Special to The Times-Star: MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—"Everything I said before the Young Men's Canadian Club in Montreal I said in Halifax, but apparently the people of Saint John, N. B., did not take it in such an enthusiastic spirit."

According to Mr. Calder the same speech which he delivered at Halifax took so well that many of those who heard him asked for verbatim copies in order that they could distribute it to those who were absent from the meeting.

BAXTER DENIED COPY.

Refusal to send a confidential copy of the report of Sir Andrew Rae Duncan's commission on Maritime Rights to Premier John B. M. Baxter was contained in a letter received today by the Premier from Hon. James A. Robb, acting Prime Minister, Ottawa.

SCOTT, DUE TO HANG, GRANTED APPEAL

Convicted on Murder Charge Wins Third Round in Fight For Life

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13.—Russell T. Scott, under sentence to be hanged in Chicago Friday for the murder of a drug clerk, during a holiday, was granted an appeal by the Illinois supreme court today.

Scott, who twice before had escaped the gallows by a narrow margin, had filed a writ of error with the court on Monday. It was an appeal from a unity trial in which the jury found him sane, and subject to hanging, the sentence originally imposed. He had been returned to Chicago from the asylum for the criminal insane, at Chester, where he was sent after a previous eleventh hour insanity plea. He first escaped the noose through a reprieve from Governor Small.

TRAGEDIES TAKE TOLL

Eight Killed, 50 Hurt, in Brazil Train Wreck; Indian Fishermen Drowned Off B. C.; Gang Feud Breaks Out in Boston; N. Y. State Bank Wrecked by Blast

QUEBEC, Oct. 13.—Mrs. George Ahern, wife of Dr. George Ahern, well known surgeon of this city, was accidentally shot and killed in the woods 20 miles from Quebec yesterday.

SAN PABLO, Brazil, Oct. 13.—Eight persons were killed and more than 50 injured yesterday when a passenger train crashed into a freight train near Villa Amastaco. The collision is said to have been due to a mistake in signalling. The majority of the casualties were workmen.

TOKYO, Oct. 13.—Disappointed in love, and feeling there was nothing else to live for, Giichi Kitazawa, a confectioner, "ate himself to death." With his sweetheart sitting across the table from him, Kitazawa swallowed eggs and curry and rice in large quantities, with sake and whiskey. Finally he fell unconscious and died within a few hours.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 13.—Four or five Indian fishermen were drowned in Hecate Strait between the Queen, Charlotte Islands and the Northern British Columbia mainland, during a severe storm last week, it is feared. The sein fishing craft Karta was last seen on October 7, off Rose Spit, the northeastern tip of the islands, according to word received yesterday, and vessels which have been searching adjacent waters since then have been unsuccessful in finding any trace of the vessel or her native crew.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 13.—A man believed to be George N. Cooper, Rochester, N. Y., shot himself and jumped over the upper steel arch bridge into the Niagara River last night. Police say several persons on the bridge heard the shot and saw him jump. He left a telegram to be sent to East P. Colburn, 10 Gibbs street, Rochester, reading: "Man with driving license and other miscellaneous identification papers as George N. Cooper, went off the bridge into the river tonight."

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Charles Gagliano was shot and probably fatally wounded last night, in what the police believed was an outbreak of gang feud or bootleggers' war. The shooting occurred in the crowded Scholay Square section at the height of the late evening theatre rush, and threw the district into a turmoil. A man leaped to the running board of Gagliano's automobile as it stood beside the curb, and fired three shots through a rear window. Two bullets struck Gagliano in the stomach, and the third slipped through the roof of the car. The gunman ducked off the running board and dashed into the crowd.

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—A terrific explosion of undetermined origin last night wrecked the Watkins Glen National Bank, injured one man and caused property damage estimated at more than $250,000. Stephen Turner, janitor, was severely cut and bruised. The blast wrecked the three story bank building and shattered windows for two blocks around. Daniel Kelly, restaurant man, walking past the bank when the explosion came, was blown across the street and landed against a building on the opposite side. He was unharmed, however. The explosion, apparently in the basement of the bank, blew a great hole through the west wall of the building, and wrecked the interior. Marble and brass ornamentations in the lobby were ripped from the walls. Bank records, furniture and equipment were destroyed.

Shipbuilding Shows Great Falling Off

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Great Britain and Ireland still hold first place on Lloyd's shipbuilding record, although suspension of work on 107,498 gross tons contracted for, reduced the total construction during the quarter ending September 30 to 667,000 tons. A report issued by Lloyd's today shows a world shipbuilding record of only 1,850,000 gross tons for the quarter, a reduction of 350,000 tons over the corresponding period last year.

BANQUET GUEST

Colonization Minister Is Given Ovation by Throng in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 13.—While stating that he had an open mind on the policy that should be pursued in connection with immigration, Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and Colonization declared that he wanted immigrants, and did if they were sound of body and if they were willing to work, when speaking at a banquet here last night.

BRACKEN'S TRIBUTE

Hon. John Bracken, Premier of Manitoba, in referring to the difficulties of the position to which Mr. Forke had been called, said that immigration today was not a matter of getting healthy people of all races that might be satisfied to settle here, but of getting immigrants who would work, and who would not necessarily bring a load of debt with them.

SEES MORE CREDIT AS WAR DEBTS PAID

British Embassy Councillor Spea at Luncheon in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 13.—Final settlement of its war debts by Great Britain, was the forerunner of increasing British credit throughout the world, H. G. Chilton, acting councillor of the British Embassy in Washington, asserted yesterday at a luncheon in honor of Vice Admiral Sir Walter H. Cowan of the Royal Navy.

PLEA TO LAND OWNERS

"There is one message that I have to express tonight," said Mr. Forke, "and I want to say to those who hold large quantities of land, that I hope they will deal as reasonably as possible with the immigrants who come to the matter of letting them have land. The mortgage companies in western Canada are quite prepared to deal very reasonably with them, and that is the right attitude to adopt. As for other holders of land, I hope they will not make up their minds that because there is to be a larger immigration, and because of my connection with the department, but because the tide is turning in favor of immigration to Canada, that is the time to raise the price of land and block the very thing that we want to encourage. We want the sale of lands at a reasonable figure, and at terms that will make it possible for those who come to our shores to get a farm."

SETTLERS FALL OFF

The Minister of Immigration showed how immigration to Canada had dropped from 400,000 in 1918 to 81,000 this year, when it was much better than in immediately preceding years, and said it was necessary to increase the volume. He quite agreed with Premier Bracken that the problem was not so much one of immigration as colonization.

Mr. Forke said he was rather unfortunate that there had been no immigration minister at Ottawa for a number of years, and that he hoped that you may call bureaucratic government, he said, "and we have a deputy minister of immigration who has vision and a staff that is efficient. But that has been running of its own volition. There has been no initiative or responsibility held by any particular minister in the government in regard to immigration."

REFERS TO MARITIMES

The Minister of Immigration said he realized that a great opportunity lay before him, and while he realized his shortcomings, he was going to do his best to get a farm.

Intimate Glimpses of Queen Marie

THE "Mother-in-law of Europe," Queen Marie of Rumania, is bound for American shores. With her is her young and lovely and last unwed daughter, the Princess Ileana, aged almost 18.

Another daughter, Elizabeth, became the bride of Crown Prince George of Greece—who later was king for a time.

The next daughter, bearing the queen's own name of Marie, found a desirable mate in the person of King Alexander of Yugoslavia. This marriage was a great triumph for the queen's delicate political tact, for numerous problems of state were involved in it.

The beautiful Ileana and young Princess Marie are the ones with all his philanthropic, is the one bitter disappointment of the queen's children so far. Carol's royal marriage was to Princess Helen of Greece.

The beautiful Ileana and young Princess Marie are the ones with all his philanthropic, is the one bitter disappointment of the queen's children so far. Carol's royal marriage was to Princess Helen of Greece.

The child-wife soon learned there was no love in her husband's heart for her, and her parents-in-law chafed at her strong will, her determination to amount to something.

Marie did not yield to fate. She looked in her glass. She saw she was beautiful, and proceeded to let others know it.

Soon her husband felt the stabs of jealousy, and by the time Ferdinand became king, and Marie queen, her royal wife of all Europe more thoroughly ruled the heart and her mate than this girl from the north.

Ex-Convict Suspected In Big Jewel Theft

CHANTILLY, France, Oct. 13.—The perpetrators of the theft of the famous Rose diamond, valued at more than $2,000,000, and other articles of value, from the chateau of the Duc D'Aumale, a crime which has stirred France more than any other since Leonardo Da Vinci's famous portrait Mona Lisa, was stolen from the Louvre in 1910, are still at large. The police, however, believe they have a clue pointing to one of the band of daring thieves, consisting of at least four men. The suspect was released from prison 18 months ago. He formerly resided in Chantilly and is known to be connected with one of the most skilled gangs of acrobatic burglars in France.

