TUESDAY WAS DAY OF DAYS

Liberal Picnic at Carleton
The Banner Event of
The Season

IDEAL WEATHER

Eloquent Orators Predict Splendid Future for the Town of Campbellton.

With inspiring music and patriotic speeches; with boom of surf and the refreshing coolness of ocean breezes; with distinctive gaiety and an ether that is to be found nowhere outside of the shores of Bay Chaleur, pretty little Carleton, a mecca for French-Canadian tourists, demonstrated on Tuesday that it is an ideal spot for a merry band of picnickers.

The occasion was the annual outing of the liberals and their kin of the Counties of Gloucester, Restigouche and Bonaventure. Weather conditions could not have been better. There was scarcely a cloud in the sky and the ocean breeze kept everyone cool. Accompanied by the Citizens' band of Campbellton the New Brunswick contingent went down on the Interprovincial Navigation Company's steamer Lady Eileen. The trim little craft was gaily decorated for the occasion and everything possible provided by the management to insure the comfort of the many hundred on board. The boat left here at 9.30 and the sail down river proved a delightful one. Among those on board were O. Turgeon, M. P. for Gloucester, Chief Commissioner LaBilloy, William Currie, M. P. for Restigouche and Judge McLachy of the County Court. When the steamer arrived at Carleton she was greeted by Hon. Charles Marcell, M. P. for Bonaventure, J. Hall Kelly, M. P. for Bonaventure, and hundreds who had come from all parts of the county to take in the demonstration.

Shortly after the arrival of the steamer dinner was served on the beach after which some of the excursionists went in bathing while others pursued various pleasures. At three o'clock Mr. Marcell followed by Messrs Turgeon, LaBilloy, Currie and Kelly mounted a platform amid three deafening cheers. When the ovation had subsided Mr. Marcell commenced to address the gathering in his customary eloquent manner. He spoke first in French and then in English. Mr. Marcell dwelt but little if any on party politics, patriotism being the key note of his remarks. He stated that while he was proud that France had been the home of his father's ancestors and Ireland that of his mother's he thanked God that he had been born and that he had lived under the British flag—a flag which accorded freedom and fair play to all. Mr. Marcell predicted a splendid future for the Bay Chaleur country and particularly for the town of Campbellton which was bound to become the centre of trade for the whole district and a city of twenty five or thirty thousand in a very few years.

Hon. Mr. LaBilloy followed Mr. Marcell. He referred in a very pleasing manner to the fact that Bonaventure county had been the place of his birth. Just then some old school fellow of days long since passed called out: "louder, Charlie." A smile passed across the countenance of the speaker but he continued as gracefully as before. Mr. LaBilloy shared the optimism of Mr. Marcell and felt that

MAGISTRATE ACQUITS SEELY OF THE CHARGE OF MURDER

Declares There is no Evidence Which Will Allow Him to Send Seely up for Trial.

CONSTABLE GALLOP'S CASE WAS ALSO DISMISSED

The joint preliminary examination of Gfo. Seely, charged with the murder of Peter Fontaine, and Wm. Gallop, charged with assaulting one Jalbert, was concluded yesterday at Dalhousie before Magistrate Windsor, and both defendants discharged, there being insufficient evidence, according to the presiding justice, to commit them.

The examination was resumed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. W. A. Mott appeared for the defence. He examined several witnesses, among whom was Capt. Powell who was on the coroner's jury. He testified that the evidence given by witnesses for the prosecution in the preliminary examination was not the same as that given at the inquest.

Gallop and Seely also took the stand and gave the same evidence as at the coroner's jury. At the afternoon session Mr. Mott made application for dismissal of the case on the grounds of insufficient evidence and contradictions in the testimony of the plaintiff's witnesses.

R. A. Lawlor, K. C., opposed the application, declaring that the magistrate should not take the responsibility of dismissing the case but should let it go before the grand jury.

Magistrate Windsor said that he did not find sufficient evidence to put the accused upon trial and he would therefore dismiss the information in the case.

BODY WAS WASHED ASHORE YESTERDAY AT DALHOUSIE

The remains of John Ashton, an Englishman who was drowned in the harbor here a few weeks ago, were washed up on the shore at Dalhousie, yesterday afternoon and soon afterwards found by passersby. Coroner Ferguson was notified and took charge of the remains. He empanelled a jury and held an inquest last evening.

Two of Ashton's chums who were with him at the time of the drowning went down to Dalhousie and testified. After one or two other witnesses had been examined the jury returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning. The remains were interred at Dalhousie today.

THIS PROVINCE WILL GET PLUM.

Portfolio of Minister of Railways to go to Dr Pugsley.
In near Future.

LEADING LIBERAL TALKS.

