SOME DEPRESSION

Is Reported Among Local Factories--Work Only Five Days a Week

That things are industrially slack in Brantford is frequently heard on the street and from what information can be secured seems to be borne out by the facts. The American Radiator Company is working five days a week at eight hours, but this is only thought to be temporary.

CROWN PRESENTS ITS EVIDENCE IN THE BEEMER CASE AT WOODSTOCK

John Mason, Farm Hand, Says He Saw Poison Bottle.

Crown Puts in Its Strongest Evidence This Morning.

Mason Admits That He Was Twice Arrested For Theft--The Details.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Nov. 6.—Your correspondent learns this morning that important new evidence on behalf of Mrs. Beemer, charged with the murder of her husband, has been secured. A man has been summoned to swear that shortly before Beemer's death he had travelled with him from Toronto, and Beemer had remarked on his financial troubles, which were depressing him, and had said: "Life is not worth living now."

[Canadian Press Despatch] WOODSTOCK, Ont., Nov. 6.—That he had seen Mrs. Fred Beemer, now on trial on a charge of murdering her husband, Frederick Beemer, pour something white out of a bottle labelled poison into an egg cup while preparing medicine for her husband, who lay ill upon a couch nearby, was the statement made at this morning's session of the Beemer murder trial by John Mason, a young English farm hand, the Crown's chief witness.

"PLEASE GO WAY AND LET ME SLEEP" Said Old Man Who Was Rescued Out of Burning House.

[Canadian Press Despatch] WASHBURN, Wis., Nov. 5.—Roused from his sleep by firemen who battered down the door of his bedroom, while the house was filled with smoke, Thomas Hendrickson, a pioneer resident, last night remonstrated with them for disturbing his slumber.

A Sad Case

Refugee From Volturino Goes Insane in Ellis Island.

[Canadian Press Despatch] WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Martha Novick, an immigrant girl, escaped the terrors of the burning Volturino, only to fall ill and temporarily insane in the Ellis Island hospital, where she eluded her nurses and flung herself into New York Bay. The heroism of a nurse, Miss Anna Olsen, who plunged into the water after the insane woman and after a hard fight brought her safely to a dock where both were saved, was made the subject of an investigation by Surgeon General Blue, of the Public Health Service, with a recommendation that Miss Olsen's bravery be rewarded by a substantial increase in pay.

"SYMPATHY" CUT SOME FIGURE IN REVISION COURT YESTERDAY

Result of Appeal Cases Heard in Brantford--Around the City Hall With a Courier Reporter--7760 Voters in Brantford, With Fifth Ward Leading

Sympathy actuated the members of the Court of Revision yesterday in making a reduction on the assessment of one of the appellants, and members of the assessment department to-day are wondering if the title of Court of Revision, which yesterday was made up of Messrs. Lavary and Eddy, should not be changed to "Civic Sympathy Bureau."

There are just 7760 voters on the voters' lists, which have just come from the printer. Ward Five takes the cake for voting strength with a total of 1974. The figures by wards are: Ward One, 1405; Ward Two, 1517; Ward Three, 1321; Ward Four, 1543; Ward Five, 1974.

Mr. Bert Brown, owner of a house on Marguerite and Lyons avenue, appealed against an assessment of $550, inasmuch as Mr. Brown had secured $10 per month, and was now receiving $8.50, the Court of Revision upheld the assessment with the remark: "Pretty fair rental for that assessment."

Facing Trial For Husband's Death.

Mrs. Beemer, who is now on trial at Woodstock, charged with poisoning her husband. The babe in the picture, four months old, was born in the Woodstock hospital, to which place the mother was taken from the county jail.

"Thank God I didn't get it, they would think I poisoned him." Cross-examined, Mason admitted that he had served a couple of jail sentences in England for theft, but declared he was drunk when the thefts were committed. Mason said he came from Great Yarmouth, England, where his father is a police inspector.

Mr. W. T. McMullen, acting for the prisoner, laid stress on the fact that Mason had not mentioned anything about the poison bottle in the stove before the coroner's inquest following Beemer's death. Mason's explanation was that he was not sure at that time that Beemer had been poisoned, and did not like to mention the circumstances until the report of the analyst, who examined the stomach, had been received.

Counsel for the defence pointed out that in the preliminary hearing Mason had sworn that Mrs. Beemer put the poison bottle in the stove before she gave Beemer the medicine, and then had deliberately contradicted the statement and said the medicine was given, after which the bottle was put in the stove. He was asked to explain which was correct, and he declared that the latter was the true statement.

BRITISH GUNNERS HIT MARK EVERY TIME... A REMARKABLE TEST

[Canadian Press Despatch] NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: A remarkable test of naval gunnery, in which the battleship Empress of India, which at her completion in 1903 cost $4,500,000, was used as a target, took place yesterday in West Bay, near Portland, in the presence of Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, and other admiralty lords, with high officials of the navy and army.

It was freely stated last night that the results were very satisfactory, the Empress of India being knocked above the waterline, but not leaking. The gunners were ordered to keep their hits well above the waterline. The battleships did not return to Portland last night, and it is understood that the tests will be continued to-day, and will include ring torpedoes.

They are returning here for the winter, says Mr. Stander.

STATE MILITIA IS ORDERED OUT AT LAST

Indianapolis Strike Assumes Serious Proportion. Governor Explains That He Had To Prevent Loss of Life.

[Canadian Press Despatch] INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—The entire state militia of Indiana has been ordered out by Governor Ralston, on account of the street car strike here. The Governor also announced he would declare martial law. All of the troops are expected here this afternoon.

The governor's decision was reached after the conference yesterday with city officials, representatives of clubs and organizations had failed to any agreement on the peaceable means of settling the strike. The rioting in the streets yesterday when the street car company tried to run a car which was deserted by the strike-breakers after they had been stoned, gave the governor additional reason for his action.

After the large committee of citizens yesterday afternoon unanimously urged Governor Ralston to call out the militia, he and the officers of the National Guard set about at once to bring the troops here as quickly as possible.

The governor said this morning that the four companies of infantry and the battery here and in Indianapolis would not be called out until a sufficient number of other companies from over the state had arrived, so that there would be no question about controlling the situation after troops were once on the streets.

One Year To Rejoice

"It is with much gratification," says Lord Grey, "that I am able to announce that these two parallel lines of patriotic activity have now been joined together and that their united efforts will make of the year 1914 one continuous round of international and family rejoicing."

