BRITISH LABOR CRISIS BEGINS TO CLEAR

Railwaymen Sign Pact To End General Strike; Baldwin Says Proposals Ready For Miners

Tenseness of Situation Throughout Country Easier; Says Trades Union Congress

LONDON TRAMWAYS MAKE NEW DEAL

City and Suburban Traffic on Trains and Buses Expected to Resume Operation Soon—Newspapers Gradually Getting Back to Normal Publication

LONDON, May 14.—The British industrial crisis began to clear rapidly today. The railwaymen, who had remained out notwithstanding official termination of the general strike, signed an agreement with the companies. Traffic will be resumed as speedily as possible.

Settlement of the strike affecting the London County Council tramways, was announced this afternoon by Ernest Bevan, secretary of the Transport Workers Federation. Other settlements in various districts are reported to have been effected. The railwaymen and the managers were still in conference at 3 p. m.

Premier Baldwin told the House of Commons he had framed proposals for the coal miners strike and that these would be placed immediately in the hands of the men and the employers. The indications for an agreement are better.

FEELING IS EASIER.

The Trades Union Congress said there was a marked easement in the tenseness of the situation throughout the country, as employees increasingly inclined to discuss reasonable basis for resumption of work.

An agreement was reached between the London Underground Electric Railways Company and its employees under which the underground and affiliated tram and bus lines will shortly resume normal service.

BALDWIN'S PROPOSALS

Premier Baldwin announced in the House of Commons today that he has prepared proposals for the coal miners strike and that these would be placed immediately in the hands of the men and the employers. The indications for an agreement are better.

The proposals which he had prepared would be handed to the miners and coal owners immediately in his consideration over the week-end.

LABOR'S POSITION

Neither the Trades Union Congress nor the National Union of Railwaymen supports the allegation that railway companies are seeking to reemploy the railwaymen recently on strike, only on the condition of reductions in wages.

What the railwaymen's union actually says is: "Many applications for reinstatement have been refused. In some cases men are being asked to accept—and in some cases to sign—documents which would place them in a compromising position, contrary to all past practices, so far as the railwaymen are concerned."

There is reason to believe that the real aim of the railway companies is to infuse into the service a percentage of non-union labor, or at any rate to eliminate for some time the principle that union membership will be indispensable if the workers will be allowed to pursue their work in an entirely peaceable manner.

WARNS OF PICKETING

The Home Secretary, Sir Wm. Joynson-Hicks, has issued a new warning with regard to picketing. He says the extent to which picketing can be carried on, even in lawful trade disputes, is widely misunderstood.

"It cannot be too clearly emphasized that the use of any kind of compulsion, threats, force or intimidation," he says, "whether actual or implied, for preventing persons from working who wish to do so, is unlawful and persons who through outside of docks, factories or any place on the highway for that purpose, are liable to prosecution on charges of committing criminal offences."

LONDON STILL CHEERFUL

Meanwhile London went to work again by motor car, bicycle and foot, the limited train and bus services being unable to carry all the travelers. The newspapers, although far below normal, were more abundant today than any day since the strike began.

The British Gazette, the government's strike organ ceased to appear, having turned over the Morning Post's plant, where it had been printed, to the owners. The Morning Post came out with a four page paper today. Several other papers also got out four sheet editions.

MINERS MEET

A national conference of miners' delegates, convened by the miners' federation, met in Kingsway Hall today to consider the strike position.

When the conference met it was understood that the executive adopted its resolutions opposing the settlement proposal of Sir Herbert Samuel, chairman of the Royal Coal Commission, that the delegates conference might

British Strike Causes Traffic Jam

When the railroad, subway, tramcar and bus systems in England's capital were paralyzed by the general strike, the family auto came into its own. CUSTOM IS REVIVED

Special to The Times-Star. FREDERICTON, May 14.—The time honored custom of marking the passing of a class from within the walls of Alma Mater into the wide world by the firing of a cannon was restored at the University of New Brunswick in the early hours this morning when the shots boomed out from College Hill and let people know within miles that the class of 1926 had graduated. There was a hiatus of one year in the series of cannon celebrations which has extended over half a century for in 1924 the custom was omitted on the vote of the graduating class. This was done because of the unfortunate accident in 1924 by which Howard G. Rogers, B. Sc., of Woodstock received serious injury to a hand and an arm by a delayed shot. This year the class of '26 decided to renew the custom. No accidents occurred.

INQUEST SET FOR TONIGHT IN DEATH OF BABE

Infant Dead in Arms of Aunt In Railway Depot Here

BROUGHT TO CITY TO BE PLACED IN HOME

Belongs in Grand Falls—Matron of Evangeline Institution Makes Statement

The death of a baby found in the arms of a young girl in the Union Depot last evening will be investigated by a coroner's jury in the Court House here tonight at 9 o'clock. The jury would be empaneled this afternoon, said Coroner H. A. Porter today, and the body viewed previous to the holding of the inquest.

Matron Explains. The matron of the Evangeline Home said this morning that the girl had called at the Home and asked that the baby be taken for adoption. It had been explained to her that the Evangeline Home was not an adoption home, but that before the baby could be placed in any of the orphanages proper application blanks would have to be made out. The matron said she advised the girl to go to the Y. W. C. A. for the night and take the baby back to her home until such time as proper arrangements could be made to have it placed in some institution.

Startling Discovery. The startling discovery that the little one was dead was made in the depot about 7 o'clock last evening as the girl was awaiting the time to board the train for home. A woman sitting next to the girl noticed that the child's face was turning dark. She called Miss Mianie Kirk of the Traveler's Aid at the depot, who found that the little one was dead. This surprised the girl, who had thought that the baby had come to the infant and she appeared to be greatly shocked at the discovery.

Body to Morgue. Miss Kirk then notified C. N. R. Constable William Ross, who notified Coroner H. A. Porter in the course of a few minutes. Detective Percy Gaultier arrived on the scene, and A. Porter, and Dr. William Warwick, District Medical Health Officer.

After Miss Demerchaut was questioned for nearly an hour, Coroner Porter gave instructions that the body of the baby be conveyed to the morgue at the General Public Hospital, and Miss Demerchaut be detained at police headquarters for further investigation.

On arrival at the police headquarters, Miss Demerchaut was questioned for

GETTING READY FOR NEW INDUSTRY HERE

Contracts Made For Berries For Canning Plant—Put Equipment in Next Week

Two tons of berries, chiefly strawberries and gooseberries, have been contracted for from the Sackville district for the new canning plant to be opened at Coldbrook by the Western Packing Corporation. It was said today by G. M. Gilland, representative of the concern, who was in the city today. A considerable amount of berries also would be drawn from the Saint John River valley district. The company also was anxious to try other lines, such as tomato and peas. The plant he said, would be able this year to handle all the tomatoes the farmers could furnish and the packing of corn here also would be tried out. He thought this province would be able to raise sufficient to keep a plant busy.

GET READY SOON. The main question now was to get the farmers of the province interested. The installation of equipment would be commenced as soon as the plant would be ready by the time the berry crop came on the market.

Mr. Gilland will return west on Sunday, and the plant will be in charge of Harry Beach, for several days, the intended of the Victoria, B. C., plant of the concern.

SOME EXPORT. The establishment of the plant would tend to stabilize the produce market here of the farmers. Mr. Gilland pointed out this morning. Instead of a large amount of produce flooding the market one time, enough could be put on the market to meet demands and keep the price steady, and the balance sent to New Brunswick.

DEMOCRATIC SCANDINAVIA. In Scandinavia girls share equally with the boys in the magnificent system of state education, and have equal access to all the professions and to all posts in the civil service.

CONTINUATION OF FEDERAL AID ON ROADS URGED

Resolutions Passed By Roads Association Executive BENEFITS NAMED

MONTREAL, May 14—Further federal aid for the provinces in the matter of road construction and further consideration of level crossing adjustments were considered by the executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association, in session here yesterday.

Resolved: That since highway developments and improvement is today of national importance, and since the federal government benefits directly and indirectly by the expenditure on roads which has been made by the provinces, and since the custom duties, which have been collected by the federal government on automobile accessories and parts has totalled over $100,000,000, and since it is our firm conviction that those who benefit should contribute; that the Canadian Good Roads Association in convention assembled re-affirms its belief in the principle of Federal aid to the province for road purposes; and that the executive committee be commissioned to arrange for the presentation of the claims of the provinces by a strong deputation of provincial representatives before the cabinet in Ottawa, that federal aid may be re-established in Canada.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT "Resolved: That the attention of the federal government be called to the condition of such roads as are directly under the control of the Dominion government. Included in these we refer more particularly to such roads as are connecting links through Indian Reserves, forest reserves, canal roads, lighthouse roads and that improvement of these roads in co-operation with the various provinces is considered in the public interest."

NEW GOVERNMENT SET UP IN CHINA

Dr. Yen is Premier Although Military Men Are in Actual Control

PEKING, May 14.—A new government has been set up at Peking, a re-constitution of the cabinet of Dr. W. Yen, which functioned in late 1924, before Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang became a dominant figure in the capital. The new cabinet announced the presidency vacant by virtue of the resignation of President Tsao Kun on May first, and that it would assume the functions of the chief executive. Although the new regime is without the status of a ruling cabinet, it is understood that it will operate as the executive with the consent of the military factions in actual control of the situation.