ROYAL PARTY GIVEN SEND-OFF AT CHERBOURG

National Anthem Greets Travelers as Ship Is Boarded

DRY VOYAGE PLAN

Ice Water and Hot Tea Only Beverages Ordered for Regal Suite

By Wireless to the Associated Press: S. S. LEVIATHAN, Oct. 13.—Queen Marie of Rumania is on board the Leviathan today on her way to Canada and the United States. The big ship put to sea last night from Cherbourg during a rain storm, with every light around the water front aglow, and the cruiser Memphis of the United States European squadron brilliantly illuminated, and her searchlights playing upon the flagship of the United States Merchant Marine.

In order to see the illuminations and to get a good view of the also brilliantly lighted Leviathan, Queen Marie remained on the deck of the tender Welcome as it put out from Cherbourg to go alongside the big liner, which is to take her across seas on a voyage she long has anticipated with great pleasure.

Informal Dinner

Captain Herbert Hartley, commander of the United States Line Fleet, his staff, and the crew of the vessel, were drawn up to greet the royal guest and her party. The Rumanian national anthem was played as Marie, Princess Ileana, Prince Nicholas and the other members of the entourage came aboard.

There was no dressing for dinner. The queen and her suite were all too worn out by the day's exertions, the trip from Paris to Cherbourg by train, and the receptions and farewells in Cherbourg before it was time to go out to the Leviathan.

It was informal meal that party sat down to in the private dining room of the royal suite. Corn on the cob and fried sweet potatoes were featured.

After dinner the queen remained in her suite, but Prince Nicholas and Prince Hohenzollern-Langenburg, the queen's nephew, sat in lounge suits, mingled with the crowd in the main saloon. The orchestra played Rumanian airs.

QUEEN UP EARLY

Queen Marie was up at 6:45 o'clock this morning, after a good night's rest. She had a cup of tea and later breakfasted. The Queen had a dip in the ship's plunge at 9:30 o'clock.

"I was very tired last night, but I rested splendidly," she said. "Everything is so comfy in my suite," she added.

So far as the Royal party is concerned, the trip across the Atlantic will be a "dry" one inside the Royal suite.

"So far as drinks are concerned," the queen told the master of ceremonies "always have plenty of ice water for me. If I cannot have ice water, then let me have hot tea."

PRINCE TETOTALLER

There will be plenty of ice water for both the Queen and Prince Nicholas, who has been a tetotaler for three years. Nicholas explained that he was an officer of the Rumanian navy and that he did not desire any one ever to accuse him of not being sober.

During the voyage Queen Marie will pass the time chiefly in reading and writing and listening in on the radio. When she gets out in the west she hopes to have a chance to go horse-back riding, this being her one outdoor sport. Prince Nicholas plays golf and he and his sister Ileana both go occasionally for tennis.

AUDIT BUREAU MEET OPENS NEXT WEEK

Thirteenth Annual Convention of Circulation Body to be Held in Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Finishing touches are now being put on the preparations for the 13th annual convention of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a co-operative organization which has for its object the verification of the circulation of newspapers and periodicals, which opens here next week.

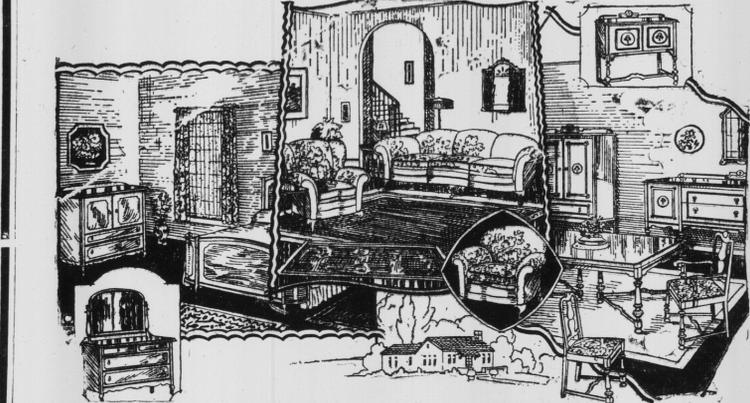

The bureau was established in the fall of 1913 after the Association of American Advertisers had failed in an effort to establish such an organization because of inadequate service through lack of funds.

Through this bureau, it was agreed, the advertiser, when buying space in a publication, would be in a position to ascertain what he was buying and the publisher would be able to satisfy his customers as to what he was selling.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 13, 1926.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS.

It must have been a peculiar pleasure to Hon. Fred Magee to visit the new vocational school in Saint John and learn of its success. A speech by Mr. Magee in the Legislature led the Government to appoint a commission to investigate, and its report included a bill providing for vocational training in New Brunswick.

This province had before it the experience of Nova Scotia, which had erected a technical college before having provided for pre-vocational training in the public schools, and therefore had but few students for the institution.

RETALIATION.

The question has often been asked: What would the United States do if her ports suffered from the diversion of her trade to Canadian ports? Perhaps the following quotation from the Boston Transcript is the answer:

"Following a hearing at Portland, Me., before Admiral W. S. Benson and Edward C. Plummer, members of the United States Shipping Board, assurances were given that the board appreciates the peculiar problems of that port, due to keen Canadian competition and that Portland will be protected even to the extent of retaliatory measures because of the withdrawal from Portland of some British ships."

Retaliation is the word. Because an effort is made to handle Canadian trade through Canadian ports instead of American ports, our neighbors would retaliate.

That is not at all a pleasant game to play, but two can play it; and Canada has some things the United States needs. Moreover, the people of the United States greatly underestimate the spirit of Canada if they believe a threat will deter us from pursuing a course so obviously in our own interest, and so clearly within our rights, as the transportation of Canadian products through Canadian ports.

It should have the very opposite effect.

The German professor, who says the male impulse is the direct cause of war, can never have seen two schoolgirls in a hair-pulling match.

It should not be difficult to decide whether amateurs or professionals are to guide amateur sport in these provinces. The line of distinction should be sharply drawn—and maintained.

THE MATTER OF PENSIONS.

The matter of old age pensions, we are told, will come up again at the next session of Parliament in Ottawa. It is therefore interesting to learn what New Zealand, which is so advanced in social legislation, is doing at the present time.

The Dominion has been paying mothers' allowance since 1911, but has now extended the system to include pensions for married couples with large families but small earnings. A correspondent thus explains the new measure:

"The allowance is not large, two shillings a week for each child in excess of two—but it will be a help to the small proportion of unavowedly poor people that exists even in this happy community. The government is trying a small grant, and if the scheme works well and is not abused, the rate of allowance may be increased. The present widow's pension is at the rate of 10 shillings a week for each child with an additional 10s., but the childless widow is not entitled to anything. The widow's income apart from the pension must not exceed 30s. a week, and the value of her interest in the family home must not exceed £200. There are about 8,000 such pensions in force, and the annual cost approaches £300,000. The average pension is 27s. All cases are subject to investigation, and there are very few abuses. The new scheme of allowances applies to families containing more than two children, all being under 15 years, with a total average income, exclusive of the allowance, of not more than £4 a week. The application has to be made by the father, but the money will be paid to the mother, and is to be used exclusively for the benefit of the children in respect of whom it is claimed. Applicants must be of good character and British subjects. Asides of 'what-ever nationality, are excluded.'"

To the suggestion that the benefit system will be abused, it is replied that the New Zealanders are independent folk and that, since the allowance is so small, only ill or disabled breadwinners are likely to apply. In any event this is only an experiment. We are told it will affect directly or indirectly some sixty thousand children.

There is a marked and growing distaste for an indiscriminate dole system, but this New Zealand experiment will be followed with a certain degree of sympathy, based on the assumption that only the really hard-pressed and deserving will derive benefit. There is always danger of abuse, although in the New Zealand bit in some Canadian provinces the results appear to give satisfaction. In the matter of old age pensions there is no lack of sympathy for the principle, but there is difficulty in formulating a satisfactory scheme. There is every reason to believe that Parliament at Ottawa will adopt a measure, which if not generally satisfactory may be amended after a trial and made more acceptable to the provinces.

It appears to be settled that the Duncan report is not to be published until submitted to Parliament. While no adequate reason for the suppression for two months of a document which must eventually be given to the public is forthcoming, we may as well possess our souls in patience. In the meantime, however, the Government, which has R. L. Calder, K. C., on the payroll in his legal capacity, might suggest to him that baiting the Maritimes is not too safe a national pastime.

Other Views

A WORKER'S VIEW.