Orangemen and Lady Friends Had Delightful Time

The entertainment at the Orange Hall last night proved an unqualified success, about 500 merry-makers being in attendance. The performance in every way reflects credit on the Order and on the chairman, Wm. White of the L. O. A. and Mrs. Small, President of the Ladies True Blue, with her band of useful helpers. The supper commenced at 6.30 and from then on until half past nine the commissariat never had an idle moment. Supper-over, Ald. J. H. Spence took the chair and a very delightful little programme was given. The first number was a piccolo solo by Mr. Boddy, accompanied by the piano by his daughter, which was heartily appreciated. Mr. Godfrey again delighted the company later on in the evening. Miss Iva Fuller assisted by Miss White, completely charmed her audience with the selection "May Morning" and answered the "determination" call for an encore with the song "I wonder Why." Miss Docie Pearce followed with one of her well known humorous recitations "The Toboggan Slide." Mr. Pratt then favored with a vocal selection which was much appreciated. Mrs. Mason appeared in recitation and pantomime, and songs were given by Mr. Toagall and Mr. Pratt. Miss Iva Fuller repeated with "Three Little Chestnuts", a skillful choice, charmingly executed and Miss Pearce with a further humorous recitation. Dainty little Miss Connie Hill charmed the company with the piano selection "In An Old Fashioned Garden." A song by Mr. Collins, accompanied by Miss White, completed the programme.

The programme closed with a vote of thanks by the chairman for those who had gone to so much trouble in the preparation of the entertainment. After this the floor was cleared and given over to the dancers. The first dance was a glorious old-fashioned square dance to the strains of intoxicating music. The dancing continued throughout the evening and it was a still merry lot that broke up shortly after midnight.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens so Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.
Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the hair began to get thin and gray, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old-recipe for about 50 cents.

"Don't stay gray! Try it!" No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray has disappeared, and by another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy. Agent T. George Boles.

ANOTHER EYE ELECTION

Death has already caused two eye elections in Middlesex and now there is to be another one from a similar cause.

The fight this time will be for the Ontario House in East Middlesex, and the voting will take place on Nov. 27th.

The riding is the same for Provincial purposes as for Dominion when Mr. Fisher, (Liberal) was beaten last month.

LAWLESS STUDENTS.

At Kingston on Saturday the students of Queen's University beat the students of McGill in a game of football and promptly proceeded to cut loose at night. The Whig of that place in referring to the outbreak says:

"As usual the Grand Opera House was the 'storm centre' and from the result of the 'doings,' here, a number were injured by being struck with the batons of the police and the weapons of the theatre manager and his employees.

The students, while half a dozen policemen were on duty at the frozen theatre house, with eggs and stones being hurled through the air, operated a flank attack. A number went up the laneway from Montreal street, and commenced an attack on the stage door.

"The bill of the night, which was a return engagement of the play, 'The Shepherd of the Hills,' was in progress at the time. An electric light over the stage door was broken, the door thrown open, and a few of the attacking party endeavored to gain admittance. The second act of the show was on. Stones were thrown at the scenery. But the stage hands cleared the place. Quite a large stone was thrown at the electrician, Geo. Hogan, at the switch board. If this had struck the board the damage would have amounted to hundreds of dollars. The hose of the house kept for fire protection, was prepared.

But the worst was yet to come, or at least what sounded the worst. Stones were at hand and were begun to be shattered in the rear of the playhouse. A large section window over the stage door was broken, as well as a couple in the balcony. In all about twenty-five panes of glass suffered.

This storming of the building had its effect upon the players, and the audience. When the second act was concluding, the noise was at its height and the curtain was rung down. The company, especially the ladies, were greatly upset, and the audience began to disperse. Some were frightened and one woman fainted. Manager Branigan explained to the patrons of the playhouse the cause of the disturbance, and assured them the 'attack was well under control.' This kind of conduct, or more correctly speaking, lack of conduct, is characteristic of students everywhere.

Nobody objects to the exuberance of youth within proper channels, but when such exhibitions result in destruction of property and the terrorizing of individuals, the perpetrators should be given a dose of jail just like any other rowdies.

A BRITISH INVASION

"Up to quite a recent date Canada has practically depended upon America for supplies in the matter of theatrical entertainment. There is a growing feeling, however, among playgoers over there that they would be better served were they to depend upon themselves in this respect. In certain isolated instances it has been abundantly proved that this feeling is not without justification. Shortly before his death the late Mr. Edward Terry made a venture on his own account, with, as he publicly declared, on his return, most favorable results. In the same way, Mr. Lewis Waller, shaking the dust of New York off his feet, organized a Canadian tour of his own, which, although it lasted only a few weeks, yielded him a handsome surplus of over £5,000. With a like view, Mr. Martin Harvey is even now preparing to cross the Atlantic, taking with him his own company and a selection of his most popular pieces, together with all necessary scenery, costumes and properties.

"All this is the immediate outcome of the feeling referred to that Canada is now in a position to offer English actors and English dramatists conditions sufficiently favorable to induce them to treat with her direct. Nor is it merely a matter of speculation. A movement, headed by some of the richest and most important of Canada's citizens, has been set on foot for the purpose of giving concrete shape to the project. Financial support has been promised by such well known men as Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Donald Mann, Sir William Whyte, Sir Daniel McMillan, Sir Montague Allan, and many more, whose names abundantly guarantee that the requisite funds to carry out the scheme to a prosperous issue will not be wanting. For the practical part of the work they have entrusted their interests to Mr. William Holles, who for some time has been carefully studying the condition of theatrical affairs in Canada, and who, after a brief stay in London, returns to-day in order actively to start operations.

"These operations," said Mr. Holles yesterday, "include the immediate construction of four theatres, each about the size of His Majesty's, in, respectively, Montreal, Winnipeg, Toronto and Vancouver. The cost in each instance, will be something like £300,000, and already the necessary funds are assured. Building, of course, is a much more expensive affair in Canada than here, both ground and labor being infinitely more costly. On the other hand, all the sites are freehold. The Imperial sentiment is very much alive just now; the bonds that link Canada to the Motherland were never stronger. English artists—I speak obviously of those who have made their reputations—are as well known by name at least, in Montreal, Toronto and Quebec, as in London, and are as certain of an enthusiastic welcome. In the past English dramatists have been content to transfer the acting rights in their plays, both for the United States and Canada, to American managers, who, it is no secret, have shown very little regard for what Canadians very rightly consider to be their legitimate claims.

