Five million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for an electric power transmission plant, with a complete sysem of underground wiring thruout the city, including Rosedale and Parkdale

These were the figures submitted to the board of control yesterday by Smith Kerry & Chace, the engineering firm entrusted by the city with the work of preparing an estimate of the cost of distributing electrical energy to Toronto users, in pursuance of the Ontario Government's Niagara power policy. It is to be noted that the estimates closely approximate the estimate of $5,000,000 stated in The World on Saturday.

President Gompers Says Canadians Are Supported by A. F.

NORFOLK, Nov. 12.-In his annual report, referring to the labor movement in Canada, Mr. Gompers said to-day:

"It has been our purpose to aid and assist to the fullest extent of our movement our Canadian fellow-workmen. In the transaction of our affairs we have regarded them as being part and parcel of the American labor movement as much as our movement is part and parcel of theirs. Geographical lines have in no way interfered with the fullest development of fraternal relations.

"Ignorant or prejudiced opposition to the beneficent work of the labor movement finds its counterpart in Canada, as it does elsewhere. In Canada an expression of that feeling was illustrated in a bill by Senator Loughead, the purpose of which was to make it a criminal act for any person not a Canadian or a British subject to 'incite workmen to go out on strike in

"Of course, it is well known to those who participate in our movement and matter of fact our unions, our officers and our representatives do not 'incite' workmen to go on strike either in the United States or in Canada; that strikes are entered into by workmen of their own volition after they themselves have determined upon that action and when no other recourse is

"The men of labor in Canada have affairs as have any members of or-ganized labor in the United States. It is not difficult, however, to discer that if such a law as Senator Loughes proposed were possible of enactment any aid which the labor men of Can ada might ask of the United States trade unionists to go there and give would be construed as an act to 'in-cite' other workmen in Canada to go out on strike, Organized labor of Can-ada, true to its own interests and to the welfare of all the people of the Dominion, as well as justice toward the labor movement of the United States, protested so emphatically that Senator Loughead's bill was killed by an over-Justice Mulock Decides whelming majority in the senate, and hence did not reach the house."

HE WORLD'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR WOMEN EDITED BY and the same rule applies to footwear. Of course the woman with plenty of money to "throw away" will have Fashionable Footwear.

It is surprising how much a woman's shoes, which are necessarily not easily visible, are noticed even by the chance passer-by. It is necessary, to be well-dressed, or even fairly neat, that one should give careful attention to this item of dress. Very often an elaborate and expensive costume is hopelessly cheapened by a pair of clumsy or badly blacked boots. Of course the woman who has a maill will not worry about the latter detail, but she who has not will do well to save her hands, time and temper by considering carefully the question of patent leather, pro and con. We have heard of the patent leather that cracks, but high-class boots in this material will wear a very long time. For example, Queen Quality, Sorosis and an Eatonja, all differing in price, too, and one as low as four dollars, were found to wear a satisfactory time without cracking. The fashionable boot of the moment is not the wide ball and pointed toe shape, with extension sole, that we have all become accustomed to, particularly in American shoes, but a longer, narrower style, with decidedly blunter toe. It is graceful and not so pronounced as the other, but, on the other hand, does not fit so many differently shaped feet so well.

The vogue of the common-sense or sanitary shoe is greater among men

The vogue of the common-sense or sanitary shoe is greater among men than women. Really, it is very picturesquely ugly. Its broad, rolled toe, its bulky appearance, are suggestive of anything but grace, tho no doubt very practical. Only women of athletic style same, or practically the same, favorite mode, namely, the high empire waist-line, draped shoulders, skirt either gathered or semi-fitting, and, for state occasions, always slightly trained.

One almost wearies of the monotony of the folds of cloth passing over the shoulders are the shoulders. provident girl will lay in a stock of various necessary shoes and slippers, and by being properly provided for each occasion will really economize in the end. Nothing so destroys a garment of any kind as to wear it for an ment of any kind as to wear it for an fold of satin or contrasting material, and usually made with underblouse of acretain number, usually Englishwomen, never fail to appear in picture hats. By-the-way, the Romney hat is taking a considerable hold on English imagination just now, and we may expect to see it when the spring styles come in.

