The beginning of
"Paisley Flour"
 The SURE raising powder

was when Brown & Polson discovered that the addition of a proportion of their Corn Flour to the ordinary flour when making scones, buns, pastry and cakes, made a great improvement in added lightness, fineness and digestibility.

To the Corn Flour were added raising ingredients of the highest purity, resulting in the production of a new raising powder, which by its ease in use and improved results has marked an advance in home baking.

"Paisley Flour"—the SURE raising powder—is sold in 2 1/2, 1 1/2 and 3/4 cent tins, ready to mix 7 parts to 8 parts of ordinary flour. The 2 1/2 cent tins will raise 7 lbs. flour.

PURITY FLOUR And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage. There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage. That's "Purity."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Several weeks ago I asked my reader friends to join with me in a discussion on class distinction. Almost everyone admits there is such a fact as class. But not everyone is satisfied with the vulgar notion that the possession of money is the proper criterion. Therefore, I thought it would be interesting to find out what thinking people do make their class criterion? The good authority which says what qualities they consider place a man or woman in the "upper class."

Many interesting letters have come to me on this subject. I regret that I can only print a few. "You ask your readers to give their opinions on class distinction. Why not attribute class distinction to nature? The good authority which says all people are born free and equal is true as far as birth goes, but nature soon shows they are far from being equal and while children are more truly democratic than their elders, class distinction is soon in evidence in all our schools without regard to wealth or poverty. So it is evident that nature is the true author of class distinction and the "upper class" is the class we all look up to whether wealthy or otherwise. Am I not right?"

"To my way of thinking the upper class consists of those who possess that innate refinement which cannot be fully acquired but must be born in one—that refinement which, by its very nature, makes itself felt at all times. The individual who acts the perfect gentleman or lady under all circumstances and to all fellow creatures, no matter what their station in life, belongs to this class. Success or wealth count for nothing unless accompanied by refinement and culture; but the latter could be overlooked if the former were there. Without this refinement the sesame to this class is hidden."

"In my country (Germany) are many classes, all fully recognized. However, I believe there is only one class that is recognized as the best all over the world, as it brings forth our best and greatest thinkers and creators, our most intelligent and diligent men and women. We call it the 'educated,' or better, the 'refined (cultured) middle class.' The people of that class are never too rich, often very poor, and yet they will always be recognized by the 'highest' class as well as the lowest, as THE CLASS."

"In regard to who are the upper class, I would say that the upper class are those who are able to rise in the face of all obstacles from obscurity to fame by their own force of character. Someone has said that 'some people are born great, some have greatness thrust upon them and some become great on their own account.' Then, I would say, according to this philosophy, that it is only those who are able to make themselves great, provided they become so honestly, who are entitled to classify themselves as belonging to the upper class. There have ever been class differences, upper, middle and lower, both in birth, fortune and intellect, and that difference will continue while human nature lasts, the immortal declaration of independence to the contrary notwithstanding."

Red Cross Aids Nature The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, watery bowels, and obtaining and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—It pays better. But you are interested in your own health, and there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes. Separate tumblers that stick together, one inside the other, by pouring cold water into the inner one and then pouring fairly hot water on the outer one. The heat expands the outer glass and they soon separate.

When you buy new window shades get them or have them made a foot longer than you really need. Then when the hem wears out—as it will—cut off the torn part, reverse them and they will look like new.

To bleach faded muslin allow it to reach chloride of lime in every quart of water required. Still the article about in this water till all color has disappeared, and then rinse it very thoroughly in clear water.

Pots of mignonette on the window-sill are said to keep flies away, and chloride of lime on the ground below the window is also a preventive. Quassia chips soaked in water is much disliked by them, and so is borax.

Use two pieces of glass and two pictures placed back to back when passepartouting. Fasten the hangers to the cardboard between the two pictures. Then, when tired of one picture, turn its face to the wall and enjoy the other.