A prominent liberal politician who enjoys the confidence of Premier Laurier told a reporter for Events on Tuesday, that, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the portfolio of minister of railways would go again to a New Brunswick man. He further stated that it might be accepted as certain that the Hon. Wm. Pugsley would be the man who would receive the appointment.

Campbellton would soon be a large and thriving town, the centre of trade for the whole Bay Chaleur country.

Mr. Turgeon, the fluent and pleasing orator from Gloucester was the next speaker. He, too, predicted splendid things for the northern counties and his remarks were frequently punctuated with applause.

Mr. Kelly, one of the ablest of the younger members of the Quebec legislature, followed Mr. Turgeon. Mr. Kelly said among other things that a bridge was needed across the Restigouche between Cross Point and Campbellton immediately and he advised the people of Campbellton to get busy. They had energetic and influential representatives in both parliaments now and while they had it would be advisable for them to obtain the bridge. He expressed the belief that New Brunswick would assist in the matter and he added that Quebec would go New Brunswick one better.

Mr. Kelly was followed by Mr. Currie who spoke at length in a (Continued on page 8.)

BIG FORCE WORKING

The International railway will in all probability be completed and in operation early next fall. Thomas Malcolm who is constructing the road told a reporter for Events, yesterday that he expected to lay the last rail in August or September next. There are now about seven hundred men employed on construction work. They are grading the road forty miles out from Campbellton and about twelve miles out from St. Leonard's. The finest steel rails are being used and it is Mr. Malcolm's intention to make the road-bed one of the best in Canada.

Several Matters.

The Board of Trade met in the Council rooms, Monday evening. President A. G. Adams occupied the chair. Mr. Adams said there were several matters to be brought up, among which were the condition of the street leading to the freight shed, encouragement to industries to locate in the town, and a larger freight shed.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organs themselves, but in the nerve that controls and guides them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—tablets or liquid—and see if it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Latest Fads and Fancies of Fashion

(Correspondence of Events)

New York, Aug. 1.—If lovers of the salt sea and of the daily dip therein do not make an exceptionally attractive appearance this season the fault surely will be their own, for dressmakers are offering an almost limitless supply of attractive costumes, and never have there been so many possibilities for making oneself really interesting and picturesque even while buffeting the waves. We all know that there are bathers of two sorts, those who plunge into the sea, and who revel in all the teasing and tumbling that the biggest waves can bring, and those who sit upon the shore and allow the water just to wet their toes, but whichever course is pursued there seems every reason to look for really charming sartorial effects. We have learned that there are a great many materials that can be utilized for the purpose, and the ugly ill-fitting suit is a relic of by-gone days. Women of taste and discretion have their bathing costumes fitted to them and demand becoming color and graceful lines in them quite as well as in the gowns of more formal occasions, with the result that while a more or less tumbled effect must result from anything like an active swim or bath, there is really no need of ugly gowns, nor is there any occasion for a really disheveled appearance. The hair can be kept in a cap, well-fitting shoes can be obtained, and there can be a very general air of care and neatness preserved without undue effort or cost.

IN BRIGHT COLORS.

The brightly colored plaids are, however, much liked by a great many women and are shown in really fascinating colorings, while it is claimed that they will withstand a sufficient number of duckings to make them amply worth while. As a rule, the blouses are all lined with the cambric already mentioned and there are bloomers worn beneath the skirts, but these last are not obligatory and black tights are often substituted. Stockings are of matching color and preferably of silk, while very particular women are having caps and shoes made to match the suit, although there are such very good ones in plain color offered in the shops that such expense seems scarcely necessary. With the plaid suits, plain shoes and plain caps are exceedingly effective and they can all be found in harmonizing colors. It is with the suits of the quieter sort that the bright plaid caps are peculiarly effective and, if the season were to be noted for nothing else, it would deserve special commendation for the variety of the head coverings to be found. By far the most practical cap that any woman can wear is the one that can be knotted about her head, and these are to be found in rubberized silks that are really waterproof and also in the ordinary taffeta to be worn over rubber caps, so that it is quite possible to be charming and attractive and even picturesque without soaking the hair.

SHOES AND OTHER THINGS.

