FIGHTING VERY HEAVY; BRITISH HOLD BATTLE POSITIONS

Enemy Has Made Failure of First Part of Programme

British in Counter Attacks Win Back Some of the Positions Abandoned Temporarily

German Losses Very Heavy—Fighting Rages Until Late in Night With Charging Teutons Unable to Pierce the Khaki Lines—First of Wounded Reach London

London, Mar. 22.—The great battle on the western front continued until late last night, the war office reports. The British are holding the enemy. The statement follows: "Fighting continued until a late hour last night on the whole front between the River Oise and the River Senese. Our troops continue to hold the enemy in their battle positions."

"During the enemy's attacks yesterday his massed infantry offered remarkable targets to our rifles, machine guns and artillery, of which full advantage was taken by our troops. All the reports testify to the especially heavy losses suffered by the enemy."

"No serious attack has yet developed this morning, but heavy fighting is still to be expected."

FIRST ROUND IN ALLIES' FAVOR

London, Mar. 22.—The eagerly awaited British official statement of today, which was expected to give further details of the tremendous fighting indicated in last night's reports, was read with great satisfaction, insofar as it revealed that the enemy had been held and had suffered great losses.

"The preliminary round appears to have gone in favor of the Entente, although as the official reports point out, further heavy fighting is still to be expected. The tremendous artillery duel was based more distinctly than was in the case of last night's fighting, on the result of the violent counter-attacks."

ENEMY HAS FAILED BADLY

British Army Headquarters in France, Mar. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The fighting is still continuing, but the first stage of the offensive has passed. The enemy has failed badly in the execution of his programme, as is attested by captured documents showing what he planned to do in the early hours of his offensive.

Vigorous counter-attacks late yesterday restored some of the positions which the British had abandoned temporarily. The exact British line cannot be made public at present. The only reason is that it might furnish the enemy with valuable information.

Last night was fairly quiet along the front. This morning the Germans were bombing in the region of Croisilles. There were indications that they intended to continue their attacks today.

The weather is cold and black. A heavy mist makes a reconnaissance impossible. This is of advantage to the British, as the enemy is deprived of greatly needed aerial observation.

The Germans in many sections yesterday attacked in three waves of infantry, followed up by shock troops. As a result they have suffered very heavy casualties.

The heavily massed German artillery has been badly hammered by the British guns.

HEAR BERLIN

Berlin, Mar. 22, via London.—The British front line has been captured by German troops attacking from the south-east of Arras as far as La Fere, the war office announces. Heavy artillery fighting continues in Belgium and French Flanders. Reconnoitering detachments are said to have penetrated the opposing lines at many points. Ostend was bombarded from the sea.

TRIES TO RECOVER HINDENBURG LINE

London, Mar. 22.—It is not yet possible to give more than a very general and vague idea of the fighting on Thursday on the front between the Oise and the Senese, which continues with swaying fortunes, according to the accounts of correspondents at the British front in the morning newspapers.

The German attack made on the British front west and southwest of Cambrai evidently aims at recapturing all the Hindenburg line, says a despatch to the Morning Post from British headquarters in France, which adds:

"The German army attacking south of the Scarpe seems to have delivered its first blow principally in the triangle of the Arras-Cambrai and Bapaume-Cambrai roads, while the German army south of Cambrai is striking against our trench systems in the region west of the Scheldt Canal. No doubt the enemy hopes that the attacking forces of their two armies may succeed in forming a junction and cutting off a considerable

COAL ARRANGEMENTS WITH UNITED STATES

Washington, Mar. 22.—Permits for April, May and June have been issued by the fuel administration to a large number of coal operators for exports of coal to Canada. Canadian Fuel Controller Magrath has been given the privilege of calling upon the fuel administration to issue permits to any shippers who may apply to him.

The administration announcement says that allotments of coal to Canada during the last season were on the same basis as if Canada were one of the states of the union. In return, Canada furnishes coal to this country from mines of British Columbia.

SOME INTERESTING EVIDENCE

Captain Elkin Says There Was Practically No Rule in Old Commission—Steamship Captain on the Stand at Inquiry

H. E. Wandrop, common clerk, was the first witness called at this morning's session of the pilotage investigation at the board of inquiry. Mr. Wandrop explained that deeds to property on which government wharves were built were given to the Dominion government. All this property was originally owned by the city, having been granted by royal charter.

In answer to a question by Chairman Robb, Mr. Wandrop said he thought there was no law on the subject, through St. John harbor to Fredericton. Asked as to whether any old by-laws had defined the harbor limits there, he said that he knew of none, but that he would look, but did not think so.

The chairman said that it had been found the case in Halifax that old by-laws had defined the harbor limits there, but that he knew of none, but that he would look, but did not think so.