Wine stains on table linen should be covered immediately with salt and afterwards washed out in cold water. Should any stain remain, lay over it

The effect was magical; in five hours the pain had ceased and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

Hudson's Bay Railway. Tenders for Construction Opened—Work Starts Sept. 1. Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Tenders were opened for the construction of the first two hundred miles of the Hudson's Bay Railway yesterday afternoon. In all eight were received, two of the number, those of J. D. McArthur and M. J. O'Brien, being within the estimates secured by the Railway Department. The figures will have to be gone over in detail before any official announcement of the awarding of the contract is made. The successful contractor will be required to be at work Sept. 1. The surveyed route of the railway from Pas Mission to Port Nelson, is approximately five hundred miles. The present contract provides for the building of the line to Thicket Portage.

Girls' Dress with Peasant Yoke. Plaid gingham in blue and brown was here combined with plain brown gingham for contrast. The design makes an ideal summer frock, with its round neck and short sleeves. The fullness of the waist is gathered under the shaped belt. The pattern, suitable for any dress fabrics now in vogue, is cut in 6 sizes: 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for the 10 year size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

The Imperial Education Conference.

Among the conferences held this year was one of educational experts from different parts of the Empire. Among those who attended was Mr. Runciman, President of the Board of Education. In an address to the conference, he said:—
"We wish to bring into the common stock the intellectual forces of the whole Empire. Our Imperial strength is to be found in men. Well, the educator is producing men. The intelligence and the character of the Briton all over the world depend, in the first place, on the training he has received in his schools. . . . and, just as the main unity of our Empire depends on affection and interest and sentiment, so its strength depends on the intelligence which we can breed in our educational institutions." The conference, he explained, was intended not mainly to foster the imperial sentiment, but to give practical effect to that imperial sentiment by bringing together the knowledge and experience of different parts of the British Empire. Still, its main justification, he recognized, was "its personal interest. We are not only here to discuss education, but to meet educationalists. We want to come face to face with men who are directing or actually using the methods which they are describing or have described for our benefit."
A permanent committee was agreed upon, consisting of representatives of the several governments concerned, together with representatives of the Colonial Office, the India Office, the English and Scotch Education Offices, and the Irish Office, with functions as follows:—
(a) To keep in touch with the Office of Special Inquiries and Reports in carrying out its work;
(b) To communicate with the several governments concerned;
(c) To consider the suggestions submitted by the several governments of the Empire as to subjects to be discussed at future conferences.

Got Six Months.

The hearing in the case against Robertson and Beer for assault resumed last evening at 3 o'clock. Several witnesses were called. Both of the accused were sent to the witness stand. They denied the charge. Judge Conroy in delivering judgment severely commented on the conduct of the accused men. He believed the girls' evidence but did not believe the two young men. He sentenced the two men to six months' imprisonment.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mrs. C. Hutchings, of St. John's, is in town on a visit to her sister, Mrs. John L. Oke.
What came near being a serious fire occurred at the residence of Mr. K. Alcock, Water Street, early on Sunday morning. It is thought that a spark lodged in the base of the chimney and smouldering away all night broke into a flame about the time the family arose on Sunday morning. Not much damage was done.
Workmen on the new dock are now building a large scow which will be used in connection with the work.
While leisurely walking in Lady Pond Road last night about 9.20, and thinking how scarce items of news are at this season, we were surprised to hear the sound of scythes being sharpened. Following the sound we came upon a man cutting grass by moonlight. He had been working for himself all day and was then lending a hand to a neighbour. We have often heard of "making hay while the sun shines," but it is the first time we witnessed "cutting grass while the moon shines."