(W. F. Watson, in the Cornhill Magazine.) The British workman is probably the most maligned and misunderstood creature in the world. It is a remarkable fact that even in these days there are some people whose sole conception of a working man is an individual who goes into the mill or factory, down the mine, on the railway, or on a building site, and who merely to qualify for the wages he quickly squanders in drink and gambling, and who is constantly being urged to strike. That some wage-earners are "work-shies" cannot be disputed, and a building site or a factory is a goodly portion of their wages in drink and gambling and pictures; but they are only a negligible number of people believe such things of all the workers.

SENSE OF PROPORTION SHY.

(L'Action Catholique.) It is true as M. Leon Pier-Quint wrote recently: "The public has a sense of proportion so much as to be bored; and the aphorism marks its author as finely observed." It is a remarkable proposition as "progress" makes existence easier the great mass of the people demanded pleasure to pass the time. It is not greatly surprising then that entertainers reach the masses who ask for pleasure to fill their life's leisure every else. For then the necessary here is a veritable craze and because this craze is collective it is more dangerous. A sense of proportion needs to be cultivated everywhere. But its cultivation will not be easy so long as the public asks nothing better than not to be bored.

CANTON OF KENTUCKY.

(Cincinnati Times-Star.) Crime was never more brazen in the history of America than it is today. And in its brazenness, it has come to recognize what, in the last analysis, is its greatest enemy, publicity. In Canton, O., where vice secured control of the police department, it slew an editor who had the courage to publish the facts of vice's reign in his city. Newspapers, which have established their claim to be regarded as the Canton of Kentucky, gamblers attacked a young newspaper reporter of the Commercial-Tribune, whose office had been the writing of a news story of a raid conducted by the Mayor of Newport. Newport has been an asylum for gamblers for years, and with gambling flourish the other crimes that are its brothers or sisters. There have been mere dangers by the authorities that vice conditions do not exist or that they are unable to apprehend violators. Yet anybody who wished to gamble had no difficulty in finding in Newport plenty of gambling houses. Everybody but Newport's police could find violators.

FARMERS ENRAGED.

(New York World.) In Upper Westchester the farmers are organizing to repel the raids of automobilists who deserve the reputation of being road thieves. They have a very real grievance. It is amazing how people presumably otherwise honest, steal, and of course they know it. There was a time when it was merely a nuisance, but it has become a serious one to require severe measures than the politer forms of complaint. The plundering these road thieves do is made worse by the destruction of property for which they are responsible. On week-ends especially they are a pest throughout the countryside round about this city, so that in some sections it is necessary to maintain almost a regular patrol. If the Upper Westchester farmers can find any effective way, beyond appeals to common decency, to check the depredations by automobilists, they will be rendering a public service to other districts by making known their methods of self-protection.

Queer Quirks of Nature

NATURE'S SILK MANUFACTURERS.

Cocoon.

By AUSTIN H. CLARK. AFTER the leaves have fallen in the autumn you will find securely fastened to the twigs of various trees and bushes large, dull, coppery cocoons. Before the leaves fall you do not notice these, as the caterpillar in constructing them draws upon itself several of the leaves by which they are concealed to a large extent. If you cut one of these cocoons across you find within it loose, lustrous silk and in the centre a tough thin capsule smoothly polished on the inner side, which lies the chrysalis. These cocoons vary much in size.

In the winter great numbers of cocoons are destroyed by woodpeckers which drill a hole in them and through the hole eat out the contents of the pupa. These are the cocoons of our largest moth, known as the Cecropia. They are very common almost everywhere and you can gather them in numbers once you learn to find them. About sixty years ago efforts were made to make use of these cocoons as a source of silk. While a fine silk can be obtained from them the expense of producing it is very high and the caterpillars are difficult to raise.

men, women and lap dogs. But even the fresh air finds no its virtues. For when the World Series turned back New York into a little lunatic asylum and men stood in line all night for tickets, all of the line-standers suffered from the cold save two Yankee fans who drove up, parked their closed car in line and promptly made themselves comfortable for an all night sleep, sheltered from the elements and with all the comforts of home, including regulated ventilation.

During the remodeling of a shop the floor boards were carefully burned and in the ashes sufficient gold was found to pay for a new floor. DINNER STORIES! A DUSKY rookie was doing guard duty for the first time. Along came one of those officers who wear silver chickens on their shoulders. The rookie naturally got excited and flustered. "Halt!" he yelled and then stopped. "Well, what are you going to do next?" inquired the colonel after he had remained on the spot like a graven image for some seconds. "I ain't sure, Boss," admitted the dandy. Then he added dangerously: "But by golly, yo' better stan' right where 'yo' is till I think what it is 'se gwine to do'."

POEMS I LOVE

"If Youth But Knew!" by Edmund C. Stedman.

This, the lyrical expressions of a Frenchman's thought, "Si jeunesse savait" has the charm of sincerity, and much beauty, it seems to me. Stedman, as I believe I have said elsewhere, will be remembered more as the editor of his anthology of American poetry; yet much of his verse remains to please the ear and to refresh, if it does not thrill, the heart. He was by no means a great poet, but he had undeniable gifts as a singer of minor songs.

When the veil from the eyes is lifted The seer's head is gray; When the sailor to shore has drifted The harvests are not sere; Where, ere the seasons dwindle, They yield their due return; Come, as a Father, and bless us still, When the hand has lost its power!

Is there a rarer being, Is there a fairer sphere Where the strong are not unseeing, And the weak are not despairing? They yield their due return; Where the lamps of knowledge kindle While the flames of youth still burn? O, for the young man's chances! O, for the old man's will! Those few while this advances, And the strong years beat us still. (Copyright, 1926.)

WHO'S WHO

RT. REV. ARTHUR FOLEY WINNINGTON-INGRAM.

ENGLAND'S noted prelate, the Rt. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, D. D., Lord Bishop of London, peer, democratic ecclesiastic, the "London Bobbies' Bishop" but, above all, the outstanding Bishop in the Anglican Communion whose particular appeal to young men, will make a tour of the leading colleges and universities of the United States begin on October 1. Plans for the reception and entertainment of the Lord Bishop whose predecessors have been lords in Fulham since the days of Saint Erkenwald, which were more than 1,200 years ago, is a call upon President Coolidge at the White House, a dinner in his honor in New York by the Pilgrims, and a luncheon in New York by the English Speaking Union, also in New York, at which Hon. John W. Davis will act as toast master, a visit to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln and a formal welcome in Baltimore by Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, D.D., Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States.

In his 25 years as Bishop of London, Dr. Ingram, who is now 88 years old, has made for himself an unique place in the hearts of the English-speaking world. His fame as the friend, instructor and companion of youth has spread through every land where the Anglican church operates. His talks to Oxford and Cambridge students have had deep and widespread influence, not alone because of their wisdom and authority, but because of the reason of their informality and the genius of the Bishop in meeting the viewpoint of youth.

The Bishop of London is an author of note whose works include "The Potter and the Clay," "Day of Dawn," "Victory After" and "The Spirit of Peace." He was born in Worcester-shire, England, January 22, 1838, and became Bishop of London in 1901. In 1915 he was created Knight Commander of the Royal Victorian Order and in 1918 made Prelate of the Order of the British Empire. This will be Bishop Ingram's second visit to the United States. He spent some time here nineteen years ago. Bishop Ingram will wind up his tour in San Francisco early in November, after a possible visit to one or two California universities, and sail thence for the Far East.

The carrying out of the scheme, however, is well in hand, and a large party of members of the Institution of Electrical Engineers of Ireland who visited the works last week have expressed themselves in very favorable terms concerning them.

Thousands of Men Fail in Business Because Their Wives Don't Know How to Feed Them, or Because Their Minds are Clouded by Nagging and Quarrels at Home

WOMEN think about making a happy home as merely an ethical problem, but it isn't only that. It is a business proposition as well, and it is just as much money in their pockets as it is happiness in their hearts

DOROTHY DIX

Observation bears out this theory about a man's prosperity and his domestic happiness going hand in hand. Run over in your mind the list of your divorced friends and acquaintances and you will be amazed to find how often financial bankruptcy has followed spiritual bankruptcy.

YOU will also find that the fortunes of nearly every man who has forsaken an old wife for a new one have somehow been mysteriously brightened, and you will find that the solid men of every community, the men who own the banks, the factories and line shops, and who run the big enterprises are nearly all Darbys who think their middle-aged wives are the most beautiful women in the world and can't be pried away from their own firesides.

Now, inasmuch as a man's success depends largely upon what sort of a home he has, it is up to the wife to make him a happy home and to keep him in love with her, not only because it is the right thing to do but just as a matter of policy. It is the easiest way for her to gratify her ambition, for whatever of power and place and luxury comes to the average woman must come to her through her husband. She rises or falls with him.

