"My Hands Trembled and I Could Not Sleep"

Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes—

"When I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I was so nervous that when I picked up a cup of tea my hand would tremble like a leaf. I could not sleep well, could not remember things, and there were neuralgic pains through my body. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am in perfect health."

At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit

STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXXIII

Lord Fielden was in no way daunted by the darkness of the night. If the moon or the stars had been shining, the woman, let her be whom she might, would never have ventured through the park. The darkness had favored her; it would also favor him, in finding her. He thought that the best thing to do first was to go down to the lodge and see if any person had been noticed there.

The people at the lodge had seen no one; they were quite certain that no strange woman had passed through the gates—in fact, no person could pass through them without their knowledge; nor did they believe that it was likely any person could get into the park by the other entrances.

Lord Fielden's suspicions increased. The woman had evidently gained access to the park in some secret manner; therefore her purpose could not have been legitimate or honest. It was idle to suppose that robbery had been the motive; consequently Harry was more convinced than ever that the stranger was some person who had read the advertisement about Lola de Ferras, and wanted to discover the reason for it. As the woman had not passed through the gates, it seemed probable that she might still be in the park. If he could but find her! He knew the grounds well himself that he would linger all night in the park rather than she should escape him.

More than an hour passed, and he was no nearer the object of his search. Oh! surely there was a sound at last—that of slow, creeping, stealthy footsteps came nearer. He must see who it was without alarming her, and so he began to noiselessly retrace his footsteps, only pausing now and then to see if the other stealthy footsteps faltered.

He reached the end of the grove and stood waiting. He was brave and fearless as a lion, but there was a queer sensation at his heart as the stranger drew nearer and nearer.

The footsteps grew more distinct now that the grove was past, and presently they sounded quite close to him. He put out his hands, and they grasped a woman's garments. The woman stopped with a faint low cry.

"Who are you?" he exclaimed; but there was no answer. It was too dark to see. He only knew that he clouted a tall figure that seemed frozen with fear. There was silence for a minute, and then the woman struggled violently to free herself, all without a word.

"You shall not go," cried Lord Fielden, "until you have told me who you are! You need not struggle; you are not a strong woman, but I am a strong man. Such efforts to escape are useless. Tell me who you are and what is your business here, and then I will let you go."

She struggled with such violence to free herself from his grasp that the black cloak she wore was torn, her bonnet fell off, and with it something white and soft. She knew it was the wig which had so effectually disguised her, and with the knowledge came an access of despair; it made her so strong that this time she almost tore herself from her captor's grasp.

"No," he said, "I will not hurt you. I could bind you fast this moment if I liked; but I will not. If it pleases you, though, we will stand her until morning—until daylight dawns—so that I may see, if you will not tell me, who you are."

It was as much as he could do to hold the strange woman, but he kept her hands tightly grasped in his. How long a time passed in the terrible struggle he could not tell. He found presently that she was panting for breath, and that her strength was failing her, and that in a short time she must be still from sheer exhaustion. So it happened. After a few more efforts to free herself, she gave up struggling, and stood panting and trembling. Then came a long-drawn sigh, a low, piteous cry.

"For Heaven's sake, let me go!" she murmured.

"Tell me who you are and what you want," he said, "and you shall go the next moment."

"I am no one whom you know. I have been looking for work. I am a poor woman, and I have been to all the big houses to try to get some sewing. I came here to-day; but there was nothing for me to do. I was tired and hungry, and I fell asleep among the ferns in the park. I am only trying to find my way out of the park. I have done no harm. Let me go, for Heaven's sake!"

The woman's story might be true. He relaxed his hold.

"Tell me," he said "was it you who looked in at the dining-room window at the Manor and terrified a young lady?"

She was silent. He repeated the question.

"Yes," she said, "it was. I did not mean to frighten any one. I was cold and hungry. The bright lights attracted me, and I looked in. I meant no harm—I did no harm. Let me go!"

That one word "attracted" proved fatal. She had spoken in a low, murmuring, hoarse voice, almost impossible to distinguish; but in that word he had recognized the never-to-be-mistaken roll of the French "r" which the people of no other nation can imitate.

He grasped her more closely. "You are a Frenchwoman!" he cried. "You have perhaps come from that wicked woman herself!"

She struggled afresh with the strength of a man, uttering low, piteous cries; but in his strong grasp she was helpless as a child.

"You cannot escape," he said. "Your struggles are more vain than those of a bird in the fowler's net."

Just then a few rays of light broke through the clouds, they parted in majestic grandeur, rolling away in heavy masses of black and white vapor, leaving the moon sailing peacefully in the sky.

"Thank Heaven!" he cried. "Now I can see you!"

"Let me go," she wailed, piteously—"let me go!"

Resolutely she turned and bent her head, lest the moonlight should fall upon her face.

"I will kill myself if you try to look at me!" she cried.

"You cannot. Have you not the sense, woman, to know when you are conquered?"

She made a wild dash at him. It was her last hope. It was as though an ocean wave had hung itself against a rock—useless, vain, indeed injurious to herself. The last shred of disguise fell from her, and she stood revealed in the moonlight—which she cursed in her heart—a tall, stately woman, with a mass of black hair and dark, wild eyes, contrasting vividly with her white face; the false hair had been trampled under foot in the struggle. The moon now shone out more fully and clearly, that Lord Fielden could see every line of the stranger's face and figure.

In a moment it flashed across him who she was. This was no poor, common woman looking for work. She was rather like a queen of tragedy.

"I know you," he said. "You are the woman for whom I have been searching morning, noon and night, for whom I have sought all over Europe—you are Lola de Ferras!"

A low cry came from her lips, and Lord Fielden releasing his hold, she fell upon the ground, shuddering, trembling.

"You are Lola de Ferras," he repeated, "the woman who alone knows the secret of Sir Karl Allanmore's fate. You must come with me."

Her strength was gone. The mention of her name seemed to have paralyzed her. He raised her, and she made no resistance. He trampled the false hair under his feet.

"You will not want this again," he said. "You will have no more need for disguise. Come with me."

As he took her hands for the second time, his eyes fell upon her wedding-rings, and it startled him. Was she married, and to whom?

"Whether are you taking me?" she asked. "I will not go to the Manor House. Where are we going?"

"To the keeper's cottage," he replied. "I shall detain you there until you solve the mystery of Sir Karl's absence for us."

"Then I shall die there!" she replied, with a triumphant laugh.

"There are many clever inventions in this world, but I have not yet heard of one which can make a woman speak when she chooses to be silent."