It would be a good thing if the energetic Chairman of the Road Board could put a few men on the Lady Pond Road and fix it up a bit before the Pegatta on the 23rd. The road is badly in need of being cleared of the loose stones about it.
The week-end excursions are being much availed of by our people, and the convenience is very much appreciated. By this means friends from this town, or in fact from any part of the Bay, may visit friends in any other part of the Bay and spend Sunday, returning home on Monday.
Mrs. C. H. Barnes and baby, of St. John's, are here on a visit to Mrs. B.'s mother, Mrs. J. T. Parsons.
Mrs. Miles (nee Miss Dora Bradbury), of Notre Dame Bay, is spending a few days among her friends here.
Miss Lily Oke, daughter of Mr. J. C. Oke, of St. John's, is enjoying a visit to town and is the guest of Judge and Mrs. Oke.
News was received in town yesterday of the death in Boston, after a very short illness of a former old resident of this town, Mr. Jonathan Parsons. Mr. Parsons removed to Boston some few years ago, and has since resided with his son in the big American city.

Home for Consumptives

COMMENBABLE WORK OF THE DAUGHTERS OF EMPIRE.
The Daughters of Empire have undertaken the erection of a Home for Consumptives. The site of the Home is at the junction of Blackmarsh and Mundy Pond Roads. The Home consists of a bungalow and two sleeping houses. The bungalow consists of a dining room, kitchen and apartments for the nurse and servants. On the south of the bungalow is a large verandah, which is intended for the use of patients and will afford them plenty of fresh air and protection from the rain and sun. Each sleeping house will contain three beds and will be well ventilated, the windows being replaced by shutters, which will be closed on the windward side of the house only. The house is pleasantly situated, surrounded by trees, and commands a grand view of the surrounding landscape. Dr. Brehm is looking after the sanitation and Nurse Campbell has offered to take charge of the Home for three months. Linen, kitchen utensils, furniture, etc., are still needed, and those who wish to help should communicate with Mrs. Miller, 26 Power Street. We congratulate the Daughters on this forward step in practical philanthropy.

Learned Much in the Old Land

London, Aug. 3.—Dr. J. W. Robertson, chairman of the Canadian Technical Commission, says there is no need for the Englishman to be self-deprecatory; the commission has learnt more in England and Scotland than in all the other countries it has visited.

Roberts Joins the Insurgents.

SPECIAL EVENING TELEGRAM.
LONDON, To-Day.
Premier Asquith was absent from the House of Commons on the advice of his physicians owing to an attack of laryngitis. Sir Edward Gray assumed the leadership of the Government forces. Lord Hugh Cecil started a repetition of the former uproar, but the Opposition did not appear to be anxious to follow his lead. He moved that the consideration of the bill be postponed for three months and said the Prime Minister ought to be subjected to the criminal law on a charge of high treason. This remark aroused the noisy protest from the ministerial benches, but the Speaker quelled the disorder. The bill, shorn of the vital amendments of the House of Lords, but with minor concessions added, will be presented to the House of Lords to-day. So many peers wish to take part in the debate that the vote on the bill is not likely to take place until Thursday. The Insurgents have obtained a weighty recruit in Lord Roberts, who has announced his intention to vote with the followers of Lord Salisbury against the measure. Lord Roberts contends that in politics as in war the path of duty is the path of safety.

That Naval Mutiny.

SPECIAL TO EVENING TELEGRAM.
MADRID, To-Day.
No details of the execution of the 26 tars are known here. According to a letter from an officer the mutiny was purely political. He says sixty sailors revolted with cries of "Long Live the Republic," and tried to take possession of the warship, but were overpowered and placed in irons. The Government attributes the mutiny to the anti-military campaign which is being carried on by the Socialists and the labor Unionists.

The regular monthly meeting of the above Association was held last night in the rooms over M. A. Bastow's auction market. After the regular business had been disposed of, Mr. J. Butler gave a most interesting account of his experience in poultry raising. A general discussion followed, chiefly concerning the brooding of chicken without hens or artificial heat, in which it appeared several of the members have been very successful.

Donor of Over Two Million Pounds

The gift of £2,000,000 made by the Dublin hospitals by Lord Iveagh in honour of the Royal visit to Ireland is but one of many given by the nobility for philanthropic purposes. Lord Iveagh's gifts alone were of a quarter of a million each—one to assist scientific research, another to improve the sanitary part of Dublin, a third to the house the London poor, and a fourth to the Jenner Institute of Medicine. Altogether Lord Iveagh has given away over £2,000,000. Lord Iveagh, who is a member of the great landed gentry of Guinness, is the father of those two clever brothers, the Hon. and Rupert and the Hon. Walter Guinness, both of whom take the keenest interest in philanthropic work. The Suffolk home of Lord Iveagh, Elveden Hall, is filled with treasures of almost priceless value, while the shooting there is considered to be the best in England.

