AGEABLE. July 18.-Extraordinary Toronto, scenes were witnessed at Hanlan's Point Sunday night, when some 14,000 people, attracted by a Passion Play, began to return to the city. The crowd became unmanageable, and a wild rush to the ferry turnstiles took place, in which several people were injured. One woman was carried out and laid on the wharf badly hurt, while others were cared for by their friends. On the city side when the crowd arrived the day cars had ceased running, the Sunday service being less complete than that of other days, and the belated thousands had either to tramp home or pay pight car fares. Filipinos Said to Have Made Overtures to Gen Otis,

Chicago, July 18.—A special to the Times-Herald from Washington says: Important cablegrams have been received at the state department from the Philippine commission and at the war department from Gen. Otis, concerning a new move in the direction of peace. These dispatches have been in the hands of the president for several days, but he has declined to make them public because the ultra-optimistic views heretofore received from same source have not been borne out by subsequent events. The latest dispatches, however, are more encouraging than the previous ones, but the president wishes to have some positive results before making them public.

All that can be learned definitely about them is that direct overtures for peace have been made to Gen. Otis by Aguinaldo and some of his principal leaders. It was said by a cabinet official tonight that if the promises are ful-filled the volunteers now being enlisted will not be needed. Promotion of General Happiness is secured by Nerviline - the great nerve-pain cure. The highly penetrat-ing properties of Nerviline make it

The Situation.

Since our last issue, two or three things of interest have transpired.

The report of the joint City Council and Citizens' Committee has been presented to the City Council, but the latter body, while receiving it, did not adopt its recommendations. Seeing that neither side was prepared to accept the joint committee's basis, no other course than that pursued by the Council could very well have been taken. So the situation starts once more from the ground floor.

The City Council have requested immediate discontinuance of the absurd farce of maintaining companies of outside militia, to keep order in the most orderly city in Canada.

The Council also requested the Company to begin immediately to live up to its agreement with the city in the shape of a complete day and night ser-

An immense demonstration in favor of the men who found it necessary to go out on strike, was held last night. Though there were thousands of men and their sympathizers in the procession or on the streets, there was not the least approach to disorder, which is only another proof that the calling in of outside militia was an entirely unnecessary action.

Judge Wm. Elliot's Letter.

Judge Wm. Elliot writes the Free Press a letter, which that journal heads "Judge Elliot's Position on the Strike." It is an interesting communication, and perhaps the fairest course to the learned judge is to reproduce it en-

"To the Editor of the Free Press: "Sir,-By a report in the Free Press of a meeting concerning the existing strike, Mr. Hunter stated that I had spoken openly against the men:
"This is not entirely correct. I do not pretend to know all the circumstances of the dispute further than this, that certain men who belong to a union insist upon the discharge of other men who do not belong to this union. If there are other questions relating to the rate of wages, time for work, and so on, I have expressed no opinion, for the reason that I am imperfectly acquainted with the circumstances "But upon the plain, simple question as to the free right of every man to seek and obtain employment whomsoever he chooses, I think there can be no room for doubt. Every man has an inherent right to sell his labor at any market he chooses, just as a farmer has a right to sell his wheat at any market he pleases.

"In this unfortunate business, is appears there are men who are willing to work for the company, and there are others who are not. This is perfectly right; it is plain liberty. But when it comes to this, that coercion is to be employed, that is to say, that men are to be discharged from employment, and are to be scouted in the public streets as 'scabs' and rogues and vagabonds, and their families discredited, and all because they choose to decline to be members of a particular union, then I say it is the exercise of a monstrous injustice and tyranny worthy of slave dealers or pirates.

"A few centuries since there were church unions, and if a person did not belong to one or other of them, he was liable to be burnt at the stake. Not quite so bad as that is our present situation, but in the same spirit it is now attempted to revive the bar-barianism of the past, but it will fail, as all attempts to crush the eternal principles of justice and right must fail. It is said that the employers of labor have a union, and why should the employes not have the same? All right But if the employers exercise compulsion and force against those who do not concur, they are equally guilty of injustice and tyranny, and are equally worthy of reprobation.

"WILLIAM ELLIOT. "London, July 17.

It will be observed that the learned judge bestows the chief weight of his vigorous invective on the denial of the right of any man who so chooses to be a "scab" if he will. (When ever we may have occasion to use the word "scab" in this article, we shall use it, as the judge does, simply as a convenient, understandable designation.)

The question of the correct treatment of the "scab," has its relation tothe general right of labor to organize for mutual protection, and also to the principle of a living wage. The Advertiser has no desire to do injustice to the "scab;" yet, on the other hand, it strongly holds, in common with eminent political economists, that many benefits to labor, and to society, have grown out of the organization of labor. No doubt it has its imperfections; but, broadly, its influence has been for good.

In dealing with the questions raised by the judge, perhaps it may be wise to refrain for the moment from any local application. A more detached judgment may thus be arrived at. Let us, then, take the case of the Grand Trunk trackmen who a few weeks ago were out on strike. These men were receiving 98 cents for a day's work of He jumped into the vestibule and help-uncertain length; often a long day. They formed themselves into an organization to better their condition. Public sympathy flowed strongly with the men on strike, and in about equal volume against the "scabs" who were willing to fight against the strikers by taking their places. Was public opinion in the wrong? We do not think so. The only weapons the men had at their command, were the mutual encouragement that grew out of organization, and the force of public

Of these two classes-the striking trackmen, who thought it unfair to be expected to bring up and educate their families as good citizens on 98 cents per day, or the "scabs" who were willing to render it impossible for the men to get more than 98 cents per day by taking their places in the crisis of a struggle-of these too classes, which in the interests of Canada ought to

The learned judge is quite right in saying, in effect, that even the "scab" has rights. In the Grand Trunk trackmen's strike it would have been morally censurable to attack the "scab" with physical force; but one could with physical force; but one could nasal bones broken. He did not know hardly consider it wrong on the part that any ribs were broken. He was seof the strikers to bring to bear the strong force of public opinion, as they did, on those who were making difficult the battle for a better wage than 98 cents a day.

says, is at bottom a moral question, even the "scabs" in the Grand Trunk trackmen's strike may themselves have owed to society the moral duty not of making it more difficult for the strikers in a just cause, but of throwing in their lot with them.

It will be seen the questions raised by the learned judge are both interesting and important. Should he desire the opportunity of further elucidating his views, The Advertiser will be most happy to afford him the hospitality of its columns.

We do not share the views of those fear the relations of employers and employed in London may be disturbed. These relations are as amicable in London as anywhere London is a model city in some respects, and there is no reason why it should not yet become a model in the matter of the relations of employer and employed; but that can only be along the lines of conciliation, reasonableness and occasionally, arbitration. Had such' lines been followed at the start, in the case of the London Street Railway Company, does anyone suppose there would have been this difficulty? Lon-

John Sherlock and W. H. Taliaferro were charged with assault and rioting on Saturday, July 8.

S. Rigney, non-union motorman, upon whom the alleged assault was committed, sworn, stated he was on duty on the 8th on car No. 86 of the belt line. In the evening, he started with his car for the barns. Arriving at one switch at the corner of Dundas and Lyle streets, he was greeted with a fusillade of stones, one striking him on the nose, two on the head, and one on the side. The blow on the forehead laid him out and made him unconscious for some time. One of his ribs was also broken. Dr. Drake dressed his wound and told him the nose was broken. He (Rigney) gave no cause for the act. The reason this car stopped was that the switch was turned the wrong way. Mr. Magee-Did you recognize anyone who threw stones at you? Rigney-I did not.

Mr. Rigney appeared in court with his head bandaged and his face covered with strips of plaster. He has lived in London about three months. Cross-examined-Rigney said he did not know either of the defendants to see them. A great many stones were thrown from both sides of the street. It was nearer 7 o'clock than 6 when he was struck. Conductor Crittle was on the car with him. He had a loaded revolver on his person at the time of the assault. He had carried it for a long period. He did not draw his revolver until struck by the stones. It was the first time he had ever drawn his gun on anybody. Dr. English, sworn, saw Rigney fall.

Rudyard Kipling Carries His Arm in a Sling-Doings at the House in the Woods.