R. C. Elkin, a pilotage commissioner, said that the old commission was "run by one man who set on everything brought up and so nothing could be done." Mr. Elkin said that he knew of no misconduct on the part of St. John pilots. He said he was interested as to whether a pilotage commission had been set up in St. John, but that he had not been able to get information, although his schooner were small ones and were not regular traders. He offered paid $200 to $2,000 a year for pilotage dues. He did not know whether the captain could have passed a pilotage examination, but that he had never known of any pilotage examination in the harbor.

Q.—What is now the present commission? Do you think it has outrun its usefulness?
A.—It has all right.
Q.—Can you suggest any improvements?
A.—Well, it would take too long. Q.—Would it be better if the federal government took it over?
A.—Perhaps, but there are a great many other things, it appears to me. The chairman on the old commission seemed to have everything to say and crushed down anything suggested which he did not want. It seemed to me to be a case of a business man with the most friends got anything he wanted. Then, too, it seemed unfair that a small schooner should have to pay as much as an ocean liner, although the latter underwent far more risk and danger.

GERMAN COMMENT

Berlin Says it is "Single Combat Between England and Germany Which is to Decide the War"

London, Mar. 22.—"We are now engaged in a decisive battle for general peace," says the Tagliche Rundschau, of Berlin, according to an Exchange Telegram Company despatch from Copenhagen, in announcing that the commencement of the German offensive in the west is received with great satisfaction by the German people. The newspaper adds:

"A single combat between England and Germany which is to decide the war, one future position in the world and whether the Anglo-Saxons shall continue to press their will on the world, opened today."

KAISER ON WEST FRONT; BULGARS AND AUSTRIANS IN RANKS THERE

London, Mar. 22.—Emperor William Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Von Ludendorff have gone to the western front to witness the German attack, says an Exchange Telegram despatch from Copenhagen. The despatch reports Bulgarian and Austrian troops are now on the western front.

THE LATE J. W. MERRISSEAU

Services in connection with the funeral of the late J. W. Merrisseau took place last evening at his late residence, 290 Mill street. The services were conducted by Rev. D. J. MacPherson. The body was taken this morning to Fredericton Junction for interment.

Struggles for villages and ruined farm houses continued throughout the night, according to the correspondent of the Daily Mail. The enemy bombardment, he says, began at 5 o'clock in the morning and at 7 o'clock some of the German units left their trenches and attacked the British with heavy light machine guns. Between 9 and 10 the engagement became general on a front of some twenty-five miles.

The right of the German attack was aimed at Croisilles, Bulcourt and Lagnicourt, the correspondent says, and there was hard fighting in a brick field, while his left wing was pushed in the direction of Ronsey and Hargincourt.

Repeats Cambrai Move

The British front in the area of attack forms a rather sharp salient. If the enemy could pinch off this salient and run his line straight in a northwesterly slant instead of having it run on an angle first north and then west, he would be able to hold it with fewer troops. Also in pinching it off he would hope to surround and capture a good number of British troops. These, if sent to the front, would be a great help to the British.

STEADY FIGHTING ON FRENCH FRONT

Paris, Mar. 21.—(Thursday)—The Germans are carrying out a heavy bombardment along several sectors of the front, it is announced officially. Their infantry attacks near Hurlus were broken up by the fire of our troops. The statement follows:

"During the day the German artillery kept up a very violent bombardment between the Miette and the Aisne, in the whole Rheims region and on the Champagne front, especially between the region of the heights and Ville-Sur-Tourbe. Our batteries everywhere replied energetically.

"In the sector of Hurlus the Germans made three successive attacks. They were either dispersed by our fire or driven back by our counter-attacks. East of Hurlus the German raids were completely checked. Our artillery took up one of our dispersed enemy columns which were advancing in the region

DISCUSS WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

Large Delegation Before Government in Fredericton—G. H. Green is in Capital on Matter of Teachers' Pay Under One-Session Plan

(Special to Times)

Fredericton, N. B., Mar. 22.—A large delegation, representing various employers' liability insurance companies and large employers of labor in the province, waited upon the premier and members of the government this morning to discuss the proposed Workmen's Compensation Act. The delegation included J. Allen, manager of the Employers' Liability Co.; F. F. Parkin, manager of Travellers' Insurance Co.; E. Boden, manager of the Accident Insurance Co. of Montreal; W. E. Anderson and W. A. Lockhart, St. John, for the provincial insurance interests; J. Fraser Gregory, Charles Coster of T. McAvity and Sons, Ltd., and A. D. Ganong, St. Stephen, on behalf of employers of labor; J. B. Cadlip, L. W. Simms and J. L. Suggs, members of the compensation act commission, also were present.