CHARITY AND STATE AID.

The Old Country having settled more or less her general strike, our eyes are permitted to wander from that focal point. Naturally they turn to home and with something approaching surprise, comes realization that our members of Parliament at Ottawa have been busy talking all the time and that precious little else has been done there.

This thought impels us to examine what they have before them and out of the mass emerges a measure under consideration which, for some reason or other, has thus far escaped any considerable degree of comment—the old age pension scheme.

The merits or demerits of this particular proposal it is not intended to argue at the present time. The principle of state support of the indigent aged has been accepted in all progressive countries, but it does not occur to those who reflect on this matter is that the system would seem at first sight to indicate the failure of private and organized charity.

Are we less charitably inclined than our forefathers? We do not think so. It may be, on the contrary, that our modern sympathies are more easily aroused than in the old days, more alive to the realization that many have endured privation rather than seek gratuitous aid, sensitive to the fact that not derogatory to accept a state pension. Perhaps to that extent charity has failed. It has not touched these. But whatever the cause, whether of no charity has failed in its objectives, that virtue which does not come to the aid when the old age pension scheme becomes law. This happened in England and probably everywhere else. "Why should we pay both ways?" men ask.

It may be in the long run it will work out all for the best. Of course the care of the aged does not cover the whole field of charitable enterprise—not by a long way. But gradually state aid will invade other territory. What we called rank socialism a generation back is now accepted social responsibility. That is progress. When the state assumes the relief of all distress we may be able to eliminate the overlapping and the substituting of unworthy claims which now exists. But shall we not lose all the joy of free giving when the tax collector gathers in our contributions to charity?

ELIMINATING THE HORIZON.

If there be anyone so dead that he take no interest in the latest extension of radio—the radio photograph process by which pictures may be transmitted across continent and ocean—probably does not read The Times-Star.

Assuming general interest in this subject, the following is taken from the N.E.A. Service paper, and seems to explain the invention clearly and concisely:

A negative is prepared from the photo so that it is divided into a patchwork of dots arranged on horizontal lines.

This negative is then placed on a revolving cylinder. A light shines through the negative on to a photo-electric cell at the centre of the cylinder. The cell is a device which allows electricity to flow through it when light strikes it.

When the tiny beam of light shining on the negative falls upon a dot on the negative, no light gets through to the cell. When it reaches a vacant spot, light does. Consequently, the photo-electric cell sends out a series of electric impulses in unison with the dots on the negative. The photo-electric cell is connected to a radio broadcasting station which therefore sends out a radio signal or buzz for each dot on the negative.

At the receiving end, these buzzes are received with delicate receiving apparatus and allowed to act on a relay. Every time a buzz is received, the relay sends electric current to a special fountain pen apparatus. This apparatus makes dots on a paper revolving on a drum.

This second drum is kept synchronized with the drum at the sending station. Consequently, the fountain pen makes a dot for every dot on the original photo and when the paper is removed from the drum at the receiving end a reproduction of the original photo is on hand.

See how we may all own radio photograph receiving sets and be able to see actual pictures of happenings hemisphere away, and that no longer after the event than it takes to photograph it and develop a negative.

Without doubt it will soon be possible to sit back in our armchairs and watch on the screen the actual progress of events 180 degrees round the globe.

The horizon has been eliminated; the earth flattened.

The sport section of today's Times-Star carries an announcement that will stir the interest of this baseball-loving prospect of seeing two of the National League baseball teams in action next fall, one of them the present world champions, the Pittsburgh Pirates. Negotiations are reported to have reached an advanced stage and it is regarded as reasonably certain that the project will be carried out. It would mean a large number of visitors to the city, for this province follows the fortunes of the major baseball teams with close interest. It would make sport history for Saint John, as the "big fellows" have never been seen in action in the Maritimes. The matter of arrangements for the proposed visit is in the capable hands of "Joe" Page, to whom, as well, goes much of the credit for initiation of the project, not the first, by any means, which he has worked out for Saint John.

It appears that the machine gun is out of the automatic class as the latter supplied the old six-shooter as the popular method of assassination in the States. That anybody can pack a machine gun—even if we include the smaller varieties of the Lewis type in that category—without detection is almost beyond credence, and we expect soon to hear of the thug who draws a tank from his right hip pocket, does his worst, extracts an aeroplane from his left hip and sails to safety.

One of the growing pains of every city is the problem of smoke-abatement and, unlike human growing pains, it does not fade away with maturity—rather the reverse. The sooner the City Fathers begin to consider this question, the easier will be the solution.

Paul S. Crawley is teaching the Chinese to like ice-cream. Without doubt some enterprising Chinaman will retaliate by inculcating a taste for Chinese delicacies in the shape of shark's fin, puppy dog's tails and archaic eggs.

Odds and Ends

Annus Mirabilis
(Edward W. Barnard, in New York Times.)
Our fleeting year is filled with miracles from end to end;
When summer's lamp grows dim and darkening days impend,
The magic of a torch in one brief night
A trillion fires sets crimson alight
To cheer our feet along the frosty way.

This is the marvel of autumnally,
And now the miracle of May!
The passing of October's blazing pyres
Is soon and fast,
They burn to ashes, crumble into dust,
At last.
But not for long the woodlands starkly lie
Beneath the glooming of a sullen sky.
This vestment clothe their black ness in a day.
This is the necromancy of the snow:
And now the miracle of May!

By ruthless winds stripped of its kind,
By garb of white winter
A little while in sorry nakedness has lain;
But all the world is clad in white once
A drift of iliac shimmers through my door.
A good Juliet in the sunny grove allows away.
Turn hither all your skeptic eyes and
The wondrous miracle of May!

Altogether Too Efficient.
(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
In the old days in the West, when men were men, and saloons, instead of drinking-bills, were saloons, a circus magician down on his luck, obtained a job as bartender. One day a traveling conjurer visited the saloon where the magician was employed, and in exchange for a few drinks did a number of tricks. The proprietor was greatly impressed, and after the conjurer left, remarked: "That was a clever fellow, his coin tricks were wonderful." The magician, who had said nothing of his true profession, but whose pride was now aroused, remarked: "I don't think much of them. I can do better myself." He thereupon took a dollar from his pocket and made it disappear before the eyes of the proprietor. When he had recovered from his astonishment, the proprietor said: "You're too smart to handle my money. You're fired."

New Literary Terror.
(Sunday Express, London.)
Our novelists are adding a new terror to life. We are menaced with a novel of a million words in seven volumes, a history of the Crusades in eight volumes, and finally a novel in thirty-three volumes ranging over nineteen centuries. The terrorist is Mr. Compton Mackenzie, and his base of operations is a small islet called Jethou near Sark. Victor Hugo once thrilled the world in Guernsey, where he wrote the "Boilers of the Sea." Mr. Mackenzie is wise to isolate himself on a rock. Otherwise yawning humanity might take the literary Robinson Crusoe more seriously.

DAILY BREAD

THE great wheels of industry spin around, and give an impression that everything's sound. The whistle that calls men will toot every morn, announcing a new day of hard toil is born.

The maestro of menfolk who work to create, turn in, and turn out things the whole world calls great. We boast of achievement, of progress and power. We marvel at new things created each hour.

We look to the side that the world move along, and lights its way through things that, perhaps, go wrong. We take it for granted that progress can't stop. We say that through work, men outwound OVER THE HILLS CALL.

But—come down to earth—what's the fight all about? What interest has man in the things he turns out? In truth, if you face it, the average man's led to toil on and toil on—for what—daily bread!

A corking good time is one thing—an unworking one is something else again.

PAT was in the museum looking at a copy of the "Winged Victory."
"And that may you call that?" he asked an attendant.

"Quite right," replied the magistrate. "And now you know what will happen if you tell the truth?"
"Yes, boss. We lose 'em case."

POEMS I HOPE

HERE is one of the older English poets, who lived from 1556 to 1625, singing a love-song that will be the food of lovers for generation. Nothing more delicate in thought could be conceived, it has always seemed to me, and the rhyme scheme is delightful.

Love in my bosom like a bee
Doth suck his sweet;
Now with his wings he plays with me,
And with his feet he makes his nest,
His bed amidst my tender breast;
My kisses are his daily feast.
Ah! wanton, will you yet
And if I sleep, then perchance he
After he had swayed the hemlock
The livelong night.

LIFE AFTER DEATH
EVER since man first began to think of the hereafter, he has wondered about death—wondered and feared. Death has been taken from him as he has been from them; but he sees them, and he sees them no more. What is this ruthless force that robs them of motion and feeling, and where is the spirit that inhabited the now dead body and made the "me" another "me"? It is gone, but where, and does it still exist somewhere or is it snuffed out like a candle?

All down the ages men have argued these questions. Over two thousand years ago that grand old philosopher, Socrates, spent his life in a cheerful discussion with his friends, and the probability of his living after he had swayed the hemlock and passed beyond their sight.

