Guelph Evening Mercury
FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 14, 1873.

THERE is to be a Social held in the basement of Knox Church, for the benefit of the Sunday School, on Tuesday evening next. A good programme is prepared, in which our old friend, Mr. T. Taylor, figures prominently. Don't fail to go. 1t

Town and County News.

The weather has been uncomfortably cold for the past week, but it is a little milder to-day. Snow is falling.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A fine child, son of Mr. G. C. Cunningham, of St. Marys, fell into a pail of boiling water, on Saturday, and was so badly burned that death put an end to his sufferings about six hours after the occurrence.

By reference to posters it will be seen that sealed tenders will be received by the architect, Mr. Stephen Boulton, up to the 15th inst., for the necessary work in connection with an addition to the Deputy Clerk of the Crown's office here.

CATHOLIC CHURCH CONCERT.—The concert given in the Drill Shed, Fergus, on Wednesday night, in aid of the Catholic Church at Elora, was crowded to the door. The singing was good, and the instrumental part of the entertainment of a very high order. The affair was a grand success, and netted a large amount.

FELONY ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY.—At a meeting of this society held recently, the following officers were elected:—Mr. Chas. Banting, President; Mr. J. Quirk, Vice-President; Mr. S. McLean, Secretary; Mr. J. Carey, Treasurer. It was resolved to celebrate St. Patrick's day by a dinner at Mr. P. Hefferman's Royal Hotel.

ALARM OF FIRE.—On Sunday night just at the service in the Baptist Church, Mount Forest, was being concluded, Mr. Falkner's house was found to be on fire. Upon going out in the evening he put some kindling wood in the oven of the stove to dry, and upon coming home found the house full of smoke, the ceiling having taken fire, coals had fallen on to the floor setting it on fire, in two or three places. In a few minutes more the house would have been consumed.

MEETING OF LAND SURVEYORS.—At a meeting of a few Provincial Land Surveyors held in Guelph, on the 14th inst., it was agreed to adhere to the rate of $8 per day and expenses for field work, pending a convention of the profession at Toronto of some other place to be named. The following incidents were agreed to, viz.:—Every day in office, $6; Polar observation, $2; ordinary description, $2; rate descriptions, $5 (including correct- ing); correspondence, 25c. It was also enjoined upon the profession to enforce the provisions of the Statute for illegal practice.

SOCIAL.—The social held in the Methodist Church here on Thursday evening passed off pleasantly and agreeably. The absence of Mr. Harper, through continued indisposition, was much regretted. The attendance was fair, and the proceeds handsome—$23. The choir contributed greatly to the evening's entertainment. The Misses Stevenson sang "Too Late" peculiarly sweet. Mr. E. Hutton sang "Altogether" very nicely. The recitations of Mr. Charles Maddock and Mr. Cecil Harper, drew forth applause. A few pleasant hours were innocently whiled away, and the company separated well pleased.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Elora News says that Mr. Isaac Robertson, of that village, narrowly escaped being killed on Thursday morning. He was engaged in chopping in Mr. Boyle's bush about two miles from Elora, and just felled a large maple when a small branch which had been carried down rebounded with great force and struck him in the middle of the back and injured the spine. Although some thirty feet from where the tree fell, such was the force of the blow that he was completely stunned, and in that state lay in the snow for some time, when he was found by Mr. Jno. Windford, who was hauling wood from the same place. Had the blow been a few inches lower, at the small of the back, the consequence might have been fatal. "He is in a fair way of recovery."

Y. M. C. A.—Last evening's meeting of the association was well attended. As both the Secretary and Asst. Secretary's offices were vacant, owing to the resignation of the former holders, the meeting elected Mr. J. Crowe, Secretary, and Mr. James Clarke, Asst. Secretary. After some six or seven new members had been proposed, the Librarian laid upon the table a gift from the Rev. Mr. Ball, consisting of some 12 volumes, which will form a valuable addition to the Library. The association returns Mr. Ball its most hearty thanks for his valuable present, also it would thank the officers and teachers of the St. Andrew's Church for a timely gift of S. S. books to the Mission School. If any other friend of the association has a few books to spare, they will be most thankfully received. Mr. Ryan's essay on "Night Scenes of the Bible" was well appreciated by all present.

Local and Other Items.

An Odd Fellow's Lodge, we understand, is about to be started in Galt.

As Mrs. McKenzie, of Pilkington, was going into her house on Tuesday afternoon, she slipped and put her shoulder out of joint. Dr. Pentland reduced the dislocation.