A feature of the gowns shown by "the trade" in England is the new chiffion rose. Nearly all the semi-decollete bodices have it, usually to the left side, and as a finish to a band of trimmings running round the decolletage. It is merelly a simple little natural-looking flewer of chiffon in the tints of rose, pink or gream, but there is an art in the making of it.

Dancing frocks this year will be both short and long, and the latter will be marked by a dainty little satin rose of the skirt, so as to give a fluffy effect when lifted, and the stitches are concealed by trimming on the other side. The underskirt to go with the dancing frock is more than ever an elaborate affair, and the best modistes are showing but few in white washable materials. An excellent substitute for the expensive brocade, net-trimmed skirt is found in a sort of brocaded sateen now being shown.

By the-way, one of the cheapest and daintiest materials ever introduced for Married For a Century.

Diamond weddings are rare indeed, yet there has just been celebrated in the little Hungarian Village of Ison-bolgi the anniversary of a wedding which it is declared occurred just 100 years ago. All the country is intensely interested, and the emperor has asked the authorities to forward to him official particulars so that he can personcial particulars so that he can personally congratulate the couple.

The extraordinary couple are named Szathmarl. The husband is 120 years old, and the wife 116. He was a farmer, and was married at the age of 20. They have hundreds of descendants in and arcund the village. A score of years ago there was a celebration in honor of and afterwards on the first Friday of the man's hundredth birthday, and application was made to the Hungarian government for a pension. It was granted after the records of the village had been examined and the man's age verified. Four years later the woman was W. B. Graham of 642 Euclid-avenue.

The old couple live in a modest cottage, and are well looked after by relatives. They are nearly blind and very deaf, and sleep nearly all of the time.

The man, however, still enjoys his pipe and a glass of wine, and neither is bed-

WORLD'S DAILY FASHION HINT

Peacock blue is the color of this charming gown, worn with a guimpe of ecru net and lace. The satin used for the cuffs, belt and scarf ends matches the tone of the dress, and gold colored thin gauze ribbons laced across dark blue velvet form the trimming bands. Under each scarf end is an inverted box pleat, the edges of which come together at the waist line under gilt and blue enameled ornaments. Dull gold colored silk tassels and lace motifs, en applique, finish the waist. The skirt is plain front and back, with flaring circular sides.

One almost cotony of the folds of cloth passing over the shoulder from the girdle at the back to the girdle in front, trimmed with a fold of satin or contrasting material, and usually made with underblouse of face, yet the simple, almost Grecian simplicity of this style of gown renders it equally suited to the young and to the middle-aged figure, while it makes up well in both heavy and filmsy materials.

Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera Company, which is quite well known to Toronto music-lovers, is to play a return engagement at the Princess Theatre, beginning Monday, Nov. 18. But four performances will be given, including a Wednesday matinee, and the enormous success of this organization in the same spectacular production at the Princess last spring more than justifies the management in expecting the record-breaking sale of the season when the box office is opened to-morrow morning. The management has decided to use its utmost efforts in preventing ticket speculation by limiting the sale of tickets to eight scats to each person.

The Royal Alexandra Players are scoring another success this week in presenting "The Dancing Girl," by Henry Arthur Jones. It is a romantic story, containing a number of powerful dramatic scenes and situations, which have been handled in a masterful manner by this clever playwright. The production is the handsomest this clever company has yet presented. The story deals with the simple life amongst fishermen of the Island of Endellion, and the fast life of the giddy Londoner. At to-morrow's matinees sik souvenir programs will be presented to each lady purchasing a ticket.

Stahl With New York.

WASHINCTON, Nov. 12.-Jake Stahl has agreed to play with the New York Americans next season.

