LONDON BUBBLES WITH JOY AND PEACE DAY HILARITY DURING TRIUMPHAL VICTORY PARADE

Several Million Persons Watched the Gorgeous Spectacle, Their Enthusiasm Bursting Forth Afresh as New Excitement Stirred Their Emotions—Great Roar Greets British Contingent—Marshal Foch Given Hearty Reception—Tremendous Cheering Greeted Each National Force—Greatest Celebration Since Diamond Jubilee—Signal Honor Paid Canadian Generals—Royalty Joins Wholeheartedly in the Festivities.

Sir Douglas Haig Takes Suddenly Ill While On Peace Day Parade

London, July 19.—Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig was taken ill and had to be removed to his home in Kingston in a motor car during the victory parade today. Many had noticed that Field Marshal Haig looked ill while riding at the head of his men.

London, July 19.—Land, sea and air forces of the British Empire and her Allies marched today in the triumphal victory parade to mark the return of peace. Several million persons witnessed the gorgeous spectacle, the enthusiasm growing as each new excitement stirred their emotions.

When the British contingents came in sight the applause became a great roar above which could be heard, at times, the shrill voices of women. The patriotic fervor had its climax in the great demonstration at Pall Mall about the Pavilion before Buckingham Palace, where King George, Queen Mary, Premier Lloyd George, the Cabinet Ministers and diplomatic corps reviewed the parade.

Marshal Foch, leading the French forces, was given a hearty reception, as also were General Pershing and the American and the other Allied leaders and their contingents. The tremendous cheering that greeted each national force was virtually continuous throughout the parade.

Buckingham Palace was decorated on its exterior for the first time in its history. Huge flags of the Allies floated from the upper windows, and a wide streamer of purple and gold stretched across the facade. The royal pavilion, erected close to the beautiful Victoria monument, added color to the striking scene.

King George, from his seat on the scarlet dais, had a clear view through a colonnade of ornate white pylons, reaching for more than half a mile to the admiralty archway at the end of the parade.

The troops marched past the reviewing stand to the music of military bands. The Americans led the procession at 12:30 o'clock when they came marching with a springy step and a smart precision that would have gladdened the heart of a West Point Commandant. As the Americans approached the stand, King George and all others, including Queen Mary, the aged Queen Mother Alexandra, and Princess Mary, rose. The King, dressed in the uniform of a Field Marshal, kept his hand to his visor in rigid salute until General Pershing had passed.

General Pershing dismounted a hundred yards beyond the King's stand and returned to the stand, where he was greeted by all. Marshal Foch, Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty, Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig and other commanders joined the reviewing party as soon as their contingents had passed.

Vice-Admiral Beatty and Field Marshal Haig were given three cheers. The massed colors of the various regiments won the admiration of the crowd. Four huge tanks also came in for much attention.

One of the prettiest features of the parade was the release of a covey of pigeons from the front of the King's stand. Women war workers, awaiting along, received one long ovation as they passed over the six miles of London streets. Especially did Queen Mary's auxiliary corps win applause, and at this the royal patroness seemed greatly pleased.

As soon as the last troops passed the stand, the great crowd made a rush for the Royal pavilion, where there was a demonstration for the King and Queen, while the massed Guards' bands played "God Save the King."

Street Revels. Once the parade was over, the crowds gathered in the centre of the city, eager to begin the street revels. Fleetly Circus, Leinster Square and the Strand soon were filled with merry-makers, who waved showers to start the dancing. Groups of girls, costumed in the national colors, and young men in carnival attire, led in the fun. The King and Queen entertained the officers of the Allied contingents at luncheon at Buckingham Palace. The guests included also Premier Lloyd George, Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary of War, ex-Premier Asquith, Field-Marshal Haig and Admiral Beatty. The King gave the toast: "I drink to the health of the troops of our gallant Allies whose representatives and leaders I am proud to welcome here today."

The luncheon was served in the state dining-room, which was beautifully decorated with red carnations and roses. An informal reception followed the luncheon. Later in the afternoon the King and Queen, with Princess Mary and Prince George, paid a surprise visit to the royal parks to see the children's festivities and dancing.

Picturesque incidents were common along the whole route of the procession, and in the working class neighborhoods of South London, perhaps, the reception of the troops was heartier and more spontaneous than anywhere. Girls showered flowers and garlands on the soldiers and wherever a girl was made, passed glasses of water and other refreshments to the tired paraders. A ten minute halt at Vaux Hall was the signal for general fraternization between the troops and the spectators, with a further brisk bestowing of sweetmeats and cigarettes.

Touching Scene. The most touching and emotional of the scenes along the great canopied street in Whitehall to the memory of the dead, impressed its severe simplicity and bearing the single inscription, "The Glorious Dead." Here the cheering stilled as successively Pershing, Foch, Haig and the other great war leaders drew rein, faced the canopy and saluted.

The great features of the night celebration were the singing and fireworks in Hyde Park. A trained choir of ten thousand sang the National Anthem of the Allies, "The Hallelujah chorus," and other hymns. No less than 100,000 voices joined in the singing, which massed bands accompanied with enormous effect.

Rain fell throughout the night, but did not interfere with the programme. There were illuminations, fire works and torchlights all around London, and the whole population of the city seemed to have poured into the parks and streets. The singing and dancing kept up until after midnight.

Generals Currie and Turner both headed the Canadian contingent, numbering about two hundred men drawn mainly from Witley Camp, in the peace celebration procession here to the admiralty archway at the end of the Dominion section of the procession and received a very hearty welcome along the entire route. Generals Currie and Turner with other general commanders rode in Marshal Haig's immediate vicinity. Generals Currie and Turner took their place at the head of their own men, both riding abreast. Turner, on the right and Currie on the left. The Canadian contingent numbered roughly about two hundred men, being brought up from Witley Camp in the night. They had no colors. Gen. Macbrien and Col. Morrison marched with the troops. Generals Currie and Turner were quickly recognized by the crowd who accorded them and their men a wholeheartedly cordial reception.

The Australians followed with a drum-major and band, then came New Zealand and South Africa, these having also a nursing detachment with them.

Amongst the general procession, Marshals Haig and Foch and Admiral Beatty and their men received the heartiest plaudits, but the enthusiasm for the Serbians, Belgians and Roumanians was scarcely less vociferous. The single row of chaplains, who marched also, had a great welcome. There was some groaning in fun when the military police went by.

Canadian airs were included in the music by the brigade of guards' massed bands outside the saluting point at the palace.

Gen. Currie sails for Canada on August 1st and Gen. Turner about a week later.

Sydney, N. S., July 20.—The clerical union at Glace Bay, representing the clerks of the Dominion Coal Company, held a meeting on Saturday to consider the offer submitted by the company. After a very full discussion it agreed to accept the company's proposal which includes an advance in wages, the reception of committees representing the clerks at a half-holiday. The union, however, is not to be recognized.

BRITISH TOMMIES AND CIVILIANS CELEBRATING PEACE

Prince Louis Writes His Supporters

Pretender to the Throne of France Asks His Followers to Maintain Their Sacred Union, and Oppose Any Attempt at Revolution.

Paris, July 19.—Prince Louis Philippe, Duke of Orleans and pretender to the throne of France, has written a letter to his supporters, in which he asks them to "maintain their sacred union" in the work of reconstruction and to oppose any attempt at revolution.

The Duke of Orleans refers to the refusal of the French government and the Allies to allow him to fight for France and says that he does not condole to his people the profound sorrow caused to him by this exile from the battlefield after his exile from France in order that no rancor may develop therefrom, adding:

"One more hatred in the bruised heart of France will cure nothing in my heart."