"After all, this, perhaps, is scarcely surprising. They have so many theatres of their own clamouring for attractions that ours take quite a subsidiary place in their calculations. Thus it happens that, with possibly the exception of Montreal and Toronto, our public is being starved so far as plays of the better class are concerned. Now Canadians are an essentially theatre-going people. Give them what they want and they will pay practically any price within reason. They have shown this again and again in regard to operatic ventures, and as you know artists, of the calibre of Lewis Waller have had every reason to be satisfied with results on the rare occasions in which they have pushed their enterprise further afield than these two cities.

"My appeal to those in a position to provide the needed financial backing for the project I have in hand met with an instant response. The only condition made was that the scheme should be adequately represented in London. It was with the object of arranging for this that I came to London. Here I got into touch with Mr. Carl F. Leyer, who entered enthusiastically into the idea. A limited company, with a capital of £10,000—the entire amount, let me say, has been already subscribed and was quickly formed by him under the name of the British and Canadian Theatre Organization Society."

The above is good news. Everyone at all familiar with stage productions, is well aware of the fact that, speaking generally, English actors and actresses, are better trained than those from the States. This has been frequently admitted and commented upon by Metcalf of New York Life, generally regarded as the best dramatic critic in the States. It is far too frequently the American plan to surround some star with more or less mediocre support, and shows which make good in New York when placed on the road, are presented in most instances by inferior understudies. The British aim and practice is for well balanced productions, even to the minor roles, and when some success is taken on tour it is in the vast majority of instances, given by the artists who have created the original roles. To those who like theatre-going, and their name is legion, the news of a British dramatic invasion will be very welcome.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It still remains for Uncle Sam a Mexican difficulty.

When the Canadian Northern gets to Brantford, and its a-coming, this place as a railway and radial centre will be some goods.

Young man. Next to having your best girl look spick and span, a membership ticket in the Borden Club is one of the greatest sources of satisfaction known to the modern male.

Every Grit eritor these days is willing to tell Borden what to do, but somehow or the other that perverse gentleman doesn't seem to be aware of his existence.

The London Advertiser boasts that the Liberals are "coming back." Surely to goodness they must realize themselves to be enough there already.

They are voting on a hostelry factory by-law in Stratford, and the papers of that place are pleading with the ratepayers not to sock it.

The Guelph City Council at its regular meeting this week got through all the business in thirty-five minutes. There must be a lack of wind-jammers in that neck of the woods.

A Toronto minister wants the words cut out of the marriage ceremony, "who giveth this woman away." The phrase is certainly ridiculous especially when it is remembered that sometimes it is the man who finds himself in that position.

Ben Davis

Where now is old Ben Davis, that widely famed galeot? May guardian angels save us from Ben and all his fruit! In office and in chapel men roared that total loss, that fierce and futile apple that old Ben put across. The barber men who shave us, the boys who shine our boots, all jump on old Ben Davis and cast his misfit fruits. And for Ben's apple loathing will evermore endure—that wofe in mutton's clothing, that whited sepulchre. It typifies the shoddy, it's false as human sin; so slick in outer body, so bun and cheap within. The real Ben Davis apple is tempering, smooth and smart; but then with it you grapple it simply breaks your heart; you cuss the name of Davis, and grind your teeth and hiss: "Why does the monster brave us by springing fruit like this?" So gaudy fakes still tempt us, beguile us everywhere, and may the gods exempt us, and keep us from the snare.

PIONEER RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY

Death of Samuel Allchin in Paris - Other News of the Town.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—There passed away at his home in Paris, early yesterday morning, a real old pioneer resident of this section in the person of Mr. Samuel Allchin, born in Merton Abbey, England, Aug. 7, 1822, the son of Mr and Mrs Thomas Allchin, prosperous silk manufacturers, the family was forced to close their factory on the advent of the Cobden free trade policy and decided to emigrate to Canada. On March 22nd, 1832, the father and mother, with nine children, Samuel then being a boy of nine, left the shores of old England and arrived in the Gulf of St. Lawrence seven weeks later, where they were frozen in the ice for two weeks longer before touching Canadian soil. Disembarking at Quebec, they came by open boat to Prescott and thence by stage and boat to Hamilton, where they secured wagons and a trade in furs, and their march to Gaderick, at Preston, a settler advised them to go no further, and they took up land near the village of Danube, arriving at their home on June 5th. As each boy was entering manhood, he was apprenticed to a trade and Samuel was in 1840 sent to his brother at Paris, where he learned to make all the early agricultural implements. Later he started in a mill factory at Gaderick but returning to Paris he became the first photographer in this vicinity. Some of his old daguerotype pictures still being in this section. In 1851 his brother was drowned and he took over the brother's milling business at Canning, which he conducted until 1882 when he retired and has lived in Paris ever since. Of late years Mr. Allchin has been very feeble and almost blind, but his mind was as clear as in youth. He was a clever and interesting conversationalist and his stories of the early pioneer life in this section when Brant County was almost a virgin forest, were very interesting. He was the last surviving member of the family, which came from England.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 2.30 to Paris cemetery. On Tuesday night Balmoral Lodge, No. 137, Daughters of Rebekah was instituted in Paris. In the afternoon Mrs. Brant, Past President of Berlin and her assistants presented the charter of the lodge to the charter members and in the evening Ivy Lodge of Galt put on the initiation when some sixty seven members took the degree. After the degree work was over the installation of officers took place as follows: Noble Grand, Mrs. J. Newton; Vice-Grand, Mrs. H. McCammon; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Emmerson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. I. Stewart; Treasurer, Mrs. C. Smith.

The lodge will meet next Tuesday evening and every other Tuesday afterwards.

Kelvin, turning, saw Blagg standing in the doorway. How long he had been there none of them could have told. For the first time Kelvin noticed that Blagg's thinness was the thinness of a man who had not been reduced to nothing but sinewy muscle.

Breed took the wireless and read it: then he looked up at Kelvin, with a curious smile. "So you think I'd better send for Rollins and make peace with him?" he said. "You suggested that yesterday, I think."