London, July 18 .- News has been received by the military authorities of Upper Nigeria of heavy inter-tribal fighting upon the Binue, between Hassan, the Fulani Emir of Muri (Muri is an important Mohammedan state on the right bank of the Binue, tributary to Sokoto), and his brother Urema-Mafendi, assisted by the King of Wurio, also of the Fulani race. The trouble was due to the disputed succession to the kingdom of Muri. The Emir of Sokoto, supreme over-lord of all these regions, declared the claims of Hassan to be valid. Pending the judgment Hassan had retired to Jalinga, on the west bank of the Binue. The two other candidates, however, Urema-Mafendi and the King of Wurio, had meanwhile betaken themselves to Muri, the capital of the kingdom.

When the message arrived from the Emir of Sokoto indersing Hassan's claims, the two made joint cause against him. Hassan, apprised of the action of his rivals, got to-gether a powerful army of several thousand men and prepared to attack allies. The latter, thinking Hassan would cross the Binue at a place called Wuzo, had made arrangements to give him a warm reception. The wily Hassan, however, crossed at a spot higher up the river, and falling up on his opponents from the rear defeated them with great slaughter. A large number of prisoners fell into the hands of the victors. Contrary to the habitual practice of the Fulani, when warring against one another — always a somewhat usual event — Hassan caused thirty of the chief notables of Muri to be beheaded, two of whom were well-known Mallams, or priests. As Hassan's claim had the diplomatic support of the Niger Company, as well as that of the Emir of Sokoto, the circumstance above relationships and the second s stances above related have no political

KARL NEUFELD'S VARIED EX-PERIENCE.

London, July 18 .- Karl Neufeld, the German who was liberated at Omdur-man by Lord K4tchener of Khartoum, is the latest lion here. He has sold the story of his captivity and torture, but submits to interviews.

Karl Neufeld was captured by the followers of the Mahdi near Dongola, in the summer of 1888. He was the last European prisoner of importance remaining in the hands of the Dervishes at the fall of Omdurman. He was a medical student at Leipsic, and had to Feeling References to the Late leave the empire on account of having severely wounded a fellow-student in a duel. Afterwards he settled at Assouan, Upper Egypt, as a physician, and lived there from 1879 to 1881, when he was forced to leave because of the rising of the Dervishes.

In 1888 Neufeld saved a detachment of English soldiers by giving false information of their route. For this service he was appointed surveyor to the British troops. In April, 1888, he set out on a journey, which was said to have for its object the rescue of Slatin Pasha, and was himself taken prisoner. Before going on this venture he sent his wife and child to Leipsic, While a prisoner he manufactured powder for the Mahdi and Khalifa, and decorated the tomb of the Mahdi, which Kitchener destroyed. He also edited the Khalifa's proclamation. It was reported that at the time of the fall of the khalifa's power Neufeld had embraced Islamism and had several Mohammedan wives.

THE FIRST COMMITTEE.

The Hague, July 18.-The first committee of the international peace com-ference met this morning to discuss M. Van Karnebeck's report on the first four points of M. Muravieff's ciroular. Such differences of opinion developed that it was ultimately decidd that the report must be recast. It appears now that the first committhe regretted the recommendation of the sub-committee that a clause should be appended to the declaration of St. Petersburg of 1868 prohibiting the firing of explosives from balloons and the use of asphyxiating bombs and explosive bullets. Many delegates had seemingly left the room, not knowing the question at issue.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Brings in His Resolution.

Hon. W. B. Ives.

By the Two Leaders-The Redistribution Bill in the Senate.

Ottawa, July 18 .- In the house yesterday a floral tribute on the desk of the late Hon. W. B. Ives was a melancholy reminder of the death of that popular conservative member.

Sir Charles Tupper made feeling reference to Mr. Ives, and the great void which his death made in the house. "In the Eastern Township of Canada," said Sir Charles, "and in the regard of the French-speaking population in the Province of Quebec, he occupied a very important position, as every person in the house well knows, and I am quite certain that his loss will be deplored, not alone by his Conservative friends in this house, but by every member, as I believe perhaps that no man on either side to a larger extent enjoyed the kindly feeling and friendly gard of all who compose its member-Sir Charles also alluded to the sad death of Senator Sanford in fitting

Sir Wilfrid Laurier voiced the sympathy and grief of his Liberal colleagues at the death of Mr. Ives. After extolling Mr. Ives' public services, Sir Wilfrid said: 'I may perhaps be per-mitted to say that to myself personally the death of Mr. Ives is a particularly sad one, because before I had the opportunity of meeting him in this house, when he and I were both young, struggling lawyers, we had occasion often to reading of the bill. follow the same circuits, and many a ime we were engaged together, sometimes on one side, sometimes on opposite sides, in the keen contests of the bar, and it is a pleasure for me to re-member at this time that the friendship we enjoyed at that time continued to the last to be of the most cordial character. I may be permitted, there-fore, for myself and on behalf of my friends, to join in the expression of sympathy which we all feel for his rapidly becoming the most popular wife and his friends in their sad be-reavement. I may also say that I cordially join in the expression of sympathy which the honorable leader of the opposition has uttered with reference to the death of the late Mr. Sanford. His death was particularly sad to his family, and for this reason the sadness of death appeals to us all the more keenly under such circumstances. THE SENATE RESOLUTION.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given notice that on Wednesday he will move the following resolution: "That an humble address be presented to her Majesty the Queen, setting forth that the provisions of the British North America Act. 1867, respecting the powers of the Senate of Canada in the making of laws are unsatisfactory, and should be brought more into harmony with the principle of popular government, and praying that her majesty may be pleased to recommend to the Imperial Parliament a measure for the amendment of the said act, in such terms as will effectually make provision, as follows: If the House of Commons passes any bill which the Senate rejects or fails to pass, or amends in a way not accepted by the House of Commons, if House of Commons at the next following session again passes such bill and the Senate again rejects or fails to pass, or amends the same in a way not accepted by the Commons, the gov-ernor-general may, by proclamation. convene one or more joint sittings of the members of the two houses for the further consideration of such bill or The Mercury says that a serious riot amendments, and a question whether has occurred at Pavan, Eastern Thibet. such bill or amendments shall pass The natives attacked and looted the shall be decided by a majority of the

RUSHING BUSINESS.

In order that business may be expedited, the Government has decided to have morning sittings of the house. beginning at 11 o'clock, on and after Thursday next. The house will rise at 1 o'clock, resuming at 2. It has also been thought advisable to take Saturdays, and from now till the end of the session there will be daily sittings of the house. ST. LAWRENCE NAVIGATION. Upon the item of $354,000 on capital expenditure for the River St. Lawrence Canal between Quebec and Montreal, Mr. Fielding explained that the department had leased certain proper-ty at Sorel for $1,200 per annum, with the option of purchase, and im-provements had also been made at Sorel, including the erection of a machinery building, at a cost of $14,000. Dredges, tugs and scows were also being built for the work of deepening the channels. Of the total item, $100,000 was for maintaining and operating the plant, and $254,000 was for constructing plant. Some of the opposition protested against the day labor system, and said that the work should be done by con-

Mr. Fielding said that the employment of day labor in the Sorel work-shops had been customary for a long time, and the construction of a proper plant for dredging was as much a part of the cost of improving the channel as anything would be.

Sir Charles Tupper said that no dredge had ever been built in this way

Mr. Fielding replied that a dredge had change of government took place. The dredge had since been completed, and is called the Laurier.

STATUTORY INCREASES.