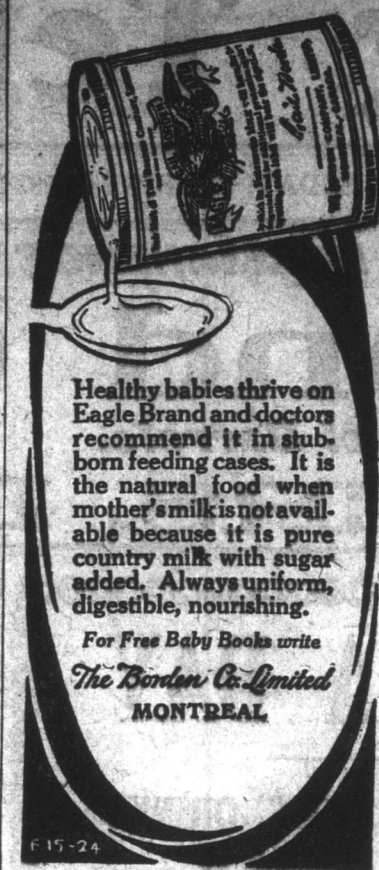

"Nor have I," he agreed, gravely. "I shall leave it to your sense of honor to speak. I am quite aware that I cannot compel you."

"You can lock me up, shut me in prison—you can do anything and everything you will; but I am queen of the position, and I shall remain so."

They reached the keeper's cottage at last; and she stood in silence while the door was unfastened. Lord Fielden kept a keen watch upon her, knowing well that she would make her escape if it were possible, and that he was resolved she should not do.

Primitive Babyans Brave Volcano to Hold Island Home

Manila, June 28 (A.P.)—The most primitive people of the entire Philippine archipelago dwell on the island of Babuyan, some 60 miles north of Luzon, according to members of Governor General Wood's party who visited that group recently. The total population of the island is 77, composed of 14 married men, the same number of married women, 20 adult unmarried women, 25 children of both sexes and four old women.

Money is unknown among the people, with the exception of Bernardino Rosal, the head man, who treasures a few silver pesos as a reminder of his former life in Luzon. Rosal is priest, judge, legislator and executive all in one. He officiates at funerals, marriages and births and adjusts all tribal differences.

Dr. Pacifico Laygo, an assistant in the Philippine Health Service, who was a member of the governor general's party, landed on Babuyan Island and explored the volcano which recently was in eruption.

"From the top of the mountain to the water's edge the once exuberant vegetation was burnt off and boulders, ashes and lava cover the mountain side," said Dr. Laygo. "A new crater appears to have formed from which steam is continuously rising. The advisability of transferring the inhabitants to the mainland of Luzon was discussed with the islanders, but they decided that they preferred to remain on Babuyan, although most of their corn and camote fields were destroyed by the eruption. They were terrified by the flow of rocks, ashes and steam from the volcano, but they could not be persuaded to leave, their only desire being to get to the northern end of the island where they believed they would be safe from future eruptions."

THE COSTLY CAR

WALT MASON

Choo-choo, choo-choo, little car, costly w a g o n that you are! Year by year you keep me broke, with my Sunday hat in soak. Says my wife, at divers times, "Why not save a w a y s o m e d i m e s? We are growing old, my dear, growing older every year, and a bundle would be nice, but we always lack the price. Go and see J. Henry Hank, he who runs the savings bank, and with him arrange to salt kopecks in his vault." "To that gratification," I reply, with earnest mien, "and she's needing gasoline; she's developing a knob, and the way mechanics talk all her works are badly ballad—she must soon be overhauled." Says my wife, "I sorely need quite a bunch of chicken-feed" for my bonnet is a shame and my shoes have made me lame; and the cottage needs repairs, and we must have rocking chairs, and the fence is out of plumb, and we look as though we're come from a line of backwoods boob—"But the fiver needs new tubes," I exclaim with rising ire, "and the sparkplugs will not fire; I need greases to anoint Lizzie's universal joint, and the wheels have come unpacked and the differential's cracked, and it's useless to insist on a lot of coin. I wist!" Chug-chug, chug-chug, little car, what a greedy thing you are!

Courts Dispose Quietly of Those Who Disturb

London, July 8. (A.P.)—In the central hall of the Law Courts there are staircases which wind round large pillars leading to corridors and galleries in which are various court rooms. Few people climbing them are aware that the huge pillars also contain specially built secret stairways for bringing down people who make themselves objectionable in court. They have been used on various occasions.

Once when a man flourished a revolver in court reinforcements were hurried up by the spiral stairway and the man brought down in the same way. On other occasions disturbers who chained themselves to the gallery have been brought down quietly by the secret way.

Limit the Conference to the Experts' Plan

"The Conference that is to deal with the reparations question in a new way is timed to meet in London in less than three weeks from now," says the Times.

"Besides France, the other European Allies—Belgium and Italy—have signified their intention of being represented, and it is important that the Government of the United States, in spite of their urgent domestic cares, have asked Mr. Kellogg and Colonel Logan to be present in a capacity not yet too closely defined. It may be assumed that this important Conference will be concerned exclusively with the application of the Dawes report. It is, indeed, necessary that it should be strictly limited to this purpose. "The procedure of the Conference, it may be supposed, not yet clearly determined. The Governments concerned have not had time to consult and agree on a method and a plan. There is talk of a preliminary discussion of principles, of a second stage when experts will be called in, and of a final stage with the participation of German representatives. All this, for the present, is subject to arrangement. What is necessary from the outset is to have clear aim and to ensure adequate thorough preparation. "The aim must be limited. Past conferences have revealed the various dangers of discussions at large, of excessive confidence in mere regarousness, or in the improvisations that meeting in conference may suggest. Surely we have had enough of these haphazard inspirations and of ready and untenable solutions at a green table. The forthcoming Conference, if it is to succeed, must devote itself to one sharply determined and restricted object. The opportunity is given in the Experts' scheme. It is an innovation, of course—a remarkable even a startling innovation, in international affairs. But it does happen to be the one practicable scheme for obtaining reparations that is now available. It is the only bridge by which we can pass from our present grave uncertainties on to what may be a firmer soil. There is no choice. "Either the Experts' scheme of indefinite floundering in a morass of wholly unregulated anomalies, such as the exploitation of foreign industry by military pressure in peace time. Therefore it is essential that the Conference should concentrate on the practical and speedy application of the Dawes report, and by its own speed and directness should make up for the time that has been lost through the hazards of politics since the report was published. "Surely it is advisable that this discussion should be kept apart from the practical work on reparations. For reparations a definite plan is ready to be applied. On the question of currency it is still in the realm of conjecture. The task of the July Conference is clearly indicated. It must be confined to the Experts' plan."