THE PEOPLE'S PAPER. The Evening Telegram THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

The paper that goes into the homes of all the people must of necessity have a great influence; and that is where the EVENING TELEGRAM scores its strongest point—it influences the home—and the person who uses its columns for advertising purposes secures a wider field of publicity than can be obtained through any other newspaper in Newfoundland.

HOW "LLOYDS" BEGAN.

Founder of Enterprise Was Coffee House Keeper Whose Shop Vessel Owners Frequented.

Primarily "Lloyds" is a corporation employed in marine insurance and having a world wide agency for the collection of marine intelligence. Incidentally other insurance is taken. "Lloyds" had its origin in the enterprise of Edward Lloyd, a London coffee house keeper, whose place, opened in 1688, became a resort for ship-owners and ship captains. So much was learned of marine matters and so general became the interest in this information, that in 1692 an office was opened in Lombard Street, and shortly after "Lloyd's News," a paper issued three times a week and devoted to shipping news, made its appearance.

Adverse criticism of the paper by the British Government, coupled with a demand for an apology for an item of news which appeared in the paper, decided Mr. Lloyd to discontinue the publication. The insurance feature of "Lloyd's" originated from a method of mutually insuring of "underwriting" each other's shipping risks by the owners frequenting Lloyd's establishment. Their method of doing this of mutually insuring or "underwriting" their names to a document which stated the amounts that each was willing to give in the event of disaster to the risk.

The present system of "Lloyds" does not differ in any essential particular from the method employed at the beginning, but it is much better organized and the business has been vastly increased in volume. Its radius of operation now practically covers the whole world.

'To Kill the Flies.'

"Get out of here!" remarked the restaurant proprietor, as he saw a tramp coming in the door. "Get out of here!"

"Wait, kind sir," said the tramp; "I want to make you an offer."

"Don't want the floor scrubbed, tables washed, windows cleaned, or—"

"But, kind sir, I—"

"Get out!" and his hand reached for a bottle. "You fellows and the flies are enough to—"

"That's it, kind sir, that's it."

"The flies, I—"

"The flies?"

"Yes, you are troubled with flies?"

"Well, I should say so."

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do. You give me a dinner—"

"Not! Get out of here!"

"Hush, kind sir, hush. Listen to me. Do not get angry. It pains me to see you—"

"Well, hurry up and say what you want."

"Ah, kind sir, that is right. I can kill flies. Can kill thousands in a day."

"Oh, you can?"

"Yes, kind sir, yes. Now, if you'll give me a dinner, I'll show you how to kill every fly in this place."

"You won't break anything or mess—"

"No; I have a very simple way of doing it—a very simple way."

"All right, then. Sit down at the table and I'll fill you up."

The tramp sat down and the proprietor gave him a good dinner. The tramp ate it slowly. When he finished he got up and said: "Now, sir, I am ready."

"All right," was the reply. "How are you going to kill them?"

"Catch them for me and I'll show you," said the tramp, as he skipped out of the door.

'The Revolt of the Spooks.'

Three rough coffins, mouldy and rank, Lay exposed on the railway bank, Out of one of them fell . . . a hank Of plaited auburn hair!

Started wraiths in cloudy raiment, (Wondering what this new born ray meant), Questioned if the light of day meant Judgment Day! . . . or what!

"Long we've lain in peaceful slumber, Stowed away in bog and lumber, ("Years that none of us can number) "By the world forgot."

"Thinking nothing could distrust us, Waiting for the day superbus; "Nor, we hoped, would aught perturb us "In our narrow cot."

Then they rose! . . . (a gruesome sight) And walked the railway track by night, "Mock-beggar" folks were wild with fright; (They'll tell you they were not!)