The delegation asked that the government give careful consideration to the provisions authorizing the province to take over the liability insurance business. They suggested instead that the commission should fix the rates, adjust the claims, make the payments and exercise general supervision over the workmen's compensation act, but that the employers should be left free to place their insurance with companies instead of having the province assume the entire liability. The system they recommended is practically the one in Manitoba. They also urged delay so that the report of the first year's operations in Nova Scotia might be made available to the province here could be received and also until the government could secure the report of a royal commission now investigating the operations of the insurance act in another province.

LIQUOR MATTERS IN THE SUPREME COURT HERE TODAY

Arguments in Cases in Which Decision of Police Magistrate is Contested

In the Supreme Court Chambers this morning before His Honor Chief Justice McKeown, argument was commenced in the cases of the King vs. Robert J. Ritchie ex parte Galbraith and the King vs. Robert J. Ritchie ex parte Kelly. The cases are brought before His Honor on certiorari, sought for by the defendants contending that Magistrate Ritchie had exceeded his jurisdiction in imposing a penalty of $200 on charges of having imported liquor into the province.

The defendant counsel contended that the penalty for the first offence of importation is not less than $100 and the words not less could not be construed to mean more than $100. Both defendants had been previously convicted by the magistrate on charges of having the same liquor which they were charged with importing, in their possession other than in their private residences.

At the hearing this morning Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., appeared in behalf of the attorney general to oppose the application, and Magistrate Ritchie was also present in support of his finding. W. M. Ryan appeared in behalf of Galbraith, and George H. V. Belyea on behalf of Kelly. Doctor W. B. Wallace opposed the application on several grounds. He took a technical objection to the effect that the affidavit on which the order of certiorari was granted was wrongly entitled, in as much as it was entitled in the "Supreme Court." He contended the words "in the Supreme Court" should not have been used. He further argued that, in as much as the defendants had been previously convicted of offence under the Liquor License Act, that the charge of importing was really a second offence, and that the magistrate has jurisdiction to impose a penalty of $200 for a second offence. He also held that if the magistrate's finding was wrong, the court had the power to amend the same.

George H. V. Belyea was heard in reply on behalf of the defendant, Kelly. He held that even though the words "in the Supreme Court" were used in the affidavits, this was the same proceeding adopted in the habeas corpus matters, and that the use of the same would not deprive the defendants of the right of being heard on certiorari. He also contended that, in as much as the offence for which the defendant Kelly had previously been convicted was the same offence as a second offence, and that the magistrate has jurisdiction to impose a penalty of $200 for a second offence, and that the use of the same would not deprive the defendants of the right of being heard on certiorari. He also contended that, in as much as the offence for which the defendant Kelly had previously been convicted was the same offence as a second offence, and that the magistrate has jurisdiction to impose a penalty of $200 for a second offence, and that the use of the same would not deprive the defendants of the right of being heard on certiorari.

THE GREAT BATTLE

"Our troops continue to hold the enemy in their battle positions." This bulletin, received this morning, brings a great sense of relief. The German drive against the British lines was launched yesterday on so formidable a scale that the sound of the guns was heard at Dover. Following a terrific bombardment the enemy advanced in masses, and the battle raged all day and far into the night. If here and there the Germans pressed the British back for a short distance the gain was nowhere of material advantage. A Berlin newspaper says:—

"A single combat between England and Germany, which is to decide the war, our future position in the world and whether the Anglo-Saxon shall continue to press their will on the world, opened today." The magnitude of the battle is indicated by the news from London that long lines of ambulances, stretching away for four city blocks were waiting last night at Charing Cross station for the wounded. The most intense anxiety will prevail throughout the Empire, although confidence prevails that though the cost may be terrible the British lines will hold and the German hordes prevented from snatching the victory of which they have late so freely boasted. We may be thankful that Canada will not suffer the reproach that in the decisive hour her divisions were not up to strength. There is reason to believe that the heaviest fighting of the war has now begun.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

Dr. J. Roy Campbell, M. P., was much impressed by what he saw in Massachusetts, while there as a member of the New Brunswick committee on vocational training. He visited, among other places, a farm school in Essex county and a boys' trade school in Boston, conferred with the men at the head of these schools, and came away convinced that if the people of this province could see the practical work he witnessed, or even could hear the men with whom he talked, there would be a universal desire to do something here along vocational lines, to catch the boys from fourteen years up, who leave school with the capacity to become such producing factors and successful citizens as they ought to become.