Suffered Misery With Itchy Eczema Cuticura Healed

"I was troubled with eczema for over two years. At first it appeared in small spots and then began to spread all over my face and head until I suffered awful misery. The itching and burning were terrible. At times I thought I would go crazy, and was obliged to give up my work. "I was treated and tried different ointments without any benefit. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. After the first application I felt relief. I continued the treatment for a time and now I am healed. I thought I would go crazy, and was obliged to give up my work. "Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Tablets are ideal for daily toilet use. Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: Cassell's Depot, 1000 N. O. House of Assembly Proceedings

MONDAY, August 4. The House met at 3 o'clock. Petitions were presented by Mr. Scammell and Hon. Mr. Higgins. NOTICE OF MOTION. The Prime Minister gave notice of a Bill respecting the sale of intoxicating liquors. The Minister of Justice introduced a Bill entitled "of the disembarkation of Paupers." ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS. Mr. Browne asked the Minister of Public Works if it is the intention of the Government to call for tenders for the supply of drugs to various Government Hospitals. The Minister of Public Works replied that the matter had not yet been considered by the Board of Works. Mr. Hickman asked the Prime Minister if it is the intention of the Government to pay a bonus on this season's catch of codfish. The Prime Minister in reply tabled the following answer:— My Manifesto stated that if necessary and compatible with the ability of the country to pay it, a bonus would be paid on fish. Occasion has not yet arisen for the Government to consider the matter further. WAYS AND MEANS. The House went into Committee of the whole on Ways and Means. Mr. Hickman discussing the budget referred to the bounty on fish promised by the Prime Minister in his Manifesto. The answer just tabled he thought meant there would be no bounty on fish this year and that was breaking a solemn pledge. He thought some action should be taken to offset an agreement with the United States whereby the heavy duty of $1.25 per qt. on codfish entering that country and her protectorate Porto Rico would be abolished; some agreement whereby this country would not allow liquors to come in in transit to the United States in return for this concession would be acceptable to him. He thought if the prohibiting of storing of these liquors would be enforced the United States could be induced in return to take this duty off, and the exports of codfish would materially increase. He did not think the Government had gone far enough in taking off duties, but should have removed them again from the necessities of life. The taking it off by Order in Council may have been illegal, but it was a technicality of which every Government was guilty. It would make a lot of difference to the poor fishermen. He deprecated the fact that the Railroad expenditure was not provided for in the estimates. He commented on the Minister's statement in the budget that the Railway was a depleted asset, and if that was the case where would the money to rebuild the Dock and run the steamers be found. He thought the House should make provision for it. The Civil Servants especially in the outports were becoming a heavy burden on account of their numbers. He said he thought there were enough Civil Servants in the country if they voted all one way to elect a party to power. He thought also that the Telegraph business of the country should be under one head. There was no necessity for both Railway agents and Telegraph operators to be in one settlement. It cost the country $77,000.00 last year to keep up a Telegraph line between St. John's and Port aux Basques. This could be obviated by using the one line. Mr. E. J. Cashin interjected the statement that the Government two years ago had made a contract with the Commercial Cable Co. whereby this line to Port aux Basques had to be kept up and we could not get away from it. Mr. Hickman said he stood corrected and said he was not in the House when the contract was made and did not study it. He then took up the question of tourist traffic, and said the country had a wonderful asset in its salmon rivers. Men in other countries would pay $10,000 for the hire of a small pool in which to fish for salmon. First we needed hotels and he had heard that the Government had in mind to start a good hotel, which he thought was a very good thing and would greatly benefit the country. In closing he said both the Logging Bill and the bill to amend the Election Act were brought in by Members of the Opposition with the best motives and not to influence the Bonavista bye-election. The discussion on the budget was continued by Mr. Halfyard, the Minister of Justice and Messrs. Sullivan, Cashin and Long. The other orders of the day were deferred. Adjournment was taken until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Good News for Ailing Women Much has been said for and against proprietary medicines by the medical profession. It will interest every woman to know that a recent country-wide canvass of over 121,000 purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as to the results received from its use, the replies received showed that ninety-eight out of every one hundred women had been benefited by its use. Therefore every sick and ailing woman owes it to herself to give this remarkably successful remedy a fair trial.

GOOD SPORTS.

Aboard S. S. Richmond, Aug. 4.—Out. Wade on board the Richmond, was naturally chagrined over the illness that brought his plane to grief and stopped his participation and that of Sergeant Ogden in the flight then it was so near conclusion, but he took the disappointment well. Describing his experiences Wade said: "It was the first time we had had trouble with the oil pump, and our second forced landing in the 9,000 mile flight. The first was on the Japanese coast when we came down for water. On yesterday's flight when the trouble came we small-d Lieutenant Smith by waving that we were forced down also that the engine was out of commission, requesting him to advise patrol. We expected to remain in the water until the Richmond arrived. We saw a merchant vessel at two o'clock in the afternoon but could not attract its attention. An hour later the trawler which rescued us was sighted. We

BELGIUM'S MINUTE OF SILENCE.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 4. On this tenth anniversary of the invasion of Belgium in the world war, at 9.30 o'clock this morning, the hour at which on August 4th, 1914, the first German troops crossed the Belgian frontier, sirens on Belgian factories and whistles of locomotives and steamships gave the signal for a minute of silence. Many of the inhabitants were indoors when after this brief interval bells rang out from every belfry recalling Belgium's liberation after her suffering.

YOUTHFUL MURDERER'S PLANS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4. Nathan Leopold Jr., has made his plans for three months work in case the court hearing in progress here before Judge John R. Caverly results in death sentences for him and Richard Lieb. Part of his plans were revealed by Dr. William A. White, Washington, alienist for the defence, in court proceedings and other plans were shown in letters written to fellow prisoners. Anticipating the time between the passing of sentence and his execution at three months, Dr. White told the court that Leopold planned first to write down ten riddles to be placed in a safe deposit box, after which he intended to appoint a commission of scientists to try to get into touch with him after death. Dr. White said Leopold did not believe in spiritualism, but said he expected to try to solve the riddles if they could be solved. This taken care of, he planned to write several books.

Winston Churchill and Lloyd George's Future

Mr. Winston Churchill writing on "The Future of Mr. Lloyd George" in the Weekly Dispatch, says:—"Mr. Lloyd George's situation at the Armistice was so magnificent that he could have afforded to give the most fearless expression to the highest promptings of his nature. He could have said, 'My task is done; but if I am to continue it can only be on the basis of my giving you my best judgment upon the great issues of the peace.' "There is no doubt what the response would have been. There was no need for electioneering, for promises and programmes, for the absurd reparations prospects which, though he did not proclaim, he tolerated. He could, in the hour of victory, have stood against the unbalanced mood of the nation. He could have struck the note of conciliation, of magnanimity; he could have revealed the far-sighted view which he commanded of the relations between the mighty vanquished and their conquerors. He would have succeeded, possibly quite easily; or, had he failed, he would have fallen so greatly that the future would have returned chastened to his hands. "But the pilot who had weathered the storm wanted too much to go on piloting, and on all sides he was pressed to do so. He became quite swiftly the servant and not the guide of the nation. He exploited the passions which he should have restrained; and from that moment the pinnacle to which he had been raised by the victory of the Empire, and his own great association with that victory, began to totter."