In supply, on the item for salaries in police works department, Charles Tupper called attention to what he called the very unsatisfactory way in which the civil servants were dealt with in regard to the statutory in-creases. The government should either provide that increases should be given to all who were eligible, or else have a friendly suit to decide the rights of the

Mr. Fielding replied that the government had taken the advice of the minister of justice before adopting the policy which had been laid down in parliament. They held that under the law as it stands there is a measure of discreation in the governor-general in council, and if it were shown that this discretion did not exist, then he thought there would be a strong argument in favor of establishing that discretion by amending the act. He said the discretionary increase was an incentive to the civil service officials to do their

Hon. David Milis moved the second reading of the bill respecting the Yukon territory. This bill gives the government power to liceuse taverns in the Yukon, not necessary for the sale of intoxicating liquors, and to impose fines to the amount of $500; deals with the regulation regarding the terri-torial judges, and gives the right of appeal to the supreme court of British Columbia. The minister, however, stated that he had serious doubts whether it would not be better to make the right of appeal from the territorial courts lie to the Supreme Court of Canada. He intimated that he would move an amenment to that effect when the bill was under consideration in committee. The bill was read a sec-

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL. Hon. David Mills moved the second eading of the redistribution bill. This, he said, was a yery important bill, af-fecting the constitution of the other house, but not in any way affecting the Senate. He referred to the bills of 1882 and 1892, and traced the history of English representation from the reign of Henry III. The majority of 50 in the lower house was an evidence of the feeling of the country on the quesion. Realizing this, he did not think was the duty of the Senate to reject the measure. He moved the second On motion of Sir Mackenzie Bowell the debate was adjourned.

Kick Made by Manila Correspondents to Gen. Otis.

Claiming That Censored Dispatches Gave Wrong Impressions of the Sit nation-Caustic Comments of London Newspapers.

Washington, July 18 .- The correspondents of American newspapers stationed at Manila have united in making a statement to the effect that the official dispatches from the seat of war made public at Washington have presented an ultra-optimistic view of the situation, have under-estimated the ten-acity of the Filipino resistance, and have suppressed many material facts which the public of the United States should know. In short, the correspondents state that the existing conditions in the Philippines have been incorrectly represented.

CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

London, July 18 .- The afternoon papers of this city generally comment in denunciatory vein upon the conduct of the American Philippines campaign as it has been managed by Secretary Alger and Major General Elwell S.

The St. James Gazette says: "The great American people have been noodwinked by its general and its administration, who have kept up a serles of suppressions of the truth and suggestions of the falsity of Russian ingenuity and thoroughness.'

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The correspondents have done their duty to the public as journalists and gentlemen should." The Times in its leading editorial article today says: "Alger has run the war office as a political machine. Military posts have been bestowed upon political friends without regard to fitness or the interests of the country. Dishonesty and corruption have been rampant wherever there was public money to be handled. American soldiers were killed by thousands on Amsoil by such agencies as embalmed beef and scandalous neglect of elementary sanitation. As the head is, so we expect the subordinates to be. They were chosen without regard to fitness, but with every regard to political service. Naturally they act as the politicians they are rather than as soldiers and administrators, which they are not. The new imperial policy of the United States is thus discredited by association with a system of more than accounts. than common corruption. McKinley, for some reason or other, is incapable of ridding himself of the incubus of his secretary, who, evidently regard-ing himself as having the president in his pocket, serenely defies the public indignation that has been aroused by his mismanagement."

Your friends and neighbors will be pleased to tell you what it has done for them in their time of distress and

"I can conscientiously recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all who may be suffering from dyspepsia and liver trouble. For years, while living in Black Brook, I suffered from a complication of troubles, and was so bad with dyspepsia that I could not touch a morsel of food. I found it difficult to sleep, and what little I did get was often broken with horrid dreams. In-tense suffering from liver complaint added to my load of agony; I also had dizziness, pains in the back, and was pale, haggard and despondent.

"I kept doctoring and dosing with-out deriving the slightest benefit, and finally gave up all hope of ever getting well. One day my daughter, who had read of a wonderful cure by Paine's Celery Compound, begged me to try one bottle of the medicine. I told her it was no use to throw away money, but she pleaded so hard, that to please her I bought a bottle, and before it was used up I felt better. Encouraged so much I continued with the medicine and improved every day.
"I am now cured, thanks to Paine's Celery Compound. You cannot wonder that I consider Paine's Celery

Compound the greatest medical dis-covery in the world. I urge all who are suffering to try this grand medi-cine and test its virtues."

Two of the Cockneys' three runs in the fourth inning were due to Tipton's bad error at short. The other came by batting. When Travelling Always take with you a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The change of food and water to which those who travel are subject, often produces an attack of diarrhœa, which is as unpleasant and discomforting as it may be dangerous. A bottle of Dr.

Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in your grip is a guarantee of safety.

On the first indi-cation of Cramps, Colie, Diarrhoea er Dysentery, a few doses will promptly check the further advance of these diseases.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is being more widely and shame-lessly imitated this year than ever before by unscrupulous pharmaceutical concerns who hope to profit by the high reputation of this remedy. > Eight Keenly Contested Events-Some Sensational Finishes-800 People in Attendance.

About 800 people took in the bicycle races and band concert at Tecumseh Park last night, and were well repaid for doing so, the events being all keenly contested, and the finish in nearly every race being of the hair-raising order. The contestants were all local riders, with the exception of T. Higley, of Blenheim. The races were all run off in good order, and no loafing occurred with the riders. Every race was fast, and at times the crowd rose to their feet in the excitement of the mo-ment, and cheer after cheer rang out. The Seventh Band, 40 strong, provided an excellent programme of popular and patriotic airs, and were frequently applauded. It is safe to say that with proper fostering, bicycle racing would become a very popular sport in London. The crowd would no doubt have been much larger but for the counter-attraction—the labor parade.

THE EVENTS.

The one-mile novice for riders who never won first prize was won by R. Ingram, with A. W. Mahler, a good second, and Jas. Duncan a close third. There were eight starters, all local riders. Time, 2:21%.

The half-mile for boys under 15 years was one of the best races of the bunch. Harry Gerlach won by about a third of a wheel length over John Flynn, who got a good second. Arthur Simmons got third. Four starters. Time, 1:21.

The one-mile open was a great race, the riders being bunched, until on the Detroit, July 18. — A five-minute home stretch. R. Ingram was first, lownpour of rain spotled the afternoon but was hard pushed by J. Duncan, who got an easy second. A. W. Mahler was third. Seven starters, all local men. Time, 2:20. The one mile tandem exhibition for track record by Chester McGuffin and Ernie Crouch, city, was one of the best events of the evening. The boys got an unpaced flying start, and made a record of 2:081/3. This cuts about ten seconds off their last exhibition, which was considered a fast mile.

Half-mile tandem race, exhibition for track record, by Mann brothers, Will and Frank, smallest tandem team in the world, aged 4 and 6 years, caused endless amusement. The youngsters did the half-mile in 2:01%, and received an ovation from the crowd.

The one-mile lap race was won by R. Ingram, with 10 points. Jas. Duncan was second with 5 points, and Harry Edwards third, with 2 points.

The one-mile exhibition by Tommy Higley, one mile, amateur champion of Canada, paced by the triplet (Bending, Nightingale and Bernard) was a great exhibition of fast riding. He covered the mile in 2:10%, and received an en-thusiastic reception from the stands. One mile handicap-R. Ingram, city, scratch man, crossed the wire first by a small margin. A. W. Mahler, city, was second, and Jas. Duncan, city, third. Time, 2:361/5.

The officers of the meet were: Reer, Dr. Balfour, London; timer, Thos. Gillean, London; Judges, George Macbeth, Fred Beltz, W. F. Boughner, and Frank Reid; clerk of course, John J. Foote; scorers, W. Mann, D. A. Breckon, J. C. Drake, and Fred Macfie; marker, E. D. Croden; umpires, George B. Dayton, John Macpherson, W. J. Portwood, Roy Routledge, E. R. C. Struthers; secretary, James McCor-

The Farms of New Ontario.

It is a fact that few would be instined to dispute that the general impression prevailing in the older portions of the Dominion with regard to that portion of the Province of Ontario lying west of the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William is that It is a wild, inhospitable waste, valuable alone for its forest products, its mineral resources, and in a lesser degree its fisheries, and that these can only be secured under conditions of considerable hardship and privation. That there are thousands of acres of rich agricultural land, considerable sections of which are at this present moment occupied by thriving and prosperous farms equal in appearance to many in Eastern Ontario would be scarcely credited, but such is indeed the fact as has been discovered by those who had the good fortune to participate in the Algoma legislative tour.

