KERRIGANS FAILED TO TURN UP IN COURT TODAY.

Judge Forbes Was Naturally
Indignant When the Hearing
Had to be Adjourned Until
This Afternoon.

John and James Kerrigan, the two Carleton men charged with aggravated assault, are giving the county court considerable trouble and may find themselves in a greater difficulty if they prolonged the proceedings.

A few weeks ago the Kerrigans while sailing up the harbor had an altercation with two young fishermen named Christopher and these young men claimed that the schooner men endangered their lives and that John Kerrigan threw an iron belaying pin which broke through the plank of the fishing boat. They had hard work to keep their boat from sinking. James Kerrigan, they say, also threw pieces of iron at them and used threatening language.

The Kerrigans were committed for trial and allowed bail. Yesterday the grand jury brought in a true bill against them, but the defendants were not present in court to be tried and the case was set down for ten o'clock this morning. When Judge Forbes opened the court today he was not at all pleased when he learned that the two men had not put in an appearance.

Daniel Miller, K. C., who appears for the defense said he expected that his clients would be present and asked for an adjournment of the case until this afternoon.

Judge Forbes said it was a nice state of affairs that these men were not in court to answer to the charge. He spoke of the expense that would go on the country and themselves for putting in an appearance. There were no other cases ready to be taken up and he reluctantly adjourned the court until 2:30 o'clock and said if the Kerrigans did not put in an appearance the law would take its course.

HOTELS ARE FULL.

A Large Party of Tourists Unable to Find
Accommodation Last Evening.

That St. John has not too many hotels can easily be seen when hundreds of tourists have failed to get accommodation this week. On Monday the American boat arrived and brought about four hundred passengers. The Prince Rupert also landed about 200 tourists. These went to the different hotels, and out of the six hundred only about three hundred could get sleeping accommodation.

Those who did not get left on the train for other points, and St. John was minus three hundred visitors in the morning.

A well known hotel man said this morning that since Monday he has been putting tourists in the parlors and halls, and over twenty cots have been engaged. Every hotel is filled, and the tourists who come to the city today will experience some difficulty in getting accommodation.

The hotel man was asked if it would be a paying proposition to build a large tourist hotel here. He replied that he thought it would not. The house would probably be full all through the summer but in the winter it would be empty.

"The few hotels here now," said he, "find it hard scratching sometimes to get through the winter months."

HIS RELATIVES ARE STILL UNDER SANDFORD'S CONTROL.

C. F. Dunlop Was Here Again Looking for
His Son and Grandson, Who are
With the Holy Ghosts.

C. French Dunlop, an insurance agent of Portland, Me., arrived in the city on Monday night. He registered at the Clifton House. Mr. Dunlop was here in search of some of the "Holy Ghosts," who he had heard were wandering their way towards St. John. Mr. Dunlop has a son and grandson in Sandford's band of pilgrims, and it is his wish to separate them from what he calls "the foolish religion." Mr. Dunlop made inquiries in the city and found that "Holy Ghosts" were not here. He returned to Portland last evening. About a year ago Mr. Dunlop visited the city and told the Sun of his fight with Sandford for the care of his grandson.

Mr. Dunlop's sole desire is to take his relatives from the church, and he speaks in strong terms against Sandford and his followers. When in St. John a year ago Mr. Dunlop stated that he had a son and grandson in the church, and that before long he would have them clear of that religion. Evidently his plans met with failure, as the two are still followers of Sandford.

JESUIT ELECTION.

BLUE OUTLOOK FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Prof. Kierstead Thinks the Prospect is Not Bright.

Home From His Western Trip He Talks of Conditions as He Found Them.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Kierstead, formerly professor of English at Acadia College, but now of a Toronto university, is in the city. Dr. Kierstead has just returned from an extended trip through the west. During his stay he visited San Francisco and other of the cities on the Pacific coast including Vancouver, where he spent several weeks the guest of his daughter Mrs. J. W. deB. Faris.

In conversation with the Star Prof. Kierstead stated that while San Francisco was starting to build up some, yet the work was commencing very slowly. "The people seem dead and act as if they had a paralytic stroke," said Dr. Kierstead. "However," he said, "a number of buildings are being begun and a large number of men are flocking into the city. The great trouble is to get men to work for reasonable wages as nearly all kinds of laborers get at least five dollars per day, and then they are not satisfied. Men who get five dollars a day are striking for six dollars, and those who are getting six or seven dollars are striking for an increase in proportion to their present rate."

"With all these troubles," said Dr. Kierstead, "the prospect for San Francisco is very blue."

While staying in San Francisco Dr. Kierstead was the guest of his nephew, Fred M. Fenwick, formerly of Kings county, but now of the Hammond Lumber Co. of San Francisco. This company, said Dr. Kierstead, had all its offices destroyed by the earthquake and they now have temporary offices in a private house which cost $150,000. He said that he also saw Geo. B. McLeod, a son of Howard D. McLeod of this city, who is in the same company. Dr. Kierstead, Dr. Kierstead leaves tonight for Dartmouth, N. S., where he will spend a few days before returning to Toronto.

MR. LYNCH SAYS COLLINS
HAD A LADY'S GOLD WATCH

Sheriff Lynds and Father McAlvay Had Not Arrived at Noon.

Collins, the suspected murderer of Miss McAlvay, is resting quietly at central police station. He feels quite easy over the case, and still asserts that he is innocent of the murder. He eats jail fare with an apparent relish and enjoys the cigarettes given him by the policemen. Up till one o'clock Attorney General Pugsley had received no tidings of the arrival of Sheriff Lynds and of Albert G. Father McAlvay, who are coming here to identify the prisoner.

The chief of police says that they expected tonight, and after Father McAlvay identifies Collins the sheriff from Albert will take the prisoner to trial.

Last evening a man named Lynch went to central station and identified Collins as the man who he met at Spruce Lake on Tuesday night, a week ago. He says that Collins at that time had two watches, one silver and the other a lady's gold watch with initials engraved on the back of it. It is not yet known what has become of the gold watch, but it is believed that Collins threw it away when he learned the police were after him.

AMERICAN TOURISTS ARE STRANDED IN PARIS.

Large Numbers, Having Spent All Their Money, are Begging Help on the Streets.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A London despatch to a morning paper says the Paris correspondent of the Express declares that an unprecedented number of Americans are stranded in Paris. The American Relief Society and Americans generally are overwhelmed with requests for help. Many are even begging in the streets. None of them speaks anything but English which makes matters worse. The relief society is sending as many as possible to London, including a Texan and his wife and child who made their living by still walking in England but were deprived of their suits by the French police.