After recalling his injunction to his followers, at the beginning of the war to join in a sacred union to work and fight for France first of all, the letter traces the programme for the future which "victory opens for France" as follows:

"Renewal of their old activity in the devastated regions; revivals of agricultural industries; readjustment of national production to new instruments and new methods; just recompense for labor; revision of the military laws; administrative reform through decentralization and organization; a regional system of government; revision of the financial system and the maintenance of order in the face of revolutionary agitation."

"My first instructions to you, to the sacred union must be continued. I ask you to remain in the front rank of the good confidence of the country and serve royalists. But first of all serve France."

"Revival of the Oldest League of Nations"

Caughnawaga Indians Indulge in a Picturesque Celebration Which Was Attended by Montrealers.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, July 20.—A "revival of the oldest League of Nations," was one of the phrases used by the Caughnawaga Indians in advertising their Peace Day celebration which was held on Saturday on the tribes reservation.

In fact, the Indian festivities were the only peace celebration planned either in the city or the neighborhood. The festivities were a mixture of matter of choice. The celebration by the five Indians at Caughnawaga was attended by hundreds from this city and adjoining towns.

The festive were a mixture of the picturesque customs of days long past with those of modern times. The chiefs wore their plumage and moosehide costume. There was the war dance by the chiefs and some of the younger maidens, but no enemy prisoner burned at the stake as the warriors danced; there was the old-time pow-wow, and games ancient and modern; comely maidens raced on horseback; returned warriors there were two, twenty-seven strapping young men of the tribes who had recently returned from foreign battlefields where they had fought for the "great white chief," (whom they now call "kings" as we do); but unlike their fore-bears no scalps of enemies dangled at their belts; instead some German spiked helmets were proudly displayed as trophies of victory; figuratively the "pipe of peace" was smoked, but literally cigarettes and cigars replaced the time honored symbol of the restoration of tribal harmony, legs crossed on bear skins, the guests stretched their legs under tables, covered with white cloth; no jabbing with fingers for food nor appearing of morsels from the kettle. Instead knives and forks of silver testified to the advanced stages which the aborigines have reached in modernization.

A festival it was, and the members of the five tribes took no small pride in the fact that they had done their part in making realization of victory possible. To them it also meant the revival of the first League of Nations. From this league formed many years ago between the Mohawks, Onondagas, Oneidas, Senecas and Cayugas. Chief Deltia claims President Wilson got his inspiration for the League of Nations which is before the world today.

Dublin Has Peace Day Festivities

Viscount French Took the Salute of the Victory March—No Hostility Displayed—Riotous Scenes in Cork.

Dublin, July 19.—Viscount French, lord lieutenant and governor of Ireland, with his staff and officials took the salute of the victory march today at the Bank of Ireland. The whole space of College Green was filled with cheering crowds and the streets were lined with spectators. There was no hostility displayed at any point.

The garrison marched with fixed bayonets, leading a large representation of demobilized soldiers. At the Irish regiments, particularly the Dublin Fusiliers, marched in mutli, as well as demobilized Irishmen from British regiments. Patriotic parades and dances were held in many Irish cities, but Sinn Feiners refrained from participating.

By order of the Cork Board of Guardians, black flags were hung on the buildings over which the guardians have charge. At Dundalk Sinn Fein inscriptions were painted on the walls during the night.

EXPRESS TRAIN WRECKED NEAR FRENCH RIVER

Sydney, N. S., July 20.—Travelling at a speed of 45 miles an hour, Friday night's express from Sydney was wrecked at French River, two miles west of Harbor Au Bouche at 2:10 a. m. Saturday. Four passenger cars overturned on a low embankment and caused great consternation to the passengers. The accident was caused by the lodgement of a piece of iron at the convergence of spur and main lines. The engine and baggage car broke loose from the rest of the train, which tore along; the track for half a mile, tearing up rails and earth and making kindling of the ties, finally overturning on a low bank not twenty-five feet from a high curve. A private car, occupied by Mr. Carleton, General Manager of the Western Union, New York, was the only one to remain upright. No one was injured except a Mr. Lewis, of St. John's, who had his arm cut with flying glass, and a young lady from Halifax, who sustained minor injuries.

Two more wrecks, not so serious, occurred at Monastery station, east of Antigonish, on Saturday. A relief train, bound for French River, was derailed at Monastery at noon, and later in the afternoon a passenger train was wrecked at the same place, four cars being thrown off the track. In both cases no one was injured.

New York, July 19.—Prospects of a settlement of the strike of seamen and engineers which has crippled shipping along the Atlantic and Gulf seaboard and has brought an embargo on coastwise freight traffic received a fresh setback today when the American Steamship Association unanimously rejected an agreement proposed to them last night by the union leaders. ## Simple Letters of A Simple Fello

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DERE MABLE"

Dear Mable,
This is the first letter I ever wrote you with a view to... It's kind of clumsy at first, I don't seem to be able to get into it like I could in a uniform. You can exercise as hard as you like, but you can't get into it like I could in a uniform. This is all over, Mable.

It seems funny to be down here so far from Philadelphia looking for a job. Specially when I spent the last, in years ago. I have seen Uncle Charlie about the job he was taking of, I wanted to get out of my uniform before anybody was in the way. I'm sorry if I'm holding up the line.

I ran into Angus MacKenzie, the got four times as many dry prunes. Angus said I need to take another trip. It reminds me of one of those patent ways of putting yourself to sleep. It looks like a fine bluish for a fello that was a cut on dry prunes and electric tasks. He wasn't. Personally he wanted to get into some bluish where money came in somewhere. He said if I'd give him the address of the poor sump that best me the money in the first place that was cut for him. It's awful hard to talk bluish to a Scotchman.

I wanted to get into some civil clothes before another war was started on the M. P. got us. We want to one of these places you can go in like Sept.

A GOLFER'S WISH.
I have no wish to dress in silk. I do not care to wear a crown. I do not yearn to bathe in milk. Or champagne wash my dinner down.

I have no great desire to be a man of much importance, here, and have the public welcome me. With bands of brass when I appear.

And should a fairy kind and good grant me one favor, without price, I'd make his golden prayer, I would: "Oh kindly rid me of my silos!"

I am not an intent on fame. I do not care to lead the throng. Though stragglers never bear my name.

Contentedly I'll plod along. Enough to eat, enough to wear, And strength to do my daily task, With now and then a chance to fare.

On pleasure's ways, is all I ask. But should a fairy come to me, And say: "What joy will you pursue?"

I'll grant, one wish. What shall it be? I'd answer "Rid me of my silos!"

You that have never swung a club And drawn its face across the ball, And muttered to yourself: "You dub!"

As in a curve you watched it fall, May in a guess the raps that best Within the shortened arc of flight, Nor how man curse the ball that flies With loss of distance to the right; But every golfer should know:

Why gold and fame I'd sacrifice If but some fairy, good, would show Me how to drive without a silo!

ST. JOHN'S GREATEST MERCANTILE EVENT.

Final Week to Take Advantage of this Splendid Opportunity.

The greatest mercantile event in the City of St. John's during the month of July, which is now conceded to be Oak Hall's Annual Mid-Summer Sale, is now on its final week, coming to a close Saturday at one o'clock.

Many people wonder now it is that Oak Hall can offer such exceptionally fine values during this big sale,—and at other times, too—the answer is very simple. Rather than sit back and wait for travellers to come around with their regular lines of merchandise at standard prices and buy complete handbills at a time from each manufacturer, Oak Hall make it a point to have the buyers of the different departments make periodical visits to the big manufacturing centres, such as Montreal and New York. These buyers go into a factory, find what they want, and buy up complete lines, paying cash on the spot. Thus Oak Hall gets the benefit of the very lowest possible price—for buying large quantities and paying cash.