Brief reference was made in a prearticle to the agricultural stretches of the Slate River Valley and it may be here added that the conditions in that district are exceptionally favorable for settlement by those, who with small means, or no means at all, are not afraid of hard work. The Piper farm, which was the particular destination of one section of the party, is a magnificent instance of the results which can be obtained for there the visitors saw substantial farm buildings with ample stabling for horses and cattle fully equipped with all modern conveniences, wellgrown and healthy stock, and excellent crops, giving every indication even at that early date of an abundant harvest. It is true that the proprietor of this homestead had the advantage of sufficient capital at the outset, but he has found the investment a most profitable one, and the farm is today netting him very handsome returns.

An adjacent homestead of one hundred acres offers, however, a far better example of what may be done with little or nothing more than a strong arm and untiring energy. Some six or seven years ago the owner, a blacksmith in Fort William, finding himself in financial difficulties, decided to take up a free grant farm and start afresh. The farm cost him one dollar for registration. He set to work to build up a new home. extending his clearings year by year. Today he is the possessor of a prosperous homestead, most of it cleared, and under good cultivation, good farm buildings, well stocked with the necessary machinery, many heads of good cattle, and a comfortable bank balance, all his old liabilities wiped off and his present holding unincumbered. This, the result of six or seven years' labor, is not often equaled, far less excelled in old Ontario.

Of course the good people of this section are in need of government assistance, as they are everywhere else in this part of the country. It must be confessed, however, that the Slate River Valleyers are comparatively modest in their demands; all they want is a bridge across the Kamin-Istiquia River, by which their market at Fort William would be brought many miles nearer

Between Fort William and Rat Portage, a distance of three hundred miles, the tourists saw further evidence of excellent farming prospects, the center of interest being the village of Dryden, where the Provincial Government has established a "Pioneer Farm" of 320 acres, of which 200 have been cleared during the four seasons the farm has been in operation The results so far have been excellent; sheep, cattle and horses all thrive, and good crops of grain and roots have been secured. The cultivation of fruit is at present in its experimental stage. There are some 600 farmers-mostly from old Ontario -settled in this section and they have about 35,000 acres of land under

The labor demonstration held last light under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council was the most successful effort since the street railway strike was inaugurated. The crowd along the line of march numbered many thousands. In fact, the streets were almost impassable, so great was the crush. cheering all along the line of march, and the many humorous "take-offs' caused no end of merriment and laughter. The striking street railway employes came in for a large share of the applause. "Keep it up, boys!" "Don't 'Don't give in until you get your rights!' The London Typographical Union had a large turnout, and were bedecked with colored cockade hats, belts and huge wooden swords. They carried a banner bearing the inscription We Must Protect Our City." Everybody appreciated the joke.

The Stevens Brass Manufacturing Company's employes came next, and had one of the best cards of the evening, in a Maxim gun. The barrel of the gun was made of three or four lengths of stovepipe, and the carriage was a condemned military gun carriage. On the gun was seated a stuffed figure, with a card attached, in-scribed "Scab." The figure's head was missing.

The Columbia Handle Company's employes turned out to a man, and made a fine showing.

The Iron Molders' Union turned out strong, and had a humorus banner, making a hit at the local authorities, which caused much jesting and laugh-The cigarmakers carried their large blue label banner. Going's advertising rig had a large card attached, inscribed "Who Lost His Head?" The employes of the G. T. R. turned out some 300 or 400 strong. The Globe Casket Company's employes were armed with wooden swords and got up a burlesque which caused great laughter and merriment all along the line of march.

The employes of the Wortman & Ward Company had a large banner inscribed "We Are Good Walkers." The 34 labor unions in the city were all largely represented. unions in line were the Stonemasons and the International Association of Machinists. The Union Drum Corps, which was organized by John J. Sullivan, will be a permanent feature of the Trades and Labor Council.

AT THE RINK. Between 6,000 and 8,000 people were at the meeting in the rink. Many ladies were present. Andrew Johnson, president of the Trades and Labor Council, was chairman. The Imperial Quartet sang a parody of a popular song, giving it an application to the local strike, which made a great hit, and was heartily encored. THE CHAIRMAN. The chairman explained that M. D. Mahon, international president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, who had been announced to speak at the meeting, had been unable to come, because of trouble in other quarters. Continuing, Mr. Johnson said: Once again in the history of London labor. organized and unorganized has seen fit to demonstrate that there is a point beyond which capital cannot go in its attempt to coerce labor. The history of the world shows the same story all the way through; that is, that labor, the producer of all wealth, has never received justice at the hands of capital until they rebelled against their oppressors. Since capital cannot produce wealth, all wealth should belong to the labor that produces it. The present commercial system is manifestly unfair and unjust. So long as directors of the London Street Railway Company do not see fit to tneat their men decently they will never see a dividend so long as they run a car in this city. The American importers of cheap labor from the slums of Europe have seen fit to come to London and try the same plan here, but they have run up against the wrong kind of people. They have run up against a class of people who, when it comes to defending their liberty, their manhood and their homes, know no failure. Organized labor knows no defeat. They never learned it."

WILLIAM HUNTER Wm. Hunter, ex-president of .the Trades and Labor Council, and a member of the council and citizens' strike committee, was introduced. He viewed the work of the committee. The question is no nearer a settlement today," he said, "than it ever was, because the Sirest Railway Company refuse to come off its high perch, but wants the men to knuckle down and give them everything. You have most conclusively proven tonight by your enthusiasm and by this demonstration that you don't consider the basis of settlement drawn up by the committee was fair to the men." Mr. Hunter then took up the proposed basis clause by clause. The first clause, he said, eliminated the most vital part of the men's contentions, viz., the question of recognition of the union and wages. At the same time they asked the men to arbitrate as to whether or not they were justified in striking. As for damages, the men didn't ask damages. They asked re-instatement of the 96 men who took their cars into the barns.

As for the company's offer to make a covenant with the city, they had never yet kept any covenant with the city, and the men had no faith in such a covenant. If the company agreed to the men's demand for a full arbitration of all matters in dispute, there would have been no need for these other clauses in the agreement.

In the fifth clause the company agreed to let the men join any club or union they chose. The company had agreed to the same thing after the last strike. But it was common knowledge that if a man said he could be loyal to both the company and the union he was never given a job.

In the sixth clause the company asked 30 of the men to turn traitors to "Will they do it?" asked the speak-

"Never!" shouted several voices in the audience. "That's what the street railway employes say," he continued. "And so long as organized labor in London maintains its present stand they will continue to say 'Never!' " Mr. Hunt-Mr. Hunter's announcement that the city council had, during the afternoon, ordered the Street Railway Company to give a full service of 21 cars and to run full time, was received with loud Mr. Hunter referred to the fact that he was the only member of organized labor on the special committee, and said that before the committee made any recommendations half the committee should be composed of representatives of organized labor. In conclusion, he asked continued support for the men. "I will leave it to you," he said, "to demonstrate to the Street Railway Company whether or not their franchise is worth anything.'

JOSEPH T. MARKS. Joseph T. Marks, the next speaker, said that if need be, the labor unions would stay with the fight for 25 years. The mayor had told him a month ago that he thought he could bring about a settlement by which 80 per cent of the men would be taken back. Mr. Marks had replied that such an offer to the men would be an insult.

"Well, then, I am prepared to insult them at the first opportunity," the mayor had retorted.

"And I charge on this platform to continued the speaker, "that Mayor Wilson has played the cards of the company throughout the whole We demand that not one man shall go back until they all go, and un-til their rights are secured to them. Even if the strike were settled so far as the rest of the citizens were concerned, there are enough members of organized labor in this city to prevent the company from ever paying dividends."

The speaker referred to the formation of the Home Defense Union by the women of the city. He also referred to the Wheeling strike, in which, he said, the men had in three months secured recognition of the union, increased pay. shorter hours of labor, and had got rid of the "scabs." Concluding he said: "I don't believe in the smashing of windows, and if you will ignore the 'scabs' on the cars everything will be all right. The company are in the soup, and we are going to keep them in the soup until a satisfactory settlement is reach-

The following resolutions were then read by the chairman and unanimously adopted by a standing vote amidst loud cheers. THE RESOLUTIONS.