Mrs. Teresa A. B. Gray, widow of George Gray, died at her home at Milford yesterday. Mrs. Gray was sixty-four years of age. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS
ELECTION TODAY.

An Interesting Session Held
This Forenoon.

Grand Lodge Rank Conferred on Several Candidates—Visitors are Well
Pleased With the Meeting.

This morning's session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, opened at 10:30 o'clock. There was a large attendance, and considerable business was transacted. The Grand Lodge rank was conferred on Murdoch McLeod of Empire Lodge, No. 19, and A. H. Nichol of Drummond Lodge, No. 28. It was decided to issue a charter to Collinwood Lodge, No. 28, of Perth. A lengthy discussion took place on what constituted good standing and eligibility. It was referred to a committee composed of W. C. H. Giesse, W. A. Stewart and A. H. Tingley. The chairman, H. L. Ginter, grand chancellor, called upon George W. Penman of Bruden, Mass., grand master at arms, who delivered a very interesting and instructive address. He spoke at some length on the possibility of placing the Pythian Review in the hands of all members. The meeting adjourned at 12:30 o'clock until 2:30 this afternoon, when the election of officers will probably take place. A number of the visiting Knights left for their homes last night, and the remainder will probably leave this evening and tomorrow morning. If the business can be completed this afternoon, the Grand Lodge meeting for 1908 will be over.

The visitors all express themselves as much pleased with their stay in this city, and have nothing but good words for the local Knights.

It was thought that competitive drill would have taken place today, but as none of the companies entered, this part of the programme has been cancelled.

HARVARD CREW ARE SHOWING UP WELL

It is Admitted That They Will be Strong
Competitors for Cambridge.

PUTNEY, England, Aug. 28.—The Harvard crew's performance yesterday has removed all doubts from the minds of English rowing men as to their staying powers. They never lost form, every man staying to the finish, when all sat up, looking capable of going still further. Morgan came out of the ordeal splendidly. Blackstaffe, Sullivan and others who watched the improvement in the crew since they left Bourne End and said they would be better had they come to Putney at the beginning, whilst it is universally admitted that they are a dangerous crew.

Vagrant Arrested on I. C. R. Train Was Sentenced Today.

MONCTON, N. B., Aug. 28.—The first man to be prosecuted by the I. C. R. in the police court this morning. He was Frank McCallan, hailing from New Brunswick, who was arrested on the I. C. R. depot last evening for stealing a ride on the train. He was brought before Magistrate Kay this morning and was fined twenty-five dollars or three months jail.

The Knights of Pythias, who were in St. John yesterday attending a grand lodge returned home this morning and report having had a splendid time in St. John.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—The fine weather which has favored the national lawn tennis championships this year continued today, when the challenge round was played between Benis C. Wright, of Boston, the present title holder, and Wm. J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, who yesterday won the all-comers tournament. It was Wright's first defense of the challenge cup, as well as the first time Clothier has reached the challenge round in the national tournament. The event proved so attractive that one of the largest crowds in years thronged to the Casino this morning.

TURKISH TROOPS SEIZE PERSIAN TERRITORY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 28.—The Persian ambassador here has been informed from Teheran that Turkish troops have occupied the Persian district of Margovar, comprising some twenty-five villages. The Turkish government denies the report, but the Persian ambassador has lodged an energetic protest with the Porte and has demanded the recall of the troops.

Wellman Waits
Until Next Year.

Mechanical Equipment is Not Satisfactory.

He Will Have a New Car Built in Paris and Will Start for the Pole
Next Summer.

HAMMERFEST, Norway, Aug. 28.—The following despatch was received here yesterday from Walter Wellman, leader of the Wellman Chicago Record-Herald Polar expedition at Spitzbergen:

"I have decided not to attempt a voyage northward in the air on account of defects in the mechanical equipment of my alrship. According to the announcement made last winter in anticipation of such possibilities the expedition will continue next year. My party is now completing a great balloon house and other features of the plant and making experiments with a view to the campaign of 1907. This year will be one of preparation and the next will be one of action. Our confidence of success in 1907 has been increased by the summer's work and by our weather observations. The motors work well and the balloon is in good condition, but the car and mechanical equipment will be entirely rebuilt in Paris during the winter. The expedition will arrive here next May and will find everything ready. This year the whole summer has been consumed in building the plant. I shall return to Europe the middle of September leaving a small party here to guard our headquarters."
(Signed), WELLMAN."

An Effort Being Made to Save the Philadelphia Bank.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—So great was the confidence reposed in Frank K. Hipple, late president of the real estate trust company, which was yesterday forced to the wall because of secret loans made to the bank of the Presbyterian church, that the institution was virtually the bank of the Presbyterian church, not only the general assembly, but even the smallest Sunday school organization and hundreds of individuals. With abiding faith in the integrity of the bank president, had entrusted their funds and savings to the institution.

"It almost destroys a person's faith in human nature," said H. P. Ford, private secretary to Dr. Alexander Henry, secretary of the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work of the Presbyterian church. As treasurer of the trustees of the general assembly, Mr. Hipple had control of over $1,000,000, and as treasurer of the permanent committee on home missions and sustentation, in the synod of Pennsylvania, he had control of over $1,000,000. He was a stockholder in several other large amounts of this company, other large amounts of his command." Hipple was not known to have been a stockholder in the company, but he was one of the many who lost heavily in Consolidated Lumber Co. stock several months ago. Real estate investments seem to have engaged his attention almost exclusively. This is borne out through his connections with Adolph Segal and the latter's enterprises.

Bankers believe that the Real Estate Trust Co. failure does not involve any other banking house in the city.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—A meeting is in progress at the office of a large national bank and it is stated that sufficient funds have been pledged to enable the Real Estate Trust Company to re-open its doors within forty-eight hours. As a preliminary to this the court will be petitioned to dismiss the temporary receivership.

CARDOSA WAS FOOLISH.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 28.—The federal forces commanded by General Rego yesterday presented an ultimatum to Fausto Cardoso, the chief of the revolutionists in the province of Sergipe to leave the government palace. Cardoso obeyed, but passing in front of the forces insulted General Rego and was killed.

Elected Officers This Forenoon—Other Grand Lodge
Appointments.