What Stahl will do in New York is uncertain. He may play in the outfield, but there is a general impression Clarke Griffith does not intend to be held up of exorbitant terms by Hal Chase, and if Chase proves too chesty, Stahl may be used at first. If would be a great opening for Stahl and would prove once for all whether he has been worth the mimense amount of talk and newspaper space that has-been devoted to him since he refused to play with Washington, regiments are being made for an outform to-night at 8 o'clock sharp, as arbaced to the total play with New York after he was sold to that club by the Sox.

of Fashion Craft Clothing.

Mr. P. Bellinger, who conducts the Fashion Craft store at 22 West Kingstreet, is in a particularly happy mood these days, for the amount of business he is doing is beating all previous records. Men who appreciate good clothing have pronounced his stock the finest ever shown in Toronto, and in many finitances have left their regular custom tallors to purchase the really superbigarments manufactured by Mr. Bellinger's company. Fashion Craft Clothing has many advantages. A man can see at orfee just what a garment is going to look like, while, when a selection is made from the cloth only, the results are always more or less problematical. Then, too, there is always a substantial saving in cost. Fashion Craft Clothing is equal in every respect to the finest custom-made clothing, and in many ways superior. It is better made clothing, has more style, and in the matter of quality is really in a class by itself. Of course, there are imitations, but they are such palpable imitations that they deceive only the most innocent. Mr. Beilinger is so well pleased with his new stock that he extends a cordial invitation to all World readers to inspect it. It is not necessary to make a purchase in order to be made welcome.

Hickman Used the Hammer.

When the ever-popular Charley Hickman reached Chicago recently, after a long trip from the east, Hick was given a room at the hotel adjoining that of Pitcher Altrock, and, being a neighborly sort of a chap, Charley made a call on Nick. While in the room Altrock began showing Hickman his collection of photographs, for Nick, tho not a beauty, is dead stuck on having his face taken, it being claimed by baseball men that Nick has more pictures of himself than any four men in the profession to-day. As all the players know the weakness of the big pitcher, they all take huge delight in kidding him whenever the opportunity arises. So, when Charley went into Nick's room and had the pictures shown to him, Hick lay low and watched for an opening.

After showing Charley several of his street with the street in the halls and sang for him. Hick lay low and watched for an opening.

"Gott in Himmel!" shricked Chris, as he began to paw the air, "a doctor quick; Laddam might be injured mit his insides; fall off a 60-foot ladder; ain't it derrible yet?"

Chris danced all around the room until the doctor arrived and when the learned sawbones came into the clubhouse the excited manager screamed:

"Look to Arlie, quick, doc; he just tumbled off a 60-foot ladder."

By this time Arlie had worked his way over to a safe position near the door and from that vantage point he cried out:

"Oh, I forgot to mention, Chris, that I only fell off the first round of that ladder."

And then as Chris, with a wild whoop of rage, started in the direction of Arlie, that kidding player nearly tore the side of the clubhouse down making his getaway.

("TTAWA, Nov. 12.—The department of railways and canals has awarded the contract for the construction of section of the Trent Valley Canal, to Lewis P. Not of Montreal. The section exabortion known as the Toronto switching tariff rests with the board of rail-

THE COMPANY WILL PROPOSE THEIR TARIFF AND THE BOARD MAY SAY WE WILL NOT APPROVE OF THAT TARIFF, BUT WE WILL APPROVE OF SUCH AND SUCH A TARIFF, AND THEY MAY PRESCRIBE WHAT THAT TARIFF SHALL BE. WE HAVE GIVEN IT THAT POWER, AND THAT TARIFF AS I HAVE SAID WILL BE A STANDARD."

It is, therefore, evident that the mileage tariff is not the only standard turiff of the railways, but that the tariffs that are in ordinary use are also standard tariffs and require the ar proval of the board of railway commissioners.

> A despatch from Eastman says: The engine and eight cars on a freight train left the rails on the bridge near this place. Engineer Draper and Fireman McKenny are missing, and C. Sturgeon, one of the brakemen, was seriously injured. No cause is as yet assigned for the accident. The bridge is not badly damaged. The structure was part of a very long and high trestle, most of which has been filled in. The comparatively short space, not so filled, was on account of the tracks crossing over those of the Orford Mountain Railway.