Moved by H. B. Keene, seconded by W. Lyons:

"Resolved, that this mass meeting of citizens of London hereby congratulate the members of Division No. 97, of the A. A. of S. R. E. of A., on the splendid stand they have made in the cause of right and humanity against the grinding tyranny of a soulless corporation, and we commend their action in rejecting a basis of settlement that meant a virtual surrender to the trust, and we pledge them the united and unwavering support, moral and financial, of the wage-earners of the city, and hope that no proposition will be accepted by them as a basis of settlement that does not guarantee the reinstatement of all the men who went out on strike. Moved by J. Baker, seconded by W.

the enormous combinations of capital into trusts, and recognizing that the present street railway strike is a fight on behalf of the home and the fireside. hereby approve of the formation of a home defense union of the women of London, to aid the striking street railway employes by the wearing of badges, the raising of funds, and such other means as shall tend to educate the people and enlist their sympathy in the present struggle in defense of the home and fireside, and bring it to a satisfactory and successful conclusion, and that we will use our best endeavors to have our wives and daugthers identify themselves with the new organization." ELDER R. C. EVANS.

The chairman announced that after Elder R C. Evans had spoken the meeting would close, and he asked those present to disperse quietly, as a kindness to Police Sergeant Jenkins. who had been placed on duty at the door. The name of Sergt. Jenkins was received with cheers. Elder Evans said: "Our city has been disgraced by cowardice on the one side, lust for gold and all around selfishness on the other. I am sure there is not one of you would indorse the breaking of the car windows, and I consider it a disgrace to our city that the authorities called in the militia to take charge of a few boys. Think of the tax we pay to support the police of this city. And in the midst of the rioting some of them take King street. (Several voices -Chief Williams!) Men who are drawing hundreds of dollars salary from the city to protect the citizens seek a quiet, sequestered spot and call in the militia, at a cost to the city of $500 a day. Our policemen could have handled this matter all right if some of them had not frightened. (Voices-Only the

"The city has been disgraced, and somebody is responsible." Voices-Mayor Wilson.

"Notwithstanding the protection that has been given the company, they have not run the cars full time. They are giving the council the laugh. don't know what else they have given them. (Laughter.) If in reply you break a window or two, it costs you $500. I am opposed to breaking windows, but I believe in every man stand-ing up for his rights." He reiterated the preceding speaker's statement that the company's offer to take back some of the men was asking 30 of the men to turn traitors to the rest.

Referring to the women's organization, he urged them to "never ride on the cars until they were manned by men." He concluded with an appeal for quiet, orderly conduct.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION. Just before the meeting dispersed, the following resolution was enthusias tically adopted: "Resolved, that the citizens of London, in mass meeting assembled, de-mand that the council of the city of London forfeit the charter of the London Street Railway Company, in ac-cordance with clauses 22 and 56 of bylaw No. 916, entitled a bylaw respecting the London Street Railway Company; and failing to grant this that the mayor and aldermen of this city tender immediately to the citizens their resignations."

Tuesday, July 18. The absence of "John Tamson's bairns" was noticeable at the market this morning. Offerings were light all round and prices firm. It was practically the last big day for raspberries, and they were more abundant than over. Cherries were scarce. A few green apples were offered.

Red raspberries sold at 6c wholesale and 8c retail.

American Markets. CHICAGO, July 17.-Heaviness was the characteristic of the grain markets from start to finish today. Wheat de-clined 1%c, corn 1c, and oats 4c. Provisions ruled moderately active, and closed 2½c to 5c higher, the latter for pork. Wheat opened weak, 3c to ½c lower for September, at 724c to 72%c; the opening quotations were the highest of the day. Exceptionally hot weather for spring wheat, and a decline of ½d at Liverpool, furnished the bears with a surplus of ammunition, and they used it with good effect. When the visible supply report was completed, showing an increase of 543,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 2,000,000 bu the same week last year, long wheat was thrown on the market, regardless of price. Primary western markets received 1,135,000 bu, compared with 468,000 bu a year ago. The English visible increased 342,000 bu, against 112,000 bu decrease last year. Atlantic clearances of wheat and flour amounted to only 208,000 bu. Minneapolis and Duluth received 756 cars, against 94 a year ago. Chicago received 109, compared with 98 last year. This array of statistics was altogether discouraging to holders, and under its influence and that of the promising prospects for spring wheat, the market ruled very heavy, September selling down to 71%c, and closing at the bottom of the day's range.

In Street Railway Matters in Detroit.

The Employes Want an Answer at Once.

Situation at Cleveland-Statement by President Everett-Other Labor News.

Detroit, July 18 .- Affairs between the Street Railway Employes' Association and the company seem to have reached a crisis, says the Free Press. The men say that unless they receive a definite answer from the company within the next three days they will adopt stringent measures to secure one. They claim that petty persecutions are everyday occurrences now, and they cite the instance of a motorman, who, they claim, was compelled to work from 6 o'clock Sunday morning until after 3 o'clock, with nothing to eat. When he finally went off to secure lunch before going on an "extra," a clerk ordered him back to work on another "extra." When he had refused until he had eaten something he was laid off.

placed their troubles in the hands of the international union. Henceforth the firm of Pingree & Smith will have to arbitrate with that body. There is no sign of a settlement yet in sight, and matters are practically at a standstill. General President Tobin will return from Chicago to this city some time this week and the question of a settlement will again be taken up.

A SURPRISE. Cleveland, June 17 .- The inauguration of a second strike by the employes of the Big Consolidated Railroad Company was a complete surprise to the turned to work three weeks ago under an agreement prepared by a committee of the city council and signed by representatives of the strikers and of the company, there had been frequent complaints on the part of the men that the company was not living up to the agreement. Several conferences were held, the latest about a week ago, and it was then announced that everything was satisfactory, or would be as soon as the company had been given ample time to adjust its schedules and arrange the runs.

The presence on cars of the non-union men who were retained after the settlement of the strike was still a bone of contention, however, and a crisis was reached yesterday when, as is claimed, a number of union men were discharged for refusing to go out on cars with non-union men. A meet-ing followed last night, and at 3 o'clock this morning the decision to strike was reached. All the lines were tied up from 5 o'clock until after 8, when the operation of the Euclid avenue line with non-union men under police protection was undertaken. Cars were run at 5minute intervals on that line until the evening, but no attempt was made to held its own and is gaining. move cars on other lines.

PRESIDENT EVERETT'S STATE-

MENT. Henry A. Everett, president of the company, issued a statement this evening, in which he says the terms of the agreement with the strikers have been strictly adhered to, but that it was impossible to inaugurate all the reforms promptly because of the continued interference with the non-union crews, and he holds the union men di-rectly responsible for this. He attributes the present strike to a feeling of disappointment on the part of the union men because the non-union men have not been mobbed and beat-en out of the company's service. He says he will operate the cars if he is given police protection. Protection has been promised by Mayor Farley, and, it is said, that the militia will be called out if the police are unable to pre-serve order. There has been a little disorder today, but nothing of a serious nature. FREIGHT HANDLERS SHUT OUT. New York, July 18 .- Three hundred and seventy-five freight handlers on the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's plers, who struck for higher pay, are practically shut out, as the railroad company announced that there will be no more night work on the piers. The men are formally discharged, and the night force is wined out. night force is wiped out.

THE BROOKLYN STRIKE. New York, July 17 .- Of all the lines in the traction system, Flatbush avenue and a newly opened Brigton Beach route were the most seriously effected lines during the day. The regular schedule on the Flatbush avenue and Brighton Beach road calls for 94 cars, but only six of these were successfully worked. On the Nostrand avenue line, which runs from the Twtney-third street ferry landing in Williamsburg to Flatbush avenue and Bergen Beach, 75 cars are daily sent out. Today only eight were manipulated, and most of

ALEX. REDER'S DEATH.

Toronto, July 18 .- The inquest into the death of Alexander Reder, the clockmaker, who committed suicide on Friday afternoon by jumping into the bay, after loading his pockets with stones, attracted a great deal of interest at the morgue last night. Coroner Greig presided, and a large deputation of the cloakmakers of the city was present. The verdict returned was as follows: "That Alexander Reder, who died on the 14th day of July, deliberately committed suicide by jumping in-to the bay. The cause of the act was despondency, the result of being brought to Toronto under false pretences by Sigmand Lubelski, acting for the T. Eaton Company."