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter of New Brunswick Masonic Lodge met at eleven o'clock this morning, when W.
B. Wallace, H. F., delivered his address. In his address Mr. Wallace made reference to the flourishing condition of the order and spoke of the generous way in which the Masons had responded to the call of their brethren who were stricken in San Francisco. Mr. Wallace made a touching reference to the death of the deputy grand master, James D. Fowler, of Fredericton, and he recommended that a memorial page be set aside to his memory. He also spoke very highly of the late Robert Morrison, past high priest of the Sussex Chapter, No. 3. Mr. Wallace said that since the last meeting he had visited Carleton Chapter, No. 1; Fredericton Chapter, No. 2; Woodstock Chapter, No. 3; Sussex Chapter, No. 4; Union Chapter, No. 5; Mount Lebanon Chapter, No. 6 and St. Stephen Chapter, No. 7. CAMBRIDGE CREW
SLOWER THAN HARVARD

PUTNEY, Eng., Aug. 28.—On an ebb tide and against a slight head wind Cambridge did the full course this morning in 20 minutes 6 seconds. This is 21 seconds slower than Harvard's time yesterday evening. The Harvard men were somewhat favored by a following wind, but the Cambridge crew had the advantage of being paced during the last half by a Leander crew.

The Harvard men were only out for a quarter of an hour this morning but were mostly engaged in paddling.

And they had to do the same thing again this year, although the matter had been brought to the attention of the government officials without avail. For the past few federal officials have been involved in Alaska also had a part in determining the election.

SUPERIOR TO BARNUM'S CIRCUS.

St. John has had a visit from Barnum's great circus this summer and thousands enjoyed it immensely, but a still greater and more refined treat is in store for them next week. Elephants will trip the light fantastic to dainty orchestral music, monkeys will go automobile, parrots will extinguish a fire in a burning house, bears will act with almost human intelligence, humans will startle the people by their clever work and collectively a troupe of lower creatures will put on the greatest and highest quality of animal acts in showman today. The Hippodrome at the exhibition is going to contain an entertainment that is an exposition in itself, shows that spend the greater part of each year delighting New York, Philadelphia and Boston and other metropolitan audiences, as well as crowds in Europe.—Adv.

THEY DARED HIM.

(San Francisco Argonaut.)
William H. Crane, the actor, was recently asked how it was that he never attempted serious Shakespearean roles. "But I did once," replied the comedian. "Years ago, in the west, I played Hamlet."
"Did you, indeed?" said an enquirer and friend. "Didn't you have a great success? Didn't the audience call you before the curtain?"
"Call me," replied Crane. "Why, man, they dared me!"

THE POST OFFICE.

One cannot but admire the happy and care-free style noticeable among certain of the post office employees, and the almost total lack of regard displayed for the convenience of the public. The office and all things belonging thereto are supposed to exist for the benefit of taxpayers, yet there is ample room for improvement along many lines. For instance the mails are closed at unreasonable hours. As an example of this it might be noted that the train for Halifax leaves St. John at fifteen minutes before noon. At half past ten the mail is closed. An hour and a quarter is thus allowed for making up, when less time should be required. As a matter of fact the mail bags from the St. John office are often closed and ready for the train half an hour before the time of departure. This applies equally to other mails, and conditions would indicate that the arrangements are made to suit the convenience of the clerks rather than of the public. There is far too much delay in assisting the letters received in St. John. On an evening of last week when the mails from Point du Chene came in on time at five o'clock and from Halifax fifteen minutes later, the letters were not distributed until ten minutes after eight. Some time between seven and half past seven o'clock they were put through the first process—placed in pigeon holes according to alphabetical or other arrangement. Then there was a pause, and they remained undisturbed for about fifteen minutes. Finally a clerk leisurely took a handful and slipped them into their respective boxes, at the same time carrying on an engrossing conversation with another clerk. This method of work continued until the letters were distributed, perhaps three or four hundred in all, only three hours and ten minutes after they had arrived in St. John.

During the greater part of the evening the public portion of the post office was in darkness. Business men fumbled with their keys, inserted them in the wrong locks, and two at least, lighted matches to see where they were. At twenty minutes to eight a clerk, acting upon suggestion, turned on the lights.

MINISTERS' SALARIES.

The United Baptist convention has decided that six hundred dollars shall be the lowest salary paid to any minister of that denomination in the Maritime Provinces. This is a very fair resolution. The sum mentioned is scarcely more than a laborer earns, while it is much less than the average income of men in professions other than the ministry. But at the same time while a minimum salary is being fixed it might be just as well to establish a minimum standard of education and ability for the ministers. They do not as a rule lead a very strenuous life. In fact with the exception of some few who devotedly enter into the spirit of their work, their profession is a leisurely one. Without considering those who exceed what would ordinarily be regarded as their duty, ministers take life easily, enjoy numerous holidays, are almost absolutely their own masters, and are not often openly criticized. They do not have to bear any heavy expenses in keeping up with their profession, their expenditure for books being much less than that borne by doctors, engineers or lawyers. Their education is not as costly as in the other professions with the possible exception of the legal profession, and thus in view of the outlay, or capital expended, they should not expect equal earnings. Those ministers who struggle along all their lives on less than six hundred dollars salary are for the most part men who are not worth very much more. The able workers, the more cultured speakers, can command better positions, and have no ground for complaint. It is true that there are many mission stations where the people are poor and where a clergyman is afforded opportunity for good work, but these are also districts in which congregations are well able to pay but do not do so. They would undoubtedly contribute more generously if they felt that the minister was worth it. In law, medicine and in science it is always the best man who earns the highest pay, and the same should apply equally to the ministry. Let those young men who are taking up the work equip themselves as conscientiously and as thoroughly as is possible, and there will be less reason for complaint about small salaries. It is argued that no man can marry and bring up a family on less than six hundred dollars. The clergyman who would attempt to do so fails to realize the full meaning of his vows.

THE SONG OF THE SEARCH.

With garments crumpled and torn,
With her heart in a desperate mood,
A woman turned in unwomanly rage
Seeking a cooker of food
Search! search! search!
By subway, byrolley, in church,
Wherever she went, in dolorous voice
She sang the song of her search!

Search! search! search!
While the cock is crowing aloof!
And search! search! search!
For she has no cook, forsooth!
It's oh! for the days of slaves,
When ladies had never a dish to whisk,
And were waited on like a Turk!

Search! search! search!
Till your brain begins to swim!
Search! search! search!
Till you ache in every limb;
A cook who will wash, or who won't,
Or who condescends only to cook,
It is always the same old tiresome game
Which ever way you look!

With garments crumpled and torn,
With eyelids heavy and red,
She returns at night to a comfortable home
And tumbles, weary, to bed.

Search! search! search!
Next day it begins again!
And we fear it will be till eternity.
The burden of her refrain!

—Puck.

MISTOOK HER MEANING.

The new girl at the summer resort was letting her arm hand idly over the side of the boat and dipping her fairy fingers in the cool, rippling waters. "All this sort of thing is new to me," she said. "How do you do when you hook a big fish?"

