MEANS UNDER CHARGE NOW; POLICEMAN O'LEARY IS DEAD

Gallant Fight Against Effect of Assassin's Bullet Ends At 8.02 O'Clock

Pathetic Scene at Deathbed—Funeral on Wednesday Afternoon; Police and Firemen to Attend—Many Expressions of Regret at Death—Braman's Case

Frank O'Leary is dead. After fighting for nearly a week against the effects of an assassin's bullet, received while gallantly discharging his duty, the policeman died in the general hospital this morning at two minutes after eight o'clock. But five minutes before his soul took its flight into eternity, the dying man was able to talk with his friends and relatives, gathered about his bedside; he bade them all good-bye and slowly relaxed into unconsciousness, from which he did not rally.

All through the night O'Leary's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary, sat by the bedside of their son, hoping against hope that he would be spared to them, and the young man, although at times confident that his last hour was approaching, whispered words of encouragement in the ears of those who were near and dear to him. At one time in the early hours of the morning the strength began to return slightly, and with it came the hope that he would recover, but it lasted only a minute or two, but long enough for the stricken man to remark: "I'll fool them yet, I am going to live."

Besides his parents, his cousin, Mrs. John McConnell, and William O'Leary, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Walsh, Commissioner McLellan and William Donahue were with him at the last. When O'Leary was wounded by a bullet from the gun in the hands of John H. Braman, he was rushed to the general public hospital. Excitement about the city was at fever pitch when the news of the shooting spread about the city and telephone at the hospital and all the newspaper offices of the city were kept busy with enquiries regarding the policeman's condition.

The first few hours were filled with suspense. The report was that O'Leary was in a very critical condition and only a few hours were given the wounded man before death would claim him. After an operation by Dr. W. W. White, in which the flow of blood from O'Leary's wounds was staunch, the patient hovered between life and death for two days, and then came the encouraging report that his condition was improving and that he had a fighting chance.

From Wednesday until Saturday at noon the hopes of his friends mounted higher and higher as each successive report from the hospital was that the brave policeman was either showing signs of improvement or was at least holding his own. The rugged constitution, the splendid physique and the clean life of the man were beginning to assert themselves, but then the deadly inflammation set in. Then it was only a matter of hours.

His internal organs had been badly torn by the passage of the bullet and although the operation performed by Dr. White was successful, inasmuch as the flow of blood was stopped, the inflammation in the internal organs began on Saturday evening to sap away his strength, and weaken his pulse. All through the night and all day Sunday the heart-beats gradually grew weaker, the end was approaching. All the medical and physical endurance in the world could not battle against the conditions that had arisen, and suffering over grew the strength of the patient. Although he must have been suffering intense pain, no outward sign could be observed by his anxious friends gathered about him, and at 8.02 Policeman Frank O'Leary died as he had lived, brave, strong of heart and courageous.

When it was seen yesterday that the end was gradually but surely approaching, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary went to the bedside of their son and remained there.

DEATH OF MISS BRAND

There will be sincere sympathy for relatives because of the death of Miss Annie Brand, eldest daughter of Joseph and Mrs. Brand, which occurred early this morning in the General Public Hospital. Miss Brand, who was in her twenty-first year, was the subject of one of the operations in the surgical clinic held by Dr. Armstrong at St. Vincent's hospital yesterday. Miss Brand's mother, who was operated on for an aggravated case of goitre and although the operation was said to be successful, she passed away about four o'clock this morning.

Miss Brand was well known and popular among the younger people in the city. She was employed as a stenographer with Baird & Peters and later entered St. Vincent's hospital about nine months ago. On account of her illness she was forced to leave the convent and enter the hospital. Her aunt, Miss Emma Rutland, of Norton, has been with her for the last six weeks, accompanied by Miss Brand's brother, Warren, who will take the body to Norton this evening at 6.15.

EX-CONVICT ATTEMPTS HOLD-UP IN OLD BURVING GRAB IN BROADWAY LIGHT; BACK IN THE TULIS AGAIN

Richard Powers, an ex-convict from Dorchester penitentiary, was arrested this morning by Policeman O'Neil on a charge of assaulting F. B. McKiel and attempting to rob him. Mr. McKiel was stopped by the prisoner while going through the Broadway light and was asked for money. When he was refused, it is said, Powers demanded that he should hand over his watch and chain. This was also refused, and it is said the prisoner caught hold of him and tried to force it from him. Mr. McKiel struggled to free himself, and just as the ex-convict was beginning to get the better of him, J. M. Jenkins and Albert Williamson who were standing on the corner of King square ran to his assistance. They followed Powers and kept him in sight until a policeman was called.

PIECE AGAIN IN THE STAND Another Engineer Also Testifies But Does Not Furnish Much of Encouragement for Road Promoters

(Special to Times)
Frederick, N. B., July 13.—When even their own witness cannot say a good word for their estimate of the cost of the road the case looks worse than ever for the Southamptons Railway company in the inquiry being conducted by R. A. Pringle, K.C., of Ottawa.

Commissioner Pringle then announced that he had received from the C. P. R. an additional statement of the cost of materials supplied to the Southamptons Railway and presented it to counsel for their consideration to be taken up for comparison later.

James K. Pinder again took the stand to continue his evidence in support of his statement of the cost of the railway. He started to give details regarding the quantity and cost of ties. "The difference between the cost of the ties as I have only not take a day over it. Let us get along." Other items were disposed of in a similar manner.

Regarding the interest account, Commissioner Pringle said: "You are charged with the interest on the bonds of $100,000. From my information I cannot find that Mr. Pinder was out of pocket at any one time more than $60,000 or $70,000. If you can produce a statement I will be glad to see it. You are charged with the interest on $200,000 above what the witness himself claimed on the stand in the Stewart case."

Mr. Pinder promised to deal with the matter later, and went on to put in an additional claim for work done on the road, which also would be submitted later. The witness said that from 1910 he spent three-fourths of his time on work connected with the road, the work involving considerable travelling. Regarding the quantities of materials, he testified that sufficient allowance was not being made to allow for washouts. "They talk of measuring the fills," he said, "you could only measure a lot of fills by buckets, when it was being washed down stream."