In this way Oak Hall gets many price concessions, and this combined with their motto of large volume at minimum profit, whereby they mark their goods at the very lowest of prices, is the simple explanation of why Oak Hall is able to offer such unusual values, more particularly during their big July sales.

Friday will be the last full day of St. John's Greatest Mercantile Event, and those who have not as yet taken advantage of it cannot afford to delay much longer.

SHEDIAC

The very large circle of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Comeau were sorry to learn that their son, Edmond, late of overseas, and who had under treatment in a military hospital at Fredericton, had been the victim this week of an automobile accident. The young man was convalescent, and he and a number of other soldiers were in an auto when a collision took place, resulting in injuries to the party, and Mr. Comeau's left arm sustained injury. The latest news is that he is doing as well as can be expected, and his medical attendants anticipate nothing of a serious nature.

Mrs. Aard White, in honor of her guest, Miss Oakes of Montreal, and other visitors in town, is entertaining at a card and dancing party, at her cottage, "Sandhurst," this (Wednesday) evening.

THE SUMMER COLD

The summer cold is a blood relative of Nature's criminal masterpiece, the grip, but is not so full of enthusiasm and general debility as the latter. People can have the grip every winter and after a while will be able to tell it from an unobscured toothache. The summer cold will pass entire families by for several years, only to land on some loved member and cause him to resemble a head-over victim who has fallen heir to the pink eye.

The summer cold is caused by trifling with the laws of Nature in the matter of underwear. Why is it that a man will wear long, feverish underwear until the Fourth of July and then change suddenly to the light, airy, innocuous suit, only to run into him days of weather that would raise hair frost on a polar bear? If more wives would compel their husbands to wear thick, heavy-based underwear throughout the year around we would not have so many employees laying off during the dog days with a nose like the headlight of a motor engine. Nobody ever heard of a Zulu Islander taking cold in August because of wearing too little underwear, which proves that we have a lot to learn from the unlettered and ring-nosed heathen.

The summer cold starts with a series of low, pennyroyal sneezes which result in a splitting kindling with the knee cap. The summer sneeze is a deceptive article and ebbs and flows with great rapidity. It will remain a lot to learn to sneeze for several hours and make the owner believe that the last quinine capsule has hit the target, then will suddenly begin to sneeze in a high-pitched staccato, interrupting an important telephone conversation and causing eighty cents' worth of overtime. This can be avoided by seizing the summer cold in time and putting on a pre-shrunk wool union suit that laps neatly about both ankles.

IT IS CHEAPER AND BETTER TO STAY AT HOME AND GO TO BED WITH A LATE NOVEL AND A CAMPHOR BOTTLE.

There is nothing that will completely cure a summer cold except time. If a person is willing to wait until the cold has been beaten, he can then exchange his cold for any approved form of grip, even up. Some people go to a resort where mineral spring water can be rented by the day or week and have an overworked nose therein, but it is cheaper and better to stay at home and go to bed with a late novel and a camphor bottle. No one should laugh at the victim of a summer cold, for it is liable so leap in the direction of the scroffer and cause him to wish that bandaged chiefs were made as big as bed-spreads.

sketch fello. He's down here looking for a job in. Angus says small towns for small men. Travels all over the world like we have broadens a fello's mind. The only thing that might have broadened Angus in the weight of that tin derby he wore. Angus says a fello ought to be fitted for his bluish.

He ought to be a tailor model, eh Mable. Seems old Bill, you see. He said he was going to study all the different bluishes in town. He didn't care if it took him a couple of days. These had got a job in the one he liked best on a clean up. I think he got the cart before the horse that time.

I told Angus about Uncle Charlie an his ex and import bluish. I guess he'd be tickled to death to get another fello like me who had traveled an learned to talk all kinds of languages. Besides had always take a friend of mine. Angus said that was just the kind of a job he was looking for. Then he ask what was it.

I explained an simple as I could. I said the ex and import bluish was a kind of a trade scheme. Besides make in money you traveled round the world on boats an saw funny looking places an people. That got Angus excited. He says those is the words you got to be fixest with, when he got him to enlist. He's all thru with free education. There's always horses an diggins in it somewhere. You got to be fixest with a fello like Angus. The only thing that fello can grasp quick is a dollar bill. I showed him with a for example, I borrow money enuff to buy a boat load of dry prunes. I take them to Africa an swap em for a boat load of electric tasks. I come home an swap the tasks for twice as many dry prunes. I go to Africa an swap them for twice as many electric tasks. For those I

A. M. an come out lookin like the janitor of the mint. Angus says always start at the bottom an work up. We began with shoes.

Well, Mable, I found out what the magicians mean when they talk about how the war has changed us. Its our feet. Neither of us feet will ever be the same Angus. Ever since I been wearin army shoes they've run. Sort of like a pan cake that's bit to loose.

A fello brought us a pair of shoes shaped like a shield. I guess they was bit for a fello with only one toe. They had army shoes. Their bit on the clear of a ferry boat. But these were dangerous. If you ever get foolin around an kicked a fello it would be like stickin him with a bayonet.

The shoe fello looked kind of sorry for us. He said those was called Menie Mens Deltos they was ex broad. Angus says they ought to salute them in the cavalry. They could put an on backwards an see the toes for spurs.

Just to get started somewhere the we bought a pair that didn't hurt much when we was a fello down. The fello says they was only $13.50 (thirteen fifty). I explained how I want buyin em by dozen like bananas or anything. I just wanted a pair for myself to walk in. I had my doubts about the best part of it tho. He said we was lucky. We'd run into a sale. We probably the last time we'd ever buy a pair of shoes at that price. That was the first sensible thing he'd said Mable.

He told us how the price of cowhick had gone up an account of the shortage of the grass or something. If we know how much he made on a pair of shoes he thought we'd hate to take em. Angus says he did. A lot. He says they ought to give away a pair of

"I thought it was funny when she sank for the first time!" exclaimed one of the watchers.

Just then she went down for the third time, and all the watchers began to think it was funny.

"Help!" she cried. "Help me!"

"I'll get her," cried one of the life guards. They argued about it a while and then tossed a coil, and it fell to the lot of Ambrose Riley to go and rescue her. Fortunately he dipped one foot in the water to see how cold it was and plunged in. The big waves battered at him and the little waves took a shot at him because they saw the big waves doing it.

She was going down for the eleventh time when well high exhausted, he reached her.

"I'll help you," he gasped weakly. "I don't think it's any use," she said reproachfully. "It was my favorite ring, too. I don't see how it ever slipped off my finger."

Recognizing from the pictures on the posters that she was Belle La Blanche, the diving mermaid from the Hippodrome, he asked her with tears in his eyes to please help him in, and she did, smothering his plaudits of the still admiring crowd.

Are You Superstitious?

By IMOGENE BURCH

KNOCKING ON WOOD

Almost every person seems to be given to superstition in some form or other. In a recent investigation among the students of the University of Oregon, a professor discovered that out of 600 students, about half that number admitted that they still allowed superstition to influence their conduct. Of these nearly two-thirds were women!

With some of us, superstition has taken the form of a deep-seated belief that if we do not perform some certain ceremony evil will be sure to result. Others of us say to ourselves, "It may do no good, but it can do no harm."

And so to be on the safe side, we carry a rabbit's foot in our pocket, wish over our right shoulder when we see a new moon cross our fingers to avoid bad luck, or wear our four-leaf clover tucked away in our shoe.