Mr. Bilyuans (the millionaire)—I will give you my daughter, if you will promise to maintain her afterwards. Joseph A. Long.—Gracious! You talk as though you were giving away a free public library.

—SOFT SOAP.

"Why did you place such a tough fowl before me?" asked the indignant lady patron of the water in a restaurant. "Are before beauty, always, you know, madam," was the gallant reply. And then, woman-like, she smiled and murmured all without a murmur—

Guide (with calm superiority)—Of course he did. This wing was under der repairs then.—Gill Blas.

SOCIAL PREEMINENCE OF PEA RIDGES.

From the Edgefield (S. C.) Chronicle.
Mrs. Pod Ruggles, who lives down on Pea Ridge, has become quite a social lioness. She gave a sassafras tea and pigs' feet luncheon last night to the ladies of the Jockey Society, and she gave a swell affair. She wore her tailor made suit and benedicta, diamond carobs and presided with the grace of a queen. These Pea Ridge social functions are becoming much talked about in neighboring towns.

CHALLENGER MICMAC AT SYDNEY.

The yacht Micmac, owned by Mr. Carruth, of Haddock, which to race for the Coronation cup here on Saturday and Monday, arrived in port on Saturday night and anchored off the R. C. B. Y. C. club house. The Micmac is somewhat after the same design as Mr. Duggan's Yendys, but appears to have less water line, although her length is about the same. She is painted white and looks pretty trim, especially under canvas, her sails and hull being immaculately clean. The yacht flies the American flag at her stern, her owner, who is now here, belonging to Boston. Mr. Carruth's gasoline launch accompanied the Micmac from Boston and will remain here until after the completion of the races.—Sydney Record.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HAD

A VERY PLEASANT DAY.

The Excursion on the River and Last Evening's Banquet Were Most Enjoyable.

Shortly after the morning meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias yesterday, the annual meeting of the First Regiment, Uniform Rank, was held.

Col. F. P. Grimmer, of St. Stephen, presided. Those present were: Major J. P. Wry, of St. Stephen; Adjutant Alfred Dodge, Quartermaster F. A. Godose, Captain McLeod, of New Glasgow, and officers of the various companies.

Reports were read from the various officers, after which the meeting adjourned.

The members of the Uniform Rank then marched to King street, east, headed by the Artillery Band. There the Grand Chancellor inspected the parade.

After inspection the Knights marched to Indian town and boarded the May Queen. About five hundred enjoyed a sail up the river. The May Queen returned to Indian town at 6.45 p. m.

Last night a banquet was tendered the visitors, which proved to be a very enjoyable function. In the York Assembly rooms covers were laid for about 400 persons. Robert Maxwell, M. P. P., Chancellor Commanded of New Brunswick, No. 1, was chairman.

The first toast was to the King and the second to the President of the United States. They were responded to by Supreme Chancellor Shively, and supreme representatives, F. A. Godose and LeB. Wilson.

E. E. Thomas next gave a vocal solo, after which the toast to the Grand Lodge was proposed. H. L. Garter, Grand Chancellor, responded.

Adj. Dodge replied to the toast to the Uniform Rank. Messrs G. S. Hoyt and S. J. Smith gave a banjo and mandolin duet, and Prof. Bowden a mandolin solo, followed by a vocal selection by A. J. Tingle.

The banquet was over at 2 a. m. Jones' orchestra was present.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AND LABOR

Archbishop Bruchesi Issues Pastoral Letter to the Workingmen.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—Archbishop Bruchesi has issued a pastoral letter in connection with the approaching labor day celebration, which was read in all the Roman Catholic Churches today. In the course of his pastoral letter to the workmen, the Archbishop, discussing the rights of labor, says:—
"I may say that the church watches over you with all the solicitude of a mother. She is truly your mother, and those who declare that the church loves you not, that her favors are for the rich and powerful, deceive you. It is true that the church loves order; that she suppresses unjustifiable uprisings, in whose wake so many evils follow; she does not approve exaggerations in any walk of life. Great friend of peace, she desires that the difficulties that arise between labor and capital be arranged in all friendship and conciliation. To act otherwise, to harbor opposite sentiments would render her untrue to her Divine missions in the world. "Workmen, love the church and be permeated with the spirit of her justice, charity and magnanimity."

Father Gives Notice to All Girls That His Boy's Engagement is Off.

TRIDENT, Aug. 28.—Following a published notice of the coming marriage of Miss Nellie Sheller to Leon Embrey, the father of Embrey, published this notice:—
TO ALL GIRLS.
The wedding of Leon Embrey will be postponed until he arrives at the age of 21, as he is now only in his 17th year. His father positively notifies any girl that he refuses to give his consent.

John P. Embrey.
A call at the house of Mrs. Emma Hamilton, the stepmother of Miss Sheller, revealed the fact that the elder lady had refused to permit Embrey to enter the house, and while Miss Sheller had engaged herself to Embrey she had not authorized the announcement of their coming marriage.

Embrey, senior, says that should his son get married he would spank him and put him to bed. The young man remains in his room and refuses to be comforted.

Big Sensation in Mining Circles; Companies Did Not Renew Leases

Port Hood, Strathcona, and Minudie Properties Applied for by Halifax People—Lessees Failed to Apply at Expiration of Term.

(Halifax Echo.)
Just before the Mines Office closed yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. H. Emmett, of Göttingen Street, appeared and made application for the leases of the Minudie and Strathcona Mines' areas in Cumberland County. He inquired if the leases had run out, and if they had been renewed. He was informed that they had run out and had not been renewed, and he made the necessary application, accompanying the same with the necessary cash deposit.

The mines cover an area of one mile each and are in working order, the Strathcona having a big contract with the I. C. R.

This is likely to prove a big sensation in mining circles.

Both mines are situated at River Hebert. The output of the Minudie Mine last year was 23,376 tons, and that of the Strathcona Mine 5,673 tons. The former mine employs 967 men and the latter 365 men. Montreal, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island parties are interested in the mines.

At the same time W. B. McDonald and H. C. Borden put in application for five square miles of coal lands at Port Hood, the same conditions prevailing there, neglect to give notice on expiration of 50 years' lease. Of this property the last report of the Mining Inspector said:—

Port Hood Coal Mine Co.—Last year the output of this colliery was less than one-third of the previous year, owing to financial difficulties, and the property went into the hands of a receiver. The Eastern Trust Company is for the time administering the affairs of the company.