Shoes, too, are showing considerable innovation, and, as has been hinted, have been made in plain colored canvas and silk quite as well as in the familiar white and black. There are several shapes, but by far the prettiest and most satisfactory are those that are made to be faced well up above the ankle, the canvas or silk portion extending up the back, while the placings hold them in place at the front. Occasionally one even sees parasols shown with the suits, but even for those of the extreme picturesque sort, these seem rather extreme, for if the sun bath is to be taken they certainly are not desirable and it is difficult to picture costumes of this special sort being utilized for any other purpose. However, it must be admitted that they make a pretty effect in the shop windows, and no doubt they will be more or less seen upon some of the beaches. Sashes, too, are seen in place of belts, but here again it is well to suggest moderation, for the trim, well-fitting belt is likely to give greater satisfaction in the end and certainly is to be preferred if the water is allowed to reach waist-depth. Whether or not these costumes are indulged in, the suits of silk are really extremely handsome and extremely smart, and very often one sees really elegant lace used in combination. But let it be whispered, this seldom is new, for wise women in ordering costumes of the sort utilize the heavy Irish lace that already has done service elsewhere. In addition to being exceedingly handsome it has the great merit of durability and does not become unsightly, let it have as many duckings as it may, whereas lace of the lighter sort is not calculated to withstand quite such hard usage. A very handsome costume, for example, ordered by a woman of distinction, but of somewhat conservative tastes, is of brown taffeta and is trimmed with bands of brown and white check, while the blouse portion is cut out to form a rather shallow square, and this square is filled with a chemise of genuine Irish crocheted, which has already been utilized in various ways, but which nevertheless retains its distinction and its beauty.

Braiding with soutache and bits of embroidery are to be noted on these costumes, and very often they are utilized to bring about exceedingly desirable results. The soutache, if it has been well shrunken and of good quality, endures the water admirably well and is frequently applied.

SHOP TALK

The large bows of black taffeta, so popular earlier in the season, have given way to white ones on black or white black-edged hats.

Silk linings to broad-brimmed hats, after the eighteenth century style, are coming rapidly to the fore, and promise to have a strong influence on the early fall models.

White, cream, pale yellow or beige straw, very frequently bound with an edging of black straw about an inch wide, forms the majority of the midsummer models.

Often these hats are quite destitute of trimming at the back and sides, having no other adornment than a huge bunch of aigrettes or ostrich plumes in front.

One such model, a large black straw cloche shape, recently seen, was lined with pink straw and had no trimming but a big bunch of shaded pink tips in front and two coral-headed batpins run through the back.

Stripes are still prevalent, but they are now varied with plain materials. Little crates of taffeta or very light cloth, or again of thick tussore, which is so much seen this spring, are worn with the striped flannel suits so much in vogue of late.

The latest idea in petticoats is to wear one of a brighter hue under a more sombre skirt. The fabrics used for the dress skirt are the sheerer materials, such as voile, colienne and marquisette.

Tiny butterfly bows are not novel, but they are pretty when made of fine linen, finished with a crocheted border. One particularly smart tie was double, with the lower wings edged with German valenciennes and the upper with tiny crocheted circles and stars.

VACATION DAYS

With the coming of the first real warm weather of the summer comes the desire for freedom from work and worry. It is as natural to grow lazy during the hot days of summer as to work strenuously during the bracing winter months, and it is better to gauge one's activity by a wise adaptation to the seasons than by an artificial, unclad routine that takes no notice of the thermometer and the face of nature. Strenuousness melts away before the warm August zephyrs, and the nervous spirit of energy relaxes willingly, if he is wise. Relaxation is the great lesson of the hot summer months and it is the lesson that of all lessons is the hardest for us to learn. And probably that is why some of us spend our vacations so unwisely. Most men do not rest when they go away on a vacation. Neither do most women. A man plans for it long beforehand. He aims to crowd into his two or three weeks as much activity as could wisely be put into twice that time. He hunts and fishes and sometimes plays cards and indulges in mental and physical activity generally that would be a hard regime for a seasoned veteran, not to speak of one whose muscles are soft and adapted to the environment into which he suddenly plunges. After days and nights of unceasing activity and loss of sleep, sometimes of dissipation, he comes back weary and fagged, with exhausted nerve cells, and spends a month in getting properly adjusted to his work again, instead of returning with buoyant spirits and a new store of vital energy as he should but can't. If he foregoes his strenuousness and spends his vacation days reclining in the shade of a tree with a book before him, he is very apt to fall into lazy ways, so that when it is time for him to return to work he hates to do so. So there you are! And, as for the woman, she is too prone to go to summer resorts where life is a ceaseless round of dressing and fussing, with the occupation of her time in trivialities that do not allow of any real rest.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Campbellton is a town which possesses unsurpassed scenic beauties and fine fishing, to say nothing of its shooting. But while these are pleasant to read about and boast of, the future commercial importance is the thing to be planning and working for, and Campbellton has a future commercial greatness as bright as any, if local energy and enterprise act up to the chances offering.

Street loafers should be told to move on, not only those who stand on the sidewalks and impede traffic, but those who lounge about hotel and saloon entrances and expectorate tobacco juice on the sidewalks. But when two citizens meet on the street and pause for a few minutes to speak to each other it seems to us to be a rather officious act on the part of the policeman to tell them to move on, especially when they are no way interfering with the passage of other pedestrians.