"And what is it (death) but the separation of the soul from the body?" he argued. "For is not dying to have the soul and the body released one from the other, so that each exists by itself? Is death anything else than this?"

ONE of his friends voiced the universal doubt:
"As to everything else, Socrates," he said, "I think you have spoken truly; but in regard to the soul men are very incredulous, for they fear that after it has left the body it may no longer exist, but may on the very day of death be destroyed and perish; that, on departing from the body it may go forth like breath or smoke, and flying away, be dispersed abroad and exist no longer anywhere."

Cheerfully the doomed man answered his friend that in his estimation the soul is immortal, that it follows some reason and truth—the divine and the absolute—and was sustained thereby, in order to raise it forth a head to provide adequate funds.

SAYS BRITISH NAVY GREATLY IN NEED OF FINANCIAL AID
By LORD JELlicoe
British Naval Hero, in a Recent Statement.

UNLESS the British dominions come to the financial assistance of England, the navy will become inadequate for its work. The time is drawing near, if indeed, it has not already arrived, when Britain can no longer shoulder the heavy financial burden of naval defence. Unless the remainder of the world's dominions come to her assistance, therefore, she will be unable to continue to bear these expenses.

Unless the dominions come to her assistance, therefore, she will be unable to supply sufficient men and ships necessary for the security of the Empire.

Australia and New Zealand have indicated a desire to bear a proportionate share in the responsibility of maintaining a fleet in far eastern waters. It will be necessary for every dominion to raise 17 shillings a head to provide adequate funds.

Speaking of the British cruiser situation, the present and future weakness is very serious. In comparison with Japanese and American programs, England's position grows steadily worse. However great may be the desire to reduce armaments, either from a humanitarian point of view or to lessen the burden on the taxpayer, or to provide money for social objects, it is impossible to make a reduction in naval expenditure unless some new agreement is reached between nations.

ONE touch of vulgarity makes the whole world kin.

SUPPRESSION OF CRIME

(The Argonaut.)
So many women in this country seem to be concerned with the abolition of capital punishment that little wonder need be expressed over the sympathetic attitude assumed by the American press regarding the dilemna in which the lady ballie at Glasgow recently found herself when she was obliged to attend an execution in her official capacity. As a matter of record and fact, more sympathy was splashed about in printer's ink on this side of the Atlantic than was felt even in the great Scottish metropolis. The idea in that part of the world is that the suppression of crime is more important than the feelings of criminals or those of ladies who undertake jobs that involve duties customarily repugnant to both sexes.

Why the Girl Who Has Had an Affair With Her Married Boss Should Save Her Sister From the Same Tangle—How to Prevent Family Arguments—Should People in Ill Health Marry?

DEAR MISS DIX—For a number of years I have worked for a married man, and long ago learned to love him, although he is married, but he told me his wife doesn't appreciate him. When my young sister finished high school last June, he gave her a position. Now he has transferred his affections to her and she is the favorite one, and he treats me terribly. I can't warn her without telling her my shameful secret, and when I tried to threaten him by telling him I would tell her, he laughed in my face. I don't want my little sister's life ruined as mine is. What shall I do? VERY WORRIED SISTER.

ANSWER: It is your duty to save your young sister at any cost to yourself, and when you see yourself degraded in her eyes, you will pay part of the price of your wrong-doing.

Perhaps when you tell your sister how this man took advantage of his position to make love to you and win your heart, and persuaded you that love justified an illicit relationship, and how, when he turned his back on you, he ruthlessly spunk to a goose would stop him off short by informing him that she did not hold the office of public defender, and that he had best tell his matrimonial troubles to the Judge of the Domestic Relations Court. You would also think that any girl who wasn't a moron would consider where she got off in a love affair with a married man, and what a desirable proposition it is that he offers her. For she gives all and he gives nothing.

To an outsider it seems as if a girl must have taken leave of her last vestige of intelligence to fall for one of these misunderstood hands, whose line is appealing to the pity of soft-hearted, unsophisticated women. Certainly a man never shows himself in such an unmanly and contemptible light as when he turns whiner, and any girl who had enough spunk to say "no" to a goose would stop him off short by informing him that she did not hold the office of public defender, and that he had best tell his matrimonial troubles to the Judge of the Domestic Relations Court. You would also think that any girl who wasn't a moron would consider where she got off in a love affair with a married man, and what a desirable proposition it is that he offers her. For she gives all and he gives nothing.

She knows that he cannot marry her, that she has no hold upon him at all, except his little fancy for her. She knows that the man who has been false to his wife, who has broken the most solemn oath that any human being can take, will be faithful to no woman. She knows that the girl who has a married lover smirches her reputation beyond all cleansing, and that few men will ever want to marry her. And yet for the sake of a social, hedged-up romance, she casts her cups over the windmill and gives the best years of her life and all the freshness of her love to a selfish, callous man who robs her of all that makes life worth living to a woman, and then, when he is weary of her, discards her with as little compunction as he does an old automobile.

And why any girl is fool enough to let a married man inveigle her into making such a sorry bargain until the good Lord, who gave women more heart than head, knows. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a husband who is big and healthy and clean, and one of the best pals ever. We had the greatest joy and contentment in just being alone. But, unfortunately, my husband belongs to a family that has the arguing habit in its most virulent form. No matter how small the topic, they can get into a violent argument over it, and in the heat of it hurt the most unkind remarks and taunts back and forth. I come from a family where arguments were never permitted, and peace and harmony reigned, but to my surprise when I am with my in-laws I find myself mixing up in the arguments, and it takes us days afterward to calm down and get back on the old friendly footing. What shall I do? GLORIA.

ANSWER: There is only one way, Gloria, to keep from arguing, and that is not to do it. Just clamp your teeth together and keep your tongue behind them, and let those who differ from you express their opinion uncontradicted. So shall you preserve your own dignity and peace of mind, and save wear and tear on your temper.

Among the domestic vices I rank arguing as the worst. It will do more than all the seven deadly sins to alienate the members of a family from each other and to disrupt a home. For no one can possibly love another who always differs from him on every subject under the sun, and no home can be a place of peace and rest where there is a perpetual battle of words going on.

And of all the silly, senseless things, none is sillier or more senseless than an argument for nobody is ever convinced by one. Nobody ever changes his views, and its only result is to leave all the participants sore and bruised, and at odds with each other.

Furthermore, why should we seek to force our opinions upon others? How can we be so sure that we are invariably right and they are wrong? Why should we seek to upset other people's religious convictions and political views, and alter their tastes and habits? They have quite as much right to their own views as we have to ours, and the decent and humane thing is to let them alone and not vex them with arguments. Also by so doing we save ourselves from being colossal bores.

Don't even try to argue with your arguing relatives about arguing, but save your own tongue by barring any discussion whatever. And if your husband shows any disposition to exhibit the family failing, put an extinguisher upon it by not answering back. Thus will it fall dead, because it takes two to carry on an argument. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think people in ill health should marry? WONDERING.

ANSWER: No. Not if the ill health is some chronic malady that science is powerless to cure. Marriage has enough complications and difficulties in it without superimposing upon them the nerves and whims and expense of invalidism.

For a poor man to marry a sickly woman means that he will spend the balance of his life in toiling to pay doctor's bills and sanatorium bills and drug bills, and that he will have a burden on his hands instead of a helpmeet. For a woman to marry a poor man in ill health means that she will have to support him and earn the bread and butter for the family, as well as be wife and mother, housekeeper and nurse.

And for either man or woman to be married to a husband or wife in ill health means that they will have none of the joyous companionship that marriage should give, for it is only in novels that invalids are cherry and sweet and amiable. In real life they are cross and cantankerous and selfish and pessimistic and disagreeable. Above all, people in ill health should not marry because they have no right to bring sickly and neurotic and diseased little children into the world. Every child has a right to be well born of strong and healthy parents. DOROTHY DIX.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By JACK JUNGMEYER... WHEN Tom Mix, Hollywood's most showy citizen, recently moved into his new and pretentious mansion in Beverly Hills, the comparatively sedate souls of that exclusive residence district were thrown into a state of acute civic anxiety.

Tom was welcomed as a neighbor, of course. He is well liked—a man of sterling character. But it is no secret that Tom has a penchant for the extremely picturesque in adornment and possessions. And it was anticipated that he might indulge his passion for showmanship in a manner not exactly encouraged by Beverly Hills folk.

There was, for instance, that huge electric "T-Bar-M" sign on the Mix house at Catalina Island, starting like a lighthouse from the roof, advertising his domicile to the world.

Sign for Beverly Hills?

Would Tom duplicate this here? Such likelihood, and gentle means of dissuasion, were seriously discussed by Tom's new neighbors, picture folk mostly. But now Mr. Mix has settled down with the most approved decorum, and is even pointed to with pride by those who so lately viewed with alarm. He has even developed a shade of reticence—who once gloried so frankly in white socks, silver shoes, and a top hat.

TAKE NAMES FROM AUTOS

But it is significant that Tom's name is no longer emblazoned on his remnants of six automobiles, as once it was on the leather decked roadster of a more flaunting period.

