THE "detective" is a pretty sound sleeper when a gang of threshers can come and thresh the crop he was in charge of without his knowledge. It is said this occurred down on the 12th line the other day. As the great Philo Grub says: "A detective should be ever wakeful, ever watchful."

Two more Watford boys left this week Two more Wattord boys left this week to join the overseas contingent at London, namely, Wm. D. Lamb and Russell H. Trenouth, the latter holding the office of sergeant. They will be attached to the signal section of the 71st Battalion. W. D. Lamb is a graduate of the Guide-Advocate office and has been on the staff for nearly five years.

In the Presbyterian Church, Watford, on Sunday next Miss M. C. Ratte will tell the story of her work. Miss Ratte is doing a great work in the cities of Canada from sea to sea in rescuing the unfortunate and fighting the white slave traffic. Though French Canadian by birth she speaks English well and tells her story in a most interesting way.

REV. R. STEVENSON, of Watford and Findley, Ohio, preached in the Congregational church here on Sunday last, morning and evening. His discourses were lengthy and interesting. He is a son of Mr. Wm. Williamson, of Watford, and known to a great many people in Watford. He is spending a few weeks at his home here.

MORE rain fell in Toronto during August than has ever fallen during the month of August for the past 70 years. Not only has it been the rainiest August on record, but it ranks third in the list of all rainy months. The two months in which the rainfall exceeded that of this month were September, 1843, when 9,76 takes with him the best wishes of his many friends for continued success in his labors.

On Friday evening August 28th the Armory Progress Club entertained Lieut. R. H. Stapleford at their club-rooms. Colonel Kelly and Reeve Kenward made suitable speeches after the luucheon and it was moved by Rev. S. P. Irwin and seconded by Rev. W. G. Connolly that Lieut. Stapleford be made a life member of the club. Lieut. Stapleford gave an interesting account of his adventures in France. By means of a blackboard he showed the construction of the trenches and various other things of which it is impossible to get any idea from merely reading of them. He spoke highly of the British "Tommy," saying that to his way of thinking he was the backbone of the whole thing.

Miss Ella Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson, Strathroy, was made the recipient of many beautiful and useful remembrances at a surprise party held lately in honor of a happy event that is to take place shortly in the far west. During the afternoon about fifty triends and neighbors of the bride-to-be grathered. to-be gathered in a nearby ravine and at the close of a very pleasant social time, while all were seated around the picnic spread, Miss Anderson was pre-sented with a miscellaneous shower, comprising linen, china, cooking utensils, etc., accompanied by expressions of good will in original prose and poetry. Miss etc., accompanied by expressiens of good will in original prose and poetry. Miss Anderson, who was taken completely by surprise, gracefully acknowledged the kindness of the friends on Quality Hill, both in the past and on this occasion. After singing "For she's a jolly good fellow" and "Should old acquaintance be forgot," the gathering dispersed, feeling a very pleasant time had been enjoyed together. Miss Anderson leaves in a few days on her long journey to the Peace River District, Northern Alberta, where she will become the life companion of Borden Fulton, who is manager of one of the Hudson Bay Company's store. Mrs. Borden Fulton, who is manager of one of the Hudson Bay Company's store. Mrs. Anderson will accompany her daughter and join Mr. Anderson, who has taken up a homestead in that part of the pro-vince. The best wishes of a host of friends in this district will go with the bride-elect to her future home in the lowest.

The Secretary of the Women's Patriotic The Secretary of the Women's Patriotic League has received the following letter: Dear Madam:—Many and sincere thanks for your parcel of socks, which have come to hand safely and which we are sincerely glad to get. Every sock is wanted and every sock is of value and perhaps you and your helpers will be surprised to learn that those socks are already on their way to France. They perhaps you and your herpers will be surprised to learn that those socks are already on their way to France. They are so badly needed and are such a comfort to the soldiers that we do not keepthem one minute in the house but simply pack them right up and send them on. Two young officers were in here on Saturday and I asked them if the men wore the socks all through the summer and hereplied, "Sure thing, if you did not, if you wore the hard junk you buy you couldn't hobble a mile." I am quoting the lad's own words. It appears the men suffer greatly with their feet, especially the men not accustomed to marching and walking and those hand-knit socks absorb the prespiration. One of these young fellows was a mere lad and he said to me, "You know you cannot buy hand-knit socks anywhere, but I don't care, for mother gives me a pair every care, for mother gives me a pair every week." Really, when I looked at him my eyes filled with tears. He was a fine young Canadian lad and I thought, "Well, your mother has every right to be proud of you and so has every Canadian mother who has a son going forth to defend the cause of the helpless and oppressed. My own youngest brother is at the front (I own youngest brother is at the front (I am answering this letter for Mrs. Mc-Phedran) so you can easily guess how interested I am in the work and how profoundly grateful I am to all helpers like yourself and your assistants who are doing their best to make the burden lighter for our lads at the front. courage. Against all reverses England stands firm, these latest reports make it sure. Not all classes of her citizenry have shown an equal loyalty, but the staying power of democracy in a fight against imperialism is just beginning to make itself felt in such vows as England now has sworn in defiance.