While we should like to have seen the appointment of minister of railways and canals bestowed upon a North Shore man the appointment of Dr. Pugsley to the office will in no way disconcert us. Dr. Pugsley is undoubtedly the most brilliant man in public life in New Brunswick today. His influence at Ottawa will be considerable and we believe that his appointment as minister will be eminently satisfactory to the country at large. We are sure that he will ably administer the affairs of the Intercolonial railway and prove a worthy successor to Mr. Blair and others who have occupied this high position with distinction.

A resolution was introduced, the other day, in the Kansas state legislature favoring the abolition of duty on lumber. A similar resolution introduced in the Michigan legislature contains the interesting information that the forests have practically vanished from that state and that even the shade trees are inviting the mercenary axe. The removal of duty on lumber in the United States would prove of substantial benefit to the people of that country, but it is doubtful if it would prove of any benefit to the people of Canada. It seems to us that whether the duty is or is not removed the Americans will shortly be compelled to purchase the bulk of their lumber in Canada.

Mr. J. H. Kelly, the eloquent and energetic representative of the County of Bonaventure in the Quebec legislature not only has the interests of his own county at heart, but is also alive to the interests of the town of Campbellton. This was rather strikingly shown in his address, Tuesday, at the liberal picnic when he urged those of his hearers who hailed from Campbellton to make every effort to have a bridge constructed across the river between Cross Point and Campbellton, immediately, and cautioned them against the danger of delay in the matter. While we appreciate Mr. Kelly's thoughtfulness in our behalf we can scarcely share his apprehension that to delay moving in the matter of a bridge forebodes evil for the project or for the town. Thomas Malcolm has a charter to build the bridge and we feel certain that it will be built, and at no distant date either. In fact we should not be in the least surprised to see the work underway by July next. At the present time there are other matters which might engage the attention of our citizens, for instance, they might urge their representatives in parliament to lend Mr. Malcolm every assistance in the work, already undertaken by him.

In the unending discussion of university athletics, Prof. Simon Newcomb, Nova Scotia's illustrious son finds time to play a part as an opponent of the modern intercollegiate system of sports. He reaches the conclusion, whose logical soundness is susceptible of a strong defense that the "ideal athletic contest would be one between teams whose members were chosen from men originally of the weakest class." He does not argue the point beyond asserting that the recognized futility of such contests, which no one but the players be interested in, shows that the present system of intercollegiate sport is worse than useless. But the trouble with logic in this case is that there is so much besides logic

HUGGING EVIL

Advocates of the hugless waltz may find an argument in this, although there is no indication that a dance was in progress when it happened.

This is what hugging a school teacher cost Albert Benson, of Paterson, N. J.: Twenty-five dollars cash.
One night in jail.
Two black eyes.
One crushed nose.
One suit of clothes.
One slap on the wrist.

The teacher who had made things so expensive for Benson is Miss Margaret Gallagher, and she administered the slap on the wrist in person. She declares that Benson came up to her and without any introduction threw his arms about her waist. She slapped him and screamed. A crowd gathered and several young men, when they heard the school teacher's story, attacked Benson and had his clothing torn, and his face badly bruised when a policeman came upon the scene and arrested Benson.
After a night in jail Benson was fined $25. He denies the girl's story, saying that he had merely stopped to be directed to the railroad station. No man could afford to live long in a town where life is so strenuous and living expenses so high.

Several industries at Amherst were reported last week to be in financial difficulties, among them being the Victor Woodworking Co., in which Dal- house people are largely interested. An Amherst correspondent of the Halifax Chronicle declares the reports of financial depression among some of the industries were exaggerated and refers as follows to the Victor Woodworking Company:—"The Victor Woodworking Company was one of our newest industries and had hardly passed the experimental stage. Their capital had been largely expended in construction work and while their products were finding ready sale and sufficient orders were booked to keep them running for some time, yet owing to the present curtailing of advances by the bank some of the larger shareholders are threatened with the loss of their accounts personally. It was therefore decided to place the concern in liquidation."

The marriage took place at 4:15 o'clock Wednesday morning in the church of Our Lady of the Snows, of Miss Maude La Casse, daughter of Mrs. J. S. LaCasse of this town and Alexander Roy formerly of Petit-Rocher and now of Moncton where he occupies a responsible position with the Peter McSweney Company. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. Father E. P. Wallace was witnessed by twenty-five intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride who was given away by her brother Aime LaCasse was becomingly attired in a navy blue traveling suit with white trimmings and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and maidenhair fern. She was unattended. The wedding march was played by Miss Chenette, cousin of the bride and the full choir of the church sang during the ceremony. At midnight a dainty supper was served at the residence of the bride's mother after which the guests drove from the house to the church. The happy couple left on the steamer Lady Eileen at 5:15 in the morning for Gaspe. From Gaspe they will go to Charlottetown and thence to Halifax. On their return they will reside at Moncton. The large number of handsome and costly presents received testified to the esteem in which both the bride and groom were held. Miss LaCasse will be greatly missed in church and social circles in Campbellton.