"Kelvin colored slightly. "It seems inevitable to me," he replied. "Well, I have already sent for him," announced Breed dryly. "Here is his answer. He will arrive here at 8 o'clock. And with an air of being freed, went out, accompanied by the doctor, went out."

"The population of the United States is now almost 90,000,000," said Blagg. "Henry Breed holds, according to my guess, nearly $20 in money for every man, woman and child in the United States. Ten million of these people are on the verge of starvation, and their $20 today would stand between them and hell, seventy million more are merely living like you."

"If they had their $20 apiece they would spend it," explained Kelvin snarling, "and some Breed or other would have it again in no time." "But if there were no Breeds to establish enormous money draining systems by means of the excessive rate that must be paid for necessities the circulation would stay among the people."

"If there were no Breeds," retorted Phillip, "I could not have a job. Here is a wireless I wish you would get off to New York."

Early luncheon at Forest Lakes was usually a deadly dull function, and today it seemed more so than ever. A preoccupation seemed to settle upon them all. At Breed's table they had nearly finished when Breed, looking up from the bowl of mush and milk to which Zephiah restricted him at noon, suddenly addressed Phillip. "Kelvin," said he, "if you had your own way about things what would you do?"

"I would make myself emperor of the world," cried Lillian. "And I—I would be empress."

"Lillian," primly protested Mrs. Rensselaer. "You don't mean anything. I know, but you should be no more bold here, even in jest, than you are in earnest."

"How do you know I don't mean it?" returned Lillian, with an earnestness which could not be altogether concealed by her railery. "If Mr. Kelvin could make himself emperor of the world, I would resist every wild notion to femininity, every stratagem known to diplomacy, every force known to warfare, to become his consort. To be empress of the world, to have life and death dominion over every living creature, to hold in my hand more power than has ever been possessed by any human being—for these things I would jeopardize my happiness, my life, my very soul!"

Phillip glanced across at her with some interest, but he had not yet shown and found, with a thrill which he could not deny, her eyes shining into his.

An hour or so later Phillip had occasion to go into Blagg's room, and there he found Lillian.

"I speak of dominion," Lillian said animatedly, conscious of her power over the giant operator and perhaps using it to pique Phillip, "here it is," and she indicated the new wireless apparatus which, introduced but recently, was rapidly becoming universal. It was supplied with keys like a typewriter and differed from that machine in only one essential respect—the paper in it was upon a roll, like a ticker tape, and from either side of the contrivance a glass tube filled with a phosphorescent and greenish light ran straight up to the ceiling.

"With all instruments thrown into key, Mr. Blagg can reach any one or all of the wireless stations on the face of the globe," she continued. "At his finger tips is all the world." As she spoke the greenish phosphorescence in the tubes began to glow and crackle in regular waves, the mechanism of the typewriting device began to click, and upon the tape there appeared a succession of "M's." Blagg self consciously drew out his watch and held it while he watched the tape. "Noon at Washington," he said. "I am not a second out of the way." Mechanically he reached out to the keys of his machine and wrote upon it the letters of the alphabet in approximate order from "A" to "Z" and back again, then signed "G. B."

STATE MILITIA IS NOW ORDERED OUT

Troops in all parts of the state received orders early to-day to hurry to Indianapolis under heavy marching orders as rapidly as special trains could get them here. The orders were not to wait on regular trains. The first troops are expected here shortly after noon. While the final orders for the encampment of the militia have not been decided, it was expected that as many as possible would be quartered in the local armories and the state's house, and the overflow would be camped on the state house lawn and in the "down town" parks. The troops are to bring all their equipment with them.

President Robert L. Todd of the street car company said this morning that no effort would be made to start the cars until the National Guardsmen arrive and obtain control of the city. He said this might not be until to-morrow, but that he was ready to start the car service as soon as the authorities were sure that they could protect the cars.

There was no rioting during last night or early to-day. Trouble is not expected until another attempt is made to move the cars. A large crowd however, was collected as usual in front of the labor temple.

The Six Nations met in Council on the Reserve on Tuesday last. Major Smith was in attendance and had as guest there Mr. Chas. McGibbon, Inspector of Indian Land Agencies. The regular business of the Reserve was dealt with, nothing of particular import coming up before the meeting. Mr. McGibbon expressed himself as being much interested in the proceedings and congratulated the Chiefs on their apparent prosperity. He also presented Chiefs Hilton, Hill and William Smith with cobs of corn which were brought from Christian Islands, whither the seed was carried when the Six Nations left the Mohawk Valley and came to Canada.

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES". Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches.

TAVORVILLE, ONT. "I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted. A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with instant success, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man!" Trades and Labor Men Launch Series of Meetings

Prominent Speakers Will be Brought Here to Discuss Labor Issues—Meeting Held Last Night—What's Doing in Labor Circles.

An activity in connection with the Trades and Labor Council, which will not only meet with approval by the working men of this city, but by citizens in general, is the securing of able speakers to deliver addresses at meetings to which the public will be welcomed. An effort has been made, as previously stated, to secure T. M. Richards, British M.P., at present visiting Canada and United States and delivering addresses. A date has not as yet been arranged.

Mr. Simpson, editor of the Industrial Banner, will speak here this winter. Last night at the meeting of the Council a further opportunity was given for the securing of a speaker, Charles Stielze of New York City, a prominent social service man, and a resident of New York City, had in communication with Mr. G. L. Goodwin, Y. M. C. A. secretary with a view to conducting a conference under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of employers and workmen, both union and non-union sympathizers, with a view to furthering social justice and industrial peace by bringing together the parties. The conference, if lasting two days, he would charge $100 and a proportionate amount of travelling expenses from New York, or if conducted for one day, $50 and expenses as indicated. He suggested December 21 and 22.

The communication was turned over to the Trades and Labor Council with a view to the council and the Y. M. C. A. taking hold of the matter together. The educational committee were given power to act in this matter.

What He Is

Mr. Stielze lived for twenty-five years in the tenement districts of New York and other cities, thus acquiring a personal knowledge of how workingmen and their families live; he spent eight years as a practical machinist in one of the largest shops in New York City, and six years in various other manufacturing concerns. He has been in close touch with the labor movement and general social problems in practically every industrial centre in the United States, and in foreign countries through travel, study and personal acquaintance with the leaders in industrialism, both employers and labor men.

In the field of practical work, Mr. Stielze was for ten years superintendent of a national bureau of social service; he has supervised studies of social and economic conditions, and has been associated with many other activities.