Mr. Pringle—"Was there any separation of the railway accounts and Mr. Pinder's private account?"
Witness—"There were several separate loans on collateral security, but only one account."
Mr. Teed—"Did all the proceeds of all the bonds go to the Bank of Nova Scotia?"
A—"Every dollar."
Q—"About the subsidy?"
A—"£42,000 to the C. P. R. and balance to the Bank of Nova Scotia."

NO TROUBLE SO FAR IN IRELAND

Orange Celebration Goes On Without a Clash

CARSON AT HEAD OF 5,000

Arms Captured by The Customs Officers Are Taken Away From Them—At Derry Cannonade Starts Nationalists Organizing For Defence

Belfast, July 13.—The insistent demand of the Protestant portion of Ulster for exclusion from the operations of the Irish home rule bill, lent added interest to today's celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, which was carried out here with the greatest enthusiasm.

Sir Edward Carson rode at the head of some 5,000 Orangemen, accompanied by the usual life and drum bands and including a sprinkling of brethren from the British colonies as they marched across the streets in the Unionist section where a great open air meeting was addressed by Sir Edward and other leaders.

The Nationalist quarter of Belfast was carefully avoided and on no occasion during the procession did the rival factions come into contact. So little did the authorities expect trouble, that they failed to take any steps to prevent the force to be kept order, but all the military were confined to barracks as is usually the case when great political demonstrations take place.

A great crowd of tourists came to see the parade and to hear the speeches, which were a prelude to resolutions calling on the Ulster leaders to take what steps they considered necessary to prevent Ulster coming under the authority of the Dublin parliament.

Sir Edward Carson was the hero of the day. His bearing and his portrait, were worn by practically every man in the procession, while great canvases spread across the streets in the Unionist section of the city bore his likeness. It is regarded as significant that in recent interviews Sir Edward Carson is quoted as saying that the only conditions of the exclusion of Ulster, "for the present" while the more remote action of the Unionists must, in his opinion, depend on the way the Dublin parliament treats Protestants in the other provinces of Ireland.

Throughout Ulster and notably in Londonderry, extensive precautions were taken by the authorities against possible clashes between the organized forces of the Nationalists and Catholics.

Londonderry, July 13.—An armed guard of ten policemen conveying confiscated arms and ammunition from Londonderry to Dublin was surrounded on Saturday by volunteers, who recaptured the consignment, which was then placed on motor cars and rapidly driven away. The consignment consisted of 200 Mauser rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunition and was discovered by the customs men concealed in the false lining of a furniture van.

On Sunday morning, half a dozen powerful gasoline launches put out from shore towards the Konaigata Maru, with the evident intention of carrying the Hindus ashore. The immigration department guards in a launch close to the vessel, armed with rifles drove the Hindus back to shore.

A Shoe Man's Story

"I began advertising in 1888, using a New York and a Boston paper."
"Our copy has been consistently confined to newspapers. In fact we have used no other method of publicity for the last seven or eight years, believing that the direct appeal to the consumer paid for at the bottom of our ads the outlet for our shoes, is the best advertising path we can pursue."
"This shoe and this shoemaker are known the world over and his business is one of the largest if not the largest in the world. It was all built up by newspaper advertising."

MY MIKE and JOE CRANE

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD

Illustrated by GEORGE GIBBS

When you went over the factory this morning, did you see a fine-looking old man working at the lathe's bench with white hair and a red wrinkled face and a thin beard that kind of bristles out?

He works there at that bench, and you can see the men give him plenty of room. They're covered with goose-

He'd burst out sometimes when some fool has touched the right button on his soul, and his neck will swell so you can see the mark of his collar after it's all over, and his fingers go creeping after a three-pound wrench or the like of that and there's a killing in his eyes. Then let him fling loose and it's over in a second like the rip of dynamite, and then everything's quiet except the old man choking and yawning and a little stream of blood running out of his nose.

It wasn't long after I'd been made foreman, and everything seemed about right with me. A man can be happy here all right, and then again, though I don't do many things right, you bet I married right, and my Annie is the kind of woman I don't deserve, and probably never will. Then there was little Annie—strong as a kitten and lips red as if she was away at her grandmother's that winter, and there was little Michael with his round legs, going into his eleventh year. It was the gang I'd had by me while I was fighting my way up, and we'd won together, and everything was just right with me—except just one thing that brought up a heavy stone.

He wasn't enough the fixture of a man to suit me. His name around and tear-en-up his didn't happen much, and he'd rather climb up on me, knee or sit in the house in the pictures in the back of the dictionary, or get a hold of a lot of ants in the garden, and watch 'em and eat 'em by the dozen. Mr. Walsh and Billy, and Mrs. Leason, and a things like that. Seemed to me as if he was soft-hearted and sissy, and like a girl. Sometimes he'd seem to want something, and you couldn't tell him any more than he could tell you. He'd come first to me and then get to his mother. He found out since what he was after.

I says to Annie, "I'd like for me to take a hand; I don't want him to be the kind you find at the bottom of the barrel. This is a Canada world, and the boy won't always have you to tuck him in nights, for life takes a lot of walkin' out of a man, and when it hands 'toots a punch it will hit something soft and easy and unnatural. I ain't training the boy for a post or seaman's, I says."

"Do you think you understand the lad?" I don't think I do. "What's the matter now, you lobster?" says I to him, talking like a section boss with his face shiny from the towel. He looks at me a minute with his eyes wide, and I see his upper lip a-tremblin' like the whinny of a horse. "Tell him he's lobster-hair!" says his mother, near to her heart's content. It was too late. The boy commenced to blubber like a kitten under water.

have got it out of him with a derrier. "Never mind," says I. "It's making a man of him! He ain't soft any more. And my way's the way all right."