Be sure and come to D. Scheffer's Selling Out Sale.

With Edged Tools

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN

Author of "The Secret," "Mystery," "The Secrets of the Sea," "The Secret of the Sea," "The Secret of the Sea," "The Secret of the Sea," Copyright, 1904, by HARPER & BROTHERS

Jack Meredith nodded. He looked rather pale beneath the light of the gas.
"Joseph is all right," he said. "Go on."

"It was Joseph who found it out," continued Oscar, "up at the plateau.
I paraded the whole crowd, told them what I had found out, and shook up the whole concern in your name and mine. Next morning I abandoned the plateau with such men as cared to come. Nearly half of them stayed with Durnovo. I thought it was in order that they might share in the simlacine.
I told them they could have the whole confounded lot of the stuff. But it was not that. They tricked Durnovo there. They wanted to get him to themselves. In going down the river we had an accident with two of the boats, which necessitated staying at Masla.
While we were waiting there one night after 10 o'clock the poor devil came alone in a canoe. They had simply cut him in slices. A most beastly sight. I wake up sometimes even now dreaming of it, and I am not a fanciful sort of fellow. Joseph went into his room and was simply sick. I didn't know that you could be made sick by anything you saw. The sleeping sickness was on Durnovo then. He had brought it with him from the plateau. He died before morning."

Oscar ceased speaking and returned to his pipe. Jack Meredith, looking haggard and worn, was leaning back in his chair.

"Poor devil!" he exclaimed. "There was always something tragic about Durnovo. I did hate that man, Oscar!
I hated him and all his works."

"Well, he's gone to his account now."
"Yes, but that does not make him any better a man while he was alive.
Don't let us cut about him now. The man was an unmitigated scoundrel.
Perhaps he deserved all he got."

"Perhaps he did. He was Marie's husband."

"The devil he was!"
Meredith fell into a long reverie. He was thinking of Jocelyn and her dislike for Durnovo, of the scene in the drawing room, of the bungalow at Leangy, of a thousand incidents all connected with Jocelyn.

"How I hate that man!" he exclaimed at length. "Thank God, he is dead, because I should have killed him."

Guy Oscar looked at him with a slow, pensive wonder. Perhaps he knew more than Jack Meredith knew himself of the thoughts that conveyed those words, so out of place in that quiet room from those suave and courtly lips.

All the emotions of his life seemed to be concentrated into this one day of Jack Meredith's existence. Oscar's presence was a comfort to him. The presence of a calm, strong man is better than many words.

"So this," he said, "is the end of the simlacine. It did not look like a tragedy when we went into it."
"So far as I am concerned," replied Oscar, with quiet determination, "it certainly is the end of the simlacine.
I have had enough of it. I, for one, am not going to look for that plateau again."

"Nor I. I suppose it will be started as a limited liability company by a German in six months. Some of the natives will leave landmarks as they come down so as to find their way back."

"I don't think so!"
"Why?"
Oscar took his pipe from his lips.
"When Durnovo came down to Masla," he explained, "he had the sleeping sickness on him. Where did he get it from?"

"By Jove!" ejaculated Jack Meredith,
"I never thought of that. He got it up at the plateau. He left it behind him.
They have got it up there now."

"Not now!"
"What do you mean, Oscar?"
"Merely that all those fellows up there are dead. There is 500,000 worth of simlacine packed ready for carrying to the coast standing in a pile on the plateau, and there are thirty-four dead men keeping watch over it."

"Is it as infectious as that?"

"I don't know."

CHAPTER XXIV.

"I RATHER expect—Lady Can-tourne," said Sir John to his servants when he returned home, "any time between now and 10 o'clock."

The butler, having a vivid recollection of an occasion when Lady Can-tourne was shown into a drawing room where there were no flowers, made his preparations accordingly.
The flowers were set out with that masculine ignorance of such matters which brings a smile—not wholly of mirth—to a woman's face. The little used drawing room was brought up-der the notice of the housekeeper for that woman's touch which makes a drawing room what it is. It was always ready, this room, though Sir John never sat in it. But for Lady Cantourne it was always more than ready.

Sir John went to the library and sat rather wearily down in the stiff backed chair before the fire. He began by taking up the evening newspaper, but failed to find his eyeglasses, which he tried to find in some aggravating manner with his necktie. So he laid aside the journal and gave way to the weakness of looking into the fire.