The mine is in good condition, and there should not be any trouble in having an output of 50 tons per day. On No. 2 level north, there is a double balance with 22 boards and a single balance with 9 boards. On No. 3 level south, there is one double balance with 14 boards, and a balance in course of being driven. No. 3 level north, was driven in a distance of 400 feet during the year, and has a double balance with 19 boards. There were 2,000 feet of the main slope retimbered, and the travelling road repaired. The average amount of air is 40,000 cubic feet per minute.

A third mining property sensation was sprung this morning. The lease of the Styles coal area in Cumberland, had, like the Strathcona, Minudie and Port Hood, run out, and no application has been made for a renewal. John Emmett, who figured in the application yesterday, was on hand in this case also, and he and Mr. MacAloney, of Parreboro, put in an application for the Styles area. None of the applications have been granted yet.

DISOWNS THE SMART SET.

(Hamilton Times.)

Hetty Green's feelings have been outraged, and she is mad all over. It has been rumored that she applied to New York society, and she characterizes the story as a lie. She says she is "not anxious for any of their company," and that "some of the sets in New York are living in a worse manner than the people of Sodom and Gomorrah did, and I know it." Hetty doesn't like the idea of having it rumored that she is eager to break into such a set.

HER CROWNING GLORY.

By OSCAR HATCH HANLEY.

"Always your hair-flaunting it in my very eyes," mentally hissed Miss Andrews, gritting her teeth and narrowly watching the easy, placid movements of her rival. "Oh, if only there was some way to transform you, crowing glory into your humiliation and mortification!"

And the time will come, Elise Harvey, the time will come, I am waiting, but it will not be for long, and when I see my chance to strike it will be swift and it will be terrible."

Just at that moment every light in the house went out. It was one of those sudden changes at the power-house of the electric company when the lights are switched from one circuit to another.

It was only for an instant, but in that instant of utter darkness Miss Andrews stood riveted to the spot, wide-starting eyes fixed on the place where she had seen a woman combing her hair, but where now was only a blackness like an Egyptian night, save for

What Miss Andrews saw there gave her an inspiration and caused her very being to tingle with the pleasure of an anticipated triumph. Her eyes dilated, her bosom heaved in an ecstasy of joy, her brain reeled with the sensations of the moment, and as the lights flashed up, she crept away to her own room, weak and dizzy with the thought which filled her mind.

Now she had a plan. Now she saw how her great desire might be realized. For the consummation of the plan she must get into the dressing-room of her rival, and night after night she watched for the opportunity. Unable to gain admittance to that room, it was useless for her to think of bringing her plot to a culmination.

But she would have access to the room sometime. Outwardly she was still very friendly to the star, and she would, sooner or later, be bidden into this room where the leading lady made ready for her nightly triumphs. And the time did come; not a great while later, either.

It was at Milburn's. The theater was a small building, and to give greater stage capacity, the dressing-rooms had been sacrificed. As the star and her not half enough rooms for the large company playing "Lady Drummond's Repentance," the principal had to double up, while the minor members of the cast went in triple and quadruple.

When Hoffield had curtly given the order for Miss Andrews to "dress with Miss Harvey," the star, with a look of blood pulsing through her veins like liquid fire, and she bowed her assent, too much overcome by emotion to make audible reply.

"We shall get on famously together, she'll see, dear?" said Miss Harvey as they started for their room.

"Indeed we shall," was the reply. And then, sotto voce, "Even more famously than you imagine."

To have seen them as they went to their dressing-rooms, each with an arm around the other's waist, one would have thought them the most devoted of chums. Yet the kindred jealousy and hatred that stood between them, the star was, however, quite unaware of.

Extremity of feeling to which it had brought her fair rival.

Miss Andrews was a little late getting to the theater one evening while she was sharing the dressing-room with Miss Harvey. She was running in just as Hoffield's patience had become well-nigh exhausted, and he very nearly swore she was curtly informed that she was fined two days' pay for holding the curtain ten minutes.

"Make it a week if you like," she laughed, flying off to the dressing-room.

"Well, I'll be damned!" mused old Papa Dargavel from his place between side-seatings. "I've seen many of 'em fined, but I never seen one laugh about it."

Papa Dargavel was the ancient scene-shifter. He had seen the theater so long that he was considered part of the stage paraphernalia. He knew every actor who had been at that house, and he could tell amusing anecdotes about each one.

He knew the stage and everything connected with it, and anything out of the ordinary was sure to attract his attention. Hence his remark when he overheard the bit of dialogue between the manager and the juvenile.

Hurry got into her first-act clothes. As she started taking off her stage costume she carefully laid her cloak over something which she placed in the corner of the room.

"So sorry you're late, dear," purred Miss Harvey sympathetically, yet inwardly exulting over the fine that had been imposed.

"And you'll be sorrier yet before the night is done," thought Miss Andrews to herself. But about she said: "For the fine I don't care a bit, but I am sorry that I held the curtain."

"Hurry, you better hang your cloak up!" The floor is rather cold, and it will not be warm for you when you leave tonight."

Miss Andrews started. She had not thought of the possibility of the other's touching the garment. That would never do, she must give some excuse for leaving the cloak on the floor, and it must be one that would be heeded.

"That's thoughtful of you, sweetest, heart, but you forget that I am training myself to endure cold. See these ties?" She exhibited a dainty foot clad in a low shoe. "That's part of the plan to get one inured to winter weather such as this. Then no sore throat and no nasty colds for the fresh-air girl. So I let my cloak get good and cold for me now."

"What a delightful idea! I believe I'll adopt it."

"There was no further conversation just then, for a loud thumping on the door announced the call-boy. "he said quietly, and passed on to the next room.

After Miss Andrews left the room, Miss Harvey sat in silence for several minutes. She was thinking that the life of a star was not the least satisfying thing in the world. Never had she been happier than at present.

"Miss Andrews for act one," he said quietly, and passed on to the next room.

After Miss Andrews left the room, Miss Harvey sat in silence for several minutes. She was thinking that the life of a star was not the least satisfying thing in the world. Never had she been happier than at present.

She had been leading lady at Hoffield's company for three seasons. None of these aspiring underlings had been able to unseat her, and she was content. She knew that it was the burning ambition of Miss Andrews to shine in a star part.

"But she'll never reach that height while I am in the company," thought Miss Harvey. "How peculiarly she acted when she came in tonight. Almost hysterically joyful she was, never shed two strains for the fine, and here her cloak in the corner as if it was an every day matter."

"I never knew she was such a crank on cold weather before. Come to think of it, she didn't throw the cloak in the corner; she laid it down. I wonder what for? Guess I'll just lift it up and see."

But t knock at the door drew her attention, and changed the direction of her thought.

"Miss Harvey for act one," announced the call boy.

She hastened down to the wings to be in readiness for her entrance.