TO BEGIN with, a woman can increase her husband's earning capacity by the sort of housekeeper she is. A lot of women think that it doesn't make any difference whether you feel a man out of tin cans and paper bags or not, if he will stand for it, and they never realize that food supplies the fuel that makes the human engine run. So they will send a man off to work in the morning with a skimpy breakfast, or no breakfast at all, or some indigestible mess that he has scrambled together himself, and then they wonder why he doesn't get along in business or that he breaks down with some sort of stomach trouble by the time he is 45.

Why, thousands upon thousands of men fail in business because their wives don't know how to feed them! A mean cup of coffee and a soggy doughnut has made many a man so cross and irritable that he has lost his boss and lost his job, or quarrelled with his partner, or morally offended his best customer. Or he has caused him to take such a dark green, bilious view of life that he believed the whole world going to the bowwows and turned down some proposition that would have made him a fortune.

MANY a wife sells out her husband's birthright for a mess of pottage by dragging him around at night to pieces of amusement. She keeps him up juggling until 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, dancing too much and eating too much, and he gets up the next morning with a furrowed brow and heavy head and in no condition to compete with the men who have had eight hours of good sleep.

Most wives consider a family spat a perfectly innocuous form of entertainment. They get a certain kick out of nagging and fretting. They see no good reason why they should deny themselves what they consider a cheap pleasure.

It never occurs to them that every breakfast-table quarrel, if assessed at its true value, would cost them more than grand opera seats.

FOR the man who leaves home of a morning with the memory of his wife's bitter speeches and reproaches echoing in his ears is mentally upset. His poise is destroyed, his judgment clouded, his concentration shattered. He cannot give his mind fully to the matter in hand because he is subconsciously dwelling on his grievance. His mind is obsessed by what he considers his wrongs, and his powers of achievement are reduced at least 75 per cent.

Besides this, love is the strongest driving power in the world. It turns the coward into a hero. It gives strength to the weak. It lights a flame even in the soul of a dud. There is nothing a man cannot achieve for the woman he loves. There is no effort he will not make to safeguard the home that is his little bit of heaven on earth.

BUT what incentive is there for a man to work for a woman who nags and scolds, who shows him no appreciation, no affection, no tenderness? And why should he sacrifice himself to the home that is nothing but a place of strife and where he is only the unconsidered slave who pays the rent and the grocery bill?

The moral of all of which is, ladies, that if you want your husband to succeed, and if you desire a fine home and limousine and things that his job is worth while. DOROTHY DIX.

HELP! Look this over: As had as it is, might be worse. Here's what they paid in Richmond, Va., in 1864 when Grant's armies were getting a thrapple hold on the confederacy: Tea, $22 per pound; coffee, $12 (imported from Mexico); mostly; brown sugar, $10 per pound; flour, $225 per barrel; milk, $4 per quart; bacon, $8.25 per pound; lard, $8.25 per pound; corn, $12 per bushel; sugar, $800 per barrel; chickens, $15 per piece; potatoes, $20 per bushel; beans, $4 per bushel; butter, $15 per pound; boots, $200; coats, $350; shoes, $125; wood, $50 per cord.

WHAT makes that new baby at your house cry so much, Freddie (indignantly): "If all your teeth were out, and your hair off, and your legs so weak you couldn't even stand on them, I guess you'd feel like crying yourself."

THE fool and his joke are soon started.

Hallowe'en Fun May Be Riotous as Spirits Revel

By MRS. MARY MORTON. WHEN all the tricky spirits of the earth revel, it is no time for mere man to restrain his gaiety. And Hallowe'en is the one date in the whole year when the joy in the heart is the appropriate motto.

All sorts of weird costumes may be designed for the Hallowe'en party and the more wild and ghostly the stunts—all within reason, of course—the better. Brownies, ghosts, hobgoblins, witches of all kinds are welcome to the Hallowe'en jamboree—the more the merrier.

The decorations may be in keeping with the rest of the entertainment. Orange and black are the generally accepted colors for the trimmings but autumn leaves, cornucopias and fruits and vegetables may all be drafted to add color and attractiveness to the house or hall where the festivities are to take place.

At the left of the picture above is a costume worn by Miss Dorothy Davies, moving picture actress, at a Hallowe'en party. The material is red and white check taffeta with a double collar and skirt band made of crepe paper and printed in the Hallowe'en designs or a whole dress might be made of paper.

The decorations of the table in this case are mostly of paper and wire. For the pumpkin head which is placed on a tripod above the table a large circle of wire was bent into pumpkin shape and covered with crepe paper.

The features are cut from different colored crepe paper and pasted into place. If desired two pumpkin faces can be made and put around the centre light in the dining room. Small ones can be made in the same manner and used for side lights for candles.

The tripod is made with three dowl or flag sticks covered with crepe paper. Fasten the sticks together at one end with spool wire. One wire about 18 inches long is covered with black crepe paper and hooked to top of tripod to hold the caldron. A round box can be used for the centrepiece or made of cardboard and cloth tape. In this the prizes are put for the guests. Pumpkin blossoms are used to decorate the tripod.

The doll favors are spoons on which faces have been drawn with India ink. Ruffles of crepe paper are gathered on the handle of spoon and decorated with gummed cut seals. These ruffles of crepe paper make the doll to stand. Pointed caps or narrow ruffles pasted to back of spoon in fan shape form the caps. Horns can be decorated in the same way.

The nut cups are made by making a wire handle and fastening to side of cup with cloth tape. Ruffles or orange crepe paper are pasted around cup and a little brownie cut out is tied to handle.

Runners are strips of orange crepe paper laid across table with a plain band of black running down centre of each strip and decorated in each corner with a black cat cut out.

Vegetable salad, brown bread and cream cheese sandwiches, pumpkin pie, cheese, cider and coffee would make a good supper for the affair.

Here are two games which might be played when the company has tired of wilder stunts of the evening: Family Ghosts—in the invitation to the party, request each one to bring a "family ghost" (something that is a "dead one" as far as he is concerned).

Menus for the Family

MENU HINT Breakfast Cantaloupe Boiled Rice with Figs. Coffee. Luncheon. Potato Soup. Stewed Tomatoes. Steamed or Fresh Fruit. Whole Wheat Bread and Butter. Oatmeal Cookies. Milk. Dinner. Lamb Chops. Browned Potatoes. Creamed Cauliflower. Sliced Cucumber. Tea. Sponge Cake.

TODAY'S RECIPES. Potato Soup—Cook three small potatoes, one small onion and a stalk or two of celery in a little water until tender. Strain through a coarse sieve. Put a large tablespoon of butter in double boiler, melt, add a level tablespoon flour, mix smooth, add one pint of milk, let come to a boil, add potato mixture, let cook for a few minutes and serve.

Browned Potatoes—Boil small potatoes until tender and brown in fat in pan in which the lamb chops were cooked.

FOR example, take the glittering enterprise of Roger Wolfe Kahn, the saxophonist son of the millionaire banker, Otto Kahn. Having made more in one year from a dozen jazz bands than his daddy made in the first 10 or 15 years of his business life, Roger is going to step out and show them. His club, I am told, will have mirrored glass floor and mirrored sides—the kaleidoscope and revealing nature of which I leave to your imagination.

Kahn here sees his son's activities in the light of musical spirits. Roger, he explains, wants to present new musical compositions and discover new talent. The latter also is the ambition of most "butter and egg men" attending the resorts, I am told.

RECENTLY the mother of the "baby jazz king" decided he needed a rest from his winter's work and summer vaudeville engagements. She pleaded with him to take a leisurely trip across country. As he was about to depart, new contracts came rushing up. The lad persisted that he could not afford to go. What would become of his orchestra?

I am told Mrs. Kahn suggested he leave it all to her and that she paid the salaries—which came to something like $10,000. It was what one might call an expensive vacation.

NOT the least of the expensive night club attractions will be Raquel Meller, whose return was arranged variously by Charlie Chaplin, who announces her as a leading lady in one picture, and by a night club manager who announces that she will sing according to the table-to-table tradition established in Paris.

In fact, the entire night club atmosphere threatens to be very Parisian this season. The Russian influence, created by several scores of jobless Slavic nobility is passe. Practically every ultra-expensive resort announces the assistance of French managers or entertainers or producers.