One of the most prevalent customs indulged in by men of science as well as by illiterate men, is knocking on wood. Its origin is often disputed. Some attribute it to the religious rite of touching a crucifix when taking an oath, and others to beads of a rosary touched in prayer. Ignorant people of Europe used to knock loudly to ward off evil spirits. Its introduction into this country seems to have become well-nigh universal; even a president of the United States is accused of resorting to it.

To bring about good health, or success, according to the general belief, surmounts the envy of the powers of evil, and to counteract this one must either touch wood, or as some authorities claim, knock on wood three times.

Charms of wood are often worn on watch chains so that the wearer may have an article handy for the purpose. From this practice other superstitions have arisen. A well-known Wall Street financier always plays with his massive gold watch, in the belief that the touch of gold will insure success.

The story is told of Sir Walter Scott, who, when a student at college, used to fumble with a wooden button attached to his coat, which he seemed to think brought him success in his recitations. One day his fellow students secretly cut off this talisman, and he became so flustered, on discovering its absence, that he failed completely in his recitations and had to be sent to the foot of his class.

Moncton Paper Says Standard Is Right

Standard's Advice to St. John to Clean Up Should be Acted on—Doing City Fathers Good Service in Prodding Them into Action.

(Moncton Transcript.)

St. John is having an inward searching, and apparently The Standard has grave doubts as to the city's fitness to receive the Prince of Wales. It wants the city to clean up and it talks about the scrap metal dump and the dirt and the squallor which surround the union depot and the other gateways of the city. It appears, according to The St. John Standard, that all these obnoxious sights will be practically thrust into the face of His Royal Highness. The Standard is very dissatisfied with St. John and no wonder. It proceeds to say:

"Moncton and other cities leave a pleasant impression on the casual traveller, even if he does not stop off and visit the place, for they have endeavored to make the railway depot a thing of beauty and to keep the surroundings in harmony with the good impression they wish to make."

The above is true and while by all means let The Standard's advice to St. John, to clean up be acted upon, yet the fact it brings out should suggest to the provincial government au-

DISABLED VETERANS EAGER FOR TRAINING

Efforts of the Government Meet With Enthusiastic Response from Wounded Men.

Washington, July 17.—Disabled soldiers retraining with the Federal Board for Vocational Education believe in passing along the good things they have found. A young fellow, one of the first to go to France, came back with a shrapnel wound in his side, after having been gassed, but he still has pluck enough left to undertake a course in mechanical drafting. He is so pleased with the change in his future outlook that he wants other wounded boys to know and writes: "I hope some one will take the trouble to tell them. Tell the people for me that those boys ought to know about it, ought to have a chance to learn."

Another boy, in speaking of his training, says: "Without this chance I would be up against it."

The government stands ready to point every disabled soldier in the country to a better job, and those who are availing themselves of the opportunity are proving that their aim, to make good. The soldiers' approval proves that the scheme is sound.

Any soldier who wants to know more particulars of the plan may write to the Federal Board for Vocational Education, 90 New Jersey Ave., Washington.

COLLEGES GETTING BUSY.

The present summer has witnessed a marked resumption of activity on the part of those in control of the more important educational institutions in Canada. Undoubtedly universities and colleges faced a serious problem during the years of the war, which in many cases amounted to the practical breaking up of their classes. Indeed in some of these institutions, particularly in the west, certain college years were cancelled altogether, while in other institutions the number of students taking various courses were too small to justify the retention of full staffs. This condition in some instances resulted in difficult financing, for our smaller institutions of learning are not close to the wind in money matters and the loss of students' fees proves a serious matter. Faculties were depleted to a marked extent, as among the professors were men who felt themselves young enough to take up military service and who voluntarily relinquished their positions to go overseas.

This time of depression has gone by and however much ordinary business may be affected, conditions in the educational world everywhere show a very decided improvement. Not only is there no further drain on the young men preparing for college, but those who have interrupted their education to go overseas are home again to resume their college courses, and in addition to these there are thousands of soldiers who for various reasons have found it necessary to take up courses offered to them by our universities. Many who through disability have been prevented from resuming their former occupations are planning to learn new trades and professions, and apart from those who will accept courses offered by the government there will be many others entering college. Thus even in our provincial institutions the departmental heads are looking forward to more numerous classes of students than ever before, while the larger universities have for some time been making great preparations for the anticipated rush which is now at hand. Not only are the regular classes filling up, but there is a demand for instruction along lines not formerly included in our general scheme of education, and vocational and technical training in all its branches will be more generally in demand than before. Recognizing this, colleges in all provinces are extending their facilities and increasing their equipment, in a determination to meet the demand made upon them.

THE LOCAL TICKET.

It is popularly understood that political candidates are selected by party conventions held for that purpose. As a matter of fact in common practice the candidates are usually chosen well in advance, and the selection is made by leaders of the party who have previously secured consent of the men themselves is merely confirmed by the convention. In accordance with this custom there is today well defined understanding that the local government has arranged the ticket for St. John City in the next election, and that the names which will go before the convention when it is called will be Han, W. E. Foster, Dr. W. F. Roberts, R. T. Cyster and W. M. Ryan. It has been generally understood that Mayor Ryan's inclinations have been for some time towards political life and that he has aspirations which he feels for some future time carry him to the law. For the present, however, he will be content with a nomination as the local legislator. Mr. Ryan is rewarded with a nomination as a result of his adherence to the leadership of Mr. Foster during the present confusion of policies of the Federal party. He is not regarded as a powerful candidate. Indeed it is felt almost everywhere that his election would be unwise were it not for the assistance from friends of Dr. Roberts is expected to keep him fairly in line with the rest of the ticket. Mr. Foster, who now represents Victoria County, is coming back to St. John City. He does not care to face heat in this county, but believes his name are better among city electors. It is understood that this lineup was arranged only last week, but that it is being made known to members of the party throughout the city in the time comes for calling a convention. This ticket, it will be noted, does not include any representatives of the element which disagreed with Mr. Foster's views in the election of delegates to the Dominion convention.

AL AND OTHER INDUSTRIES.

The British government the other announced an increase in the price of coal, which advance because of the determined opposition it met throughout the country, has been temporarily suspended. This increase has been arranged in order that the moment, now supervising the operation of coal mines, might be in a position to meet the demand of mine workers for higher wages and shorter hours and thus prevent the cessation of work, reduction of the coal output, and consequent slowing down of all other industries. The argument used by Sir Eric Geddes in support of the government's action in this regard is a direct contradiction of the content put forward by the miners that the less work a man does the more there is for someone else to do. That doctrine is being spread in every country where demands for shorter hours have been presented, the intimidation being that by reducing the hours of labor a larger number of men will be employed and production increased. Sir Eric's reply to this is that if every man will do all he possibly can, the result of his labor will directly affect all other lines of industry and so provide more work for more men at better pay than is possible under shortened hours. The reasonableness of this contention has been recognized by the mine workers of England as well as by operators and the whole matter is now being held up pending the outcome of an inquiry into existing conditions. The government expects to show conclusively that cessation of mining operations by a few thousands of men in the hope of securing shorter hours of labor will mean only widespread idleness incurred in expectation of future employment for comparatively few additional persons, and will result in cessation of activities affecting hundreds of thousands, and perhaps millions, of others whose prosperity depends upon the measure of activity enjoyed by the industries in which they are employed made possible only through sufficient coal production.

NURSES' SALARIES.