Neighbors now foregather delightedly in that grand drawing room of Tom's, with its bloom heads and riffs, who once feared the blaze of a bizarre electric name brand from his rooftop.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

THESE true Broadwayite needs no calendar nor change in temperature to tell him of the passing seasons. Remove him to a desert island where time and space mean nothing; then bring him suddenly back to his pet street and by the simple process of glancing at a street corner group he can tell you the season almost to a day.

These curbside groups are to Broadway life what the barometer is to the farmer or sailor.

They make up the "gathering of the clans" of the show world and their seasons begin and end quite as systematically as the seasons for sewing and leaping begin and end in the farm belts.

AT THIS particular time, if you were to walk to 47th street in the neighborhood of Seventh avenue you would know that the month of May had arrived by the great assemblage of "burlesque wheel" players back from the road.

To Broadwayites this is known as "burlesque beach," for the horde of performers, their winter season finished, stand about basking in the sun like bathers at a seashore resort. Each day sees the number increase. For a few days there are greetings and "shop talks" and swapping of yarns and then, gradually, the hunt for summer engagements begins.

This particular spot is favored, due to its proximity to a leading burlesque playhouse.

FOR many years the folk of the sidewalk have gathered in proper season, in front of a clear store on 47th street.

Some arrived in mid-winter, but the real influx could be noted a couple of months before the tent shows and carnivals too to the road in earnest. This corner was favored because a leading "show" publication had its office just across the street and they could keep in touch with the market.

Up about the Fifties is the meeting place of jazz band players who are particularly in evidence just now because the summer season brings many demands from resorts. They are hired from the sidewalk through cards worn in the hat announcing the type of instrument played.

And thus it goes—spring, summer, autumn, winter. She true Broadwayite can tell the season by a glance at the sidewalk groups.

Yarmouth Lady Addresses Local Art Club And Gives Talk On Work of Canadians

Miss Caie Expounds Salient Points of Beauty in the Work of Our Modern Painters—Address Marks Closing One of Series Here

THE members of the Saint John Art Club last night were given a new appreciation of the work of Canadian artists and realized the salient points of beauty in the work of our modern painters, when they heard the fine address given by Miss Caie, of Yarmouth, a talented painter and able teacher.

Miss Caie gave the last address in the winter series of the Art Club and spoke on "Canadian Art and Its Accomplishments." As illustrations, she showed some fine slides which had been loaned by the Canadian National Gallery.

Ven. Archdeacon A. H. Crowfoot, the president, in extending hearty thanks to Miss Caie, expressed the hope that a Maritime representative would be found to be numbered among Canada's leading artists.

Delightful musical selections were given. Miss Frances Ryan played piano solos and Miss Audrie Hunter was vocal soloist. Her accompanist was Miss Dorothy Nic.

CONGRATULATES CLUB

Ven. Archdeacon A. H. Crowfoot, president, in his brief opening remarks, congratulated the club on the attendance at the meetings of the season and said the membership was now 250. He exhibited the latest gift received for the Art School library, a number of fine art volumes from Miss Manning. He urged other friends to follow her example and to present gifts for the school. He announced the date of the Art School exhibit in June, praised Miss E. R. Holt, the teacher, for her work and stressed the fact that the club existed to develop art and raise art standards in the city.

Archdeacon Crowfoot spoke of Miss G. Helen Mowat's work in Charlotte County Cottage Crafts and said he hoped to have her give an evening for the club in the fall when she will bring some of her country pageant performances.

MISS CAIE HEARD

Miss Caie said Canada came second in the world in native art work; Italy was first. She said a year ago she had staggered to read that only one in 100,000 Canadians knew anything of native art. She felt that was an exaggeration as in two weeks in Toronto 150,000 people had visited the art exhibition there. Canada had advanced in architecture in the last 20 years more than any other country, and Saint John, in its civic war memorial, had an example of the work of one of Canada's big men, Alfred Howell, sculptor. She praised a recent book on Canadian art.

Canadian artists did not excel in portrait painting or in religious or abstract moods. In one thing Canadians did excel and that was in landscape painting. Wembley critics had said that in color the Canadian artists were supreme. The artists had made the Lake region and the West their playground.

There was always a mood in pictures and Canadian pictures were always solemn and had very few animals or birds. It was like walking through the woods and not hearing a sound. She did not know whether Canadians really were solemn, but undoubtedly their pictures were.

She regretted there were no slides of the many fine animal pictures which had been done by Canadian artists. With landscape and animal pictures she grouped flower pictures as the

St. Louis Man Asks Divorce of Former Miss Dorothy Lougheed

Canadian Press Despatch. ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 13—Noel L. Hussey, secretary of a local manufacturing company here, has filed suit for divorce against former Miss Dorothy Lougheed, of Calgary, Alta., daughter of the late Sir James Lougheed, Conservative leader in the Canadian Senate and Lady Belle Lougheed. He alleged desertion.

The marriage of the couple at Calgary on Nov. 4, 1924, was a social event of considerable interest. Hussey is the son of Dennis B. Hussey, wealthy president of the tin company of which Noel is secretary. The divorce petition alleges that Mrs. Hussey left her husband last November 13 and returned to Canada. Writing to him on December 29, she intimated that she would never live with him again as she did not like a southern climate and found herself unaccustomed to her surroundings, far from the friends and routine she had always known.

Early hearing of the suit is expected.

TRIBUTE TO LATE DR. J. C. HEPBURN

Native of Saint John is Given Title of Beloved Physician

A tribute to the worth of the late Dr. J. C. Hepburn, a native of Saint John, who died recently in Chicago, as related to in The Times-Star at the time, is paid in the April number of "Our Church Paper," which is published in connection with the work of the First Baptist church, Chicago, of which Dr. Hepburn was a member.

It is the pen of Rev. Perry J. Stackhouse, himself a former resident of Saint John, now pastor of that church. There were probably 1,400 people gathered, including 150 physicians, a company of nurses in uniform, Roman Catholic priests, hundreds of people from back of "the yards"—all sorts and conditions of people gathered to show their love and respect for the man who had ministered to them in days of sickness and sorrow.

"Dr. Hepburn," he continues, "was a man who gave more than drugs and his skill as a surgeon to his patients. He gave his sympathy, his cheerfulness, his hope and courage. He gave himself. He died at the early age of 52. His years and representing a big Montreal hardware concern for the past 20 years. URGES CANADIANS TO LOVE COUNTRY

Hon. R. B. Bennett Says Material Considerations Should Not Be First

MONTREAL, May 14—The danger of Canadians placing purely material considerations above the welfare of their country, owing to their proximity to the United States, was stressed by Hon. R. B. Bennett, K. C., in an address at the eighth annual banquet of the cupfectionery, biscuit and chocolate industries of Canada, here last night.

Mr. Bennett also stressed to the representatives of the industries who are meeting here in joint convention, the need of giving efficient Canadian manufacturers "an even break" in competition with the world. He thought a greater population would solve many of the problems now facing the Dominion. One of the problems, he declared, was that of maintaining Canada's existence as a country of free people, against the "attractions and the power of a nation of one hundred million to the south."

Mr. Bennett told his hearers that business should mean more than the mere accumulation of wealth. In the Dominion, he said, we sometimes measure success by standards which are unfair to ourselves.

In conclusion the speaker dwelt on the "great burden of taxation" and the evil of one part of the country enjoying the prosperity of the other. There should be no envy between east and west, he said. The purchasing powers of the factories in the Eastern Provinces has been reflected in the great crop year here, he said.

Her lectures have been enthusiastically received and have been characterized by great variety and remarkable clearness.

Mr. Kenneth Palmer, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Palmer, was awarded the Cardwell prize for the highest aggregate in the various subjects in the second year law course at Dalhousie Law School. SIR S. M. SAMUEL IS DEAD IN LONDON

LONDON, May 13.—Sir Stuart Montague Samuel, brother of Sir Herbert Samuel, leading negotiator in the English general strike, died Thursday of heart failure. Sir Stuart was a foremost member of parliament.

MORE KEEP SOBER DURING WALKOUT

Police Court Cases Fewer in Many Districts in Great Britain

LONDON, May 13.—The absence of serious crime during the general strike was reflected in the number of police court cases which in many districts actually diminished after the strike was called. There were fewer convictions for drunkenness than usual in many places.

With reference to disturbances while the general strike was on many of the police magistrates commented on the fact that these were created largely by irresponsible men, the majority of whom were foreigners. "Three months' imprisonment was the usual sentence in these cases."

In Birmingham a member of the city council was fined £10 for making speeches calculated to create hostility against the Government. The magistrate who imposed the fine remarked that he would have sent the accused to a prison only that in his speech he had urged the crowd to remain orderly.

A driver of a motor car was sentenced to jail for a month because he had chalked on the pavement words to the effect that the workers in the United States were coming out in sympathy with the British strikers.

Another man was sentenced to jail for a month for having walked around with a placard announcing that the Government had unconditionally surrendered to the Trades Union Congress.

Probably not more than a score of police court cases were sufficiently serious for the accused to be sent up for trial.