OUR REGATTA.

To-morrow, provided the clerk of the weather remains in his present amiable mood, the Regatta will be held, and from early morning all roads will lead to the lakeside. Quidi Vidi possesses many charms for the citizen of St. John's, and for at least one day in the year it exercises an influence which is peculiarly its own.

This is a rule which all who are familiar with the course of the Regatta, and even the stranger, be he prince or pauper, is quick to recognize and to conform with the observance.

It is a healthy sign that Newfoundlanders are so keenly interested in sport, and it speaks well for the whole of our athletes that they have maintained the true spirit of sportsmanship in all their contests, and that professionalism has never been permitted to creep in.

Long may the spirit of Quidi Vidi exert its influence. Long may the Regatta continue to be the event of the season, and may it never be said of us that we have allowed pleasures of a less bracing nature to interfere with the games which have given to our stock its chief characteristics.

Dr. G. N. Murphy's Office will close August 6th, for two weeks. July 26, 29.

Manager Glynn Mill Inn

GIVES VIEWS OF TROUBLE.

Four thousand men are on strike and the entire construction work of the Armstrong-Whitworth Co., at Corner Brook is paralyzed, according to Arthur Malkin, former manager of the Glynn Mill Inn there, in a statement to The Record on Thursday.

Mr. Malkin states that the laborers quit work on Monday last demanding a 10 per cent wage increase, and on the following day painters, plasterers and carpenters also went on strike. The company has been paying the men 25 cents per hour, and the workmen demand an increase of 10 cents per hour.

Up to the time of the strike, so Mr. Malkin states, the work at Corner Brook was progressing very favorably, and the present tie-up will be a big loss to the corporation. Nearly all of the men on strike are Newfoundlanders.

The hotel staff at Glynn Mill Inn quit following Mr. Malkin's removal from the position as manager. The entire staff expressed their disapproval of the treatment accorded Mr. Malkin by the company following the death of his wife, and refused to remain in the hotel's employ any longer.—Sydney Record, July 31.

Vice-President of Besco Outlines Conditions

Bell Island Will Not be Effectuated by Closure at Sydney Until Dec. 15th.

Mr. J. E. McLurg, Vice-President of Besco who has been at Bell Island accompanied by Messrs. Gillis and M. A. Doak, arrived in the city yesterday. The party crossed over to Bell Island on Saturday and spent the following day going over the plant there.

"The stoppage of operations at Sydney will reduce the shipments of ore to that point by an amount equal to one month's full operations. This effect will not be felt at Bell Island until the end of the shipping season about December 15th. The shipments to Germany will be continued for the balance of the season so employment for 1800 men will be continuous throughout the summer and autumn.

Sydney. These will not exceed one hundred and fifty. The shut down at Sydney was responsible for the suspension of work at Aquathuna, where 450 men were engaged quarrying limestone for steel plant consumption. These men were all Newfoundland workers and whereas they expected a full season's work, they had to be released in mid-summer.

Report on Corner Brook Strike

Yesterday the Prime Minister wired Mr. W. J. Browne, M.H.A. for St. John's West, who was a passenger on the incoming express to stop off at Corner Brook and investigate the cause of the trouble there.

"At your request I visited plant this morning, interviewed management, Butler and several men. Strike alleged to result from dissatisfaction on coal boat when 100 laborers were pushed harder than usual, as many cars waiting to be filled; also Bishop's agent, without consulting Butler, took some 30 carpenters as laborers on booms for 30 cents per hour. Men at town-site and plant have no grievance and were forced to quit. Company took the attitude that 25 cents was basic rate, and if increase were granted all other men would demand similar treatment.

Nfld. War Memorial

UNVEILING IN NEWFOUNDLAND BY LORD HAIG.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 1.—Stirring scenes marked the unveiling here today by Lord Haig of Newfoundland's National War Memorial, the function being the most impressive in the history of the island.

There were 7,000 visitors in the city and Lord Haig was received at all points with the greatest enthusiasm.

The courtesy of the United States and France in sending warships for the occasion was highly appreciated by the people of Newfoundland.

Memorial services were held in all the churches on Sunday and were largely attended. In the afternoon Lord Haig visited the cemetery and laid wreaths on the graves of the men who lost their lives as the result of the war.

Lord Haig addressed a meeting of veterans last night and reviewed the forces of the colony to-day. He will take part in other functions throughout the week.

The Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company, which makes paper for The Daily Mail, gave a much appreciated contribution towards the success of the movement for the war memorial by bringing from England gratis by the steamer Alconda, which was coming to Grand Falls to load paper, 500 tons of granite and statuary for the memorial itself.

The spirit animating the whole community was further shown by the wharf labourers landing the material gratis, truckmen also hauling it to the site without charge, while others gave much free work in all departments.

More money than is required for the monument, about £10,000, has been raised by public subscription, and a surplus of £800 is expected when all the expenses have been met.—Daily Mail.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

OPPOSITION OF GERMAN DELEGATES WILL BE LIMITED TO TWO ISSUES.

LONDON, Aug. 5.

The German Opposition to the program for launching the Dawes' plan which the Inter-Allied Conference has ready to lay before Chancellor Marx and his colleagues at noon to-morrow is not expected to be directed in the main against the actual arrangements of the conference, but rather against the extension of deliveries in kind of coke, dyes and coal beyond the Versailles treaty date of 1920; the other is arbitration of the question whether financial manoeuvres are taking place in Germany to defeat the functions of the Dawes' plan on technical grounds. Both of these objections would have to be deliberated according to the expert who is considered to have the greatest knowledge of the Dawes' plan, extension of deliveries in kind beyond 1920 were anticipated neither in the treaty nor in the Dawes' plan. Under the new regime, however, such deliveries are to be paid for by funds of the agent general not by Germany as heretofore, so that the German objections could hardly be justified, according to the American authorities. Similarly, technical objections could be raised on the other point, but this would be an admission that financial manoeuvres to frustrate the provisions of the Dawes' plan are going to take place in Germany—despite the absence of moral grounds for objection to the work of the Inter-Allied Conference the German Foreign Minister may unless an agreement is reached between the Allies and Germany on the question of military evacuation of the Ruhr. If a satisfactory settlement is forthcoming on this issue, the belief prevails that the Germans will not mention other technical issues. The German delegation will arrive in London to-morrow morning at 8.30 o'clock and will be quartered in one of London's finest hotels as the guests of the British Government. They will proceed to the official residence of Premier MacDonald at noon for a plenary session of the Inter-Allied Conference. Mr. MacDonald will open the session with an address of welcome to which it is expected the Germans will reply. The documents, which the Conference has drawn up, will be formally presented to the Germans for their consideration after which the Conference will adjourn. At the meeting of the chief delegates this morning little progress apparently was made toward a solution of the Ruhr railway problem. This however is considered a minor issue.