He put through and for two years fathered the Labor Temple in New York City. He is a big man in the Men and Religious Forward Movement.

Some Opinions

Delegate Scruton stated he was highly in favor of any movement of this nature. The question was expensive. He believed if the expense could be borne the speaker should be secured.

Delegate Symons had heard considerable of the speaker. Like other good men, he was expensive, but the delegate favored the securing of the speaker if the expense was not too great.

Delegate Sleeth spoke in favor of the securing of good speakers.

The date was believed by Delegates Wilmet, Reeves and other delegates to be unsuitable.

Ministerial Committee Report

Delegate Brown reported that a joint meeting of the Trades and Labor Council committee and the Ministerial Alliance would be held shortly when the working girl problem in this city would be further taken up.

Delegate Ira D. Scruton was appointed to fill the vacancy on this committee made vacant by the death of President Pearce.

Representatives Appointed

Delegates Sleeth, Reeves and Becham, were appointed as representatives from the council to meet with representatives from other bodies concerning the building of more bridges across the Grand River.

Delegate Brown stated he was glad the city council had commenced recognizing the Trades and Labor Council. The Labor Council was not going to be as discourteous with the communication from the city council as the city council were with communications from the Trades and Labor Council.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head of catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Workers Union brought before the notice of the council a grievance which they said had existed in this city in connection with the work being done in a local building by men imported from the United States. He stated they had written the Department of Labor, and they had sent a man here to investigate, but they decided that if there was any violation of the act, it would be up to the union to institute an action. The firm who have been sublet the work referred to is a United States concern, and they signified their intention of being willing to employ Canadian labor, but up to the present, this has not been done. Some good advice was given the Electrical delegates present, and they will look further into the matter before taking any action. The penalty is a heavy one, being $500 for each man so employed under the Alien Labor Act.

Communication Filed

The communication from the Union Labor Stores Co., Limited, Toronto, advising that a store had been opened in the Queen City, was filed.

Credentials Received

Credentials from H. J. O'Connell, F. Halberstadt and J. Becham, delegates from the Bartenders' Union were accepted; also credentials from H. Phipps and T. B. Stewart, Electrical Workers' Union.

From all appearances there seem to be plenty of good work ahead for the council this coming winter, and much good is expected of the various matters which will come before them, and will be in the interests not only of the working men but of the general good of the city as a whole.

Paris News

PARIS, Oct. 5.—A special meeting of the council was called for last night to review the Local Option petition and transact other business. All the members were present.

It was decided to hold the municipal nominations on Dec. 28th, with voting one week later. The following places will be the polling booths, with their respective returning officers:—

- No. 1—Engine House—C. W. Lawson.
- No. 2—Geo. Brass' house—Geo. Brass.
- No. 3—Fire Hall—Jas. Smiley.
- No. 4—G. V. Station—Wm. Springate.
- No. 5—Town Hall—Frank Patterson.
- No. 6—Mr. Muirhead's—John Gamie.

To provide money to meet the indebtedness to the L. E. and N. railway, it had been proposed to issue 4 1/2 per cent. municipal bonds, which was the same rate of interest as the L. E. and N. bonds bear, but as 4 1/2 per cent. bonds are not on the market, the council decided to issue 3 1/2 per cent. bonds and a by-law was carried to that effect.

The Local Option petition, bearing some 400 names, was then presented. It asked that the sale of liquor be prohibited in Paris, and names were added of bona fide property holders who were entitled to vote upon a by-law.

Reeve Davidson moved, seconded by Ald. Wells that the necessary steps be taken to have a by-law prepared and submitted to the ratepayers. The by-law will be prepared this week and another special meeting of the council will be called next week to conclude the proceedings necessary.

The Catharine street drain, which has been the cause of many discussions in this year's council meetings than anything else, was given another session and after much discussion it was decided to go ahead and drain Catharine St. with a close tile drain to the Grand, and next year more drains would be added to carry the water away from the whole of that section. Messrs. Evans and Rehder made the motion that $780 be appropriated to cover the cost of the present work. The ratepayers will be assessed their proportion according to frontage, after the work is completed. Carried.

It was then decided to meet again next Monday night to finally complete arrangements for the submission of a Local Option by-law to the people. Council adjourned.

One of the most enthusiastic hockey meetings ever held in Paris took place in the Board of Trade rooms on Monday night. The place was crowded to the doors. The following officers were elected: Hon. Pres. J. H. Fisher; Hon. Vice-Pres. W. L. Himer; President, D. Lovett; Vice-President, Donald Sinclair; Secy. Treas. (Intermedie) C. Walker; Secy. Treas. (Junior) H. Inksater; Manager (Intermediate) D.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 6.—(It is) Sad of face, but without a trace of nervousness, and with her nine months' old infant in her arms, Mrs. Grace Beemer of Drumbo, who was placed on trial before Mr. Justice Kelly at the Criminal Assizes here yesterday on a charge of murdering her husband by administering strychnine in a dose of salts, sits in the prisoner's dock and listens silently to the stories told by the Crown witnesses. When court resumed after the noon adjournment, yesterday, the Grand Jury, after a ten hours' deliberation returned a true bill against the accused woman. The court house was crowded all day, and hundreds of people were unable to get in. A number of people brought lunches and stayed in the court all day.

Upon being arraigned Mrs. Beemer pleaded not guilty. It took just fifteen minutes to obtain a jury. Nine of the twenty-two talesmen called over challenged, five by the Crown and four by the defence, before the necessary twelve men were chosen. Two of these challenged by the Crown were manufacturers residing in Woodstock, in which town a strong wave of sympathy has gone out to Mrs. Beemer.

The Jurymen.

The jurors are in the main men under middle age, all of them being farmers. They are: Robert Marshall, East Oxford; Willard E. Russell, South Norwich; James Carr, Blewheim township; Wm. Downing, East Nisouri; Flint Symonds, Dereham township; Wm. Seldon, North Oxford; Daniel Brooks, North Norwich; Jas. Matheson, East Zorra; Frederick Albright, Dereham; Austin Brendal, East Zorra; Wm. Manson, East Oxford; and John W. Dickout, Dereham.

