Naval Funeral

Mammoth Gathering of Citizens Honors our Dead U. S. Naval Seaman—Remains now Enroute for U.S.A.

Never in the history of St. John's was there a more impressive sight seen on its streets than that which was witnessed on Sunday morning when the remains of the late Edward Oliver Joy, leading seaman of the United States Navy, which for five days lay in state at the Knights of Columbus Hall, were taken to the railway station and forwarded to the U. S. A. for burial. Before removing the body from the building, Right Rev. Monsignor McDermott, V.G., assisted by Rev. Fr. Pippy, recited the office for the dead. The casket, which was of a brown oak finish with beautiful silver mountings, was covered with the Stars and Stripes of the American Navy, and was reverently conveyed from the Council Chamber to the street and placed on a gun carriage by a squad from the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve. As the remains passed through the street door the firing squad from H. M. S. Briton presented arms while the vast concourse of citizens looked silently on, the men with heads uncovered. After the casket had been carefully arranged the procession proceeded down Prescott Street, up Water Street to the railway station in the following order:—

Band of the C. C. C.
Firing Squad, R.N.R.
Bluejackets drawing gun carriage.
American Consul and Vice-Consul.
Right Hon. Sir E. P. Morris and Hon. Dr. P. T. McGrath.
Lieut.-Col. Conroy and Comamnder McDermott, R.N.
American citizens.
Catholic Cadet Corps.
Newfoundland Forestry Company.
Newfoundland Volunteers.
Nfld. Royal Naval Reserve.
Knights of Columbus.
Citizens generally.

Mrs. R. Joy, mother of the deceased, viewed the procession from the office of the U. S. Consulate where she was accompanied by Mrs. Benedict, wife of the Consul, and before leaving for home expressed herself as deeply touched with the general sympathy shown and the many acts of kindness so willingly performed on behalf of her departed son. The Stars and Stripes flew at half-mast over the Consulate Office and the various Naval and Military bodies reached that point the command was given for eyes left. Along the route of March the C. C. C. Band played "Nearer My God to Thee" and "The Dead March in Saul." On reaching the railway station the casket was enclosed in a specially prepared strong covering painted battle-ship grey. The remains were again placed on the gun carriage and put on board the express. The floral wreaths were the prettiest seen in the city for some time and were kindly sent by the officers and crew of the American ship on which the deceased served, Officers and Reservists of H. M. S. Briton and American residents in the city.

Celebrities That Are Superstitious.

THEIR FEARS AND DELUSIONS.

It is an open secret in the Balkans that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria immediately has a fainting fit every time the sound of guns reaches his ears. Perhaps this is through sheer "foxy" Ferdinand lives in subject fear of being assassinated. Lord Roberts had a great aversion to black cats, and could not remain in the same room with one of these animals.

The Kaiser's father, Frederick III, could not look at a bunch of water-cress without being seized with a shivering fit. At the sound of the word "Iana" (wool) the late President Diaz of Mexico became sick.

A curious delusion haunted Pascal, the noted French philosopher. Although the most brilliant genius and wit of his time, he always thought he saw a yawning abyss on his left hand.

Parnell's horror of green was well known. He would not wear a coat of tie with any tinge of green in it, and he objected to anything like a green wallpaper. So strong was his aversion to the colour that one day, when a lady whom he knew very well came to see him in the House of Commons, he refused to shake hands with her because she was wearing a green dress, and hurried away from her as quickly as possible. One of England's greatest statesmen, Pitt the younger, fled at the sight of pigs.

As a young man, Sir Evelyn Wood, V.C., once rode a giraffe for fun. He was thrown off and kicked. Ever afterwards the sight of a giraffe or the picture of one produced a pain in the head, where the animal kicked him—Tie-Bits.

Clergyman Has Recovered

Was Unable to Fill Appointments and Greatly Discouraged by Continued Ill-health.

Gananoque, Ont., June 5th. — The many friends of Rev. George Alton are pleased to hear of his recovery after a long period of ill-health from biliousness, stomach troubles and severe headaches.

