FREDERICTON, JANUARY 31, 1880.

MANITOBA—AND OURSELVES.

On another page we publish extracts from a letter which describes Manitoba as another Canada. The writer is a gentleman of wide observation and very good sense, but it will be seen the hills of Manitoba are dressed in a brighter green than any other hills in Canada; in other words it is plain to see the writer had on a pair of North-West spectacles when he looked at Manitoba. Now it seems to be the aim of the Grit press to cry down Manitoba and the North West, while it seems to be equally as much the task of the Conservative press to cry it up. We are influenced, in writing of Manitoba, by quite different and we hope far purer motives than opposition or support to the Government. Our motive is our love for the interests of New Brunswick: to endeavor to stimulate the settlement of those lands of our own, which even according to the partial pen of the writer in another column, are little interior to that wide waste of rich land, the elysium of hunters and prairie chicken. Let us first settle all the lands our esteemed Surveyor General has to give us, and then let us take from off the hands of the Railway Company every acre they own. When that is done, we whom nature has endowed with about as good imagination as any of our contemporaries, shall draw just as bright a picture of the North-West, as the most visionary Tory can; but till that time comes we shall look at the barren spots of the North-West prairies, and on the shady side of the hills.

We fear that Canada's star is moving westward, and that too many are following it there. Should the time ever come when catching the western fever we should close up the Star and leave Fredericton once more at the mercy of our mouldy weeklies, we should then not care, perhaps, whether the Maritime Provinces became the waste houses of Canada or not; for out land would be perhaps nesting close under the wing of the Rocky Mountains. But there is no such blessing in the immediate future in store for this distant region; and no such gratification for our indescrimably dry contemporaries. We hope to live a long time yet in New Brunswick; and we hope to be still more useful in the present than we have been in the past. We hope never to see the present local opposition in power.

We hope to see the Government increase each day in respectability, immobility and back-bone. We hope some day to get out a daily paper, and be the leading journalist of New Brunswick. We hope to have sons that will possess the same amount of humility as their immediate progenitor, and the same ability to conduct a newspaper, and to make tyrants quake and hypocrites tremble. We hope to have daughters that will never bring disgrace on their parent, but whose beauty will be only equalled by their virtue. We hope, in short, to be the founder of a great social and moral dynasty in this Province, and when we die, like Emmet, we shall forbid any man to write our epitaph. It shall not be written in ink, or traced in marble, it shall, we hope be blazoned in fact. Wherever mighty fabrics, resting on the immutable foundations of Truth and Common Sense, are to be seen, in them, we hope, after we are dead, to hear a voice telling eloquently the history of our life and labors. With such hopes for the future, it is no wonder that we are interested in the settlement of our New Brunswick lands, that the interests of this Province are dearer to us than the interests of all Canada besides.

The City Council meets on Tuesday. Some radical members will propose the dismissal of public officers and the cutting down of salaries. Let us hope that the face of the respectable portion of the Council will be set against this.

EQUITY COURT.

The Chief Justice gave judgment yesterday in the following cases:—
KEE vs. McLeod, Assignee, etc.—The bill in this case was filed for the purpose of obtaining a declaration of the Court that a sum of $1800 lent by the plaintiff to one Holstead, constituted an equitable mortgage on a vessel when the plaintiff lent the money. Holstead gave him a receipt therefor, stating that the amount was to be secured by a mortgage on the vessel. He gave as a reason for not executing the mortgage at the time he received the money, that he had sent the register of the vessel to Ottawa in order to have her name changed, and that as soon as the papers were returned, the mortgage should be executed. Soon after this, he executed a mortgage on the vessel to another creditor, (Robertson), and then made an assignment under the Insolvent Act. The assignee took proceedings to set aside Robertson's mortgage as being fraudulent and void under the Insolvent Act; the matter was compromised by the assignee paying a part of Robertson's claim, and the vessel was sold by the assignee. The plaintiff claimed to be paid the amount lent by him, out of the proceeds of the vessel in the hand of the assignee. The plaintiff's claim constituted an equitable mortgage under the Merchant Shipping Amendment Act, (25 and 26 Vic., chap. 63) but the plaintiff's only remedy was by summary application to the Judge of the Insolvent Court, under the Insolvent Act of 1869, sec. 50. Bill dismissed without costs.