Mr. Edward Meredith, K.C., of London, the Crown prosecutor, expects, so he informed the jury in his opening address, to prove that the accused woman was the dominating spirit in the man's death, despite the fact that the defence would undoubtedly attempt to show that Beemer himself was responsible for his death. When Mr. Meredith swung into a strong criticism of jurors who allowed themselves to be swayed by the trend of public sympathy and newspaper accounts of a tragedy, Mrs. Beemer exhibited signs of collapse. She handed her baby to a police matron who was sitting by the dock, and buried her face in her hands momentarily.

Sylvester Beemer, a brother of the deceased man, Charles Cassidy, Jas. Smart, and David Troup, who testified yesterday, were subjected to a vigorous cross-examination by Lieut. Col. W. T. McMullen, K.C., the defending counsel. The bulk of the evidence was a corroboration of that given at the Coroner's inquest and the police court investigation.

Some Points for the Defence

The defence, however, succeeded in bringing out a few additional features which, it is said, will have an important bearing when its case is presented. The testimony of three of the witnesses differed slightly on certain points from that appearing in the certified copies of the evidence taken at the previous investigation. Another important point for the defence was the statement of David Troup under cross-examination to the effect that four days prior to the day Beemer was taken violently ill, the witness was present at the Beemer homestead when Beemer drove home from Galt. Upon entering the house he said Beemer complained of stomach trouble. He was feeling weak and he requested Troup to put the horse in the stable.

Witnesses Supplied Some Salts

The Crown, in presenting its case, examined the witnesses at some length relative to the actions and the conditions which asserted themselves when the witnesses, all neighboring farmers, were called in to render assistance. They declared that when Beemer was seized intermittently with violent spasms, he shrieked with pain, and insisted upon his limbs being held.

Depressed by Amundsen's Success

A perusal of the diary leaves no doubt that the discovery of Capt. Amundsen's triumph in reaching the pole first depressed the entire party to such an extent that it must be reckoned as a part cause of the disaster. A typical entry is: "The Norwegian overhauled us. It is a terrible disappointment. I am very sorry for my loyal companions. We must hasten home with all the speed we can command. All the day-dreams must go. It will be a wearisome return. We must turn our backs now on the goal of our ambition, and must face our 800 miles of solid dragging—a desperate struggle. I wonder if we can do this."

This is the first note of despondency. Thereafter they are fairly frequent. For nearly a month before the end the despondency is almost unrelieved. Although he kept the knowledge to himself, it seems evident that Capt. Scott knew that all were doomed. Dr. Atkinson's report concludes: "I bid a final farewell to the resting place of three heroes, there alone in their greatness. They will be without change or bodily decay, with the most fitting tomb in the world above them."

Oates Near the End.

On March 11 Scott wrote: "Oates is very near the end, one feels. What we or he will do, God only knows. We discussed the matter after breakfast. He is a brave fellow, and understanding the situation, he tactically asked for advice. Nothing could be said but to urge him to march as long as he could. I practically ordered Wilson to hand over the means to us of ending our troubles, so that any one of us might know how to do so. Wilson had no choice between doing so and our ransacking his medicine case. We have thirty opium tablets apiece, and Wilson is left with a tube of morphine."

Parisian

Parisians were shocked to hear of the death which took place in Parkdale Hospital, Toronto, on Sunday, of Mrs. Oliver Gordon. Deceased who was in her 80th year was formerly Martha E. Gordon, sister of Geo. Thompson late of Paris, and a sister of the late Mrs. Jay L. Churchill, who passed away two weeks ago. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the residence of Mr. J. L. Churchill to Paris cemetery.

INDOOR BALL

A company of the Dufferin Rifles will play a practice game of indoor ball with E. Company, on Saturday night. Quite a few ball players have joined the regiment recently, including Billy Smith and Albert Appel of the G. S. and W. soft ball club. The regiment in all likelihood will use these players in the Western Ontario League, which is to be formed.

FRESH LIGHT THROWN ON SCOTT EXPEDITION

BOOK IS PUBLISHED

LONDON, Nov. 6.—"Captain Scott's Last Expedition" is to be published to-day by Messrs. Macmillan. It contains Captain Scott's diary of his journey to the South Pole and his tragic conclusion, written methodically day by day from the departure of the Terra Nova in 1910 to the moment in March, 1912, when with death actually in the tent pitched for the last time in the frozen waste of the great barrier, the dying commander wrote: "The end cannot be far. It seems a pity, but I do not think I can write more. For God's sake look after our people."

Make Son a Strenuous Man

In addition to his diary, which is dying, Captain Scott wrote letters to friends and relatives. An extract from his last letter to his wife is: "Make our boy interested in natural history if you can. It is better than games. Keep him in the open air. Above all, you must guard him against indolence. He must be a strenuous man. The great God has called me. Take comfort in that I die in peace with the world and myself, and not afraid."

Scott, next to the blizzards and the phenomenally low temperatures on the barrier, ascribes the disaster mainly to the astonishing failure of the strongest man of the party, Petty Officer Evans, a physical giant. A study of the diaries shows the course and the causes of the failure.

The first reference, January 17, 1912, Evans' frozen hands, says this compelling premature camping. A week later Evans' nose was frozen and his fingers were badly blistered. Scott wrote: "He is a great deal run down. He is very much annoyed with himself, which is not a good sign."

On January 29, 1912, "Evans' dislodged two finger-nails. His hands are really bad, and to my surprise he shows signs of losing heart over it. He has not been cheerful since the accident."

"Seeing Evans a long way ahead we camped for lunch. There was no alarm at first. Evans still not appearing, we looked out and saw him still far off. By this time, we were alarmed, and started back on skis. "I was the first to reach the poor man. I was shocked by his appearance. He was on his knees, his clothing disarranged, his hands uncovered and frostbitten, a wild look in his eyes. I asked what was the matter. He replied with low speech that he did not know; he thought he must have fainted."

"We got him to his feet, but after two or three steps he sank down again."

Capt. Oates did not begin to fail until March 8, when he reluctantly admitted that his feet were frostbitten. In March, Scott expressed fear that Oates would not survive the increased cold.

Mrs. Beemer Hears What Witnesses Have to Relate

Trial Opened Yesterday at Woodstock—Sad of Eye But Hopeful, Mother With Babe Sits in Courtroom—Details of the Case.

down, as it served as a measure of relief. On one occasion, said a witness, he saw him drink almost eight gallons of water. They had seen Mrs. Beemer giving Beemer what they supposed to be salts on various occasions, in fact they had been present when Dr. Woolner had prescribed her husband with administering strychnine in a dose of salts, sits in the prisoner's dock and listens silently to the stories told by the Crown witnesses. An amateur hockey league is being formed in Detroit under the auspices of the Canadian Club.