Rev. Alton had become very much discouraged over his inability to obtain relief, and thought he would have to quit the ministry, when fortunately he read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and began their use. He tells the particulars of his case in this interesting letter:

Rev. George Alton, Gananoque, Ont., writes: "I had been suffering from bilious attacks for four years. I was very weak, had headaches, and my stomach was so bad that I could hardly eat anything without being troubled by it. I had tried many cures, herbs, pills and salts, and was under the doctor's care for some time, but instead of getting better I seemed to get weaker. I was unable to fulfill my appointments on Sabbath and had to secure help. I used to take ditty spells and could not walk across the floor straight. I had almost given up all hope, and my wife said that if I did not get better we would have to leave the work of the ministry. However, in looking over the 'British Whig,' the well-known Kingston paper, I saw Dr. Chase's advertisement, and I read how Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills had helped others who were troubled as I was. I resolved to give these Pills a trial, and I must say that in a short time I obtained relief. I continued taking them for some time, and now I am able to resume my work again. From the benefit I have obtained from these pills, I would recommend them to all who suffer as I did."

Rev. C. Cunningham, 124 First Avenue, Toronto: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Rev. George Alton of Gananoque, and believe his statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

Veteran Reservist DIES AT GENERAL HOSPITAL. On Saturday afternoon at the General Hospital, after a brief illness, the death of Royal Naval Reservist Alan Hancock occurred. Deceased entered the institution on the day previous to undergo treatment for a growth in the throat, but despite the best medical attendance passed away at the time mentioned. The late Reservist Hancock was one of the longest service men in the Newfoundland Naval Reserve, having enlisted on the 19th day of December, 1902 and served for 14 years, 5 1/2 months. At the outbreak of hostilities he was also one of the first to respond to the call and sailed for England on the Franconia, Nov. 6th, 1914, and for over two years rendered valuable service to the Empire and the Grand Old Flag which he dearly loved. Most of the time he spent on the trawler Bodino as chief gunner and while on patrol in the North Sea succeeded, after a stiff fight, in sending a German submarine to the bottom. He was on the ill-fated H. M. S. Laurentic when she was torpedoed off the Coast of Ireland, on January 25th, 1917. For his gallant conduct in rescuing his shipmates under such trying conditions he was complimented by the Admiralty and given an extended furlough. Deceased was held in the highest esteem by the officers and men of the Royal Navy on board H. M. S. Briton and the other ships he had served on; they recognized in him a splendid type of British seaman. Left to mourn are a widow and a little son, to whom the Telegram offers deep sympathy.

Maid Antagonism.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Sex antagonism is an interesting phrase recently come into use. It means, of course, antagonism which because of their different viewpoints and interests, exist between the two sexes, even simultaneously with love.

As a mate to this phrase I suggest "maid antagonism"—the peculiar antagonism which subsists between women and their domestic helpers.

Surely you have noticed how many women seem almost to hate their girls, and to live in what is close to a state of petty warfare with them. Their conversations with each other about them is usually one long string of fault finding.

They Are As Critical As They Dare Be

Towards the maids themselves their manner is a combination of the forbearance imposed by the fear that if they lose one they will get something worse, plus as much criticism as they dare to give.

Some women nag their maids just as they do their husbands—only a little more "circumspectly" because a maid can fire up her job.

Of course with the average maid there is plenty of room for improvement but this fearful habit of picking on them is not the way to inspire it.

I suppose part of the trouble is that whereas the man in an office who commands other men has usually climbed up from the ranks, and knows what it is to be commanded, the woman with a maid has never been in the maid's place.

Clothed With a Little Brief Authority,

Needless to say, I do not exonerate the maid from blame. Labor conditions in this country have clothed her with a little brief authority and she uses it as people so clothed usually do.

It is maddening never to be able to have things done as you want them about your house, to see your dishes washed in greasy water, your pantry in disorder and good food thrown into the crumb-bucket unless you keep constantly at her helper.

My Favorite Dream. The Co-Operative Kitchen.

I have a friend of some means who once employed two maids. She has now put in every kind of labor saving device she can buy and gets along with one maid. She makes a distinct saving and finds life easier.

"In that direction," to my mind, lies the ultimate solution of the maid problem, the use of labor saving devices and perhaps some day that wonderful dream the cooperative kitchen.

I wish some philanthropist would use her fortune to develop that last idea. I don't believe she could add more to the happiness of the world.

SPUNK.