U. S. FLIERS MAY STILL KEEP TOGETHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.
A slight hope was held to-night in the War Department circles that the trio of United States around the world fliers might yet be able to complete their circuit navigation of the globe as a unit, despite the mishap yesterday to the "Boston" piloted by Lieut. Leigh Smith and Lieut. E. Nelson. A repair depot complete in every detail has been established at the Icelandic capital against just such an accident as that which befell the "Boston".

HALIFAX PREPARES TO WELCOME FLEET, DUE TO-DAY.

HALIFAX, Aug. 5.
The world cruising British naval squadron, commanded by Admiral Sir Frederick Fields which is due to arrive here to-morrow noon will find this historic naval station in gala attire and elaborate arrangements have been made for the formal social reception of the fleet and its personnel. If the present arrangements are not curtailed, the three ships Hood, Repulse, and Adelaide will be met by a swarm of boats of all sizes in the harbor and a sea plane will join in the welcoming throng. A salute from the citadel will announce the arrival of the Hood, Admiral Fields flagship, and immediately that host anchors Commander Brobant of H. M. C. Dockyard will go aboard for completion of reception details. Lt. Governor Grant will be the first to pay an official call and he will be followed in order by the general officers commanding the military district, Hon. D. A. Cameron representing the Premier of Nova Scotia, and Mayor John Murphy. At four fifteen Admiral Field will leave the Hood to acknowledge the calls, returning at once to meet the party of newspaper men at five-thirty. An interview has been arranged by wireless. A public reception will be held at the Provincial building Wednesday morning at ten thirty and a civic reception at the City Hall at eleven. The visit of the squadron is coincident with the celebration of the 175th anniversary of the founding of Halifax by the Hon. Edward Cornwallis, and Wednesday afternoon a replica of his battleship, the Sphinx, will sail down past the Hood, the mightiest fighting machine in the British Navy and the parent of the landing of Cornwallis the founder of the city will be staged on the shores of the North West Arm, many social functions have been arranged for both officers and men of the fleet.

C. N. R. ATTORNEY OPPOSES SEIZURE OF CAMOUFLAGED CARS.

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Aug. 5.
The Canadian National Railways, through their attorney representing them in Buffalo, to-day will oppose the court order sought by United States Attorney Wm. J. Donovan, authorizing the sale of three C. N. R. freight cars held in Buffalo, seized as a result of their use in the shipping of ale from Canada to the United States, camouflaged as other goods. The cars were placed under seizure in June. Two of them were waybilled as hay and one as straw and were so manufactured for supervision of the United States Customs as is customary in all border shipment by railway clerks. The court order sought will be opposed on the ground that the officials of the railway were unaware of any subterfuge when the ale was billed as other merchandise.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN NEGOTIATIONS BREAK DOWN.

LONDON, Aug. 5.
Negotiations between representatives of Great Britain and Soviet Russia have broken down and the projected treaty will not be signed, it was announced this morning by the Foreign Office. The British and Russian delegation were in session all night until 7.15 o'clock this morning, the announcement said. The Soviet representatives were unable to accept the amendment and concessions offered in regard to article 14 of the Draft Treaty. No agreement could be reached, it was stated.

K. K. K. AND ANTI-KLAN IN CONFLICT.

NILES, Ohio, Aug. 5.
Scores of persons are believed to have been bruised and beaten in a pitched battle in the street last night between about 750 men said to be members of the Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-Klan order, and some 500 Klansmen.

TWO QUESTIONS AT ISSUE.

LONDON, Aug. 5.
German delegates arriving here to-day to attend the Inter-Allied Conference are expected by noon to have before them the programme for the launching of the Dawes' plan which has resulted in Allied statements' labors of the last few weeks. That they will object to certain features is a foregone conclusion, but according to a high American authority there are two points to which they can technically do so. One of these is the provision for the extension of deliveries in kind of coke, dyes and coal beyond the Versailles Treaty date of 1920, and the other is the agreement on arbitration of the question whether financial manoeuvres are taking place in Germany to defeat the Dawes' plan.

HURRIED VISIT TO DUBLIN CAUSES FOREBODING.

LONDON, Aug. 5.
The sudden and unexpected journey to Dublin overnight of British Colonial Secretary, J. H. Thomas, and the Home Secretary, Arthur Henderson, causes foreboding in political quarters and in the newspapers to-day, where it was regarded as a dramatic development portending a graver turn to the Irish boundary question. Officials would not talk for publication, but the consensus of opinion of informed newspapermen was that Wm. T. Cosgrave, head of the Free State Government, had found upon his return from London that his ministerial colleagues were not prepared to support the British Government's proposal to introduce in the present session of Parliament, a bill amending the

According to this version the Free State ministers insisted that immediate action was necessary to prevent the Republicans taking things in their own hands and overturning the Dublin Government. Mr. Cosgrave, it was added, accordingly telephoned Premier MacDonald who conferred hurriedly with the Colonial Secretary and arranged that he and Mr. Henderson should go forthwith to Dublin.

Annual Derby To-Morrow

ARRANGEMENTS FINALIZED.

The final meeting of the Regatta Committee was held last night in the T. A. Armoury, when all matters in connection with to-morrow's big event were finalized. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and confirmed, Secretary Hills reported that Councilor Ryan had examined the water in the Pond and found it was unfit for use. To overcome this difficulty Mr. Ryan arranged with the Municipal Council to have three watering carts at the course with the necessary nozzles. In this manner the water and the public are assured of a fresh supply of water all day from the city main. Eighty-two applications were received for tent space. The various collectors made their final returns last night. Treasurer James reported that $1807.75 was now on hand, which is roughly $300.00 short of last year. With the usual entrance fees the total sum amounts to $1908.75. With only two crews entered for the Fishermen's Race, from Outer Cove, the Committee decided to strike this event off the programme, claiming there was no competition. The committee regretted having to take this action, but it was thought best to call off the race unless another crew from some other settlement competed. The Laouner's Race was also struck off the programme because only one crew had entered. Several changes in the Coxwains, and the replacing of men in the various boats were allowed, following which the drawing of stakes and buoys took place. President Hiscock on behalf of the Committee expressed appreciation of the generous donations that had been sent in. He also thanked the Committee for the able manner in which they had conducted the business of the Regatta during the past few weeks, and hoped that the big day would be the success they had endeavoured to make it. Should the weather look doubtful, the Committee will meet in the Armoury at 8.00 to-morrow morning, and decide if the event is to be postponed. At 10 o'clock they will assemble on the course to prepare for the first race, which starts at 10.30 sharp. The first race in the afternoon starts at 3 o'clock.