The end came during the week of the equinox storm. I guess it was about ten o'clock when the wind showed a blind of the house and set others slumming, and I sat up in bed breathing and feeling queer for the wild night outside. After a minute I got up and looked out of the window. And as I was looking I thought I seen a shadow blacker than the rest fighting its way toward the road. "Go on!" says I to myself, "the boy wouldn't light out on a night like this?" and then I wondered why I thought it was him. But when I went around to shut the blinds and looked into his room, the bed hadn't been opened, and the lad was gone.

Well, I made up my mind I wouldn't say nothing to the wife till morning, and you'd laugh to see how I tried to go to sleep. I might as well have been a fish-worm on a stove. It was almost four in the morning when I seen Annie standing over me, pulling at the sheets. "Listen, Jim," says she. Sure enough, there was a knocking at the door and a man's voice shouting over the wind. "Let me in! Help! Open up!"

"Something's wrong at the factory," says I, putting my two feet on the floor and reaching for my clothes; but when I started down the stairs the wife was holding a kerseene lamp, and she handed me my revolver. "And little we guessed. For when the slap of the rain struck me and I'd wiped it off my face there stood old Joe Crane and white in the lips and done for breath, and he had my boy in his arms with a welt across his forehead, and his yellow hair with dark streaks, and one of Joe's hands had blood on it. "Joe's lips were moving, but he laid the book down on the sofa in the parlor, I went down on my knees beside the lad and then I knew for the first time his heart was going, and I stood up and says, "What does it?" and old Joe kind of give way into a chair and says "God help me, I done it!"

With that the lad quirms out and kind of weak and shaky. Annie up against him, and he's all right, Mr. Crane," says he. "Don't you care," and the old man looks up and says, "I know he's dead," and opens up his arms and puts 'em around the boy. "I never loved it younger so much as when I seen he'd rather go to old Joe than stay by me. Here give the lad to me—he's mine, ain't he? 'Tm his dad, ain't I?" I said. And I took him to Annie, and she grabs him up kissing him and talking and saying things and taking him up—

and I've never seen him since," said old Joe. "It put the evil onto me. I've never had a friend I didn't lose that way, and once there was a woman—but you'd not hear it all. Look how I loved this lad of yours. See what I'm getting what do I amount to now? I'm getting old, too. And I don't have a friend!"

In a minute the old man pipes up again. "You're a square feller, Jim, but boy, you're a square feller, Jim, but as he is—he's a fine little lad. He's like sensitive and tuned high. Don't you do anything, Jim, to make him like my brother! Don't you do anything to make him like me! He's wanting something he can't get at home."

"I want to tell you why the boy came to me," he says. "Did you ever feel that?" says he, "or hanker for food. 'Twas that way with the little feller; he come here because he needed something he didn't get at home."

"And what was that?" says Annie, proud and cool and angry; but the old man didn't seem to hear her. "I was like that," he says kind of thoughtful. "When I started down the stairs I was kind of warm-hearted and sensitive and tuned high. 'Twas that way with the little feller, but she died before I could collect. It was different with my father. He was well off when I can remember, but of course he must be dead by now. The world had used him tough, and I guess he thought it used every body the same way. Maybe he was a good-hearted man, but he was stern and was brought up with his hands on the back of his neck."

I seen by Annie's look that she understood it was about the same game I'd tried. "It was a good plan," old Joe went on—"that is, it worked all right with my brother. He's a rich man now and owns a lot of tractors. He's a good man, and my father nearly starved my soul to death, and for all I know he starved after my mother. It was his plan to make me over and improve on God, and one day when I was so old that I can't do anything but stretch out too far and something snapped in here." With that he gave the lad to me, and he said, "I'm his dad, ain't I?" I said. And I took him to Annie, and she grabs him up kissing him and talking and saying things and taking him up—

and I've never seen him since," said old Joe. "It put the evil onto me. I've never had a friend I didn't lose that way, and once there was a woman—but you'd not hear it all. FRED. CAMERON ON PLAYGROUNDS

Editor Amherst Daily News: Dear Sir.—I received my diploma a short time ago, doctor of physical phy, also Red Cross and eugenic diploma, making three in all. Since coming here I have made a special study of healing diseases by the proper use of diet, hydrotherapy, massage and exercise. I have seen many hopeless cases cured in the healthatorium the last year by these methods only, and it certainly speaks well for this form of drugless healing.

Chicago is noted for its wonderful playground system, and in no other city has the work progressed so favorably. The playground here consists of two separate fields, one for boys, the other for girls, and all kinds of apparatus can be found for healthful exercise, such as swings, climbing ladders, travelling rickety horizontal bars, parallel bars, sand pits, and many other kinds of apparatus. Every playground has a nice running track, and outdoor swimming pool, which is enjoyed by thousands of boys during warm weather. Life guards and instructors see that the children are well cared for. The shower rooms are very nice and one is supplied with towels and soap free of charge, in fact everything is free, and one is free to exercise and play to their heart's content.

I am making a special study of this form of work and expect to take the examinations in the fall. I am glad to see so much interest taken in playground work in Amherst, and hope the time will soon come when the town has a nice playground and gymnasium where the children can be brought under trained instructors.

By doing this you will be fitting them for better citizens, and lessen the number of boys who go astray. I have seen the best of health since coming here and am still in shape to give the younger athletes a run at most any distance.

Hoping, Mr. Editor, I have not trespassed on your valuable time too much, I remain, Yours truly, F. S. CAMERON, D. P.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY MILITANTS, HE SUES COUNTY ANTRIM. Ulster Taxpayers May Have To Foot Bills Because of Furie's Outrages.

London, July 13.—The whole tax paying population of Ulster may have to pay for the damage done in the province by the militant agitator, Major-General Sir Hugh MacCallum, a former Unionist M. P. has brought action against the county of Antrim for $55,000 for the destruction of his house, Abbeylands, which was burned by the militants in March.

The action is brought under a law that applies only to Ireland, and which was enacted at the time the Nationalists were carrying on a militant campaign in favor of home rule. Under this a county is responsible for any damage done by mobs or persons and must also pay for any extra police protection sent in anticipation of violence. Should General MacCallum be successful in his claim the taxpayers of Antrim will have to pay an extra tax of nearly eight per cent in the pound next year.