Spunk is a feminine substitute for temper which answers the same purpose when applied to the hide of a feeble husband.

It is one of the baffling perversities of human nature that a tall, thick-necked bridegroom who can lug four gripes on the honeymoon trip without sitting one side of a wing collar begins to develop paralysis of the leg muscles soon after moving into a fat furnished by the bride's father. This tendency can be overcome if the bride is a stalwart female who keeps a supply of spunk on hand for immediate use. Nothing will convert a lopsided bridegroom who has become partially ossified from leaning over a pool table into a knotty wage earner quicker than a wife with a spunky column and an axe heave.

The trouble with most wives who are married to a floating buoy is that their spunk oozes out just when it should step to the center of the ring and put up both dukes. In every town of any size sweet charity is dispensing XXX coffee and smoking tobacco to homes where the husband is stricken with paralysis from the collar bone down whenever the city is offering $3.50 a day for snow shovelers. Poverty is a terrible thing to contemplate, but it hasn't anything on the exhausted beneficiary of the poor relief fund who puts in four hours a day trying to coax the 15-ball into the corner pocket, with money earned on his wife's rub board. There would be less of this kind of manual labor, if the wife would greet her spouse at the front gate with a display of brass-trimmed spunk and a mop handle.

There is once in a while an occasion where husbands can use a little spunk to advantage, but the average husband is too soft-hearted and soft-headed to resort to extreme measures. Some of the greatest men this country ever produced, men who were obliged to have their shoes made to order, didn't have as much spunk in their whole body as a red-haired school ma'am has in her little finger. This teaches us that the helplessness of women is a ghastly witticism.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. THE CLOW GAS STEAM RADIATOR WAY. may 23/17

The Lads From Newfoundland.

(From an Ayr paper.)

My old friend, Matt, Anderson, the policeman poet, has sent me the following verses. He tells me the cause of the outbreak. On Monday afternoon while he was making his way for the station by Dalblair Road he met the Newfoundland Regiment, headed by its band and splendid Newfoundland dog. Result:

I gazed to-day on a glorious sight,
Which gave my heart such a pure delight,
And raised my soul to a newer height,
The Regiment from Newfoundland.

Oh, it was a sight to enthuse and inspire,
A friendship tested in smile and fire,
A heroic link of our great Empire,
All the way from Newfoundland.

Every kind of a hero was there,
The tall, the short, the dark, the fair;
While the glorious spirit to do and dare
Lit up those eyes from Newfoundland.

I've often read of that splendid corps,
But I never gazed on the lads before,
Who heard the call on that far-off shore,
And came to our help from Newfoundland.

And I thought of their mothers so far away,
Praying for these young heroes to-day,
That no evil spirit would lead astray
Their dear young lads from Newfoundland.

Token of friendship we feel and revere,
Emblem of Empire that's strong and sincere,
Onward to victory—with God ever,
I pray for the lads from Newfoundland.

MATTHEW ANDERSON,
(Ayrshire Policeman.)

DO YOU REALISE

that Zam-Buk is not an ordinary skin healer with unusual power in overcoming chronic skin troubles. Mr. John L. Frenette, of Nigadoo, Gloucester Co., N.B., writes: "Eczema developed on my head and spread rapidly, until my head was entirely covered with sores. I was attended by a doctor, but his treatment did not do me much good. By this time my head was in such a shocking condition that I determined to try something on my own account. Having heard of some wonderful cures effected by Zam-Buk, I commenced applying it, and the results were most encouraging. This marvellous balm soon ended the irritation and drew out all the inflammation. Then the sores began to heal and perseverance with Zam-Buk resulted in a complete cure." This skin healer is equally good for ringworm, salt rheum, ulcers, abscesses, running sores, bad legs, blood-poisoning, boils, piles, burns, scalds, cuts and all skin injuries. CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA.
LONDON, To-Day. A correspondent of the Times who has been some weeks in Russia studying the situation, telegraphs an estimate of the conditions, which, however, he says he gives with great reserve. Some of his statements follow: "I have an impression that all the revolutionary forces are somehow languishing; even the extremist followers of Lenin show little energy. This perhaps may be explained by the absolute decadence of Czarism, which was so rotten that it simply fell by itself without the possibility of resistance. It is remarkable how order has been preserved in Petrograd, although the police have been removed and replaced by the militia. In some cases expropriation occurred, but there were no strong anarchic movements, as there were after the revolution in 1905. This is partly because Czarism is not there to foster anarchy as a means of provocation, and partly because the war is operating as a strong check on the mind of the people. Since Czarism neither taught nor encouraged the people to work, the administration and organization of the new Government cannot be very efficient. The coalition is not any organization of strong political individuals but rather the organization of parties. There is a noticeable lack of unity. One Minister speaks against other Ministers, and in various departments, even military departments, new men who are thorough pacifists are appointed. I have been from the first convinced that the strategical situation of the Allies demands the strengthening of France. If Joffre and Petain have asked for American soldiers they have rightly gauged the real situation. An American army in France is necessary for an energetic prosecution of the war on the Western, Italian and Saloniki fronts; and a firm determination not to accept a premature peace will influence the Russian army and people and induce them to follow."