In Germany the military authorities are suppressing public meetings A meeting of the members of the German Bricklayers' Union, which was to have been held in Wittenberg. was forbidden because the authorities feared that the private business of the union would not alone be discussed, but that the meeting would be used "to acquire fresh members for the union, and to spread dissatisfaction with existing state and social conditions among the workers." For conditions such as these Germany is Vigorous efforts are being put single men to go to the front. The president of the new recruiting league, J. H. Collinson, principal of Highfield College, is urging in public speeches the young girls of the city to discourage the attentions of young men unless they intend to serve their country. He advises the formation of a girls' guide with this purpose in view, every member to agree to frown on their suitors until they enlist. The executive has also arranged to take a census of the young men in Hamilton with a view to personally approaching those who are in a position to go. The scheme to tax single men a dollar a week for patriotic purposes is reaching a head.

Most married couples fool themselves longer than they do their neighbors.

The man who judges his future by his past is apt to become discouraged.

It might be well for a woman to re-member that a frown begets more wrinkles than a smile.

Marriage is a lottery—except for the overty-stricken nobleman who marries poverty-stricken nobleman an American heiress.

A married man imagines he is having a good time when he does anything he knows his wife wouldn't approve of.

It sometimes happens that an old bachelor loves little children, although they probably worry him as much as women do.

Many people are either rich or happy, but few are both. The way of the transgressor often leads to another's pocket.

An eloquent prayer doesn't get any higher than the other kind. Men crow when they win a bet, and women crow when they win a euchre prize—all of which goes to show that men and women resemble poultry.

Do not allow worms to sap the vitality of your children. If not attended to, worms may work irreparable harm to the constitution of the infant. The little sufferers cannot voice their ailment, but there are many signs by which mothers are made aware that a dose of Miller's Worm Powder is necessary. These powders act quickly and will expel worms from the system without any inconvenience to the child.

Frank Fair, at South Woodslee, has found an easy and simple way to cut grain in a soft field, and has worked it out to his satisfaction. He took a wire a little smaller than No. 9 fence wire and fastened one end to a stout stake at the fastened one end to a stout stake at the point where he commenced cutting, and passed the wire once around the bull wheel of the binder, and placed two bars on each side of the wheel to keep the wire in its place. The other end he fastened to another stake on the opposite side of the field. He used a corn planter stake at this end of wire. When putting the wire around the wheel have them cross next to the ground. cross next to the ground.

Dealers throughout Ontario have sold a large number of gasoline engines to farmers to be placed on their binders for cutting grain. As these engines can also be used on corn binders, it is expected that they will be used when the farmers cut their corn this fall, if the ground should be soft at that time. The farmer

Canadian Born

We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved of God;
We are the pulse on Canada, its marrow and its blood;
And we, the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag That we were born the British flag.

Few of us have the blood of kings, few are of courtly birth,
But few are vagabonds or rogues of doubtful name and worth ;

And all have one credential that entitles us to brag
That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

We've yet to make our money, we've yet to make our tame, But we have gold and glory in our clean colonial name; And every man's a millionaire it only he can bag That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

No title and no coronet is half so proudly worn, As that which we inherited as men Canadian born; We count no man so noble as the one who makes the brag

That we were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

The Dutch may have their Holland, the Spaniard may have his Spain, The Yankee to the south of us must south of us remain, not a man dare lift a hand against the men who brag That they were born in Canada beneath the British flag.