The correspondent's comment on this extract is: "New style of reporting; no name of railway given; men killed are said to be missing. Certainly The Gazette has a nice way of letting the railroad down easily. Will it now tell us what the poor men's names were. > The Edmonton Daily Bulletin, Hon Frank Oliver's paper, calls R. L. Borden an interconventional leader, and makes somewhat of a noise over the recent speeches of J. G. H. Bergeron, who accompanied Mr. Borden on his tour.

"It was altogether natural and ir every way appropriate," remarks The Bulletin, "that a lieutenant of Mr. Borden should assail the political con-vention. This was to be expected, indeed it could not consistently be other wise. The convention is a political institution for which Mr. Borden entertains neither a high regard nor khidly sentiments. About Men's Winter Underwear

Nowadays men are just as particular in choosing their warm underwear for winter months as they are in purchasing a suit of clothes. No matter how neat or how stylish the outer garments, unless a man's underwear fits him right he'll never enjoy a moment's comfort.

The Eaton Underwear Section for Men has spent years in acquiring a selection of undergarments guaranteed to give genuine "underwear comfort." Manufacturers, knowing the immense buying and selling powers of this store, have complied with the demands for improvements. Sleeves have been lengthened, seams widened, ribbings made fuller, and in many cases far superior finishes have been produced, so that now we have one of the best assorted and most complete stocks of underwear in the country.

Notice particularly our prices on the "Wolsey" Brand. These lines at $1.50 and $2.00 are unshrinkable, all-wool, British manufacture, and ANY GARMENT BEARING THIS TRADE MARK THAT SHRINKS IN WASHING WILL BE REPLACED.

No matter how often these undergarments are washed, they never "fill up," or "felt." They're made from finest Australian wool, only pure, long yarn entering into the manufacture, since experts in buying have discarded every short end. That assures service and satisfactory wear. It's good winter weight, but not too heavy; double-breasted, natural color, close ribbed cuffs and ankles and finished with pearl buttons. Every garment is full-fashioned and moulded to the lines of the body. On account of this there is not undue tightness nor aggravating bunchiness.

These garments have won a reputation for excellent wear, perfect fit and permanency in shape, and on account of their perfect finish, both on the outside and inside, they are as comfortable to wear as eiderdown, sizes 34 to 46. Their popularity is not a matter of accident. They represent the accumulated, composite experience of many years devoted exclusively to making the best types of underwear; priced at, per garment$1.50 and $2.00

We have underwear ranging in price from 39c to $7.50 per garment. None but reliable mills have supplied us, and you may count on the lowest possible prices. Investigate the Eaton underwear stock, if you're desirous of obtaining solid underwear comfort and entire satisfaction in every way.

I have said that the mail car was broken in pieces, but it was a wonder that, like the furniture of an African house after it has been bored and perferated by white ants, it did not fly into powder instead of into splinters. Some of these mail cars are old pas-senger cars, too antiquated for passerger service, but converted into mail coaches and made to bear the outward semblance of a new car by good coats of paint. Ill-planned, ill-ventilated, ill-lighted, the mail clerks on these cars almost perish in the winter and are stifled in the summer, while the pulling, jerking, oscillating motion, because of the position of the car next to the engine, has sent more than one railway mail clerk out of the service a nervous in their cars at the siding go on duty in temperatures below zero, with no steam on. Farmers' Advocate: One way or another, our hustling contemporary, the Toronto World, manages to maintain its reputation for battling on behalf of public rights. Lately it has taken up the cudgels for an improved Ontario railway service, especially for the towns and rural districts. The World's contention is, in substance, that the two great trunk railway companies which serve this province, having their headquarters at Montreal, habitually neglect the province from which they each draw an immense proportion of their revenue; that they have no executive officers in Ontario with any authority of consequence; that the patrons who have a grievance of any kind, whether it be a ticket to be refunded or difficulty in securing an ordered freight car, have to appeal to Montreal, where scant consideration is manifested and costly delay often experienced; that many of the best passenger cars are used for American thru traffic at two cents per mile, while the people of Ontario, who subsidized the roads and who largely support them, are charged three cents for a comparatively slow and mean service; that the small cities, towns, villages and country shipping points are shamefully neglected as to character of service and fulfilment of orders for rolling stock, to such a degree, in fact that the dissatisfaction of customers, owing to delayed shipment of goods, is in many in stances forcing manufacturing establishments to move away from the small centre or go out of business; that the railroads have most of the press muzzled by special transportation rates and by advertising patronage, and that a large number of members of parliament are little more than retainers of the transportation companies. In support of this formidable indictment. The World invited communications giving instances of injustice and neglect. Immediately the evidence poured in, was seized upon, published, and the companies fearlessly upbraided, while local parliamentary representatives were shamed into spasmodic activity; and it begins to look as the The World has done more already to secure a decent railway service for this province, and. incidentally, the rest of Canada as well, than the Ontario Government's stillborn Railway and Municipal Board bids fair to accomplish in a century at its present gait.