A Home Recipe for Wrinkled, Saggy Skin. The famous saxolite lotion recommended by beauty specialists for removing wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can be easily made at home. Ask your druggist for saxolite in powder form, 1 oz. and 1/4 pint witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel and bathe the face, neck and hands in the solution. Rubbles are remarkable, and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks or hands. The lines beneath the skin also become firm and more refreshed and exhilarated. One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using the lotion. It contains no extra fat or any sort of oil, and is the average person look ten or fifteen years younger.

Hints for the Cook

Green Grape Jelly. Pick the grapes when just beginning to turn. Pick over the grapes, wash and remove stems; put into preserving kettle. Heat to boiling point, wash and boil thirty minutes. Strain through a coarse strainer, then allow juice to drop through a double thickness of cheesecloth or a jelly bag. Measure, bring to boiling point and boil five minutes; add an equal measure of heated sugar, boil three minutes, skim and pour into glasses. Place in a sunny window and let stand twenty-four hours. Make jelly when the day is clear and sunny.

Strawberry Crown. Set one cup of milk to heat in the double boiler. When very hot add one cup of sugar and two tablespoons of cornstarch, wet in cold water. When cooked enough to coat a spoon, add a pinch of salt, and pour the mixture over the whites of two eggs stiffly beaten. Mix thoroughly. When cool, flavor with vanilla and stir in half cup of washed and hulled strawberries. Wet a border-mold with cold water and pour the paste into it. Turn out on a plate covered with a paper lace doily, and keep large berries in the center. Serve with either plain or whipped cream.

PEARLS OF GREAT PRICE

(London, Til-Bits)

There has lately been exhibited at a court jeweller's in Bond Street a striking collection of pearls. One magnificent roe is valued at no less than £60,000; while for a single pear-shaped drop pearl, perfectly symmetrical, £14,000 is asked. But probably the most exquisite article in the collection is a single necklace of gems of extraordinary hue, the matching and gradation being superb. The cost of this article is £28,000.

But the owners want a would-be purchaser that if one of the stones were lost it would be impossible to replace it with an exact duplicate. Black and pink pearls also found a place in the exhibition; whilst a passing reference must be made to a pair of button shaped earrings valued at £2,000.

One of the representatives of the firm gives a word of advice upon the preservation and treatment of pearls. Upon no account, he said, should they be locked up in a safe or other dark place for lengthy periods, since such treatment soon causes them to lose their "life" and become dull.

If their fair owners find that for some reason or other they cannot wear them outside their garments they should make a point of wearing them underneath their dress, next to the skin. Constant contact with the human skin gives to the stones light, lustre, gloss and sheen. The best possible way to keep pearls in a perfect state of preservation, as well as to prolong their life, is to wear them always both by night and by day.

"Tell Irishmen To Bury Differences"

Redmond's Message Brought to Boston By Humphrey T. O'Sullivan

(James T. Sullivan in Boston Globe.)

"The Irishmen of America if they have any little differences, to bury them now and unite in the great volunteer movement that is resurrection nationalism and patriotism throughout their native land."

Reading that message from John E. Redmond to the Irishmen of this country, Humphrey T. O'Sullivan of Lowell, stepped off the steamship Caronia this morning. He went aboard early in June to learn at first hand how the home rule movement was getting along, and he brings the first authoritative news of conditions abroad relative to home rule.

In London he met Mr. Redmond and a large number of the Nationalist members of parliament. At a luncheon with Mr. Redmond, John Dillon and Joseph Devlin, he went over the situation thoroughly, and as a result, instead of remaining abroad three months, as he had planned, Mr. O'Sullivan returned to spread the agitation for aiding the volunteer movement.

After he had given the matter careful consideration, he sent the following letter to the Irish leader:

"Royal Victoria Hotel, Cork:
"June 15, 1914.

"Dear Mr. Redmond: I have the appeal which you made to our race in America, and I am anxious at once to respond to it. I am just now paying a visit to Ireland, and I am impressed beyond measure at the strength and vitality of the Irish Volunteer movement and the recognition of the movement by the practical and earnest support which you have given now make it incumbent on every Irishman in every part of the world to give prompt and practical assistance, and I therefore enclose you check for one hundred pounds. On my return to America I trust to be able to organize further as well as to show that you have behind you the strength and fidelity of our race in the United States.

"Yours faithfully,
"HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN."

Armed in August

In reply he received a letter stating that in August, when Mr. O'Sullivan returns he will find an armed force in Ireland, showing that the leaders are working hard to make the movement a success.

"The volunteer movement is one of the most splendid things with which I have ever been in touch," said Mr. O'Sullivan, "it is spreading all over Ireland, young men and old taking it up with a will. There are more volunteers than there would ever be any necessity of using."

"The movement is not of the Fenian type. In those days men were not allowed to carry arms. There is no pro-blem of carrying arms or drilling in Ireland now, but there is an embargo on arms. But if the money is raised for the movement, it will be possible to get the arms in some way or other.

"Men are not needed. Many of the volunteers formerly were army officers, some of whom have seen hard service, and as drill masters they are the best that can be secured. In every province now companies are drilling regularly, that the policy of the further establishment of hatcheries was to be continued. The whole day at Lorneville was much enjoyed. In the morning Coronation Lodge paraded in regalia, with members of Mount Purple Lodge and the "Prentice Boys, headed by the Temple of Honor Band. A picnic was held in the afternoon, while the dinner was given in the evening.

The Orangemen of Queens county gathered on Saturday at Newcastle Bridge, and celebrated the twelfth with the holding of a picnic and parade. Addresses were given by David Hillwell of St. John, Rev. Messrs. Johnson, McCutcheon and Mackay.

