officers to hear the captain tell the colonel how admirably Phil managed the company commissariat. A minute or two later the couple passed through the line, and the captain astonished us by saying:

"Sergeant Hamilton, can you spare a sample cake for the colonel?"
Any other man in the company would have felt awkward at coming face to face with his colonel while holding a pan graser in one hand and a cake turner in the other, but Hamilton succeeded in throwing his implements in to one hand and in saluting; then, with another salute, he passed a plate to the colonel, and all the while he looked as manly and self possessed as if he were just entering one of Summertown's best parlors. I did wish my cousin May might see him just then. A mem-ent later I was glad for Brainerd's sake that she couldn't. The colonel went through the motions of tasting
the cake. It would have been undig-nified for him to eat all of it, though every man knew he was dying to. Then in his clearest dress parade voice he said:

"Sergeant Hamilton, I will make you Lieutenant, as soon as a vacancy occurs. A man who knows how to feed soldiers well has in him the stuff of which good officers are made."

And all this merely because of a supper of pancakes!

Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetite and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.
It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

"It is with gratitude we acknowledge what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for grandmother's good, in fact it has cured her," writes Miss Carrie Ranker, of Perryburg, Ohio. "She had relief until Dr. Pierce advised her what to do.
She has taken only three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and is entirely well. She suffered with pain in kidneys, bladder and liver for ten years, and her limbs were swelled with dropsy so she could hardly walk. My grandmother's name is Mrs. Caroline Hennen, her age is 71. I will gladly answer all letters of inquiry."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr.
R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

Hamilton again saluted, but with the air of a man to whom lieutenantcies were offered daily. The remainder of

"Won't you try one, captain?"

the company were so profoundly impressed that no one but the cook, who hoped to be Hamilton's successor as commissary sergeant, had the sense to propose three cheers for the colonel.
But the prospective lieutenant did not leave his pans. It took an hour of time to fry and deal out that half barrel of batter. Besides, Phil was teaching the cook. Finally the supply was exhausted. Hamilton threw his grease into the fire, turned the tub upside down and sat upon it to rest.

Suddenly one man exclaimed:
"Well, by thunder! The cakes were so good they were forgotten all about our coffee!"
"Thank! That's a bigger compliment than the colonel's," said Hamilton, raising his hat. He was right too.
The coffee cups were filled and emptied, and we went slowly back to the quarters in little groups instead of singly and in haste, as was usual in cool weather. There were not as much scuffling, swearing and horseplay as we generally had between supper and tattoo. The quarters were quiet—so quiet that we were almost startled when Mick McTwydy's grating voice and thick brogue were heard in an attempt to sing. The words were merely "Thra-lah-lah," but the music, in spite of some eccentric sharps and flats, was finally recognized as that of "Home, Sweet Home." Some one hummed the tune, another fellow helped Mick along with the air, others dropped in, singly or two or three together, on various notes and bars, and when the last note was touched it seemed as though every voice was all of it. Then Brainerd started us all off again, with all the words and notes distinctly enunciated.

The effect was not what I would have expected. Everybody looked serious. Some men fixed their eyes on the ground; others looked at the shingles overhead as if trying to pierce them and see the stars; more than one fellow drew his hat over his eyes, and a married man sitting on a bottom bunk suddenly turned and buried his face in the pillow. As for me, though my gaze was fixed on the little black stove in the center of the room, I saw our house at Summertown, my father and mother, the little Ned and Cousin May,
the dog Rover, the horses, cows, pigs
and chickens, my room and everything on its walls. I felt my face twitching,
I hastily began looking about the room
again, but I was a second too late—I couldn't see anything distinctly.
And all this merely because of a sup-
per of pancakes!

To Be Continued.

When a man reaches 50 he is lucky
if he does not find two new griefs,
his son-in-law and his kidneys.

TRIBES OF BOMBAY.

Totemism and Marriage Customs—Practices of the Ahirs—Valuable Results
Likely to Accrue From Monographs.

The first of a series of monographs dealing with the ethnographical survey of Bombay has been issued. The survey is being carried out under the direction of Mr. R. E. Enthoven, the Superintendent of the provincial census, and, says The Bombay Gazette,
it is proposed to issue monographs
giving as full an account as possible of the most important or most interesting tribes in the Presidency. To make the work of the survey as complete and as accurate as may be, Mr.
Enthoven invites the assistance of all who may be able to supply information regarding the various castes into which the population is split up.
The educated numbers of castes will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity to submit materials concerning the origin and customs of their communities. They can also assist, as Mr. Enthoven asks them to, by useful criticism of the various monographs as they are published, for it is intended to finally republish
the whole of the series in a single volume. The survey will include an-thropometrical operations, and a beginning in this direction has been already made in making physical measurements of Brahmans, Marathas, Kunbis, Bhils, and Mahars.