GARDNER AND WIFE vs. FERGUSON & WINTERS.—The bill in this case was filed to obtain the declaration of the Court as to the estate which the female plaintiff took under the will of her father John Brundage, who died in 1855, and devised his real estate to his executors, in trust, to hold till they received enough from their rents to pay his debts. He then devised his estates to his widow, his son John, and his daughter, Mrs. Gardner, one of the plaintiffs, their heirs and assigns in trust to pay and apply the annual rents and income in equal proportions for the use and benefit of his said wife, son and daughter, one-third to each during their respective lives; and on the death of his wife, or on the death of his son or daughter, without issue, the income of the one dying to go to the survivor, and if either died leaving issue, such issue to take their parent's share; but in case his son and daughter both died without issue, then he gave the property to John Winters and Sarah G. Winters, their heirs and assigns forever. John Brundage, the son, died soon after his father, without leaving children. The widow was also dead, and Mrs. Gardner had no children. Shortly before his death, John Brundage, the father leased a lot of land to a Robert Ferguson, for 21 years, with a covenant to renew the lease or pay for the improvements, not to exceed $2000. Robert Ferguson built on the lot, and assigned the lease to the defendant, Martha Ferguson, who, at the expiration of the lease, claimed a renewal or payment for the improvements. Not being able to agree upon the terms of a new lease, the plaintiff paid Martha Ferguson $2000, the maximum sum agreed on for the improvements on the land. A few days before the expiration of the lease, John Winters conveyed all his right and interest in the property to the defendant, Martha Ferguson. It did not appear that the plaintiff knew this at the time they paid her the $2000. The plaintiff claimed that under the will of Mr. Gardner, as the survivor, was the owner in fee simple of the whole property. The defendants claimed that under the will, the widow, son and daughter, (Mrs. Gardner) of John Brundage, only took life estates, and that on the death of Mrs. Gardner without children, the property went over to John and Sarah G. Winters, whom the defendants represent. The Court held, 1st. That the will only gave the widow and children of John Brundage estates for life, with contingent remainders over to John and Sarah Winters in the event of John Brundage, Jr., and Mrs. Gardner dying without children. 2nd. That if the widow and son and daughter of John Brundage took an estate in fee simple under the will, it was defeated by their death without children and John and Sarah Winters would take as executory devisees. 3rd. That Martha Ferguson having become the owner of the estate before the expiration of the lease, the plaintiff had an equitable claim against the property for the $2000 paid for the improvements; that the plaintiffs were only bound to pay according to their actual enjoyments of the property, and that at the death of Mrs. Gardner an account should be taken of the amount of benefit she had received from the buildings, and that the balance of the $2000 would be a lien on the estate: the land with the buildings having become the property of the defendants under the will.

THE GRAND SOUTHERN.

A Subscriber has read with "dismay" and "regrets" a recent reference to the Grand Southern Railroad in the Star; and with a view to setting us right on the subjects, sends us the following statistics, which he asks us to publish. We gladly do so:—
"This road, when completed, will by long odds shorten the distance between St. John and St. Stephen, so that the traveller can go to and from either of these places in a day. Beside a this it will give the inhabitants of the upper St. John the choice of two routes for travel and transporting their produce to the sea. Cheapness is invariably the result of competition, so that beyond doubt the rates of freight and travel will be down to the lowest figure."

NO PATENT, NO PAY.

