

THE GREAT SHOW OF DOGS

CROWDS OF VISITORS AT THE PAVILION YESTERDAY.

Completion of the Prize List—Award of Special Prizes—Notes and Incidents.

The prize winners will be paraded on the stage this afternoon and to-night.

The judging was completed yesterday by W. Head, Hamilton, James Watson, New York, and John Davidson, Munro, Mich.

The remainder of the prize list is appended with the exception of a few sections in the special prizes, which are still under consideration.

London occupies front place in the prize list, the kennels from the great city having captured most of the prizes in the general and special lists.

The aisles were crowded with visitors yesterday afternoon and last night. Most of the dogs were on their good behavior, but a few were inclined to be vicious.

St. Bernard, entered by H. S. Alexander of Avonlea, was the only dog which was struck young lady on the hand, inflicting a painful wound.

It was subsequently barred up, but this precaution should have been taken previously, as the dog was snarling more or less all day.

When the doors were opened early in the morning it was discovered that a fine St. Bernard, the property of Dr. James White of Hamilton, was missing.

It was in its kennel near the outer door when the pavilion was closed Wednesday night. How it disappeared is a mystery, but it either escaped or was stolen.

During the day a setter managed to gain its liberty having slipped out of its collar and scolded for all it was worth.

A MUMMY OF A MINISTER.

MR. COSTIGAN AGAIN MAKES AN EXHIBITION OF HIMSELF.

A Private Member Explains a Government Measure—The Cabinet's Land Policy.

Special Despatch to The World.

OTTAWA, March 27.—In the house of commons to-day Mr. Somerville (Brant) directed attention to the imperfect character of a certain return brought down by the minister of militia in reference to tents, and the information asked for on condition that he shall hereafter guarantee to protect christian missionaries and merchants and all traders throughout the country, and that Gordon has practically consented to such a plan, though the British officials deny any knowledge of the matter.

Graham will explore the region in the neighborhood of Tameshale Wells and then return with the whole force to Saskim. The campaign is ended.

The Battles of the British. In sixteen battles fought in Afghanistan, Zulu and Egypt in the past ten years, the British claim to have lost but five, viz: Isandula, Cabul, Malwai, Lang's Nek and Majuba.

When Mr. Costigan moved the second reading of the bill for the prevention of adulteration of food and drugs, Mr. Le Sage made a long speech in French explaining the proposed amendments and pointing out the necessity for such provisions.

Mr. Blake enquired whether the minister was not going to explain his bill.

Mr. Costigan thought the explanations given by Mr. Le Sage were sufficient.

Mr. Blake said it was not usual for private members to explain government measures, but if the minister would repeat Mr. Le Sage's speech in English he would be satisfied.

Mr. Costigan then proceeded to read the bill, clause by clause.

Mr. Blake—That sounds very like the bill itself. It is commentary or explanation that is asked for.

Mr. Costigan then sat down.

The Speaker—What the motion is adopted?

OUR FIRE PROTECTION.

ALFRED PERRY'S REPORT ON ITS WEAK POINTS.

The Police Show in Giving Alarms—Not How to Proceed, But Larger Salvage Corps Recommended—Unnecessary Officials.

Alfred Perry of Montreal has made his report to the board of fire underwriters in the water supply and fire appliances of Toronto. The following are some of the salient points contained in it.

The city depends for protection on its police, the electric alarm, the fire appliances, and firemen, and the water supply. As to the police: Of two tests made, fire had been burning in one ten minutes and the other five minutes before the police gave the alarm. This is not satisfactory.

The police of a district ought to repair at once to a fire and take ropes with them to the location of the boxes. The police ought to be active in preventing fires as they are in preventing crime.

Mr. Perry denounces the absurdity of maintaining two heads of the fire department. The head of the department ought to be in the city hall, from which he should have telephone communication with the fire stations, the pumping house, the police, etc.

The present hook and ladder ought to be substituted with a Skinner or Hayes truck, which are lighter and much more efficient. The quantity in stock and ordered will be sufficient for the requirements of the city.

The hose ought to be better protected from wheels and horses passing over it. The hose reels should be better protected from wheels and horses passing over it.

The three steam engines owned by the city are of different makes. Of these engines Mr. Perry says: "I attach little importance to this branch of the service of a fire organization when you have, as in Toronto, the hydrants and water supply at your command instantaneously and in the immediate vicinity of any fire."

The equipment of the fire corps. The equipment of the fire corps should be improved. The equipment of the fire corps should be improved.

The central station ought to be reconstructed and have four distinct sections: a reel, a ladder truck, a steam fire engine, and a hose reel.

As to the water supply; one serious cause of trouble is the presence of air in the pipes. The pumping power is ample, but the larger supply pipes are used the pumping power is unavailable.

There should be a 12-inch pipe on the bay side of the expanded with suitable hydrants to protect elevators, wharfs, etc. The pumping power is ample, but the larger supply pipes are used the pumping power is unavailable.