Totemism, which is still found in certain tribes, and the survival of particular marriage customs among the special matters in regard to which it is hoped that much new information will be elicited as a result of the present investigations.
The monograph which has just been published is an account of the Ahir tribe, the materials for which have been collected and compiled by Mr.
D. R. Bhandarkar from The Bombay Gazette and other sources. The Ahirs number 104,894, and are especially numerous in Khandesh, Nasik, Cutch, and Kathiawar, by far the largest numbers being found in the two last-named parts of the Presidency. The Ahirs of Cutch and Kathiawar, however, differ considerably from those of the Deccan districts, no doubt as the result of local influences. There have been various theories as to the origin of the tribe, but the conclusion now reached is that they were at first a non-Hindoo and a non-Aryan tribe of shepherds or herdsmen leading a nomadic life. They were subsequently incorporated into the Gola caste,
an experience that occurred to many other foreign or aboriginal pastoral tribes. It is considered probable that they entered India from Afghanistan and migrated from the Pan-jab eastward and southward. They appear to have held sway over Khandesh, Nasik, Kathiawar, Palan-pur, and Cutch, and the greater part of Goojerat was in their possession when the Kathis appeared there in the eighth century. In Khandesh the Ahirs form so great a proportion of the population that the Khandesh
dialect of Marathi is called Ahirani, and is spoken by half the people. In Cutch and Kathiawar they have also preserved their own dialect.

As to the customs of the tribe in the latter parts of the country, the widow of an Ahir marries her late husband's younger brother. In the Deccan the widow is generally married in the same way, or to her husband by her mother-in-law or aunt-in-law, though if she be an adult she can marry any man she likes. Totemistic sects exist among these people, showing their non-Aryan origin, while the theory of their foreign origin is strengthened by the fact that the people of one of their en-dogamous sections are called Romans. This is held to point to a foreign horde from Rome, identified by Sanskrit scholars with Alexandria and other places outside India where astronomy was studied. The monograph of the Ahirs is an admirable beginning of the series to be published, which will accrue from the survey now being carried out.—London Globe.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin.
Mr. Timothy Harrington, Lord Mayor of Dublin, who figured in the thickest of the melee in the historic Rotunda recently, is a stalwart County Cork man of fifty-two. He is serving his third term as Chief Magistrate of Dublin, an office he accepted on the strict understanding that he would take no part in any civil welcome to the King. He has been in Parliament for twenty years, and has played a leading role in the Land League and National League.
One of his master strokes as a Nationalist politician lay in the apportioning between the Parnellites and the anti-Parnellites of the Paris funds, which for long remained in the hands of French bankers. A graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, Mr. Harrington is a barrister by profession, and appeared as counsel for Mr. Parnell at the Parnell Commission in 1888-89. In the House of Commons he is noted for the boisterousness of the cheers which come from a capacious chest.

Had Distinguished Career.
Captain Robert Pitman, R.N., who has retired from the British Board of Trade after nearly fifty-four years of public service, joined the Royal Navy as a naval cadet in August, 1849, and had a distinguished career. When placed on the retired list, in 1874, he accepted the appointment under the Board of Trade
as chief superintendent of their mercantile marine offices in London, and superintendent at Gravesend. The suppression of "crimping" was Captain Pitman's special work. He combated the evil, and brought about by his untiring zeal the present healthy state of affairs not only in all
British ports, but also in Dunkirk,
Antwerp, Rotterdam and Hamburg.
He also initiated and carried out the scheme for the transmission of seamen's wages, which has brought about such good results. Since 1878, when Captain Pitman first started the scheme, nearly four and a half millions sterling of the wages of seamen have been transmitted by him to their homes.

THE OLD FOGY DOCTOR

FAMILY Doctors are all right as general practitioners, but they are not specialists. The sexual organs comprise the most intricate and important system in the human body and require the most skillful treatment. You might as well expect a blacksmith to repair your watch, as a family physician to cure sexual complaints. We have made a specialty of these diseases for over 30 years, have invested tens of thousands of dollars and have every facility known to medical science to cure them. Every case is taken with a positive guarantee of NO CURE—NO PAY.

BLOOD POISON—Whether inherited or acquired, is positively cured forever. The virus is eliminated from the system so no danger of return. Hundreds of cases cured by us 25 years ago and no return; best evidence of a cure.

NERVOUS DEBILITY—and other complications, such as emissions, drains in the urine, varicocele, sexual weakness, etc., are cured by our New Method Treatment under a positive guarantee—NO CURE—NO PAY.

Fraser Shambell, of the Bank of Montreal staff, has returned from spending his vacation in Wallaceburg.

Remember the St. Andrew's Moonlight Excursion Tuesday evening, June 23rd. Refreshments served. Band in attendance.

James Wellman, agent for the Manson Campbell Co., has purchased the residence of Ed. Wing on Park St., for the sum of $1,800.