There was not a single important instance of looting during the strike. Scotland Yard's special arrangements to protect the jewelry shops were entirely effective.

House-breaking was negligible in the nine days of the strike.

SIMCOE WOMAN IS DEAD AT AGE OF 111

Mrs. Nathan Fitch Was Born Year Before War of 1812

SIMCOE, Ont., May 13.—Mrs. Nathan Fitch, probably the oldest woman in Canada, died here early today in her 111th year.

Mrs. Fitch was born in a village along the Niagara River one year before the close of the War of 1812. She was christened at the first Anglican church in the Niagara district. Her maiden name was Perrillo Palmer and she was the daughter of one of the first pioneers to invade the Niagara Peninsula.

She could recall the days when Indians roamed at large throughout the country, making frequent raids on outlying farms and imperiling the lives of the settlers. By virtue of her activity in her younger days she built up a wonderful constitution which she retained until her death. Recently Mrs. Fitch was filmed by a moving picture company. One of the pictures showed her smoking the time-worn briar pipe which had been her constant companion for years and which she used until her death.

Mrs. Fitch's husband died 25 years ago in his 83rd year. One daughter, now 86 years old, lives in Michigan. For some years past the aged lady had made her home in the Norfolk County Industrial Home, where she died.

Incendiary Blamed For Heavy Losses

FALMOUTH, Mass., May 14.—One thousand acres of timber and brushland have been burned today in fires which natives predicted only rain would extinguish. Smoke from the fires was reported plainly visible from Plymouth, 25 miles to the north. In Plymouth, as here, an incendiary was blamed for the wholesale destruction of timberland. The burned acreage was covered principally with a variety of scrub oak.

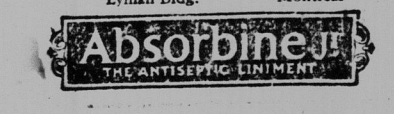

The steamer Andania is due at Quebec on Sunday from Southampton, Cherbourg and Liverpool.

Woman Operator Has Been At Telephone For Twelve Years

LONDON, May 14.—Mrs. Mary Anne Petty, of the little town of Harleston in Norfolk, must surely hold the record among the telephone operators of England—possibly of the world.

For over 12 years she has never been beyond the sound of her telephone bell, neither by night nor day.

"Once or twice," she says, "I have run down to the shop at the corner to buy something, but I can hear the telephone bell from there quite easily."

"Apart from this, I have not left the house for 12 years last March, when the Harleston exchange was first installed in my house. I do not say, of course, that it has been impossible for me to do so."

The small switchboard looks strangely incongruous in Mrs. Petty's parlor, among the pictures and ornaments. Sitting before it, she is near the window, and, by lifting a latch, can enjoy a brief chat with a passing neighbor.

She is assisted by Miss Dorothy Chipperfield, a young woman who played in her house as a child, and afterwards learned to "put in the plugs."

Both women sleep in the house, and, on the rare occasions when a call comes at night, one or the other has to get out of bed to answer it.

All calls from and to the aerodrome at Pulham pass through the tiny office.

DONCASTER COURT JAILS 68 MINERS

Punishes Strikers in Breach of Emergency Act by Interference

DONCASTER, Eng., May 13.—Sixty-eight miners have been sentenced to three months hard labor for breach of their emergency act during the general strike by interfering with road transport.

The leader was also fined £20 in addition with an alternative sentence of two months unless he could pass the fine.

IMPROVING SERVICE

Water Department Work Under Way Reported on By Commissioners

A leak in the water main at the corner of North wharf and Nelson street was discovered yesterday, and men from the water department are busy today making repairs. Commissioner Wigmore said this morning. This main has given considerable trouble, and he said it has been decided to place a concrete abutment at the turn to hold the pipe solid.

One of the old one-way fire hydrants at the corner of Meadow and Forest street is being replaced with a three-way hydrant, and the old four-inch lead replaced with a six-inch lead. When this work has been completed it will add materially to the volume of water available for fire-fighting in that locality.

TRANS-LABRADOR AIR TRIP PLANNED

Connecticut Judge Visions Hundreds of Airports in North

HARTFORD, Conn., May 13.—A flying trip across Labrador from East to West in a seaplane is planned by Judge William J. Malone, of Bristol, Conn., Labrador explorer and war aviator.

Judge Malone believes that the success of Lt. Commander Richard E. Byrd in his polar flight will result in the dotting of the frozen Canadian hinterland some day with hundreds of airports. Byrd's flight, he declares, will mean the almost exclusive use of sky navigation for future Arctic exploration.

effect that the men refuse to resume work.

"Asked whether he thought Sir Herbert Samuel's memorandum furnished a reasonable basis for reopening negotiations for settlement of the miners strike, Secretary Cook replied:

"Frankly, my opinion is that it furnishes a very good basis."

"There is much in it that I thoroughly approve and it evinces many points for useful discussion; but I doubt whether the miners will accept it."

"As it is, the lockout still continues, and the only terms the men have before them are terms applying to the various districts. We want a certainty that legislation in that regard, will be framed within three months, before we consent to any wages agreement, so we shall know that the government's intentions are genuine. Our pledges still stand and will be kept."

COOK TERMS PEACE DECISION MISTAKE

LONDON, May 13.—"The Trades Union Congress made a fatal mistake in calling off the general strike," Secretary A. J. Cook, of the Miners Federation said today. "We knew nothing about their reasons. There was no weakening of the men. We have seen hundreds of telegrams from all parts of the country to the effect that the men refuse to resume work."

"There is much in it that I thoroughly approve and it evinces many points for useful discussion; but I doubt whether the miners will accept it."

JOB IN NEW YORK INCLUDE SEA SCABS AND GOLD DUSTERS

Bank Porter Cleans Off Millions in Bullion by Fast Work

ONE SELLS WORMS AND FISHING GEAR

Some Salvage Waste Paper While Others Take Bits of Spilled Cargo

NEW YORK, May 13.—Of the many strange ways which people have found to make a living in New York City, perhaps the strangest is that selected by Bill Smith. Besides being a porter with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Bill is a champion duster, and confines his activities to gold bullion.

The gold stored in the underground vaults of the bank must be kept just as clean as the floors and office furniture in other parts of the building. Accordingly it is dusted whenever the vaults are opened. This may be every month, every three months, or even every six months, depending upon how fast Uncle Sam spends his money.

JOB IS INTRICATE

On these occasions it is nothing for Bill to grasp his trusty duster, step into the vault, and flick the grey coating from several billion dollars worth of gleaming gold bars in an hour or two. The gold is piled in a manner to make dusting an intricate job, but Bill approaches his subject in a masterful way. His dexterity frequently amazes the guards who accompany him into the vault.

New York's oddest job holder there is Walter Baugh, who finds the commercial possibilities in fishing tackle to his liking. Each morning at five-thirty Mr. Baugh may be seen marching through Battery Park clutching a burden of fishing tackle and blood worms. He is tall, has only one eye, and eels out a fair existence peddling rods, lines and bait to those followers of Isaac Walton who set out via Battery Park.

Fancying neither fishing tackle nor dusting, there are other individuals who wrest the necessities of life and some of the luxuries, from the odds and ends abandoned by their fellow men. Some persons salvage waste paper from the streets, working fast in the first fishes

FIRST OCEAN SHIP INTO MIRAMICHI

CHATHAM, May 13.—The Norwegian steamer Helgoy arrived in port this morning to load a cargo of deals for Great Britain. This is the first ocean-going vessel to arrive here this season. The vessel, which is consigned to F. E. Neale, will take on part of her cargo at the Miramichi Lumber Company's mill, Douglastown, and from there will proceed to Nelson to load the balance at the Birchmill. Another steamer is expected next week to load at Fraser's mills at Nelson.

of early dawn to beat the competition offered by the city Street Cleaning Department. Their paper salvages are carefully baled and sold, while bits of foil are rolled into balls and bring a higher price.

SOME POUNCE ON WASTE

Others make it their business to stay close to the docks and pounce upon bits of cargo spilled when ships are unloading. Fruit and nuts they seize, broken pieces of cheese, or occasionally a bolt of cloth which has slipped unobserved from some cargo sling. A leaking case of olive oil always brings to light several men with sponges and buckets.

Although confining their activities to the shore, these men have counterparts afloat. Those making a living from the waters do not fish. Seated in small boats, they drift about the harbor salvaging drift wood which is sold along Park avenue. Impregnated as it is with salt and chemicals from the harbor waters, the wood produces var-colored lights in the drawing room fireplaces of the wealthy.