With Osgoode Hall back in O. H.
A. hockey much of the rivalry of the old days will be revived.

The Interprovincial Hockey Union
annual meeting will be held Saturday night at the Windsor Hotel in Montreal.

Christy Mathewson has decided to accompany the Giants and Sox only as far as San Francisco. With Mrs.
Mathewson and Christopher Mathew-son, Jr., aged six, he intends to spend the winter in California.

Not a single American League team went through the entire season without having some kind of a misfortune to its players. The Naps suffered the most, while the Athletics had the smallest number of cripples.

A Scranton paper laments the fact that the Toronto Ball Club is to absorb the Hamilton Ball Club because the Scranton club used to get Toronto's surplus players. Next year Hamilton and not Scranton will profit.

The Hamilton Tigers-Toronto Ar-go game at Rosedale, Toronto, will have opposition on Saturday. Toronto have arranged to play their senior O. R. F. U. game with Hamilton Rowing Club at Varsity Stadium on Saturday. There will be 6,000 people at Rosedale.

President T. J. Nelson of the Brantford Ball Club, discussing the invading of organized ball territory by the Federals, said that if President Barrow of the International League, and the clubs of the league would sanction the putting of minor league ball teams to play under national protection it would have a tendency to keep the outlaws out of organized territory. This would mean continuous ball. The President said that as yet he had not seen a report stating that the Federals had put up the $25,000.

Although he had been appointed at the meeting of the Canadian League to attend the meeting of the National Association he could not as yet state whether he would attend or not, but he stated he would quite like to do so.

Hamilton Tigers may get cleaned up here on Saturday like the Tammany Tiger did in New York City.
Strangers things have happened—
Toronto Star.

The fact that London is now a farm of the Cleveland Ball club, and that a manager is to be sent in payment for Oskoe Neale, leads fans to suspect that London didn't want to keep Rube Deneau, and will not keep him. This, hooking up with big league clubs may not prove as popular with fans later as it seems now. Wait until fans miss their star player someday, and the sign is put up "receded" and there will be yells galore in both Hamilton and Toronto.

Varsity hockeyists will start training in the gymnasium in a week, or so. There will be lots of talent for both junior and senior teams in the O. H. A. and the Intercollegiate this year, and they expect to put two of the strongest teams on the ice that have ever represented the blue and white. The St. Nicholas rink, of New York, are trying to arrange with Varsity, McGill, Queen's and Ottawa college to play a series of games there during the Christmas holidays. Varsity will play home and home games with Princeton and Yale this winter.

President McCaffery of the Toronto Ball Club has been notified that First Baseman Borton declared injury would not play with Toronto club next season, not that he had anything against the Leafs, but because he considered himself as good a first baseman as any in the major leagues.
Toronto purchased Borton from the New York Americans, and a winter's thought over the matter may change his mind. Borton's home town is St.
Joseph, Mo.

Osgoode Hall, Toronto, after a lapse of fifteen years, will again be represented in the Senior O. H. A. hockey league. Secretary W. A. Hewitt has received an application. With Toronto R. and A. A., St. Michael's, Toronto C. C. (Parkdale, Varsity, Argonauts and Toronto Rowing Club in line there will be no dearth of amateur hockey in Toronto this year.
In 1892 Osgoode Hall were runner up to Ottawa for the championship and two years later won the honorable Queens 3 to 2.

arrived here from Chicago Tuesday,
but he did not call on President Lynch at the National League head-chat, presumably on the plan to oust Lynch from office. Murphy refused to discuss Lynch's candidacy in any way. He also declined to say how the Chicago Club's vote would be cast. Murphy declared that he didn't know much about the chances of

MANAGERS' AFTER GOOD PITCHERS MAY PLAY TIE GAME AT TORONTO

Only Seven Youngsters Made Good Last Season in American League.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—David L.
Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, will receive a hearing before the National Commission if he agrees to certain conditions. The commission went on record some time ago with an unanimous vote to the effect that Fultz, as the sole representative of the fraternity, and presenting twenty demands, should not be received. Messrs. Herrmann, Johnson and Lynch took this action for the reason that they believed more satisfactory results could be obtained by dealing directly with a committee of players.

The fraternity, however, recently decided to stand by Fultz. It re-elected him president without a dissenting vote, and authorized him to go ahead preparing his appeal to the commission for alleged reforms and for the re-appointment of so-called grievance committee. Chairman Herrmann, of the commission, after looking over the fraternity's demands, said the other day that they were not unreasonable, and probably would meet with favorable action, but he added that Fultz could not be heard. Ban Johnson, president of the American League, who opposed Fultz's appearance ven-turedly when the commission first decided to bar him from the negotiations was quoted last week as saying that he personally wasn't averse to conferring with the fraternity leader.

Now comes President Lynch, of the National League, with a commonsense view of the situation and a temperate statement that may prove a solution of the controversy. Lynch admitted yesterday that the commission would adhere to its original policy not to receive Fultz as the sole agent of the players. But he added significantly:

"If the fraternity sends Fultz as a member of a conference committee, which includes several of the leading players, I believe that the commission—at least Mr. Herrmann and myself—will file no objection. Of course I cannot speak for Mr. Johnson.

"When the commission voted unanimously to have no business dealings with Fultz alone we were actuated by an experience, such as that of the Fall of 1912, during the world's series between the Giants and the Red Sox. The players in that series thought that they were entitled to a share of the receipts from the first five games because one of them was the city-cent. Christy Mathewson at their request, such an appel to the commission, and we talked the matter over with him in perfect harmony.

"When Mathewson had been informed as to the interpretation of the rule governing the players' money, he readily admitted a misunderstanding, and he reported back to the players, telling them that they really had no grievance. Our talk with Mathewson was so satisfactory that we decided in future to deal with any player or players that might be sent to us by the fraternity, believing that the relations would remain amicable.

"The demand framed by Fultz in behalf of the fraternity are not unfair, taking them as a whole, and I believe that everything can be adjusted satisfactorily if the fraternity will send a committee of players to confer with the commission. If Fultz is a member of that committee, I see no reason why he should not be heard, for in a general discussion the players themselves will learn firsthand what the commission is willing to do."