What tourists learned to enjoy in Paris for a dozen years or so they now may have at home at the slight fee of anywhere from $15 to $50, including ginger ale.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels. Do not ask me, "Is it wise?" with that wonder in your eyes. Wisdom, doubtless, is to know much of Earth, its joy and woe. Wisdom is to dwell apart from the folly of the heart, from the sweet and simple things, which man's daily living brings. Wisdom is to go alone into realms that few have known, seeking on those lonely heights solemn joys and rare delights. Yet, I feel, scant gladness lies in such lofty destinies, and the wisdom I would choose is the lore the humble use; knowledge of the tender notes from the happy bluebirds' throats, and of games the children play at the tranquil close of day. Wisdom I most highly prize sets a-light within your eyes little candle-gleams of bliss; what have sages like to this?

A Thought

PAUL VON HINDENBURG. President Paul von Hindenburg has a penchant for saving every relic connected with his military career. His office-desk is adorned with a helmet, pierced by a French bullet in 1780 while covering Hindenburg's head.

Military pictures and war memorabilia comprise the bulk of his library. He ardently dislikes music—unlike the people over whom he rules. There is only one exception—the drum and fife; he can listen to the tunes of these instruments ceaselessly. The frequent visits of German and foreign glee-clubs, which serenaded him from the presidential lawn, afflict him with acute ennui, as he has privately confessed. His war comrades relate that when they used to strike up a tune, Hindenburg could never sing a single note correctly.

SCIENCE tells us—A jellyfish cannot wear suspenders. Feynman's cannot be skinned by parcel post.

Indians did not invent the whooping cough. It's dangerous to wear a safe for a watch chain.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By DAN THOMAS. A SUDDEN rise . . . a meteoric flight across cinema heavens is the ambition of every actor. Such is the career of the cellulosid idol. But not so Harold Lockwood. That name which blazes forth from theatre signs some years ago will be perpetuated if Harold Lockwood Jr. has any of his father's qualifications. Lockwood was at the height of his career when death took him away. Now Harold Jr. is starting out to "carry on" for dad.

CLARA BOW was boasting to Victor Fleming, now directing "The Rough Riders," how good Charles Farrell was going to be in her next picture. "Well, I'm going to use him in my 'Wings,' I'm going to use him in my 'Wings,'" Fleming said.

"I'll bet you ten dollars you can't get him," returned Miss Bow. Results: Fleming went to the front office, and Clara lost her leading man—and ten dollars.

RUMORS have reached me of strong protests being made on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot against Marion Davies, having a reproduction of the Virgin Mary done in colored stone on the outside of her studio bungalow.

THE story is told of a dinner party once given by Alexander Panfili, millionaire theatre owner, to a party of prominent persons as a part of his wife's social program. Panfili waved aside the menus and proceeded to give the water detailed instructions as to how everything should be prepared.

"You certainly know how to order a dinner, Mr. Panfili," remarked the waiter. "Why shouldn't I, I used to be a waiter myself once," replied Panfili.

SPEAKING of dinner parties reminds me of Rupert Hughes and his wife are noted in select film circles for their very formal dinner parties which are always followed by concerts or opera selections. Charlie Chaplin attended three of these dinners and remarked in the background. But at the fourth, he could restrain himself no longer. Stopping a young soprano right in the middle of her song, the comedian wailed to the centre of the room, very solemnly uttered a Jewish prayer and then walked back to his seat, at the same time motioning the soprano to continue.

CINEMA producers out here spend much of their time trying to figure out new ways to bluff the public. But their last scheme carries things so far it is apt to be a boomerang. They are releasing all over again pictures that had their run six or eight years ago.

THIS yarn is written purposely for those who are loud in their denunciations of Hollywood because of its supposed hypocrisy. Captain Bob Roper, former heavyweight boxer, now turned movie actor, heard of some indiscretions on the part of his younger brother, Jack, also a fighter. Bob straightway betook himself to Jack's house, called him into the back yard and told him to take off his coat. "This is going to hurt me more than it does the middle of your chest, and to honor the name Roper," said the elder brother. "Portwith Mr. Bob Roper proceeded to knock his kid brother into Dream street.

MOTION picture editors of Los Angeles and Hollywood were recently entertained at a luncheon by the First National studio in honor of Robert Lieber, president of the company. After arriving at the studio the hungry typewriters' hounds were taken on a tour of the studio—of which they knew every inch—and were forced to listen to the wonders of motion pictures—which are but every-

Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt says:

As MISS GLORIA MORGAN Mrs. Vanderbilt "danced at court" in the great capitals of Europe where her father was prominent in diplomatic circles. Then came her brilliant marriage into one of America's most celebrated families. Entertaining and the manifold demands upon the mistress of great houses in New York and Newport—all these responsibilities have only increased Mrs. Vanderbilt's conviction that beauty, however youthful, must have wise care.

"Pond's Two Creams," she says, "cleanse the skin, keeping it fresh and firm. And protect it, giving it a velvety finish."

THE lovely younger women of society have learned to keep the lamp of beauty filled and trimmed.

Listen, for instance, to Mrs. Vanderbilt:—"Youthfulness is the real pot of gold at the end of every woman's rainbow. How to keep it, how to achieve it is her goal. Pond's Two Creams are a wonderful help to this coveted end. Together they constitute as simple, swift and effectual a method of caring for the skin as has yet been discovered."

Whenever your skin needs cleansing use Pond's Cold Cream. After an outing and before retiring, pat it over face, throat, hands. Let it stay on a few moments that its fine oils may sink into the skin's deep cells, forcing out dust, dirt, face powder. With a soft cloth remove cream and pore-deep dirt. Repeat. Finish with a dash of cold water or a rub with ice.

After every cleansing with Pond's Cold Cream except the bedtime one, apply Pond's Vanishing Cream thinly. It gives an exquisitely smooth surface and takes your face powder beautifully. And now neither sun nor wind can harm you—protected as you are by this delicate film of Pond's Vanishing Cream. The Pond's Extract Company, 146 Brock Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

RHODES AGAIN ASKS REPORT BE PUBLISHED

Declares Government Would Be Justified in Giving Out Duncan Document

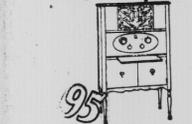

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 12.—On receipt of a message from Premier King carrying the decision of the prime minister not to accede to his suggestion that the report of the Duncan Royal Commission investigating the economic status of the Maritime Provinces within Confederation be given immediate publicity and stating the premier's reasons for so deciding, Premier Rhodes of Nova Scotia today sent another telegram, reiterating his belief that the report should be published at once and arguing against the reasons advanced by the prime minister to justify holding the report until parliament assembled in December.

Following is the reply received by Premier Rhodes in answer to his first message on the subject:

"Duncan Royal Commission was authorized by the government under an act of parliament. The report was to be presented to and is addressed to the government. The expenses of the commission are voted by parliament. It is considered that the proper procedure in dealing with this report is that the government to which it is addressed should have an opportunity to study its terms and decide its action, and that the text of the report itself should first have publicity by being presented to the duly elected representatives of the people in parliament at the ensuing session, which will be held shortly.

"This procedure will afford full publicity in due course and leave no room for suspicion or distrust."

SAINT JOHN DEMAND ANSWERED BY ROBB

Acting Minister Declares Nobody Authorized to Publish Duncan Report

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—The government has decided that the Sir Andrew Macdonald report on the claims and rights of the Maritime Provinces should not be made public until it has been presented in the House of Commons.

Acting Premier Robb today wrote to Maritime Conservatives in answer to a resolution which they adopted at a special meeting here yesterday. The resolution demanded the immediate publication of the report. Mr. Robb has replied that the Maritime commission of inquiry was authorized under an act of parliament, that the expenses of the commission were voted by parliament and that the government considers the proper procedure is to release the report for publication only when it is tabled in the House of Commons.

EXPENSES LACK BEARING.

"The question of expenses has no bearing on the matter, as these have been incurred and must be met in any event. But apart from this, and on its merits, I direct your attention to the fact that the parliament as such cannot deal with the report except it be by way of academic discussion, for the reason that to carry out its provisions involves the consideration of a money bill which can only be dealt with by parliament through its introduction in parliament with the approval of the crown. This being so, publication only requires the consent of the government, which doubtless would be readily granted."

CHANCE FOR PERUSAL.

"Apart from and in addition to the reasons contained in my telegram to the Prime Minister of Oct. 8, which I respectfully submit have not been met, the immediate publication of the report will afford all members of parliament as well as the governments and people of the Maritime Provinces a more complete opportunity for its study than would be the case when Parliament assembles two months hence. Such consideration I again point out, can in no way prejudice the ultimate action of the government. On the contrary, it would then be the chance of an enlightened public opin-

HON. C. A. STEEVES MEMBER OF N. B. BAR 50 YEARS

Moncton Magistrate Left Saint John for Moncton Soon After Admission

MONCTON, Oct. 12.—Police Magistrate C. A. Steeves of this city, this month completed his fiftieth year as a member of the Bar of the Province of New Brunswick, having been admitted as a barrister in the Michaelmas term of the Supreme Court, in 1876.