Members of the nursing profession have joined the general chorus and are asking for higher wages. A resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Association calls for a minimum wage of twenty-one dollars per week, with twenty-five dollars for contagious diseases. This seems like pretty good pay. Nurses of course perform very necessary and very valuable work and unfortunately these services are required by people at times when other expenditures are abnormally high, when doctors and druggists' and additional help around the house must also be provided for. And nurses, too, enjoy advantages in which other employees are not privileged to participate. The graduate nurse no doubt has to maintain her own room, but when on a case for any extended period she is often able to sublet her quarters and secure along with her wages sleeping accommodation at the home of the patient, and what is of much more importance—she gets all her meals. Twenty-one dollars per week under these circumstances is equal to at least thirty dollars a week for a worker living at home or paying board. On the other hand, nurses are called upon to perform many unpleasant, disagreeable tasks, to exercise constant care and watchfulness, to put up with the whims and crankiness of the sick, to be always cheerful and obliging, even towards those who anticipate too much from human endurance, and to maintain the balance of power between the attending physician and the family of the patient. Twenty-one dollars a week is little enough to pay a nurse just for living in the same house with some people, without doing anything for the patient, while in other instances such kindness is displayed that the amount of remuneration is or but slight importance. In view of responsibilities imposed upon the nursing profession, responsibilities more constant than those borne by the attending physician, there will be little objection to the comparatively slight advance which the Association now asks. It is merely another evidence of the increased cost of living.

WHAT THEY SAY

Breaking the World's Heart.
New York Sun: "I dare we reflect it," said the President to the Senate, "and break the heart of the world." Break the heart of Great Britain, for example—Great Britain, whose Parliament broke into derisive laughter when Premier Lloyd George, in an incidental and most good-natured way, mentioned the President's League of Nations to the House of Commons?

Who Won the War?
Ulster Observer: "It is right to speak of our allies," says Marshal Haig, "but it was the British army that won the war. Of course it was the British army that won the war. The Italian army also won the war. So did the Russian army, and if it hadn't been for the American army, all of the other armies would have lost the war. The American army won the war."

Exhortation Unnecessary.
New York World: "But despite of the live-stock growers' fervent appeal, all restrictions are not off. There is still the restriction, prohibitive in many cases, extortionate in price, and a further menace to the public in this situation is revealed by the federal trade commission's warning that the packing monopoly is rapidly acquiring control of all food substitutes. When the best meat gets ready to offer a few bargains in the retail markets it will not need to exhort anybody to buy."

until the restriction, prohibitive in many cases, extortionate in price, and a further menace to the public in this situation is revealed by the federal trade commission's warning that the packing monopoly is rapidly acquiring control of all food substitutes. When the best meat gets ready to offer a few bargains in the retail markets it will not need to exhort anybody to buy.

Now Up to the Senate.

Springfield Republican: The President, let us remember, has now performed, if he has not exhausted, his constitutional function in negotiating this peace settlement embodied in a great conception of world statesmanship. It is at least to his credit that for a world problem of staggering complexity he had ready a solution which has been applied with boldness and in the opinion of many competent observers, with as much sagacity and skill as the difficult circumstances have allowed.

Declare Our Purpose.

New York Tribune: No persuasive reason has yet been adduced as to why any one should object to the proposed reservations. What life the league has still would be a going concern, for no one would "reserve" against naming representatives, or the assemblage of the conference, or the performance of the administrative acts laid on the league's council. The league would function under one kind of ratification as freely as under the other. The only difference would be that our people and the world would know our attitude toward the world, and we should interpret the covenant as a declaration of our destiny to alien hands. If this nation would lead the world, we should not be afraid to show our hand, and may, the best course for it to pursue is the honest one of declaring our purposes openly and loudly.

A BIT OF VERSE

THE SOLDIER SPEAKS.
(By Edward E. Kidder)
"Rude am I, but I have a speech and little bluest with the soft phrase of peace!" —Othello.
They've signed—oh, yes—with sighs
But if you think they'll keep the peace,
And signals of distress—
You've got another guess.
We know these Helms, root and branch,
And all their crooked acts;
We've lost our pals, our limbs, our
In finding out the facts!
The President has done his best,
But this, I'll bet, is true—
If Woodrow's feelings could be seen,
They'd all be black and blue;
With over twenty nations there,
To keep them well in line would take
An angel from the skies!

If I should dare to give a hint,
I'd say there was a chance toward
O Prussian Propaganda bid
Right there in Paris, France;
Scuttle a ship? Of course they would—
They're pirates ripe and rank,
I wonder that they don't think
To make us walk the plank!
You can't reform those Prussians
With any gentle touch;
You can't make decent music
Out of hymns of Hate, and such.
If Foch had just been let a one
When he was galled right
We had a peace that was a peace—
Oh, well—let's hope. Good night!

MEMORY.

In my poor mind it is most sweet to muse
Upon the days gone by; to act in thought
Past seasons' o'er, and be again a child;
To sit in fancy on the turf-slab slope,
Down which the child would roll; to pluck gay flowers,
Make posies in the sun, which the child's hand
(Childhood offended soon, soon reconciled)
Would throw away, and straight take up again,
Then fling them to the winds, and o'er the lawn
Bound with so playful and so light a foot,
That the pressed daisy scarce declined her head.

A BIT OF FUN

If you would criticize your boss get fully a mile away from everybody, then whisper to yourself.
Addition to self and subtraction from others comprise some men's sole knowledge of arithmetic.
It is as difficult to understand some people as it is for a bald-headed man to know where to leave off washing his face and start on his head.
Housekeeper—What makes you so late with the milk these mornings?
Milkman—Well, you see, mum, the law doesn't allow us any more than 25,000,000 bacteria to the gallon, and you wouldn't believe how long it takes to count the little varmin't!

"Listen to this, Maria," said Mr. Stubb, as he unfolded his scientific paper. "This article states that in some of the old Roman prisons there have been unearthed they found the petrified remains of the prisoners."
"Gracious, John!" exclaimed Mrs. Stubb, with a smile, "then's what they call hardened criminals, I expect."
Out of His Line.
Mrs. Gushing (at a private view)—suppose you are greatly interested in the cubists and futurists, Mr. Maistlick?
Mr. Maistlick—My dear madam, I'm a painter—not an alienist.—Buffalo Express.

The Soldier's Protest.
Bishop Flipper said in Atlanta: "A colored chaplain was addressing a squad of colored men back of Barrow-Duc.
"Boys," he said, "Satan is powerful, but he is not omnipotent. He is bound with chains, yet he can get at you—and the chaplain pointed to a Mobile soldier—and he can get at

"Yes, sir," answered the fair client; "what I think I've got now is a safe and sane fourth."

Simplified Reading.
The governors was listening to the children's reading lesson, says the Philadelphia North American and her attention was, perhaps, wandering a little when suddenly she was brought back to earth by hearing young Timothy declaim: "Step on it."
"This is a warm doughnut. Step on it."
"Timothy, whatever are your reading?" she exclaimed. "Let me see your book."
She looked and this is what she found: "This is a worm. Do not step on it."

WEDDINGS.

Brown-Elliott.
A wedding of more than usual interest took place at Annapolis Ridge, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Elliott, when their youngest daughter, Cora Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Everett James Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brown, Cornhill.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Greer in the presence of about one hundred of the immediate relatives. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very charming in a beautiful gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with gold beads. She wore a bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern.
The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father to the strains of the bridal march from "Lohengrin," played by Miss Jean Allison, of Sussex. She looked very charming as she went under an arch of evergreens and white roses in a room beautifully decorated for the occasion. She was followed by Miss Dorothy Elliott, cozier young congratulatory, a very sumptuous dinner was served in the dining room. The wedding gifts were numerous. They consisted of a cheque for $75 and a dining room suite from the bride's parents, and $100 each from the brother and sister of the bride, besides several smaller cheques. There were also numerous gifts of furniture, glass, silver ware, linen, etc. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, to the pianist he gave a $5 gold piece and to the flower girl a signet ring.
After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brown departed for their new home. Their many friends unite in wishing the young couple every prosperity and a long life of happiness together.