Our correspondent would do well to bear in mind that we do not deary this railroad because of its connexion with the public. We are well aware that the more railroads the public have, the better it will be for the public: what we did express our fears about was that there would not be traffic enough to keep the road alive. Lowering the rates will not improve the prospects very much. Our correspondent gives some interesting figures. The population of the parishes through which the road will run is something considerable and well worthy of taking into account as population is one of the bases of railroad calculation:

Lancaster.....	4,821
Lepreau.....	562
Pennfield.....	998
St. George.....	3,314
St. Patrick.....	1,355
St. David.....	1,880
St. Stephen.....	6,515
Total.....	19,445

It will be observed that the good people did not forget the "Saints" in naming the parishes along this road. And further information:
Acres improved.....69,964
Acres under crop.....82,434

YIELD.
BUSHELS.
Oats.....64,726
Potatoes.....219,357
Buckwheat.....10,554
Turnips.....24,350
Hay, tons.....18,191

These figures were obtained from the census of 1871; but we presume since that time, Charlotte County has pushed vigorously ahead among its compeers.

TWO KERRYMEN IN ST. STEPHEN.

We have on hand an account of the annual Farmers' Dinner given some time ago at St. Stephen, at which the unfortunate Main, of the Courier, who abused us so badly a few days ago, played a most disgraceful part. There is a big, ignorant Kerryman named John S. Magee, who was also at the dinner: and a gentleman who was present assures us he is the most ungrainly and vulgar person that one can imagine when in a state of intoxication. We refer to this Kerryman because during Mr. Main's period of misfortune he edits the Courier, and made his boast a few days ago when a little more than "half on" that himself and his son, "which" is we suppose to all intents and purposes also a Kerryman—were helping Mr. Main to "squelch that Collins." Now in mercy's sake let us rather fall into the hands of poor delerious Main every week in the year, rather than once into the hands of those ignorant Kerryman.

THE 26TH OF FEBRUARY, 1880.

The suspense of the Country is over, and we are all rejoiced to hear that the wisdom of the Province will assemble on the date standing at the head.
Mr. A. G. Blair, the only Titan we know of extant, is bristling with anxiety for that eventful day, and has sat him down to patch up his tattered harness, and put a new point to his blunted spear. If this is any consolation to Mr. Blair, it would be cruel in us to spoil his diversion, and we shall not attempt it. Let the alchemist die over the Golden Elixir, and let the boy with his fragile wand imagine himself a Hector or a Ulysses. Men are at any rate only boys grown tall, and a forcible illustration of this we have in Mr. Blair's diversion.

But while we have no compassion at all for the political misfortunes of the Opposition, it does not follow that we keep our eyes closed to any weak or vicious policy that the Government might adopt. Nay more than this we think the Government that meets once a year and spends its time in wrangling over trifles and ascertaining the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee as is too often evinced in the ridiculous changes and amendments made in bills, is not worthy of support. There is something beyond this which Governments should make their duty. There are always interests, which, if they chose they might stimulate: we have no doubt but our Government have an eye to this fact. It was not till Horace Greely offered a bonus for the best field of corn raised in the United States that corn growing became a National industry. We think the time has arrived when our Government should offer a bonus for wheat raising. Suppose they granted $300, dividing that amount into four or five prizes, allotting say $100 for the best field of wheat beyond a certain minimum limit, and arranging the bonuses in proportion to the yields in a descending ratio! We shall have more on this subject, as space compels us now to come to a close.

Incendiarism.
About 9 o'clock Thursday evening smoke was discovered issuing from the lower windows of an untenanted house on the corner of Brunswick and Carleton streets. Before the Alexandria could arrive the fire had made considerable headway and the house was completely gutted. The building belonged to Mr. Thos. Jones, and was insured for $200 in the Queen. Damage estimated at $200. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary as the floor of the first flat was saturated with paraffine.