The entertainment at McKeough school has been postponed until some evening later in the week owing to the unfavorable weather.

E. Blake Arnold, A. T. Arnold and Willard Bennett made a run up the river yesterday afternoon in the electric vapor launch Winkie.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Keillor, of Welland, Ont., are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Russell, Mr. Keillor is an employee of the M. C. R. R.

Sunday was the 21st of June, the longest day in the year, but as all Sundays are long probably no one noticed any extra length to yesterday.

Miss Edith Northwood, daughter of J. M. Northwood, left to-day for Europe. After spending a couple of months touring the continent Miss Northwood will spend a year in Germany studying the language.

John Holmes, Chief of Police, received a notice from the City Treasurer to-day to call and pay his taxes on a dog, and notifying him that he will be liable to prosecution. The notice bears the signature of the chief.

Mrs. J. W. Webb, Richmond St., met with a nasty accident this morning. She had the misfortune to run a needle in the palm of her right hand. The piece of steel broke off and Dr. Fleming had quite a time to dig it out. The wound is very painful.

"Contracts have been let for two miles and a half of pavement this year," said Ald. Mounseer, chairman of the Board of Works, this morning. "And I think we can guarantee the people three miles of pavement this year and possibly more."

The Rev. T. T. George preached his farewell sermon yesterday. Both services were well attended, the congregation being desirous of showing their appreciation of the pastor they have always liked. Mr. George has been particularly successful and he has accomplished a great deal of good during his labors in this city. At the morning service he took as his subject, "I have set before thee a door, open, that no man can shut," and preached a very able sermon.

Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Bradley, of Windsor, are spending a few days with friends here.

SPORTS POSTPONED

The sports in connection with the McKeough school picnic to-night have been postponed owing to the inclement weather. Supper will be served, however, and the other proceedings take place as announced.

NOVEL FIND

P. C. Dezelia seems to be partial to the colors red and yellow these days and, if that excellent officer could only go abroad and visit Monte Carlo, it is to be feared that he would be inclined to play a sou or two upon these colors. The big policeman was walking up the avenue behind a stylish society maiden. From the maiden's apparel a piece of yellow and red elastic dropped. P. C. Dezelia has the piece of wearing apparel which is commonly called a garter. He carries it in his pocket and, strange to say, he does not claim to be looking for the maiden to whom it belongs. In fact, he says that he is afraid lest by returning it he hurt her feelings.

LAID TO REST

At one o'clock this afternoon one of the oldest pioneers of Harwich was laid to rest in the person of Robert Johnston, of lot 20, concession 12, Harwich. Deceased was 88 years of age and leaves a grown-up family. Mr. Johnston has been a widower for some time past.

The funeral was largely attended, as deceased was well known throughout, not only the Township of Harwich but also the county. Four of the pallbearers were Jos. Lush, T. Tyhurst, James O'Keefe and J. Galbraith.

NEW PAVEMENT

The City Council met Saturday afternoon, received the City Clerk's report upon the petition against the Thames street pavement, passed by law adopting the engineer's report upon the said work and authorized the Board of Works to advertise for tenders for a brick pavement on Queen and Thames streets. The meeting was, perhaps, the shortest on record, and there were no discussions, everything being done like clockwork.

Mayor McKeough and all the aldermen were present except Ald. Taylor, who was in Windsor. City Clerk Merritt reported that the petition against the Thames street pavement was taken to put down the pavement on Thames Street was not sufficiently signed. The engineer's report upon this work was then adopted by by-law. The Board of Works were authorized to advertise for tenders for the brick pavements on Queen street and Thames street. The meeting then adjourned.

ATTENDED CHURCH

The Independent Order of Foresters, over 200 in number, attended the Victoria Ave. Methodist Church last evening, where Rev. T. T. George preached to them their annual sermon. The service was an excellent one and was keenly enjoyed by every member of the lodge present. The service was an excellent one and was keenly enjoyed by every member of the lodge present. The members marched to and from the church headed by the 24th Regiment Band, who played excellent music. The music by the choir was especially good, under the direction of Harry Horstead. Mr. Horstead sang a solo during the service.

After the return to the lodge room several members of the lodge spoke very highly of the excellent service, and votes of thanks were unanimously passed to the preacher and also to the choir.

CUNARD LINE WITHDRAWS.

Resigns Atlantic Conference Membership.

New York, June 22.—The Cunard Line has withdrawn from the passenger agreement of the steamship combination known as the North Atlantic Conference, which is made up of lines running ships between this port and ports of Great Britain and Ireland. Some of the lines in the conference, including the Cunard, Anchor and Allan-State, are not in the fleet of the International Marine Company, which is represented in the conference by the White Star, the Atlantic Transport, the Leyland and the International Navigation Company (American and Red Star Lines). The object of the Cunard line is to "be free to do as it pleases." This is interpreted to mean that it will try to get a larger share of the big passenger and freight business done by the International Mercantile Marine Company. The cause of the Cunard's withdrawal was the putting on of the combination of regular Friday ships of the White Star and extra Tuesday ships of the Leyland Line, running as White Star liners.