Mr. Fletcher Peacock, who was with Dr. Campbell part of the time, went farther and attended at Philadelphia a national industrial conference where the leaders in vocational education in the United States and Canada met to discuss the whole subject. These men from Pennsylvania, New York, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and other states, and Ontario and other provinces, were not there to discuss the propriety of introducing vocational education. They had long since learned and proved its value, and met to compare notes as to the courses and methods likely to produce the best results. Mr. Peacock was able to visit a great trades school and the continuation schools of Philadelphia, and learn much that will be of the greatest value in connection with the work of the New Brunswick committee. The time has come when this province must do something to take better care of the boys and girls leaving school at too early an age, and to provide more vocational training for all pupils who are not going on through the high school to the college. Trades schools in cities and towns and more practical training in agriculture in rural districts are needed.

The committee sent out a large number of questionnaires to business and professional men in different parts of the province, and of the many replies only one objected to vocational training in the schools. All the others were heartily in its favor and made suggestions as to the lines along which it should be conducted. The investigation made by the committee shows not only the need of such a policy, but the fact that thoughtful people realize its great importance at this particular period in our history. Money wisely expended to provide the right kind of vocational education will yield returns of incalculable value to New Brunswick.

FARMERS IN POLITICS.

The part the farmer is likely to play in politics is an interesting subject of discussion at the present time. This relates especially to the west. The farmers are at present very strong in the parliament, but there are indications of a change. The Calgary Albertan directs attention to the fact that the new premier of Alberta, three members of his cabinet, and the leader of the opposition are all farmers, and that the premier of Manitoba is likewise a farmer. "As agriculture is the basic industry throughout Western Canada," it observes, "this is not surprising." More and more, our western contemporary is convinced, the farmer will take his part in making the nation's laws and tariffs. And these westerners, says the Toronto Globe, breathe the progressive spirit. They are ardent champions of public ownership, and intractable enemies of conditions which go to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. Commenting further, the Toronto daily adds:—

"The Albertan points out that in the legislatures of the western provinces the farmer is coming into his own, and intimates that, more and more, the men who are sent from the prairies to represent their fellow-citizens in the Dominion parliament will be men who are in direct touch with the basic industry of their provinces. The development of grain-growing and other agricultural organizations, with the increasing realization that land settlement and productive enterprise after the way is won will call for radical and important economic legislation and tariff relief, is prompting the western farmers to combine practical political education with their business organizations. This new force, not improbably destined to be a dominating force, will before long, find expression in parliament."

Nason, who was married in Devon a few months ago for the second time, believing that he had been divorced in Maine from the woman he had first married. Nervous Dyspepsia

Accompanied an Exhausted Condition of the Nervous System—Health Restored and Aged Mother Greatly Benefitted by the Food Cure.

Lequille, N. S., Feb. 28.—Nervous trouble is not confined to any age, and often people who look well are miserable on account of a feeble condition of the nerves. When Mr. Morse had been cured of Nervous Dyspepsia by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, he prevailed upon his aged mother to try out this great restorative treatment. Her experience was equally happy, and so the good word is passed along to others to put this food cure to the test. Mr. Judson H. Morse, Lequille, N. S., writes:—"I am glad to be able to say a few words in recommendation of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, because I have found it so very good for me and others. I came by my nervous trouble much by inheritance and through my work. In 1881 I was a nervous wreck, but the doctor and time put me on my feet again, so I got along quite well until five years ago. I got a gripe and put through an awful winter and summer, but a friend offered me some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Pills to try, and I found them to help me at once, so I have taken a number of boxes since that time and still find them good. Mother is in her 80th year, and has suffered a lot with neuralgia of the stomach and bowels, and was in a very bad state last summer, but I prevailed upon her to try the Nerve Food, and it helped her even in her advanced years. The doctor called my trouble Nervous Dyspepsia. I know of many who have taken the Nerve Food with good results. Mother thinks your Ointment excellent also." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmansson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. How Germany Devours The Little Nations

While his Turkish partner turns again to the wholesale murder of Armenians, the Kaiser, contemplating with satisfaction the heavy bag of little nations that is the reward of his sportsmanlike prowess, permits himself to "live again one of those great moments in which we can reverently admire God's hand in history." Moreover, "with gratitude toward God" in his heart, he faces the future "firmly trusting in the sword." The phrase, "no annexations and no indemnities" was still on its lips when Germany closed its mailed fist over Russia's Baltic provinces, Finland, Poland, the Ukraine, and Roumania, and now the same clutching menace seems to be moving toward Sweden, Norway, and Denmark. But—will Germany be able to digest what she is devouring?

"The Digest"—For People Who Are Not Afraid of the Truth

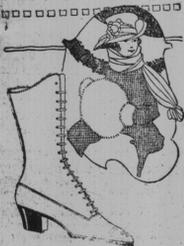

Never before, perhaps, in the history of the world has it been more difficult to arrive at the actual truth regarding the tremendous events that are occurring from week to week. Empires are falling, huge tracts of territory are changing hands, and the political complexion of States is being completely altered epoch-making occurrences in a vital necessity for every one of us, yet there are innumerable influences, both domestic and foreign, that tend to keep the issues clouded and the exact developments in doubt. To obtain the truth you must find a news-magazine that gives you the facts impartially, from policy but to state conditions as they are, without gloss or concealment, and that leaves your judgment absolutely unfettered. Such a magazine is THE LITERARY DIGEST. You need it.