STAR BRIEFS.
—Prof. De Mill, of Dalhousie College is dead.
—Rev. Mr. Chilton lectures in the Orange Hall to-night on "The sufferings of Job."
—The press upon our columns this issue compels us to hold over several news advertisements till next.
—Mr. Chubbuck has been under the weather for some time. It is hoped that he will soon be able to resume the campaign.
—We have received no less than four communications complaining of tardiness of the Alexandria Company in getting to the fire on Thursday night.
—Some of the resurrectionists in the new City Council intend to move, on Tuesday next for the abolition of the city team, snow-plow, policemen and other civic appendages.
—Who is the coming man in the Council? We don't know. There are several who have been "coming" ever since we can remember, but in all probability they will not arrive during their natural life.
—The Fredericton Curling Club representatives leave for St. John on Tuesday next. They will play the "Zulu" the same afternoon, the St. Andrew's Club on Wednesday, and return by Thursday evening's train.
—A curious accident happened this morning. While two teams, one laden with hay and the other with wood, were crossing the river on Gibson Road, a "slew" took place, causing a collision which upset both the drivers.

LECTURE.
The third lecture of the Spring Hill Lecture Course was given Thursday evening by Rev. T. Neales, M.A., on the "Zulu." The discourse, which lasted nearly an hour, consisted in a very interesting description of the history and customs of this savage nation. The events from the first landing of the English at the Cape and the subsequent occupation of the country by the Dutch, down to the capture of the intrepid Cetewayo, were detailed, the lecturer's remarks giving great satisfaction to the large audience present. A large party of students from the University carried out the musical part of the programme, Messrs. Hanington and Grant operating on the piano in a highly artistic manner. The next lecture of the course will be given February 6th, by the Rev. W. O. Raymond, B.A.
—Rev. Mr. Brewer lectures on Thursday next in Nashwakis Hall on the subject "Let the Collier stick to his Last."

Business.
The employees and staff of the STAR office entertained Mr. C. A. Power, the foreman of this journal, who is about to leave us, with an oyster supper last evening. At the close of the repast Mr. P. was made the recipient of an address accompanying a very handsome gold pencil case, the united contribution of the various departments of the STAR. In recognition of his all times gentlemanly and workmanlike character, and expressing their well wishes for his continued success. A great variety of toasts were made. Mr. Hazen of the Telegraph excelling all former efforts, and Mr. Quinn of the Globe establishing forever a reputation as a vocalist of the very first order. Mr. P. leaves Fredericton carrying with him the best wishes of the STAR and all its adherents.
Curling.
Several practice games have taken place during the week between the rink of the Fredericton Curling Club, who are matched to play at St. John on Wednesday. On Thursday a very close contest between Rinks 1 and 3 was played with the following result:
Dibble, Cox, Smith, Howie, Rink 1.
Loggie, Skip, H. Grieve, Skip, 15.
Brilliant plays were made during this game by Messrs. Loggie, Cox and Butler. Yesterday Rink 1 and 2 tried conclusions—
J. A. Gieves, Hazen, McPherson, Smith, A. F. Street, Butler, Neil, Skip, J. B. Gieves, Skip, 17.
The play of Skip Gieves was exceptionally good.
Frauds.
A violent disturbance took place yesterday afternoon in Gaunce's stable, York street. A freckled boy, a native of Nova Scotia, seemed imbued with the iconoclastic fervor of Van. dals of old, and marched round brandishing a soldering iron, demolishing everything within reach and besmearing the stable hands in the office. After doling around among the coaches for some time officer Woodward made a rush, deprived him of his formidable weapon and though the prisoner resisted violently, kicking, biting, etc., lodged him in the police station.

Mr. Gibson's handsome donation.
Mr. A. Gibson has recently sent an example for some of our men of men by calling $300 towards the Irish Relief Fund. Mr. Gibson donated the amount by cash, believing that, when needed, if given, should be given promptly. Mr. Gibson's benevolence is highly commendable, and as the worldly goods of the cheerful giver always increase a year from now Mr. Gibson will be none the poorer for his generosity.
Enterprises.
Messrs. Sheel & Moore, of Bellis, P. E. I., are erecting a starch factory at that village. The machinery is now being imported. The firm have already stored up 30,000 bushels of potatoes. They will employ a number of hands, and use up 500 or 1000 bushels of potatoes per day when in operation. The factory will be run by steam.—Moncton Times.
Entertainment.
Last evening the scholars of the Madras Sunday School on King street were entertained by an exhibition of photographic transparencies. The views were reproduced upon the canvas with better effect than ever before in this city. Besides the scholars we noticed among the spectators His Lordship Bishop Medley, Prof. Bailey, Messrs. E. Jess and J. Habbit and many others. A very pleasant evening was spent.