Still, they knew what this portended, Said it meant the railway ended, Till those broken beds were mended In that awesome spot.

Meanwhile the ghosts in sad conclave, Had gathered round an open grave, And each in turn began to rave, And curse the situation.

A grisly fragment (once a man), Arranged his bones, and thus began; "Dear spectral friends, I have a plan For your consideration."

(With rattling bones and mouldy hair, For that is all of him was there,) One by one he made them swear To haunt the railway station.

"Haunt it waking, haunt it sleeping, "Haunt it till the town is "creeping," "Moths" trembling, children weeping!"

Such was his oration.

Next, a wizened creature rose, Half-kneeling (for he had no toes); "That's quite absurd what you propose, "There isn't any station!"

"Dear me," the other said, "That's true," "I quite forgot! But what say you?" "I say that we must make them rue Their ruthless ex-cavation."

Whizzing moans like muffled snores, (The analogue of live "encores" Attested the ghosts' applause And hearty approbation.

"We must haunt the 'right of way,' "Promenading night and day, "Till our bones are laid away "For one more long vacation."

Thus he spoke; and every ghost Was quickly stationed at his post; And then one cried: "I give a toast!" "To Railways! . . . condemn-nation!"

Just then the engine's whistle blew, (Astonishing that mouldy crew) But they had orders what to do, To check this innovation.

Hand in hand, across the track, They formed to force the engine back; And, sure enough, the train did slack! (What is the explanation?)

Threatening and black, in a cloud of steam, The engine reached the dividing stream, And stopped! . . . Did the driver hear a scream

Of ghostly imprecation? Whatever it was, he soon turned tail, (Mocked, as he went, by a ghostly wall), Nor since that day does he ever fail To stop at the "Graveyard Station."

LENOX. They're buried now. And lie at again at peace. Awaiting, (as must we), "The Last Release." Bonavia, July 24, 1911. R.

Woman's Hat Pin Pierced Man's Eye.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 3.—The turning of a woman's head may cost Daniel Mack, a vaudeville actor, his sight. Mack attempted to make his way through a dense theatre crowd on Market Street, last night. A woman beside him turned her head. A long steel hat pin projecting from her hat passed through Mack's right eyelid through his nose and into his left eye.

"You brats how dare you touch my hat," the woman cried as she felt a frantic thump on her forehead. With out looking around she wrenched the pin free and disappeared in the crowd, while Mack staggered blindly about the sidewalk.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

The Journals of this awe-struck nation turned loose great gasps of admiration, when Togo, grim and silent man, the hero of the new Japan, came here to make a little call; men whooped for Togo, one THE GREAT and all. And what has Brother Togo done, that he so much acclaim has won? He corded up dead men in rows, and splashed in bloodshed to his nose. I would not lift my old straw hat to one with such a fame as that. Had I been loafing 'round in Rome when old J. Caesar ambled home, with plunder from a hundred towns, and blood upon his handkerchiefs, he would have made me tired and sick, and I'd have slugged him with a brick. The centuries have rolled away, but we are wolves, the same to-day as were the men of ancient Rome, who halted the butcher coming home. That man is good enough for me who digs a well or plants a tree, or does some sane and useful thing, more comfort to the world to bring. I pass up Togo and his kind; I have a butcher in my mind who slaughters only pork and beef; I'll honor him, and call him chief.

Drown in Dory Swordfish Rams.

Boat in Which Nova Scotian Went Down is Found Pierced.

Newport, R.I., July 31.—That Capt. John Pettigard and three of the crew of the Boston fishing schooner Norlonis, wrecked in Friday's storm, were drowned after the dory in which they had sought safety had been rammed by a swordfish, was indicated when the dory was picked up to-day by the Gloucester sword fisherman Lafayette. The boat was pierced through and through by the fish's weapon, part of it still remaining in the hole it had made.