EASTER MESSAGE FROM THE POPE TO UNITED STATES; PLEA FOR LASTING PEACE

Rome, Mar. 21.—A plea for lasting peace is made by Pope Benedict in an Easter message to the United States, which he sends through the Associated Press. The Holy Father's message says: "The first message of the Risen Saviour to His disciples, after suffering the torture of Passion Week, was 'Peace be unto you.' Never has the world for which He sacrificed Himself needed so poignantly that message of peace as today. "On this solemn occasion no better wish can be made to the country so dear to our hearts than that the Divine Redeemer may grant a realization of the desire of all, that is, a healing of the

Canada's War Parliament

Ottawa, March 21.—At the opening of the night sitting the house went into committee on a resolution proposed by Dr. Reid that parliament ratify an agreement between the government and the Van Buren Bridge Company for a lease of a section of the Bangor & Aroostook railway in the parish of St. Leonard's (N. B.).

Dr. Reid explained that the piece of road which it was proposed to lease ran between the International railway and the National Transcontinental railway. It was about two miles in length. By leasing this small portion of line the government could do away with one railway station, thus saving a considerable amount of expense.

The house, in committee of the whole, then took up a resolution of the minister of marine and fisheries providing that the government-in-council be authorized to pay to the corporation of the harbor commissioners of Montreal such sums as are required to pay off debentures of the corporation valued at $800,000, maturing this year.

A resolution authorizing the government-in-council to make regulations prohibiting the importation or exportation of goods of any class produced or manufactured in whole or in part in any country or place specified in the regulation for three years after the termination of the war was introduced by Sir George Foster and considered by the house in committee of the whole.

Sir Robert Borden, in the absence of the minister of trade and commerce, stated that the resolution was introduced for the purpose of founding a bill, and that a full explanation would be given by Sir George Foster on the second reading of the bill.

J. H. Sinclair objected to any legislation which gave up the full power of the government for three years after the war, could understand such legislation being necessary during the period of the war.

S. E. Elkin (St. John) thought the resolution rather bold.

Magdalen Islands Service. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux drew the attention of the house to the inadequacy of the steamship service between Pictou and the Magdalen Islands and also between Montreal, Quebec and the various harbors of Gaspé.

The fishing industry of the coast of Gaspé, said Mr. Lemieux, was suffering because of a lack of steamship transportation and American fishermen were reaping the benefits which should come to Canadians. Mr. Lemieux suggested that the Sydney he put on the Magdalen Islands route, and the steamer Estrovas be used on the St. Lawrence.

Sir George Foster, in replying to Mr. Lemieux, stated that it was exceedingly difficult to get steamers for these services. The war had added to the difficulty of his department and the department of marine and fisheries, in their effort to keep these services open.

Mr. Lemieux, in moving for the production of all letters and telegrams which have passed between Mr. Henry Tucker, K. C., the prime minister, the department of militia and the officers of the patriotic fund concerning the claim of Mrs. Antoinette Zwingle, of Montreal, received very unfair treatment.

Major-General Newburn remarked that the separation branch had caused more anxiety than any other branch of the militia department. It had to deal with approximately 300,000 cases. Mistakes had been made and since he assumed office he had begun a re-organization of the case cited by Mr. Lemieux.

Mr. Power, (Quebec South) quoted the statement of a returned soldier who stated that proper accommodation was not provided on Atlantic transports for soldiers brought back from overseas.

Major-General Newburn replied that the berthing and arrangements on transports for returned soldiers were made overseas. Three or four weeks ago an officer was sent overseas to take up with the overseas authorities the question of berthing and accommodation.

"If any complaints," Major-General Newburn went on, "are to be made, they should be investigated. If I should have to stop and pay attention to anonymous correspondence, no work would ever be accomplished. I should be glad to have the complaint taken up if the sergeant will submit it in writing."

The motion was carried, without a division, and the house went into committee of the whole on Sir Robert Borden's resolution providing salaries for the secretary of state for external affairs, the minister of immigration and colonization, and the minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment.

Moscow, Wednesday, March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Red Guards and revolutionary troops have recaptured Biagovistchensk, after a battle with the Cossacks. They have restored the soviet authority, as well as order in the town.

Recent despatches said that the Siberian Bolsheviks had murdered a number of Japanese at Biagovistchensk, which lies 500 miles north of Harbin. The Bolshevik leaders, including the president of the local soviet, later were arrested and imprisoned by Cossacks and volunteer militia. The Red Guards and sailors in the city were disbanded.