PERMANENT ARBITRATION. [Sarnia Observer. The recent strike troubles in London and elsewhere have given rise to a demand, very generally expressed, the creation of a permanent court of arbitration, to which all disputes between large comporations engaged in a business affecting the public conve-nience or welfare, and its employes should be submitted, and both parties bound to respect its decisions, as they would be the judgment of any of our regular courts.

SOLDIERS WERE UNNECESSARY. [Toronto Telegram.]

All the disturbances attending the London Street Railway strike in 1899 compare with the disturbances tending the Toronto Street Railway a hundred. Toronto's troubles were at least a hundred times more serious than London's troubles, and yet Toronto maintained law and order without swearing in a special policeman or summoning a soldier. The difficulty in Toronto at one time looked serious enough, but the late Mayor Howland would not put up with the martial nonsense of his colleagues on the police commission, and refused to be a party to calling out the military. Major Draper, who was then chief of police, felt quite able to suppress the disturbance without the help of the military power, and he was as good as his word. A difficulty that was a hundred times more dangerous than London's trouble was suppressed because the late W. H. Howland had sense, and did not allow himself to be stampeded by any crazy desire for a military demonstration, and because the chief of police and the men under him were encouraged to assert the authority of the civil power.

Volksraad Expected to Adopt a Seven-Years Franchise.

Weary of the Unsettled State of Af fairs-Picked Men for the Cape-The Bordereau.

Pretoria, July 18.—The first and secend Raads sat in secret session all day yesterday. It is believed that the Volksraad will adopt a seven years' franchise, with retroactive force, and agree to other conditions and concessions in order to terminate the unsettled state of public affairs in the Traansval.

London, July 18 .- The Daily Graphic this morning publishes a rumor that a battalion of the Scots Guards and a battalion of the Grenadier Guards have been ordered to the Cape. SAYS HE WROTE THE BORDER-

EAU. Paris, July 18.-The Matin this morning publishes a statement by Comte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy, in which he says that he wrote the bordereau by order of Colonel Sandherr, and that it was sent to the house of Colonel Schwartzkoppen, then military attache at the German embassy in Paris, whence it was returned to the war Colonel Schwartzkoppen being at that time in Berlin never saw the bordereau, which was forged in order to supply material proof of the guilt

The statement contains the assertion that secret agents in Berlin, whose testimony it was impossible to use, had demonstrated that leakages had occurred in the war office, and the fact that treason existed was undeniable and everything indicated Dreyfus as

All the war ministers, the statement further says, knew the facts and thought the forgery of the bordereau necessary. The evidence implicating Dreyfus were the words of Colonel Schwartzkoppen's own mouth. Generals Mercler, DeBoisdeffre and Gonze knew that the bordereau was forged and that Dreyfus was illegally, but justly, convicted.

WELCOME TO RHODES. Cape Town, July 18 .- Mr. Cecil Rhodes, formerly premier of Cape Colony, arrived here today. He was welcomed by a reception committee, composed of influential citizens, and enthusiastically cheered as he traversed the streets. Many of the buildings of Cape Town were decorated with bunting, and in front of the town hall a big arch had been erected bearing the words: "Welcome, great pioneer, Cape Town-Cairo."

CLIMBED THE WATERSPOUT. London, July 18 .- Hon. Charles Gordon, nephew of the Marquis of Hunt-ley, and an officer of the Gordon Highlanders, called at the house of his cousin at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and, failing to arouse him, climbed to the roof by clinging to the waterspout. He lost his hold, fell to the ground, and was killed.

POINTING TOWARD PEACE. London, July 18 .- Considerable importance attaches to today's cabinet meeting, as it is understood that the colonial office, late last night, issued to the ministers an important communication relative to South Africa. The general trend of the news from that country points to a peaceful settlement of existing difficulties there.

THE SECRECY OF THE BALLOT

Interesting Discussion Developed Re the West Huron Blection Case.

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, July 18.—The committee on privileges and elections met this morning. Mr. Fortin, M.P., occupied the chair. The West Huron election case was proceeded with.

The first witness was Wm. Stanley, of Holmesville, who was a scrutineer at polling subdivision, No. 5. He said that at this poll there were 157 ballots when the poll was opened, and there should only be 150. Seven were destrike in 1886 as one compares with stroyed. He was examined by Mr. Borden, Halifax.

The next witness was James Mc-Whinney, of Colborne. On being examined by Mr. Borden, he said that he voted at the West Huron election. Mr. Borden-For whom did you mark your ballot? Dr. Russell objected to any voter being called upon to say how he voted. This was an invasion of the secrecy of the ballot. There might come a time when it was necessary to do this, but yet been reached. These alleged irregularities could be proved or disproved in another way without making the witness swear as to whom they voted for. Suppose that all those who voted MacLean at this poll came forward and said how they voted; then it was known exactly how everyone voted at the poll, and the secrecy of the ballot was completely destroyed. He had in his mind men in his own province, who would, if they had to do so, after the election was over, make a declara-tion that they voted in a certain way, when, as a matter of fact, they voted the other way. There were those who did not want it known how they voted, and their rights should be protected. If these rights were not protected, and if on the mere word of a member of parliament made in the House of Commons, any voter could be called upon to say how he voted, then the secrecy of the ballot was gone. What he said power of his rights.

Justice Strong held that it was a matter of public policy that a voter should not be called on to say how he voted. Mr. Powell held that what Justice Strong referred to would not apply to an investigation of this kind.

Mr. Borden argued that similar questions were put and answered in the Manitoba election frauds cases. He contended that this was the way he intended to prove his case, and it was the way he put his case in the house. Mr. Britton understood that it was to prove certain allegations against the returning and deputy returning officers not to ascertain how a number of electors voted. Dr. Russell moved that in the examination the returning officers and deputy returning officers and scrutineers be examined before asking anyone that the witness had been called, and

Western League Standing. Won. Lost. PerCt. Kansas City......34 Milwaukee......34 PROPOSED NEW LEAGUE.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18.-The Post Dispatch prints a number of interviews on the proposed new baseball association to be organized for the tional Leage $100,000 for a clear title to the St. Louis baseball franchise, and who is interested in the new organization said: "We have already completed a first-class organization, composed of leading eastern as well as leading western cities, and each and every one of them was thoroughly competent and able to take care of itself. Buffalo, Detroit and Wilwaukeen are anxious to join us, and they may be considered when the matter of forming the actual organization is completed. But these are all conjectures. The St. Louis end of the new league only I can speak for. It is as solid as a rock. It will have the best solid as a rock. It will have the best located and best equipped grounds in America, and a ball team, called the St. Louis Browns, that will be a credit to the city." "Ted" Sullivan, the veteran baseball manager, said soon after his arrival from Chicago today: "The new league is a pertain go, and every man in Chicago is talk-ing about it."

TORONTO VS. LONDON. The Toronto Eastern League team will play here Monday, July 31, under an arrangement which should insure the best article of ball the team can that stage of the proceedings had not put up. It is stipulated in the agreement that they must play the regular team, and they are to receive considerably more if they win than if they lose. The Londons ought to beat them, however. Hamilton did the trick, and the Cockneys can play rings around Hamilton. London will play a return game at Toronto, Aug. 8. A charge will be made for the south bleachers for the London-Toronto game. Following the races a game of ball will be played, Struthers' vs. the Greene Manufacturing Company (wholesale house series), and an orchestra will furnish music during the entire afternoon. The Canadian League ball games will be bulletined by innings in front of the grand stand. One of the largest audiences of the season is guaranteed.

TURF. JOCKEYS SUSPENDED. London, July 18 .- Owing to an exhibition of insubordination at the start-ing post in the race for the Warren nursery, at Sandown Park, on Saturday last, Starter A. Coventry reported Jockeys Tod Sloan, Henry Robinson and John Dalton to the Jockey Club meeting this morning. The club voted to suspend Sloan and Robinson from July 18 to Aug. 5, inclusive, and Dalton until July 29. About 2:30 this afternoon a young lad named Willie Hewitt, who lives at 39% York street, was driving a wagon containing vegetables, along Dundas street, between Maitland and William streets, when his rig was struck by car 54, and badly wrecked, the contents of the vehicle being scattered in all directions. It appears that the boy started to cross the street, as a west-bound car was approaching, an east-bound (No. 54), being a block away. He avoided the car west-bound, but was struck by the one going east, which, he says, did not slacken its speed. Hewitt jumped and escaped injury, but the rig, which be-longed to Mrs. Cartlege, con. 3, London township, was badly smashed. The youth states that neither of the care was stopped to see what damage had been done. The horse escaped unhurt.