THE DASHES.
 Owing to five boats competing in the Junior Football and Mercantile races, two dashes were required to be run-off at Quidi Vidi last night in order to eliminate one boat in each race. A large crowd gathered at the Lakeside to witness the contests. The first dash, that of the Junior Footballers started at 7.30 and proved to be the prettiest and most gruelling event witnessed for many a year. At the C.L.B. Boat House not a half boat's length divided the five crews and the race to the stakes called forth prolonged excitement from the crowd which lined the bank. The Nellie R. crossed over first, about one foot in advance of the Red Cross second, while the third boat, Cadet finished about six feet in rear of the second, with Mary fourth and Guard last. The finish was so close that only one boat length was the difference in all five crews. The race at the Pond to-morrow promises to be a real thriller.

In the Mercantile dash the Nellie R., Cadet, Red Cross and Guard reached the post in the order mentioned, and qualified, while the Mary, rowed by Job's, finished last and was eliminated. This race proved very exciting, but was not so closely contested as the first one.
 During the evening the Mt. Cashel Band was at the lakeside and rendered appropriate airs until 10 p.m.
 All the crews are having a final practice to-day.

Garden Part at Asylum
 A garden party which was held at the Lunatic Asylum a few days ago by the superintendent and Mrs. Parsons, was a very successful affair, and provided the patients with a most enjoyable afternoon. Many prominent citizens were present and were much impressed with the thorough manner in which the patients were cared for, and the excellent arrangements which exist in the institution for their comfort. Such an event is a red letter day in the lives of the inmates, and Dr. Parsons' consideration was highly appreciated both by the guests and his patients.
 The Mount Cashel Garden Party Lottery will be drawn on Thursday next, the 7th inst. Tickets will be on sale at Cash's Tobacco Store until 4 p.m. Thursday.—aug.5.21

See Mars To-Night

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir—The fascinating experience and pleasure that the writer enjoyed on Tuesday 11 and 12 o'clock last night in viewing the planet Mars through a second rate field glass induces me to remind your readers who may have good telescopes or binoculars that they should not miss this opportunity to view the planet which is now in closer proximity to the earth than it will be for about 125 years. A direct line from the sun through the earth impinges on the planet Mars on the 15th and 16th of August, making the shortest possible distance between the two planets in their orbits. In a good field glass Mars presents itself in a globular form like a miniature moon with a tinge of light shades on its upper limb in reflecting the rays sent out to it by the sun. All the telescopes of the great observatories of the world will be levelled on Mars to-night and a radio plant on one of the Alpine plateaus in charge of the great astronomer Farnham will send out the most powerful electric waves directed to Mars, hoping that if the planet is inhabited there are intelligent people as there doing the same as he is doing, as they know the exact hour when our earth and Mars in their revolutions are in closest proximity. "Will there be any response from Mars?" is the most thrilling and awe-inspiring question that science has ever asked. Get out your glasses to-night, then, my friends, and direct them at 11 o'clock to the southern sky half way between the zenith and the horizon, and you will see our blaring red neighbor in all his martial glory such as residents on this earth will not see again for over a hundred years.
 Yours truly,
 P. K. D.

World's Rubber

It is estimated that the world's production of plantation rubber in 1924 will be 390,000 tons, and that the total production, including Brazilian and other native output, will be 421,000 tons, of which the United States will retain 315,000 tons. According to advices received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its English Information Service, the plantation production in 1923 amounted to 384,771 tons and the total world's production to 412,771 tons, of which the United States retained 300,384 tons and Great Britain 12,536 tons.
 The highest price of plantation rubber per pound in 1923 was 1s. 6d. 1/2d. and the lowest 1s. 1 1/4d. To the end of April, 1924, the highest price has been 1s. 2 1/2d. and the lowest price 9s 11 1/2d.
 The Stevenson Restriction Scheme which was put in force about eighteen months ago, was intended to stabilize the price and production. This scheme is said to have been successful so far, but the rubber trade of Great Britain is discussing how it may be improved for the benefit of all parties concerned. Its chief present defect is said to be its inflexibility. It is proposed to improve the scheme by the adoption of monthly decisions as to export allowances and the issue of monthly permits; also by reductions of 5 p.c. of the "Standard Production" for every penny or fraction of a penny under 1s. 0d. per pound. Another advantage of amending the scheme is said to be that an opportunity could be provided for participation by the Dutch. It is stated that both producers and consumers would benefit by this modification of the scheme, as the price and production would be much more rapidly stabilized owing to the absence of delay in either restricting production of rubber when it is not required or its ready release when it is wanted, resulting in a really stabilized market. The reassessment of the Standard Production now being made will date from November 1, 1923. Shipments of plantation rubber to date show a decrease of 7,217 tons and world shipments from producing countries, a decrease of 6,874 tons, as compared with the same period of 1923.

What we offer here has brought to millions new joys, new benefits. To men and women whiter teeth, to children new protection.
 It is a new way of teeth cleaning—a method which fights film. It is now used the world over, largely by dental advice. Learn what it means in your home, by this delightful test.
 Why few escape tooth troubles
 Film causes most tooth troubles—chat viscous film you feel. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it, so much film clings and stays.
 Soon that film discolors, forming dingy coats. Then teeth lose their beauty.
 Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.
 Such troubles became almost universal under old ways of teeth cleaning.
 Protect the Enamel
 Pepsodent disinfects the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.
 The results will amaze you
 Pepsodent does other things which research proved essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to better neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the pepsin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.
 The quick result is a new conception of what clean teeth mean.
 Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Our Greatest Secret Society

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE AN ODD-FELLOW.

Greater antiquity is claimed for the Order of Oddfellows, of which Princess Mary has just been initiated a member than any other friendly society.

Tradition ascribes its origin to Titus the Roman emperor, who is said to have presented the first charter to the society written on a tablet of gold. Most authorities, however, agree that the society cannot be traced back farther than about the middle of the eighteenth century when a lodge was founded in London under the name of Loyal Artificers.

Opposed by the Government. The early lodges were supported by penny subscriptions, which went to the assistance of needy members.

Towards the beginning of the nineteenth century numbers of the lodges were dispersed by the Government on the ground that their objects were seditious in principle.

By this time Government opposition was withdrawn, to be succeeded by the attacks of the clergy, who disliked the society's secrecy and ceremonial, as well as the anti-temperance attitude of many of the members. What was known as "wet rent," by which lodges were given free accommodation in public houses for their meetings, in return for which they bought all their drink there, was in vogue for years and led to much criticism.