The Farming Lands of Manitoba and New Brunswick.
The following is an extract from a letter received from a gentleman living in Quebec, conversant equally with the climate and resources of Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces:
Regarding Winnipeg, a very rapidly growing town representing people from all climes and in every stage of civilization, it is not necessary to state that it is the centre, the commissary department of the west, and the business done there must ever be extensive.
In considering Manitoba as a field of labor for young men of the class you mention (farmers) it will be necessary to go outside the town. All advice to young men of New Brunswick having emigrated to Manitoba in contemplation of the future, must depend entirely on their circumstances and moral stamina.
There are large tracts of very fine land in Restigouche, Victoria and Madawaska Counties. Along the banks of the Tobique and Restigouche there is a magnificent natural farming soil, but the great disadvantage lies in the difficulty of reaching these localities. As a general thing those acquainted with both counties consider that it is much more profitable to take hold of a farm all ready for the plough, than to spend so many of the best years of one's life clearing up a new farm and then getting as a result one far inferior in productive capacity to the farming land of the west.

True it has been urged by many that the distance from a suitable market is an important factor against the farmer in Manitoba. The reverse is the case; the demand more than equals the supply, as yet at least. Higher prices are obtained for produce in many parts of the North-West than in New Brunswick or any eastern province. The building of the Pacific R.R. furnishes a good market for produce. Again, though there are splendid farming lands in New Brunswick; there are none that I am aware of like the rich prairie soil of Manitoba and parts further west. In sections of the "Great North West," which has been raised for 50 or 60 years without a particle of manure or other fertilizing agency, and to 50 bushels per acre even now. Now when 100 acres of such land can obtain for $100, the cost of application and 100 acres more at $1 per acre, think, if I were a young man going in for farming, I should prefer to take land ready to plough, rather than pay from $1 to $2 per acre for land to be cleared and ready to make a living.
The next ten or twenty years will see thousands of miles of railway built across the Great North West. The building of these roads must make money plenty and keep up good prices, while if the route to Hudson Bay and thence to Liverpool (which will only require a road of about 200 miles in length to bring Winnipeg within the same distance of Liverpool as New York) you will find that the present Northwest will be the great granary and stock yard of the British Isles. Under such circumstances, laying aside the element of patriotism, which in the practical affairs of life does not amount to very much, I should certainly recommend any young man with the necessary amount of means and pluck to strike out boldly for Manitoba. Industry and prudence will bring him there a competent laborer at a much more rapid rate than in the wilderness lands of New Brunswick.

The settlers out there seem to be most energetic and pushing and are determined to make the Northwest what nature intended it should be. I see some idiot from Cole's Island, signing himself Parker or some such name, went out west and came back disgusted. My opinion of that weak-kneed fellow is that he would starve on a new farm.
If the N. B. R. Co. build the contemplated branch up the Tobique, which I fancy is largely visionary, it would help the settlement of the New Brunswick wilderness very much. But open within the so-called belt of Victoria and Madawaska, there is a good deal of inferior quality. And if the N. B. R. Co. can get rid of their lands on good terms I fancy they will do so. And in fact one of the best pieces of land, either to hand them back to the Government or to open them up as they are of very little present use.