He desisted at that, and with characteristic magnanimity, undertook to reconcile his wife to the separation, by holding out the hope that it was but temporary, besides inquiring into the me as mine does to you," pursued minutiae of her design, and lending her Roy. Jessie was to follow in a fortnight, when she had seen Eunice and the faithful servant domiciled in their new abode.

It was the longest fortnight Roy had ever known, although he kept his loneliness and longing to himself, concealing their existence most corefully from his wife. She would come to "him and home," on Wednesday of the second week, and he passed every hour he could spare from college duties and sleep, in getting the house ready for her reception. On Monday arrived boxes from Dundee, which he unpacked with his own hands. They contained Jessie's personal property—books, books, and bijoueterie, and the most delightful occupation of his solitude was the averagement of these in parlor was the arrangement of these in parlor and sitting-room. He slept at "home," as he proudly called it, after these were brought in. They were too valuable to be left unguarded.

On Tuesday night, Orrin Wyllys, who had just returned from a visit of three or four days to his fiancee, chanced to pass the house, and seeing light on the first floor, rang the bell. Roy answered it. He was in dressing-gown and slippers-a cigar in one

The portrait of the girl at the wishing well hung opposite the door, and, he observed, in exact range of Roy's vision as he sat in his chair.

"You will find many more if you will use your eyes. Come with me. The dining-room adjoined the library, and the parlors were just across the hall. A bronze statue of Pallas-four feet high, mounted upon a column of Egyptian marble-presented to the popular professor by the students, was the cousi most conspicuous ornament; but scattered here and there were many interesting works of art selected by him in foreign lands always with reference to Jessie's tastes and wishes. The piano was Orrin's bridal gift—a surprise held in reserve by the fond husband to brighten the coming home of his household deity. But the sitting-room back of the state apartments was the one on which he had expended most care and time. A bay window did duty for the more roomy oriel, and the shelf, which was an extension of the sill, was

A reading lamp, with its alabaster shade, was upon the center table, and a low lounging chair beside it. The picture of Jessie's mother hung over the man-tel; Jessie's books strewed the stands, and were ranged in rows within a handsome bookcase at the back of the room. Choice engravings were hung in good lights, and within the fireplace lay long, well-seasoned logs, ready for

Did Mrs. Fordham and her sister give you general directions?"

None. Even he colored slightly at the un-

Roy was none the wiser, and his bride had had the advantage of a new sensation in the development of her latent capacities for loving and suffering. She would be better and stronger all her life; her character would gain breadth and fiber for the emotion that had stirred the depths of her being. It was wholesome if sharp discipline—a sort of spiritual subsoil plowing, without which she might never have developed aright. Women were a marvelous and an entertaining study. There is no more trying work than the weaver's. Added to the confinement, the heat and the impure air, there is often an amount of phys-step of that thirty miles they breathe in vitiated air filled with particles of dust, poisonous coloring matter and other substances, irritating to the throat and lungs. It is no wonder that so many mill hands have an obstinate cough or that so many of them die of "lung trouble."

It is to operatives whose work makes them peculiarly liable to lung disease that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as a priceless boon. It positively cures deep seated and obstinate coughs, bronchial affections, bleeding of the lungs, and other diseases which if neglected lead to consumption.

Council's Special Strike Committee Discharged.

Again the Proposed "Basis" Fails to Catch On.

Investigation of the Force Ordered

Street Railway Company to Give a Full 17-Hour Service. A Bill of $2,000 for Militia Expenses (First Installment)

Steps Toward the Removal of the Troops-The Aldermen on the "Strike."

Presented for Payment.

At the special meeting of the city council held yesterday afternoon, the strike committee reported the failure ken or imitation. The most imprudent-ly passionate of them acted sometimes company and the strikers. The council took steps to have the troops brought from outside places to aid the authorities in keeping order, return home; instructed the street railway company to give a complete 17 hour service after July 19, and ordered a searching investigation of the police force before the county judge, on the strength of Sergt. Jenkins' resignation and implied charges against Chief of Police Williams and P. C. Egelton. Mayor Wilson presided and the others present were Ald. McPhillips, Rumball, Douglass, Jolly, O'Meara, Carrothers, Reed, Malloch, Dreaney, Plant, Wilkey, Par-nell, McCallum and Pritchard and City Clerk Kingston.

> THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT. Chairman Parnell presented the following report: 1. The committee appointed by the city council, composed of a number of aldermen and citizens for the purpose of negotiating and bringing about a settlement between the London Street Railway and their late employes, who went out on strike May 22, last, beg leave to report as follows: That we met in committee room of the city hall July 1 and organized, and at that meeting received a profitse from a com-mittee of the employers and also from their solicitor to furnish this committee within a few days a specific statement of each man's grievances, signed by each aggrieved employe, but after committee waiting ten days, the grievances were handed in, not specific, but in a general way, signed by a committee, city or the company for the company after which, with the information we to take back only 30 men. had we endeavored to get each party affair. I must cross-examine her in earnest, and if my suspicion is cormutual agreement might be arrived at and that all should be taken back if which would be fairly satisfactory to the arbitration so decided. once remove the unpleasant agitation which has gone on for the past eight weeks, inconveniencing the public, interfering with business, and through the rowdytsm which is being excited is destroying the good name of our city, and also incurring a large expense on our ratepayers, who are already overtaxed. And we further report that after several long and protracted sittings of the committee we have failed to fill our mission, and as a last resort the committee, through what evidence they had, drew up what they considered might possibly have been accept able for both parties, and submitted to each of the contending parties for their approval, but neither of them are willing to accept it. Therefore be it resolved that we refer the basis agreement which has been submitted to each, of the contending parties to the city council, and all other communications which have passed between the said parties and committee, and ask to be discharged from further duty.

2. Your committee recommends that the council appoint a committee to negotiate with the street railway company to procure the franchise and plant for 3. That a recommendation be sent to the council that a ballot be taken of the striking street car employes, as to where partiality was shown, a transfer of the striking street car employes, as to the striking street car employes as the striking street car employed as the street car employed a the municipal ownership of same. whether they are willing to go back in the company's employ on the proposed basis of settlement, drawn up by this committee at its meeting held July 15.

Ald. Parnell also read the proposed, basis of settlement and the replies thereto. He set forth fully the position taken by the committee in drafting the "basis," and the attitude of the men and the company towards it. The committee had endeavored to deal with the matter in the fullest, frank-est manner possible, he said. The trouble was striking at the roots of social life in the city. It could almost be called a calamity. The effect on the city would be serious. It would hurt it more than could at present be de-termined. The question which the council had before them was of the utmost importance, and they should not leave a stone unturned in their efforts to get at the bottom of it. He went on to say that the committee had not attempt to fasten the blame. The grievances presented by the employes were not of a character upon which the committee could pass judgment

Ald. Pritchard failed to see the good of the council being called together, since neither parties would accept the

DEBATE ON THE REPORT. Ald. McPhillips thought the wages question was of recent appearance. He had the impression that the company and the employes were not at issue on that point. Ald. Parnell replied that the men asked a maximum of 16% cents an hour, and that the company refused to give more than 15 cents..

Ald. McPhillips—Their answer, then, in that respect, is final. Parnell-Final, both as wages and as to the recognition of the union. Ald. McPhillips understood that Toronto was the only city in the prov-ince paying a higher rate of wages London should be a guide. In Hamilton and in Ottawa the street railway employes received 13 cents for the first two years and 15 cents thereafter.

Ald. O'Meara said the council were helpless in the matter. They could not force either party. Their only course was moral suasion. There was no use taking up the report clause by clause, and condemning one side or the other. They had done all they could. They deserved credit, but they had failed. There was nothing more to be done.

Ald. Dreaney—Why not carry out the bylaw? In spite of the resolution passed by the council a complete service is not given. We should make the Street Railway Company give it. They should know that two-thirds of the people in London are union men and their friends. The patronage of the other third will not pay for axle-grease. They should put every man back, and the public will ride again, which they never will until it is done which they never will until it is done.