CELEBRATING THE TWELFTH

Orangemen at Church Here—The Lorneville Gathering on Saturday Evening

With rain falling steadily, members of St. John District Orange Lodge held a church parade yesterday going from their hall in Germain street to Leinster street Baptist church where Rev. W. Camp preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion. He spoke on the principles of the Orange order and what it stood for, and made reference to the matter between the members and the minister of militia. At the close of the sermon there was an unusual demonstration in a church, for the Orangemen present broke into a round of applause.

There were over 500 in the parade, all in full regalia, the lodges represented being No. 1, Verner; No. 2, Eldon; No. 3, York; No. 7, Gideon; No. 11, True Blue; No. 24, Johnston; No. 27, Havlock, and No. 141, Dominion. There were also representatives of the "Prentice Boys, Queen's Perceptor Royal Black Knights of Ireland (62), Trinity Perceptor (507) and the St. John County Royal Scarlet Chapter. The marshal was Isaac Mercer and the procession, which was witnessed by a large number of interested people, was headed by the band of the Sons of England. At the church the sisters were Robert Willis, district M.; C. B. Ward, P. D. M.; I. Mercer, D. C. of C.; William Campbell, P. C. M.; Arthur Harvey, secretary of No. 3, and J. G. Sullivan, P. D. M. A number of ladies of the L. O. C. met the Orangemen at the church door.

In commemoration of the "Glorious Twelfth" on Saturday a complimentary dinner was tendered by the Orangemen of Lorneville to Hon. J. D. Hazen, J. B. M. Baxter, M. P., T. B. Carson, M. P., and G. E. Logan. Those present included Henry Beard, worshipful master, grand councillor, Bryant and Golding, George H. Galbraith, president of the Fishermen's Protective Association, presider.

Hon. Mr. Hazen was the chief speaker, and addresses were also given by Messrs. Carson, Baxter, Bryant and Golding, Commissioner Wignmore and C. B. Lockhart, M. P. Mr. Hazen spoke of the work of the marine and fisheries department, referring to the success of the hatcheries established and announced

SERIOUS WEST END FIRE

The main building of the St. John Milling Company at the head of Rodney wharf, West Side, was destroyed by fire which was first seen about eight o'clock yesterday morning by Policeman Watson. An alarm was rung in from box 214 and a telephone call was sent to the East Side for assistance. The loss is estimated at $45,000 with $20,000 insurance. The heavy rainfall helped to keep the fire down and good work on the part of the firemen saved the adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown. A. L. Fowler is president of the company and W. H. Fowler manager.

The president said yesterday that the mill would probably be rebuilt and that the new structure would be made fire-proof by a covering of metal sheeting. The grain contained in the mill included 6,000 bushels of corn, 2,000 bushels of oats, 1,000 bushels of wheat, 2,000 bushels of barley, 7,000 bags of feed and meal and a small amount of whole wheat flour.

Fredericton, July 12.—The defence in the Southampton Railway inquiry admits defeat. The long promised statement purporting to show the actual cost of the road has been submitted by counsel for the railway, and although not complete, it shows that the estimated cost of the road is $1,000,000.

"No, I only paid $100," said the witness. "Well, the secretary has sworn that you paid up $1,000, but so much for that." "Were you a director?" was the next question. Witness could not remember the records showed he was.

"The witness seemed to regard this as a great joke and laughed heartily. 'Oh, we charged $3 one for hauling a car,' he replied. PITABLE TALES TOLD TO PREMIER. Mr. Asquith Hears of the Struggle For Life Among Women Workers of London's East End. London, July 13.—The recent meeting between Prime Minister Asquith and women representing Sylvia Pankhurst's East End Suffrage Club, is unique in English history.

Mr. Asquith said that it would perhaps be difficult to get substantial and intelligent reform in the East End unless the women themselves had a voice in choosing the members of parliament. But their problem was such that it could not be solved by any short cut. He promised to consider their case fully.

Pierce in Main street and stealing two pairs of shoes was brought into the police court this morning and charged with an attempt to commit suicide, when he cut his wrist in the North End station soon after he was arrested. Myers, however, told the police he would stay on as soon as he is released.

He had been a frequent visitor to St. John, and had made a great many friends in the city. Chief Blake will leave tonight for Boston to attend his funeral. Martin of Whitehorse, Yukon territory, saying that one of the silver black female foxes on the ranch produced a litter of nine beautiful animals, all of which are living and in excellent health. PAY RENT AS HIGH AS $162 A WEEK

Statement Made at Hearing in Road House Case

The committee appointed by the county council to close up the road houses are still active and last week a warrant was issued for Agnes Flewelling on the Golden Grove Road for keeping a disorderly house. She was brought up before Magistrate H. G. S. Adams and after three hearings found guilty and fined $50 and costs and six months' imprisonment. Witnesses testified to seeing her at the house at all hours and one witness, a former employe, swore to receiving money from men and women who visited the place. J. King Kelley, county secretary appeared for the prosecution.

No witnesses were called for the defence and the magistrate in summing up the case said that though no police was necessary the county officials had been paying $162 a week (or $8,640 a year) and even that was not the largest house used for this traffic. With this information before him the magistrate felt that the maximum money penalty of $100 was warranted.

POLICE COURT
 Samuel Brooks, charged with drunkenness, was fined $8 or two months in jail and was ordered to be put on the interdiction list. He was remanded on a charge of resisting Policeman Hamon.

MEANS MURDER CHARGE

The next session of the supreme court in St. John will open in the court house on September 22, with Mr. Justice Crockett presiding and it is presumed that if sent up, the prisoner will go before him. That will mean two months before he faces the judge. In the event of conviction for murder the only sentence which can be pronounced by the presiding judge is that he shall be hanged, and it will rest with the minister of justice whether or not the sentence be commuted.

The prisoner was removed this morning to a cell in a more private part of the jail, by order of Sheriff Wilson, after it was learned that O'Leary was dead.

Urban J. Sweeney, Braman's counsel, visited the jail about ten o'clock this morning and was the first to inform the prisoner that O'Leary was dead. Braman appeared to be stunned on hearing the news which he had not expected, as he thought the policeman would get better. He almost collapsed on the floor of his cell and it is reported that he began beating his hands about in a wild manner and kept saying, "My God, my God, O'Leary knows that I didn't kill him."