Oddfellowship has to its credit many benevolent actions of far-reaching effect. Its members have subscribed hundreds of thousands of pounds to suffering people, one of its most notable achievements being the raising of £10,000 in record time for the assistance of victims of the great Lancashire cotton famine.

Lodges in Many Lands. Why the members should be called Oddfellows has never been determined satisfactorily.

The society's principles are to-day upheld in practically every country, the order having supporters in every European nation, as well as in America, Africa, and Asia, with lodges in such remote spots as Fiji, the Hawaiian Islands, the Barbadoes, and elsewhere.

Emigration Planned to Relieve Crowded Population in Japan

TOKIO, June 24 (A.P.)—Outlines of a new policy for relieving the pressure of population in Japan have been sketched by the committee on Emigration and Colonization of the new Imperial Economic Council.

"Japan's limited area, together with her large annual increase of population, presents a critical problem for the empire. Japan has no more important problem than to find an outlet for her surplus population."

"Hokkaido now has a population of 2,400,000, but has room for more than 4,000,000. A successful policy of emigration abroad requires judicious financing. Emigrants going abroad should not be permitted to leave Japan without sufficient funds for their proper establishments in their new homes."

A TALE OF TWO BOYS.

This is a tale of two boys who have had all the spending money they wanted this spring. (I can see my masculine readers between the age of five and 25, if I have any such, pricking up their ears at that.)

And who, in spite of having every cent they wanted, weren't hurt by it. (This is the moment for parents to sit up and take notice. For there are two aspects to the boy's spending money problem. The first is to find the necessary money. The second is to see that the boy's character isn't weakened and his sense of values spoiled by what you do for him.)

These two boys had a scheme as boys have been having ever since Tom Sawyer, and for some centuries before.

Not Just a Scheme.

And it wasn't like so many boys' schemes, just a scheme to be talked over with the wild reckoning of profits and then vanish before the next scheme.

No, it was a scheme that bore fruit at once in action. And the action consisted in going around to 400 houses carrying cards which bore this legend, WE DO ODD JOBS.

Such as Mowing lawns, putting up screens and awnings, gardening, washing whdows, washing dogs, washing autos, cleaning cellars, and so forth at reasonable rates. We guarantee to please.

Underneath this legend were the boys' names and phone numbers. They had 500 cards printed and had intended to deliver them all. The only reason they didn't was that they were swamped with work by the time they had carried around 400.

But It Won't Hurt Them.

All their after school time and their Saturdays were then filled up for two weeks by phone orders. At the end of two weeks they divided $25 between them.

A lot of spending money for boys of that age? Yes, but it won't harm them because they know that they had to work to get it and because they haven't got the leisure time to get into trouble with it. Besides, they don't regard it all as spending money; half of it is to be saved.

Think of the difference in character development between the boy who does a thing like that and the boy who is given his spending money and his father's automobile to drive, and who has a long summer vacation to use up some way.

Not One-Tenth as Afters.

That's the kind of boy whom the gentleman who is so much interested in finding occupation for idle hands is always shadowing. He doesn't waste his time hanging around the odd job boys. He knows it wouldn't pay. Oh, yes, he may meet them someday. But

THE FIRST WATCH.

If I were asked one thing to name Richer in pleasure's golden thrill which it has been my lot to claim. One treasure which surpasses all. The many which have made me glad. The greatest source of pride and joy would be that first real watch I had when I was but a little boy.

I found it at my breakfast plate. One birthday morning years ago. Nor have I language now to state. The gladness of that startled: "Oh! A watch! A real watch for me!" Such pleasure never comes again. But once in life a boy can be. So happy with a watch and chain.

The pride I felt I could not mask. Its ticking was a sound sublime. I hoped that passer-by would ask. "If I could tell to them the time. A hundred times a day, compelled by happy fears my play I dropped. And to my ears that watch I held. To be convinced it hadn't stopped.

It seemed to me the world must know That I possessed a time piece true: I had a treasure I must show. And artfully I did it to. I'd stand a thousand looks to see. If still those hands were moving round. And wondered if men noticed me. Or heard that gentle ticking sound.

Now to that first watch here I sing. This little feeble hymn of praise. And all my gratitude I bring. For radiant joy of by-gone days. And wheresoe'er there dwells a boy. He, too, shall know what I have known. And reach the topmost peak of joy. In that first watch he soon shall own.

only by chance and not one-tenth as often. Which is an even better reason than the $25 why the parents of those two boys have reason to congratulate themselves on the kind of boys they've brought up.

Grand Regatta Dance

C. C. C. HALL.

As will be seen by the large advertisement elsewhere in this issue, there will be a Big Regatta Dance in the C. C. C. Hall (King's Beach) on Regatta Night, Wednesday, August 6th, and no doubt, as last year's dance in this hall proved such a wonderful success, there will be a large attendance this year, as on this occasion the music will be supplied by the wonderful Boys' Band of Mount Cashel (by kind permission of Rev. Brother Dennis). They number 85 instruments, and under the baton of Mr. Arthur Bailey, will render the very latest Dance hits including Lancera, etc. Therefore, don't miss this BIG Dance in the BEST and BIGGEST Dance Hall in St. John's. Remember also, that should it be necessary to postpone the Regatta on Wednesday, August 6th, this Dance WILL NOT be postponed. It will take place on Wednesday Aug. 6th, rain or shine.

A general strike is in effect in the city of Orizaba, paralyzing all business and public services.

price of wheat advanced by steps to a total of 22 cents a bushel, which means $1.05 on the barrel of flour. It is now definitely certain that the wheat crop is short both in Canada and the United States. The Winnipeg record Wednesday went to 142 but swung back to 139 1/2. There is every possibility of a further advance in Winnipeg prices so that we may soon have our local quotation raised to $9. The duty lately imposed will be again taken off flour.

Market News

Codfish—The stocks of Newfoundland dried codfish in the Oporto market this week amount to 26,855 qts. with 4,572 qts. So much fish coming in has weakened the market and reduced the price. Spain is in good condition for new fish and Newfoundland cure suitable for Alicante will fetch a good price this month. The fish coming into the St. John's market this week from the suburban ports is selling at $8 to $8.50 according to quality and in spite of the congestion and reduced price in Portugal it is believed that the local price will keep up to the above figures on account of the well recognized fact that the shore is very short. Three cargoes aggregating about 8,000 qts. were shipped from the West Coast this week—all new fish for Oporto. The trap fishery is now over and as the fishing balance of the season will be confined to hook and line men and trawlers on squid bait. There is a hope that with good weather in August the total shore catch may turn out better than estimated to-day.