The Farmers' Advocate sympathizes heartily with The World's campaign. High-handed disregard of public interest by the beneficiaries of Canadian money grants and franchises has reached a point where the intelligent Canadian public will stand for it no longer. A powerful weight of opinion is accumulating in favor of demanding that Canada require from her transportation companies a service at least as good as that offered the United States customers in the competition for American traffic. It is time for a change.

Out on the Ontario branch lines of the Grand Trunk Railway today, what do we find? A slow, dilatory passenger service, handled not infrequently by surly, underpaid employes; inferior locomotive power, and disreputable stations in which to wait for dilapidated old cars, furnished with wooden-rimmed, shabby-plush-covered seats, hardly fit for secondclass service. Yet, when it comes to buying a ticket, it is a plump, firstclass fare, and always the fraction of the nickel to the good. We are supposed to be pleased with this service, because our grandfathers trod the blazed trail. And if a train is late, do you find out how late? Not if the station agent can help it. Reticence appears to be their established policy. As a case in point: On Saturday evening, Oct. 12, the writer was passenger on a G.T.R. train for Toronto. One hour and fifty minutes it waited in Hamilton. Why? None of the passengers seemed to know. Some said there was no crew to take the train, others vaguely alluded to a wreck. No one knew, and no one enquired at the ticket office. They know from past experience it was useless. So they sat and fumed and put in the uncertain vigil as best they could, trusting for deliverance to Providence and the Grand Trunk! The delay may have been unavoidable. but no official came thru the train to announce the cause or give any information as to the probable length of the wait. How much longer will the traveling public stand for deceit and reticence where frankness is their first due?

The freight service is worse than the passenger, because the abuses are more exasperating and costly. It will do good to have these cases reported. Our columns are open for the ventilation of authenticated grievances experienced by Canadian shippers of live stock and agricultural produce, also the losses and annoyances of farmers who have suffered long and driven far looking for freight that lingered by the way.

The feasibility of an improved service is proven by the invariable smartening up that follows the advent of a competing line, and it is reasonable to suppose the companies, as well as the patrons, are benefited by the increased promptness, consideration and civility that results from the stimulus. Where competition is lacking, publicity thru press and parliament is the only alternative. It is, therefore, in no spirit of hostility that this matter is aired, but merely a sense of need and public duty, and, in the end, we believe it will pay the railroads to accede to the popular demand and spruce up.

horrible that ever occurred in British CITY'S POWER ESTIMATES Columbia.

The little girl had been ill-treated by a fiend whose actions were too fearful to describe. The body of the child was found amongst the bushes in Londsdale gardens this afternoon. She had been killed by cuts with two razors which lay on the ground along-side her remains. Her body was cut to pieces. A bottle of gin was picked up nearby.

The child lived with her parents at Moodyville, and on Saturday she was sent to North Vancouver with orders on the store. The orders were not filed and the child was at once searched for. Provincial police and the whole town searched all Saturday, Sunday, Monday and to-day. Police have gone to North Vancouver from this city, but so far no arrests have been made.