FRENCH PEACE TERMS.
PARIS, To-Day. By a vote of 453 to 55 the Deputies in secret session have adopted a resolution declaring that peace conditions must include the liberation of the territories occupied by the Germans, the return of Alsace Lorraine to France and just reparation for the damage done to the invaded regions. The resolution, which was accepted by the Government, also favours the creation of a League of Nations for the maintenance of peace. The secret session, which was adjourned from Saturday, continued all yesterday afternoon and evening until midnight.

FRENCH CREATE POLISH ARMY.
PARIS, To-Day. President Poincare has signed a decree creating a Polish army. The Poles now serving in the French Army will form the nucleus of the new force, and all other available Poles will be invited to enlist for the duration of the war. The men will fight under the ancient Polish flag, will be organized in the same manner as the French Army, and will be maintained at the expense of the French Government.

GERMAN DENIAL.
BERLIN, To-Day. Official denial was made to-day of a report received here from London that German naval forces had taken possession of the island of Margarita off the coast of Venezuela for the purpose of establishing a submarine base.

BULGARIANS CLAIM REPULSE.
SOFIA, To-Day. The repulse of numerous attacks on different parts of the Macedonian front is claimed in an official statement issued by the War Office on Monday.

A JUST REMONSTRANCE.
PARIS, To-Day. The Republic League of Alsace Lorraine, composed of Frenchmen belonging to Alsatian and Lorrain families, yesterday passed a resolution energetically protesting against what is termed the ambiguous and suspicious propaganda which under the humanitarian pretext of "Peace without annexation, based on the intangible rights of people to dispose of their own destinies," seeks to subordinate the return of Alsace Lorraine to the results of a referendum.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The schooner Mankato, Coronation, Pandora and Steadland left on Saturday for Labrador.

The s.s. Ochar arrived from Bell Island on Saturday evening. When nearing the wharf the propeller caught up a line that was made fast to a schooner at Munn's wharf and also to the coal barge in the harbor, and some difficulty was experienced in getting into the wharf.

Mr. John G. Munn and Mr. M. A. O'Brien, two of our former citizens who are now residing in St. John's, were in town yesterday. They left this afternoon for home.

Mrs. James H. Parsons, of Cathedral Street, passed away on Thursday last after a comparatively short illness. Mrs. Parsons, who was a daughter of the late Claudius Watts, Esq., had reached the age of 77 years. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended.

Mrs. Ash, wife of Mr. Thomas Ash, died on Saturday morning after a long illness. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

A memorial service to the memory of the late James Cron took place in St. Andrew's Church yesterday evening at 6.30. Rev. F. S. Coffin officiated and delivered a very timely and interesting address to the large congregation present, including King Edward Brigade, of which the late Pte. Cron was a member.

The Shipbuilding Co. has now a small cargo of coal being landed here and carted to their premises at Otterbury.

A good sign of codfish was in the market this morning. The price asked was considered very reasonable considering the high cost of other foodstuffs.

A certain Government official in town is said to be looking for Mary. If he finds her there will be trouble. We would advise him to remember the old adage, "Let sleeping dogs lie."

H. E. the Governor

Presented Medals Won by Our Brave Soldiers.