Cod Liver Oil—The total of manufactured medicinal oil will be very short this year in Newfoundland owing to the fact that fishermen preferred rotting their livers for common cod oil at the price offered for the former quality of oil. This should enhance the price of medicinal oil later on when the report of the U.S. scientists who have been at Bay Bulls all summer testing our Newfoundland oil is made known to the world. Munn's splendid exhibition at Wembley has already resulted in enquiries for Newfoundland refined oil and next season we anticipate a big demand for this product.

Cod Oil—The market in New York is weak owing to the large "carry over" of last year's oil and lack of demand from tanners. Figures have been obtained that show there are 8,000 barrels of 1923 cod oil still in Newfoundland, 3,000 in New York and 3,500 in Boston. It is easy to see how this will affect the market. The total production last year was about 29,000 barrels. This year, in spite of poor fishery reports, there is likely to be a good average production of oil. The livers are heavy and full and similar to the productive livers of 1914, which gave nearly a double quantity of oil. The new oil is now ready. The price is $110 to $115 according to quantity. We do not look for any sensational advances this fall on the cry of shortage in catch of fish. A purchase of oil 1,000 barrels was made in New York last week at a lower figure than that at which a local dealer could offer new common cod oil here.

Lobster—The lobster fishery, as regulated by law is now over, except in the Straits of Belle Isle section of the Newfoundland coast from Cape Gregory to Flower's Cove. From Cape Race to Cape Ray it ended by law on July 24th and on this side of the island, Cape Race to Cape John, on August 1st. In the Bonne Bay section we understand that the packers did much better work than last year. In St. George's the fishery was poor and from Cape Ray down to Placentia Bay inclusive there are a few places where packers were able to make it pay, but seventy per cent. of the coast reports only a half catch as compared with average past war years. The cry is that the fishery is going fast and the time is come when something should be done to save it if possible. The receipts here of new catch are smallest on record for this time of year. Price of good pack is $22.50 to $23.00. Flour—The market has been very quiet the past two weeks and the home advance caused by the reimposed duty the natural advance is going on in the U.S. markets so that between the two factors beef is so far 50 cents to $1 per barrel dearer according to grade. There is a good supply in the market here and the quantities coming in each boat from New York would indicate that our speculators realize that barreled beef is going to be much dearer later in the season. Leading brands here are now $26.50 wholesale. Other grades $22.50 to $24.50.

Molasses—The local price of choice is 87 cents per gallon in the punch-bon, one cent per gallon over last week. Fancy is quoted at 95 cents. There are three cargoes on the way from Barbados to this port, the Frank Adams is 20 days out. The new high duty will have to be paid on this which will make the price over 90 cents a gallon for choice and about $1.00 for fancy. Intimation has been given that the duty may be taken off again next winter when parliament meets.

Sugar—The market is practically unchanged. The consumption in the United States is beating all previous records and for the six months of 1924 to June 30th was 2,584,972 tons, an increase of 3.52 per cent. over 1923, which also held their record. A plentiful supply of available sugar is recognized with the result that every one expects another fall market. The local market carries fair stocks and $7.35 per 100 lbs. is about the lowest price.

Tea—All advices from London by tea importers indicate a strong market. During the past six weeks market grades have advanced three cents per pound. The new crop teas will shortly be ready for shipment to the British markets from India and Ceylon in large quantity and will be in our own market in September. There is not much change in the higher grades so far. Quotations here range from 35 to 80 cents per lb. Hay and Oats—The home grown crop now being reaped turned out much better than was expected in mid July. The Canadian crop is also good and fairly low prices are likely to prevail for new crop during the coming fall. The present quotations for baled hay are $31 to $32. The price of oats is advancing and the opinion prevails amongst some importers that oats for delivery in the fall will be much higher than the present quotation of $3.50 to $3.60 per sack of four bushels.

In its dainty design and new blue and white dress the five cent Ivory Soap makes an instant appeal to ladies of good taste.—adv.t

Manchurian Chief Holds up Railway Agreement

Peking, (Canadian Press)—Ignoring the arrangement reached between Karakhan, the Soviet emissary, and the Peking government regarding the status and operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which links Siberian Russia with the Chinese Republic, Chang Tsoo-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, through whose territory the railway runs, refuses to sanction the deal and declares that no agreement must be devised, with himself as one of the parties to be considered.

The attitude of Chang Tsoo-Lin leaves the railway situation surrounded with uncertainty again, and if the Peking government intends to pay no attention to the Mukden superintendent and carry out the agreement with the Soviet, serious complications may follow. Wu Pei Fu, Chang's old rival, is said to have forced the Chinese government into an agreement with the Soviet, and if these two generals are offered a serious pretext such as the railway situation is likely to do, there may be bloodshed again before winter. In the meantime Peking politicians are endeavoring to reconcile Chang Tsoo-Lin and make it appear as though, while he was not consulted in the matter, the government had no intention of ignoring him in the negotiations, even though legally the Manchurian chief had no right to expect consideration of any kind.

The Education of the Deaf

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club on Thursday last the address was delivered by Miss Annie MacKay...

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—I feel that I should apologize for presuming to speak to you, for I have never tried to do anything of the kind before...

There are various causes of deafness. Some become deaf from the onset of some child's disease, most notably among these diseases being measles, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, meningitis, etc.

Our work with her is to teach her to become a good lip-reader. A little boy, became deaf from an attack of spinal meningitis when he was six years old. The attack was so severe that it caused him to forget his language and even his speech.

It is often very difficult for those unaccustomed to the deaf to understand their speech, but from constant use, one soon learns to understand them. If you ever meet a deaf person who speaks, and you do not understand him, don't give up trying to do so, and you will be surprised at how quickly you learn.

The boys and girls do a great deal of the work about the building, and we are thus enabled to get along with a smaller domestic staff.

learning language, for, year after year, we are always meeting fresh ones. The hearing child is surrounded by languages every moment of his waking hours, and he hears all the ordinary words hundreds of times a day.

Outside of school hours, the boys learn printing, and take manual training. They print a small paper of school news every month, and a printer comes in the afternoon to teach them to set type. Some of them go in for printing afterwards, and the work they have done at school, while by no means a complete training for a tradesman, helps them in their manual training class they do very good work of very nice trays and other pieces of work.

It is certainly a glad to know that Pearlina can be had here again, said a lady in C. P. Egan's store the other day. There are many women who will be pleased to hear that the great washing powder—Pearlina—can be obtained locally again.

Quantity Price Fair and Unfair--

Any grocer who sells BABBITTS soap loyally and faithfully is entitled to just as good treatment and just as fair a field for profit as any other grocer. Favoritism is what kills the independent retailer.

We have only one concession for quantity— that which the buyer actually earns in the right saving. We don't give it to him; he earns it.

We agree with the Retail Grocers that differentials so great that they upset fair competition should be condemned. The wonderful popularity of BABBITTS soap is built on fair sales policies and real value to the consumer.