The Insurance Companies have promised to materially reduce rates if the Town of Galt purchases good steam fire engine. The sum of $1,800 has already been subscribed by the people.

A FALLER.—The brakemen's strike which was to have taken place on the G. W. R. at noon Wednesday proved a total failure. Only seventeen all told, we are informed, responded to the request of the "Committee of brakemen."

SMART.—Boarding-house chicken soup can be made, it is said, by hanging up a hen in the sun so that her shadow shall fall into a pot of salt water. The only trouble is that on a cloudy day the soup is liable to be weak.

The moulding-shop of Mr. J. W. Davis' foundry, in Galt, was on fire Saturday night, but was promptly subdued by the application of snow and water. The fire was caused from an iron chimney running through the roof.

The cattle fair held in Galt on Wednesday was largely attended. About two-thirds of the cattle brought in were sold, while the rest were taken home to wait for the spring fairs, when a rise is anticipated.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—About 3 o'clock on Thursday morning the Great Western Railway night express ran into a freight train and smashed about 25 cars. There were about 150 passengers on board, but no one was injured.

The cattle fair held in Waterloo village on Tuesday last, was well attended. Cattle ruled low, pretty good animals changing hands at 3, cents a pound live weight. Good matched teams of horses were worth from $300 to $350, and a few sales were effected.

SOUND AS A BELL.—A Chicago magistrate has decided that "reporters are valuable public servants, a privileged class, having the right to go where they please in search of knowledge, and must be indulged in the largest liberty." This may lead to overcrowding the profession, however.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A man named Geo. Riddell, a resident of Townsend, Co. of Norfolk, was drawing saw logs on the 4th inst., and it appears that he was riding on the log when coming to a tree beside the road the man's leg was crushed between it and the log and was broken in two places. The unfortunate man lay in this painful position for about two hours, when he was found and extricated. He was carried home and medical aid immediately called but he died on the 6th inst.

A flowing well of water was struck in Guelph one day lately, by two men who were digging a well. It was only "arf out" at first, but the quantity of that place would rejoice!—Galt Reporter.

The Reporter had better take the beam out of its own eye before it offers to aid in removing the mote from the eye of its neighbor. He should remember the adage about the residents of glass houses.

LABEL SUIT.—Mr. Alex. Mc Gibbon has brought an action for $25,000 against Messrs. John Donald & Son, Montreal, in consequence of an article entitled "Mistaken Generosity," which appeared in Saturday's Witness, reflecting on Mr. Mc Gibbon for furnishing a champagne supper to the snow-shoe clubs on the night of the rural procession. One of the proprietors of the Witness has been arrested and brought before the Police Magistrate, to answer the charge. Bail was taken for the defendant's appearance on Monday next.

SCORCHING OUT THE SMALL-POX.—A correspondent of the London Advertiser says that a few weeks ago a family in the village of Boston, Norfolk Co., had been attacked by small-pox. On the evening of the 5th inst., the people of the village were aroused by an alarm of fire, when it was discovered that the house which had been occupied by the parties who had the small-pox was all in flames. The small-pox proved fatal to all the members of the family excepting one young boy who had been removed a short time before, and as there was some strong talk that the house would be burnt to prevent the spreading of the small-pox, no doubt the fire was the work of incendiaries. The house contained some very valuable furniture, and was insured for $200. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

THE RUINS.—The work of clearing away the ruins of the Quebec Court House is being continued, and search made for documents missing. It has been ascertained that the documents contained in the upper shelves in the safe, except those in the Sheriff's and Registrar's office have been destroyed. The principal loss is the record in the case of the Banque Nationale against the Bank of Montreal, which has been lost, while that of the other case of the City Bank is safe. All the bonds in appeals to the Privy Council of England, and of the Vice-Auxiliary Courts have been burnt. The original will has been lost, the most important being that of M. Desroselle, of Baupont, who died worth a quarter of a million of dollars. Though the contest will have to be renewed, no substantial damage will be sustained in this case, for the will has been registered, and the Registrar's papers are all intact, beside there is an holograph will, which is relied upon in support of the last or notarial one.

BRUTAL MANSLAUGHTER.—A short time since a young man named Patrick Joy, residing in St. Catharines, went to Mr. John Hennigan's tavern, at Fifteen Mile Creek, and passed a spiritous bill. On Thursday night Joy, with a party of six or seven, went out in that direction to a party, and called at Hennigan's, when a dispute arose about the bill. The ruffians piled on to Hennigan and abused him shamefully, cutting his head in several places, and leaving him in a precarious state. His wife was obliged to hide him in a smoke house, where he lay half-frozen until the doctor arrived. Three of the ruffians have been arrested and lodged in jail, and hopes are entertained that the others will soon be secured. A later report from Fifteen Mile Creek states that Hennigan has since died from the effects of the beating.