The manner in which the sword was broken off was believed by some of those aboard the Lafayette to indicate the four men in the little dory had first fought with the great fish for their lives and had hacked the long bony weapon in two. They were forced to abandon the swamped dory, and were drowned in the prevailing heavy seas, while four companions in another dory were picked up by Capt. Thomas Frost, of the Boston fishing schooner Esther Gray. The Lafayette weathered the storm of Friday and Saturday in a fine manner under the able guidance of her skipper. An interested passenger was John B. Connolly, the author, of Boston.

Lost Fifty Thousand on Empire Tour.

The Trip of the Sheffield Choir was a Financial Failure. Toronto, August 3.—That Charles A. E. Harris, of Ottawa, who shouldered the burden of an Empire tour for the Sheffield Choir of England, will be $50,000 out of pocket by the project, was the statement of Dr. Harris' business manager, W. J. Robinson, who has returned to Toronto. The choir is now on its way to South Africa from Australia, where immense audiences greeted the concert and civic receptions were offered on every hand. During some weeks of the Australian and New Zealand trip the receipts went as high as $40,000 a week, and the average through the Canadian West was also very large. Such receipts, however, large as they were, have proved insufficient to meet the cost of the trip, which included such items as renting ten steamships and engaging hotels.

Canadian Navy Likely to be Built in St. John.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—Although it has been officially announced that tenders for the construction of the Canadian Navy would not be awarded until after the smoke of combat on the Dominion elections has cleared away, the Herald understands to-day from excellent authority, that the tenders have received consideration, and have been figured upon.

The lowest tender was that of Campbell Laird Co., of England, who favor St. John, N.B., as a site for the shipbuilding and repair plant, and an additional $100,000 provided this plant is fully equipped and meets all the requirements arising as a steel shipbuilding yard.

His Worship added that while this sum of $200,000 was to be granted by the city, it was also thought that to secure the industry and the jobs, the provincial government should lend assistance, as the establishment here would benefit the entire province. He also stated that the city was disposed to do everything within its power to have a shipbuilding plant established here. The firms he had mentioned to were Swan & Hunter, Vickers Sons & Maxims, Campbell, Laird & Co., and one other.

C. C. C. the Champions.

The C. C. C. team by defeating the N. H. last evening by 4 goals to nil in the football match became the champions in the Inter-Brigade Football Matches.

The game was lively and exciting. After 5 minutes rushing play, Kent, of the C. C. C., scored number one. The Highlanders worked hard but could not do any scoring. The C. C. C. secured two more goals in this half, the honour falling to Carl and Kent.

SECOND HALF.

Resuming play, Rogers made a good attempt for goal but failed to score. The C. C. C. renewed their efforts and were urged on by the cheers of their friends. The Highlanders also played up well and did some brilliant work. Hart got a chance, passed to Carl who sent the ball safely in, making number four for the Cadets. During the next ten minutes both teams secured corners but nothing resulted. Ledingham had "hard lines" when the ball rolled from the cross bar to the top of the net. The N. H. did not abate their energy but kept up a hard fight to the end. They were not able, however, for the C. C. C. boys who played a grand game and well deserve the victory that they won and which makes them the champions and the holders of the cup for the second year.

The line up of the teams was as follows:—
C.C.C.—R. Walsh, goal; Gear, J. Walsh, backs; Hynes, W. Hart, Whalen, Kents, Rogers, forwards.
Highlanders—Stewart, goal; Adams, Coffield, backs; McKinley, Ledingham, Butler, halves; S. Robertson, Watson, Rennie, Auckinleck, E. Robertson, forwards.

Naval Memorandum.

London, Aug. 2.—The Birmingham Post complains that the principles of the naval memorandum are of an negative character. An arrangement is needed, it says, which would leave Great Britain in no possible doubt concerning the availability of the dominion navies in time of war, and the only way is to keep the Dominion Governments adequately informed of the British foreign policy.

LONDON, Aug. 8.
The motion of Parliament to censure the Government in the House of Commons was lost yesterday, with the result that the debate in the Lords' camp created little interest. The speeches of the Conservatives rang with a chorus of what the Government has prostituted as the prerogative of the Crown, for the purpose of carrying Home Rule for Ireland, without consulting the people.