Mr. Sweeney, when interviewed this morning, said he had nothing to say in regard to the grounds on which he would defend the prisoner.

Mr. Braman, father of the boy, was also at the jail this morning and appeared to be greatly affected on hearing of the news of O'Leary's death. He asked to be allowed to see the boy, but was refused admittance. "The boy is not to blame," he said, "it was the company he kept who are responsible for his act."

Immediately on receipt of the news that Policeman O'Leary had passed away Mr. W. F. Roberts decided to hold an inquest and a jury was empanelled at 10 o'clock. Mr. Roberts, accompanied by the coroner, viewed the body in the hospital. It is expected that the inquest will be completed this afternoon and the body will be taken this evening to the home of Policeman O'Leary's parents in Britain street, from where the funeral will be held.

Preparations are now being made for the funeral which will take place on Wednesday afternoon and which will likely be very large. In Britain street, from where the funeral will be held.

At the opening of the police court this morning, Magistrate Ritchie made the following feeling reference to the tragic death of Policeman Frank E. O'Leary.

"There is a gloom over the town today. After a week of hope that a plucky policeman might survive injuries, the sad news comes that O'Leary is dead. I am confident the people generally will sympathize with the bereaved relatives."

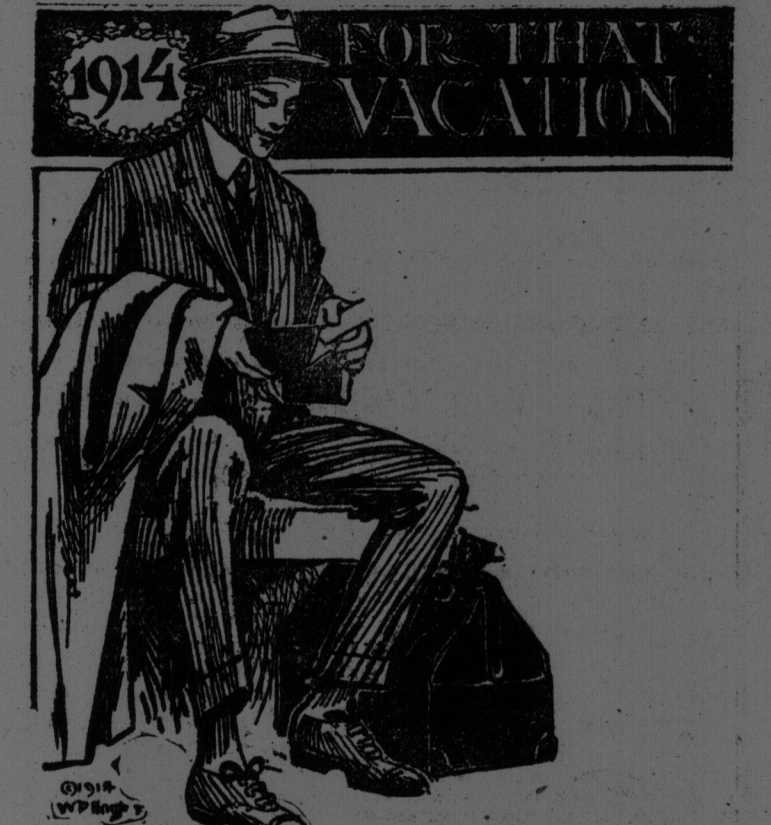

Attorney General Clarke who arrived at Fredericton from St. John this morning had not heard of the death of policeman O'Leary until informed by a Times reporter. He expressed the deepest regret regarding the fatality but as this was his first advice of this development he could say nothing regarding plans for trial. "The proceedings will take their usual course," he said.

Where Shall I Invest My Money?

This is a question that often bothers us when we have any surplus money. Some people are born rich and do not have to provide for independence, others are looking for investments that will bring them in good dividends. The Silver Black Fox Industry in P. E. Island has made thousands of investors wealthy. In 1913 alone, 30 companies paid to their shareholders an average cash dividend of 105 p. c. Is there any other industry that would do this? 1914 dividends will be even greater than before. Now is the time to invest. Send in your application today to the St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd.

 Head Office—Charlottetown, P. E. Island

Foxes Capitalized at $17,000 PER

This capitalization included all expenses for the first year up to September 1, 1915. In other words, the breeding stock will be secured, cared for, fed and all expenses paid for the first year without any cost whatever to the shareholders. Instead of paying the 10 per cent to 35 per cent increase charge paid to most ranches this money will go directly into the pocket of the investor.