In the month of February following his admission to the Bar he moved to Moncton from Saint John and took up practice of his profession.

Judge Steeves, in commenting on members of the legal profession in this county at that time, said that many eminent members of the Bar then had offices in Dorchester, and among them were the Hon. Daniel Hanington, at one time member of Parliament and Minister of Marine and Fisheries; and a younger man, A. D. Hickman, who gave great promise of achieving a position of importance, but who died while still a young man. Judge Steeves were the late R. A. Borden, later a judge; Harvey Atkinson, now residing in Victoria, B. C.; C. A. Holstead and T. B. Moore, among others.

AN ACTIVE LIFE.

During his residence in Moncton Judge Steeves has been active in many branches of civic life, and has served as an alderman and as a member of the Board of School Trustees. Fourteen years ago he was named Police Magistrate and Civil Court Judge for the city. In his career on the Bench he has tried all sorts of cases ranging from attempted murder to lying and larceny. Criminal cases have totaled 11,386 in that period and he has heard 23,381 civil court actions, a grand total of 34,767 cases. Last year alone he heard more than 600 criminal actions and nearly 8,000 civil court cases.

The number of cases has been increasing constantly. Judge Steeves said, from about 800 when he took office in 1913 to some extent by the enlargement of the scope of his authority which act passed in 1918 permitting him to try indictable offences.

RECALLS BENCH AND BAR.

Going back into the years Judge Steeves recalled some of the members of the Bar as it was constituted at that time, 1876, and those who were studying in Saint John, while he himself was preparing for the practice of his profession. Sir John H. C. Allen was then Chief Justice of the Province, and those prominent in Saint John included A. L. Palmer, with whom Judge Steeves studied, later a member of the Federal House of Commons, the Supreme Court's S. R. Thompson, one of the greatest orators that New Brunswick ever produced; Charles Brunswick, ever afterwards judge of the Supreme Court; W. H. Tuck, later Chief Justice of the Province; Sir Frederic Barker, later Chief Justice; R. D. Stockton, member of the local House and afterwards of the Federal Parliament; Hon. William Engley, member of both Parliaments, and of a Federal Cabinet, and afterwards Governor of the Province; C. N. Skinner, also a member of both Houses; J. G. Forbes, Police Magistrate in Saint John for 40 years; C. W. Weidon, member of both Parliaments; W. H. Sinnott, Clerk of the Eschequer Court; and among others, Geo. E. King, afterwards member of the Local Legislature and of the Federal House of Commons, Judge of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, and still later of the Supreme Court of Canada.

LAW STUDENTS THEN.

Among the younger men, students and others, were included C. A. Palmer, son of Judge Palmer; W. W. Wells, afterwards County Court Judge for Westmorland county; T. C. Allen, Registrar of the Supreme Court at Fredericton; A. S. White, Judge of the Supreme Court, and probably others whom Judge Steeves said he may have forgotten.

In 1877, the late Judge Chandler, of this city, was Deputy Clerk of the Equity Court in Saint John; A. E. Oulton was Judge of Probate and William Backhouse was Registrar of Deeds at Dorchester. In Saint John, D. S. Carr, who was known the province over, was practicing; R. B. Smith, at the same time as Judge Steeves, and W. A. Trueman, who died a few years ago in Campbellton.

Westmount, Quebec, has always been progressive. This is especially true of its lane paving program.

All of Westmount's lanes are paved with concrete, and the city has found this investment to be one of the soundest it ever made.

MEMBERSHIP OF 448 REPORTED AT W.C.T.U. MEET

Convention of N. B. and P. E. I. Union Is Opened at Sackville

SACKVILLE, Oct. 12.—The New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Women's Christian Temperance Union opened their 20th annual convention in the United Church at Sackville, on Tuesday, October 12. There was a large representation from various sections of the provinces which comprise 18 unions and 448 members. During the year four new unions were organized—at Sunny Brae, Salisbury, Jacques River and Plaster Rock.

At the morning session Mrs. Mary Seymour, of Saint John, evangelistic superintendent, led the devotional service and gave an address entitled "The Secret of Eternal Life." Mrs. Edie Bruce, the president, took the chair and declared the convention opened for the transaction of business.

A pleasing feature of the morning session was the presentation of a life membership pin of gold, with pearl settings, to Mrs. Edie Bruce, the provincial president, thus making her a life member of the Canadian National W. C. T. U. The presentation was made on behalf of the Provincial W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Mary Seymour and Mrs. M. E. O'Neil.

THE most satisfactory way to buy Edison Mazda Lamps is by the carton of six. Then, when a lamp burns out, there is no frantic scramble to replace it with a lamp stolen from some other socket. The time to buy lamps is before you need them. When you do need them it is often too late to buy them.

On your way home tonight—on your next shopping expedition—make a point of stopping in at the Edison Mazda Lamp agent and laying in a supply of genuine Edison Mazdas. Measured by light and service, they are the most economical lamps to buy. See that the name MAZDA is on every lamp.

A. C. M. Lawson; sailors, Mrs. O. D. Hanson; lumbermen and raftsmen, Mrs. Almida Wilson; Willard Hall, Mrs. A. G. Adams. All reports were encouraging and showed much charitable work done and money donated. The reports were adopted.

Rev. A. J. Vincent, of the Baptist church, addressed the meeting. He said he was interested in W. C. T. U. work because 60 years ago his mother was president of the W. C. T. U. in Saint John, and later president of the same organization in New York. He said the badge was a safeguard against temptation.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Hope Thompson led devotional service. There was a continuation of reports from superintendents, press work given by Mrs. T. H. McKinney; literature report by Mrs. E. London, read by Mrs. C. Edgar Cook, corresponding secretary. Mrs. George Wilson, treasurer, gave a satisfactory report of the year's finances, showing total receipts $1,094.50 and total expenditures $1,384.09, leaving a balance on hand of $268.80. The amount donated to the Temperance Alliance was $310; to the Interprovincial Home, $248; to Travelers' Aid fund, $75; many minor donations were also made.

The report of Mrs. Edgar Cook, corresponding secretary, showed much work done by various unions.

A splendid paper entitled "Some Notes on Temperance Women," was read by Mrs. T. H. McKinney, assisted by Mrs. C. W. Manser.

At the tea hour the ladies of the civic council entertained under the patronage of Mrs. J. L. Dixon, assisted by an efficient committee of workers.

PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting was held in the evening in the United Church when Dr. George Trueman, president of Mt. Allison University, was chairman and read and acted on the platform with Mrs. Edie Bruce, provincial president, and the members of the provincial executive.

Greetings to the visitors were extended by Mayor A. H. McCready, of Sackville; Mrs. A. Sheldon, president of the local W. C. T. U.; Mrs. A. J. Vincent, of the Sackville Baptist church; Mrs. L. Smith, of Middle Sackville, who brought the good wishes of the Sons of Temperance and the Red Cross Society; Rev. H. H. Phillips, on behalf of the United Church, and Dr. Trueman on behalf of the College. The reply on behalf of the visiting delegates was made by Mrs. J. L. Lund.

An interesting address was given by Miss Elizabeth Hart, returned missionary from Japan, who told of the uplift work of the W. C. T. U. and other organizations in that country.

Rev. Archibald Sutherland, secretary of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance, spoke of the temperance situation in the province and described the difficulties of the chief inspector in enforcing the prohibitory law. He stated that a new interest was being taken in the cause of temperance in New Brunswick and a demonstration of this fact would be given in the course of a few weeks. He paid a tribute to the work of the W. C. T. U. and said that the Alliance received more help from that body than from any other. He asked the W. C. T. U. to assist in the distribution of pledge cards which he believed were a great aid in temperance work.

Miss Jean Philip gave a pleasing vocal solo and Miss Mary Chisholm contributed two readings that were much appreciated. The full choir of the church led in the singing and Mrs. H. H. Woodworth, organist, was the accompanist.

PENILESS AT 79, RETURNS RICH FIND

Aged New Yorker, Down and Out, Talks it Over With Minister

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—On Wednesday of last week a destitute, seventy-nine-year-old man walked into the office of the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick at the Park Avenue Baptist church. Dr. Fosdick looked up and recognized a friend, an aged, cultured, unlucky down-and-outter whom he had converted nearly two years before.

Then he glanced at a wallet the old fellow held in his hands.

When Dr. Fosdick had signified his interest, the old man explained that he had picked the wallet up in the street. It contained $1,200, including two $500 notes, and the address of the owner. The man said he had come to talk the matter over with the pastor who had converted him, and soon decided that he wished to see the money back in the rightful owner's hands.

All this Dr. Fosdick has just made public. The man's name he refused to reveal.