During the next hour and a half Miss Andrews and Miss Harvey were in their dressing-room at the same time and on the stage at the same time, so that the star did not have a minute to herself. When going on for the first act she had mentally resolved to satisfy her curiosity with regard to the cloak at the first opportunity, but that opportunity did not come until near the end of the play.

It was just before the last scene of the last act. While Miss Andrews had been fitting around the room, here there and everywhere. Now she was stooping down on the floor, and now she was up in front of the glass. Miss Harvey was busy with her hair. She was seated in a low chair, and did not take note of her companion's nervous restlessness.

Ever had she done so, it is improbable that she would have seen the other quickly take something from underneath the cloak in the corner and a moment later put that same something on the floor underneath the chair in which the star was seated. There it was, almost hidden from view, and would never have been noticed unless one looked for it.

"My, my, these dressing-rooms do have the strangest variety of odors I have ever encountered," remarked Miss Harvey drolly, as she began shaking out the great masses of hair now falling about her in lustrous profusion.

"Yes, I've—I've noticed it all day," stammered Miss Andrews, hurrying from the room in answer to the call-boy's bidding.

"And now to see about that cloak," said Miss Harvey to herself. "It's only curiosity, but I may as well satisfy it."

"Pshaw!" she exclaimed, dropping the garment. "I guess she must have been telling the truth. And this comes so unaccountably cold."

She resumed her seat and continued her preparations for the great last scene. Her thoughts were very pleasant. She felt extremely happy, and she was in dreamy content to the little crackling sound produced by the movement of the ivory comb through her hair.

"Seems rattled," mused Papa Dargavel, as he watched Miss Andrews from the tail of his eye.

She was standing in the wings, waiting for her cue. She fidgeted nervously, rocked and unlocked her hands, bit her lip, and started at every little sound.

"Wouldn't be surprised to see her go up in 'h' air and spoil the act," he continued to himself.

Then he marvelled at the suddenness with which she pulled herself together and went on at the proper moment.

She had the stage all to herself for several minutes while she was through a little monologue in which she told the story of her wrongs and asked a gracious Providence for assistance in restoring to her the rights which had been wrested from her while she was yet an infant in arms, unable to defend herself.

"Oh, gracious heaven," she exclaimed, "I can see you are the child of time trodden in the dust, and not come down, as Jove of old, with thunderbolts and lightning bolts."

"She off, I thought so," commented Papa Dargavel under his breath. He had been watching her, and saw her hesitate and glance fearfully toward the wings as she reached the words: "affairs severed the wings."

And then, before the prompter had a chance to whisper the cue, there came a dull booming sound from the region of the dressing-rooms, and a moment later an agonized shriek that struck terror to every pulse-blood the scene.

The audience did not know whether it was part of the piece or not, but the stars did. That something had come down in the book had happened, and that only quick action could avert a panic.

Hoffield whistled for the curtain. Miss Andrews ran for the wings, the men started for the place where the sound had come, but no one had time to move far when an apparition, avowed, veiled, and terrifying, came flying from the dressing-room corridor.

It was the figure of a woman enveloped in fire, flaming hair streaming wildly about her, flaming hands clutching madly at throat and face, flaming feet stamping in frenzied terror, as she flew through the wings, across the stage, and toward the street door on the other side.

"Catch her! For God's sake, catch her!" shouted Hoffield, throwing a blanket into the hands of the leading man. And then, in quick succession: "Man the exits! Turn in the still curtain! Drop the fire curtain! Ring for the ambulance."

And still the audience did not know that the artificiality of the melodrama had given place to a terribly tragic incident of real life. But some of them guessed it as they saw the gray sheet come sliding down in front of the stage.

"The asbestos curtain, the fire shield! The whisper ran over the auditorium, and some of the people began to rise in their seats, while others looked questioningly from one to another in search of an explanation for the untoward happenings of the night.

FAIRWEATHER-TABOR

WEDDING TODAY

FREDERICTON, Aug. 29.—The parish church was the scene of a pretty wedding this afternoon at three o'clock when J. H. A. L. Fairweather, one of St. John's young lawyers, led to the altar one of Fredericton's most popular and charming young ladies, Miss Agnes Tabor, daughter of Mrs. Clifton Tabor. The bride was given in marriage by Rev. T. W. Street, and had as bridesmaids Miss Wadmore, of Halifax, and Miss Grace Winslow, of this city. The best man was Harry Harrison, of St. John, while the ushers were Messrs. Charles H. Allen, Donald B. Winslow and L. Ralph Sherman, of this city.

The entire church was reserved for the wedding party who included many out-of-town people. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. DeWolf Cowie, assisted by Rev. C. W. Foster.

After the ceremony luncheon was given at the residence of the bride's mother on King street, and the happy couple will leave on the C. P. R. express to spend their honeymoon in Upper Canada.

A. C. Fairweather, Misses L. A. Margaret, Muriel L. Annie R. C. Fairweather, Stewart L. Fairweather, Mrs. Wm. G. Lett, W. H. Harrison, Rev. A. W. Daniel arrived on last evening's train from St. John to attend the wedding.

A SUIT FOR THE BOY.

4060, 4061—The American boy is a very active individual and requires many suits to be presentable most of the time. Many mothers find this a great expense when they purchase these clothes ready-made so a pattern which is easily made is given here for blouse and trousers. The blouse may have the box-plot or hem closing and the pocket may be used or not, though most boys like them and find them very convenient. The trousers provide for a fly in sizes from 8 to 12 years and are made without up to that age. Pockets are inserted in the side front seams and in slashes made in the back. The blouse may be made of any of the washable materials or serge while the trousers may be of any of the suit materials. For the medium size 13-4 yard of 44-inch material is needed for the blouse and 2-4 of 44-inch goods for the trousers.

Two patterns: 4060—sizes, 4 to 15 years. 4061—sizes, 8 to 12 years. The price of these patterns is 25c but either will be sent upon receipt of 10c.

A. O. H. CONVENTION AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 28.—The provincial convention of A. O. H. opened at two o'clock this afternoon in the A. O. H. hall. There was a large attendance. John Morrissey, provincial president, of Newcastle, occupied the chair, and on the stage with him were Rev. Father Crumley, Chatham, N. B., and Revs. Father McManus and Sweet of Halifax. The report of the provincial president was read and referred to committees. It was an interesting report, and dealt in a complete and concise manner with the work of the order. Mr. Morrissey referred to the San Francisco disaster and the sufferings undergone by some of the members of the order in that place and how their call for help had been heard and answered by the order. He also mentioned the death of the great Irish patriot, Michael Davitt, and the death of Jas. J. O'Donnell, the efficient secretary of the Nova Scotia order. It was also suggested that the system of life insurance for members would be originated and a movement was in contemplation to have the P. E. Island A. O. H. affiliate with the provincial convention. The address in concluding paid a high tribute to Canada and the Canadians and spoke of the great part that the Irishmen are playing in the upbuilding of the Dominion, strong in faith and ever thoughtful of the motherland.