FRESH COMPLAINTS AS TO TRANSPORT OF RETURNED MEN

Great Difficulties Attend Sudden Movement of Large Numbers

FAMILIES SEPARATED ON RECENT VOYAGE

Investigation Promised as to Handling of Passengers on Steamers Recently Arriving at St. John and Halifax—Conditions in England Described.

Ottawa, Ont., March 21.—The following statement with regard to the transportation of Canadian soldiers and civilians from England to Canada was made today by a high official of the militia department who has had experience in this direction. It is of particular interest, in view of the inquiry which is being held by the militia department based upon charges that Canadian soldiers were ill-treated while on transports coming to Canada.

The transportation of Canadian soldiers and civilians from England to Canada has undergone a sudden expansion in the last few weeks. Furloughs have been given to the "Original Firsts", a general policy of returning from England troops unfit for general service has been embarked upon suddenly; and it has been decided to repatriate a large number of Canadian women and children hitherto in England. Thus the volume of governmental passenger traffic westwards across the Atlantic has grown suddenly and heavily. This increase has come at a time when the Germans are waging a persistent submarine warfare which has two principle effects, it has reduced the amount of shipping available so as to make it hard to supply vessels, and also to make the arrangements for procuring these vessels difficult and it has made it necessary to protect the ships while in transit.

Recent Complaints.

This expansion, with its attendant perplexities and annoyances happens to coincide with an investigation into the conditions under which returned soldiers have been travelling back to Canada. The situation is that the authorities on the one hand have an unusually heavy task to accomplish, and on the other hand are determined to see that these inevitable difficulties shall not be allowed to cause hardships to the men who have defended Canada and the empire on the field of battle.

A very recent case illustrates the situation. Five vessels recently arrived in Canada, carrying both military and civilian passengers.

Reports have reached militia headquarters that the conditions under which such embarkation was effected were, in many respects, unsatisfactory. Inquiry will be made. It also is known, however, that the problems at the authorities in England by the embarkation was different. First, the time at the disposal of the authorities was very short and whatever was done had to be done at top speed. Secondly, as both civilian and military passengers had to be embarked, different sets of authorities were concerned, and had to take action. The military authorities were anxious, for excellent reasons, to transport all troops bound for the same part of Canada, such as the western provinces, on the same vessel, which would greatly facilitate railway transportation from the point of disembarkation. The arrangements for this were duly effected. But there was not sufficient time to make similar arrangements for the civilians, who naturally were not organized with the completeness of a military unit and some of the civilian passengers were the wives and children of soldiers. Thus cases occurred of the husband or father being on one ship and his family on another. After embarkation was completed, efforts were made, with some success, to transfer civilians from one ship to another in order to re-unite families.

Still in some cases this was not managed, and distress and anxiety resulted. As far as the militia department has been able to learn, the authorities in England responsible for these matters did their very best in difficult places and in the short time at their disposal. The whole affair will be investigated. Conditions in England.

"The foregoing is a specific example of the troubles which arise. There are other conditions which must be described in more general terms. Local conditions in England are acute. There are, for example, delays in railway traffic and a shortage of dock labor.

The waters about England constitute the submarine zone. Naval escorts are necessary. These escorts may be called by the enemy or they may be furnished suddenly and unexpectedly. Thus delay, uncertainty and haste cannot be helped. Secrecy also is necessary. The names of ships about to sail, the hour and day of their departure, the time of their arrival, all are deadly secrets, for which enemy spies continually are searching. Orders and instructions cannot be freely issued and distributed; they are known to but few. This means that it is hard to work out pre-concerted, co-ordinated arrangements. Some hardships are to be expected in making the voyage, but the military is doing all it can to help matters.

The foregoing evidently refers, as the specific illustration, to the steamers recently arriving at St. John and Halifax. On that occasion many passengers having tickets to Halifax were placed on the boat coming to St. John and, in order to reach Halifax, were obliged to buy railroad tickets, a proceeding against which they complained somewhat bitterly.

GERMAN THREAT OF WAR ON HOLLAND

Washington Believes Unrestricted Submarine Warfare Will be Extended to Dutch Zone

London, Mar. 22.—Despatches from The Hague report that a local news agency says that Germany considers her relations with Holland altered by the attitude of the Dutch government toward the Entente and the United States, and publishes a report that the abandonment by the Dutch government of the remaining restrictive clauses in its shipping loan terms would be regarded by Germany as cause for war.

Washington, Mar. 22.—Although officials declined last night to put any definite interpretation on despatches from The Hague, purporting to outline Germany's attitude toward Holland, it was pointed out that the Dutch government under German threat had rejected the British-American shipping demands. The belief was general here, however, that the requisitioning of Dutch ships in American and British waters would result in German reprisals upon Holland, and that unrestricted submarine warfare would be extended to the Dutch zone.