"When I was a special preacher at the First Presbyterian Church," said Dr. Fosdick, "he wandered in and listened to my sermon. He had experienced misfortune, he told me afterwards, and said frankly that he had lost his faith because of the hard knocks he had received. But in due time he regained his faith. During the fifteen months I was out of the country he got down and out financially. He had no one to fall back on. It is not easy for a cultured man of 79 to get work in New York. He became a 'sandwich man' and walked the streets. He served as an usher in a theatre at night for $8 a week. It is not easy for a gentleman to exist in New York on $8 a week. It meant living in a vile hole and getting a square meal only occasionally."

Dr. Fosdick said he would see to it that the old man suffered no longer.

RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN OF $2,386 AT EXHIBITION

Capital Expenditures Account Makes Small Deficit for Saint John Fair

The regular meeting of the Saint John Exhibition Board of Directors was held in the offices of the secretary, H. A. Porter, Canterbury street, last night. This was the first meeting held since the exhibition reports were submitted by the manager, Mr. Porter, the secretary of the women's work department and the city electricians, who supervised the electrical work in connection with the exhibition. President Dykeman was in the chair and the meeting was well attended.

FIGURES GIVEN.

The figures of receipts for the 1926 exhibition are definitely ascertained and show a gain of $2,386.52 over 1925. Of this increase about $900 came from an increased number of admissions and about $700 from increased amounts received from concessions.

The expenditures already made and those estimated to be yet made will also show an increase over 1925 by about $8,000.

The expenditures included the erection of new entrances at an estimated cost of $4,000.

On the grandstand concrete footings have been substituted for old mud sills, new stairways and sills inserted and new arrangement of ticket offices and entrance built at a total cost, including painting and rewiring, of upwards of $2,250.

The third item that of a new bunk house for cutlerymen was erected at an estimated cost of $500 in addition to an amount of material which was already on hand.

The net result of the exhibition will be that a deficit will be shown of about $1,200 or $1,800, but the Association will have added to its plant several thousand dollars worth of assets.

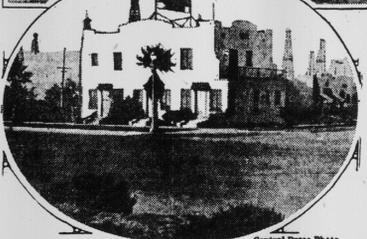

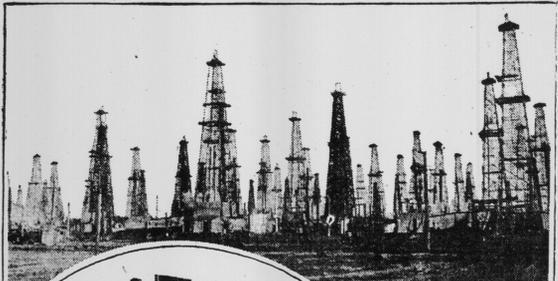

Since the directors consider the showing an admirable one, they freely expressed the opinion that the 1926 exhibition was generally considered an outstanding success.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION.

Letters were read at the meeting from some of the exhibitors expressing their appreciation of the treatment accorded them the past year and asking for reservations for next season. Letters were also read from the orphanages acknowledging courtesies extended to the children during the exhibition.

It was also made known that the city lease to the grounds on which the little sheds are erected, has been extended for the next seven years, dating from May 1, 1925.

City Seeks New Site As Oil Wells Usurp All Land

A glimpse of the oil derricks crowded in the business and residential districts of Huntington Beach, Cal.

Oil has moved empires, in a manner of speaking, but seldom has it lifted a city bodily from its site and sent it scurrying about for a new place on which to settle.

This city is a victim of mixed emotions. Three oil fields have been discovered and are being developed within the city limits. Black oil was discovered in the northern portion of the city some six years ago. The town grew and prospered. Because the oil derricks were several blocks from the centre of the town, they did not interfere with stores and homes. Last spring a wildcat well drilled northwest of town discovered a second pool. This project was several miles from the centre of town from its present location.

But a short time ago oil operators, having a hunch that oil existed under the entire city, drilled a well within the city limits in the west end of town. A special election had to be called to get permission to drill this well. The citizens voted to open a few blocks for oil, and a mad rush to sink wells in the district started. Since the first well was drilled more than 100 rigs have been erected and more are being built every day. Now, it is planned to open the entire town for oil drilling. Already, it is reported that several downtown business sites are under lease to oil operators who are willing to gamble that oil exists there.

Hundreds of residences have been moved from the new field to make way for the wood and steel derricks and more are being taken out each day. The Huntington Beach Realty Board has appointed a committee to seek a new location for the city. The chamber of commerce and the city trustees are also interested in the project and have named committees to work with the realtors in seeking a new location for the town.

Deaths

Miss C. Corkery

Friends were greatly shocked last night to learn of the sudden death of Miss Catherine Corkery, which occurred at her home, 32 Main street, early in the evening. Miss Corkery had appeared to be in her usual health throughout the day but was suddenly stricken after supper. She was a daughter of the late David and Catherine Corkery, a member of a well known Saint John family, which has been prominent in the business life of the city. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her.

She is survived by one brother, David Corkery, with whom she resided, and four nephews and two nieces, children of the late Joseph Corkery.

Mrs. John J. Murphy

Word is received here of the death of Mrs. John J. Murphy, which occurred in Montreal on Sept. 30 of Ellen T. Farmer, wife of John J. Murphy, boiler-maker, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Farmer. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons, James, John and Patrick, and one daughter, Agnes.

Mrs. Mary Ganong

After a short illness, Mrs. Mary Ganong, widow of the late John J. Ganong, passed away yesterday at noon at the General Public Hospital. She leaves to mourn four sisters, Miss I. L. Wheaton, Mrs. A. White, Mrs. J. A. Miller, all of West Saint John, and Mrs. Ernest Erb, of Belleisle; also one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, of New York. Mrs. Ganong was a faithful member of the Carleton United church and was highly respected and loved by all who knew her. She had only been ill since Friday and has a large circle of friends who will be greatly shocked to learn of her sudden demise. The funeral will be at 2:30 Friday afternoon from her late residence, 500 Charlotte street, West Saint John.

IS 'PRIME MINISTER'

New Brunswick friends will be interested in learning that John Humphrey, a nephew of Percy Humphrey, of Saint John, and son of the late Frank Humphrey, of Hampton, has been chosen by the McGill University students to be "prime minister" and secretary for external affairs of the college mock parliament which begins its sessions on Oct. 18. Murray Agave, B.A., son of J. E. Agave, of Saint John, has been chosen as "minister of health." The Patrian party is now in power in the McGill mock parliament. The student organization holds very interesting sessions and conducts its affairs according to parliamentary usage.

MISS HEA RESIGNS PLACE AS ORGANIST

E. N. Collins Coming From London to Lead Music at Centenary

It was announced last evening that Miss Alice G. Hea, organist of Centenary United Church, had resigned her position after more than thirty years of faithful and efficient service. Miss Hea has not only given of her best to Centenary church as organist, but has made a very definite contribution to the musical life of the city and general regret is expressed that she finds it necessary to retire from this phase of her work.

She has been a most successful teacher of piano and organ and her pupils have brought her much honor. Under Miss Hea's direction the music in Centenary church has maintained a splendid standard. Her resignation is to take effect the end of next month and the music committee of the church has been able to engage E. N. Collins, Mus. Bac. F. R. C. O., of London, England, to succeed Miss Hea as organist and choir director, and he will arrive in Saint John about Dec. 1 to take up his duties at Centenary church.

Mr. Collins comes with high recommendations and his arrival will be eagerly awaited by the music loving people of Saint John. During the Great War period Mr. Collins was a lieutenant in charge of British bands in the Near East, and lecturer in music to the British Army, 1917-20, and before returning to England was organist and choir master in St. Paul's church, Cairo, Egypt, 1919-20.

The Musical Critic of the "London Daily Telegraph" makes the following comments on an organ recital recently given by Mr. Collins: "Within the hour or so at his disposal, E. A. Collins, Mus. Bac. F. R. C. O., contrived to include many fine examples of organ music in his recital at All Saints' Langham-place, on Saturday. Moreover, not a single moment was wasted upon music of trivial import—a rare enough instance to deserve recording. Mr. Collins, who is the young organist of Stowmarket Parish Church, proved himself a master of his instrument and in no wise a slave to its dangerous allurements. He played Bach, Clero, Egar (two movements from the Sonata in G), and two transcriptions from Mozart (Clarinet Quintet), and Brahms (String Quintet, Op. 17, and played all with command and resource. His registration for the Brahms movement was especially happy, so happy, indeed, that he was able to reconquer at least one who gains prejudice against transcriptions for the organ. The Vierce movement (the Allegro Vivace from the First Symphony) revealed in Mr. Collins an executant of high ability. The phrasing (on both manuals and pedals) was neat and alive, and the rhythmic sense always pronounced enough to give continuity to the conception."