Says Wife Looks 20 Years Younger

Well Known Stock and Cattle Buyer Praises Tanlac — Mrs. George Reeves Gained Fifteen Pounds—Suffered Ten Years.

"Well, sir, my wife looks twenty years younger since she commenced taking this Tanlac, and has actually gained fifteen pounds in weight," said George Reeves, a well-known cattle and stock buyer, who lives at 263 Margorie street, Winnipeg, the other day.

"For ten long years," continued Mr. Reeves, "my wife hardly knew what a well day was. Her nerves were in such terrible condition that the least thing would upset her, and she never got a good night's sleep. Honestly, I don't see how she lived on the little sleep she got, for I have known her get up for weeks at a time and never set more than an hour's sleep any night. Her appetite was very poor. In fact, she ate so little that it's a wonder to me that she held up half as long as she did. She suffered nearly all the time with a heavy pain in the small of her back, and she finally got so weak and run down that she was not able to do any part of her household work. During the time she was in such bad health, she tried almost every medicine she heard of, and many different treatments, but nothing seemed to help her at all.

"Well, we saw Tanlac advertised then, and decided to see if it would do her any good, and I have never in all my life seen anything to equal the honest truth, she doesn't look like the same woman. All that nervousness has left her, and she sleeps just fine every night. She is never bothered with that pain in the back any more, and, in fact, she is just simply enjoying perfect health in every way. Now, that is what Tanlac did for my wife after she had suffered all these years, and that is just why we are such strong believers in it, and I'll tell you right now that we never expect to be without a bottle of it in our house."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

Mrs. H. Hornbeam And Women's Votes

After Remarking That the Old Line Liberals Showed Mr. Foster Where He Fits, She Said Liberals Acted as if They Didn't Care for Women's Votes.

"I see the old line Liberals have shown Hon. Mr. Foster where he fits," said Mrs. Hornbeam. "But what I'd like to know is where do they think we women are going to be when the general election is called? So far as I can find out they haven't thought about it at all. All the Libs talk and act as if they did not care a brass farthing about the women's vote."

"I suppose you know why Hiram has been running around with the young tips of Canterbury street drinking peanut sundais, and dancing with the flappers of Brown's Flat. I have been up in Toronto and Ottawa studying the political situation, so I'll know how to vote. Toronto, they tell me, is the intellectual centre of Canada. They have some bright newspaper men there, almost as bright as that young tip of Hiram's on the Times. I read with interest in the Toronto papers that Premier Foster would represent Newfoundland at the convention of Canadian Liberals. I suppose Mr. Foster has to look around for Terra Neva, St. John not considering him good enough to represent N. B. I also gathered from the Toronto papers that Alberta is now a constituency in New Brunswick, which maybe shows that Premier Foster has been busy and got for N. B. the share in western lands which she claims. I tell you the Toronto papers take a broad view of some things, and I never was so proud to be a voter of N. B. The way N. B. is spreading herself in the Toronto papers I would not be surprised if Mr. Foster captures the Liberal leadership."

"But I haven't much use for them Liberal politicians of Ontario. They're bound to ruin the grand old Liberal party if they can. They're so full of fight they can't wait for an election; so they're fighting among themselves. Mr. Rowell and Mr. Proudfoot and all the men who led Liberalism in Ontario in the old days say that the bunch that elected Mr. Dewar leader of the Ontario party were only "so-called Liberals, and the Star, the evening organ of the Toronto Liberals, supports Mr. Rowell and Mr. Proudfoot against the surper. The Christian Guardian says that genuine Liberals cannot support Mr. Dewar, who was elected to the legislature by the liquor interests, and is regarded as the white horse of the liquor party. No wonder poor Hiram is worried and declaring the Surper on prohibition. Next thing he'll have to be telling everybody that the Liberal convention at Ottawa was a fiasco, because the Ontario Liberals sent the white hope of the anti-Prohibitionists there."

DOMINION TIRES

Royal Cord

The Ideal Touring Tires

Blow-outs and punctures are the bane of the touring motorists. Don't spoil your trip by being held up by such accidents. Equip your car, front and rear, with "DOMINION ROYAL CORD" TIRES.

The tens of thousands of sinewy cords, laid in compact layers and each imbedded in pure rubber, make a tire structure and tire wall free of friction, puncture-proof and practically blow-out proof.

More than this, "DOMINION ROYAL CORD" TIRES in themselves are shock absorbers and prevent side-slipping.

Careful tests also prove that a car equipped with "DOMINION ROYAL CORD" TIRES makes more miles per gallon of gasoline than the same car can make on fabric tires. This means a big saving in actual cash, when touring.

DOMINION INNER TUBES are the touring mates of Dominion Tires. They are made of the same high grade materials; they go well together; and they insure perfectly balanced tires.

DOMINION TIRES and ACCESSORIES are distributed through DOMINION RUBBER SYSTEM BRANCHES and sold by the Best Dealers throughout Canada.

How Fair Vale Celebrated Peace

Interesting Baseball Game, Swimming and Boat Races, Bonfires and Fireworks Among Items on Enjoyable Programme.

The Peace celebration in Fair Vale on Saturday was one that will long be remembered. The Fair Vale Outing Association was determined to make it a day of all days, one that would be fitting to the termination of the world's greatest war, for many a young man from that parish had gone forward at the sound of the trumpet to do their bit, and a great number having returned were seen among the vast crowd enjoying themselves.

All Saturday morning the committee from the association were kept busy decorating the park and beach with flags and pennants, building booths, etc. In preparation for the occasion every house from the station to the beach was gorgeously decorated with flags and certainly made a splendid picture.

At 2:30 the programme of the day was opened with a game of baseball between the Pirates of St. John and the Fair Vale team. At the finish of the ball game all wended their way to the beach to witness the boat race and swimming races, which proved most interesting.

On the grounds candy, ice cream, etc. was to be had aplenty.

One of the features of the day and probably the most interesting, was a basket competition in which there were three prizes given. In the evening a bonfire in the centre of the river as well as one on the shore, along with a splendid display of fireworks was enjoyed.

At 2:45 a ball game was started between the Pirates of St. John and the Fair Vale team. The Pirates having the choice of play took the field, with Mr. Kerr in the box and Mr. McGowan catcher. The game was umpired in an impartial manner by Mr. Chisholm.

The Fair Vales at the bat began pounding the ball all over the field, ending their first inning with four runs to their credit.

In the first inning of the Pirates, not having settled down to real ball playing were able to get but one run.

The second inning of the Fair Vales the tables changed, the Pirates having taken Kerr out of the box and substituted Miller, who with his curves and outshoots proved a puzzler to the Fair Vale boys, they going down in one, two, three order. In this inning no runs.

In the second inning of the Pirates they managed to get another man across the home plate.

In the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings the Fair Vales were unable to get a man beyond third base.

The Pirates in their third and fourth innings were blanked.

The Fair Vales in their eighth inning settled down to ball playing again and notted two more runs to their score.

In the fifth inning of the Pirates one more run was got; in the sixth they were blanked, but in the seventh four men crossed the home plate, and in the ninth four more runs were got, making the total runs for the Pirates 11.

In the Fair Vales ninth inning they were again blanked, their total runs being six.

Scores by innings:
Fair Vales.....400000700-4
Pirates.....11001044x-11

Ed Sterling of the Fair Vales held the box down the full eight innings, and pitched great ball, and was ably held behind the bat by Lloyd King.