It is probable that the fraternity will consider Lynch's suggestion at an early date. Non-partisan observers of the controversy seem to think that if Fultz should go before the commission with such players as Mathewson, Daubert and Ray Collins
there would be little or no friction.

QUEBEC REPORT ON LICENSES

Instead of Bar, Cafe Rooms With Tables Are Recommended.

(Canadian Press Despatch) QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—The gradual abolition of the bar in hotels, the collection of revenue, not by the sale of licenses for a fixed amount, but on a percentage basis, and reduction of licenses in the cities and towns of the province, it is believed, will be recommended in the report the license commission appointed by Sir Lomer Gouin to consider the liquor question in Quebec is now preparing and which the session of the legislature which opens on November 18, will consider.

The exact nature of the recommendation that the commission will make will not be known until its report is tabled, but it is taken for granted that they will suggest legislation of a most drastic character.

It is thought that instead of the bar hotels will be compelled to establish cafes with tables and chairs after the fashion of the European resorts.

Officers of the government here, who have discussed the possibility of the change in the present system of getting revenue from the license fees think that more money would be secured by assessing hotels on amount of business done.

It is thought that the changes in the license law will only be made gradually and that hotel proprietors will only be forced to accept them when a renewal of a license is asked for.

Found Skeleton On High Street

Recently what was believed to be an Indian skeleton was found on the grounds of Mr. J. L. Butherford, Dufferin avenue.

The week Harold English, while ruminating throughout the property situated on the east side of High street, ran across the skeleton of an Indian, which was in an excellent state of preservation.

Mr. Alex. McAdams received the skull, while other parts of the skeleton are being distributed to various museums on Terrace Hill.

A Tong War

Japanese Supposed to Have Been Shot by Chinamen

(Canadian Press Despatch) FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 7.—Y. Yen-ama, a Japanese, was shot and killed last night, presumably by Chinese tong men.

Yen-ama and other Japanese were arrested in Kings county last month charged with having killed and robbed a Chinese merchant. They were released Tuesday for lack of evidence.

When the trio came to Fresno yesterday, two of them appealed to the police to be lodged in jail until they could arrange to leave the country. Yen-ama, who preferred to remain at liberty, was slain within an hour.

It is feared the killing will lead to retaliatory measures and a prolonged feud between the races.

WORK ELEVEN HOURS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Nearly a thousand taxicab chauffeurs dined at a mass meeting early today to accept an eleven hour work day as offered by employers, thus receding from their demand for a ten hour day to enforce which they threatened to strike.

Crown Presents Evidence

had purchased strychnine in Drumbo to kill 'crow' which had been bothering the corn. Sylvester Beemer was quite positive no corn was planted by Fred Beemer during that year.

High Constable Hobson gave testimony regarding the safe delivery of Beemer's stomach to the coroner.

He also told of a conversation which he had with the prisoner regarding Beemer's illness.

The constable swore that during the conversation Mrs. Beemer told him about the tablets that the doctor had left and stated that she had been told to keep them away from the children as they contained poison.

Following Beemer's death she burned what tablets were left.

Dr. Woolner of Ayr, who attended the late Fred Beemer gave evidence regarding the illness of the deceased.

He said he had been told when summoned that Beemer had had a paralytic stroke. When he arrived he could find no paralysis, but Beemer told him he had eaten something in Galt a few days earlier and he believed that there was something still on his stomach.

Mrs. Beemer said she had given her husband a dose of salts and a dose of epsom to make him vomit before the doctor arrived.

Witness gave Beemer an injection, ordered more salts and left some tablets. None of these tablets he declared, were poisonous.

Dr. Woolner went into details, telling the court how he found Beemer on Saturday, the first day of the illness, how on Sunday and how on Monday. On Saturday and Sunday, pain in the feet and legs were quite severe and it was necessary to hold down the patient.

On Monday Beemer had improved considerably; in fact, he was so well that he was able to get up and walk around the yard.

He said he would not call again, but on Tuesday he received a telephone call to come quickly as Beemer was worse.

He went as soon as possible, but when he arrived Beemer was dead, the body being quite rigid and the muscles stiffened.

Dr. Woolner read his post mortem report showing nothing found which would cause death. He did not examine the stomach.

The witness was asked regarding his opinion as to the cause of death; he stated that from what he saw and heard he had no doubt that strychnine poison was the cause of death. He refused to grant a burial certificate because he did not believe death was natural.

Dr. Sutherland of Princeton, gave evidence regarding the post mortem examination, corroborating the evidence of Dr. Woolner in this regard. During examination, there was marked rigidity of the muscles, he said. Dr. Andrew McKay, coroner at the Beemer inquest, gave evidence regarding the safe delivery of the stomach taken from Beemer's body to the provincial analyst, Dr. McKay said that from what he had seen of the circumstances in connection with the case and what he had been told, he had no doubt, but that strychnine poisoning was the cause of death.

PUBLIC IMMORALITY A REAL PROBLEM

Speaker of Parly Cong

Asks for Appointment of Commission.

(Canadian Press Dispatch)

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—"Public immorality is a problem with the states must deal," said Herbert S. Gernert of New York in the special address at the opening session of the International Parity Congress here today. "The federal government is doing a great work in the field, but it is seriously handicapped by the limitations of the constitution, the large territory to be covered, the extent to which the evil is grown," he continued. "The state police powers are unlimited with the outlay by each to control the would be comparatively small."

"Public morality is not only public health, public business, or public safety, but it is the instruction which must control it. In our plan of government, this duty devolves upon various states and today we see our departments of health, our state commissioners of railroads, and insurance and the boards of safety, but not so with public morality. We have left this field practically untouched; and yet it is by the most important."

"A commission of morals should be established in each state, whose duty it would be to take cognizance of the morals of the people; to aid the enforcement of all laws directed against vice and to work for the moral conditions in factories, schools and other places."

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, of Los Angeles police department, said: "The policewoman has come in answer to modern needs and she comes to stay, not to displace men, but to supplement their work. Countless ages the business world of a man's world with women and children secluded in the home. When they realize the value of women in the world, they will take cognizance of men in every city." Besides an address of welcome to the delegates Douglas Fish, president of the Minneapolis civic and commerce association, addresses were made by W. Clark, of Leamington, Ontario, and Rev. Charles W. Gordon of Winnipeg, Manitoba.