Found a Treasure

(Forest Standard)

Two years ago Daniel Paxman a former resident of Forest, returned after a number of years absence to renew old acquaintances.

While here he related an incident that occurred some months previous while in one of the large American cities. The story was that he had consulted a clariva-oyant, who informed him that he had at one time erected a house on property on which were four everygreen trees and beneath one of these was burried a treasure by an old man, who at one time resided there. The description of the property answered to that owned by Mr. G. W. Beatty, and together they made in unsuccessful attempt to locate the Monday evening Mr. Beatty was re announced was sufficient gold and silver coins to purchase the best 100-acre farm

Probably later on more detailed information will be given, but up to the present Mr. Beatty has not exhibited any of the coins and has not stated what am-of the coins and has not stated what amount the sack contained.

Councillor Beatty's friends have been showering him with congratulations the past few days. All are interested because the town will benefit greatly by the increase of Mr. Beatty's income by several thousand.

A Word to the Stay-at-Homes

A Toronto officer now at the front writes :- "The division does not complain so bitterly about quiet times as they did before Ypres. Ypres, Festu-bert, Givenchy—our devoted infantry went through things there, and it is rather a blessing they are getting a chance to reorganize. Our newspapers at home seem to have determined by exaggeration to try to spoil the reputation they have won, but I believe that one may say without boasting that our division is considered second to none. How-may say without boasting that our division is considered second to none. However, enough of us and our affairs,

"In reference to recruiting. It often seems to me that the whole question has taken an entirely false aspect. It is or has been the fashion to regard those who volunteer as if they were doing something fine, something more than could be expected of them. The result of this seems to be that those who don't want to come don't seem to feel that they are actually shirking. They comfort themselves by saying, 'Let those who like it go.' One lady told me last summer that her husband had 'no taste' for soldiering. I felt like asking her if she thought it was a picnic. If people regarded it simply as our 'reasonable service' then there would be more sense of shame in those who have not come forward.''

Moffatt—Capes

On Saturday the 28th day of August very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Capes of the Township of Plympton, when their daughter Mary Olive became the bride of Mr. Elmer Lloyd Moffatt, a prosperous young tarmer of Brooke Township. Rev. J. A. Snell, Watford, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Miss Amy Moffatt played the wedding march very sweetly. After the usual congratulations, all repaired to the dining room where they partook of a dainty luncheon.

HIRAM'S JOY-RIDE

Hiram helped himself to a fourth plateful of the macaroni-and-cheese. Miranda vawned.

'Wall. I'm off to bed, Hi," she announced, putting her work aside. 'Mind and see all 'em doors are locked. In the process of time her husband ascended creakily the stairs. It was after he was in bed that he remembered Miranda's injunction to see to the fastening of the doors. There had been a series of burglaries kilometres an hour!" in the neighborhood, so he must not overlook this duty. He rose stealthily so as not to waken his wife, who was snoring placidly by his side, and went downstairs and fastened the front door. Then he went to the south-west side of the house where a small door leading out into the garden stood wide open.

How beautiful the moonlight was Hiram stepped out upon the verandah and stood gazing up at the glorious silver orb that rode the heavens.

Hist! What was that?

He pricked up his ears and went forward a few steps to the fence. A whirring sound, like the drum ming of a hundred partridge filled the air. But this was the month of May and a closed season. The sound became a prolonged buzz. Hiram sprang over the fence and dashed across the orchard, and then down it seemed to be a huge inflated ed before. sound proceeded.

A Zeppelin! Hiram lost no time in covering the remaining distance between him and the wonderful craft and, as he ran panting down the hillside, he spied a man tinkering above the engine. The man turned at his approach and stood upright. He wore an aeronaut's cap and goggles and a long belted overcoat.