TWIN-SCREW MOTOR PASSENGER BOATS

Is Recognized by Vessel Owners of Economy and Efficiency

The increasing tendency for twin-screw motor installations for all classes of work is very evident by the reports which are being received from all parts, and what is still more interesting is the gradual recognition by boat owners of the economy and efficiency resulting from this class of installation and the greater confidence when used for passenger work. The motor which more than any other has induced this state of affairs is the Thornycroft DB-2 "Handy-billy," the results of which, both in single and twin-screw installations, have been remarkable, even to the experts of the Board of Trade and the steamship lines concerned, until demonstrated beyond doubt, particularly with the Board of Trade ships' lifeboats of 28 ft. by 8 ft. 6 in. and 30 ft. by 9 ft., where a mean speed of six knots was attained with a single engine in nearly 80 boats. Since the wide adoption of these engines for the lifeboats they have been adopted for both pleasure-boats and

South Africa Papers Commend Settlement

Cape Town, May 14.—The Cape town Argus commenting on the termination of the general strike in Great Britain, says that it is creditable alike to labor and the government that the greatest peace time crisis in the history of Great Britain, has been surmounted virtually without bloodshed. The crisis is not only strong enough to govern, but enlightened enough to govern wisely with good feeling and restraint. The Johannesburg Star says that the black clouds have lifted and the worst of the storm is over. But the outlook is still far from settled. The Rand Daily Mail's comment is that the calling off of the strike has finally disposed of a Bolshevized Britain.

BOATMEN ENTERING N. B. WATERS MUST CLEAR AT CUSTOMS

New Ruling Requires Official Notice of Trips Either Way

WOULD CUT DOWN LIQUOR RUNNING

Officers Instructed to Make Enforcement as Convenient as Possible

EASTPORT, Me., May 13.—A new order from United States Customs Collector Carl E. Milliken, of Maine district, has caused much disturbance, consternation and no little indignation among the sardine boatmen who go into Canadian waters after fish and the packers. Hereafter the boats must enter and clear at the customs house on every trip, the order applying to all ports in the district. It has been the rule heretofore, that entry and clearance was not required for sardine fishermen operating south of Point Lepreau.

BOATMEN PROTEST.

Boatmen say the ruling will be a drawback and damage, as if they arrive in the night with fish they will have to wait until morning for a customs officer and the fish may spoil. They also claim it will add to the expense of operation as invoices must be filed on cargoes valued at over $100 and a fee paid.

TALK OF APPEAL.

There is some talk of appealing to Washington for relief but it is not considered that such an appeal will bring any results. It is understood, however, that local customs officers are instructed to make the enforcement as convenient as possible and there is a probability that inspectors may be ordered on duty at early hours during the season.

FLIER STARTS TRIP ON WATER GLIDER

NEW CRAFT DARTS LIKE A FLYING FISH

Airman Quits Marseilles For Barcelona and Oran, Algeria

MARSEILLES, France, May 13.—M. de Gasenko, French aviator, accompanied by M. Resnandian Dion, left Marseilles this morning in his water glider, the Sea Flea, for Barcelona, Spain, and Oran, Algeria. The weather was unfavorable, but the apparatus worked satisfactorily. The aviators hoped to arrive at Barcelona within two hours.

The "Sea Flea" darts over the water like a flying fish, making a speed of about 60 miles an hour. Its hull has a draft of only three inches. At top speed the wing expanse is sufficient to keep it clear of the water for about 65 feet and thus it skims along alternately in the air and touching the water. It is equipped with two rudders, one for guiding it through the water and the other through the air.

RUTH UP TO RECORD
NEW YORK, May 14.—Babe Ruth, baseball's herculean hitter, is abreast of his terrific home run pace of 1921, when he established a record of 59 circuit smashes for the season. By clouting the ball into the right field bleachers here twice yesterday for his ninth and tenth homers of the season, Ruth duplicated the total he had on the same date five years ago.

TIGHTENING THE EARTH'S BELT

An effort to encircle the globe in a shorter time than it was ever done before has been begun by John Goldstrom, aviation writer, shown standing beside the plane above, and Morris Titterton (inset), aeronautic engineer. They sailed from New York on the Aquitania and expect to do all their overland traveling by airplane. The present round-the-world record is 35 days, 21 hours and 35 minutes.

2 SPANISH AIRMEN ARRIVE AT MANILA

Are Survivors of Six Who Started For Philippines From Madrid

MANILA, May 13.—Two of the six Spanish aviators who started from Madrid 88 days ago to fly to the Philippines, ended their 11,000-mile journey shortly before noon today, when they brought the only remaining plane of the three that left Spain to rest at Camp Nichols, three miles from Manila.

Captains Loriga-Taboadi and Gonzalez Gallarza were the pair who attained the goal, despite the mishaps which have dogged the adventure, claiming the machine flown by Captain Esteva in a Palestine desert and that of Captain Loriga off the inhospitable coast of South China. Captain Loriga, taking the place of the mechanic who had fallen with Captain Gallarza as far as Maccu, thus was in at the finish. Manila was enroute to greet the Spaniards, who left Apariti, Northern Luzon, at 7.17 a.m. today. The aviators were carried in triumph in a long procession of automobiles. Wherever the aviators went, the crowds attempted to kiss them and carried them upon their shoulders. They entered the Catholic cathedral upon the shoulders of the procession, a number of Spanish priests assisting in the welcome. The crowd was so dense in the cathedral one girl died of the heat. The Spanish plane was heavily guarded to prevent souvenir hunters from damaging it. The aviators received the congratulations of King Alfonso. The government placed on sale a new postage stamp bearing the picture of Captain Gallarza and the plane. Whether the aviators will attempt to fly back to Spain or return by steamer depends upon orders from Madrid. A proposal has been made to present the plane to the Philippine government.

STIRLING VS. RISKO
NEW YORK, May 14.—Young Stirling, Georgia light heavyweight, meets Johnny Hinko of Cleveland in a fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. Risko recently pummeled Paul Berlenbach, light heavyweight champion, and gave Jack Delaney, French Canadian light heavyweight, one of the hardest battles he has had during his short career.

A Pat on the Back Over Your Painting

You can't help a little prideful chest expansion when neighbor John steps into your house, gives you newly painted job the up and down, and says, "Fine! where'd you get that Enamel?"

And then that grand and glorious feeling, when friend wife throws you that grateful, understanding look; settles down to some real housekeeping and cooks up a meal that lets you know that everything is going to be all right.

Sure you did it—with your own little brush.

But, honest now, a good deal of it was due to your wise choice of FLO-GLAZE ENAMEL—at least it helped out a whole lot.

And now you know you can do it again.

You've got a pat on the back for this job. There's a whole lot more coming to you, because pretty nearly everything in the house can be given an enamel finish with

Flo-glaze Enamels
"The Finish that Endures"

This ad. is just a few friendly little memos to let you know what can be done with FLO-GLAZE ENAMELS in your home.

Any interior surface can be finished or re-finished with FLO-GLAZE ENAMELS—floors, woodwork, furniture, plumbing, toys. You don't have to stretch your pocket book buying a lot of different specialties for different uses. FLO-GLAZE ENAMEL covers them all. Your only variation will be in selecting different colors.

Oh yes! floors and everything! It stands to reason that if an enamel will stand the racket of floor wear it will stand up on any other surface.

The gloss of FLO-GLAZE ENAMEL won't exactly put your mirrors out of business, but it has a gloss that gives the clearest reflection of anything in the enamel line. And it holds that gloss. FLO-GLAZE ENAMEL throws in a lot of other uses just for good measure. Veranda furniture, garden tools, and a lot of other semi-outdoor implements that receive more or less indoor protection can be enamelled with FLO-GLAZE.

Now then—positively no! When it comes to using this enamel for the outside of your house or veranda floor. We might as well put you straight on this now. FLO-GLAZE PAINT and FLOOR PAINT are intended for that purpose.

You may wonder then why we recommend FLO-GLAZE ENAMEL for boats, canoes, automobiles, buggies, and farm implements, but we do, and sell a lot of it for that purpose. In this connection, however, you must consider that all of these articles, while in use, are continually changing direction. Their exposure is not fixed as with a house, and when not in use are usually cleaned and housed for protection.

Now, we've only told you a little of what we know about FLO-GLAZE. What you are interested in is knowing what it will do for you. That's fair enough. Just call up your nearest FLO-GLAZE dealer (there's lots of them through the country) and get him to send over a quart or pint or half-pint. Try it out, keeping in mind the fact that we guarantee it to please you. Just read over the directions on the label, start in, and see if we haven't been rather modest in our claims.

$99,654.13 to Give You Goodyear Tires Just a Little Better

MR. MOTORIST—meet the Train Calendar. This gigantic machine performs one small operation in the building of your Goodyear Tires—but performs it better and more economically than any other method yet devised. It applies the rubber which surrounds and protects every thread in the fabric of Goodyear Tires. It applies this rubber evenly—thoroughly—with unbelievable precision.

Only the tremendous production of the Goodyear plant at New Toronto could keep the Train Calendar busy. Only this large production makes it practical to invest nearly $100,000.00 in one machine to do this work. But, because Goodyear can spread over millions of tires the cost of the Train Calendar, you enjoy, in Goodyear Tires, higher quality without higher price.

And the Train Calendar is but one example of the methods and machines which are possible with Goodyear's great production and which improve the quality and keep down the cost of the Goodyear Tires which are waiting for you at your nearest Goodyear Selected Dealer's store.

BALDWIN WORKING TO RESTORE JOBS

Premier Wants Employers to Display Generosity in Victory

LONDON, May 13.—The failure of the general strikes marks the definite end of the influence of Moscow in England.