The financial report showed the order to be in good condition. A message was sent Pope Pius as follows: "New Brunswick and Nova Scotia provincial convention, Ancient Order of Hibernians, in session at Halifax, N. S., express to your Holiness sincere love and devotion." (Signed) Morrissey, Provincial Pres. Another telegram was sent as follows: "The ladies' auxiliary also met in the afternoon and evening and transacted considerable routine business. They were addressed by Rev. Dr. Crumley of Chatham and Rev. Father, Sweet, McManus and McLaughlin.

PRESIDENT OF RUINED BANK COMITS SUICIDE

What Was Supposed to be One of the Strongest Financial Institutions in Philadelphia Forced to Close Its Doors—Affairs Are Complicated—Depositors in State of Frenzy.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Unable to meet its obligations because of the large amount of money loaned on insufficient security by its president, now dead, the Real Estate Trust Co. of Philadelphia, which, up to last Saturday, was considered one of the strongest financial institutions in the city, closed its doors today. Soon after the closing George H. Earle, Jr., a prominent financier, was appointed receiver. The liabilities of the company are placed at $10,000,000, against which there are quick assets of about $1,500,000 and collateral of about $8,000,000, which is not negotiable or readily convertible. This doubtful collateral is held mostly as security for loans of about $3,500,000 made to Adolf Segal, a promoter of this city. The man responsible for the failure was Frank K. Hipple, one of Philadelphia's best known citizens, who died last Friday morning in his country home at Byron, Mass. Here, under circumstances which in the light of today's developments led to the suspicion that he may have committed suicide, Mr. Hipple, in his position as president of the Real Estate Trust Co., was treasurer of the board of trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and of several other church funds and was a director of the Franklin National Bank. Recently Mr. Hipple's accounts of the Presbyterian Church were examined by certified accountants and were found to be correct, but it cannot be stated positively tonight whether all the securities belonging to the General Assembly are intact, although it is hoped they are. Dr. W. H. Roberts, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, who is at Mount Pocono, said that in addition to the deposits of the General Assembly, the great estate trust company also had about $25,000 of funds placed there by Dr. Roberts as stated clerk. The Presbyterian Board of Relief, he said, also had sums of money in the failed institution. Dr. Roberts was asked if he could say whether the securities of the General Assembly, amounting to $263,536, in Hipple's custody were intact. He replied: "I have no reason to believe otherwise, but cannot say positively."

LARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATES

Annual Meeting of the Disciples of Christ Convention Took Place at Kempt, N. S.—Interesting Sermon by Rev. John Waugh

KEMPT, N. S., Aug. 27.—The annual meeting of the religious body known as Disciples of Christ, in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, was held in Kempt, N. S., Aug. 24 to 27. The preliminary services were held Friday evening, when an interesting sermon was delivered by Rev. John Waugh of Milton, N. S. The business session of the convention began at nine o'clock on Saturday morning. Fifty-two delegates from abroad reported, and there was a large delegation from the surrounding country. Words of welcome were delivered by Rev. H. Murray of Kempt, and the response was made by the president, Rev. J. F. Floyd, of St. John. Reports were read from twenty churches, showing a total membership of about 2,500. The reports generally spoke encouragingly of the work, and the church is said to be in a state of growth. A beautiful house of worship had been built and dedicated at Kempt, and there were about 90 prominent people had been added to the church, with a fine lot of land yet to be determined. The following committees were appointed by the president, which reported on the work of the year: Finance, nominations, time and place of next convention, enrollment, obituaries, and the committee on ways and means. The reports of some of the committees will be of interest to the general public. The committee on ways and means reported as follows, which was accepted: 1. That the church co-operate with the M. C. M. S. in preaching the Gospel in these provinces. 2. That the churches seek opportunities to hold at least one protracted meeting this year, at places where our plea is not represented. 3. That the "reports of the churches" columns of "The Christian" be more generally used. For this object, the secretaries of the various church societies and Bible schools should be requested to send monthly reports, and 4. That while reorganizing the all-round advantages of two collections for Maritime missionary work, if any church could secure better results by monthly collections, they should adopt that system.

ANOTHER ARREST IN JONAH ASSAULT CASE

MONCTON, N. B., Aug. 28.—Percy Myers, of Sussex, who was yesterday sent up for trial on the charge of assaulting W. P. Jones, was today released on bail of $1,000. The judge's order necessary for his release was issued by Judge Hinington. The young man was admitted to $500 on his own recognizance, and two sureties were furnished, one by Myers' father, who is a hotel-keeper at Sussex, and the other by Daniel Bourgeois of Moncton. Myers is a well known and notorious local character, was arrested last night for complicity in the Jones assault case, and in the police court today the prosecution were not in readiness to proceed. The case has been adjourned to Saturday. The case has aroused a good deal of interest locally. Miss Lottie Howard, a former Sussex young lady and for a couple of years past connected with the business department of the Transcript, was ably remembered on Saturday night on the event of her severing her connection with the Transcript office. Miss Howard was presented by her fellow employees with an address and a pearl necklace. The Builders' Woodworking Co. of Sunny Brae has been given the contract by A. E. Walberg for all the frames, sashes and woodwork required for the two new shops of the I. C. R. which are in process of construction here. The sub-contract and extras will exceed $5,000.

WHEN BRITISH OFFICERS RIDE

Ordered to Use Tram Cars to Save the Government Expenses.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—British army officers of the western command will have to settle the question of how to ride when a British officer in uniform may ride in a tram car without damaging the reputation of the British Army. According to a morning paper a storm of indignation was raised by a notice issued to the western command ordering officers in uniform to use tram cars whenever the opportunity offers. The notice stated that officers are only expected to travel by public conveyance, and that it is not to be considered expedient, for instance, for officers on duty to travel in a crowded tram car through the more populous parts of larger towns, but the general in command trusts the individual consideration of his officers to order whenever possible, "in order to save the money of the nation."

RAILWAY TO FORT CHURCHILL

Canada Gazette Speaks of the Extension to Hudson's Bay.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—Facts are accumulated, but the announcement made over a month ago to the effect that the question of the construction of a line of railway to Fort Churchill on Hudson's Bay will occupy the attention of Parliament at its next session. The following significant announcement is found in Saturday's Canadian Gazette: "The Government-General is pleased to order, that, in view of the possible construction at an early date of a railway line terminating at Fort Churchill on Hudson's Bay, the land on both sides of the Churchill River from the coast line to a distance of ten miles up the river and two miles wide on each side is reserved from sale and settlement. The said reserve to include all islands within three miles from the mouth of the river."