The Dreadnought of the Land

TABLETS

Forty armored automobile cars went out with the second Canadian Contingent and are now doing invaluable work for the Empire on the fields of Flanders. Imagine a huge car with a highly powerful engine, the whole of it from front to back covered in completely with miniature house of half to three-uarter inch tempered steel because of the penetrative power of modern rifles. This small armored fort on wheels contains room for five or six passengers, namely, a chauffeur, two or three rifle-men, and a man to work the machine gun in the steel turret which stands out above the centre of the car, and which is capable of being turned in every direction while the car is going at full

Such are the formidable land dreadnoughts which, with 300 of the best type of young Canadian mechanic soldiers, are held ready for the deadly work of cutting up the German retreat when the great drive materializes in dead earnest. And for these wonderful instruments of death, roads are not an absolute necessity. When they were tried out in Toronto, where they were made, they were taken across all kinds of ground which for the most part would have seemed impracticable to motor traffic. And that in despite of the terrific weight of the conveyance itself and what it carried. This is what actually happened at the tests:

First, the armored car had to descend into the steep ditch at the roadside and out again. Down went the front wheels—then rose as easily over the far side of the ditch as though it were nothing. Then the rear wheels were in the ditch. and they, too, climbed the steep bank with ease.

"How much weight have you on there?" demanded a farmer onlooker, thinking of the mud-holes which had stumped him in his own buggy. "You fellows can't be carrying a real load and loing stunts like that, too."

"Can't we!" retorted the engineer in charge of the test. We've two tons of machinery and two tons of extra weight on board. Watch."

Earlier in the day a hollow in the field had been filled with soft clay. Towards this the car was now directed. The front this the car was now directed. The front wheels striking the soft spot sank to the hubs, but plowed steadily ahead, undaunted. The rear wheels sank even deeper, if that were possible, and still the car moved forward through the clay.

The new Canadian armored car careered up hill and down, over logs that stood within half on inches of the height of the within half an inch of the height of the sand or slippery clay, the car moved for-ward or backward with ease. "Why," said the farmer, could climb a stairs."

"Climb a stairs," snorted the engineer. "This car can climb steeper than a stairs.
A forty-five or forty-nine degree slope won't feaze it."

won't feaze it."

It can be operated from either end, backward or forward. Each wheel is geared to the engine independently of the others. Accident might lame two or even three wheels, or their footing might be poor—yet the fourth wheel could drag the monster along.

The engine is self-starting and the lights electric, so as to enable them to be flashed on and off at will. The turret can, if necessary, be covered in as a tection against snipers whilst da through a village or under trees in which they might be located.

As for the work of such a car it can do everything that cavalry and artillery combined can do. It can go ten times as far and three times as fast as cavalry. It can dash out of the lines at 20 to 30 miles an hour, pull up behind a wood while its crew get out and reconnoitre, and it is back again and safe before the enemy realize what has happened.

As a matter of fact nothing but a luckily placed shell can do it any harm, and that is purely a matter of chance.

Usually it is employed only when travelling at speed and heavy guns cannot be manipulated to hit it. Other purposes for which it is invaluable are sudden attacks—to blow up bridges or rail heads with dynamite, to destroy small clusters of houses where enemy sharpshopters or of houses where enemy sharpshooters or portance. But the moment the forward movement takes place, then, in combina-tion with aeroplanes their value cannot be estimated. They will reduce any retreat, however well ordered, to a rout. It the French and British had had enough of them at the German retreat from the Marne, the aspect of the war to-day would be very different from what it is. So when the great drive commences, you will surely be hearing of the great work of the Canadian armored cars.

For Sprains and Bruses .- There is nothing better for sprains and confusions than Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will reduce the swelling that follows a sprain,

CHILDHOOD DANGERS

No symptons that indicate any of the ilments of childhood should be allowed allments of childhood should be allowed to pass without prompt attention. The little ailment may soon become a serious one and perhaps a little life passes out. If Baby's Own Tablets are kept in the house minor troubles can be promptly cured and serious ones averted. The Tablets can be given to the new-born babe as well as the growing child. Thousands of mothers use no other medicine for their little ones. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It is said that Germans stain their hands, faces and clothes green to hide in the trees. A sort of horti-kultur?

Although many "war" names have been given to babies since the European struggle commenced, perhaps one of the most peculiar, and at the same time interesting was the one advanted by Mrs. interesting, was the one adopted by Mrs. Jobson, wife of Fred Jobson, of Woodstock, now of the 34th Batt., at London. Taking the first letters of the more important of the nations of the Allies, viz.: France, Russia, England, Belgium and Italy, she has christened her baby girl "Frebi."