The grounds of Government House were the scene of a pleasing, fitting and historic ceremony yesterday forenoon when His Excellency the Governor presented the medals to the next of kin of the heroic soldiers who won them, in the presence of a large and representative gathering. His Excellency was attended by Capt. Riley, M.C., A.D.C., and Hon. R. Watson, A.D.C. Others prominent were Commander MacDermott, Major Montgomery, Inspector General Sullivan, Chief Justice Horwood, the Prime Minister, the Mayor, the Consuls of Allied and friendly nations, His Grace the Archbishop, Rev. James Brantley, representing the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, and members of both branches of the Legislature. Following a review of the Volunteers and Foresters, who were in charge of Capt. O'Grady, His Excellency addressed the assemblage, paying a tribute to the Newfoundland Regiment and particularly eulogizing those who had been honored by King and Empire for their conspicuous gallantry on the battlefield. There were ten members on the honor roll, two since deceased and two missing; and as the medals were presented to the relatives, His Excellency mentioned the deeds of valour and bravery of each individual soldier, extended congratulations and sympathy and earnestly hoped that those who were still alive would wear their honours for many years. The following are the awards made and to whom presented: Distinguished Conduct Medal, awarded to Lieut. C. Gardiner, who is missing since April 14th. Miss Gardiner, his sister, received the medal. His father lives at British Harbour, T. B.

Military Medal, 1319 Private D. Brown, at Wandsworth Hospital since April 4th, medal presented to his mother, Mrs. James Tilton, C.B.

Military Medal, 721 Lance Corporal A. Manuel, missing April 14th, presented to his father, Mr. Manuel, of Botwood.

Military Medal, 236 Corporal A. Webber, wounded April 21st, presented to his father, G. C. Webber, of Hr. Grace.

Military Medal, 856 Private T. W. McGrath, killed in action, Oct. 11th, 1916, presented to his mother, Mrs. T. J. McGrath, 46 Water Street, St. John's.

Military Medal and Russian Cross of St. George, 1184 Private G. Phillips, believed killed in action Oct. 11th, 1916, presented to his mother, Mrs. S. Phillips, of Whitbourne.

War Picture Great Success. There has never in the history of the British Theatre been such a crowd as attended Rossleys last night. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson entered at 8 p.m. and the show started at once. Long before that tickets were stopped selling as there was no room. The outbursts of applause all through the beautiful act and every scene called for fresh applause. The great war picture gives one a better idea of what our lads are going through day by day than all one could read of in a year. This picture is taken right at the firing line, and is more than interesting. Every person in the city should make an effort to see it. Coming soon, Corporal Jagers of the 60th Rifles who lost a leg in the Ypres battle; a wounded hero, and the only wounded Canadian in a vaudeville act this side of the Atlantic.

DEPART STRANDED.—Mr. R. J. Devereaux, M.H.A., had a message to-day from Flat Island, P.B., stating that Peter King's boat of Fox Hr., had struck on Stanley's Rock, Flat Island, and sunk. The crew are safe.

THE QUICKEST TRIP.—The express train reached the city at 1.15 p.m. yesterday, made the quickest trip this season. The road bed across country is now in good condition and from now on trains will arrive on or about schedule.

Our Baseball Column.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

THE MAIN MICROBE.

A microbe of mumps makes cute little bumps on the cheeks of the young and the fair; the microbe of gout bites the rich and the stout; 'Till they have to be rolled in a chair, the microbe of fever, one hot little bug, makes many a victim feel dizzy, but we speak of these germs in contemptuous terms when the Microbe of Baseball gets busy. The Microbe of Baseball arrives in the Spring, with his sword gleaming bright in the air; No mercy he'll show for the high or the low, and he tackles the young and the fair. The dignified banker who lunches with Ford, and the fellow who can't afford lunch, are stung by this Microbe's unmerciful sword, and they'll swarm to the park in a bunch. The mere sound of "microbe" will make a man squirm and toss in his bed of a night.

But the Microbe of Baseball's a cute little germ, and the rooters all welcome his bite. He puts on no lug, for he knows he's a bug like the rooters with whom he goes chumming. With the first day of Spring, prepare for his sting. For the Microbe of Baseball is coming.

HOW TO BE A BATTER.