ALCOHOL IN HOSPITALS.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A resident medical officer of the University College Hospital says that the amount of alcohol prescribed by hospital doctors is steadily diminishing. An official of Guy's Hospital says that in 1905 when there were 8,628 patients the expenditure for malt liquors was only nine pounds. In 1896, with 6,500 in patients the expenditure was seventeen pounds. At one time beer was considered an ordinary part of the patient's diet. That idea has now quite disappeared.

A druggist, being in a hurry to get off the ball game, made a mistake in compounding a prescription that contained arsenic, and in consequence of his error the patient died. "When the druggist heard of the man's death he struck his forehead with his clenched fist and groaned: 'Wretch that I am; he was my best customer!'"

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—Earl Grey had a narrow escape from serious injury here about midnight last night. Just before retiring an electric light bulb exploded full in his face and bits of glass were thrown into his eyes. One of the most enjoyable of this summer's dances was held under the direction of Miss Rogers in the Royal Kemekecece Yacht Club house last evening, over sixty attending. It was an invitation affair and most agreeably carried out. Music was furnished by a small string orchestra, and the large interior was prettily decorated. Two huckabees and two buses were filled with city guests, and besides these the Millville suburbanites, were on hand in force. The evening was simply perfect for such a function, and between dances the verandah and foie d'art were filled with merry-makers. A collation was served about midnight and it was after 11 a. m. when the city party started for home.

A citizen complains to the Star that in passing Aberdeen School building on Erin street this morning he noticed that none of the windows were hoisted so as to ventilate the rooms. On such a fine clear morning he claimed the full set amount of air should be allowed into the zone too well-aired apartments which hands.

There are three delegates to the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge who did not come here by automobile. F. S. Jost, of Charlottetown had planned to ride to St. John with a number of friends and had secured all necessary information about the roads. On Sunday morning last, accompanied by his son and Edward Chandler and Mr. McLeod, he started from Charlottetown in his Cadillac runabout. The first ten miles was made in record time, while the motor was going at a lively clip one of the wheels hit an obstruction. The auto swerved and bumped a sand heap, with the result that the steering gear was put out of action and the front axle was bent. The Pythians struggled back to Charlottetown and came over in the ordinary way with the rest of the delegates on Monday.

PROFESSOR BAILEY TO RESIGN FROM U. N. B.

Understood That He Has Decided on This.

Several Men Mentioned as Probable

Successors to Chancellor

Harrison.

In addition to the story printed in the Star yesterday about the resignation of Chancellor Harrison, this paper understands that Prof. Bailey's resignation will also be tendered within the next few days. No definite announcement has, however, yet been made, nor is it likely that anything will be given out until after the meeting of the government on Thursday night.

Both Chancellor Harrison and Prof. Bailey will be admitted to the terms of the Carnegie Pension Fund. It will be remembered that when this fund was established by Mr. Carnegie, he decided that it should apply only to colleges which are not under state or denominational control. Under these conditions the only two colleges in Canada which were in a position to share in the benefits of the fund were McGill and Dalhousie. It so happened that the trustees of the fund, who were given large powers, decided that they had far more money on hand than would be required for those colleges which appeared on the list. On this account they have since decided, not exactly to change the regulations, but to use their own discretion in selecting professors in other colleges who may profit by the fund and in this way they have announced that that Chancellor Harrison and Prof. Bailey will upon retirement, be granted pensions. The U. N. B. has not yet been admitted to the list of favored colleges, the exception being made only in favor of these two professors.

The amount of the pension to be paid to Chancellor Harrison will be in the vicinity of $1,400 per year.

Prof. Bailey, in the start of the U. N. B. have naturally given rise to discussion as to the probable successor of the chancellor. The man who is most generally talked about is Prof. W. C. Murray, of Dalhousie, one of the best of the educationalists in the maritime provinces. Another who has been mentioned is Prof. Ganong, formerly of Charlottetown and now of St. John's College. Prof. Ganong has won some fame as a local historian. He holds the post of professor of history at Smith's. Dr. Bridges, superintendent of education in St. John, has also been mentioned as a possible successor to Chancellor Harrison, but the general opinion seems to be that Prof. Murray will be the man selected.

WOODSTOCK READY

FOR TELEPHONE WAR

People Object to Losing the

Automatic System

And If This Is Done Away With a New

Company Will Be Formed—

Rates are Low.

There is probably no town in the provinces which is supplied with telephones, as well as Woodstock and vicinity. There are a number of lines running through that district, and a telephone can be found within two miles of each hamlet.

The Union Telephone Company went to Woodstock about four years ago. The New Brunswick Co. had then been there about ten or fifteen years. The latter charged ten dollars for a house telephone, and fifteen dollars for an office phone. When the Union Company started business at Woodstock, they charged the same fee as the N. B. Telephone Company. The latter then dropped the price to five dollars for a house phone, and ten dollars for an office phone. The Union Company did not change its prices.

The Union Telephone Co. has 129 instruments installed while the New Brunswick Telephone Company has 129.

The New Brunswick Company purchased the M. Welsh Telephone Co., which runs through the parishes of Kent, Aberdeen and Bright, about six weeks ago and is now after a local company, called the Consolidated Telephone Co. This line extends for about six miles, and is owned by a number of Bath residents.

The M. Welsh Company had about 25 miles of wire.

The amalgamation of the Central—formerly the Union Co.—with the New Brunswick Company, has given rise to a lot of talk, and the people of Woodstock are anxiously awaiting developments. The automatic system in use by the Central Company is very popular, and rather than accept the other system exclusively, Woodstock people will organize a new company for the operation of a local service. Ten thousand dollars can be raised at any time, should more if necessary. One man has started the ball rolling with a subscription of one thousand. There will be no difficulty in securing a franchise from the town, but trouble may arise in getting incorporation.

There is a taxpayer in town—an amiable sort of a chap—who does not quite appreciate the dense peacefulness that pervades Charlottetown, that snug little burg across the harbor. He works for a large concern in town, and was in the trans-shipment district yesterday on duty bent when his brother passed by about a hundred yards away. Wisher to speak with his brother the city man whistled, but not so as to hurt anybody's feelings. However, Sergeant Ross, he says, took offense, and scolded the citizen for whistling, threatening arrest. It commenced to look as if the Cornhill case and its many side phases has got the police force all mixed up.