A traveler writes :-Rural mail delivery is enjoyed in the townships of your fair county and is proving a great convenience to the farmers, but many posts and boxes are placed too near the road, and are very dangerous to the travelling public, driving or walking, after dark. The arm that holds the box would be a bad thing to come in contact with, and there has been some close calls. Many of them could be placed closer to the ditch and be convenient for the mail carriers.

Not very long ago the writer heard a preacher in an Orillia pulpit make reference to "Daniel Webster, the author of ence to "Daniel Webster, the author of the dictionary," and there is a story about a public speaker on the other side of the line falling into the same error. A scandalised friend behind him pulled his coat-tails and corrected him. "Daniel didn't write the dictionary; it was Noah" he whispered. The other paused in his cratery long apong to make indignant oratory long enough to make indignant protest. "Noah?" he answered, "Noah nothing! Noah built the ark."—Orillia Packet.

Many people driving along the roads Many people driving along the roads seem to have the impression that the driver of a wagon that is loaded is not required to turn out to allow another vehicle or an auto to pass. This is a wrong impression, as the statutes of Ontario, R.S.O. 1914, page 2794, clearly defines. Clause 5 of the act distinctly states that where a loaded vehicle meets are sovertaken by another vehicle, and states that where a loaded vehicle meets or is overtaken by another vehicle, and it is impracticable to turn out, the driver of the loaded vehicle shall stop and render assistance to the other vehicle if necessary. Some drivers of loads—and some very small loads at that—never think of giving even a part of the road to a rig they are either meeting or by which they are being overtaken. which they are being overtaken.

English technical papers ascribing the arrangements of a new London hotel say that in each of the 1,028 bedrooms provision is made for electric heating. Electricity also is largely used for controlling the other heating and ventilating services, and from his seat in the control room the engineer can ascertain the temperature at any one of about two hundred and fifty points in various parts of the building.

At the mechanical school: "Now, John, did you ever see a saw?" "Yes, sir, I've saw a saw." "What saw was it you saw, John?" "It was a sea-saw, sir" "A sea saucer? Why, John, what you mean? mean a see-saw do you mean?" "I mean a see-saw, sir." "And when did you see the sea?" "Oh, sir, I didn't see the sea, I saw the saw, sir." "But if you only saw the saw how saw you the saucer?" "Why, sir, I never saw the saucer; I saw the see-saw, sir—see?" "We'll, my boy, if that's the way you see saws the less saws you see the better. You may take your you see the better. You may take your seat."

They All Wear Wrist Watches

"Duke's son, Cook's son," everybody is wearing a wrist watch this summer; every boy from the little hotel bell hop to the bristling old colonel who is training the boys, and every girl from the chambermaid of the hostlery to the girls and matrons young and old, who spend the summer days knitting, turning out dozens of stockings for the boys who are on overseas duty.

The wrist watch fashion has spread, for all of Canada's soldiers are equipped

The wrist watch fashion has spread, for all of Canada's soldiers are equipped in this manner. The government doesn't do it, but that doesn't limit the fashion at all. Bereft indeed, is a volunteer, officer or private, who hasn't a friend or a sweetheart to present him this useful ornament when he enters the service. The girls wear the same kind of wrist watches as the soldiers. They are not jewelled or gold banded affairs, with enamelled decorations and chain bracelet attachments. Instead they are sturdy examples of the watchmaker's art, contrived for hard service in the field and trived for hard service in the field and strapped tightly to the wrist with a strong leather band.

On Convalescence

(London Times.) Everywhere there are now to be seen wounded soldiers who are well enough to be out of doors and enjoy the blue sky and the sunshine. We look at them always with the profoundest sympathy always with the protoundest sympating and admiration, and rather wistfully, too, sometimes—with a little pang of envy that we hope may be forgiven us. We nearly all of us know, out of our own inglorious experience, how delightful it is to recover even after an illness to which no credit is attached. When we add to that a feeling which we can only the content of th magine, the consequences of a splendid duty well done, we cannot but believe that the soldier cheerfully limping along a sunny street tastes one of the greatest joys of being alive.