Crews caused a sensation by admitting that the members of the Government were not all of one mind with respect of creating new peers. The King was regarded the plan with a legitimate reluctance that depended upon the action of the Lords, or whether the government would be compelled to create new peers.

Halsbury has charged Asquith as being guilty of an atrocious breach of trust, and drew a parallel with one urging an inexperienced King at the mercy of an astute lawyer, who told him that the creation of peers was the only way of solving the veto bill.

From Newport News.

Last evening the S. S. Calabria, 6 days out from Newport-News to Antwerp with a cargo of sulphur, put into this port. Her steam pipes got out of order last Monday, and the defect caused slow progress as well as damage. The captain decided to put in here to have the necessary repairs made; the Angel Engineering Co. are doing the work which it is expected will be finished this evening.

Seaman Injured.

A foreign sailor was knocked down by a horse on Water Street last night and injured about the legs so that he was unable to walk. He was taken to the police station where he spent the night.

The s.s. Pretorian will sail for Liverpool this evening.
The s.s. Calabria will continue her voyage to Antwerp to-night.

Griffin's Body Found.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—A few words to tell you that the body of the man Griffin was picked up on the 1st August in Red-Land Cove, on the sand, by Philip and Thomas Garsen, in the same place as his brother was picked up. The Cove is about half-way between Golden Bay and Point Lance. The body was coffined and given a decent burial. The funeral was attended by all the people of the place, both young and old, and the interment was made in Point Lance graveyard. There has been a day passed since the poor fellows were drowned but the Cove was visited by some one from Point Lance, and these boys left with the intention of looking for the body and were successful in finding it. They came home and told the men and six of them manned two dorris and went for the body and brought it to Point Lance.

Upton Sinclair is Out of Jail.

Wilmington, Aug. 2.—After 18 hours imprisonment in the Newcastle county workhouse, where they were sent by a magistrate on a charge of violating the Sunday laws prohibiting the playing of sports on the first day of the week, Upton Sinclair, the writer, and one of his fellow members of the Single Tax colony at Arden, near here, were given their liberty to-day.

All of the ten viewed their imprisonment as an "experience," although several of them nursed sore hands as the result of five hours' labour in the stone quarry of the workhouse. Sinclair said that the work on the colony did not blister his hands, because it was used to playing baseball and tennis.

Professor Joseph Garrod of the Northeast Manual Training School, Philadelphia, one of those imprisoned, carried away with him the plug of tobacco which is allotted daily to prisoners, and he declared he "was going to frame it."

George Brown, the dissatisfied member of the colony, who brought the prosecutions, expressed himself tonight as satisfied with the entire proceedings.

Laurier Stands Alone.

Fisher and Botha Have Disavowed the Neutrality Idea.
London, Aug. 2.—The Leader states that Premier Fisher indignantly has denied the authenticity of the interview in the Review of Reviews charging him with disloyalty to the Motherland, and the strange view apparently held by Laurier that one part of the Empire might remain neutral in a quarrel in which the others were concerned, has been disavowed with equal emphasis by Gen. Botha in South Africa and by his own party in Canada. "These things surely show how monstrous are the accusations of disloyalty brought so freely against the colonies on the slightest pretence by the party which claims to be exclusively imperialistic."

The British Navy

READY FOR WAR.

Not since the Emperor of Germany's historical challenge to Paul Kruger, whilst the Boer war was in progress, has the friendly relationship between England and Germany approached the point of breaking point, as during this last few days, through a speech made by Mr. Lord George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in reference to the Moroccan complications.

Whether war or not will depend on the diplomatic handling of the situation, by the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Sir Edward Grey, and the British Cabinet, in the first case, and whether Germany is in a state of preparedness to come to grips with the only nation she is in the opinion of those best able to judge, even likely to have occasion to go to war with, in the second case.