The Roaring Game.

Reformers vs. Conservatives.
On the afternoon of Thursday, two trunks of Reformers met an equal number of Conservatives at the covered rink here, to have a friendly game of curling. The ice was in excellent order, a large number of our citizens were anxious spectators of the game, and dozens of ladies enlivened the scene with their presence. Play was called at two o'clock and closed at five. We have not witnessed more real enjoyment since the winter set in. The players were chosen from the members of the town Council, some of whom never laid a stone before. Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen were mixed up together, and equalled each other in zest. The man of large proportions, here called in strength, and full of life, was pitted against "The meagre looking man, whom nature moulded on her cheapest plan." On with the game was the watchword, and the game did go on with a hilarity calculated to ease the most chronic displic. Such fun and laughter, such shouting and sprawling, such slipping and falling, and such shooting as took place, drew forth the remark from a bystander that he would require a pair of corsets to enable him to withstand it. An elephant is well known to be an animal of prodigious size, but he might often have lain quietly on the T without fear of being disturbed. Oh, the scene was enlivening to the fullest extent, and we trust that a return match will be arranged for so that those of our citizens who had not an opportunity of seeing the show may have something to look forward to. An admission fee should have been charged, and we trust will be for the return match. The Reformers were victorious by seven shots. It is necessary to state that Mr. George A. Bruce played for Mr. Elliott, Mr. T. Saunders acting instead of Mr. Robert Mitchell, who was out of town. The following is the score:

Odd Fellow's Festival.
The Odd Fellow's Festival, which was held in the town hall on Thursday evening was, as we predicted, a grand success. There were about forty couples present, quite enough to make it pleasant for all, without that crowding which takes away half the pleasure. The hall was exquisitely decorated, and presented a fine appearance. Over the platform hung a large portrait of our beloved Queen, the British coat of arms occupying the other end of the hall, underneath which was the chart of the Order. The handsome flag of the Order was suspended in the centre of the hall. Handsome and costly pictures graced the walls, while evergreens and a good display of bunting, made the room very attractive. Precisely at nine o'clock Vale's Quadrille Band struck up, and on went the merry dance, without intermission, till twelve o'clock, at which hour supper was announced. The tables were set in the audience part of the Council Chamber, and literally groined with the weight of good things provided by Mr. J. T. Waters. As a caterer Mr. W. always gives good satisfaction, and he lost none of his prestige on this occasion. After supper dancing was resumed, and kept up till an early hour. For those who did not dance, cards, dominoes and checkers were provided in the Council Chamber. The music furnished by the band was first-class, and gave good satisfaction. The whole affair passed off splendidly, and reflects credit on all concerned.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday last, a very serious accident occurred to a fireman of the locomotive Mono, named Robert Milne. While engaged in shunting cars at Arthur station, some box cars had been scarcely pushed off the track, Milne was leaning out of the cab of the engine, and in passing the cars he was struck on the back of the head, the scalp being completely torn off and laid over on his face. His nose was broken, and his face otherwise injured. Under the supervision of Dr. Geroy, of Mount Forest, he is doing well.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.—A farmer named George Betz, residing three miles from Berlin, was on Thursday afternoon found dead, and his body fearfully crushed. It appears that deceased was engaged in hauling stone into the town, and while walking behind his load, going up a hill, something gave way, and the sleigh going backwards caught him between the load of stone and a tree, in which position he was found quite dead.

FLOUR MILL BURNED.—A disastrous fire occurred on the fifth line of Innisfil, on Thursday. Lennox Bros. flour mill and shingle factory were burned. The buildings were totally consumed. About 1,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed; also flour, shingles, and lumber. The loss is between $5,000 and $6,000. The insurance is small.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—A woman named Jane Corner was frozen to death in her house in Kingston, on Thursday morning. An inquest was held by Coroner Shaw when a verdict of Death from Intemperance was returned.

SEVERE DEATH.—A son of Mr. Wm. Louie, 9th Co. of Hallett, dropped dead on his way to school one morning last week. He ate a hearty breakfast before he started, but had not proceeded far when he fell on his back with a scream and expired. He never had been sick a day in his life.

ANNABEL OR THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER V.
 AN UNLOOKED-FOR MEETING—HAPPY NEWS FOR ANNABEL—STRANGE DEPARTURE—BRIGHT PROSPECTS—THE UNSEEN SHADOW.