The withdrawal led to rumors concerning the combine, which resulted in the following announcement by J. P. Morgan & Co.: "Any statement that the International Marine Company is to be reorganized and its stock assessed is absolutely untrue."

BAD FIRE AT ARTHUR.

Tweed Farmer's Family Nearly Perish in Burning House.

Arthur, June 22.—A serious fire broke out about 10 o'clock Sunday morning in Scott's block, which was occupied by J. Skerit & Company's bank, Mitchell & Company's large general store, F. S. S. Mitchell and Wm. Peterkin's dwellings above, also C. Jerome's new photograph gallery, just fitted up. The building was entirely destroyed. Mitchell & Company had $7,000 insurance on stock, but they will be heavy losers, as there was over $5,000 worth of stock which was not removed. Wm. Peterkin, F. S. Mitchell and C. Jerome have no insurance. The contents of their establishments were mostly saved. J. Skerit's insurance on office furniture unknown; $2,400 insurance on building.

Tweed, June 22.—Mr. Ben Fisher, a farmer, living about three miles from this place, had his house burned Saturday. He arose early to milk, leaving his children in bed. When he discovered the fire he ran to the house just in time to save his children. Mr. Fisher's wife died very suddenly about two weeks ago. His building was insured; amount not known.

MINISTER RECALLED.

Britain Breaks Relations With Servia.

Belgrade, June 22.—Great Britain has practically broken off diplomatic relations with Servia. The British Minister, Sir G. F. Bonham, leaves here Monday for England. The Consul of Great Britain, W. G. Thesiger, will take charge of British interests.

The Hague, June 22.—The Dutch representative at Belgrade has been instructed to advise the late King and Queen for a long time. He said it had been arranged twice to shoot the King and Queen while they were in church.

Washington, June 22.—The United States Government has adopted an attitude similar to that of Great Britain towards the Serbian dynasty. Therefore Minister Jackson will not present his credentials to the Government of King Peter at present.

BEES SWARM.

A very big swarm of yellow bees made its appearance around the fire hall yesterday and caused considerable excitement for some time. Foreman Coyle, M. Sides and Joe Sides succeeded in having them in a big chimney after about an hour and a half's work. A cap was put over the chimney and it seems as if the bees intend to stay. Coyle will later remove them to his home and will in future supply the firemen with honey.

GAS WELL STRUCK

A splendid gas well was struck on the farm on Geo. Drury, in Raleigh, last week by the Sage company. This company was boring for oil when the gas was struck. There is a 250 pound pressure and the gas is burning up out of a 45-ft pipe. It has been burning since last Friday and gives no signs of diminishing. The pressure is too great to allow the well to be capped, as it would blow the casing out. Mr. Sage was in town to-day. He is moving his engine and will put down another well for oil.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Bulk and separate tenders will be received at the offices of the undersigned architects, up till 7 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, June 30th, 1903, for all the several works required in the erection of a frame dwelling house on King street west, Chatham.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Address all tenders to

JAMES L. WILSON & SON,

Architects, etc., Chatham, Ont.

WILLING TO MARRY

Pete Harris, the man with a girl who wanted to marry him, was arraigned this morning before Judge Houston in the Police Court and assessed $1 and costs, $5 in all. He paid. Harris is the young colored man remanded to jail on circus day for being drunk. The remand postponed Harris' wedding day, as he was to have been married the very morning that he was remanded to jail. His fiancée was in court this morning and she was still willing. "You bet I'm the young lady," she told the Chief. "and I'm going to marry Pete right away."

Pete put up the necessary $1 and costs, $5 in all, and the two arm in arm went off to seek the minister. Having proved that the true course of true love never did run smooth, they were happy once more.

PROSPEROUS YEAR

The reports presented at the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Standard Bank of Canada, was held in Toronto last week, must be gratifying to all the friends of that institution. The net earnings for the past year were $181,893.48, which, together with the balance of profit and loss account of $7,613.31, have been appropriated as follows:—Dividends at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, $110,000; added rest account, $75,000; carried forward at credit of profit and loss account, $14,506.78. During the year agencies were opened at Temple Bar, Toronto; Beaverton, Lucan, Orono, Parkhill and Wellington. The directors' decision to thus extend business has been more than justified by the returns sent in. In short, a good, healthy increase in all departments is particularly noticeable, and the directors and officers are to be congratulated at the favorable position the bank occupies.

WILLIAM GORDON

BOTH PUNISHED

Samuel Hitchcock, aged 83, and Thomas Green, aged 38, barber, got into an argument on the market Saturday.