J. G. Farmer of Hamilton, as counsel for Jake Sunfield, under sentence of death for murder, yesterday applied to the court of appeal for leave to appeal from the decision of Chief Justice Falconbridge refusing a stated case. Owing to the absence of the chief justice, no decision was given.

The defence contended that Rodzyk's statement to a witness, "Jake shoot; no dector, me die," was not a dying declaration, as there was nothing to show he was in a hopeless state. Radzyk's reply had been made in a voice just above a whisper, so that the prisoner could not hear it, and he had no opportunity of denying it.

A similar motion was made on behalf of William Paul of Kenora, Ont, who killed Kenrick Shilling of Pinewood.

Crippled by chronic rheumatism, so that he has to walk with a crutch and a cane, unable to stand even while delivering his speech, Senator Ross's physical disabilities are forgotten when he begins to speak. With an imagination covering in its broad sweep the history of America, France, England, Russia and Japan, Mr. Ross drew a picture of the American Republic, its history, progress and ideals; a picture so graphic and drawn with such fidelity to the spirit and even the letter of American institutions that his hearers could scarcely believe that he was not an American. When he finished the applause was tremendous.

He thought our constitution should never have permitted slavery; said that the war of 1812 was a mistake; that the repeal of the reciprocitytreaty in 1866 was one, too. But he did it all in a courteous way, as when he was referring to the victories of diplomacy.

Dividend Cut on Amalgamated Copper Subsidiary-Toronto Market is Uninteresting.

World Office
Tuesday Evening, Nov. 12.

Weakness on Wall-street caused a further contraction in business on the Toronto Exchange to-day. Prices as a rule were steady, but there was no attempt at aggressiveness. The demand for stocks was light, but the selling pressure did not over-balance this. There was no difficulty experienced in getting orders filled, altho where outside liquidation was not present insiders.

Burgiar Binds Woman. WINDSOR, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Steers, 60 years of age, staggered from her home or Caron-avenue last evening and with blood oozing from her mouth she told her neighbors that a strange man had entered her house while she was alone and, with a revolver held to her head, compelled her to stand while he bound her arms with strips of clothing. He then struck her a heavy blow on the mouth, knocking her down and rangesked the house her down and ransacked the house.
Finding no money he decamped.

The setback on Wall-street, with news of further business reaction and failures in the United States, was not an important factor at the Toronto Exchange to-day. Brokers watched the New York ticker for guidance as to values, and traders in local securities were only deterred from selling because of the small amount of shares, apparently in a floating shape, at the present time. The support in the market was well maintained, perhaps for the very reason that there was no overwhelming supply of securities. The outside buying power was small, and much of the investment demand is put at figures below present quotations, as far as the speculative stocks are concerned. Prospective buyers are in a retrospective frame of mind, and are not acting in the most confident mood.

within the next few weeks, we would expect prices to advance, regardless of the money situation, but as the market stands now we would only advise purchases on sharp and pronounced breaks.

Corn—Cables were ½c up: receipts small; less than estimated. Cash prices about steady, but the futures lacked support of any kind, and sold off rapidly. Large selling orders were in the market early, and the volume of trade was too small to absorb the offerings. I advise the sale of corn on every rally for the next few weeks.

Oats—Cash prices were ½c to ic lower, while receipts are moderate, and the consumptive demand for oats is equal to arrivals. The same influences which depressed other grains were operative in TERTAINLY you must see about your winter fur garments at once if you are going to be prepared for the coming cold weather, and positively if you intend to purchase for the holidays.

We want to impress you with a few facts that should draw you to our showrooms: We have been nearly fifty years purchasing fur pelts and making them into garments. It takes four individual factories to handle our output. Members of our firm select the foreign furs in the different capitals of Europe, and special agents do likewise with domestic furs in the trading posts of Canada's far north.

These points should make this list for suitable suggestions for holiday purchases interesting.