This was the first game for the Fair Vales with all outside teams, and did themselves credit, as it was the first time they had been called upon to play real ball. There is no doubt but that a much better show will be made at their next game.

Next came the competition among the ladies for the handsomest decorated basket. Each of these baskets were filled with fruit or fancy cake and pastry. The ladies, as in everything else they undertake, proved themselves masters of the art of decoration.

There were some fifty or sixty baskets sent in, and when spread alongside of each other on a large table made a very difficult task for the judges to decide who were entitled to the first, second and third prize.

The association determined to have no obstacle in the way selected judges not only outside of the association, but who were non-residents of Fair Vale.

The judges elected were:—Mr. Hayes, Mr. Niles, Miss Shoobred and Mrs. Spear.

The task of choosing being so difficult it took considerable time before they could decide on the winners, which were as follows:

First prize—Mrs. T. Stack, beautifully decorated basket on top of which stood the Dove of Peace entwined with the English rose and Canada's emblem the Maple Leaf.

Second prize—Mrs. Smith Thorne, basket built in the form of an arch, representing the Arch of Peace.

Third prize—Mrs. Geo. Swatka. This basket was built in the form of a sloop rigged yacht, on one side of the main sail worked in beads, was the word Victory, while on the other side was the word Peace.

Fourth prize was a beautifully decorated hanging basket entitled Seldam Inn Peace.

Mr. Kenneth Spear having been selected to distribute the several prizes, after a nice little speech in which he thanked all the ladies for the splendid, and he might say, tedious work, presented on behalf of the association each of the winners with their prize.

Now came the heavy part of the work for the Mr. T. Stack was chosen auctioneer, and this position, though not an amateur, he filled it admirably. There rose a great demand for the baskets as the auctioneer called for bids, some of them bringing as high as $4.75, $1 all netting a tidy little sum.

Boys' Swimming race was the next in order—distance 25 yards—Gilbert 1st, Sterling 2nd.

Gentlemen's swimming race—75 yards—Clark 1st, Stibley 2nd, Ed. Sterling 3rd.

Rowing race—Double oared working boats. When this race was called but two boats had arrived and the judges sent them off at the word go, the winners being Blair and Dooc of Rothesay.

Then came the bonfires. The committee had a large cradle built and on it piled a lot of brush, stumps, etc., had it towed to the centre of the river and there anchored, the torch set to it and left to the mercy of the wind, which made a magnificent site. There were also a large bonfire built on the shore which, between the two, lit up the river and beach for some distance.

At 9:50 a splendid display of fireworks was put off and thus ended another one of those great days of sport which the Fair Vale Association members have proven themselves masters.

The committee take this opportunity to thank all those who so ably assisted them in their arduous duty.

The committees of the association will now get down to work preparing for a grand day of sports on Labor Day.

RETURNED HEROES WELCOMED AT CAMBRIDGE

Over Two Hundred Gather at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Fanjoy to Welcome Their Sons from Overseas.

Cambridge, N. B., July 17.—A most delightful lawn party was held on the evening of July 14th, on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Fanjoy, of Cambridge, N. B. The occasion was to welcome home from overseas their sons, Charles and Harry. There were present upwards of two hundred people from the parishes of Cambridge, Waterborough, Johnston and Wicaham, with visitors from other parts of the province, among who were Rev. W. E. Carpenter of Humberston, Mr. M. J. Dorey, Mrs. J. MacAbery and others of St. John, and Mrs. Gilchrist of Apohaqui. Their many friends and acquaintances were most hearty in their congratulations and gave a tangible token of this in a purse of $11.10 to each of the boys.

Pastor D. Patterson made the presentation on behalf of the company, and each of the boys responded most feelingly, after which Rev. W. E. Carpenter, being called, gave a forceful address fitting to the occasion. Led by Pastor Patterson all with bowed heads said in unison the Lord's Prayer. The more formal part of the evening's proceedings was closed with singing of the National Anthem. The grounds were lighted up, and during the evening the older members in happy conversation and the younger members of the gathering in playing games made the event of most hearty fellowship. And too much cannot be said for the ladies who provided and served refreshments in a most liberal manner.

The committee take this opportunity to thank all those who so ably assisted them in their arduous duty.

The committees of the association will now get down to work preparing for a grand day of sports on Labor Day.

The unequalled mileages which we have claimed for Goodyear Cord Tires are a matter of record. The list shown here is representative of the experience of thousands of motorists. High average mileage is rightly expected of these super-quality tires.

Such mileage unfailingly results in lower tire-cost-per-mile. You, too, can reduce your year's tire bill by equipping your car with Goodyear Cord Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

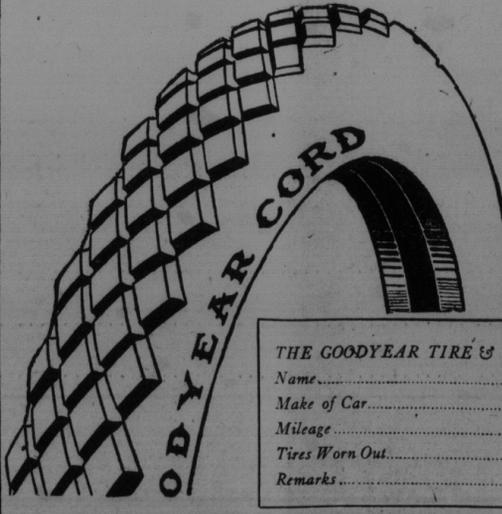

But, remember, Goodyear Cord Tires have virtues other than high mileage. Their extreme resiliency makes riding more comfortable, saves the car, reduces fuel consumption. They represent the final word in tire perfection.

HEAT CAUSES SLUMP IN LONDON THEATRES
Houses That Recently Played
to Capacity Now Report
Some Empty Seats.

The coming of hot weather has caused somewhat of a slump in the theatrical business in London, "The London Times" says:
"Theatres presenting more serious forms of entertainment were the first to be affected, though there were one or two notable exceptions to the general rule. Entertainments which a week ago were playing to capacity have now empty seats for the first time for weeks. But managers are not inclined to grumble. They realize that they have enjoyed an extraordinary spell of prosperity, and no one believes that the boom is yet at an end. The first heavy fall of rain, it is felt, will drive the people back to the theatres, especially in view of the fact that at the moment there does not seem to be much prospect of open air competition this summer from Baird's Court or the White City.
"A favorite method of speculation in theatrical circles at present is as to how long the boom occasioned by the war will continue. The pessimists put its duration at a few months only;
the optimists hope that it will continue for at least a further two years. At the same time, it is generally agreed that with the coming of peace audiences will be much more critical than they have been during the war and will demand a higher standard of entertainment. If they do not get it

ATTITUDE OF THE PHYSICIANS MENTIONED FROM THE PULPIT

Rev. Neil McLaughlin, Preaching in Portland Methodist Church Yesterday, Said That Medical Men in Recent Session Had Made Serious Mistake in Condemning Prohibition Legislation.

In the Portland Methodist church, yesterday, Rev. Neil McLaughlin dealt with the attitude of the physicians of the province, as expressed at the recent session of the New Brunswick Medical Society in this city, toward the New Brunswick Prohibition Act, and in doing so placed himself on record as believing the medical men had made a serious mistake in condemning that legislation. At the morning service he traced the progress of temperance legislation during the past fifty years and the resolution adopted by the Society regarding the Prohibition Act, and at the evening service the statements made by certain physicians, as reported in the public press, relating in regard to the latter that as they had not been consulted he presumed them to be correct.