The co-incidence in regard to their ages had nothing to do with their differences, however. Saturday was rather damp and Mr. Hitchcock and some others sought shelter on the steps leading up into the market building.

Green has a barber shop on the first floor and he complained that the men sitting on the steps were shutting out his trade.

All the men retired at the request of Green except Hitchcock, so the man of 38 forcibly ejected the man of 83 years. Mr. Hitchcock became angry and called Green things. The result was that two cases were tried at the police court this morning. Green being charged with assault and Hitchcock with using insulting language.

Judge Houston found both guilty and fined them each a dollar and costs, $6.38 in all, and each paid up.

Mr. Hitchcock told the Chief that he was born near Kingston and "didn't patronize any church."

DR. LORENZ'S VISIT.

Demonstrations at the Montreal Hospitals Begin To-day.

Montreal, June 22.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the distinguished Austrian surgeon, will demonstrate his famous treatment for the cure of congenital hip disease at the General Hospital here this morning and at the Royal Victoria Hospital in the afternoon.

Yesterday he witnessed the lacrosse match between Montreal and Toronto, and in the evening left to spend Sunday at Quebec.

He intends leaving for New York on Wednesday. Dr. Lorenz is 55 years old. A long grey beard and hair give him a patriarchal appearance.

He is six feet tall, broad-shouldered, with pronounced Teutonic characteristics. His face has a clear and ruddy tint, the eye is bright and penetrating, and a pleasant smile illuminates in conversation features of a rather severe cast.

He is unpretentious, and wears here a dark grey business suit.

SPEECH MAKING.

English Statesmen Largely Write Theirs and Commit to Memory—Ours Are Plotted But Not Written.

Lord Rosebery is not known to fame as a very methodical man, and so it was with no great amazement that the English people heard the latest tale about him. It is, that, after preparing a speech that was to electrify the country, the former Premier departed for Plymouth, where the speaking was to take place, without his notes. Consequently he had to make an extemporaneous address, and very ordinary stuff it was. It is evident that Lord Rosebery is one of those gentlemen who require "studied impromptu." Disraeli, they say, used to con over his speeches until he had virtually memorized them. His epigrams were not drawn forth by the spur of the occasion. Beaconsfield is reported to have confessed that he had the biting sentences ready for pretty nearly any occasion. And the facts about his system of keeping facts smart sayings on tap, or to take up more than one side of a note-paper, or the back of an envelope. Of course, if authorities have to be quoted, the books are used. But the argument comes largely to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's mind as he progresses through his speech. Before he makes the plan is plotted, but there is never any attempt to go any farther than the skeleton of the address. If the Prime Minister had to trust to his memory for those periods which so often have electrified the land, he would go out of public life. He has said so himself. Sir Wilfrid has many good qualities, but he has not the patience which allows other and perhaps smaller men to get by note page after page of matter. Perhaps the most laborious preparer of speeches that Canadian politics ever knew was the late Mr. Justice Mills. When in the House of Commons, Mr. Mills was known as one of the most ardent of its members, and also as one of the most voluminous of its debaters. When Mr. Mills had to participate in a "full dress debate" as they call it in England, the desk in front of him was piled high with books, manuscript, pamphlet, and all kinds of paraphernalia. The then member for Bothwell was not the man to allow the most minute point to escape him, and he was a terror to the Hansard men with his unusual phrases and ready references. Sir John Macdonald was not in the habit of paying compliments to the Liberals, but he is said to have remarked that if Mr. Mills should decide that there were two "yes" in "the," he would be inclined to believe him off-hand. The member from Bothwell was always pretty accurate in his references.

On the Supreme Court bench sits Mr. Louis Davies, who is, by way of being, the direct antithesis of his brother judge. If ever there was a more slap-dash debater than Mr. Justice Davies was, he was not deceived at Ottawa, when the judge was a member of Parliament. When there was campaigning to be done, there was seldom to be found in Canada a more effective man on the stump than the Liberal leader from Prince Edward Island. Audiences which were cold and unresponsive to other men's efforts, awoke suddenly when Davies commenced to speak. His taking personality and his fine appearance made him one of the Liberals' strongest cards when it came down to a case of campaigning. But in the House of Commons it was different. There Sir Louis also made excellent speeches, but he did not always take the time necessary to verify his facts. His efforts were undeniably able, but they were hardly so full of reliable statements as those of Mr. Justice Mills. It was not understood that Sir Louis went in for misstatements, for he did not. But he was not always a systematic worker, that was all. Sir Richard Cartwright's speeches give evidence of careful preparation, although the Minister of Trade and Commerce has been known to make excellent impromptu efforts. The consideration that always strikes one on hearing Sir Richard's speeches is that the Minister has so much material to use that he must put his facts through a winnowing process before presenting them to the public. That is about the case, too. Sir Richard's tremendous intellect has not its disposal such a tremendous array of information that the difficulty with him must be, not what to say, but what to leave unsaid. And yet the old gentleman is not nearly so prolific as many men who have not one tithe of the information which he owns. Most of his speeches are very short. They are shorter than they used to be, for the gout has laid Sir Richard's left leg under tribute, and it is really painful for him to stand for any time.—Day by day, in Toronto News.