THE MAYOR'S EXPLANATION. The mayor explained that he had brought the matter of a full service before the police commissioners, where it was opposed. The only compromise was to get three cars run. To have twenty cars run meant that they should all be provided with protection. He had been hampered in the matter by one man, Mr. E. J. Parke, who did not want any cars to be run at night. The mayor added that he hoped the council would give him instructions to hold an investigation for the purpose of showing why the militia had been called out. There was no reason on earth that it should have been necessary to call out the militia in London

—(Hear, hear)—and he would show
the council where the blame should be attached.

WHY THE MILITIA ARE HERE. Ald. Plant wanted to know why the militia were here, if it were not now possible to operate the cars? The mayor replied the militia had been ordered out by the senior judge, and as for protecting the cars, they could only act in a body. That was a military regulation.

Ald. Carrothers said he had done his best to get an amicable settlement. Though most of the advisory committee had emphatically refused to meet the aldermen, three or four of the citizens had met them, and they had all worked hard. They failed to get an agreement from either the men or the company. It was

TIME TO SPEAK OUT, and he intended to say what he thought. He held that the men were saying to the company, "We've got to say who you'll employ!" No man should be bound down like that. The committee had arrived at the basis of a decent settlement, which both parties should recognize. He moved that it be adopted by the council. He did so in fairness to the company, the employes and the citizens, the latter being the biggest partner in the busi-

Ald. Rumball seconded. He felt that the whole point of difference between the men and the company was the recognition of the union. There were questions which should never be left to arbitration. That had been instanced in the Transvaal. The speaker be-lieved in unions. Employes had a lieved in unions. Employes had a right to join them. But employers had rights just as sacred. The strikers had been offered in the proposed covenant with the city council an arbitration which was better than their union clause. The men would see that it would be in their interest to leave it would be in their interest to leave out that clause. He (the speaker) had been employing labor in London for years, and whether he got dividends or not, his employes were paid, but he reserved the right to employ whom he chose.

Ald. O'Meara said he was prepared to act as independently as anyone. But what power had the council in the matter? None.

Ald. Dreaney wanted to know if it would be in the interests of either the Ald. Parnell explained that the com-the arbitration so decided.

Ald. Pritchard said the motion no good. The aldermen would be acting like a lot of children to pass it. This whole question would have been settled long ago if it had not been for a few paid agitators. The man from Detroit who got $3,000 a year from his dupes was an illustration. The speaker had a document in his pocket, the publishers of which should be punished for issuing seditious literature. If the company and the men had been left to themselves instead of outsiders tinkering with the matter, the trouble would now be over. Ald. McPhillips-If we could enforce this report by a mandamus there might be some object in adopting it. I understand that it is the city solicitor's advice that we should not formally adopt it. He moved to file the report for reference and discharge the committee. Ald. Parnell regarded the matter in the same light as Ald. McPhillips did. Ald. Rumball-It's handy to have the city solicitor to shelter yourself be-

RECOGNITION OF THE UNION. Ald. Plant took up the question of the recognition of the union. There was no fault to be found where an employer made no difference between where partiality was shown, a union was a good thing. Partiality had been shown by the street railway company. It was there the wages clause came in.
Non-union men had been unable to earn a fair salary, because they were suspended for trivial offenses. wages were constantly kept down. He did not think the council should adopt the report. He had heard it stated that eminent legal authority had been engaged by the street railway company to watch for a mis-step by the coun-The speaker was not saying this to blacken the company.

blacken the company.

Ald. McPhillips' amendment was lost on a tie vote, the division being as follows: Yeas—Ald. McPhillips, Pritchard, O'Meara, Malloch, Dreaney, Plant and Wilkey—7. Nays—Ald. Rumball, Douglass, Jolly, Reed, Carrothers, Parnell and McCallum-7.

Ald. Jolly suggested that the report be received and a copy sent to the company and to the men, asking each to comply.

Ald. Carrothers-We've already done Ald. Carrothers' motion was lost on the following division: Yeas-Ald.Rumball, Douglass, Reed, Carrothers, Par-neil and McCallum—6. Nays—Ald. Mc-Phillips, Pritchard, Jolly, O'Meara, Malloch, Plant, Dreaney and Wilkey

Ald. Parnell moved that the committee be discharged. Aid. Carrothers seconded. Carried. COMPANY MUST RUN THE CARS AS PER SCHEDULE.

Ald. Carrothers moved that the street railway company be instructed to run their cars, 21 in number, seven-teen hours a day, according to the last time table agreed upon with the council, the company to be given until the 19th inst. before the penalty clause in the bylaw would be enforced.

Ald. Pritchard—The company will very soon demand ample protection.

The following letter addressed to the Lieut.-Col. mayor and signed by Lieut.-Col. Holmes, D.O.C., was read:
"Sir,-I have the honor to request that the sum of $2,000 may be paid over to me as soon as possible, as an advance towards paying and maintaining the militia now under arms in the city of London in aid of the civic power, in compliance with your requisition, dated 8th day of July last."

Ald. McCallum moved to pay the account. Ald. McPhillips thought the Dominion Government should be appealed to to help the city out of this hole. He moved to refer the account to No. 1 Ald. Plant seconded. committee.

Carried.
Ald. Douglass did not think the city need the military at all, and moved that the clerk communicate with senior judge with a view to having them removed. Ald. Plant seconded. Carried.

INVESTIGATION OF POLICE MAT-TERS.

Ald. Parnell moved that a searching investigation of the police force be in-stituted under the municipal act (that is, before the county judge), to throw light upon Sergt. Jenkins' resignation and his implied charges against Chief of Police Williams and P. C. Egelton. Ald. Rumball held that it would be a mistake to stir up strife among the police force at the present time. Ald. O'Meara thought the investigation should be by the police commissioners.

Ald. McPhillips reminded the council that he had been asking for this investigation for a year past. The sooner it was started the better for the credit of the city. A lot of startling revela-tions would be made. He had heard that eighteen of the force were sending in their resignations. Ald. Plant-The longer you allow this a young man's clothes must be exactly right. It is not enough that they are well made, desirable as is that consideration. They must have a certain style, a proper "look," and that is where "Fit-Reform" Clothing is so far superior to other makes.

The young man who has always thought he must have his clothes made to measure by an "exclusive" tailor doesn't know till he tries "Fit-Reform" garments how much he can save in money without any sacrifice of correct form and fashion.

"Fit-Reform" Clothing is, in fact, practically made to your measure in the most approved style, from carefully selected materials by none but skilled workmen. Every garment guaranteed.

THROUGH THE MINING REGIONS

Rev. George Gilmore's Interesting Trip to British Columbia.

Rev. George Gilmore returned yesterday from British Columbia, through which he toured for five weeks. His object was to see Southern British Columbia thoroughly, and to photograph the principal places, mountain, lake and river scenery; also to study the conditions that prevail in the great mining centers, from moral, social, religious and political points of view. To do this he visited the mining cities and villages, associated with the people, from the very politic "Jim" Martin, M. P. P., of Rossland, to the ordinary miner from the Whitewater or the Lardo. He has brought 150 photographs of places, people, scenery, etc.; 100 of which he will put on slides to illustrate the two lectures he is working upon. He has unbounded confidence in the Kootenay country and the Boundary region. He says the Slocan is the the place for the poor man, as the galena is easily mined. He has also a fine collection of ore specimens, from the greatest mines, which he vis-Ited, some fifteen in number. His trip took him over the most picturesque lakes, rivers and mountains, as he did considerable mountain climbing. Mr. Gilmore says the resources of British Columbia are as yet only touched upon. It may be the banner province of our fair Dominion. He returned by way of the new Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and speaks well of the C. P. R. Company's work in opening up these great treasure houses. Mr. Gilmore is enthusiastic over the great west, and says every eastern man should see it for himself. It enables one to realize, as nothing else can, the magnificent possibilities of Canada's future.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Detarmined Wife.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid that he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated, and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then poldly kept on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happi-ness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me — a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whisky was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases.

We will send our pamphlet free, giv-ing testimonials and full information, with directions how to take or administer Samaria Prescription. Correspondence considered sacredly confidential. Address The Samaria Remedy pany, Jordan street, Toronto, Ont.