(By Tyrus Raymond Cobb)
Any man or boy who wants to become a good batter must start off with confidence and nerve. By Jack Ness.
Any man or boy who wants to learn how to become a good hitter must start off with confidence and nerve. I discovered this many years ago when I was playing sand lot ball in Chicago as a kid. I never forgot my early training and I realize now that it was my greatest asset. I have seen many a promising young hitter fade away and lose a chance to become a big leaguer simply because he lacked the nerve to stand up there and look them over. I have also known many a naturally weak hitter who came to the front because he was not afraid to take a chance when the pitcher tried to bluff him.

Must Bluff Pitcher.

To become a 300 sticker, you should learn to bluff the boxman and never allow him to bluff you. Start in by training your eye. Watch the pitcher in his warm-up and find out what sort of stuff he puts on the ball. Never step in hand swing blindly without first knowing what you are up against. Some batters are born, but I believe that the majority of them are made.

Learn how to duck the dreaded bean ball. This is being used by the slabsters in every major, minor and bush team in the country right now, and it has taken the heart out of thousands of batters during the past few years.

The man or boy who does not first train his eye never will succeed with the big stick. The pitchers always try you out, and if they find that you hit without looking the ball over they will surely get you.

Must Display Nerve.

The bean ball spoils many batters because they are afraid of it and it spoils many more because they are too reckless and step into it. This is why I contend that the first move is to get your eye trained on the sphere, so as to have the jump on the pitcher.

The batter shows his nerve when he stands up at the plate and out-generals the pitcher. If he's faint-hearted the pitcher will nail him, no matter how good his eye may be, for pitchers as a general rule are very foxy.

When you think that you have trained your eye and that your nerve is strong enough to take a chance, it is up to you to make a study of how to hold your bat and how to take your position.

The young batter must have patience. He can not expect to master the trick in a day, or a week, or even in a month. Learning how to bat successfully is a tough old game. Make sure of your eye first, then test your nerve, and then make a study of how to become patient and don't lose your temper.

THE LOBSTER.

"Strike out!" the umpire loudly cried. The Lobster's eyes grew round and wide. He knew it should have been a ball and not a strike at all. "Are you dead on your feet?" came the manager's cry. "Don't stand there and let that kind go by!" "Strike two!" the umpire's call came ringing just as the Lobster finished swinging. "What is the matter? ar you dead? Use your head!" his manager said.

Motor Accident.

A fatal accident was narrowly averted at 4 p.m. Sunday at a point about one mile east of Holyrood, when a motor cycle with side car attached and occupied by Messrs. Shaw and Snow, the latter driving, dashed from the road into the woods to avoid collision with an approaching motor car, in which were Mr. and Mrs. F. Angel, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Angel. It happened that both motors met at a sharp turn in the road. The cycle, which was proceeding down a steep incline, was running on free wheel while the motor car, which was mounting the hill, was running on high gear. Mr. Snow in a desperate attempt to apply the brakes was thrown clear of his wheel, while Mr. Shaw who was seated in the side car was caught beneath the machine when it toppled over. Both received slight flesh wounds on the face, hands and legs, but fortunately escaped serious injury, and after completing some slight repairs to their cycle were able to proceed to the city. The drivers of both machines sounded their horns but owing to the high wind could not be heard.

Here and There.

Sunday's outgoing express reached Port aux Basques at 8.20 p.m. yesterday.

ESCAPED FROM ASYLUM.—The police were informed last evening that an aged female inmate had escaped from the Lunatic Asylum. She was not located up to this morning.

INEBRIATES ARRESTED.—The police made two arrests for drunkenness. Both men were released yesterday morning, one on deposit of $10 to appear in court to-day. Neither put in an appearance and the one who made the deposit will forfeit his 'green back' whilst the other has engaged a lawyer to defend him.

Editor's Experiment Fails.

Omitting News in Japan, He Finds, Does Not Pay.

To ascertain the tastes of his readers with regard to sensational stories, according to the East and West News Bureau in the Woolworth Building, Motono Elkichiro, editor of the Yomiuri, recently "held out" the story of a double suicide pact between the daughter of Count Yoshikawa, Vice President of the Privy Council, and a chauffeur, with the result that the with accepting bribes from the Yoshikawa family. Every other newspaper in Tokio printed the story American fashion.