NEW PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Temperance Workers Are Asked to Agree.

Toronto, June 20.—A plan of campaign for the suppression of the liquor traffic was outlined at a meeting held yesterday of the Executive of the Ontario Alliance, held in the office of Mr. F. S. Spence. Mr. G. F. Marter was Chairman, and those present were Rev. Dr. Bates, Rev. Dr. Parker, Rev. F. H. DuVernet, Rev. Mr. Hamilton, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Bascom, and Messrs. Orr, Holland, McCarthy, Anger, Mills, Biggs, Fleming and Penke. It was agreed that in each constituency there should be a league of pledged voters engaging one with another to do their utmost to secure the effective legal suppression of the liquor traffic, as far as is within Provincial jurisdiction. To this end an agreement was drawn up for every constituency in the Province, which states that the signers will earnestly endeavor to secure the nomination of a candidate who can be relied upon to do all that he can to secure effective temperance legislation at the earliest opportunity, and who will hold himself free from party dictation. Another clause of the agreement is that all will work and vote only for a candidate who will comply with these requirements, if such a candidate is nominated and endorsed by the voters' league of such constituency. It is explained in the agreement that by effective temperance legislation is meant legislation abolishing the bar and treating system, and drinking in clubs, and imposing upon the liquor traffic such other restrictions as shall most effectively control its operation and remedy its evils. It is particularly pointed out that this agreement is to be binding upon those who sign it only when one hundred signatures to it have been secured in each constituency.

EARTHQUAKES IN WALES.

Strong Shocks at Bangor and Carnarvon.

London, June 20.—In Carnarvon, Wales, a heavy rain was accompanied by two strong-earth shocks. Houses rocked, but no damage was reported. The earth shocks were so severe at Bangor, North Wales, that the patients were carried out of the hospital, and the congregation left the cathedral. The race meeting which was to have occurred at Windsor tomorrow has been abandoned. Six inches of rain have fallen in London since June 8, while the thermometer fell to within three degrees of freezing during the night. The King was present at the Ascot races to-day, in spite of the heavy rain.

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

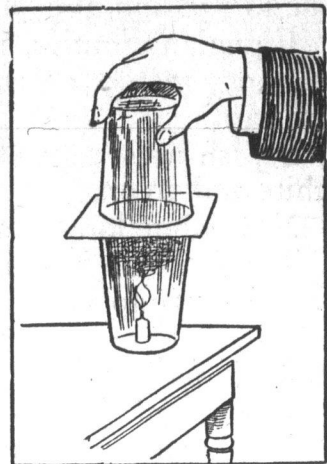

MYSTERIOUS TUMBLERS.

A Little Experiment For the Boys and Girls to Try.

Here is a pretty little experiment illustrating the principle of air pressure which may be tried by any boy or girl and which may be made quite entertaining at a gathering of little ones. It will interest even the older folks if any are present.

Take two tumblers of the same size. Be careful that they fit closely when one is placed on top of the other.

HOW TO FIX THE TUMBLERS.

Light a piece of wax candle and place it within the tumbler on the table. Place on top of it a piece of rather thick paper saturated with water. Then place upon it the other tumbler, as in the illustration. The tumblers will then be found to adhere closely. The candle will be extinguished, but while burning it has dilated the air contained in the lower tumbler, and the air has, therefore, become rarefied. The exterior pressure of the atmosphere will fix the tumblers as closely together as the classical Magdeburg hemispheres are united. It is possible to raise the uppermost tumbler by picking up the upper one. The paper may be scorched on the underside, but the success of the experiment is not thereby imperiled.

"Who Can He Be?"

The game "Who can he be?" is instructive and also helps to refresh the memory. One of the party selects a historical personage without naming him and relates an anecdote or anything that is interesting about him and names the country in which he lived. The player who guesses the name, having previously the privilege of asking one question, gives a description of another character, and so the game progresses. Here is an example:

"There was a celebrated Swiss, a famous archer, a champion of liberty and who was the first to strike a blow for freedom. He refused to bow to the Austrian governor's hat, that had been placed on a pole that all should do homage to it, and as a punishment for his disobedience he was ordered to shoot an arrow at an apple placed on his son's head or else the son should be put to immediate death before his sight. With horror at the fearful alternative he at first refused, begging that vengeance might fall on him only, but his son assured him that he did not fear the result and begged him to make the trial. He yielded to his persuasions, took aim, drew his bow and struck the apple without injuring his son. Who was he?"