"I was so overcome you could have knocked me down with a straw, and I could do nothing for some minutes but stand staring at him. At last my tongue got back some of its power, and I says to him, says I 'Sir, you don't mean to go away to day, do you?'"

"This very minute, Mrs. Dobson," says he, and began to take up his hat and umbrella.

"Dear me, sir," says I, "this is very sudden surely, and you don't look strong enough yet to go out. Better wait a day or two longer, sir." But he would not listen to nothing; he only snatched and put on his hat, and then I saw he actually meant it.

"Well sir," says I, "if you will go, won't you wait till Miss Annabel comes in, and have some dinner?" But he would not hear of that either, and tucking the umbrella below his arm, he began to walk to the door. Like a dummy or a simpleton I followed him down the stair, wondering whether I should not run past him and lock the street door to keep him from getting out. But I thought to myself again that I had no right to do that, and so I let him along the passage till his foot was on the door step, when he turned and said very kindly:—

"Good-bye again, Mrs. Dobson, and a thousand, thousand thanks for the service you have rendered me."

"Don't speak of that at all, sir," says I in a kind of deprecation, "you have paid me ten times over for anything I have done, only I am sorry to see you go away so unexpected, and so will Miss Annabel, I am sure."

"At this he turned round quite quick, and in a changed voice, says he, while I thought I saw his lips shaking—

"Convey my thanks to Miss Annabel too, Mrs. Dobson; tell her it is impossible for her to know the good her attentions have done me. God bless her—God bless her." He was stepping out now, and I calls to him again—

"Won't you call again, sir, to let us know how you keep?" But he made no answer to this, he only shook his head and walked away without so much as looking round again."

"And did you not look which way he went?" inquired Philip, who with Annabel, had listened to Mrs. Dobson's recital with breathless attention.

"To be sure I did. I watched him go along the street till he turned the corner, and then seeing how he tottered, and thinking he might fall down at every step, I went forward to see how he was getting along. When I got round the corner, I could not see him at all for a bit, but when I looked half way down the street, I saw him getting into a cab, and no sooner had he got in than the cab drove off very fast, and was soon out of sight. And that's the last I saw of the queer gentleman, and the last it's likely any of us will ever see. Ah! it now, Mr. Philip and Miss Annabel, the most extraordinary thing as ever was, to have an old gentleman in your house for eight weeks and never to know his name or where he belongs to?"

Her listeners cordially agreed in the opinions Annabel's cousin. The whole thing was indeed most extraordinary, and at the last not less than all throughout. The manner in which the old gentleman had gone showed how determined he was to maintain the mystery of his identity. But the question constantly arose, why should he have done so? He must have a strong reason for not revealing himself, yet, for carefully concealing himself, for that was what the fact amounted to, and what could that reason possibly be? Mere eccentricity would scarcely account for it; besides, he seemed in no respect an eccentric man. Quite and very reserved he was as regarded himself, but otherwise Annabel had found this conversation sensible, and his disposition kind and thoughtful. Oftentimes, as she sat by his couch, had she caught him gazing at her with a wistful earnestness and at these times the tone of his voice were sad and subdued, as if some secret sorrow lay upon him.

Nain were all these conjectures. He was gone, and left no clue by which he might be traced. But for the substantial results of his presence among them, it looked as if the incident had been little else than a dream. But two very tangible proofs of the reality of the adventure existed in the twenty pound note which had been put into Mrs. Dobson's hand, and in the first-class situation which Philip had obtained in the house of Langton & Company, which latter fact had now to be communicated to the landlady, to her increased wonder and happy excitement, which caused her to exclaim that the old gentleman was an angel of kindness, and nothing else.

PETRIE'S
NEW DRUG STORE
 Nearly opposite the Old Stand,
NOW OPEN.

Mr. PETRIE takes this opportunity to thank the Public for their large and liberal support during the seven years he has been in business in Guelph.

The New Store is the one formerly occupied by Mr. H. Berry, and lately by Mr. J. R. Porte, as a Confectionery Store. The store has been enlarged and refitted, making it a much more desirable place of business than the old stand.

Having secured the new store for a term of Ten Years, I hope, with the assistance of the Public, to prevent in the future as I have done, during the past seven years, any monopoly in the Drug Trade in Guelph.

The old store will remain open for business until the first of May.

By conducting my business in the future in the same upright principle as in the past, I trust to receive a continuance of your generous support.

I am, yours very truly,
A. B. PETRIE.