Elkichiro based his action on a desire to protect the public from scandalous conduct. It is said the young editor is convinced of the truth of the saying of the late Charles A. Dana, that "whatever the Almighty permits to happen is fit to print." To deny the insinuation that the Yoshikawa family paid him to leave out the story, he printed: "The Yoshikawa family at once engaged a press agent and supplied the papers with complete details of the affair."

He later indulged in a long article about the aims of a newspaper, admitting that his attitude was a daring one. He confessed that if he followed the advice of the very few readers who approved his course "he would have no hope of continuing in business."

"We have come to the conclusion," he added, "that we must shape our editorial course in future according to the views of those who attacked us on the ground that we failed to fulfill our duties. Popular songs have been composed about the Yoshikawa incident, while a cinematograph company sent actors to the scene of the occurrence to take films of the re-enacted tragedy.—N. Y. Times.

LIBERTY BONDS.

WILLY MASON

If you believe in our country's right, and want to help her win the fight, then buy a liberty bond. If you're in earnest when you say you wish to help in every way you can, then buy a liberty bond. Now you've a chance that is a beauty, to clip off coupons like a plume, so buy a liberty bond. You wish to put some coin away for time of stress or rainy day? Then buy a liberty bond. Its value never will retreat, it's good as ever-lasting wheat, so buy a liberty bond. And when the course of war is run, you'll proudly tell what you have done, and show your liberty bond. And that will show you stood up strong to help your Uncle Sam along; hast, bought thy liberty bond? Oh, talk is cheap and war comes high, so let's be quiet an hour and buy a good old liberty bond. Don't let the rich man have them all; produce your pocketbook and call for one large liberty bond. The workers of this happy land should form in line, with cash in hand, to buy their liberty bonds. Then in the war they'll have a part; they're close up to the nation's heart, so buy a liberty bond.

NO EXCESSIVE WAR PROFITS.—When you order your suit from us you are assured of a square deal and full value for your money. A fine, serviceable suit in Serge or Tweed from $25 to $32, and an extra value Serge at $35. SPURRELL BROS., 365 Water St.—June 1, 1917.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, May 14th, 1917.
BAZAAR FOR THE BLINDED SOLDIERS.

Queen Alexandra, who opened the Albert Hall bazaar in aid of St. Dunstan's Hostel for blinded soldiers on May 7th, made a young artilleryman who was blinded at Suvla very happy. The ladies at the Duchess of Sutherland's stall learned that he was very anxious to present the Queen with a purple bag he had netted especially for her, but could not approach her. They arranged the matter, and when the Queen visited the stall the soldier had his chance. As he stooped to pick up the bag Queen Alexandra patted his shoulder and assured him earnestly that she would treasure his gift all her life. It was a remarkable bazaar. Royal Princesses, Duchesses and famous beauties, all of whom are taking ten hours of daily duty, presided over stalls loaded with beautiful or very useful gifts. Princess Louise displayed on her stall a miniature escriptoire she had used when a child. Lady Robertson sold soldiers' comforts. Lady Alexander, wonderfully dressed, made a speciality of flowery hats and smocks for women hand-workers. Lady Rothes offered an original copy of the Scottish Covenant of 1620, bearing as first signature that of the Earl of Rothes. The pride of one duchess was a Stradivarius, but it did not compare with the potatoes just arrived from the Transvaal, which sold at the Duchess of Somerset's stall for sixpence apiece.

MANNEQUIN'S BLACK BOY.

The mannequin fashion parade at the Albert Hall bazaar was an amusing item in the daily programme. Even the Royal stall holders neglected business to focus their attention on the platform where a succession of belles from famous models' ateliers pass slowly along against a black velvet curtain. One noted firm had sent three tiny girls, one a mere baby, to join the parade. These walked with the professional air, turning in the center to show the back view before gravely curtseying to the amused spectators. One languid belle had a small colored page boy in gay turban in attendance to carry her wonderful tulle cloak when she removed it to show the shimmering dress beneath. Longer skirts for walking and wispy trims for evening wear were features of these dresses, so was their simplicity, with a suggestion of dowdiness in some cases.

NO MORE STIFF COLLARS AND SHIRTS.