"Who but William Tell?" says a player, who instantly proceeds with another description of a hero or heroine.

Washing the Dishes.

Our Polly goes a-fishing, be the weather what it may. Not less than twice and often thrice on every holiday. She always starts right after meals, and, singing merrily, she fishes and she fishes in her little soapy sea.

She'll catch the best pink china cups and play that they are trout. And when she drops her line again she'll draw spoon minnows out. The plates, of course, are flounders (so round and flat, you know). The kitchen knives are hungry sharks out watching for a foe.

Each saucepan is a polliwog, with handle for a tail. And—there she blows!—the frying pan, how very like a whale! There's nothing left; pour out the tea and put the fish away. All high and dry and waiting to be caught another day. —Hannah G. Fernald in Youth's Companion.

All That Was Left.

The scene was the garden of a suburban villa, and little blue-eyed, sunny-haired Dora was joyfully playing with her latest possession, a red toy balloon.

High in the air she threw it, shrieking with delight, and Charlie, the puppy, did his little best to shriek with delight also.

Up it went and down it came, and at last, after long waiting for an opportunity, Charlie pounced upon it—one bite, a little bang and Dora's balloon was no more.

"Mamma, mamma," she cried in wild distress, "do come here! Naughty Charlie has eaten my balloon and only left me the skin!"

Heat Conservation

A hot oven and a cool kitchen is what every housewife is looking for this summer. It is absolutely impossible with a coal range, and almost as impossible with the ordinary gas range. The makes a hot oven and a cool kitchen a practical certainty. The oven is lined with asbestos—this keeps the heat in and leaves the kitchen cool. It also heats the oven more quickly to a higher degree and with less gas than any other range. The illustration shows that immediately outside an oven hot enough to cook a roast it is comfortably cool.

We would like to show you this and many other improvements peculiar to the Oxford Gas Range. Won't you call at one of our agencies? We can prove to you that this range does away with kitchen drudgery. If you can't call, write for our leaflet—it will interest every housewife.

THE WALL GAVE WAY.

THIRTEEN MEN HURT AT A BARN-RAISING.

A Serious Accident on the Farm of Mr. John Weber in Wilmot Township—The Men Fell to the Stable Floor.

New Hamburg, June 22.—Shortly before 5 o'clock a very serious accident occurred on the farm of ex-Councillor John Weber in the township of Wilmot, situated about two miles east of this village, whereby about thirteen persons were more or less seriously hurt. Mr. Weber was building an addition to his large barn, and had invited forty or fifty of his friends to assist him to raise the frame. When placing one of the heavy timbers in position the cement wall, which had only been built a few days ago, and which had apparently not thoroughly set, gave way, and precipitated those who were handling the timber to the lower portion of the stable, with the result described. A messenger was hurriedly sent to New Hamburg to summon medical assistance. Dr. Walter was the first on the spot to administer to the wants of the suffering. Telephone messages were sent to Baden, Plattsville and New Dundee, summoning the medical men from those villages to the scene of disaster. As reports come in at 7:30 p.m. the accident seems to be more serious than at first anticipated. The whole community is in an excited state of mind and fear that the worst has not yet been reported. The following are the names of those seriously hurt—Messrs. Gingerich, chest crushed and eye pierced; Aaron Shantz and John Steiner, injured internally; Jacob Binkie, thumb cut off; Allan Schiedel, one arm completely severed below the elbow; Edward Kropf, shoulder crushed; Joseph Steinmann, ankle broken. Solomon and Noah Shantz are also reported to be seriously hurt, but the extent has not yet been ascertained.

HORRORS OF PEONAGE.

Alabama Negroes Whipped to Death. New York June 22.—The correspondent of The New York Herald who is investigating the peonage system in Alabama writes from Montgomery in part as follows:—

The decision by Judge Thomas G. Jones of the United States Circuit Court that the Alabama contract law of 1901 is unconstitutional is depended upon by the best citizens of the State to break up the infamous peonage system, which has grown into proportions of actual slavery, and under which hundreds of negroes are held in bondage to-day. Under instructions from Attorney General Knox, Warren S. Reese, United States District Attorney, has taken up the matter with vigor, and all the legal machinery of the Department of Justice can put into action will be employed to break up the peonage system and to punish, so far as possible, the men who have been holding negroes in involuntary servitude and inflicting upon men, women and children torture and suffering equal to the worst ever told of the old slavery days.

How far these men can be punished is, unfortunately, very uncertain. It goes without saying that they cannot be adequately punished in a State where no white man can be convicted of a crime upon the evidence of black men alone—and in peonage cases the witnesses are negroes. It is almost impossible to exaggerate the horrors of the peonage system which have been brought to light since the Federal Grand Jury has been investigating the matter. Murder of "slaves" has been common. Negroes have been whipped to death, clubbed to death, and more mercifully, shot to death. Scores and scores have been maimed for life. Women and children have been tortured by savage dogs and have suffered like the men. Case after case has been found by the Grand Jury in which affidavits and testimony under oath have left not a trace of doubt of the tortures inflicted upon their helpless victims by the brutal slave dealers.