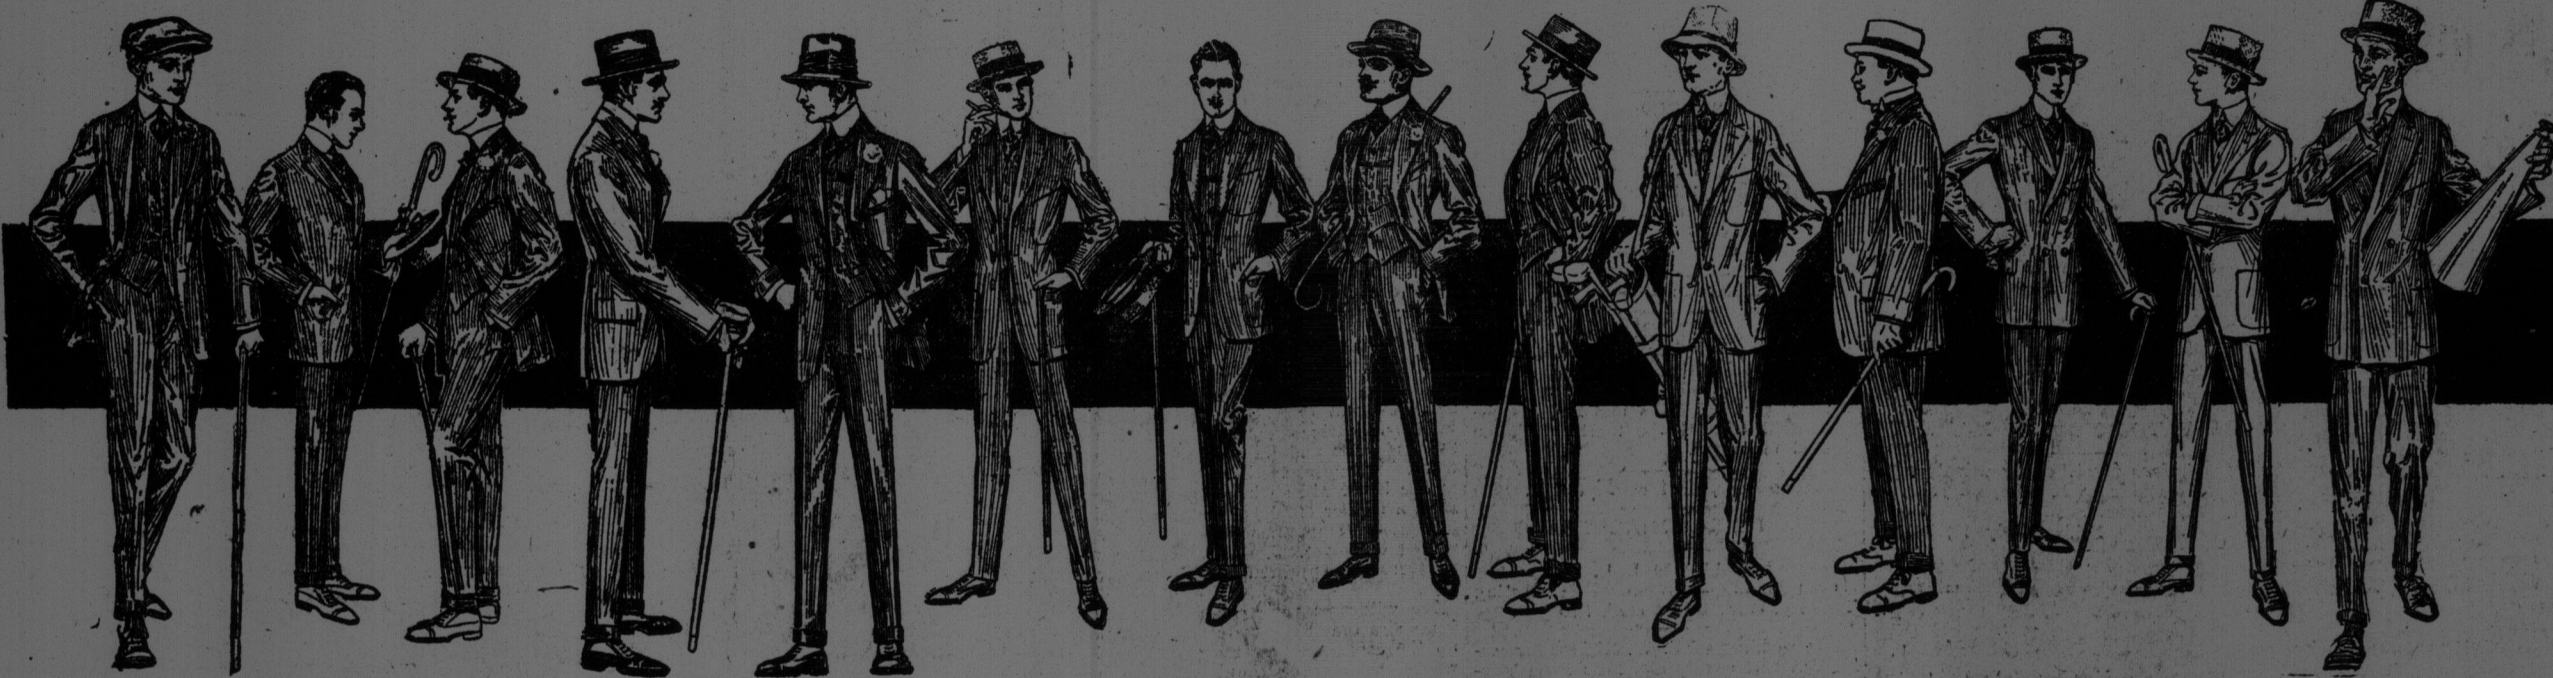

Your Investment is Protected
 Each director is placing practically all his fox investments in this enterprise and the directors have their interests so involved in this ranch that they cannot afford to let their interest and watchful care lapse for a moment. The best breeding stock has been secured and one of the strongest, safest and most convenient ranches yet established is being erected and equipped.

Directors ALL Reliable Men
 This is a most important feature when you consider that these are the men that you must look to for a square deal. Read the list over carefully and you will certainly conclude that an investment here is as safe with better prospects than money in the bank. This Company has only a limited amount of stock for sale. Secure yours today. This is a gilt-edge proposition.

 St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Company, Ltd.
 I hereby make application for shares of the capital stock of the St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Co. Ltd. (Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island) and enclose $5.00 per cent of total amount and agree to pay the balance on or before the 1st of August, 1914.

Four Thousand Gather In Sussex For Observance Of Anniversary of Boyne

Sussex, N. B., July 12.—There are more than 4,000 strangers in town for the Orange celebration. It is a fine clear day and the thermometer standing at seventy-two in the shade. Sussex has been captured by the spirit of Derry and the men of orange. Since early morning people have been pouring into town to join the New Brunswick Orangemen in their annual celebration of July 12. The morning dawned dark and overcast but the earlier visitors brought with them a large enough supply of umbrellas and raincoats to insure a few weeks' drought all over the Sussex valley. The earlier trains from Moncton and St. John brought crowds of visitors. At 10:30 o'clock the first of the special trains arrived from St. John bringing more than 400 persons. They were soon joined by large train loads of Orangemen and their friends from Westmorland and York county, and with the large crowd of visitors who have driven in from near places. It is estimated that there are more than 4,000 visitors in town.