BALDWIN URGES LENIENCY

Fearing that employers whose men joined the general strike and are now going back to work will endeavor to exploit the Government's victory for the purpose of reducing wages, cutting staffs and limiting as far as possible the power of trade unions, Premier Baldwin is using the utmost of his influence today to induce all employers to adopt a spirit of generosity in the victory which has come to them and avoid development of a spirit of bitterness which would be nationally disastrous.

STRIKERS DISGUSTED

No politician can afford to ignore such a possibility, for while the strikers at the moment are disgusted with their leaders and suffering from a sense of betrayal it would not be difficult for their political leaders to blame Baldwin for any effects of the calling off of the strike, which may prove prejudicial to Labor and they would cheerfully welcome the opportunity to do so in the interests of the Labor Party.

AFRAID OF STALLING

It is feared also that workers who might be embittered by what they consider unfair treatment will play "cannary" and injure the productive capacity of the country, which Baldwin is most anxious to avoid.

DOCTOR SAYS SEX FAILS AS VILLAIN

Declares Theda Bara Only Lady to Score Success as One on Screen

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 13.—Theda Bara, in the belief of James Cruze, Paramount director, was the only woman who ever scored a success as a screen villain.

Fifteen years' experience has taught casting directors and producers generally that women are things to be loved, not hated. So they have given up the search for an actress to duplicate the feat of Theda Bara in "The Vampire," filmed more than a decade ago.

"The public cannot hate a feminine villain," Cruze says.

Walter Woods, Lasky scenarist, explains it this way: "On the screen you will notice that the strongest villain-characters are portrayed by huge, brutal appearing men. No woman can appear brutal and incite fear by her very sight. We have been taught for hundreds of years to protect them and treat them with courtesy. We have always felt that women need man's protection. It is impossible to make a motion picture audience believe this is not true."

WORKERS HIT WITH FORCE OF THUNDER

International Proletariat is Adversely Affected by British Peace

MOSCOW, May 13.—"News that the British Trades Union Congress has ordered the end of the general strike will hit the international proletariat with the force of thunder," writes Karl Radek, leading Russian journalist, in today's Pravda.

"The English proletariat's fight has been our fight as well as that of the world's proletariat," he continued. "Its defeat is our defeat. We ought not to minimize its significance. Let us face the truth squarely. The English workmen's defeat is the result of the world's greatest treason."

In an editorial the Pravda says: "Even the blind can see now that the refusal (by the Trades Union Congress) to accept brotherly Russian aid was a prelude to capitulation."

Aberdeen High School Not to Be Represented at Montreal Track Meet

Special to The Times-Star MONCTON, May 14.—The Aberdeen high school track team do not propose to send any man to Montreal to compete in the interscholastic track and field championships there on May 29, according to Fred B. Addy, captain of the A. H. S. track team. He was at a loss to understand where the news of their competing had emanated from although he said that it had probably been suggested to the Dominion interscholastic body by A. C. Millie, former president of the M. P. B. A. A. U. of C., who suggested to Captain Addy at New Glasgow last year, after the A. H. S. team had taken second place in the Maritime championships, that they should send a team to the Dominion championships in Montreal this year.

The Rescue!

Here they are! The Alemite-Zerk boys going "over the top" and supported by that wonder Zerk gun. Just 17 shots and the Friction Imps are routed. That's the story.

The counter-attack comes when you have driven your car 500 miles. Then the Imps of Friction will begin to get in their deadly work. First one part of the car, then another, will show signs of their presence. Just remember that every 500 miles you need Alemite Lubricant on your Ford.

Your Ford is as good as the care you give it. Treat it right and your up-keep costs are "nothing"—neglect it—and, like any other car or machine, it pays you back in repair bills. What it costs to run a Ford depends on you. Eighty percent of repairs come from a single cause—poor lubrication.

And don't forget—after you have the fittings installed use only genuine Alemite Lubricant. Demand it. Insist that your Service Station man give you only the genuine.

COTTON MILLS HEADS HERE FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Condition of Textile Industry Considered—Very Fair At Present
The condition of the cotton textile industry in Canada is considered "very fair," it was learned locally today. The two mills in Saint John, the York plant on Wall Street, and the Cornwall mill in the Courtenay Bay section, are running full time, and there is considerable activity at other centres. A. O. Dawson of Montreal, president of the operating company, Canadian Cottons, Ltd., and A. Bruce, also of that city, the secretary, and W. V. Boyd, of Cornwall, Ont., general superintendent of Canadian Cottons, arrived in Saint John today, attending the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cornwall & York Cotton Mills Company, at the offices of the Cornwall mill at 2:30 this afternoon.

Several Saint John men are directors of the Cornwall & York Cotton Mills Co., which for a long time has been under the control of Canadian Cottons, Ltd.
The Canadian Cottons, Ltd., operates the St. Croix mills of Milltown and the Gibson mills of Marysville, in New Brunswick, and three mills in Cornwall, Ont., and one in Hamilton. The two Saint John mills employ about 420 operatives.

PERMANENT SEAT WANTED BY SPAIN

Crisis Caused at Geneva By Projected Entry of Germany
GENEVA, May 14.—Holding out the possibility to Spain and Brazil that they can virtually become permanent members of the council of the League of Nations by being constantly eligible for election as temporary members, several of the delegates of the commission for reorganization of the council, continued their efforts to shelve the crisis caused by projected entrance of Germany into the league.
The session yesterday ended without any tangible results, so much so that President Motis, in declaring adjournment until this morning, admitted that majority and minority reports to the council might have to be made.

PITTSBURG PIRATES AND ST. LOUIS ARE LIKELY TO PLAY HERE

"JOE" PAGE IS MOVING TO BRING WORLD'S CHAMPIONS HERE FOR 3-DAY SERIES

Big Attraction Practically Assured That Will Draw Big Crowds To City—Games To Be Played Here In October

NEGOTIATIONS are underway to bring the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, winners of the World's Series last year, and the St. Louis Nationals to Saint John for a series of three games immediately following the closing of the National League season of 1926.

Arrangements in connection with this matter brought "Joe" Page, of the Canadian Pacific Railway passenger department to Saint John yesterday and he spent several hours interviewing prominent men and in looking into details regarding the proposition.

PAGE SATISFIED While he yesterday Mr. Page interviewed several prominent citizens interested in community projects and received ready encouragement. He also inspected the various baseball parks of the city to decide as to a suitable site for the big sport feature.

GREAT BALL TOWN The scheme originated at the big world's championship shelling meet here last winter, when among the sport writers who were here was "Joe" Ewing, representing the "Y" City "News," of Pittsburgh, a bureau of 40 newspapers.

TRAP SHOOTING

At Glen Falls a start has been made at the summer trap shooting. It is the intention of the club to run a shoot every Thursday evening. The traps are working in splendid shape and with the fine evening last night the shooters enjoyed themselves.

PRACTICE HELD

The Trojans held a baseball practice out of the park by the Chicago White Sox. The pitching was generally of a vastly higher calibre. Virgil Barnes limited the St. Louis team to six scattered blows. Halp Carlson, of the Phillies, shut out the Pirates with five bingles for 6 to 0 verdict, and Carl Marx, of the Reds, bested Heam, of the Braves, in a slab duel, 4 to 1.

"THE SEA BEAST" A TERRIFIC DRAMA

John Barrymore in Greatest Return of His Career at Imperial

"The Sea Beast" opened yesterday at the Imperial Theatre for a run of three days, and justified in every way all the glowing heaps of adjectives that have been piled up about this effort of the Warner Brothers.

John Barrymore is the star, but even with Barrymore, the one actor who brings to the screen the feel of that indefinable quality called genius, the drama of "The Sea Beast" is the thing.

For "The Sea Beast" is its suggestive power, in its overtones of surging life, more than a photoplay; it is an epic of the heroic lives of the oldtime whalers when, in their swift clipper ships, they carried their hunts through the seven seas.

Nevertheless, the picture gives Barrymore the opportunity for the biggest and most impressive characterization that he has given to the screen.

The sea dominates, and even Barrymore, superb actor that he is, is less, as any human would be less, than the epic that flashes tumultuously across the screen; the epic of the sailors of 1840.

Nevertheless, the picture gives Barrymore the opportunity for the biggest and most impressive characterization that he has given to the screen.

The beauty of the scenes in Java, the magic way in which the atmosphere of the East has been captured, the never-equalled thrill of the surging storms at sea, the anguished suspense of the battle with the whale, are some of the things that stand out most vividly.

It is in the massing of detail that "The Sea Beast" achieves its total effect. Such things as the titles, by Rupert Hughes, the cast, perfectly chosen, and the outstanding performances, in addition to Barrymore's, being those of Dolores Costello and George O'Hara.

"The Sea Beast" is founded upon Herman Melville's novel, "Moby Dick."

Robertson, Formerly of White Sox, is Now Member of St. Louis Club

Charley Robertson, the pitcher of "no-hit" "no-run" fame, who was obtained by the Browns from the White Sox on waivers since the close of the past season, is now serving with only his second major league club and this is only his fifth campaign as a major leaguer.