No Golf for Matty. Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 20—Sundry golf challenges are awaiting Manager Christy Mathewson, of the Reds, in camp here, but he didn't bring his clubs along. "I have come down," he said, "for baseball purpose only, and shall do nothing else in the way of pastime." He will have plenty of diversion though around the camp, and various army regiments are striving for every moment of his leisure time. Indians May Lose Chapman. Cleveland, Mar. 19—The Cleveland Indians may lose their star shortstop, Ray Chapman, in the next army draft. Chapman has been placed in Class 1A. As there are 716 men called for examination in his district and Chapman's number is 300, his chances for being called into the National Army are about even. Chapman is one of the best shortstops in the game. He led the American League in base running last year, in spite of the fact that he broke his leg in 1916. In the event of his loss the Clevelanders would be badly crippled in the infield. Coombs Will Retire. Hot Springs, Ark., Mar. 19—Jack Coombs, who has just reported to the Brooklyn club, said today that the coming season would be his last in baseball. "I have decided to retire from the game at the close of the present season when my contract with the Brooklyn club expires," he asserted. Coombs gave as his reason for quitting the game the necessity of giving personal attention to several big interests in Palestine, Texas. He has a general merchandise store and is also interested in two banks. These interests will require his attention. Coombs said he realized he is reaching the end of his baseball career as an active player, calling attention to last season, which was a bad one for him. While he won seven and lost eleven games, he is being counted on as one of the regulars for the coming season. He is a graduate of Colby University.

EBELL. Rudolph Balks at Salary. New York, Mar. 21—President Percy Wilson of the Boston Braves was this week on the double mission of firing pitcher Dick Rudolph to terms talking over the interrupted Herzog contract with President Hempstead of the Red Sox, who was one of the best salaried players on the Boston team, was asked to accept a big cut in salary this season, but after having a year contract for a high salary in the Gaffney regime, Dick refused. It is understood that Haughton offered the pitcher a conditional contract for a salary of $5,000 if he turned in ten victories, but this does not quite satisfy Rudolph, and he has not yet given answer to the proposition. President Hempstead said that the Sox trade would be entirely with that, and until he makes a move for the trade of Jess Barnes and Cy Doyle is still in doubt. Alexander Signs. Pasadena, Cal., Mar. 19—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the Philadelphia pitcher, who has been holding out for a salary of $10,000 from the Chicago National League team, signed his contract today. The terms were not given.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART AND NERVE TROUBLES WERE CURED BY Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills When the heart begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm and the least exertion or exertion seems to affect it. Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable through this unnatural action of the heart. To all sufferers from heart troubles we would advise the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which by their action in strengthening the heart and regulating the beat remove all the distressing conditions and impart vigor and vitality to the system. Mrs. Thomas Davidson, Mount Brydges, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer in the past with nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart. I tried several remedies, but without any good results. My son came in one day and advised me to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. After using one and a half boxes, I am fully recovered, and am in a perfect state of health, thanks to your valuable medicine." AGREE WITH PLAN OF PILOT MCKELVEY

Q.—Was this ever brought up before the commission in your time?
A.—Yes, but it seemed that all suggestions of the sort had been scheduled for quashing and nothing was ever done in the matter. The whole unfairness of the scheme was shown in a petition to the government, but the government took no action.
Chairman.—But the government would hardly override the commission in the matter.
A.—Well, they could if they wanted to.
Chairman.—I don't think so.
There was some discussion here as to the government's powers in the case.
Mr. Elkin was of the opinion that small coasting vessels should be allowed to come in and out without pilotage charge.
Q.—You know that even now pilotage is not compulsory?
A.—Yes. But what is the use of paying for a pilot and then doing without one?
Q.—But you can have one if you want one.
A.—Yes, but there would probably not be one to be found.
Q.—How would you get over that?
A.—Have a station for pilots.
Chairman.—Exactly.

Letter from Pilot

Pilot McKelvey handed the commission a letter signed by himself and the other pilots asking that a station be used as a pilot and life-saving station should be built on Partridge Island. This was formerly recommended by the commission.

Captain Isaac Evans, master of an ocean liner now in port, was called to the stand. He said that there was some uncertainty as to where to pick up the pilot in entering St. John. Sometimes the ship reached the ship fifteen miles down the bay and sometimes not until they arrived at the island. In the latter case he did not know whether he paid for pilotage in the two districts through which he steamed without pilotage. When he had been shown the suggested plan of pilot concentration, he expressed his opinion that there would be a far better chance of picking up a pilot than under the present system.