Communications.
THE ALMS HOUSE.
LETTER No. 2.
To the Editor of the Star.
SIR—At the conclusion of Letter No. 1, I had reference to the Water Supply. I now beg to state that the late Mr. Fleming, the committee member to visit the water chest, an open, ugly looking structure, the keeper led the way, the committee following. We got as far as the entrance, when I for one, said, "cut it out." Mr. Fleming, in odour from it was dreadful, enough to poison the atmosphere even to the centre of the dwelling. Then to the washhouse, a dilapidated old building, not worth the name of a house, a here was the place the poor had to congregate for washing purposes. At that time Mr. Fleming told me he managed to raise a considerable amount of vegetables and roots, but he, after all the trouble of raising them, had no place to store them from the frost, and he was then with help and that help paid for out of his own pocket, excavating a spot to form a place for the washhouse to stow away the vegetables. He had raised, for the benefit of the poor as well as himself, even the fuel was exposed to the weather; no appropriate place to store mail shed to protect it in winter. The old people, some at that time bordering on one hundred years of age, and one over that age had no chance of promoting. A poor invalid had to be carried to a cold room, and in cold weather, where some were smoking, some coughing, some dying; among consumptives inhaling each others breath by day and night. Why should they not be placed in a room, say a covered or partly open veranda, where the poor could stretch their limbs, that is those who were able so to do? Another and the last on this subject is this: many very many of the old people in our Alms House have few, if any teeth in their gums, consequently their food should be of a soft nature. Now, as an eye witness, a few years ago, when in a contractor's butcher shop, I saw the meat for the Alms House poor cut off, and to my astonishment I saw one butcher take a slice of one neck—may be from some old cow or bull—then a slice off another. He then hekked a while and looked round the shop, when he pulled down a couple of old shanks, nearly black with age and covered with dirt, and gave a few slices from these, they were placed on the block, got a good pounding, an incision made in the centre of each piece, a lump of fat inserted, another flat tap with the hatchet, and passed off as fancy, for best steak. At this time I had nothing to do with the City Council, for if I had the public would have heard of this before to-day. Now why should this be allowed; surely it could not escape the notice of the Keeper of the Alms House, not get the meat by the quarter, alternate a hind and fore quarter, as do the military, and balance the account at the end of the month? By so doing, the Keeper could get a certain profit for corning, roasting, etc., instead of having "soup, soup" all the time; then the poor could have a roast joint one day, best steak another, soup another, and then corned beef. It is easy to work it; and at no greater expense, the soup could be used in puddings, that is if the poor ever see a pudding unless at Christmas.
Yours truly,
THOMAS MORRIS.
Fredericton, Jan. 30, 1880.

Dr. Clarke of Pogwash accidentally poisoned himself on Monday last, and died within an hour.
A man named Donovan of Ingonish, Cape Breton, committed suicide a few days ago by hanging. Cause, insanity.
Collections were taken up in the Roman Catholic Churches of Montreal, on Sunday last, for the Irish Relief Fund. It is stated that St. Patrick's alone contributed over $5000.
Kavanagh, of the North Sydney Express, who lately disappeared, and who endeavored to leave the impression of having committed suicide by drowning, rushed past and carried Kavanagh to a boat where he made good his escape to Isle Madame. Kavanagh had charge of the savings bank, and is reported to be a defaulter to the tune of ten thousand dollars.
HANDEL'S INTERFERENCE TO THE SEX.—Handel's attitude towards the sex seems to have been throughout his life one of indifference, although he excoriated little interest in women. With regard to a constitutional lack of tenderness, Handel was always to have found too much to do to be in any want of domestic affection. Once he might have made what society would have called a brilliant marriage, and was not dissatisfied with the stipulation, that he should give up his calling as a musician. This was not to be thought of, and the match came to nothing. His name is connected with no story of intrigue or of the society of the day, as to his female singers, with whom as an impresario he was in very close relations, he had obviously far too much contempt for them.