Robertson, who is a graduate of Austin College at Sherman, Texas, started his career as a professional pitcher with the Sherman club of the Western Association in 1917. He was in the United States Air Service during 1918 and in the following season he was purchased by the White Sox. He did not take part in any games with the Chicago club that year, and he was sent to the Minneapolis club of the American Association under an optional agreement.

During his first season as a major leaguer Robertson won 14 games for the Chicago club and he lost 15. It was during this season that he pitched his famous game against the Tigers. In the following season he won 13 games and he was beaten in 18. In 1924 he fared poorly, winning only four games and losing 10. While still with the White Sox last year he won only eight games and he was defeated in 12. During his four years with the White Sox he won a total of 39 games and he lost 55. He was released by the Chicago club to the Browns on Dec. 31, 1925.

Robertson is one of five major league pitchers who have allowed no hits and no runs in a game, and also prevented any of his opponents from reaching first base. This feat was first performed by J. Lee Richmond, of the Worcester National League Club on June 12, 1880. Five days later John M. Ward, of the Providence National League Club, duplicated the stunt. No pitcher was able to turn the trick again until 24 years later, when Cy Young, of the Boston Red Sox, did it on May 5, 1904. It was done again by Adrian K. Joss, of the Cleveland American League Club, on Oct. 2, 1908. Then came Robertson 14 years later. It has not been done since then.

Blind Girl Agrees to Accept $45,000 With Heirs of Man Who Gave $150,000 Note

NEW YORK, May 13—Miss Catherine Genin Burke, who, although blind, was graduated with highest honors from Barnard College in 1922, has accepted a settlement of $45,000 in her suit for $150,000 against the estate of Henry T. Keyser, wealthy recluse who died at the age of 72 at the Hotel Majestic on Dec. 23, 1925, it was learned through an order to compromise signed by Surrogate Foley.

The basis of the suit, which was brought in the Supreme Court last March, was an alleged promissory note made by Keyser two weeks before his death to Miss Burke for the sum of $150,000. An appraisal of his estate filed by the State Tax Commission on Dec. 23, 1925, showed that he left a gross estate of $219,410 and $177,097 net.

In their application to the Surrogate's Court by permission to settle the suit for $45,000, the administrators of the estate said that for some time prior to Keyser's death the blind girl and her mother had lived at the Hotel Majestic at his expense. He had paid for Miss Burke's education and had promised to marry her, according to their affidavit, and announcement of the engagement had been made some time in 1924. When Miss Burke demanded that Keyser fulfill his promise of marriage, the paper asserts, he refused.

Keyser then made out the alleged promissory note to Miss Burke, the affidavit says, and having been compensated for the damages sustained by Keyser's refusal to marry her, Miss Burke and her mother continued their friendship and "devoted a large part

No pitcher was able to turn the trick again until 24 years later, when Cy Young, of the Boston Red Sox, did it on May 5, 1904. It was done again by Adrian K. Joss, of the Cleveland American League Club, on Oct. 2, 1908. Then came Robertson 14 years later. It has not been done since then.

Blind Girl Agrees to Accept $45,000 With Heirs of Man Who Gave $150,000 Note

NEW YORK, May 13—Miss Catherine Genin Burke, who, although blind, was graduated with highest honors from Barnard College in 1922, has accepted a settlement of $45,000 in her suit for $150,000 against the estate of Henry T. Keyser, wealthy recluse who died at the age of 72 at the Hotel Majestic on Dec. 23, 1925, it was learned through an order to compromise signed by Surrogate Foley.

The basis of the suit, which was brought in the Supreme Court last March, was an alleged promissory note made by Keyser two weeks before his death to Miss Burke for the sum of $150,000. An appraisal of his estate filed by the State Tax Commission on Dec. 23, 1925, showed that he left a gross estate of $219,410 and $177,097 net.

In their application to the Surrogate's Court by permission to settle the suit for $45,000, the administrators of the estate said that for some time prior to Keyser's death the blind girl and her mother had lived at the Hotel Majestic at his expense. He had paid for Miss Burke's education and had promised to marry her, according to their affidavit, and announcement of the engagement had been made some time in 1924. When Miss Burke demanded that Keyser fulfill his promise of marriage, the paper asserts, he refused.

Keyser then made out the alleged promissory note to Miss Burke, the affidavit says, and having been compensated for the damages sustained by Keyser's refusal to marry her, Miss Burke and her mother continued their friendship and "devoted a large part

BROTHERS AWAY 40 DAYS FROM SCHOOL

Adam's Excuse Not Considered Sound by Magistrate as Father is Questioned

A fine of $160 was the penalty that might have been imposed by Magistrate Henderson in the Police Court this morning on the father of two juveniles who appeared before him on a charge of truancy. The lads were brought to court at the instance of Herbert G. Green, truant officer, and were accompanied by their mother. The magistrate asked where the father, and the mother replied that he would not attend court. The mother was then sent home and the father brought. He tried to place the blame for the boys' delinquency on the mother. The magistrate said that such an excuse would not do. It was the same old one that Adam used when he tried to place the blame on Eve.

DUTY PARAMOUNT

C. P. Messenger Boy, Though Injured, Carries Job to Completion

Joe McDermott, a Canadian Pacific messenger boy, displayed a fine sense of duty yesterday when, after being injured in an accident, he delivered a telegram entrusted to his care before reporting his injuries. He was riding down Main street on a bicycle when a wheel caught in the street car tracks and the boy was thrown in front of an approaching express wagon. Young McDermott was run over and one of his knees was wrenched and his hand cut. The driver of the wagon aided the youth to a nearby drug store where he received treatment, following which he took a street car to the office and delivered his message and then reported his injuries. He was sent to the General Hospital in a taxicab and later taken home.

While the boom was on carpenters received as high as $11.00 a day with double time for a 12-hour Sunday. Hundreds of tradesmen were now flocking north again. There were no industrial enterprises down there to hold the workers.

FIRE CALL: Last evening about 10:30 Policeman Phinney was called to the corner of Carmichael and Queen streets for slight fire in a vacant flat there owned by the Eastern Trust Company. He found that the fire had been extinguished by a city fireman named Napin.

ROADS CAUTION: G. L. Ingram, provincial tax inspector said at the end of the day that he had yet been received in regard to the opening of the roads for general traffic. He said that owing to the condition of the South Bay bridge, a part of which had been under water for the last few days, all holders of permits for travel on the Westfield road were cautioned to go carefully when crossing it.

Mr. and Mrs. Breen were the recipients of many tokens of the esteem in which they are held by a large circle of friends, including beautiful pieces of silverware from the Brookfield church choir, where Mrs. Breen has for some time taken a leading part, and from friends in the city.

A TALE OF DOLLAR: Thomas Killen, popular letter carrier, found a dollar bill yesterday at a Germain street house while he was on his rounds. Inquiry revealed that the people of the house did not own it, but one said she had paid a bill of $3 a short time before to a business man who had called. In the payment were a $2 bill and a single dollar. Mr. Killen called up the business man, who is known as a prominent abriter in the baseball game in Saint John. He could not say that he had lost the money. It was said in the conversation that there was a working woman scrubbing the house at the time. "Give her the dollar," said the business man. "That's a good decision. Mr. Umphrey," said the letterman, and the suggestion was carried out.

SOME 2-POUND TROUT HOOKED AT LILY LAKE

Anglers Are Out There Each Evening After the Big Ones

Each fine evening local disciples of Isaac Walton went their way to Rockwood park to try their luck at enticing the trout from their haunts. Fishing commenced for the season last Saturday at Lily Lake. There is not much fishing done during the day there, but in the evening the shores are generally dotted with fishermen and the boats are in good demand. Last evening there were about 20 fishing along the shore, the eastern end of the lake seeming to be the popular spot, while five boats were in use. There are large fish in the lake and it was said that one or two weighing about two pounds had been hooked so far this season.

CONCESSION TO AUTOS

The roads of the park from the entrance at Mount Pleasant to the animal cages are in fairly good condition and this year automobiles will be allowed to enter at the Mount Pleasant or Wright street entrance, drive to where the animals are kept, then circle around by the artificial lakes and the ice house, and leave the park at the place of entry. At present, though, Harry Bettle, park policeman, said last evening, automobiles could drive as far as the animal cages, but would have to return the way they entered as the road via the artificial lakes and ice house was rather soft, and was not yet opened to traffic.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Saint John Men Have Happy Reunion on the North Shore

The Chatham World carries an interesting story of a pleasant meeting of two Saint John men there after many years. They are B. C. Waring and Frank Forrest. They had been introduced at the Adams House by A. B. Voyer, but neither at the time thought it anything but a casual introduction. A few questions disclosed that Mr. Forrest was formerly of Saint John, but had been in the west for some 30 years. He and the Waring boys were friends in his days in this city.

Mr. Forrest is a son of the late J. J. Forrest, lawyer, who was an alderman for some time. Since he left Saint John he has spent the years in the west. He is now a successful horse raiser in Alberta, where he has a large ranch. He came to Chatham with a carload of horses. He is coming back to New Brunswick again this summer with more horses, and his wife is coming, too, and when he gets through business they are coming to Saint John.