PARADE LOOKED WELL; CIRCUS SAID TO BE WELL WORTH SEEING

This was the day of joy for the small boy! The visit of the Mighty Haug Railway Show to the city was the cause of his jubilation, but did it not also recall pleasant memories and awaken eager anticipation in the hearts of many grown-ups? The circus arrived early yesterday morning and was soon established in its big stretch, water-proof tents in the Marathon grounds, where it paraded through the city this morning in a long line as the usual procession of acrobats, equestrians, gymnasts, the funny clowns, imposing wagons, herculean animals and callions.

BRUTALITY BY THE OFFICERS

Further Reports of Inhumanity To Recruits in German Army—Light Punishment For Offenders

Berlin, July 12.—The unceasing criticism of press and parliament is slowly reducing the number of cases of treatment of soldiers by their officers, but a recent report shows that 400 non-commissioned officers and officers were convicted of such offences last year. This was a reduction of ninety cases from the figures of five years ago. These 400 convictions by no means indicate, however, that only that number of private soldiers were brutally handled during the year. A recent case, and one by no means unusual, was the conviction of a non-commissioned officer of the Third Bavarian Regiment, who was charged with no less than ninety offences against the men under him. One soldier was lamed by being struck on the kneecap with a gunbutt, and there were dozens of cases in which recruits were choked and struck in the face. It is not long since a captain was forced to leave the service after his third conviction for mistreating recruits. The charges against him covered brutal treatment in 140 cases. With all credit to the minister of war, it must nevertheless be said that sentences in the majority of these cases are extremely mild and in many cases are related to discourage brutal officers from a repetition of their offences. The non-commissioned officer just mentioned was sentenced to three months and 15 days' imprisonment and degraded. This is a really severe sentence, but it is at the same time a most unusual one. Not only is imprisonment for such a term rarely meted out, but degradation is still rarer. The following case is typical of the nearly ten cases occurring on an average each week. A non-commissioned officer of the Third Guard Field Artillery Regiment commanded a recruit to clean his harness. He was not satisfied with the recruit's work and started expressing his dissatisfaction by striking the man over the head with a bridle. He then forced him to march up and down in the stables and to do settling up exercises, including the fatiguing "knee-bend" until the recruit fell from exhaustion. He kicked him in the thigh and on the knees and otherwise maltreated him. The recruit

LOCAL NEWS

MOTOR PARTY: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kitchin, Walter Kitchin and Mrs. and Miss H. M. Hopper, formed a motor party to the city yesterday from Fredericton. They were registered at the Hotel Hotel. SANG YEPPERS: The Rev. Father of the Sacred Heart, who is stationed at St. Anne's College, was a guest at the Palace yesterday. He sang yeppers in the Cathedral last evening. PICNIC TOMORROW: Many people from St. John and other centres are planning on attending the picnic of the Sacred Heart Church at Norton, which is to be held there tomorrow. HARBOR SWIMMING: Fourteen dressing rooms have been provided on the small city scow for experienced swimmers and eight on the large open scow in which the children will be taught by the instructor, Jack Bedford. It is Commissioner Russell's intention to make further provision next year, but he is well satisfied with the start. NOT ON HIS PROPERTY: Thomas Waited, coal dealer of Brunswick street, called at The Times office this morning and gave denial to a published report that the shooting by which Special Officer O'Leary lost his life had been committed on his property. The Brennan family, Mr. Waited said, had never lived on his premises, and the shooting had taken place in the rear of 120 St. Patrick street, several doors from his place. EARLY CLOSING: It is believed by those prompting the movement towards earlier closing in the summer months in the North End stores that success will be met with in certain branches of the trade. One large grocery store has given instructions that it will close at six o'clock each evening except on Saturdays, when the closing hour will be 10 sharp. Now, with the close of the stores the closing hour is eleven o'clock, but there is strong opposition to it. A petition is to be circulated asking for earlier closing on Saturday nights, and with some branches of the trade so hour earlier each evening. TONIGHT'S BAND CONCERT: The programme for this evening's concert to be given by the St. John Brass Band is as follows: The New Annapolis—March—Taylor. Arcadia—Overture—A. M. Laurens. Moonlight on the Nile—Oriental Valse—R. I. King. W. M. B.—March—R. B. Hall. When the Moon Plays Peek-ah-Boo—W. R. Williams. Popular air with vocal chorus. S. E. A.—March—R. B. Hall. Sincerity—Selection—Geo. D. Barnard. Spring Bells—Waltz—Mackie-Beyer. Sweetheart Days—Serenade—J. Anton Bailey. God Save the King. The conductor is G. W. Stewart. ON THE RIVER: There were so many passengers on the Oromee this morning that all of them were unable to obtain seats. It was the biggest Monday morning's business of the season. Saturday evening was also the busiest evening at Public Landing. More than 200 people were present at the dancing pavilion. Yesterday was rainy until late in the afternoon, but the evening was fine and this morning on the river was delightful. Next Saturday evening a pie social will be held at the pavilion at Public Landing. Charles Millward, 28 and Frank Maguire, 14, were drowned on Sunday while bathing in a swimming hole near Sackville.

MILITANTS HAVE CAUSED LOSS OF NEARLY $2,000,000

London, July 12.—The Morning Post publishes statistics of the damage wrought by the militant suffragettes since the beginning of 1913. According to the Post the militants have set fire to 146 public buildings, churches, houses and other structures, and have exploded or attempted to explode forty-three bombs. The material damage is estimated at $1,920,000, excluding the damage to works of art, which cannot be measured. London, July 12.—Annie Bell who yesterday tried to destroy the church of St. John Brangellat, Westminster, was arraigned in the police court to day and said: "The only thing I regret is that the beastly thing did not go off." She expressed intense pride in her act. "I meant the bomb to go off," she said, "and blow up the church right enough." The prisoner then stretched her self at full length on a seat in the prisoner's enclosure and asked the woman warden to give her a pillow and wales her when the case had been concluded. "Goodby, you paid bully," was Miss Bell's farewell to the magistrate when he remanded her.