Christmas in Mexico.
Mexican mothers prepare for the Po-sachas as our people do for the Christmas tree or for the stockings that are to be hung over the hearstone. Toys and sweetmeats enough to give each child and servant a trifle for his or her successive nights are provided; images of the Holy Virgin and of a saint, Saint Joseph, still in hand, and a guardian angel are placed on a platform, which is covered with miniature trees, rocks and shrubbery arranged to represent a wild mountainous country. This is brilliantly illuminated with wax candles and is carried by two persons, attended by four "maids of honor" and four musicians. Next follow the ladies of the family, children and page boys, servants, walking in couples, all bearing lighted tapers. As soon as the procession has been formed the "Litany to the Virgin" is commenced, the musicians intently change the legends made by the children and musicians, and while chanting it all make the circuit of the house nine times (the arrangements of the corridors and rooms being always in procession to the door, and the music of the organ being unintermittedly the coup d'oeil is really beautiful and impressive). Then four persons, representing the dwellers in Jerusalem, enter a room and shut the door, the bearers of the holy images set down the latter before it, and one, representing St. Joseph, knocks and asks for a night's lodging; this is denied by those within. St. Joseph represents that he and his wife have come from Nazareth, and are very weary. He replies, "Go to an inn; we fear to admit strangers." "The inn is full," replies the stranger, "and my wife is unable to travel further." I am Joseph, and the cousin of Elizabeth, who has just whom an angel has announced the advent of the Messiah." As the last words are uttered (all is sung in verse, the musicians accompanying both parties) the door is opened, and the guests are joyfully welcomed, the platform or litter is borne into the apartment, the tapers are extinguished, the children clap their hands for joy and blow tapers. The bearers of the Olla then enter, and at that instant sets off sockets and Roman candles.
Then one is almost deafened by shouts of "The Olla!" "The Olla!" and the youngsters scamper away to the patio. Suspended on a rope a few feet from the ground is a earthen vase covered with fused flowers, etc., and filled with sweetmeats. This is the "Olla." The object is to break the Olla blindfolded. He who accomplishes this feat is the hero of the evening. The children are one at a time blindfolded, taken eight or ten steps from the Olla, whirled round two or three times and receive a cane or pole; each advances confidently, counts the steps, and when he fancies he has reached the Olla gives a terrible whack, which usually comes down on the flagging of the patio and only slings his fingers. If the children all fail, the servants take turns, but no matter who breaks the Olla the contest is left for the domestics, who, the moment the lucky blow scatters the sweets, flock round to gather them, laughing and scrambling for the greatest amount possible. This the Olla is left for the children to adjourn to the dining-room, where they receive their toys and candy. After that distribution has taken place the musicians are usually placed in an anteroom and dancing is kept up for a couple of hours in the parlor.
I have seen Posachas as elegant as an ordinary reception or soiree, but this year the festival was, in a certain family, given up entirely to the children and servants, and therefore I had an oppor-

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

IS A FACT ATTESTED BY THE HIGHEST MEDICAL AUTHORITIES IN THE WORLD.

A careful observation of the laws of health, and the systematic and persistent use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda will accomplish this result. This preparation has all the virtues of these two most valuable

GENTS.—I have frequently prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites during the past year, and regard it as a valuable preparation in scrofulous and consumptive cases, palatable and efficacious.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE:—Gentlemen.—Within the last year I have used in my own family, and in my private practice prescribed very extensively Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites and found it a most valuable preparation, especially in diseases of children. It is agreeable to the most delicate stomach; which renders it a very reliable agent as a nutritive remedy in consumptive and scrofulous cases.

Messrs. SCOTT & BOWNE:—Gentlemen.—In September, 1877, my health began to fail and my physician pronounced it spinal trouble; under his care I got some relief from pain, but my general health did not improve, and early in the winter I began to lose blood and rapidly grew weaker. In May last I was taken with a violent bleeding which brought me to my bed and my life was despaired of for many weeks; violent symptoms appeared, night and morning coughs, night sweats and short breath, and a return of the spinal trouble. My physician stopped the bleeding and then ordered Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Lime; and I used various preparations, but they did me no good. I lost all hope of life and was an object of pity to all my friends. Last September I purchased a bottle of your Emulsion and before it was all taken I felt a new strength, and he is improving now wonderfully. My recovery is exciting the surprise of many people, and all I can do is to make known your valuable medicine.