CATTLE POISONING.

A Woman Charged With the Offence in Essex County.

Windsor, June 22.—What is believed to be the latest episode in a family feud extending back for years in Tecumseh township resulted in an information being laid before Magistrate Cheyne by James W. Hawkins against Eva St. Louis, a daughter of Joseph St. Louis, neighbor living on the Tecumseh road, six and a half miles from Windsor. The woman is charged with feeding Paris green to cattle belonging to Hawkins. The cattle showed signs of illness, and before the arrival of a veterinary surgeon suffered convulsions, although none of them died.

Later Hawkins and his family, consisting of his sons, two daughters and wife, were seized with cramps. Several families in Waterville also experienced a similar sickness. The constable and Hawkins, upon investigation, found quantities of salt mixed with Paris green spread along the roadside between the two farms.

LACROSSE

CHATHAM WAS INNOCENT.

When the Chatham Lacrosse Club were making their arrangements to play an exhibition game in Detroit they made application to President J. F. Lennox, of the C. L. A. Mr. Lennox gave the necessary permission, stipulating, however, that the Chatham team must not play against any professional team. The Western team following the footsteps of the University of Toronto Club, notified Detroit that Brusso, a professional prizefighter, must not play. The Chatham team went to Detroit on Thursday, and were beaten by a score of 16 to 3. Brusso played in the match under an assumed name, and his identity was not discovered until the game had been in progress some time. The Chatham team objected then, but without avail.

President Lennox said last night that no action would be taken against the Chatham team, as they had taken every precaution to protect themselves, and had not knowingly played against a professional. The action of the Detroit team, however, will likely put a damper on Canadian teams playing in Detroit in the future. Such conduct on the part of the City of the Straits team will hurt the game in that city.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

ARE OTHERS GUILTY?

An echo of last Thursday's lacrosse game, in which Detroit beat Chatham 16 to 3, was heard yesterday, when a letter was forwarded to the C. L. A. acquainting the officials with the fact that Chatham had two outside players of its team, thus violating the rules of the association, it is said. According to the Detroit players, this action is not taken for revenge, but for the Brusso episode, but to show the association there are other teams that come under the professional ban. The fact that Chatham was exonerated and Detroit professionalized for the last game hastened action on the part of the league to set the matter straight. Manager Brusso said yesterday: "Nearly all the teams in Canada are breaking the rules governing professionalism. Chatham played Lawler and Turner, two Wallaceburg players, here under assumed names, and only consented to finish Thursday's game after establishing my identity, when we informed them that they had two outside men on their team. One of the Chatham officials also offered two Detroit players, Bowman and Johnson, alluring inducements to play in a future game in Canada. Chatham is not the only club that has violated the rules, but several other cases can be cited. The Detroit club only wishes to get a fair deal in the matter."

The local club will practice every evening this week on the grounds, corner Commonwealth and Grand River avenues. The next game will be WORKING SHIRTS AND OVERALLS...

We make all the overalls and working shirts we sell, and they are well made. Every garment, no matter what the price, has double stitched seams, and these seams are guaranteed not to rip; in the event of their so doing we will replace the garment with a new one.

They are cut from the very best patterns procurable, not skimped in any way, plenty of room and length where needed, and strongly stayed and reinforced at the points where there is most strain or wear.

Here are some prices:—

Nerve Sufferers
Need Sympathy

And More Than That, the Nerve Cells Must be Restored and Revitalized by the Use of

Dr. Chase's
Nerve Food

Too many doctors have no sympathy with the suffering from disease of the nerves. They do not understand the nervous system, and when the victims of nervous exhaustion or prostration appeals to them he is told to "brace up," forget his trouble, and he will soon be all right.

Anyone who has had nervous prostration, been scarcely able to drag about, felt energy and vitality growing less, and been in constant dread of paralysis, or even insanity itself, knows how utterly useless and discouraging is such advice.

Nervous diseases cannot right themselves. Exhausted, shriveled nerve cells can never revitalize themselves without assistance from outside. If the blood is weak and watery, and fails to afford proper nourishment, restoratives must be used. Recovery is bound to be slow, but it is none the less certain, and there is no combination of ingredients which has proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This famous food is not a stimulant to arouse false hope, but a true restorative, reconstructing wasted cells and tissues, and instilling into the blood and nerves the essential principles of life and vigor.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon wins the confidence of all who are pale, thin, weak or exhausted, for by noting your increase in weight while using it you can prove that new, firm, flesh and tissue are being added to the body and realize that weakness and disease are giving way to strength and vigor. Fifty cents a box, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