The order of the Food Controller against converting cereals into starch is now in force, and, although some laundries may have laid in unusual stocks, yet a few weeks will compel us all to wear limp linen. Already, to misquote Browning, "a viscid collar is observable" on Captain Bathurst, while Pemberton Billing was cheered by the House of Commons one afternoon last week for his choice of a costume which looks like a lounge suit worn over pyjamas. A starchless alternative to the soft linen collar has been seen in the House lately, also worn by Captain Bathurst—the stiff collar of celluloid.

THE WOMEN'S CORPS FOR FRANCE

The Women's Auxiliary Army Corps now has its headquarters at the Connaught Club, an enormous building near the Marble Arch (one of the entrances to Hyde Park, London), with room for nearly six hundred women. It is here that the drafts come for their two or three weeks of training in hygiene and discipline, and, short as that term is, I am told it effects an amazing change in many of the young, unformed girls. They pass out looking smart and erect, they stand how to march, and they understand how to address their officers, which means that in France—where they will be generally put on their honour as to ordinary behaviour, but will be subject to certain discipline—they will know how to obey orders. They have also lectures and practice in hygiene and first aid, and from various experienced women other lectures designed to give them wide views of their new duties. Great satisfaction is expressed at the fine types of womanhood selected. They are all ages from 20 to 40, but most of them are in the early twenties. Girls of all classes live and work together amicably, and those of them who are obliged even in the club to sleep on hard boards qualified only by straw pallets are quite cheerful in the knowledge that things may be rougher in France. The girls already at work in French base towns send home very happy accounts of their experiences. They were afraid that the men whose places they were to fill might resent their going, and were greatly pleased when they were heartily cheered by the soldiers marching out.

SELLING THE KAISER'S STUD.

A report has reached here from a neutral source, which in the circumstances may safely be trusted, that German agents have been endeavoring to negotiate the sale of the Kaiser's stud, which is known to comprise many English and Irish thoroughbreds purchased before the war. The horses were mostly kept at the Hoppenarten—the German Newmarket—until early this year, when they were moved to the neighborhood of Cassel; and the hope, apparently, was entertained until very recently that one or other of the South American Governments might be induced to purchase them for breeding purposes. These countries, however, are not anxious just now for direct dealings of any kind with Germany, and it is difficult to see what nation at this moment has either the means or the inclination to indulge in the purchase.

NOVELS IN SUMMER DRESS.

The London publishers are in an informal way exchanging ideas on the possibility of issuing new novels in paper covers. There is no love for such an expedient—for two reasons. In the first place, paper-bound books keep badly in the atmosphere of cities like London. In the second place, we have no real public, as in France, which likes to bind its books in its own way. But, as the saying has it, needs must when the devil drives; and certainly he is behind the scarcity of paper for new books. We may, therefore, quite expect to see many of the summer novels come out but only in the summer raiment of paper covers.

THE BEST PARLIAMENTARY "BILL" THIS SESSION.

The most surprised man in London recently was Mr. Byrne, one of the Nationalist members for Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Byrne was asking a question of Mr. Duke, and this is how he phrased it—"Is not the right hon. gentleman aware that large quantities of mill which were recently consumed in Dublin are now being exported to this country?" The House of Commons dearly loves a "bull," and it shrieked with delight. But Mr. Byrne did not see the joke, and frowned on the hilarity. "It's all very well for you to laugh, but it's serious for Ireland"—whereat the House laughed the more. Mr. Byrne was highly indignant when he sat down, but to do him justice he laughed too when Mr. Chancellor, sitting next to him, pointed the joke out. Certainly it was the best "bull" of the session.

THE "LIBERTY ART FABRICS" FOUNDER.

Sir Arthur Lazenby Liberty, whose death is announced, had touched our times unmistakably. His business in Regent Street has been a London institution for half a century. Liberty gowns and Liberty shades were the Futurist ideas of the seventies. They are enshrined in Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "Patience," and deserve a footnote in the history of Pre-Raphaelitism. Through his efforts delicate colors were introduced into dress fabrics, and the primary colors ceased to be the only wear. Russell, Morris, Watts, Whistler and Albert Moore frequented his shop and were interested in his experiments. It is curious that Sir Arthur Liberty lived into the times when primary colors have returned again as an advanced aesthetic cult.