Once or twice his head dropped forward rather suddenly so that his clean shaven chin touched his tie pin, and this without a feeling of sleepiness warranting the relaxation of the spinal column. He sat up suddenly on each occasion and threw back his shoulders.

"Almost seems," he muttered once,
"as if I were getting to be an old man."

After that he remembered nothing until the butler, coming in with the lamp, said that Lady Cantourne was in the drawing room. The man bowed himself with the curtains, carefully avoiding a glance in his master's direction. No one had ever found Sir John asleep in a chair during the hours that other people watch, and this faithful old servant was not going to begin to do so now.

"Ah," said Sir John, surreptitiously composing his collar and voluminous necktie, "thank you."

He rose and glanced at the clock. It was nearly 7. He had slept through the most miserable hour of Millcent's life.

At the head of the spacious staircase he paused in front of the mirror, half hidden behind exotics, and pressed down his wig behind either ear. Then he went into the drawing room.

Lady Cantourne was standing impudently on the hearth rug, and scarcely responded to his bow.

"Has Jack been here?" she asked.

"No," answered Sir John, closing the door behind him.

"And you have not heard anything from him?"

"Not a word. As you know, I am not fortunate enough to be fully in his confidence."

Lady Cantourne glanced round the room as if looking for some object other—were alone in the drawing room when we arrived. Thinking that I might be de trop, I withdrew and left the young people to settle it among themselves, which they have apparently done! I am, like yourself, a great advocate for allowing young people to settle things among themselves.

They are also welcome to their enjoyment of the consequences so far as I am concerned."

"But Millicent was never engaged to Guy Oscar."

"Did she tell you so?" asked Sir John, with a queer smile.

"Yes."

"And you believed her?"

"Of course—and you?"

"I always believe a lady," he answered, "before her face. Guy Oscar gave it out in Africa that he was engaged to be married, and he even declared that he was returning home to be married. Jack did the same in every respect. Unfortunately there was only one fond heart waiting for the couple of them at home. That is why I thought it expedient to give the young people an opportunity of settling it between themselves."

The smile left his worn old face.

He moved unsteadily and walked to the fireplace, where he stood with his unsteady hands moving idly, almost nervously, among the ornaments on the mantelpiece. He committed the rare discretion of almost turning his back upon a lady.

"I must ask you to believe," he said, looking anywhere but at her, "that I did not forget you in the matter. I may seem to have acted with an utter disregard for your feelings."

He broke off suddenly, and, turning, he stood on the hearth rug with his feet apart, his hands clasped behind his back, his head slightly bowed.

"I drew on the reserve of an old friendship," he said. "You were kind enough to say the other day that you were indebted to me to some extent on my indebtedness to you to a larger extent than you perhaps realize. You owe me fifty years of happiness; fifty years of a life that might have been happy had you decided differently when—when we were young. I do not blame you now. I never blamed you. But the debt is there. You know my life; you know almost every day of it. You cannot deny the debt. I drew upon that."

And the white haired woman raised her hand.

"John, you know something about this!"
upon which to fix her attention. It was a characteristic movement which she made, although she had only seen it once or twice before. It indicated that if there was an end to Lady Can-tourne's wit she had almost reached the undesirable hour.

"He has broken off his engagement," she said, looking her companion very straight in the face, "now—at the eleventh hour. Do you know anything about it?"

She came closer to him, looking up from her compact little five-foot-two with discerning eyes.

"John," she exclaimed.

"I should like to know more," he said, looking at her. "I am afraid—Millicent will be inconvenienced."

"I would rather punish her than have Jack punished for the rest of his life."

"Et moi?" she snapped impatiently.

"Ah"—with a gesture learned in some foreign court—"I can only ask your forgiveness. I can only remind you that she is not your daughter—if she were she would be a different woman—while he is my son."

Lady Cantourne nodded as if to indicate that he need explain no more.

"How did you do it?" she asked quietly.

"I did not do it. I merely suggested to Guy Oscar that he should call on you. Millicent and her father—the

KIDNEY The kidneys form the basis of the system, carrying off all poisons from the blood.

The kidneys are often affected and cause serious disease when least suspected. When the back aches, specks float before the eyes, the urine contains a brick-dust sediment, or is thick and stringy, scanty, highly colored, in fact when there is anything wrong with the small of the back or the urinary organs then the kidneys are affected.

I took Doan's Kidney Pills, and now I

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

sia, The Heart or The Kidneys.
Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the wrong ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart and Kidneys, as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves and you inevitably have weak organs. Here is where Dr.
Shoop's Restorative has made its name. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside" nerves. Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write to me today for a sample and free Book, Dr. Shoop,

Not one person in a thousand knows that Fruit is really a wonderful medicine?

Not rare fruits—but the common, everyday fruits that you can buy in the fruit shops.