Funerals

Adams, Mr. and Mrs. H. Straight, Miss Sargeant, Miss, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Garvin; chrysanthemums, the last boys; flowers, the grandchildren; basket of roses and lilies, Mrs. M. J. Barker and daughters; roses, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Columbia Owner Wants Morrissey as Skipper For Challenge Races

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13.—Champion of this port's fishing fleet by virtue of two straight victories over the schooner Henry Ford, the newly named Columbia, today gave a brief review of the activities of the last year, referring to the good progress made and the advantages which the members had obtained through the public speaking lectures given by the honorary president, Rev. J. S. Bonnell, Hon. J. G. Forbes, who had been elected an honorary member, gave an interesting outline of the history of the club, and its ministers and said that he had been a member of the church under all of the ministers except the first three. In all that time there had never been greater harmony in the work of the church or more enthusiasm among its members. He specially commended the young men for the part they were taking.

DECISIVE VICTORY.

Yesterday's victory of the Columbia, over the Ford, was even more decisive than on the previous day, when Pine's boat had nosed its way home by a bare minute and four seconds. The Columbia led yesterday by nearly five full minutes. It was a battle of skipper and crew, and the contest was a hard one. Captain Ben sent the Columbia to the wharf and victor and vanquished marched behind it while thousands cheered the way along the main street.

Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The rally in the stock market which started Monday morning did not have the stamina to last. Slightly higher prices attracted considerable speculation, and a great deal of short selling from professionals on the New York exchange, and also the reaction of the market in other cities, resulted in a decline today. There is nothing in the news to affect the market, and the market is still in a speculative mood. The market is still in a speculative mood. The market is still in a speculative mood.

FOUR ELECTIONS IN RECALL, SAYS CITY SOLICITOR

Hon. Mr. Baxter Says Matter Between Citizens and Each Commissioner

MAYOR ASKS WHY HE IS NOT INCLUDED

His Worship Reviews Dr. Brittain Matter, Survey and Audit

Questioned this morning as to a legal opinion concerning the recall petitions now in circulation against the four city commissioners, Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, city solicitor, said that the act makes no provision for collective recalls. The act provides that the recall is a matter between the citizens and each individual commissioner and if it was desired to recall four commissioners, it would have to be four separate elections.

WHY NOT MAYOR? Mayor White said this morning that he was at a loss to understand why he was not being recalled along with the four commissioners as he was in full accord with the policy adopted by the council in asking Dr. Brittain to come here and consult with the council with a view to being engaged to make a survey of the civic administration.

TO DETERMINE LATER "When I took office I consulted with some friends in whose judgment I had confidence and it was suggested that a civic government expert might make a survey and point out the name of Dr. Brittain was mentioned as the leading man in this line in Canada.

"I discussed the matter with the members of the council and we decided to ask Dr. Brittain to come here and talk the matter over with us and he has accepted. He has not been engaged, and may not be engaged, to make a survey. This will be a matter for later consideration by the council.

CITY AUDIT "Should Dr. Brittain not be engaged the next matter which will engage the minds of the council will be the advisability of an audit of the city accounts. Should they decide that an audit is necessary the council will engage a firm of auditors for the task. But the council, the elected representatives of the people, will do these things, not an irresponsible body who has no mandate from the electors.

HERE ON FRIDAY "Dr. Brittain will be here on Friday, arriving at noon, and he will consult with the council members. Should he be engaged to make a civic survey, it may be necessary then an audit will be made.

"In the meantime I do not quite see why I, who as Commissioner of Finance and Public Affairs, made the recommendation that Dr. Brittain be brought here should be divorced from my colleagues who supported my resolution.

She was warmly welcomed by former friends, who take a special pride in the work of "their" Bishop and his wife in the distant diocese. Mrs. Dewdney described the great fortitude with which the missionaries, white, Indian and Eskimo alike, met the tremendous hardships of the northwestern parishes, including transportation. She said, for example, that one ton of coal, landed at certain stations in the diocese, cost $100. Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of the W. A.

THE SETTLEMENT. "There goes more Injuns in war-paint," says I to the town feller, 'gintin' to a lot of canoes crossin' the patch of moonlight on Long Reach. "Them Injuns," says the town feller, "is goin' up to June the other Saint John River an' Passamaquoddy an' Penobscot Injuns an' help destroy the English fort at Pemaquid in what we call Maine. That was just after the Injun war broke out that lasted off an' on for ten years—with the French an' Injuns on one side an' the English an' some other Injuns on the other. Most of the English settlements in Maine was burnt an' over a thousand people killed or carried off. The Saint John River Injuns went up to Meductic, below what what's now Woodville, Maine—an' killed an' scalped over a hundred men, women an' children. NEW GENERAL MANAGER FOR NASHWAAK MILL

H. E. Beedy Retires as Such But Remains Vice-President

REX W. HOVEY COMES HERE AS SUCCESSOR

Pleasant Point Plant at Full Capacity Soon, Is Expectation

Announcement was made today by Howard E. Beedy of New York, vice-president and general manager of the Nashwaak Pulp and Paper Company, of his retirement from the position of general manager of the company and the appointment thereto of Rex W. Hovey. Mr. Beedy, who arrived here yesterday from New York to confer with Mr. Hovey, who is now in the city, said that he would retain his position as vice-president. Mr. Hovey has been associated with the Ashland Pulp and Paper Company, Iroquois Falls, Ont. He will return there to make final arrangements for taking up his new position here, and then come to Saint John with Mrs. Hovey and his family in about ten days.

NO OTHER CHANGES. When asked if there were any other changes being made in the mill or in the organization of Pleasant Point, Mr. Beedy said: "No, the organization will continue as at present with F. W. Brawn as mill manager and Percy Streeter as his assistant. Furthermore, Chester W. Allen will continue as manager of the wood lands department."

Mr. Beedy said that he was very happy to assure Mr. Brawn's many friends that he had entirely recovered from his ill health. The only change that was taking place, Mr. Beedy said, was that he was stepping out as general manager, and Mr. Hovey was stepping in.

NEW WORK FOR COMPANY. In reply to a query as to why he was relinquishing the position of general manager, Mr. Beedy said that he was undertaking some new work for his company, the details of which he was not at liberty to divulge.

Speaking of general business conditions of the industry, Mr. Beedy said that during the Summer months the demand for sulphite pulp, which is the product of the company's plant here, fell off somewhat. At the present time, however, the market was beginning to resume its normal condition, which it was hoped by officials of the company, would permit the plant here to run at 100 per cent. capacity during the Winter months.

During the Summer months the plant has been running four days a week, but it is expected that commencing the middle of this month, the plant would be able to run at capacity.

CLUB BAG GIFT BY LODGE TO ED. LONG

Presentation to Retiring Treasurer Made by Willis L.O.L. Members

As a farewell to Edward Long, who has been for many years treasurer of Willis Lodge, No. 70, L. O. L., a special meeting of the lodge was held last evening, with members of other lodges present. A handsome club bag was presented to Mr. Long on behalf of the Willis Lodge membership. Councillor William Golding, W. M., presided. Following a brief business session an open meeting was held.

Councillor Golding referred to Mr. Long's excellent service to the lodge and expressed the regret of the members that he was leaving to take up his residence in California. H. P. Allingham made the presentation of the club bag and spoke suitably.

Mr. Long expressed his appreciation in a pleasing manner. Addresses complimentary to the honor guest were delivered by J. King Kelley, K. C., and Albert Catherwood, and Rev. Henry Mahon spoke on the aims and objects of the Orange Order. Instrumental selections by Dr. J. H. Barton and Harry Brownell and vocal solos by Percy Cougle were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

RULES DECISION NOT FOR SOME TIME

New Matter, Says Report, Enters Into Situation at Moncton

It was rumored this morning that the judgment in the case of the City of Moncton vs. the Moncton Tramways Company, an application for a reduction in the rates for electric current in Moncton, would not be delivered by the Public Utilities Commission for some time. It is understood an application is to be filed by the New Brunswick Gas and Oil Fields, Ltd., for an increase in rates for gas, and this would have quite a bearing on the electric light rates.

None of the utilities officials this morning would confirm or deny this rumor. The New Brunswick Gas and Oil Fields, Ltd., are the parent company which develops the gas and oil fields in Albert County and sell to the Moncton Tramways for distribution. It is claimed by the parent company that while the Tramways Co. are making a profit on gas, they are losing, as they are not receiving a sufficient share of the price received from the consuming public.