Gasoline

It should be known by everyone in these days of gasoline lamps and stoves that gasoline will not explode until its fumes have been mixed with at least six parts of atmospheric air. Gasoline will catch fire as quickly as any liquid known, but let it alone and it will burn out, doing no damage and leaving no scar or sign o fire. Mixed with air in proportions menfire. Mixed with air in proportions mentioned it is far more dangerous than dynamite. No receptable of this liquid should ever be left uncorked; to do so is to make a room where it is kept far worse than a powder magazine. This matter of handling gasoline is very easy, and no one should be ignorant of how it is done. is done

Death of Richard Karr

Richard Karr, ex-mayor of Forest and widely known throughout the district, died Sunday, Aug. 29th from the effects of injuries sustained to his right hip, when he slipped and fell on a cement sidewalk at the Conservative convention at Alvinston on May 12. Following the accident Mr. Karr was brought to his pome in an auto, and since that time had been practically roused from the country. Bishop White Preaches in Trinity Church

Bishop William C. White and Mrs. White of Honan, China, are the guests of Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Pethybridge. On Sunday of last week the congregation of Trinity church had the pleasure of hearing Bishop White preach. He took for his text, Acts 14:27. His discourse was a synopsis of the work done by the Canadian Anglican Church in Central China. He explained how God had opened the door of faith to the Chinese; how the mission work had Chinese; how the mission work had grown in twelve years from a family prayer service to large crowded churches, schools and extensive holdings. His remarks were exceedingly interesting and deeply impressed his hearers of the necessity of still greater effort being made in support of Chinese missions.

Speaking of the war when interviewed, Bishop White said that the Chinese are largely pro-German in their Chinese are largely pro-German in their

"There are numerous reasons why the Chinese should incline in their teeling toward Germany, "he said," In the first place they had great admiration for the military efficiency of the German nation. This admiration dates back before the war began. When China commenced to have aspirations toward building up of an army she secured German drill sergeants. Their military menced to have aspirations toward building up of an army she secured German drill sergeants. Their military organization was followed out on German lines. They use the "goose step" of the Germans in all their training. Then Germany is holding out so well in the face of the powerful Allies that they are further led to believe in the efficiency of the German military system. The other large questions, such as the breaking of treaties or violation of neutrality does not have much weight with the Chinese. They are still less concerned about it being a conflict of the democratic and autocratic ideas of government. China has in the past come to such grief at the hands of some of the great powers in having slices of her territory lopped off here and there that the rights of smaller nations do not weigh very strongly with her in thinking of the Great Powers.

"Christian doctrine has made great progress in China since the establishment of the republic. In the Anglican Church there are between 36,000 and 37,000 members. The officials of the new government look with favor on the missionaries and their schools, said Bishop White. For it was from these schools that the first light broke into China and set her groping after a better form of government."

OF RHEUMATISM

The Great Suffering of a Calgary Lady Before Relief Was

There is still a very prevalent belief that rheumatism is due to cold or wet weather. This belief is probably due to the tact that when the blood is thin and watery there is an acute sensitiveness to watery there is an acute sensitiveness to atmospheric conditions and a change to wet weather often means a return of the excruciating pains. Rheumatism, however, is rooted in the blood, and it can only be driven from the system by building up and enriching the blood. Hot baths and outward applications of liniment may give temporary relief, but cannot cure. If the disease is not at-tacked through the blood, it simply fastacked through the blood, it simply fastens itself more firmly on the system, and the sufferer ultimately becomes hopelessly crippled. The truth of this is proved by the case of Mrs. Frank Ford, of Calgary, Alta. Mrs. Ford says; "I was an almost helpless cripple from rheumatism. It seemed to have settled in every joint. My arms and hands had to be bandaged. My ankles were so swollen that I had to use crutches. After doctoring for a long time and growing steadily worse, the doctor advised me to go to Banff Springs. I stayed there for eight weeks taking daily baths and returned home poorer in pocket by about $150 and not one bit improved in health. I then entered a local hospital, but did I then entered a local hospital, but did not derive any benefit. I was in such constant pain that I almost wished to die, and I felt sure I would be a life long cripple. It was at this stage that a friend who had been greatly benefitted by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills urged me to try them. I began the use of the Pills try them. I began the use of the Pills and after taking them a few weeks the swelling in the joints began to go down and the pain was relieved. This greatly encouraged me and I continued the treatment until in the course of three months the cure was complete. I had thrown away the crutches, could walk anywhere and do my own housework, and I never felt better in my life than I do at the present time, and all this is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have also given the Pills to my daughter who suffered from anaem ia and she has gained in flesh and become a strong, healthy grl."