The British Navy was made the battle cry of the Unionist Party in the election of 1909, and Lord Charles Balfour, candidate for Portsmouth, and F. E. Smith, a Liverpool Unionist candidate for Liverpool, unfolded some authenticated statistics regarding the strength of the British in comparison to that of the German navy, at the date given and the state of the two powers, when their respective estimates for the immediate future were concluded, and the battleships provided for in them were afloat and in commission.

The statistics showed that according to the programme laid down for the Navy estimates by the Liberal Government, the comparison was distinctly unfavourable to Great Britain, and that Germany was every year becoming a serious menace and contender to England for supremacy of the sea.

Caused a Sensation.

The inspired and authenticated figures submitted, caused a profound sensation throughout the British Empire, urgent representations being made to the Mother Country by her Dominions beyond the seas, as well as the deep thinking Imperialists within the confines of the British Isles.

Long and earnest consultation by the peace-at-any-price party, resulted in significant additions being made in the navy estimates, bringing the provision for the next three years, up to something like the standard, asked for by the Unionists.

Since that time work at the ship-building yards and on a scheme of land fortifications on the east coast of England and Scotland has proceeded with a feverish rapidity, very little publicity having been given to the former and absolute secrecy maintained regarding the latter, so far as this could be attained.

It is not generally known that a scheme of land forts is at present being hurriedly completed on the east coast of Scotland, in which will be mounted guns of a heavy calibre and too, excepting that Germany is a little more prepared, and the task would not be so easy now, as it was then.

War May Come Suddenly.

It is generally conceded, however, that to enter into a naval war, is like taking a leap into the unknown. No one can say for certain how the huge fighting machines and their crews will behave in the real thing. Conditions aboard a warship are so different to anything ever experienced before, and it is this uncertainty in connection with the prospect of a naval war, that overawes the deep thinking minds of those who would be engaged therein, but as a fairly high authority, aboard a line of battleships, said to the writer when discussing this phase of the situation, while manoeuvring in the "Channels."

"We know as much about it as Germany. It will come suddenly, when it does come, and we will go as far as they do. All we are waiting for is the word. It will come some day, and the sooner the better!"

In the opinion of the writer there still is no war resulting from the present Moroccan complications. Although it is wonderful how simple an act can precipitate war. When it does come, it will be with dramatic suddenness, and according to expert opinion, will end with equally dramatic suddenness, by one of the contesting powers' annihilation. Luck will play an important part in the terrible contingency, and the defeated power will be a negligible quality in the world's naval forces for a century to come.

There will be no ultimatum issued, no Cabinet council meeting with the withdrawals of Ambassadors, the next and it is believed the final war, will begin and end in the North Sea, and that is the terrible contingency Great Britain never ceases to prepare for, but the first shot will never be fired by British guns, it is Germany, that is the menace to the world's peace.

Fist Fight in Hungarian House.

Budapest, Hungary, Aug. 3.—A live fist fight, to be followed by a duel with sabres, enlivened to-day's proceedings in the lower chamber which recently has suffered from dullness in consequence of the prolonged obstructive tactics of the opposition. An interruption of a debate started a row, and finally Herr Pozsgay, a Kossuth partisan made a dive for Herr Palf on the Government side. The latter met Pozsgay half way, dealing him a staggering right hand blow between the eyes. Confusion followed, and the President was obliged to suspend the session. Subsequently the duel was arranged.

Sprained Ankle Saturday Worked Again Monday

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment Did the Trick.

Mr. A. Carman, one of Davisville, Ontario's energetic young men, writes: "Some time ago I was getting over a wire fence, and when lifting my left foot, my right slipped, and in falling the heel of my boot caught the second wire, thus spraining my ankle."

From the pain I thought my leg was broken. I managed to get home, suffering great agony. My father walked over a mile to the druggist's, who sold him a bottle of Egyptian Liniment, which we applied with surprising results, for it relieved the pain almost instantly, and on the next day, Sunday, I was able to put my slipper on."

Though this was the worst accident I ever had, I was able to work on Monday without the loss of a single day. "Don't be without a bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. Accidents will happen. OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.