The matter of closing the west channel from the beacon breakwater to Partridge Island came up, and Captain Evans thought the scheme a very good one. Pilot McKelvey also made the suggestion that some time it would be necessary to build a breakwater along the present bar running eastward from the island. All these schemes, according to Captain Evans' opinion, would be decidedly advantageous to the West Side wharves.

Asked as regards the proper radius of operation for pilot boats, the witness said it should be between ten and fifteen miles. Captain Evans said he had on very few occasions found any trouble with the pilots. On each such occasion, he said, there had been satisfactory results.

Q.—Then you have no objection to the proposed amalgamation of pilots and establishment of a station?
A.—No.
Q.—Of course it would limit the area of pilotage operations.
A.—Yes, but not in a way to do any harm.

Other Captains

The next witness called was Captain Everett, master of a merchant steamer. He said that although practically a stranger here, he had usually found the aids to navigation satisfactory. From experience he had not known that there were any outer stations, as he had picked up his pilots just off the island. While passing through the two districts he had sighted no signal lights. Nevertheless, he said, he had been forced to pay full pilotage. He heartily approved of the commission's plan for making one station eight miles below the island. He said that he would not suggest that anyone, except a native of St. John, should attempt to bring a vessel in the harbor. Captain Everett said he preferred the station proposed by Pilot McKelvey, farther inshore than that proposed by Captain Bennett by two or three miles.

Captain E. R. Coffin, pilot for the R. M. S. P. Line to Bermuda and the West Indies, was then called to the stand. He expressed approval of the proposed station below the island for picking up pilots. He also thought Pilot McKelvey's suggestion the better one.

Captain Coffin thought that he would be able to bring a vessel into port himself if necessary. Asked whether it would be any advantage to his owners if he could apply for a pilot license himself, he thought it would.

Commissioner Russell.

Commissioner V. Russell was then sworn. He said that as yet the naval authorities did not have charge of the harbor, which was the business of the harbor-master. At Commissioner Russell's suggestion, Chairman Robb said that the harbor-master would be put on the stand this afternoon. The chairman said that there would be several recommendations made by the commission which would be beneficial to all concerned. Commissioner Russell said that he would have no objection to the government's taking over the pilot system here.

Captain G. C. Evans of a large steamer in this port, said that he had

IN HONOR OF SOLDIERS

Wm. Chas. Archibald, landscape architect and nurseryman of Wolfville, N. S., is a visitor in the city. Last evening he extended invitations to return the traditions of their forefathers by deeds of valor on the battlefields of Europe and incidentally in honor of his son, who is in France as a member of No. 5 Siege Battery. The latter was a graduate from Acadia University in Wolfville and was a student in McGill University when he enlisted with a medical corps and crossed overseas.

Mr. Archibald gave an eloquent address to the assemblage in which he pointed out that the gathering was for two purposes, to honor the 5th Battery overseas and the wounded men who have returned after upholding the traditions of their forefathers by deeds of valor on the blood-stained fields of France. He said how the war had deeply stirred both the principles of right and defense of our loved ones. He pointed out that it was not what men said but what they did that counts. In conclusion, Mr. Archibald gave a sketch of the life of his son and told of his youthful hobbies as a small boy and later his life as a student. His remarks called forth hearty applause.

Addresses were also given by F. J. Dykeman, whose son recently returned from overseas and by others present, after which a pleasing programme of musical numbers was carried out. Refreshments were then served and the gathering broke up after singing some patriotic numbers.

always found the pilot service at this port satisfactory. The witness concurred with Pilot McKelvey's suggestion for a pilot station eight miles from Partridge Island. He said that the usual steam pilot boats had a speed of about twelve knots an hour and accommodation for about fifty pilots in addition to the crew.

Captain John Hall, master of another steamer in port, expressed his disapproval of the present system and thought that it would facilitate matters to have a steam pilot cruising at the station proposed by Pilot McKelvey. He said that he had no difficulty with the marine bell or other aids to navigation and had never had any undue anxiety in regard to soundings.

Pilot Doherty objected to the suggestion of exempting schooners, as in the summer months it was about 100 that had to live on. Pilots could not afford to run their vessels under the proposed conditions. When explained by Chairman Robb that the government would provide a steamboat and pay a salary, however, he was of the opinion that matters would be greatly ameliorated. Several other pilots present expressed the same opinion.

The commission adjourned until this afternoon at 2.30.

At yesterday afternoon's session five witnesses called by the commission expressed approval of a proposed scheme for centring all pilot boats at a point about eight miles below Partridge Island and having a general union of piloting interests in order to do away with harmful competition. The witnesses were: Pilot Jas. Bennett, D. W. Ledingham of William Thomson & Co, Pilot James Miller, Captain Amos, Ag and J. C. Cheley of the marine and lighthouse department.