In introducing his morning address Mr. McLaughlin said the action of the Medical Society had thrown the weight of that body in the scale on the side of those who were working for the repeal of the Prohibition Act, and there must be some answer made by the friends of the Act or people would be led to think they had the facts all on their side, and for that reason he had thought it wise to deal with the matter. He had the highest respect for the medical men of New Brunswick and believed they were in the whole of the highest moral character, and for that reason their statements, if left unchallenged, would do more harm to the temperance cause. Dealing with the progress of the temperance movement he pointed out that it was the chemist, not the doctor, who had first discovered the effect of alcohol on the human system, and he then traced the various steps which had eventually led up to the adoption of the present law, a law which the proposition of the physicians, as outlined in their resolution, unintentionally or intentionally he was not prepared to say, tended to weaken. He believed the majority of the doctors were in favor with temperance legislation, and he asked them to remember that while some members of the profession were willing to lower it by practically descending to bootlegging, there must be restrictions which applied to all.

In regard to the statement that restrictions surrounded the sale of alcohol which did not exist in regard to other drugs, the speaker pointed out that restrictions surrounded the sale of every drug. Dealing with the adulteration argument advanced, he asked, "Where have these Hip Van Winkles been for the last generation?" and went on to point out that twenty years ago a chemist in the city of New York had fooled a lot of brewers, distillers and expert tasters by using wood alcohol as base and coloring and aging it with chemicals, and afterward made the statement that most of the liquor sold in this country for the past thirty-five years had been adulterated. This instance Mr. McLaughlin took from Vance Thompson's book in connection with the one case a day on one person the speaker contended that the occasions on which it might be necessary to have two sales to the one person must be very rare indeed, and he thought in chemical matters would be enough alcohol in the liquor bought for internal use to use externally.

At the evening service he took up the remarks of the individual physicians and dealt first with Dr. G. A. B. Addy. He wanted to know how Dr. Addy knew that twenty-five per cent. of the drinks arrested were made so by liquor and seventy-five per cent. by lemon extract. There was no record of how a man got drunk and anyway what mattered it whether the alcohol which made him drunk was in liquor or lemon extract. The doctor had also made a charge of bootlegging and the illicit use of lotions and ointments, and the speaker contended that these things would be lessened, and to this he was prepared to say amen. LUMBER SHIPMENTS ARE PLENTIFUL

Many Steamers and Large Schooners Are Leaving Provincial Ports With Lumber for Overseas.

"We are having the busiest summer season along the water front we have had for many years," declared a man prominent in shipping circles in conversation with The Standard yesterday. "Lumber is moving out of the province at a tremendous rate. Not only are the big steamers being used as lumber carriers, but every schooner that can be chartered is loading for overseas ports."

SCHOONER WAS SUBMARINE DECOY

The Charles Whittemore, Which Left Port Friday Cruised Atlantic Seaboard During War to Entice U-Boats to Their Doom.

The large four-masted schooner Charles Whittemore, registered at New York, went to sea Friday, laden with 771,000 feet of deals, for the Preston docks.

The Charles Whittemore, laden with lumber, presents a prosaic appearance far out of keeping with her previous career during the last two years of war when she roamed along the American Atlantic seaboard as a decoy for the damnable U-boat, cruising along the shores, outside the three-mile limit with a hidden escort of two American submarines.

Lieut. Martin A. Hales, of the U. S. Naval Reserve Force, master of the vessel, stated that the craft has been all through the U-boat blockade and has danced along the three-mile danger mark, but has never had a scratch. Though her work was on par with the first line offensive action of the regular naval vessels.

The death of Mrs. Lydia Robinson, wife of Charles Robinson, of Norton, took place at the General Public Hospital on Saturday after an illness of about one week. Besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. John Birchard, of Medford, Mass., and Mrs. W. E. Collins, of Glen Falls, survive.

The funeral will take place at Norton this afternoon on the arrival of the C. P. R. from this city.

Position in Regard To Prohibition

Rev. D. B. Harkness of Dominion Prohibition Committee at Services Last Evening Said Position in Dominion Looks Hopeful in Spite of Senate's Attitude.

The Dominion position in regard to prohibition looks hopeful, in spite of the unsatisfactory attitude of the Senate, said Rev. D. B. Harkness of the Dominion Prohibition Committee, at the Maritime Provinces convention with the leaders of the prohibition movement.

"Although the Senate has repeatedly rejected the legislation adopted by the Commons, we have reason to be satisfied with the position. At a conference representing the Commons provinces representing the Commons and the Senate it was proposed that a compromise be arranged on the basis of allowing the order-in-council to stand to March 31st, 1920, in rejecting this proposition we think the Senate put itself in a bad position, and set itself in defiance to the elected representatives of the people. On the closing day of the session Mr. Borden said that the question would be brought up again at the next session of the House, which is expected to be in the fall, and meantime there would be no change of legislation."

It should be emphasized that the Dominion legislation which we are seeking will recognize the jurisdiction of the provinces to the fullest possible extent. The principle we are working on is that the provinces should have full control of all legislation of a social character. The object of the Dominion legislation is simply to sustain and enable the effective carrying out of provincial legislation. The Dominion legislation will only deal with the manufacture, importation of shipments of liquor, and will be of a nature to protect the provinces in carrying out whatever prohibitive legislation they may desire. What New Brunswick decides to do the liquor question is not our business. Ontario take a prohibitive in the fall, and I suppose other provinces will do so. If New Brunswick decides to continue prohibition we want Dominion legislation which will enable the provincial authorities to enforce prohibition with as little trouble as possible."

Mr. Harkness preached in Centenary church yesterday morning, and will go on to Halifax this week. Before his return to Toronto he will also visit Prince Edward Island and investigate the situation there.

Accident On Rothesay Road

Horse and Carriage in Collision With Automobile Friday Evening—Mrs. Woodley of Carmarthen Street Quite Badly Injured.

A serious mishap occurred in the Rothesay road near Glen Falls Friday evening when a one horse rig, and an automobile were in collision. As a result Mrs. Woodley of Carmarthen street is in the General Public Hospital suffering from injuries about the head.

The story of the accident is that the automobile, occupied by a gentleman and two women, was proceeding towards the city when a carriage occupied by two women and a gentleman came in sight. There appeared to be plenty of room, but when the horse came near the auto it appeared to veer toward the automobile. The sharp turn of the rear of the car, and this threw the front wheels of the carriage off the ground and dumped the occupants on the road. The auto driver immediately went to the aid of those on the road near Mrs. Woodley, who was injured. She was immediately taken to the General Public Hospital, where everything possible was done to relieve her suffering. Yesterday it was said that she was progressing favorably and no serious results were anticipated.

The woman in the auto had a narrow escape for when the shaft of the carriage ploughed through the auto top it passed within a few inches of one of the women, but fortunately was deflected by the other.

CLERGYMAN TELLS WHAT IS NEEDED

Rev. F. P. Dennison in Sermon Said City Needed Better Streets, Better Schools, Better Paid Teachers, Better Government and Revival of Real Religion.

Rev. F. P. Dennison, of St. Thomas, Ont., occupied the pulpit in Tabernacle Baptist church, Haymarket square, at both services yesterday.

At the morning service he spoke on "This City's Greatest Need." He pointed out the present conditions of the city and suggested several much-needed improvements. The city was in need of better streets, better schools, better paid school teachers and better government, but the greatest need of all was a real revival of real religion.

Rev. Mr. Dennison was given an attentive hearing and those present were all in accord with him as to the needs of this city.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Dennison spoke on "Theosophy."

Major C. J. Pincombe returned from Eastport on Saturday, and is now staying at the Dufron's.