APPLES act directly on the kidneys—increase the flow of urine. ORANGES are excellent for the skin. FIGS and PRUNES are splendid bowel laxatives and liver tonics.

There are two great difficulties in curing yourself of Kidney and Bladder Troubles—Rheumatism—Constipation—Skin Eruptions, etc. by simply eating fresh fruit. First, the minute quantity of medicinal principle that you would get by eating a normal amount of fresh fruit would be insufficient to do any real good—second, eating excessive quantities of fruit would upset the stomach, on account of the indigestible pulpy fibre found in all fruits.

An Ottawa physician overcame these difficulties when he discovered the principle which brought forth "Fruit-a-tives."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are fruit juices—not as they occur in fruit—but with their medicinal activity greatly intensified. After the juices are extracted from the fruit, a chemical change is made to take place in which one atom of the bitter principle in fruit is replaced by one of the sweet. Then tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole pressed into tablets.

Fruit-a-tives act on the three great eliminating organs—the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. They arouse the sluggish liver—enable the liver to give up more bile, which regulates the bowels and cures Constipation (or non-action of the bowels) Fruit-a-tives strengthen the kidneys and induce vigorous, healthy skin action.

For Headaches and Backaches—for Indigestion and Disordered Stomach—for Irregular Bowels—for all Kidney and Bladder Troubles—for Skin Eruptions—Fruit-a-tives are without an equal in the world.

"These college girls" said a clergyman as he gazed at the white and superb ranks of the beautiful graduates,
"are a boon to the race." They introduce new ideas.

"I christened the other day the Now, babies usually cry while they are being christened; but this one was as quiet as a lamb. Throughout the ceremony it smiled up beautifully into my face.

"Well, madam," said I to the young wife at the christening's end, "I must congratulate you on your little one's behaviour. I have christened more than 2,000 babies, but I never before christened one that behaved so well as yours."

"No wonder he behaved well," she christening! Who but a college girl would think of such a thing?"

Rev. Dr. Falconer occupied the pulpit of St. John's Presbyterian church Dalhousie on Sunday last. Last Sunday was the anniversary of the formation of the first session in Dalhousie, fifty-two years ago. Since that time the congregation has been called upon to build three churches. The second church was burned by lightning a few years ago and a new one up to date church has been built on the old site. Dr. Falconer's discourses were most inspiring to the congregation, who have struggled through many difficulties. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers, and the choir rendered songs of a most appropriate to the occasion.

Police Inspector Noble of the C. R., whose headquarters are at Campbellton and his assistant, Walter Moore, of Lewis, made what is considered to be an important arrest in Montreal Monday when they took into custody Henry B. Williams, a colored porter, who has been working for the I. C. R. for the past three or four weeks. The porter is charged with robbing the passengers of $37 last Friday night. The theft is alleged to have been committed on the train running between Montreal and River Ouelle. The passengers robbed were in the sleepers Tabusintac and Tanremar, while Williams was a porter in the Shediac. One of the passengers lost $25, another $7, and another $5. The robbery was reported to Inspector Noble and he and Assistant Inspector Moore, after investigation, placed Williams under arrest in his boarding house in St. Antoine St. In his possession were found nineteen pawn tickets from New York and elsewhere for watches, rings and diamond pins, and the sum of $48. The pawn tickets were handed over to the local police who will communicate with the New York authorities.

Councillor J. H. Taylor was married last evening at Charlo to Miss Mary Ann Dickie. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride's father, Robert Dickie and was witnessed by only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The people of Charlo have a rare treat in store for them, Friday evening when Miss Lena Duthie gives her Scotch and Irish concert in the Temperance Hall. The songs will be rendered and the stories told in costume. Miss Duthie will doubtless have a crowded house.

There was another wreck on the Canada Eastern branch of the Intercolonial Railway, Monday and this time three cars of a four car train left the tracks and tied up traffic for some time. The mixed train made up of three freight cars and a conductor's van which left Fredericton Monday morning got as far as a mile or so of Boiestown when the accident occurred. What the cause of the accident was nobody seemed to know. The three freight cars left the track and piled upon the ditch. The van remained intact.

The handsome motor boat which has been under course of construction for some time for C. W. Anslow and Geo. Myles will be launched tomorrow. She is thirty feet in length and six feet in width. There is a commodious cabin eleven feet in length and five feet in height. The boat is fitted with a seven horse power Triton engine manufactured by the Hamilton Motor Works, Hamilton, Ont. The boat was constructed by John Walters and reflects considerable credit on his ability as a builder.

The annual picnic or festival in aid of the R. C. church of Grand Anse will be held on the R. C. church grounds this year on Monday and Tuesday, August 26th and 27th. The Rev. Father Doucet and the different committees appointed under his direction are determined to make the picnic a success socially and financially. Teams will be provided to bring all arrivals by train to the picnic grounds and return free. Dancing and other outdoor amusements will be had on the grounds. Meals, temperate drinks, and refreshments will be served.

The city fathers met on Tuesday evening, the Mayor and Couns Doherty, McLean, McLennan, Andrew, Jardine and Mowat being in attendance. The report of Police Magistrate Matheson from Feb. 23 to June 29, showing fines collected $117,000 and also bill of costs amounting to $20,200 was referred to Police and License Com. Coun McLennan submitted report of Chief of Police Gray showing 59 arrests made during the month, nearly all of whom were drunk. He also referred to the many improvements in the police department since Chief Gray was appointed, especially the way in which the police record was kept, similar to that in the cities. The Clerk was instructed to write the railway authorities re the blocking of the natural watercourse from Gerrard St. through the railway yard to the river, and also the flowing of water from the icehouse on to the thoroughfare. Coun Jardine brought up the matter of erecting a building for storing town property. He thought it was time that this was attended to and thought that the Chairman of the committee ought to look after it at once. Other Councillors spoke along the same lines, and it was finally decided that Coun Taylor be interviewed before next meeting. There was some discussion of the location of permanent sidewalks to be laid this summer. Coun Jardine said the committee had decided to lay concrete walk from Andrew St to Mowat's corner with the exception of a portion where the buildings would have to be raised, and along Minto St. Some of the Councillors wanted some parts of lower Water St. attended to, but the matter was finally left with the committee.

Saturday will be the Banner Day. Goods marked down at D. Scheffer's selling out sale.

THERE IS something bad in the best of us and something good in the most of us; but, good or bad, the worst and the best of us is not all of us.

THE NEWCASTLE Leader observes:—"The plank sidewalks are in need of repair in several places." Yes, there are one or two "planks" in this town, too where a little carpentry work would improve the going.

WITH A fine of almost $30,000,000 levied upon the Standard Oil Company, how much will the price of oil be per gallon? Mr. Rockefeller could well afford to smile when he heard the verdict of Judge Linds.

"THE MARITIME provinces are needed to supply college presidents to the rest of the country," gravely declares the Montreal Gazette. We always thought that Upper Canadians had no more use for these provinces by the sea than that.

THE SACKVILLE, N. B. Post says the Moncton Transcript has nominated John T. Hawke for the position of Minister of Railways and Canals. When Mr. Emerson filled that exalted position he seemed to have one or two birds as his confidential advisers but the people didn't seem to take to them. The people might object to having another bird run the road.

TALES OF THE TOWN

It was at Carleton. He was young and he was from Campbellton. "You have a sweet face," he said.

She was young, too, but she had lived all her life in Montreal and Paris and she was wise in her way "So?" she answered, "Well I have a sweet-heart, too.

She was a dream, boys. The limpid shadows of sun-kissed waters were in her eyes as she moved languidly in her hammock on the verandah of one of Carleton's summer hotels and addressed her friend in French:—"That fellow from Campbellton is the prince of fibbers."

"Yes all those fellows from New Brunswick fibbed today," returned her friend turning her eyes upon the quiet figure of the Lady Eileen, "Even their steamer is lying to.

St Luke's Methodist church of Chatham held its annual picnic, Saturday on the historic Beaubear's Island, a large crowd going on the steamer St George. On the return trip a launch containing two young men, Hermann and Ray of Newcastle, and being towed behind the steamer, became unmanageable through the loosening of one of the ropes holding it and the steamer crashed upon it. One of the occupants jumped clear, but the other was forced under the steamer along with the launch and it was feared he would be drowned. The launch however, did not sink, but turned turtle and floated and the young fellow was rescued. For a time great excitement prevailed among the picnickers who feared a tragedy.

Very pleasing manner. He touched on many of the subjects dwelt on by the other speakers and between times emitted many brilliant flashes of wit.

Following him A T LeBlanc and A E G. McKenzie, two rising North Shore barristers and liberal workers made short but interesting addresses.

At the conclusion of the speeches the band played a number of pretty selections and it was about six o'clock when the Lady Eileen cast off her lines. Cheers were given for Mr Marcell and others and the homeward trip commenced. The steamer reached her pier at Campbellton about 8.30 and all on board voted the day a most pleasant and profitable one.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO. LIMITED

GENTLEMEN,—In June, '98, I had my hand and wrist bitten and badly mangled by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using. The effect was magical; in five hours the pain had ceased and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

Yours truly,
A. E. ROY,

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs. With bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help. I gradually diminished until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in the house over the wonders your medicine worked." Mrs. M. C. LeBel, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and want-to-be-left-alone feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.
